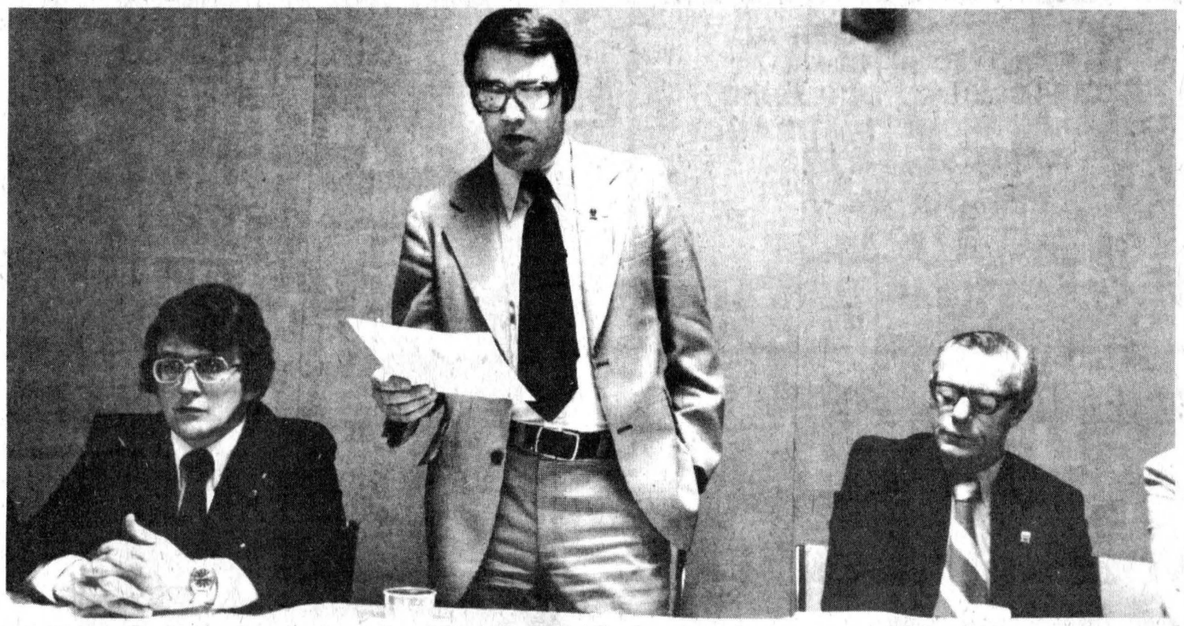
Teachers ready to strike Monday

CORNWALL (Staff) — Unless there is a breakthrough in contract negotiations within the next four days, SD&G's 553 secondary school teachers will walk off the job Monday.

The announcement that teachers will take strike action was made at a news conference called by members of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation (OSSTF) and Association des Enseignants Franco-Ontariens (AEFO) following the breakdown of mediation talks Tuesday afternoon.



Peter Norman, flanked by Marc Cazabon, left, and local teacher Art Bond, reads teacher statement at Tuesday night's news conference.

Teachers voted March 17 to take strike action against the board if working condition clauses were not included in their new collective agreement but the board remained adamant that such conditions were non-negotiable. Secondary school teachers in SD&G have been without a contract since September and the latest round of talks on the new agreement began in earnest in January of this year. The new contract will cover the period from September 1, 1976 to August 31, 1977.

Even though teachers endorsed a strike in their March 17 vote when they also turned down the board's final contract offer, provincial mediator Harvey Ladd got the two parties to sit back down at the bargaining table on Monday and Tuesday of this week to try and hammer out an agreement but both sides refused to budge from their stands and talks broke down again.

Members of the board's salary negotiating committee are remaining silent on the matter, stating that nothing will be said until the board holds a meeting on the teachers' decision Thursday night.

Committee chairman trustee Eugene Legault said teachers know its position, adding that he wouldn't commit the board to any further decision until it has heard the committee's report Thursday.

Asked if the board was contemplating a lock-out, Mr. Legault wouldn't comment.

He did say that he would beleive in the strike when he saw it. "Teachers have other avenues, such as partial withdrawal of services, open to them. There's a big difference between saying you are going on strike and carrying that out."

The teachers' side has been taken since February by a provincial takeover team of OSSTF and AEFO representatives and Monday night's press conference was chaired by Peter Norman, teacher federation vice-president and take-over team chairman.

Reading from a prepared text, Mr. Norman, a Carleton county teacher, said the main issue in dispute is the teachers' desire to have working conditions, namely pupil-teacher ratios (PTR), maximum class sizes, workloads and instructions assignments, included in the new contract.

He said teachers aren't attempting to change current class sizes and conditions of work, "but are seeking to ensure than any future changes will be arrived at through negotiations". Teachers have tried to have their demands taken to arbitration but the board has refused to do so.

The furthest the board will go is to issue letters of intent stating what working conditions it hopes to maintain throughout the duration of the collective agreement. Mr. Norman argued that if it is willing to put these matters into letters of intent, it should be willing to have them written into the new contract.

He said teachers basically agree with the recommendations in the letters of intent and are using them as the basis for their negotiations. Marc Cazabon, negotiator for the AEFO, said teachers want the terms written into the contract because in the past the board, although it promised to consult teachers before changing working conditions, hadn't done so. "I wouldn't hesitate to say we won't put up with that again," he added.

Teachers won't back down on their demands since they say they are guaranteed the right to negotiate them under the terms of the provincial education relations act, Bill 100.

Gord Higgins, local chief negotiator, said Bill 100 states that any term or condition of employment is negotiable and teachers are demanding their rights under the provincial legislation.

The board has offered a monetary settlement in lieu of working condition demands but "money is not an issue in the dispute" according to the teachers' news release.

The final offer made by the board was for a 10 per cent salary increase over the one year of the agreement. Teachers are going for 15 per cent but are willing to settle for less.

"Salaries are still a negotiable item. They aren't holding us up," Mr. Norman stated.

Under the terms of the last contract, for the first eight months of 1976, teachers received a 13.5 per cent wage hike, subsequently rolled back by the Anti-Inflation Board not to exceed eight per cent. The salary grid for high school teachers is now $10,590 to $22,210; instructional costs on the board's 1977 budget account for $14.8-million of the $21.7-million total.

The specific working conditions demanded by the teachers are a maintenance of the pupil teacher ratio at 16.8 to 1, the figure the board says is now in effect but which teachers claim is actually 17.5; a limit of 30 instructional periods in a 40 period week, with five of the remaining 10 periods to be designated as preparation time; maximum class sizes, and a maximum number of students a teacher must face in a day. This varies from 72 for special education to 180 in academic and business and commerce.

Mr. Norman said working conditions should be arrived at between the board and its employees since "these are the conditions under which students are taught" and recent changes in enrolment and school structures make teacher input on the matter vital.

This isn't a form of featherbedding, he explained. Teachers don't want to hold the board to a certain number of instructional employees if student enrolment drops.

If there is a reduction in the number of students in SD&G's secondary schools, then there should be a drop in the number of teachers. PTR and class sizes could be maintained this way without the board being stuck with extra instructional costs, he pointed out after the meeting.

Board's Eugene Legault

Asked how long teachers could stay off the job before summer make-up classes became necessary for students wanting to get their year, Mr. Norman agreed this is a crucial time of the year and the timing of the strike puts pressure on both sides to reach a quick agreement. The Education Relations Commission could step into the picture to review the situation and bring about a settlement he added.

As for how long the strike could last, Mr. Norman said "it will last until we have a settlement."

He added that the provincial mediator is still available to both parties should a breakthrough occur. "If we could find a way of averting the strike, we would do so and I think Mr. Ladd may be leaning on us before Monday."

Clerk clears confusion over village agreement

WILLIAMSBURG (Staff) - Confusion over fire coverage in the northern part of Williamsburg Township should be cleared up when area residents meet with council here Saturday.

The confusion has arisen over which part of the township is covered by the Chesterville Volunteer Fire Department in its agreement with its township counterpart.

Chesterville Chief Grenville Fyke's perplexity came to a head last Thursday afternoon when his men were called to a fire in the township's northwest section, a few miles west of Dunbar on the eighth concession road.

Chief Fyke said he wouldn't have answered the call except for the urgency with which it was placed, and then repeated, at the Chesterville fire hall.

Williamsburg Township clerk-treasurer Keith Schell agreed that the Chesterville department shouldn't have answered the call since it was out of the area covered in the agreement between the two municipalities.

Mr. Fyke said he was under the impression the township had cancelled its agreement with the village "but what can you do when someone calls and tells you their house is burning down? You can't take any chances."

His misunderstanding of the status of the agreement is perhaps understandable since some residents of the area in question aren't sure of which department to call.

An advertisement appeared in this newspaper in late January in which the township administration said it was recondering its fire agreement with Chesterville and asked residents who felt there were "injustices" in the set-up to inform council or meet with it February 5. Nothing has since been said about it.

After last Thursday's mix-up, Mr. Schell explained that council's reconsideration of its policy with Chesterville was limited to a re-thinking taxation in the area covered by the agreement.

Residents of Mariatown and Riverside Heights have been paying an extra mill on their taxes because they receive fire coverage from two departments, Williamsburg and Morrisburg. Many in those areas felt residents served by the township volunteers and the Chesterville department should pay the same.

He explained that the matter should be cleared up Saturday when area residents meet with council to discuss the matter. A decision will be rendered that day.

As for last Thursday's incident, Mr. Schell said he couldn't understand why the call was placed to Chesterville in the first place. "Our fire chief has distributed fire numbers to everyone in the area and the call should never have gone to the village."

To clear matters up, Mr. Schell said the area covered by the Chesterville department is in the northeastern section of the township,extending as far south as the sixth concession.

In the eighth concession, it extends from the eastern boundary to lot 18 - Dunbar - and in the seventh it goes as far as lot 12. In the sixth concession it goes only as far as lot six, just west of Colquhoun.

All other areas are served by the township's department, headquartered in Williamsburg.

He said further that if there are any doubts on the matter in the minds of the Chesterville volunteers, he would be glad to meet with them to clear them up.

Tax bite coming earlier this year

(Staff) - Village ratepayers could have their tax bills by the end of April this year, earlier than the 1976 bills went out.

Both the county public and separate board of education have completed their 1977 budgets and presented their requisitions to SD&G municipalities and village clerk-treasurer Lloyd Graham experts to receive the United Counties 1977 requisition within the next week.

The counties' body met Tuesday and it was expected its budget would be presented at that time.

Village council will hold its budget night next Wednesday to hammer out Chesterville's tax needs for the year and if all requisitions are in by that time, residential and commercial property owners will probably getting their bills by the end of April.

As it looks now, public school supporters will be faced with about a 5.5 mill increase in their education taxes while separate school supporters will have an additional 1½ mills on their bills.

These figures were supplied by the respective boards of education and could change slightly after telephone and telegraph taxes and grants in lieu of taxes are calculated by the village clerk.

The earlier tax bills go out, the greater the benefit for those who pay their taxes early.

If the bills are in the mail during April, property owners can save up to 2½ per cent on their taxes by paying before the end of the month. The discount will drop to two per cent May 1 and a half a per cent each month until the end of August, when the discount will be ½ per cent. From September 1 to 15 taxes can be paid at par and after the due date on the 15th there will be a one per cent penalty added for each month taxes are in arrears.

Taxes in the village last year were 134.5 mills for residential public and separate school supporter and 154.1 mills for commercial and business public and separate school supporters.

C of C meets April 6

(Staff) - The Chesterville and District Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual election of officers at its meeting in the Community Hall Wed., April 6. The meeting gets underway at 8pm.

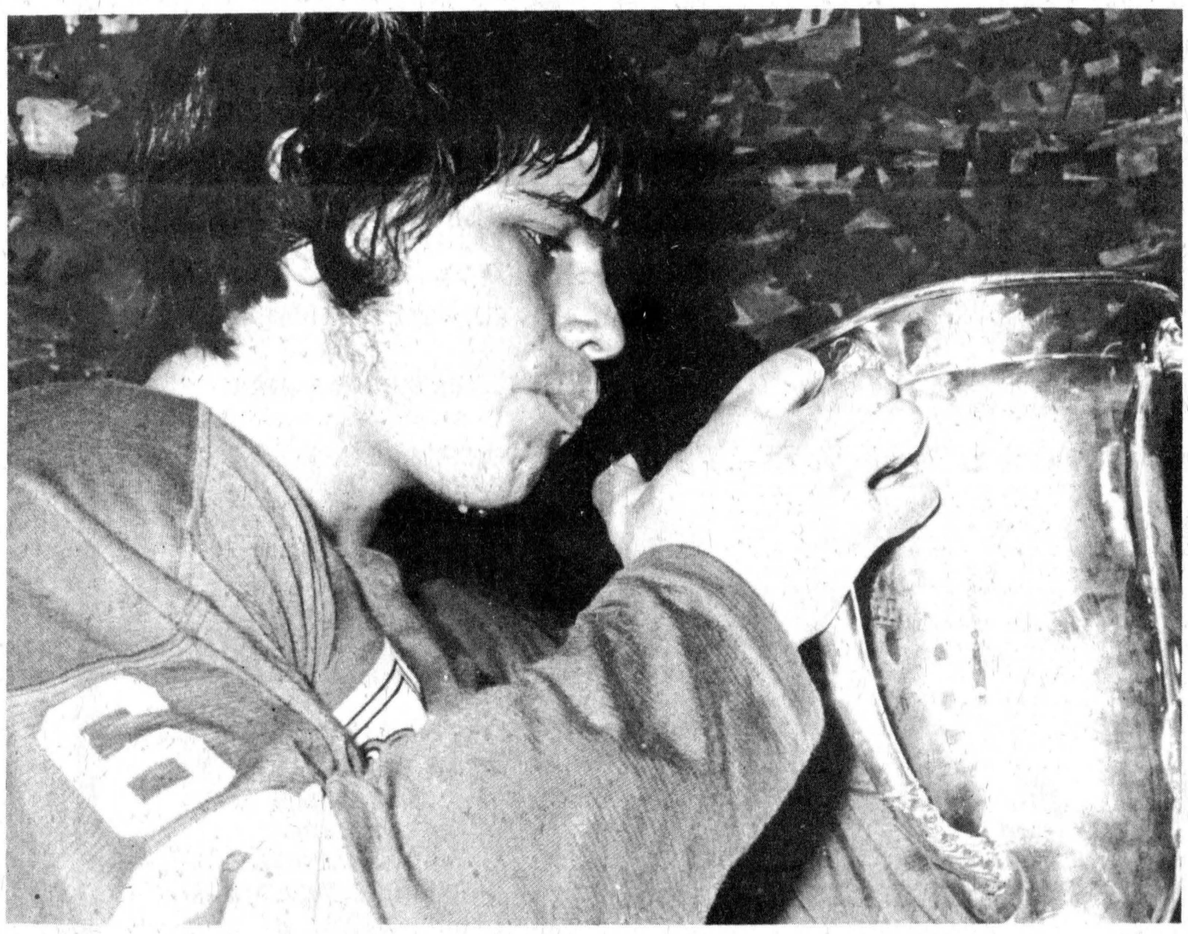
Chamber secretary James Moran has issued a special appeal for all village and area business persons to attend the meeting, noting that in the past, the organization has been sustained in large part by the non-merchant element of the area.

Mr. Moran said it is time merchants became more involved in the Chamber's operation since it was originally intended to benefit them.

"The Chamber is designed for all kinds of business people but once some open their doors it seems they don't need us any more," he added.

In addition to the election of officers, the Chamber will be setting the date for its annual Carleton Showband dance and the disposition of money from the winter carnival will be decided upon.

Representatives of all organizations which took part in the carnival are invited to attend the meeting to make known their views on how the money should be spent.



Lions repeat championship

It may not have been Lord Stanley's shaving mug, but to Morrisburg Lions' defenceman Randy Veinotte the bubbly that spilled forth from the Gill Cup tasted just as sweet Sunday night in Prescott as the Lions beat the Saints 8-3 before a crowd of well over 1,000 to claim their second straight St. Lawrence Division Junior B championship. The Lions took advantage of a disorganized Prescott team to score five powerplay goals Sunday to win the sixth game and claim the best-of-seven series four games to two. They now play off against Gananoque G-Men for the ODHA southern championship. The Lions defeated Gananoque in five games last year and start their series this Friday night in Morrisburg. -photo by dave banks-

Classifieds pay off!

(Staff) - The proof of the pudding is in the eating, so they say, and the value of classified advertising is in the results it brings. In last week's Record we made a plea for anyone having issues from January and February 1976 to please bring them to the office since those months were missing from our files. By Friday two area residents brought in complete sets of the missing issues and allowed us to fill the gap in our files. So now we have living proof that classified advertising pays!

OMMB regional meeting

(Staff) - The spring meeting of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board's Region One, comprising the counties of Prescott, Russell, Glengarry and Stormont, will be held at the Bonnie Glen Hall, Alexandria, Tues., April 19 beginning at 9:30am. Region Two's meeting, for Dundas, Grenville and Frontenac counties, will be held the following day at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Spencerville. Board executive members will be on hand to discuss national dairy policy and the future of the dairy industry in Ontario.

Club donates furnishings

(Staff) - The Chesterville Rotary Club has voted to purchase a dishwasher, cups, plates and saucers, cutlery and cooking ware for the new Senior Citizen Drop-In Centre in the Community Park. The total value of the furnishings is over $1,000 and this brings to over $2,000 the amount the club has donated to the centre since it began meeting there in early March.

Auxiliary executive

(Staff) - Josie Geertsma was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the First Chesterville Scout Troop at the organization's first meeting, last Thursday night. Charlotte Craig was chosen vice-president, Bea LeClair secretary and Isobel Conley, treasurer. The auxiliary will undertake a number of projects to raise money for the troop's Can-Jam trip this summer with the first being a bake sale set for Thurs., April 7. Their next meeting will be Thurs., April 14 and any area women interested in joining the organization are invited to attend.

Busy week

(Staff) - Chesterville's municipal councillors will have a busy time next week with meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Monday representatives from council and recreation director Rick St. Dennis will attend Winchester Township Council's meeting to make their pitch for grants for the village's 1977 recreation program; Tuesday night will be the regular monthly council meeting, and Wednesday night will be budget night for the municipality.

Inside Ingleside

by Jean Jeacle

Yes, thank you, I had a wonderful vacation. I saw some sights, browsed through books, and filled up on food....all in 80 degree weather.

The plane didn't crash, my husband didn't break his neck on the roller coaster and the kids hardly fought at all. What more could I ask!

Quite frankly, I never thought of you at all for a few days. I just relaxed and concentrated on alligators and shopping and Mickey Mouse. I passed the time at a ball game, a wax museum and numerous eating establishments and forgot all about schedules and committees and telephone calls.

I existed in a world that had no past and no future until, suddenly, in a crowd of 50,000 people I got homesick. I longed for familiar faces and neighborhood news. This frog wanted to get back to her own little puddle!

I boarded the northbound plane content that I had had a lovely visit and oh so happy that I was heading home. Osnabruck Township looked pretty good when I saw it - even with its new coating of snow.

- Dialogue Theatre is coming to Ingleside. The premier performance of "Seaway" will be held in Rothwell Auditorium, on the evening of Sat., April 23. This is a dramatic documentary presentation in story and song about the coming of the Seaway to Eastern Ontario. Protect your children against disease through immunization.

This is what Ontario is doing to help you.

Immunization protects against polio, diphtheria, measles, rubella (German measles), whooping cough, mumps and tetanus. Although often considered to be "childhood diseases," they are anything but minor—measles, for instance, can lead to encephalitis (brain disease), a cause of retardation.

Here in Ontario, the Ministry of Health provides the vaccines and your Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP) pays a fee to the physician for administering them.

But the responsibility for immunization— for making sure your children are protected—is still up to you. Have your children immunized by your family physician. Or, for school age children, use school immunization programs provided by Health Units.

Immunization is quick and convenient—vaccines against several diseases are often combined. And the only way to control these diseases is to immunize as many people as possible.

Your Ontario Government is doing its share—by providing vaccines and paying for immunization through OHIP.

Do your share—make sure your children are immunized. Consult your family physician, public health nurse or local medical officer of health.

A free booklet, "Immunization is your responsibility," is available with a chart showing what diseases your children should be immunized against, and at what ages. For your copy, write to:

Federal Business Development Bank management services officer Kurt White, second from left, explains the bank's role in assisting small businesses to Chesterville Rotary Club members Hugh Montgomery, Bill Giles and Mike Dean Monday night at the Senior Citizens Drop-In centre. Mr. White told the club the bank has made 48,000 loans to Canadian small businesses since it was formed by an act of Parliament 32 years ago and in the past six years has more than doubled the number of its branches in an effort to get closer to the smaller communities of the country.

FBDB aids small businesses

(Staff) - More than 60 per cent of all small Canadian businesses fail in their first five years of operation and this alarming failure rate is due mainly to poor management skills or insufficient capital when starting out, Federal Business Development Bank (FBDB) management services officer Kurt White told members of the Chesterville Rotary Club Monday evening.

Before a large audience of club members and interested area businessmen, Mr. White explained the crown corporation's role in combatting these failures through financial assistance and management counselling.

Above all, FBDB is a "last resort lender", a place where small new and existing businesses can go for financial assistance when conventional routes are closed to them.

Mr. White described small businesses as high risk ventures which very often find they do not meet the lending criteria of chartered banks.

"FBDB has the facilities for taking on high risk loans where as the chartered banks don't have these facilities. An example, FBDB can do such things as forgive principal for the first of a loan."

The bank, an independent crown corporation which reports to Parliament through the minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce, got its start 32 years as the Investment Development Bank 'IDB) and was charged at the time with filling a gap in existing Canadian financial institutions.

Its particular role was to provide a source from which small- and medium-sized businesses could obtain long-term or mortgage financing. Short term financing was then available through the chartered banks but for long-term money, smaller enterprises had to turn to such non-institutional lenders as a rich uncle's money belt.

Originally only manufacturing firms were considered for assistance but the scope of the bank's operation gradually expanded to the point that now almost all small or medium sized operations, including manufacturing, wholesale, retail, services and farming, are considered.

The bank has few hard and fast rules, Mr. White explained. This gives credit officers greater latitude in lending money but also led to criticism of the way it does business. He said FBDB has been criticized for "making too many loans; not making enough; taking too long to process an application; not taking long enough; giving out too much money, and not giving out enough."

In general, the bank operates under two main guidelines: one, that other avenues for financial assistance are shut off, and two, that the ventures be self-supporting and likely to stay that way.

For smaller loans, it requires that at least one letter of authorization be received stating that conventional institutions are turned down a business's request for financing.

Two years ago the IDB was dissolved by an act of Parliament and the FBDB came into being and with the change in name came a change in outlook.

Management services, designed to assist the small business in staying solvent, were added to the bank's role and these services now consist of training, counselling and information services.

The management counselling service assists small businesses in Canada to improve their methods of doing business by making available to them retired business persons and other counsellors as requested.

Management training is conducted largely through seminars and courses designed to meet the needs of the small business person. Both are available at nominal fees, and FBDB brochure states. Once past the first critical five years, most firms are well on their way but can come back to FBDB for more money if they need it. Most don't, Mr. White said.

The role of the bank in assisting small operations is reflected its record of successful applications. At present, $1.3-billion, most in long-term loans, spread across the country. The average loan is for about $25,000, Mrs. White explained, and some are for under $5,000. At the other end of the scale, some run into the millions. However, over 50 per cent are for under $40,000 and 94 per cent are under $100,000.

Interest rates vary with the amount loaned and start at 11 per cent up to $50,000. It increases in half-per cent increments to 12 per cent for loans of $250,000.

Even though the bank deals mainly in high risk centures, its failure rate varies between only one and 1.5 per cent yearly, Mr. White explained.

Officials outnumber public at Finch zoning presentation

BERWICK (Staff) - Few objections were voiced here Monday night at a public meeting held at the Finch Township Community Centre to discuss the implications of a zoning bylaw for the township.

Members of council, numbering four, equalled the public turnout and total attendance was 11 including township clerk-treasurer Arnott Empey, Douglas MacDonald of J.L. Richards and Associates Limited, Ottawa, and a representative of the The Chesterville Record.

Before thumbing his way through the 50-page bylaw and explaining it on his way, Mr. MacDonald took time to explain the purpose of such a document for the township.

He explained the bylaw restricts the use of land in various ways but what it is really "concerned with is the regulation of use of buildings and land".

The reason for the bylaw is twofold: to ensure proper development occurs in urban or residential areas and to make sure houses are not built on prime agricultural land and areas subject to flooding or other hazard areas.

He explained the policies in the bylaw have been designed by the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Board, of which Finch Township is a member.

The document is "broad", he commented, "and no zoning bylaw is a static document".

The bylaw, with the careful scrutiny of council, will benefit existing community structures such as churches, school, stores, and businesses. It calls for a more uniform development rather than spotting subdivisions or other expansion all over the township.

A great majority of the township is zoned agriculture, noted Mr. MacDonald, and growth in the area may be more than anticipated but, still, there is not a shortage of development land.

Hazard land is located along the banks of the South Nation and Payne Rivers and open space areas, for conservation purposes, are seen on the map in the eastern part of the township.

Nick Dirven suggested the bylaw would limit farmers on what they could do with their land and it would decrease the value of their property.

Mr. MacDonald said the zoning bylaw prohibits many actions but changes and growth will be adopted with requirements. "The process is designed to be changed, but it's not easy", he noted.

Changes can be made but those permitted are carefully considered so as to not devalue land and cause annoyance to neighbors.

Council gave the bylaw three readings and will send it to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval After that township residents will be given 14 days to register any further complaints.

Harry Hutchinson carried the program along in his jovial manner. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cowan, Vernon, looked very "Irish."

After the program progressive euchre was played. The winners were: High Ladies, Katie Brunton, Vernon, Low Ladies, Joyce Acres, Vernon, High Men, Lyle Hunter, Morewood, Low Men, Lornie Brunton, Vernon.

WMS members follow World Prayer Service

AVONMORE (Special) - Members of the Women's Missionary Scoeity of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met last Tuesday night in the Sunday School Room.

Mrs. Clifford Hewston was convenor of the meeting and followed the World Day of Prayer Service. This service was to be held in St. James United Church but owing to the icy conditions this service had to be cancelled.

All members took part in the program. Meditation, on the Theme Love in Action, was given by Mrs. John Ferguson; Mrs. James Tinkess had the scripture reading, followed by prayer by Mrs. Fraser MacRae.

At the close of the service Mrs. Hewston gave a lesson from the study book.

Mrs. Neil Bush, president, took the chair for the business part of the meeting, assisted by the secratary Mrs. James Tinkess. Roll call was answered with a verse containing the word faith.

Treasurer Mrs. Hugh Morrison reported the special offering, which goes to the work of the Inter-Church Council of Women, was given to St. James United Church to be forwarded.

Further plans were made for the Presbyterial Spring Rally, to be held in May at St. Andrew's.

SHEARER - In loving memory of our darling little grandson and nephew Anthony Shearer, who passed away at the age of four and a half, on March 28, 1975.

Our darling Anthony away.

Though her smile has gone forever,
And her hand we cannot touch,
We shall never lose sweet memories,
Of the one we loved so much.
She has gone across the river,
To the shores of evergreen,
And we long to see her dear face,
But the river flows between.

Just a token of fond remembrance to a Daughter and Sister we will always remember. The Joys that you missed Estelle on life's highway may you find in God's garden of rest.

We seem to hear you whisper
"Cheer up and carry on."
Each time we see your picture
You seem to smile and say,
"Don't cry, I'm only sleeping,
We'll meet again some day."
Your place on earth no one can fill,
We love you, Mom, and always will.

Each spring when the ice goes down the river it is always good for a few lines of news, but this year with it having gone and come again half a dozen the news is now that the last formation is still giving no particular sign of moving out. St. Patrick's Day is the time when its welcome has expired and is expected to vacate very shortly after that, but this year it has lingered a good two weeks and is still with us. While speaking about the season, it reminds us that we planted our sweet peas out doors last year on the thirtieth day of March.

The Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers Association presented a platform including a minimum salary of $700 annually for school teachers when the annual sessions opened in conjunction with the Ontario Educational Association meetings in Toronto last week.

the farmer's wife

by wyn thompson

It is spring. On any morning now, one can see every brave spear of green where the daffodils and tulips will be established soon.

Spring this year is even more special after a full year of cold. Don't you recall that Easter '76 gave us our only touch of summer weather? However, as in every winter, we again took a kind of arrogant pride in our past winter. But having the septic system frozen for a few days, the doors snowed tight, and the roads sheeted with glass gets to be tiresome before very long.

And I do like the soft, long twilight with the sky glimmering until eight o'clock. Time to poke about the flower beds and still have supper before dark.

Soon work will begin on the fields. Nothing about country life moves me more than spring plowing. Plowing means the rebirth of the growing season. There is security in nature, and it restores the heart to realize it all over again, as the Farmer turns the plow deftly to miss the clumps of rhubarb, and the blade bites down again.

There is thinking to do about the plow itself. I always seem to see, walking over the fields, the figure of the first man who plowed there, with a homemade wooden plow, rough homespun clothing, and his gun close by, in case of trouble.

Smoke from the log cabin drifted up blue-grey against the sky, and how tall the trees must have been then. I think of the labor of wrestling the trees from the soil itself, by hand, with no dynamite to rip out the deep roots. I think of hand-turning the thick sod.

Another thing that this spring plowing makes me think of is the plowing that goes on in one way or another all over the world. I can imagine the Chinese, the Koreans, and the Africans all tilling their soil in the spring time of the year.

I know nothing of these people and yet I feel I know so much. For instance, I know how good they feel at the days' end when the fresh, receptive earth is ready for the seed. I feel a kinship with all who work in the soil.

I think of how we need to share the food grown in this rich country. Nobody should be hungry in this world. Surely, it should be the business of nations to grow, distribute, divide, feed the hungry. There should be no child going to bed hungry because the simple blessing of food has been denied him.

Dusk falls sweetly and softly in April. The Farmer comes in after 14 to sixteen hours of nonunion labor. City people who move to the country to farm are often a sorry lot, for they find out almost immediately that farming is not merely sitting under the shade trees of a summer afternoon, but means endless work, rain or shine.

On the other hand, country folk have things that money cannot buy in the city; the good smell of newly turned earth is one, and space, and fresh air and . . .

Every one with a yard can raise vegetables and live better and more cheaply, as well as help to make more food available for the rest of the world. The Ministry of Agriculture will test the soil so you can add what it lacks. And if you bury your garbage regularly, the soil will be enriched greatly. The Indians who planted fish in the maize hills were smarter than they knew.

I am still trying to finish the reading I planned for those fictional long winter nights. One thing I have been reading about is local government. So interested have I become in government at this level that I can envisage my going on to read at length about world governments.

Most of the April hours are happy ones for even the dullest rain means the return of frosty old earth to new splendor. It is just a rainy day, but it is a day to make things grow.

If the furnace has been turned off, we often have to light both fireplaces, and snow sometimes sprinkles down over the greening lawn, but we know it is just a temporary lapse into winter and tomorrow will be warm again.

Spring is the time to drink tea. I know tea prices are on the increase,also.But nothing tastes better than a cup of tea on a spring afternoon. Earl Grey is very special, but so is Darjeeling, or Melchors. I like spice teas, smoky teas, jasmine-scented teas and every other kind. And the hour to have your tea is that time in the afternoon when you feel completely dull. About four o'clock. Then you can attack the rest of the day feeling encuraged. The English have a good custom, I believe.

The winter adult education classes are almost over. Today there are so many things adults can enjoy learning - everything trom handicrafts to politics. No one should live with boredom. One of my friends has planned her own education. She chooses every year one subject and reads all she can on the subject. What a body of knowledge she collects.

And so, wonderful is spring, I think. And full of surprise! A friend said recently that it is good for us to keep as much joy in life as possible. She felt we busy ourselves too much with joyless things. We worry about money or the lack of it, we agonize over the state of the world, we fret at household duties or business involvements, we work, we argue, we use up our strength foolishly in a million ways. And all around us there is joy, if we only realized it.

On a Saturday afternoon past we visited with friends who enjoyed, as we do, brousing the antique and gifts shops. Some people frown at this pasttime but to us it is a thoroughly fascinating diversion to indulge oneself in every so often.

Often I was given a beautiful piece of milk glass.This friend had seen it in the window of a junk shop, and dropped in and secured it. What nicer thing for a friend to do than to think of this while dashing down a busy street in the course of a day's work.

On thinking about this very thing the other day while scraping carrots for supper, I decided collectibles are valuable in two ways: for the beauty that is a part of them, and for the memory that is in them. A person who does not know the warm feeling of remembering the day a certain piece of pottery or pewter was obtained has a real emptiness in his life.

On my mantel sits an earthen-colored wine glass from the Dakotas. In it lies a full glowing July day, a blue and white tossing sky, hills both desolate and beautiful. And the ceaseless conversation of me and the Farmer and the thoughtful murmur of our travelling companions in the back seat.

This is all in the wine glass, as well as the lovely pottery shop where we found it and the extra delight of meeting the potter and his wife.

It is the time of year for the Farmer and I to get the hankering for shunpiking. Even though there is so much to do in Spring we sometimes leave it all, and go for a drive. The Farmer drives, and he is a natural explorer. He never takes the same road twice, and so we find lost country roads, sunny little valleys, forgotten old buildings. We park and eat our picnic lunch at a spot where we can feast happily and look at an interesting sight as well.

Now that travel is becoming more and more expensive, I would like to start a movement for travel in your own backyard. There is always something new around the corner of a concession road, and it's fun to explore. Besides, says a friend, you can go home at night and sleep in a comfortable bed!

Thinking of the places I have been, I can find the carrots all scraped and I have not been bored at all. And there is such a nice panful to cook with a few seeds of rosemary for lunch.

The early morning is cool and sweet these days, and the air is filled with birds singing. The flutter of wings is everywhere and Scamp has not a minute to doze in the chair. He is too busy trotting in and out after the last bird to appear. Soon I will be able to have breakfast on the gallery in the clear gold sun. It will be a busy day of ordinary living, I will decide as I swallow the last mouthful of coffee each morning.

The sky is so soft in spring and the sounds in our valley are the good sounds of peace. The sound of the plow turning over the good earth with its shining blades. The sound of the axe cutting the fireplace wood for cool spring nights. And high over the greening of our valley moves the sun. . . .the sun of April, the sun of spring.

SEIZING THE BULL BY THE HORNS: Next Wednesday night's Chamber of Commerce meeting will provide the first opportunity for downtown merchants to get together and discuss the implications of the new shopping plaza to be built in the village this year and for this reason it is essential that as many merchants as possible attend the meeting. Discussion on the plaza probably won't be on the agenda but the Chamber meeting - and social gathering following the business session - will provide an ideal forum for discussion on the topic. This is the first meeting for the business community since the announcement that the plaza will be built and it's time Chesterville and area retailers got together to see what it means for their future. For too long now the Chamber has been carried by non-merchants. Professional people, contractors, builders and salesmen have been its driving force and are the ones mainly responsible for the work the Chamber has carried out. It's now about time for the retailers - the people for whom the organization was originally intended - to start carrying their share of the load. Not all the village's merchants have ignored the Chamber - some are active members and do more than their share in its work - but there are a great many who seem to take the Chamber, and Chesterville, for granted.

ALL BUSINESS IS AGGRESSIVE - That's the premise on which it is founded. And any organization supposedly representing businesses should be that much more aggressive. In its endeavors to make the village a more attractive place, the Chamber has engendered a feeling of community responsibility which benefits all those in any sort of business here. Money raised through dances and the winter carnival go to make Chesterville a more attractive community and the activities themselves make the municipality a better place in which to live. It's obvious that the more attractive a community is, the more people who will want to live there, and the more people there are, the better the opportunities for business. With moderate and planned growth, everyone comes out ahead. It has been said in these pages before that Chesterville is on the verge of this moderate growth and it's time those who service the community's commercial needs woke up to the fact and did something about it. More active participation in the Chamber's activities is one of the things that can be done. -robin morris-

Upper Canada Jaycettes "Swing Into Spring"

Swing Into Spring was the theme of the Upper Canada Jaycettes' fashion show presented last Thursday night at Osnabruck District High School, Ingleside and club members demonstrated to the large audience that color, styles and fabrics this year are on a light, breezy note. Fashions were from Edie's House of Fashion, Morrisburg, and Edie Gratton and Madeline Swerdtfeger provided the commentary during the show. Just as outdoor activities dominate the warmer months, so the light, sporty look dominated the show as the women modelled jump suits, pant suit ensembles and jaunty skirt outfits. The spring bride wasn't forgotten, nor were her guests, as Judy Allinot moddelled a birdal gown and other Jaycettes showed off formal dresses for the warm weather wedding. A big hit was the new kerchief-bottom style, showed to advantage in a dressy yet light style by Diane Pate. Evening wear was also in focus, especially in outfits fashioned from interlocking polyester knits.

Dear Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I recently retired from the Marine Corps after 30 years of service - never married, but lived with a number of women. Six months ago, I took unto myself a bride. She is wonderful, but - here's the problem:

I have always considered the bathroom a private place. Not so the Mrs. She thinks I'm a prude because I am not completely open about ALL human functions.

When I lock the bathroom door she gets angry and screams, "When are you going to get over this ridiculous hang-up?"

I beleive I am right. She insists I'm wrong - and says I need psychological help. You decide. - Impasse In Louisville.

Dear IMPASSE: There is no right or wrong about such matters. Each individaul must dicide for himself what is acceptable. Whatever is acceptable is "right."

In some marriages the Open Door Policy operates in every room in the house. If both parties like it that way it's nobody else's business.

Obviously you do NOT like it that way and your wishes should be respected. You are not in need of psychological help. Your wife is. A woman who is so grossly insensitive - not to mention domineering - that she would deny her husband this basic fundamental privacy should get her head checked.

Dear Ann Landers: Something very nice happened to me recently and I want to share it. My handicapped brother always wanted to see the country so I decided to take him to California and show him the time of his life. We live in Pennsylvania and a trip to the coast meant quite a lot of money. We are people of modest means and I couldn't afford it until recently.

When I went to the Greyhound bus station to purchase the tickets, I was informed I could ride free. All I needed was a written statement from my brother's doctor stating that he needed the assistance of another person in order to make the trip. Greyhound calls this their "Helping Hand Service."

Several Greyhound terminals along the way had specially built ramps, restrooms, handrails, water fountains and even telephone booths designed especially for handicapped people. You can't imagine what this means to individuals who are left out of so many things because the world forgets about them. Just sign me. - Grateful

Dear Grateful: In my 21 years of writing this column I have never endorsed a product or done a commercial - and I never will. But I am printing your letter to inform my readers of the generosity of Greyhound. I hope it's contagious.

Dear Ann: I love what Dorothy Parker said when she and a catty woman friend approached an entranceway at the very same moment.

The "friend" stood aside, deferring to Miss Parker and meowed, "Age before beauty." Miss Parker stepped ahead and responded in honey-dripping tones, "Pearls before swine."

Where in the scriptures can that quote be found? -- Still Laughing

Dear S.L.: The swine line is from the Book of Matthew, Chapter 7, Verse 6. "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you."

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex - Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Heart Fund appeal nets almost $700

(Special) - The goal of $700 was almost reached in this year's Heart Foundation appeal in Chesterville with local canvassors collecting $669.68.

A few were missed in the canvass and contributions can still be sent to the fund by anyone who was not solicited.

Rev. E. Earle Eaton was chairman and canvassers included Mrs. C. Allison Graham, Mrs. Roy Meldrum, Mrs. Edwin Forward, Mrs. Rene Moss, Miss Helen Hughson, the Misses Madge and Addie Campderros, Harry Allison, Miss Marion Lynch, Fred Rance and Timmy Hess.

Local businesses and householders alike responded generously to the call.

Mrs. Rae Kuno, Chesterville, just returned from visiting her brother and his wife, Sargent Alex and Leona MacMillan at Shilo, Manitoba, and Leona's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shindreek, and her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hall of Cardinal had dinner with the former's mother Mr. and Mrs. Edward Servage, Mon., March 2.

Retail price monitoring endorsed by OMMB

TORONTO (Special) - The Ontario Milk Marketing Board has endorsed the porvincial milk commission's recommendation that it monitor the wholesale and retail prices of fluid milk in Ontario in the wake of the report of the public inquiry into fluid milk marketing practices in the province between 1971 1975.

The report showed that although Ontario producers are paid an amount below the average in other provinces, retail prices of fluid milk are among the highest in Canada. Retail prices averaged about two cents a quart higher than they should have based on producer returns, according to the inquiry.

OMMB chairman Kenneth G. McKinnon said he has had a chance for only a cursory examination of the report but on first glance, its recommendations and findings "appear valid and fair".

In 1975, the board, was deeply concerned about the excessive prices for milk at the retail level, compared to the price its producers received, called for a public inquiry and was asked to make a submission to the inquiry.

"As the Ontario Milk Marketing Board only sets the price to the processor for raw milk delivered from the farm," Mr. McKinnon said, "we were concerned about certain practices in the industry at the wholesale and retail price level which revolved around excessive retailer margins, the wastage associated with store returns, the whole system of discounts and the significant price variations between markets in various areas of the province.

"The fears and suspicions the board had on these subjects," he said, "have been confirmed in the report of the public inquiry."

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board has to justify any changes in the farmer's price for raw milk to the Milk Commission of Ontario, whereas processors, distributors and retailers do not have to fully justify their prices and any increases to any government body or to the general public.

"We are convinced," Mr. McKinnon said, "that consumers or the public in general, never really understood or appreciated that point."

There are some segments of the news media, professors of economics, the federal Ministry of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, and others, who blame marketing boards for excessive prices.

"The irony of this," Mr. McKinnon said, "is that the inquiry makes the following finding, 'the producer price in Ontario in 1975 was slightly below the average of the other provinces in Canada, while the retail price was among the highest.

"In the board's estimation," he said, "this public inquiry proves that there are organizations and some of the news media, who have been conducting witch-hunts against farmers' marketing boards and have been hounding the wrong villain to cover up glaring imperfections in our free enterprise system.

"We believe," Mr. McKinnon said, "that the Milk Commission of Ontario's recommendation that it should monitor the wholesale and retail prices of fluid milk in Ontario on a regular basis is a stride in the right direction."

The board has not supported the idea of price controls at the processing and retail levels in the past, he said, and we will be reviewing with the Milk Commission the methods it will be using to monitor prices.

Mr. McKinnon said that the board is concerned that the per capita consumption of fluid milk in the province be maintained, and indeed increased, and that is one of the reasons the milk producers of Ontario spend more than $2-million for the promotion and advertising of milk each year to increase milk sales.

"But equally important," he said, "the board and milk producers generally recognize the nutritional and social importance of milk.

"For both these reasons," he concluded, "the board believes that consumers should be able to buy milk at the lowest posible price that is fair and equitable to all segments of the industry - producers, processors, distributors and retailers.

$2-million in building

(Staff) - If you thought 1976 was a boom year for construction in Chesterville, you were right.

Permits issued during the year were for a total value of almost $2-million for new residences and commercial buildings.

The value of new construction in the village - excluding such things as renovations, additions, car ports, garages and swimming pools - came to $1,955,400 according to the figures supplied to The Record by clerk-treasurer Lloyd Graham.

Included in the construction figures are those for 42 new homes with a total value of $1,180,900 - an average of just over $28,000 per home. The majority of these were built in Brookside Gardens, formerly the Thompson subdivision.

Mr. Graham said the 42 new homes in Chesterville in one year "has to be a record. We've had years when our total number of permits hasn't been that high."

The largest single permit was issued to the Ontario Housing Corporation for the construction of the 25-unit senior citizen apartment complex on Water St. The building is valued at $411,000.

Commercial buildings totalled $364,000 almost all of which was accounted for by Nestle (Canada) Ltd. One of Nestle's permits was for $300,000.

In contrast, permits issued so far this year are for a total of $54,000, almost all of which is for commercial buildings.

A permit for a $25,000 building was issued to Nestle; one for $20,000 was issued for the addition to Janmart; $5,000 for renovations for dan's shoppe and $500 for a demolition permit for another downtown building.

Residential permits account for only $3,500, $3,000 of which is for a car port, and permits for $100 and $400 for renovations to homes.

Council approves park

BERWICK (Special) - Finch Township has accepted in principle the proposal of Serge Brisson, Crysler, for the development of a mobile home park on lot 19, concession seven, and has forwarded the plan to the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Board.

The park, to be known as Evergreen Trailer Park, is situated on 50 acres northeast of Berwick. It is currently zoned as agricultural and to change its use for the park, Mr. Brisson must bear the expense of having it redesignated as residential.

Council has also decided to limit the amount that can be loaned to a farmer in any one year under the Tile Drainage Act. The new ceiling is $15,000 per application and comes after a discussion at council's second meeting in February when a request was received for $45,000 for drainage on two 100-acre farms.

By limiting the amount for individual projects, council hopes to spread its tile drainage allocations around to more farmers. There was no ceiling under the previous system and this carried the danger that on the program's first come, first served basis, two or three large applications could gobble up all the township's money.

Tile drainage money is available to farmers at six per cent interest and the amount does not exceed $15,000.

The township has set its 1977 road budget, with expenditures totalling $119,546. Subsidies will underwrite $111,000 of this.

The new provincial bridge inspection program has taken another step in Finch Township with Council approving the expenditure of $13,000 for an evaluation report to be done on bridges over the Payne River. The program is being wholly subsidized by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and council has applied to the ministry to accept the amount it has set aside.

Representatives of the Crysler Arena Board have met with council to inform the municipal body of progress being made on its fund-raising campaign for a proposed arena in the police village. The organization's plans call for future financing through raffles and other events.

Clerk-treasurer Arnott Empey has been instructed to contact the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Administration to request a two-thirds subusdiy for improvement work to be done on the Gillies Drain in concessions 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Former Newington resident dies March 11

Violet May, a former RR2 Newington resident, died in Cornwall's Bestview Nursing Home Fri., March 11 in her 84th year.

Mrs. May was born in Buckinghamshire, England, and was the daughter of James and Sophia Cild, both deceased.

She is survived by three sons, Robert, Newington, Reginald, Campbell River, BC, and Clifford, Newington; three grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

The funeral service was held from the Brownlee Funeral Home, Finch, at 2pm Mon., March 14 with Rev. H. Funge officiating. Pallbearers were grandsons Lester May and Gerry Breton and neighbors Harold Steele, Jack Helmer and Gordon MacGregor.

Diamond Club members enjoy local enterainment

AVONMORE (Special) - Forty-two members attended the regular meeting of the Avonmore diamond club.

Clifford Hewston conducted a short business session during which it was decided to purchase additional chairs and tables and a coat rack for the club room.

Mrs. Catherine Morrison reported that the quilt top donated by Mrs. Stanley Wert had been quilted and sold and another guilt had been quilted.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. John Ferguson and Mrs. Fraser MacRae, program conveners for the evening. The seniors' choir, under the direction of Mrs. Iva Bush, sang old favorites several times during the evening. Raymond Delaney and Dale Robertson entertained with their display of tap dancing. Mrs. Clifford Hewston gave two readings, the Ant and the Cricket, and a modern version of this old fable. Mrs. Ernest Poapst favored the group with a medley of tunes on the mouth organ. Mr. and Mrs. Madlwyn Watkins sang an Irish duet followed by the Welsh National Anthem, Mr. Watkins singing the chorus in Welsh.

Rev. John Wiseman brought greetings and entertained with humorous readings. A trio, Mrs. Catherine Morrison, Mrs. Eva McHugh and Mrs. Peter Sinclair, sang My Grandfather's Clock. Mrs. John Ferguson's reading of When Father Laid the Carpet on the Stairs was followed by lively piano music by Mrs. Hilda Kennedy.

An Old Maid's Drill, performed by Mrs. J.A. Cameron, Mrs. Ford Warner, Mrs. Clifford MacElheran, Mrs. Ernest Filion and Mrs. Catherine Morrison, brought a round of applause.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Bush, the conveners and all those taking part.

Lunch conveners were Mrs. Eva McHugh, Mrs. Florence Robinson, Mrs. Sinclair Feek, Mrs. Stanley Wert and Mrs. Willis Grant.

The one that missed

Morrisburg Lions netminder Don McNairn got a piece of the puck on this play to direct it wide of the cage during last Wednesday's 3-2 win over the Prescott Saints. Twin brother Doug, in front of the net, and Robbie Reynolds watch the errant puck scoot by the net. Morrisburg downed Prescott 8-3 Sunday evening to claim the best-of-seven St. Lawrence Division final series in six games and the Gill Cup for the second straight season. McNairn was one of the major factors in the Lions' third win, stopping two breakaways late in the game to preserve the slim Morrisburg lead.

Morrisburg Lions retain Gill Cup

PRESCOTT (Staff) - The Morrisburg Lions turned on their powerplay here Sunday to down the Prescott Saints 8-3 and claim their second straight Gill Cup, emblematic of St. Lawrence Division Junior B hockey supremacy.

The Lions fired five powerplay goals in the game as they won the St. Lawrence Division championship in six games and earned a berth in ODHA Junior B Hockey League semi-finals against the Gananoque G-Men.

That best-of-seven set will open at 8:30pm Friday in Morrisburg. Game two is scheduled for 7pm Sunday at Gananoque with the third game back in Morrisburg at 8pm next Tuesday.

Morrisburg won the first two games of the series but Prescott evened the set before the Lions posted a 3-2 win last Wednesday and then came up winners Sunday.

The Lions wasted little time claiming leads in the two final games.

Bryan Rutley beat Roy Lalonde at the 37-second mark and Doug McNairn upped the margin on a powerplay at 2:51.

Kevin Duvall scored on another powerplay five minutes later before Peter Lapensee replied for the Saints at 13:17 on Prescott's second shot on the Morrisburg net.

The Lions completely dominated the middle stanza, outscoring the Saints 3-0 and outshooting them 20-9. They outshot Prescott 46-28 on the game.

Peter McIntosh, Billy Morrow and Kevin Mackler all got powerplay goals in the middle frame as the Lions built up a 6-1 margin.

Bob McNairn scored twice in the third period for Morrisburg before Chris Baker and Tim Elliott notched the Saints' goals late in the frame.

Referee Pat Dolan handed the Lions 11 minor penalties and a major, as Prescott got 19 minors, two 10-minute misconducts and a game misconduct.

Last Wednesday, Morrisburg got a goal in each period to move into the series lead.

Doug McNairn, Brian Moran and Kevin Duvall scored the goals.

Denis Theriault and Brian Dalley got the Prescott goals as the teams split a pair of first period scores and Morrisburg led 2-1 going into the final period.

Morrisburg received five minors and a major while Prescott was assessed nine minors, a major and 10-minute misconduct.

Powerplay steers Jets to series stranglehold

WILLIAMSTOWN (Staff) - Penalties have been the salvation of the Chesterville Jets and they may be the death of the Char-Lan Rebels.

Chesterville again capitalized on powerplay opportunities here Thursday night, winning 4-3 to move to within a single victory of capturing the North Stormont Long Sault Junior Hockey League championship for the first time in the club's three-year history.

The victory gave the Jets a 6-0 point lead in their eight-point final series. By the time this paper hits the streets, the Jets and their supporters may be celebrating a championship win with the fourth game of the series played in Chesterville last night (Tuesday).

However, if the Rebels managed to stave off elimination, a fifth game will be played in Williamstown at 8pm Thursday.

The Jets took a stranglehold on the series with three powerplay goals, including the winner by John Elliott, Thursday to set up the possibility of a series sweep.

The three powerplay goals, all scored with Char-Lan's number one defenceman, Claude Bourck, sitting out minor infractions, ran the Jets' series point total to six.

Chesterville notched a pair of powerplay goals in the series-opening 5-4 win and one more in the 3-0 second game victory. A last-second winning goal in the opening contest by Kevin Blair was also scored on a powerplay.

Chesterville went to the attack with a strong forechecking game from the opening face-off Thursday with goalie Steve Droppo and Char-Lan's Mark Gareau each forced to make key stops in the early going.

Char-Lan finally broke the ice at 11:37 with Mike Tessier splitting the defence and beating Droppo on the short side.

Less than a minute later, Droppo got in front of Mickey Wolfe's close-in shot to spark Chesterville.

Working with a man advantage, defenceman Dave Arnold teamed up with winger Lorne Cook to knot the score at 14:21. Arnold picked up the puck at the Chesterville blueline and headed up ice. He fed the puck off to Cook who pulled the defence over and dumped the disc back into the slot area for Arnold to deke Gareau and blink the red light.

Fifty seconds later Chesterville captain Greg Beckstead ran the count to 2-1.

Jeff Smith's blast from the point went wide but the puck bounced off the boards and to the corner of the net where Cook took a swipe at it, knocking it across in front of the cage where Beckstead was waiting to bat it in.

With 58 seconds played in the middle period and Bourck once again sitting out a penalty, Arnold engineered another scoring play.

He picked up the puck behind his own net and went the length of the ice before dumping it back into the slot where Dave Cross was waiting all alone and beat Gareau with a wrist shot on the stick side.

Chesterville suffered a defensive lapse in the second half of the frame and it cost them their two-goal margin.

With just under seven minutes left in the period Wolfe was left unguarded in front of the net off a faceoff and he poked the puck past Droppo as the netminder sprawled to clear it.

Just over two minutes later Bob Filion directed a shot from the side of the net past Droppo who had no chance on the play.

Droppo boarded up the cage in the third period, stopping Earl McBean from close-in and then getting in front of Wolfe's breakaway shot shortly after.

Cook was unable to swat a bouncing puck minutes later before Bourck was handed two straight minor penalties.

It was on the second powerplay effort, with 6:45 remaining in the game, that Elliott slapped home the winning goal on an innocent looking play.

The Jets were pressuring and took only 31 seconds to claim the lead.

Jeff Smith's shot from the right point went off Gareau's right skate and scooted across the front of the net where Elliott was waiting.

Cook was set up by Neil Kittle minutes later and missed the corner before Droppo again had to come to the rescue.

He halted McBean again and robbed Don Thompson blind with 1:21 remaining as Dan Clement sat out a roughing penalty.

Officials called 11 penalties in the game with Char-Lan receiving five minors and Chesterville four. Midway through the final period Dave Cross tangled with Lloyd Fourney, who received a bloody nose, and each was handed a fighting major.

Embrun sweeps sr. hockey final

GATINEAU (Staff) - Gatineau goaltender Andre Lord played the role of a magician here Friday night but it was Embrun's Dave Dixie who pulled the rabbit from the hat.

Dixie, no stranger to playoff pressure, spoiled Lord's solo act as the Panthers scored an 8-6 come from behind overtime win to sweep their best-of-seven Ottawa District Senior Hockey League final series.

The league title also gave the Panthers the choice to play for the senior A Allan Cup or defend last year's Intermediate A Hardy Cup championship.

Team officials have elected to play for the Hardy Cup and the Panthers' defence of that national crown will open Easter Weekend (April 8) when they travel to Val d'Or to meet a team from that region in a best-of-five series.

Lord's quick glovehand was out to force a fifth game in the series and his intentions looked as if they might become fact until Dixie turned the tables.

Gatineau supporters were almost ready to start the countdown for victory when Dixie jammed the puck into the corner of the net behind Lord with just under two minutes remaining in the third period to force overtime.

The Panthers continued the pressure in the overtime frame but Lord was unbeatable until Dixie unleashed one of his blasts from just inside the blueline, at the 6:51 mark.

The high shot hit Lord's glove, dropped out and trickled into the net as the Gatineau goalie backtracked frantically to try to catch it.

Dixie's linemate, Dave Hunt salted the win away with 33 seconds left in the 10-minute stanza, depositing the puck in the empty net.

The Nordiques came out flying in the opening frame, opening up a 4-2 lead.

Mike Cayer, Yves Plouffe, Pierre Lemire and Denis Roy scored early for Gatineau as Bob Moore pulled himself from the Embrun goal after the third goal.

Steve Desloge and John Hutton had scored for Embrun.

Allan Duncan, a sparkplug in the Embrun attack throughout the game, and Dixie evened the count early in the second stanza. The Panthers threatened to take the lead on numerous occasions but Lord held tight as the Nordiques regained the lead at 18:07 with Garry Mahon beating Wayne Hughes on a rebound.

In the final period, Larry Mick tied the score at 5-5 before Denis Roy sent Gatineau back into the lead to set up the exciting finish.

NEARING COMPLETION

All but a handful of games in another successful season remain for local minor hockey teams.

The midget and atom teams captured Carleton-Dundas Minor Hockey League regular season championships while the bantams placed second and peewees fourth - all qualifying for the playoffs.

Win, lose or draw, the Chesterville boys will have to admit to having had another fun hockey campaign.

The local boys enjoyed a relatively successful season on the ice but something even more important to cherish for the rest of their lives is the fact that they participated.

Winning teams and top individual players will be honored at Winchester April 15 when the CDMHL holds its annual year-end award banquet. Chesterville residents may obtain tickets for the event from Bob Youmelle, Riverside Drive, phone 448-2165.

FIRST RATE JOB

First rate efficiency is an easy way to describe how the Chesterville and District Minor Hockey Association hosted nine tournaments during the fast closing 1976-77 hockey season.

We salute the many minor hockey people (too numerous to mention here and because someone will undoubtedly be forgotten) we won't even attempt it for their assistance in every way during the season.

Co-operation has been a plus and the village's minor hockey program will continue to thrive if such efforts are carried on.

There were probably a few hitches and complaints during the season but we're not going to delve into those matters, which, in any event, were taken in stride.

We say thanks for a first winter in the village and we'll be looking forward to next season for bigger and better things.

BALL SEASON COMING

The snow has left and returned but softball fans and players are already starting to chatter about the coming season.

The Dundas Fastball League will be holding its annual meeting at 7:30pm Mon., April 4 in Cardinal and a number of changes are expected.

The senior fastball circuit operated with six teams last year but is expected to have seven and possibly eight entries this season.

Defending champion Brockville Commercial Stars are expected back along with the Williamsburg Pioneers, Domville Aces, Cardinal Pats and Maynard Roadrunners. It is not known if the Kemptville Squires will be back and Bob's Tavern of Ogdensburg and Iroquois are expected to seek entry to the league.

League president Hugh McKay and vice-president Bob MacDonald are uncommitted to joining the exeuctive with secretary-treasurer Lynne O'Brien, who is expected to hold her post.

Peter Healey is expected to leave Domville to play with Brockville and Williamsburg is expected to obtain the services of Ron Donnelly and Gerry Belanger.

Domville is also reported as losing slugger Dave Dixie to the Ottawa Turpins of the Metro Fastball League in Ottawa.

Rumer stings Avonmore

FINCH (Staff) - If the Avonmore Aces didn't know Dave Rumer could score and set up goals, they learned the difficult way here Sunday night.

The shifty centreman was in on all of Berwick's goals as they posted an 8-5 decision over Avonmore in the opening game of the North Stormont Men's Hockey League best-of-seven final series.

Rumer scored a pair of goals - including the eventual winner midway through the final period - and set up the other six.

Avonmore, the top team in the regular season, earned a berth in the championship series Friday night by downing Ingleside 8-6 in the seventh and deciding game of that best-of-seven semi-final series.

Winners of only five regular season games, Berwick eliminated second place Newington in five games in the semi-finals.

Rumer, a regular with the Finch Township Junior 76s, missed most of the Berwick games but ended the season with eight goals and 11 assists.

He won the North Stormont Long Sault Junior Hockey League scoring title for a second straight year with 42 points on 28 goals and 14 assists.

Avonmore was shorthanded for Sunday's game and third period penalties didn't help as Berwick snapped a 4-4 tie with four consecutive goals.

Rumer's linemate, John MacNaughton, led the scoring with a hat trick as Jack Landry notched a pair and Garry Lefebvre had one.

Murray MacMillan led the Aces with two goals and an assist.

Singles went to Junior Lalonde, Bob Grant and Dalt Adams. Avonmore led 3-2 after one period of play.

Officials were kept busy calling 103 minutes in penalties. Berwick received 13 minors, one major and 10-minute misconduct while the Aces were handed 16 minors, two majors, a 10-minute misconduct and a game misconduct.

Friday night, Avonmore got two-goal efforts from three players as they scored four third period goals to eliminate Ingleside.

Murray MacMillan, Bob Grant and Don Blaney each netted a pair of goals. MacMillan also collected two assists.

Art McElheran and Bruce Henderson chipped in with single goals.

Yellow dumps Green team 4-3 in overtime

(Staff) - The element of upset is always prevalent in hockey and that is just what happened last week as the Chesterville Town Hockey League playoffs opened.

The surprise was dealt Thursday night as Yellow, winner of only two games in the 20-game regular season, handed Green a 4-3 overtime loss.

The previous night, pennant-winning Red doubled Blue 4-2 in the first game of that best-of-three semi-final series.

Yellow and Green continue their series at 10pm tonight (Wednesday) and Blue and Red meet at the same time Thursday night.

Yellow wasted little time going on the attack building up a 2-0 first lead.

Mike Fyke, the oldest player in the four-team league, was the hero of the game, flipping the winning goal past Bill Giles with six minutes played in the overtime period.

Les Holmes, Bill Hallen and Gord Mason had scored in regulation time for Yellow.

Green got a pair of goals from Phil Groves and one from Ian MacIntosh.

Wednesday night, scoring champion Gary Gallinger paced the Red attack with two goals as they led 2-1 and 3-1 at the period breaks.

Gallinger gave Red an early lead before Dave Carkner replied for Blue and Richard Elliott sent Red into the lead for keeps.

Gallinger ran the score to 3-1 in the middle stanza and Bob Youmelle drew Blue to within one goal late in the final period.

With less than a minute to play in the game, Rick Cormier put the icing on the cake.

Finch championship aspirations dashed

FINCH (Staff) - Any hopes the Finch Township 76s had of winning the ODHA Junior C Championship were dashed here Saturday night.

The 76s were ousted from further play for the district title when they suffered a 5-2 defeat to the Maxville Highlanders.

The win clinched a final berth for the Highlanders against the Char-Lan Rebels, who went undefeated in the three-team double round-robin playdown series.

The Rebels have five points, Maxville four and Finch one. Char-Lan and Maxville have a game remaining in the series against each other.

Maxville never trailed in the deciding game, carrying a 3-1 lead into the final period after a scoreless first frame.

Robert Wheeler fired the first goal and Kelley Kavic sent the Highlanders up two goals before Allan MacDonell replied for Finch.

Rick Briere notched the eventual winning goal on a powerplay with 4:20 remaining in the middle stanza.

Wayne Baker narrowed the margin early in the final period before Maxville got two goals from Michael Atkins.

Each team received eight minor penalties and a fighting major.
