This week

The year that was

Nineteen eighty-five will probably be remembered as the year of sweeping change in provincial politics, as both Ontario and Quebec voted for new governments. But the year was a busy one at the local level as well. This week the Press reviews the events and personalities that made the news.

Puck Hawk

Scott Dexter bounced this drive off of the Beaver goalie's blocker, but managed to put another shot by him. Dexter scored a goal and earned four assists in Winchester's 9-5 Jr. B victory over Clarence Creek.

Farm focus

The opening of a brand new $1.4 million show arena at Kemptville College was just one of many landmarks for the local farming community in 1985. It was a year of highs and lows, of controversial political decisions, and protest.

Trip winner

Stephen Ault of Winchester was the lucky winner in the 1986 series of Hawks Hockey Club Holiday Happiness Draws. Ault won the new series first trip Friday night when his name was drawn during the Junior B contest. The excursion is a $1,400 one-week ski holiday in Banff.

Roads, water high on councils' agenda

WINCHESTER — Having survived the heralded and much anticipated year of 1984, and plowed through 1985 with little extraordinary on the municipal scene, residents whose lives are affected by local government might as well set their sights on the year 2000 as the next big star in engagement books. Afterall, 2000 is only 5,105 days away.

Granted, comet Halley is scheduled to lighten the skies early this year, but the traditional New Year's survey of heads of local councils indicates no action out of the chambers is likely to rival the streaking comet.

Roads, water and the subsequent allure for home buyers will make up the ongoing agenda for councillors in Winchester, Osgoode, Mountain and Williamsburg. As highlights, taxpayers in the various municipalities can look forward to a new grader, township concession signs, tight reins on tax increases and, perhaps, taxi service of some sort.

"There won't be a great deal that is startling," says Winchester Reeve Larry Gray of the upcoming year. Plans for the village include initiation of the lagoon expansion program, resolution of zoning bylaws to clear up problems for developers, and a volunteer transportation service to help out those who can't get around town.

Gray said the final report on the new well located on Riddell Road should be in shortly and will indicate exactly how much more water the village will get. Although he's "reluctant to be optimistic," Gray said the well should provide an additional 150 to 200 gallons per minute, which will shift the emphasis to expanding the sewage system.

"If the enlarging of the lagoon proceeds as anticipated, it should be under way by early summer and those developers who are ambitious could be going by late summer," said Gray. Council is anxious to free up more building lots and the combination of more water and sewage facilities should fill the order, said Gray.

Nineteen eighty-six will bring the completion of the senior citizens' complex and will leave the village on the threshold of its centennial.

Gray also hopes the new year will see plans for a transportation service come to fruition.

He said the volunteer taxi service would serve mostly the elderly, but with the harshness of new liquor laws he thinks the market might be bigger. "There is a fair interest in it and that's when things get done," said Gray. "It would be for those who need it" but others who like to go out for a good time "could still get home without being fined."

Addiction program targets aid for region

CORNWALL — A recently established bilingual drug addiction program for SD&G and Prescott-Russell is aimed at bringing services to the people who need them.

According to Millicent McGuire, of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit, a member of the advisory committee to the program, assessment referral and follow-up services to any person with an addiction problem will be available at the Health unit's offices throughout the five counties.

There are offices in Winchester, Alexandria, Cornwall, Rockland, Casselman and L'Orignal.

"The idea is that the assessments will be done throughout the five counties rather than having to go to Cornwall," said McGuire. "This way the service hopefully will come closer to the people who need it."

According to information from the Addiction Research Foundation, the alcoholism rate for the five counties is 50 to 52 per 1,000 adult population. On that basis, there are probably 5,150 alcoholics in the region. Each adult alcoholic or drug user is expected to affect the lives or health of at least four other persons, making addiction a direct concern of some 20,600 citizens of the five counties.

McGuire said the new service, co-ordinated by George Harrison, is an assessment program rather than a treatment program. Clients are referred to the program, and a decision is made as to their specific needs. Following the assessment, a suitable treatment program is found for each client.

Another aspect of the program is a one-year follow-up to the assessment. "You might get a person to treatment and then they might slip back," McGuire said.

The program will also offer information to increase the awareness of health professionals and those in related fields in dealing with addiction and alcoholism. Information will be distributed to the general public through the media.

Letting people know a referral program is available is important, McGuire said. "Often people won't refer, because they think it's hopeless, there's nowhere to go."

The advisory committee to the program is chaired by Carolyn Manley of Winchester District Memorial Hospital, and also includes North Dundas District High School teacher Carl Ward.

Merry birthday

Justin Elliott may not remember his first Christmas, but it's a sure thing his parents will. The first child of Sandra and Calvin Elliott of RR1 Morrisburg, Justin was born at 9:14pm Christmas Day. Also in the maternity ward for Christmas was Sarah Toonders, daughter of Brenda and Ron Toonders of RR4 Winchester, born Dec. 20, and Clayton Froats, son of Cindy and Rick Froats of Morrisburg, born Dec. 23. Care Centre to pay no property tax

MANOTICK — The soon-to-be-open Township of Osgoode Care Centre will be exempt from property taxes following passage of a private members' bill introduced by Carleton-Grenville MPP Norm Sterling last month.

Sterling drafted and introduced the bill, which should save the care centre about $20,000 a year, in December, but didn't expect it would be debated before early sessions at Queen's Park this month. It was passed on Dec. 20, the last day before Christmas break, although it wasn't a typical approval.

"It was kind of surprising to see the objections come up (both the municipal affairs and revenue ministries were against the bill)," said Sterling. "It was a bit of a rough time, but I just persevered."

Sterling said the objections arose because most bills concerning tax exemptions aren't approved until the facility is operating. "Normally it takes 20 minutes to get through committee, but this one took about an hour and a half."

While the ministries objected to the bill the committee approved it unanimously and it was given final reading Dec. 20. Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry MPP Noble Villeneuve sat on the committee as a substitute and voiced his support, said Sterling.

The bill effectively gives the municipality a mandate to pass a bylaw in regard to property taxes. Care centre finance chairman Albert McKeown said he expects a bylaw will be passed in the Osgoode Township council chambers within the next few weeks. "We feel good about it," said McKeown. "We'll be able to give better service to the residents."

The centre is scheduled to open in February, with a latest date set at March 1.

In Toronto the legislature reconvenes Jan. 6 and Sterling will begin working on a bill to restrict smoking in public buildings as well as airing his views on proposed electoral boundary changes.

He expects the non-smokers' protection act will be debated during the second week of January while the riding changes will be of immediate concern. The process of the boundaries commission has passed through the stages of initial proposals and public debate, and now will be put before the legislature before the commission draws up final plans.

The early proposals from the commission would raise the number of ridings in the province from 125 to 130 and cut the entire county of Grenville from Sterling's domain. "If they want to carve it up, that's not the best way," said Sterling who will be speaking on the subject early next week.

After talking with one of the commission members, Sterling said he believes the new distributions will be in place by May 1986. One of the proposals had Grenville County joining SD&G, giving Villeneuve more miles on his already expansive riding.

Sterling would like to see the number of ridings in the province reduced by 25, and match geographically with the federal ridings to make matters easier for the electorate.

Economist sees little change in '86

OTTAWA — No major economic improvements are expected for Eastern Ontario in the year ahead, according to district economist S.M. Berlasso.

However, the unemployment rate for the Ottawa area compares favorably with the national rate, and community businesses and personal service industries will continue to thrive.

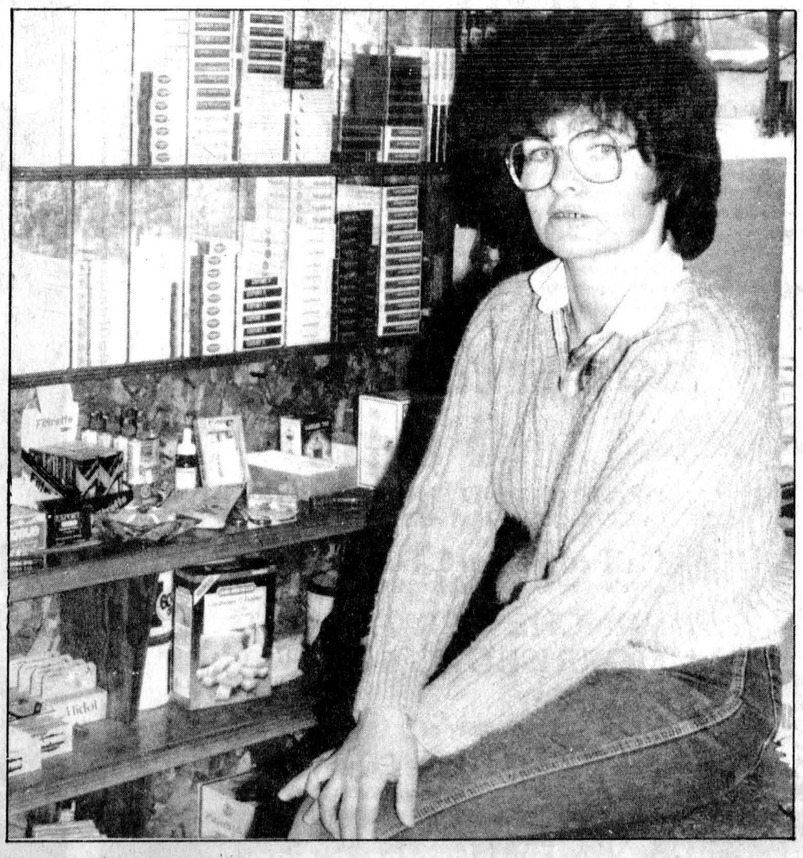
"I think that the service industries will continue to perform with strength," Berlasso said Monday. "That's in spite of the current layoffs in the federal government."

In October, the unemployment rate for the area was 7.7 per cent, compared to 9.5 per cent for all of Canada. Berlasso said there are about 34,000 unemployed in the Ottawa area out of a workforce of approximately 460,000.

Because farming is no longer labor intensive, Berlasso said, no major employment gains are expected in the industry anywhere in Canada. The future for farm prices is uncertain, and current financial difficulties will probably continue.

"I don't see too much of an improvement," Berlasso said. "The industry is under great cost pressure."

Unless consumer demand for dairy products and red meat goes up drastically, he added, there will be no great improvements in the outlook for local farming operations.



Two holdups in less than three weeks constitute a nightmare for anyone in the retail business, but that's what happened to Carole Godwin at the general store in Marionville last month. Two teenagers with a gun and hunting knife robbed her of $560 last Saturday night.

Marionville store target for two armed robberies

MARIONVILLE — Manotick OPP are searching for two young men who burst into the general store in Marionville last Saturday night and made off with $560 after confronting the cashier with a revolver and hunting knife.

The pair rushed into Provigo Aubin Supply at 8:30pm wearing stockings over their heads and demanded cash from Carole Godwin, 38, alone in the store at the time. It was the second robbery attempted at the store in less than three weeks.

Godwin, who owns the store with her husband Donald Tompkins, said Monday she wasn't hurt in the robbery, but still hasn't recovered. "One is enough, but two is two too many," she said. "I guess the kids have discovered that the small-town stores are vulnerable."

Although police have made no arrests, Godwin feels one of the two thieves might be the same one who approached her alone with a knife three weeks ago. At that time she said the thief was nervous and bolted with no cash when she told him she knew who he was.

The robbery last weekend came with the cash register full following the busiest shopping day of the week. Godwin said she was sitting in a chair behind the cash counter when she heard the door chimes and saw two men run directly to the cash register.

The man with the gun tried to open the register himself and demanded that Godwin do it when he couldn't open the coded machine.

After he had grabbed most of the money his partner circled the counter to collect several one-dollar bills that had fallen and a handful of cigarette lighters.

"It all happened very quickly, but I wouldn't say professionally," said Tompkins, who was in the family's apartment above the store at the time. "They were in and out in two or three minutes, if that."

The couple have leased the store since April and have the first option to buy, but the recent incidents may lead them away from the business.

Tompkins said his wife was "quite upset" by the latest attempt. "The first one wasn't so bad because it was just a chap with a knife," said Tompkins, 36, "but a gun is a different animal."

The robbery and attempted theft occurred on Wednesday and Saturday nights when the store is open until 10pm. The couple immediately decided to close at 8pm and lock the doors at 7pm, allowing only those people they know in for the last hour.

"We're so isolated from the police here. They always respond immediately, but it's so far away. It gives thieves a good opportunity to get away," said Tompkins.

Manotick OPP have issued a description of the thieves showing one to be five foot five to five foot seven inches tall, of medium build with long black hair. He was wearing a green ski jacket. The other stood five foot eight inches tall, wore a beige jacket and had a young-sounding voice. Both are believed to be teenagers.

There was no description of a getaway vehicle.

The year that was

JANUARY

Nineteen eighty-five was a year of change, and The Press was no exception. As the year began, the paper bade farewell — almost — to reporter and columnist Joe Rowan. The "Metcalfe Maverick" retired after 18 years at the Press, but his lasting claim to fame, the Seventh Column, continues to grace the editorial page each week.

In Chesterville, a tractor driver discovered Jan. 3 that the ice on the Nation River wasn't quite ready for skaters. In the process of clearing away snow from the ice surface Jan. 3, a John Deere tractor driven by 19-year-old Greg Sullivan plunged into the frigid waters of the river. The driver escaped unhurt, but it was another two hours before a crane could fish out the tractor.

In Osgoode Township, the Manotick OPP were called on by Transport Canada to investigate after a Kemptville pilot used a township road as a runway Jan. 5. The pilot ran out of fuel during a flight to Ottawa, and was forced to land on Regional Road 9, about five miles northeast of Metcalfe. In Winchester, council learned winter had taken its toll on the annual village roads budget. Clerk Raymond Annable told council snow removal was about $6,000 over budget as the new year began.

Council also received official approval from the Ministry of the Environment to conduct a long-awaited three-day pumping test of the village's newest well, located in Mountain Township. Construction of a four-kilometre pipeline to pump water from the well to the village had just been completed.

The following week, Carleton-Grenville MPP Norm Sterling broke his silence on the Progressive Conservative leadership race and announced he would throw his support behind candidate Dennis Timbrell.

In Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, Francophone teachers in 24 separate schools began strike action Jan. 15, for the first time since the separate board was established in 1969. The issues dividing the board and the Francophone teachers involved working conditions rather than wages, with the teachers asking for an uninterrupted lunch period, an adjustment in principals' teaching time and a reduction in the student-teacher ratio. The 260 teachers were back at work Mon., Jan. 28 after an agreement was reached in a marathon negotiating session.

Of the three outstanding issues in the contract dispute, the teachers won two and compromised on the third. The board agreed to the teachers' request for an uninterrupted 40-minute lunch period and reduced teaching time for principals, leaving them more time for administrative duties.

A telephone survey of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry's delegates to the PC leadership convention in Toronto revealed three were supporting Frank Miller, two favored Dennis Timbrell, and one vote each went to Larry Grossman and Roy McMurtry. Two delegates went to the convention uncommitted and one said he had narrowed his choice down to either Grossman or Timbrell.

When the ballots had been counted, Miller edged out treasurer Larry Grossman by 77 votes. Delegate Gerry Rosenquist, secretary and former president of the SD&G Liberals, said prophetically that Miller's right-wing philosophy would not carry long-term voter support.

Saying he personally thought Grossman would have made a better leader, Rosenquist said the choice would wind up helping the opposition.

"I don't think Miller is going to develop into the impressive personality that Davis was," said Trevor Tolley, president of the the SD&G New Democrats.

Back in Winchester, a public meeting was scheduled to discuss plans for the village Centennial in 1988. The meeting led to establishment of an organizational committee which continued to meet monthly throughout the year to discuss Centennial plans.

FEBRUARY

Tragedy struck at a Winchester farm Feb. 3 as fire destroyed a barn along with two Holstein cattle and 500 bales of hay. Firefighters from the Winchester and Morewood volunteer departments were able to save some equipment but the barn, owned by Bruce Cumming, was described as "a write-off".

Members of Osgoode Township council had cause for optimism as the township's share of local ratepayers' property taxes showed a slight decrease for the second year in a row. Mayor Albert Bouwers credited more effective debt collection and improved cash flow management for the good showing.

Carnival fever, a phenomenon which sweeps the area each winter, came to Winchester Feb. 7. Sixteen-year-old Pamela Sherrer of RR2 Mountain was crowned carnival queen, and the weekend event raised a total of $6,500 toward the purchase of a dehumidifier for the village community centre.

In what Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry MPP Noble Villeneuve called "a memorable day for Winchester", the village Computer Den was officially opened Feb. 9. Over 300 people attended the opening of the new facility, which offers the use of 15 computers to students and other interested groups in the community. The project was initiated by a meeting of 15 local organizations which decided to apply to have the facility located in Winchester under a $4 million program administered by the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture.

A group of about 150 SD&G teachers meeting at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School Feb. 18 were told the extension of provincial funding to Catholic secondary schools would be an issue receiving a great deal of attention in the months ahead from Ontario teachers' groups.

Malcolm Buchanan, president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, told the group the Ontario cabinet is approaching the funding extension from the wrong direction, and pledged the legal services of the federation in support of any teacher whose job might be in danger because of the funding extension.

Members of Winchester's newly formed Non-Profit Residence Corporation learned Feb. 18 that the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing had raised the allotment of apartment units for the village's proposed senior citizens' apartment project to 45 units from 35. Housing corporation president Larry Cotton vowed to ask then housing minister Dennis Timbrell for another 15 units.

Born at 4am Feb. 23, Sabrina Berseth, daughter of Sylvanie and Frederic Berseth of RR3 Williamsburg was the lucky winner of a free membership in any Dundas Country Brownie pack in 1991. The membership was offered to the first girl to be born at Winchester District Memorial Hospital as close as possible to the birthdays of scouting movement founders Lord and Lady Baden Powell. Guides District Commissioner Anne Marie Dawley presented Sabrina with an official invitation to "join us in 1991."

An accident was blamed for a short-lived fire which broke out Feb. 22 at the yard behind Ontario Hydro's Winchester area office. A stock pile of pine Hydro poles soaked with cresote caught fire, destroying 60 of the 70 poles.

Winchester's newly formed Centennial planning committee selected the dates for an eight-day celebration in 1988: July 30 to Aug. 7.

1985 The year that was

March

Just when Ontarians thought March had "come in like a lamb", a heavy snowfall whipped by 60 km per hour winds March 4 proved winter still had a sting in its tail.

On a warmer note, human compassion straddled provincial borders Sun., March 3 when more than 600 people gathered at the Greely Legion hall to help raise money for a six-month-old Wakefield, Que., girl suffering a liver disorder. Over a dozen country bands donated their services to generate more than $6,000 in what was labelled the Baby Jennifer Jamboree.

Jennifer, the daughter of Ray and Colleen Martin, suffers a liver disorder that forces her to be fed every two hours. The constant care meant her mother had to give up a job as a secretary with the federal government and left the family to live on her father's wages as a musician.

Eastern Ontario was the winner March 8-9 as a new 100 by 140-foot show ring was unveiled at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology. The $1.4 million facility was opened to the public in time for the annual College Royal, a showcase of students' talents and achievements.

Mon., March 11, Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner rose to tell the House of Commons Canadian consumers may not be getting what they pay for when they buy imported clothing. One third of shipments of imported goods checked by customs and excise inspectors had inadequate or misleading labelling, Warner said. In one case, a pair of socks labelled as containing 51 per cent wool, 19 per cent polyester and 30 per cent cotton in fact contained none of these materials and were in reality manufactured from polypropylene and acrylic.

Winchester residents showered with Mountain Township water for the first time on the morning of March 20, when the village's newest well was switched into the municipal water system. The well was to be pumped at 150 gallons per minute for an initial three-day test, with engineers studying the effect on other wells in the area.

Area farmers were calling a recently released federal government white paper on tax issues in farming a "disservice to agriculture" at a meeting of the Stormont Federation of Agriculture in Monkland March 18.

The paper, prepared for the minister of finance, suggested farmers as a group were wealthier than the average Canadian, paid less income tax and had larger incomes. One woman attending the March 18 meeting asked MP Norm Warner to "tell (finance minister) Wilson the wind goes through our house. We can't afford insulation."

Area ridings were gearing up following a May 2 election called by Premier Frank Miller. NDP candidate Rudi Derstroff and Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough announced their intentions to take a shot at unseating SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve.

Employees of Ault Foods voted March 25 to accept a new three-year contract providing them with a wage increase of about 10 per cent over the three-year period. The plant's 128 employees voted 93 to 27 to accept the offer.

A political action committee of SD&G teachers was calling the first round of its fight to make education a provincial election issue a success, following a meeting with PC candidates Noble Villeneuve and Luc Guindon March 24. The meeting was the first of a series planned between the committee and candidates running in SD&G and Cornwall ridings. At a press conference following the first meeting, committee chairman John Milnes said the three-hour session was a success as a starting point toward better communication between politicians and teachers.

April

Winchester council found itself the focus of a heated debate April 1 as a delegation of merchants and village residents responded to a proposal to introduce one way streets. The delegation rejected the proposal to limit traffic on Church Street between St. Lawrence and Louise to a westward flow, and challenged council to enforce its own parking bylaws instead.

The Vernon Post Office reached a landmark in its long history when assistant postmistress Helen Wyatt retired after 19 years of service.

Computer Den treasurer Bob Lyon brought disturbing news April 10. He warned that the facility might have to close its doors as a result of a severe shortage of funds. The den subsequently weathered the crisis, and continues to operate.

Contractors were busy putting the finishing touches on the interior of Park Drive Villa, Williamsburg's 34-unit senior citizens' apartment complex. The first tenants moved into the completed building April 26.

Famed Canadian heart surgeon Dr. Wilbert Keon was featured at Dundas County's annual Heart and Stroke Foundation annual meeting, held April 11 at the Mountain community hall. County volunteers raised a total of $17,904 in the 1985 campaign.

Candidates in the provincial election campaign joined battle for the first time in open debate in Alexandria April 21. Issues ranged all the way from separate school funding and farm lending policies to TV reception and the content of school texts, but the debate generated little real controversy.

The St. Lawrence District of the Boy Scouts of Canada announced plans to begin development of two Scout camps along the South Nation River during the year.

More than five years of community involvement, determination and hard work accomplished the desired results when the contract was signed and the first sod turned for the Township of Osgoode Care Centre April 22.

And in Winchester, a three-year dream came one step closer to reality Wed., April 24 when housing minister Dennis Timbrell turned the first sod on the site of the village's proposed senior citizens' housing complex. The ceremony was attended by an array of dignitaries, including MPP Noble Villeneuve, former cabinet minister Fred Cass, the reeves of local municipalities and members of the Winchester Non-Profit Residence Corporation.

A crowd of over 100 people attended a reception at the Lions Hall following the sod-turning ceremony on the project site adjacent to the Millview apartments.

May

May brought good news for Osgoode Township council members, who learned the Ministry of Transportation and Communications had allotted the township $131,200 in supplementary roads funding for the year.

On the site of the $3 million Township of Osgoode Care Centre, workmen had the initial stages of construction well under way.

May 2 was election day across Ontario, with political change sweeping the province. While urban voters expressed displeasure with Ontario's ruling Conservative party, predominently rural Eastern Ontario chose to stick with the Tories in the closest election in 60 years.

As the Tories won a narrow — and short-lived — victory by securing 52 seats, the existing balance of power in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, Carleton-Grenville and Prescott-Russell remained unchanged.

The SD&G incumbent Noble Villeneuve fought his campaign in 16 months and once again emerged victorious. In Carleton-Grenville, Norm Sterling; MPP since 1977, defeated his closest rival by over 7,000 votes.

May 5 marked the beginning of a strike by 15,000 Ontario Hydro workers, who left their jobs in an effort to secure better wages, pensions and job stability, with the major issue emerging as Hydro's practice of contracting out work.

The striking employees, including 65 workers at the Winchester area office, were back on the job May 21. The agreement reached by the Canadian Union of Public Employees Local 1000 and Hydro management sent the strikers back to work while the major issues in the dispute were dealt with by arbitration.

A PCB scare hit Iroquois the week of May 15 after a Hydro employee, part of a crew inspecting the Iroquois power dam each month, reported that oil was found leaking from transformers during the last check. PCBs make up 50 per cent of the insulating oil used in the transformers. Hydro officials carried out an inspection and assured the public there was no danger.

Carleton-Grenville MPP Norm Sterling found himself alone among his colleagues at the Ontario legislature after voting against the government's proposal to extend full funding to separate secondary schools. Sterling said that although he was liable to get in trouble politically for his stand, he would feel "morally obligated" to fund private schools if the Catholic boards received full financial backing.

Victoria Day 1985 was a big day for Upper Canada Village. Village staff decided the birthday of Queen Victoria was an especially appropriate time to unveil the village's latest exhibit, a fully operational steam mill. Bellamy's steam flour mill is the only operating mill in North America to be powered by both water and steam. The opening was marked by a full day of colorful activities.

As May drew to a close, Frank Miller's Tory government, clinging precariously to power, found itself facing the combined forces of the two opposition parties. The Liberals under David Peterson quickly signed an agreement with Bob Rae's New Democrats to topple the Conservatives in a vote of non-confidence.

Correction

A story in last week's Press detailing the local goodwill Christmas drives for the needy contained an error concerning the source of a donation to the Salvation Army in Winchester. The story said the Winchester hospital had donated $500 to the cause when in fact it was members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees Local 3000 who contributed the money. The Press regrets the error.

Editorial

But what about jobs?

Nineteen eighty-five may well be remembered by Canadians as a year of sweeping political change. Following the trend that saw a federal Progressive Conservative government take office in September of 1984, both Ontario and Quebec registered their displeasure with the political status quo and turfed out the old parties.

But there is one change many have hoped for that has yet to take place. What has happened to the commitment of governments to improve the lot of the unemployed? Will 1986 be the year when Canada's 1.2 million unemployed are given the priority they deserve?

Since 1982, the Canadian economy has shown steady signs of improvement, but the jobless rate remains above 10 per cent. For those without work, economic recovery remains a bitter joke.

The unemployed have been told in the past that they don't have jobs because rapid economic change has meant the introduction of labor-saving technology, and that the underlying problems in the economy must be dealt with before unemployment can be reduced. Instead of confronting the unemployment problem directly, government and business choose to focus their energy on free trade and the deficit.

It is difficult to believe the introduction of free trade or the reduction of the deficit will be of much benefit to the unemployed. Free trade with the United States will open up the border to the free flow of goods, and will make capital even more mobile than it already is. Meanwhile, the MacDonald royal commission has itself stated that slashing the deficit would actually increase unemployment without a corresponding drop in interest rates.

The economy is shifting away from reliance on unskilled labor and toward high technology. If people are to be given a fighting chance to acquire the skills demanded in today's job market, the necessary training must be made available to them. Post secondary education must not be a target for further cutbacks.

Will the federal government invest in people and give them the chance to develop the skills they need to take a productive role in society, or will it continue to explain away unemployment as a "symptom" of some deeper problem?

1985 The year that was

JUNE

The Ontario government is denying SD&G's tourist industry a valuable marketing tool by refusing to grant directional signage for the area's tourist attractions, Seaway Valley Tourist Council president Jim Irving told association members at the annual President's Luncheon early in June. Irving said the government's policy is "unfair" because criteria for the signs now require proof of attendance of anywhere from 200,000 to 500,000, and force Eastern Ontario to compete with the province's major attractions.

The history of Morrisburg came alive for residents and visitors alike Sat., June 8. The village parents' committee for Guides, Brownies, Pathfinders hosted Home Tours '85, giving the public an opportunity to stroll through some of Morrisburg's oldest and most elegant homes.

David Peterson was sworn in at Queen's Park June 26 as premier of Ontario in a ceremony that hurled one local MPP into power and sent another to the opposition benches. Newcomer Jean Poirier, Prescott-Russell's Liberal MPP, reported he was buried under "three feet of mail" each day and receiing 1,200 phone calls every week. SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve spent the same week attending final official openings and the last constituency matters he would handle as a member of the government.

Winchester District Memorial Hospital wrote the final chapter to two years of planning and fundraising June 21 with the official opening of the hospital's new laboratory and outpatient facilities. The $596,500 project was actually completed in March, increasing the size of the laboratory facilities from 1,800 square feet to 3,200 square feet, and providing new office space for the hospital's radiology and outpatient departments.

The following day was also a landmark occasion in Williamsburg, where residents of the village's Park Drive Villa senior citizens' apartment complex welcomed visitors to their new home.

Morrisburg's Upper Canada Playhouse opened the curtains on its second season Sat., June 29 with the opening night performance of "Nurse Jane Goes to Hawaii".

JULY

Government intervention in agriculture may have to end if farmers are to survive, Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warmer said during a meeting with the Stormont and Dundas Federations of Agriculture. The meeting, called to discuss the impact of the new federal budget on agriculture, generated an hour and a half of sometimes emotional discussion.

Staff at Winchester District Memorial Hospital had a Canadian flag ready for Denis Martel Lafrance, the first baby to be born at the hospital on July 1, Canada Day. Area police forces reported a fairly quiet long weekend, despite the revelry marking the occasion.

Past and present members of the Russell pool and recreation committees joined with lifeguards and township reeve Gaston Patenaude in a celebration of community work July 7. The occasion was the ribbon cutting ceremony for a new change room at the pool site just east of the village. Built in 1967, the pool has been a centre for a generation of youngsters in the community and the official opening served to praise those members who had kept the interests of the pool at the forefront.

A total of 58 competitors took part in the annual Metcalfe Super Tractor Pull held July 13-14. The weekend event was favored by perfect weather the first day, and showers Sunday morning did not dampen the spirits of the huge crowd at the Metcalfe fairgrounds.

Tenders were opened July 18 in the Winchester municipal office for construction of the village's senior citizens' apartment project. The contract for the $1.5 million job was awarded to the Cornwall-based firm of Ray Bolger Steel Fabrication Ltd., which submitted the lowest of five bids received.

The first major fire in more than three months roused firefighters the night of July 20 when a barn containing machinery went up in flames east of Winchester Springs. The barn, owned by Edith McMillan, contained no hay and was used by neighbors for storing machinery, all of which was lost as the Williamsburg fire department, backed up by the Winchester crew, concentrated on saving a nearby garage and hen house.

Williamsburg's Sherry VanAllen was crowned Dundas County's 1985-86 Dairy Princess following the competition July 20 at the Bank of Nova Scotia in Chesterville.

A dozen employees of Morewood Industries were fired July 22 in what they claimed was an attempt by management to quell a move toward unionizing the pre-fabricated home builders. Ontario Labor Relations Board hearings on the issue continue in Ottawa.

It was all systems go for Winchester's new well, which began pumping at capacity July 29. The well was to be monitored daily until the end of August to determine the effect on neighboring wells in the area.

A Western theme livened up the 1985 edition of Vernon Pioneer Days, which included a parade replete with antique cars, wagons, horses, musicians and a clown with a chicken. Osgoode Township mayor Albert Bouwers had some unexpected announcements for Vernon residents at the opening of the weekend event in the form of two paving projects in the village scheduled for the fall.

AUGUST

Fair season was under way in the area again, with the three-day Russell Fair getting things started. The weather was ideal, but the fair faced competition from a Wayne Rostad concert in Ottawa and the annual Glengarry Highland Games in Maxville, which drew an estimated 20,000 people.

Over 200 competitors took part in the annual Morrisburg Tubie Race the same weekend, powering a total of 26 inner tube craft.

Five Ottawa residents were injured Aug. 8 when their hot air balloon crashed south of Metcalfe at the end of the Walker Road. According to Osgoode Township fire chief Peter Griffin, the balloon was caught in a down draft and crashed into a water-filled ditch. Four people were taken to Riverside Hospital while the pilot of the balloon was transported to Ottawa General Hospital. Injuries ranged from cuts and bruises to a possible fractured ankle and wrist.

Winchester residents put on their blue suede shoes and rocked around the clock Aug. 10 weekend as 41 merchants joined forces to help Winchester relive the fabulous '50s. The theme of the annual sidewalk sale centred on the styles, music and prices of the '50s.

Sat.,Aug. 10 was fight night in Winchester, with the crowds flocking to the arena to see the Sheik battle the Canadian Wildman. The card also included midgets and a no-holds-barred steel cage match.

Conservative leader Frank Miller made the inevitable a reality Aug. 20 when he made official his resignation. SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve said the timing of the announcement came as a surprise. "Last week he certainly sounded like man who was getting ready to go in and fight as a good opposition leader should," he said.

In response to a study released the previous September by the Carleton Board of Education, a group of Osgoode Township parents came up with some recommendations of their own. The parents went to the board with their proposal that the township receive a French immersion centre within its boundaries, to be located in a completely new facility. The board later granted approval in principle to the proposal.

Construction began on Winchester's long-awaited senior citizens' apartment project in August as contractors began clearing the 3.5 acres site off Beach Street. Larry Cotton, chairman of the Winchester Non-Profit Residence Corporation, predicted construction would be complete by March 1, 1986.

In Russell, both township reeve Gaston Patenaude and Prescott-Russell MPP Jean Poirier pledged their support to the citizens' group fighting to close down the newly reactivitated quarry south of the village. A judicial review of the quarry licence application was scheduled for Sept. 5.

Fair season continued in full swing as the South Mountain fair wound up and the 54th annual Chesterville Fair got under way the following weekend, Aug. 23-25.

The west came east that weekend as riders from all over Ontario and Quebec travelled to the farm of Fred Guse near Iroquois to take part in the Eastern Ontario Cutting Classic, a competition to test the skills of horses and riders in "cutting" calves from a herd.

SEPTEMBER

Carleton-Grenville MPP Norm Sterling decided to do his part to inject some interest into the upcoming Progressive-Conservative leadership convention. Although he suggested he might enter his name for the leadership race, Sterling later decided not to run.

Downtown Chesterville was the scene of a four-car accident earlier in the week when an elderly driver lost control of his vehicle on King Street.

The Nov. 12 municipal elections were still a long way off, but interest in the upcoming contest began to rise locally with the deadline for nominations set for Oct. 21. In Winchester, councillor Larry Cotton announced he would take a shot at the seat occupied by Larry Gray, reeve since 1976.

On Sept. 5, the Winchester Becker's store was the target of armed robbery. Two men, one armed with a handgun, made off with a small quantity of cash. The village was also plagued during the same period by a rash of break-ins.

About 40 exhibitors took part in the Winchester Trade Fair, which opened its doors Sept. 12. Paid admissions to the three-day extravaganza totalled 1,961, with the proceeds going toward preparations for the village centennial in 1988.

An early morning fire Sept. 17 destroyed most of the home of Leroy Empey, just east of Mountain on Highway 43. The Mountain Fire Department was called to the scene about 9am and several members stayed well into the afternoon. Winchester firefighters were also called to supply water, and Ault Foods ran a tanker to the site. No cause was determined.

A record crowd turned out for the annual Terry Fox Run Sept. 14. A total of 88 participants walked or ran the 10km distance from North Dundas District High School along Highway 43 to Maple Ridge Road and south to Nine Mile Road. The participants raised $5,660 for the Canadian Cancer Society.

Sunny weather on the weekend boosted attendance at the Upper Canada Village Fall Fair, which offered visitors an authentic glimpse of rural festivities in the 1860s.

Shirley Lowe, president of the Osgoode Township Historical Society, paid a visit to township council Sept. 17 to ask for financial and moral support in an effort to improve conditions at the museum in Vernon. Council was told the museum would be hosting a ceremony in the fall to dedicate a plaque to Osgoode Township native Alexander Cameron Rutherford, the first premier of Alberta.

OCTOBER

A large crowd attending a public meeting at the Winchester Lions Hall confirmed the widespread support in the area for a proposed family resource centre to shelter the victims of domestic violence. The meeting outlined research into the need for a local shelter for battered women by Ottawa social worker Donna Denham.

The provincial government has set aside funds to build the centre, and a committee has been established to co-ordinate local efforts to get it established.

Salvation Army Lieutenant David Carey was asking "who says miracles can't happen in 1985?" as a used clothing store opened in the basement of the new Winchester village mall on Main Street Oct. 8. The store, managed by Jeff Ramsay of Mountain, serves as the Salvation Army referral centre for the area.

Canada's first nationwide fire drill took place Wed., Oct. 9, and fire sirens across the area sounded at 6pm sharp to alert the public to take part in the drill, held in conjunction with the annual Fire Prevention Week.

Two Hydro workers from the Winchester area office were involved in one of 1985's more memorable storms when they were called down to the Boston area to help repair some of the damage left in the wake of Hurricane Gloria. Sheldon McLeod and Wayde Roles shared some of their experiences after their return to Winchester.

Construction began in October on an extensive expansion program at Metcalfe Public Library. The original structure, built in 1960, grew increasingly inadequate as the number of library patrons grew by more than 50 per cent over the previous year.

In Winchester, the local Library Advisory Committee, renewed its call for council to provide a larger building for the village library.

Osgoode Township parents were hoping the township would have its own French immersion school by the fall of 1986 following a decision Oct. 15 by the Carleton Board of Education. The board agreed in principle to set up a Kindergarten to Grade 8 immersion centre at a central location in the township.

Oct. 19 was a big day for supporters of Metcalfe's Community Christian School. The brand new facility was declared officially open, and was expected to house considerably more students in 1986 than the school's current enrolment of 47.

Garbage was in the spotlight at Metcalfe Oct. 28 as the Ottawa-Carleton Region's plans for the future of waste disposal were outlined in an informal meeting at the Curling Club. Two locations in Osgoode Township had been selected as possible sites for sanitary landfill to serve the entire region.

NOVEMBER

Winchester OPP were busy Nov. 1 investigating two Halloween night blazes suspected to be the work of arsonists.

A fire which started in an unoccupied house owned by Dwaine Irven on County Road 7 south of Morewood and the adjacent barn destroyed a full mow of hay, 240 pigs, three cows, two calves, two horses and 20 chickens.

Winchester and South Mountain firefighters were also called out Halloween night to a house and barn fire in Mountain Township.

Election fever was running high in the area, with all-candidates' meetings in Williamsburg and Osgoode Townships giving political hopefuls a chance to air their concerns.

When the votes were tallied the night of Nov. 12, Winchester reeve Larry Gray hung on to his seat at the head of the council table, while councillor Bill Stewart defeated veteran Keith Marquette to become the village's new deputy-reeve. First-time candidates Florence Helmer and Hugh Eadie joined successful incumbent councillor George Hanes.

Osgoode Township citizens' groups joined forces in mid-November to set up a public meeting in Metcalfe to discuss the future of waste disposal in the Ottawa-Carleton Region. The Metcalfe Community Centre was packed as township residents turned out for an information session on the region's plans to find new sites for waste disposal. A study of potential sites for landfill had targeted two areas inside the township as possible locations for a regional dump.

Metcalfe was the scene of another public meeting Nov. 18, arranged by Manotick OPP Const. Ian McCurdie and township resident Blaine Ball. The topic was the Neighborhood Watch program, and the meeting was prompted by an increase in the number of break-ins in the area.

Larry Grossman edged out former agriculture minister Dennis Timbrell by 19 votes at the PC leadership convention Nov. 16, and took over the leadership from Frank Miller Nov. 25. Local MPPs Noble Villeneuve and Norm Sterling agreed their party had chosen the right man.

Grossman announced Nov. 25 that Sterling would be taking over a new post as critic for the provincial ministry of the solicitor-general.

Winchester police charged two Chesterville residents with 10 counts of automobile theft following a series of thefts that ended Sun., Nov. 24 when a stolen pickup truck was driven into the Nation River.

Seventh Column

Despite the fact our postal department is doing its darndest to discourage the sending of Christmas greetings we were delighted to find so many of our friends considered us really worth one of those 'expensive' stamps. Thanks for remembering folks, and a very special note of appreciation to Rev. Dawes (Kingston) and Rev. MacNabb (Lafayette, Indiana) for sending along those always anticipated and highly informative reviews of your year's efforts in the service of God. Your greeting, Rev. Duncan, arrived on the morning of Dec. 21. That same day (in the afternoon) Russell historian Keith Boyd brought along an ageing RUSSELL LEADER. So what, you say? Well we found it a strange coincidence. Here's a couple of sentences from your message, Rev. sir: "The first week in August found us responding to the invitation of the Moosomin, Sask. church to help observe the 100th anniversary. It also marked 50 years from my arrival in Moosomin from college to the pastoral care of Moosomin, Broadview and Summerberry churches." And here's one of the top news events of GOLDEN VALLEY — exactly as it appeared in the March 10, 1938 issue of the LEADER: "Rev. D. MacNabb left on Tuesday to resume his duties in Moosomin. He spent 10 days with his mother and we are pleased to report her condition much improved." Since Christmas is always 'memory time' thought you might enjoy this flashback. Although you 'made' the front page nearly a half century ago in the area's favorite weekly of the era we're sorry we have to relegate you to the 'much more extensively read' EDITORIAL PAGE this time. Happy New Year Rev. Duncan and Rev. Charlie and may the coming year bring only health and happiness to your respective homes.

Read some 'flak' in the dailies recently concerning a policy of our Members of Parliament that many consider a flagrant abuse of their FREE postal privileges. We all get those very special (and usually rather expensive) Christmas greeting in our mail boxes ... and have to pay the 'freight' ourselves. So what! We can think of (without even trying) at least 149 much sillier ways governments throw away our money and, frankly, we rather like being remembered by the man who serves us ... even if he didn't get our vote. Our "Man on the Hill" is Bill Tupper and his greeting arrived in the form of a combination personal greetings from not only 'Bill and Georgie' but also the Prime Minister and his family. Suppose you think we're finally losing all our 'marbles' when we start saying nice things about Tories. Now hold it right there! We're not through yet! Bill, we think complimenting the calendar with that valuable six-page directory of federal, provincial and regional telephone numbers is a real stroke of genius ... BUT ... and here comes the 'BEEF'. JANUARY includes a beautiful artistic sketch of the ultra-modern NEPEAN CITY HALL; APRIL has a photo of an equally impressive KANATA CITY HALL; MAY, the swank TOWNSHIP OF RIDEAU MUNICIPAL BUILDING; AUGUST portrays GOULBOURN'S architectural marvel. Now, please turn to FEBRUARY ... and the picture of OSGOODE TOWNSHIP HALL ... taken before the turn of the century ... but it doesn't say so. Tourists and newcomers to the area might easily be led to believe our township has advanced little since the days of our courageous pioneers. Please Bill, don't get us wrong. We think the picture is great and a real tribute to the foresight and ingenuity of all who have served the municipality across the years ... if only you had included a word of explanation. Maybe something like this: "Osgoode Township has meticulously preserved its golden link with the past. Although the sturdy brick structure maintains the same outward appearance as on the day Reeve Ira Morgan called his 1891 council to order in the spacious office, there is a striking difference. Inside the transformation is amazing, and today the busy elected officials, along with a highly competent staff, all enjoy the luxury of the finest in modern planning, architecture and technology." Thanks Bill, we still like your greeting calendar and wish you and yours the very best in 1986. And please do keep in touch. As the months roll by we're almost sure to think of more 'Beefs'.

WINCHESTER PRESS readers should count their blessings and sing the praises of our alert and dedicated reporters who seldom — if indeed ever — confuse readers with happyhazard reports. You can bet neither 'Chris' or 'Mark' would let one like this slip through. It once did, but definitely not here ... "The 12-car pileup occurred at about 3pm under sunny skies, dry roads and no cars coming in either direction."

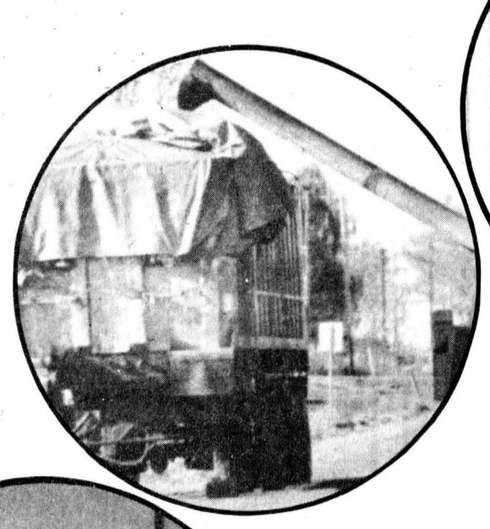
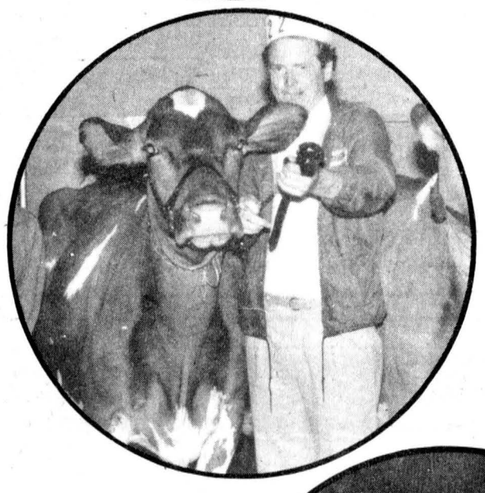
Farm update





1985 down on the farm

The benefits of continuing improvement in Canada's economy seemed to elude the nation's farmers in 1985.

In fact, federal agriculture minister John Wise offered the grim news after this year's Outlook Conference that farm income for the year is expected to be a full 14 per cent lower than in 1984.

There were some bright spots by the end of the year, however. After years of seemingly endless negotiation, the country's first-ever tripartite income stabilization plan for red meat producers was signed between Ontario and the federal government. Finalized in late November, the plan also provided joint stabilization payments to cover 1985.

Kemptville College's newly unveiled A.M. Barr Arena hosted a virtual who's who of the Holstein world in November, when Eastern Breeders Inc. mounted Canada's first-ever progeny showcase.

Local breeders and foreign visitors alike flocked to the college for a chance to see 53 milking-age daughters from EBI's finest sires.

Members of farm organizations across Ontario took the first steps toward forming a network for united action. At a rally in federal agriculture minister Wise's home riding in November, representatives of the province's main agricultural groups issued an urgent call for help in dealing with the ongoing farm financial crisis.

During the summer, the Women for the Survival of Agriculture conducted a survey of farm women in 10 Eastern Ontario counties. The survey, entitled "What are you Worth?", revealed that the average farm woman was responsible for 47 per cent of farm work, and 97 per cent of household chores and family care.

Abundant crop yields and depressed prices spelled bad news for many cash-croppers this year. Bumper crops of corn and soybeans in the United States were largely to blame.

The year was also one of controversy, with two government studies triggering angry reactions from local farmers' organizations.

In September, members of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture complained to federal MP Norm Warner that a report prepared for the Lands Directorate of Environment Canada contained what they called glaring errors of fact. The report attacked the drainage funding program of the Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement as a largely unnecessary expense. Among other inconsistencies, the report was said to have studied 64 individual drains, seven of which were not actually funded under the agreement.

Earlier in the year, the federal government was also under fire over a 64-page document prepared by the Department of Finance, a white paper on tax issues in agriculture. Media reports on the white paper claimed farmers earned twice as much as the average Canadian and paid only a quarter as much income tax.

One move by the provincial government which led to some alarm among farmers was the enactment of the Spills Bill, which took effect Nov. 29. The Ontario Federation of Agriculture expressed concern over the bill's provision of unlimited liability for the owner of a spilled chemical, fearing that farmers might find themselves paying compensation for spills they had no part in causing.

John Wise had words of praise for dairy farmers in an address to Carleton County milk producers in March. Wise told the producers that the dairy industry is a source of stability in difficult economic times, and outlined a long-term federal commitment to a new dairy policy.

Eastern Ontario was the winner this year when a new 100 by 140-foot show arena was opened at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology. The $1.4 million facility, unveiled for the first time at the annual KCAT Royal in March, will be available to the agricultural community for shows and exhibitions in future years.

Erin Cahill choice of Junior Farmers

METCALFE — East Carleton Junior Farmers ended another highly successful year with a combination Christmas party and annual meeting Dec. 20. The Lions 'Den' at Metcalfe, colorfully decorated for the festive season, proved an ideal setting and, following a buffet-style dinner, newly elected officers were installed.

President Erin Cahill, in her inauguration address, reminded fellow members of the club's motto: Self help and community betterment.

"We can only achieve our goals", she said, "by continuing to work closely with community organizations either through monetary donations or other means of co-operation."

She encouraged an increase in membership noting that those involved find the association a valuable means of improving speaking skills and self confidence.

The newly-elected president emphasized to the Press that the club appreciates requests for assistance.

Seminar speakers confirmed

KEMPTVILLE — At a time when farm net income is declining, money does matter, say organizers of this year's farm business management seminar. The theme for the seminar, to be held during Farmers' Week at Kemptville College is "Money Matters."

The seminar should be of interest to dairy, beef and cash crop farmers alike, and will deal with current topics relevant to farmers who will be making future investment decisions.

The seminar will be held at the W.B. George Centre at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology beginning at 9:30am Wed., Feb. 12.

Ken Tammage, a chartered accountant with Ward Mallette of Nepean will address current matters pertaining to 1985 farm income tax.

Jack Clark of the University of Guelph's school of agriculture, economics and extension education department will cover debt and equity levels of the dairy farm in the future.

The effects of free trade with the United States on Ontario Agriculture will be explored by Richard Kane, policy advisor to the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food in Toronto.

The final speaker will be Brigid Pyke, first vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. She will discuss the prospects for success in agriculture.

The seminar will conclude with a question period.

1985 — The year that was

DECEMBER

Local interest in the plight of drought-stricken Ethiopia was revived this month when former federal agriculture minister Eugene Whelan launched an eloquent plea on behalf of the starving at a fundraising evening organized by Hearts for Africa, a joint committee of Osgoode and Russell Township residents. About $2,000 was raised from the evening program.

Mild temperatures and a light dusting of snow set the scene for the annual Winchester Chamber of Commerce Santa Claus parade. Record crowds saw a total of 24 floats take part, and consumed an estimated 1,200 candy canes.

Winchester District Memorial Hospital announced plans to expand its successful letter campaign, appealing for financial support from former patients. The program, initiated last January, has generated an estimated $18,000 in donations from discharged inpatients. The appeal is to be expanded in 1986 to include outpatients as well.

Plans to establish a centre for victims of family violence took a big step forward Dec. 13 with the hiring of a community worker to co-ordinate the project. Social worker Carol Thompson, selected from among 30 applicants for the position, will be involved in choosing a site for the family resource centre, in public relations work, and in drafting a former proposal to government for funding.

North Dundas District High School became the first school to be the setting for an inquest Dec. 12. Chesterville coroner Dr. Gabriel Slowey initiated the inquiry into a fatal accident in September involving students at the school.

As the year drew to a close, Winchester Non-Profit Residence Corporation chairman Larry Cotton reported construction of the village's 45-unit seniors' apartment complex was proceeding on schedule and that the building should be ready for occupancy by May 1, 1986.

Christmas cheer changed to tragedy for some area families when fires struck both in Chesterville and Winchester Springs the night of Thurs., Dec. 19. Dale and Marie Kennedy of Winchester Springs and their three young children found accommodation with relatives after the fire which destroyed their rented house.

Social services officials estimated that 400 families and individuals in SD&G needed assistance this Christmas, and that the response from area good will organizations was able to meet the need.

Goodman grabs win for Lions

RUSSELL — Last Friday night the Russell Lions kicked off a two-game home stand in impressive fashion blasting the North Stormont 86's 10-4 in a game highlighted by Bob Goodman's three goal, six-point effort.

Sunday the Embrun 72's ruined the story nipping the Lions 5-4. Dave Clement shattered Russell's hopes for a victory and a four-point weekend, scoring twice in the final minute of play. Clement erased a 4-3 Lions' lead, scoring twice in a 31-second span.

Lions' next home game is set for Fri., Jan. 3 here at the Dr. Kinnaird Community Centre when they will host the Chesterville Flyers in an 8:15pm contest.

Embrun took a 3-1 first-period lead on the Lions here Sunday afternoon as Dave Clement, Alain Gibeault and Brent Gallilen all beat Wayne Paquette.

Nolan Dalman replied with Russell's goal at 5:26.

Russell roared back into contention in period two, netted a pair of unanswered markers. Ron Oppertshauser made it 3-2, scoring from Brian Johnston and Nolan Dalman at 4:55 and Chris Laviolette tied it up at 7:24 hitting from Paul Cochrane and Doug Warren.

Paul Cochrane then connected from Chris Laviolette at 11:20 of the final period, handing Russell a 4-3 lead, but Dave Clement tied it at 14:17 and got Embrun off the hood 31 seconds later when he fired in the winning goal.

Mario Lapalme posted the victory. Russell took seven of the game's 13 minor penalties.

10-4 WIN

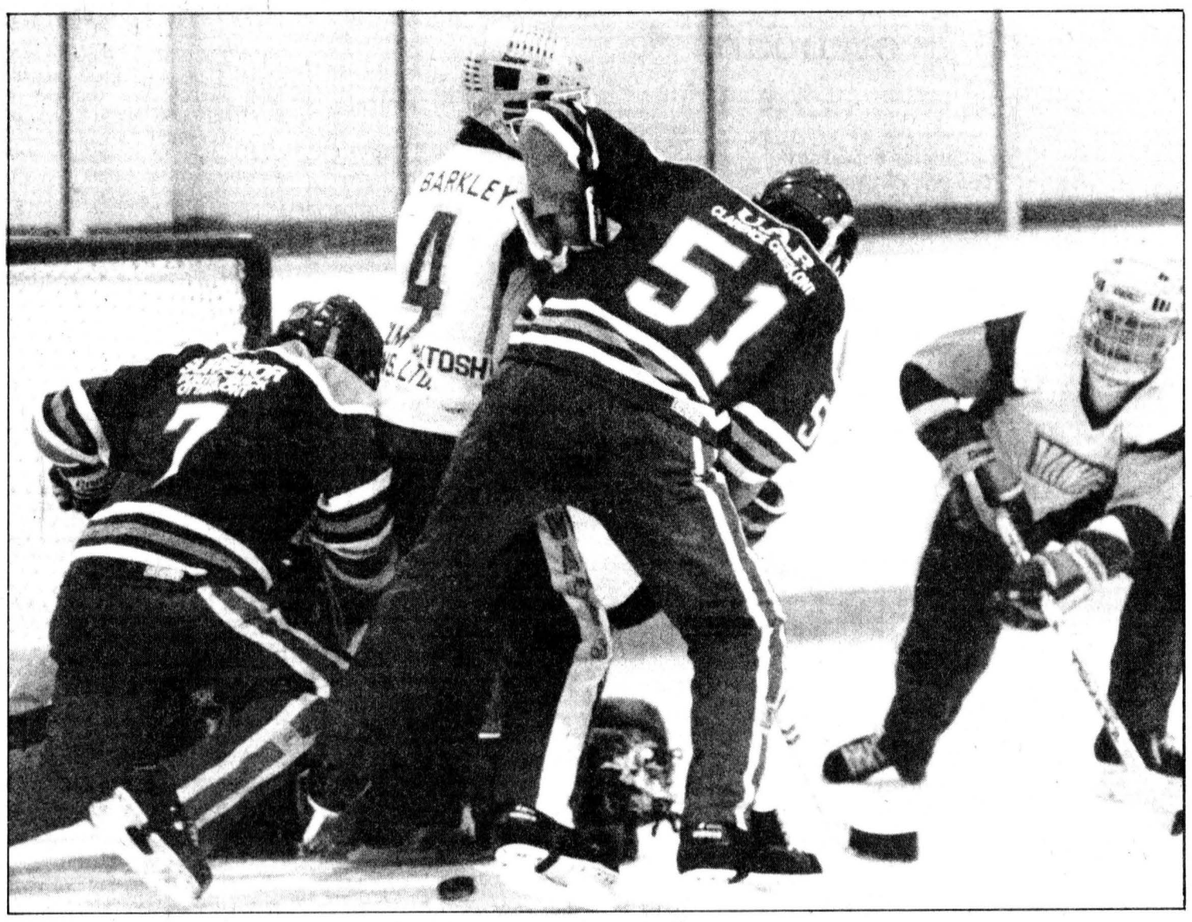
Russell led North Stormont 3-1 after one period of play in Friday's game and ripped in five unanswered goals in period two for an 8-1 lead. The visitors outscored the Lions 3-2 in the final frame, but were too late with a comeback attempt and lost 10-4.

Bob Goodman scored three times and helped out on three other Russell goals, recording a six-point game.

Ron Oppertshauser scored three times and drew one assist. Brian Johnston netted a pair and assisted on a third goal. Chris Laviolette recorded a goal and one assist and Doug Warren fired in a single goal.

Nolan Dalman was tops in the assist department with three. Paul Cochrane picked up two. Brian Carscadden and Bill Robertson drew one helper each.

Doug Meldrum posted the win for Russell while Karl Moran suffered the loss. Mike Grady had two of the 86's goals.



The Clarence Creek goaltender and team-mates Andre Cuerrier (No. 7) and Pierre Rail (No. 51) as well as Hawks' Kirk Barkley couldn't find the puck in this assault on the Beavers' net, only Keith Moore (right) seemed to have any idea where the disc lay. Winchester defeated the Beavers 9-5 to record their second victory in as many tries. Jeff Thompson led the Hawks with two goals and two assists. Press Photo— Van Bridger

Thompson, Dexter lead Hawks to win

WINCHESTER — Jeff Thompson scored twice and Tom McKinstry came on in relief of starting goalie Jamie McGuire as the Winchester Hawks trimmed the Clarence Creek Beavers 9-5 here last Friday night.

It was the Hawks second win in as many starts as they try to regroup after a horrendous 10-game losing streak which was finally brought to a halt with a dramatic 7-6 victory over the high flying Metcalfe Jets.

This Friday the Hawks are on the road, travelling to Vanier to take on the last place Senators and Sunday they trek to Navan to challenge the first-place Grads.

To finish with a respectable mark the Hawks must do well against the Alex English Division's top three teams, Navan, Char-Lan and Metcalfe. Winchester will face Navan two more times in their next 17 games. They will have to battle the big rugged Char-Lan Rebels three times and test themselves against their oldest rivals, the Metcalfe Jets, three times, leaving them eight games of 17 against the best in the division.

The Hawks got off on the right foot here last Friday, beating a team they can still catch, the Clarence Creek Beavers.

Hawks got off the mark quickly in Friday's contest as Trevor McClatchie scored on a play engineered by Rene Bongard and Todd Byrnes 15 seconds after the opening faceoff. Clarence Creek tied it a goal when Guy Desjardins scored on a powerplay at 16:23.

Winchester pulled up 2-1 at 16:09 as Scott Dexter ripped a Jeff Thompson feed in behind Stephane Vinette, but Eric Laviolette beat Jamie McGuire twice, scoring at 12:33 to tie it at two and again at 3:26 to give the visitors a 3-2 lead after 20 minutes of play.

Hawks outscored the opposition 3-1 in period two and took a 5-4 lead into the second intermission.

Dolton Henry blasted a shot from the point to tie it at three, converting a powerplay set up by Thompson and Dexter into his first Junior B goal at 14:30.

Jeff Thompson hit from Dexter and Mark Smith at 11:11 to make it a 4-3 contest, but Greg McKekern tied it at four, scoring for the Creek at the 9:11 mark.

Rene Bongard's 17th goal of the season with 2:07 left in period two gave the Hawks a 5-4 edge after two periods. Dolton Henry and Trevor McClatchie drew assists on the go-ahead marker.

Keith Moore drilled in a Gary Klein-Swormink relay at 13:57 of the third frame to make it 6-4 Hawks and Jeff Thompson scored his second of the game (7-4) at 5:55, completing a play started by Dexter and Chris Lynch.

Clarence Creek narrowed the gap to 7-5 on Marc Bellefoye's goal five seconds later, but the Hawks dumped in two late goals to make it a convincing 9-5 final.

Mark Smith scored his 10th goal of the year at 2:34 and Gary Klein-Swormink recorded his second with 1:28 left in the contest. Bongard and McClatchie assisted Smith while Scott Dexter drew his fourth assist of the game on the Klein-Swormink marker. Kevin Henry also helped out in the ninth goal.

Coach Kirkwood wasted no time in lifting goalie Jamie McGuire when McKekern picked the lower right-hand corner of his net to tie the game at four on a 40-foot drive.

Tom McKinstry came on in relief and stopped 16 of 17 Beaver blasts, including 13 in the final period.

Hawks were without defenceman Pete McGrath and forward Ben MacIntosh for the contest.

Winchester took 11 minor penalties while the Beavers were tapped seven times. Hawks' Todd Byrnes and Andre Cuerrier of the Creek were ejected for their second-period fight.

Referee Dave Baker won $62.50 in the weekly Hawks' 50-50 draw and a $50 gift certificate from Mary's Restaurant.

Jets shut out Grads

METCALFE — Sean St. John made Junior B hockey history here last Friday night posting the first shutout in Alex English Division play this season.

St. John posted a 4-0 shutout over the best team in the division, blanking the red hot Navan Grads. It was just the third loss in 21 games for the Grads and sparked the Metcalfe Jets to a very big weekend as they went on to trim the Beavers 6-1 in Clarence Creek Sunday afternoon.

The back-to-back wins improved the Jets' third-place record to 12 wins and seven losses and moved them to within three points of the idle Char-Lan Rebels.

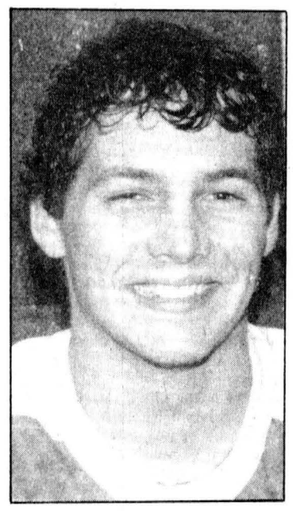
Navan rebounded from Friday's loss in Metcalfe to hammer the Alexandria Glens 8-3 Sunday evening.

The high flying Jets have a perfect opportunity to add to their win column total this weekend when they travel to Alexandria this Friday (Jan. 3) to meet the fourth-place Glens and host the last-place Vanier Senators this Sunday (Jan. 5) at 2:15pm.

Jets' coach Peter DeRooy said his team really worked hard against the first-place Grads and deserved the victory, "We dominated them through the game and Sean St. John (goalie) had a great game."

The coach went on to say, "Actually we should have won both games by shutouts because we kicked the puck into our own net in Sunday's game or Stu (Patterson) would've had a shutout."

Coach DeRooy also had special praise for the work of Peter Holmes, who continues to have a banner season and explained the addition of Mike Upton, Mike Thebarge and Alain Robinson will really balance his lineup off.



Sean St. John

With Sean St. John playing flawlessly between the pipes Friday night the Jets roared into a 3-0 first-period lead on the Grads, added a goal in the second period and cruised to a 4-0 victory protecting the shutout in a scoreless third period.

Captain Pete Holmes put his Jets on the board scoring from Gary Poirier and Don Gamble eight seconds after the opening faceoff.

Mike Pratt made it 2-0 when he connected from Mike Upton on a powerplay at 6:51 of the same period.

It went to 3-0 at 2:08 when Dave Warren pumped in a Barry Stefureak relay.

The game's final goal was recorded at 15:34 of the second period when the Jets' big line struck again. This time Gary Poirier lit the red light after linemates Gamble and Holmes had set him up.

Jets took 10 minors in the game while the Grads were assessed six minors and a 10-minute misconduct.

WIN NUMBER 12

Metcalfe made it a perfect weekend, topping the Beavers 6-1 in Clarence Creek Sunday afternoon.

The Jets, with Gary Poirier and Rick Downey in their lineup, lead the Beavers 1-0 after a period and 2-1 after two before exploding for four unanswered goals in the final frame.

Stewart Patterson registered the victory, missing the shutout when a team-mate inadvertantly kicked the puck into his own net. Marc Nadon got credit for the goal which came at 15:07 of the second period.

Captain Peter Holmes continued his torrid pace, scoring twice and drawing assists on goals by Glen Stefureak and Darcy Provost, who was filling in on the line for the missing Gary Poirier.

Barry Stefureak and Mike Thebarge added the Jets' other goals. Holmes (two), Murray Toll (two), Don Gamble (two), Chris Rawlings, Dave Warren, Darcy Provost, Therbarge and Alain Robinson earned assists.

Jets outshot the Beavers 31-24 and took six minor penalties. Clarence Creek took five minors.

Hawk clubs settle for tourney seconds

SMITHS FALLS — Darrell Warren scored three times leading the Metcalfe Mustangs to a 4-2 victory over the Winchester Hawks here in the Sunday afternoon Pee Wee A championship game in the Sixth Annual Hersey International Minor Hockey Tournament.

Despite the fact Winchester put teams in three divisional finals none were able to come away with the top prize. The Senior Novice Hawks dropped a heartbreaking 4-3 overtime shootout decision in the consolation final in their division, the Atom A Hawks lost 2-1 to the Smiths Falls Bears in the "A" division final and the Pee Wees lost 4-2 to Metcalfe in the championship match.

Warren put the Mustangs up 1-0 with a first-period goal and the Hawks tied it up a minute later when Chad Benoit scored from Bryan Helmer and Doug Armstrong, but Metcalfe decided the issue in the second period, scoring twice in a 17-second span to take a 3-1 lead. Todd Hay scored from Ken Stanley to make it 2-1 and 17 seconds later Warren fired in his second of the game for a 3-1 Metcalfe lead.

Bryan Helmer scored from Benoit and Jayme O'Reilly with 6:18 left in the game to cut the lead to 3-2 only to have Warren score from Dean Little with 59 seconds on the clock to make it a 4-2 final.

Metcalfe drew a first round bye and eliminated Cumberland Blues 4-2 in the semi-final round.

Winchester opened with a 4-1 Saturday morning win over the Kanata Blazers.

Saturday afternoon the Hawks battled their way to a 4-2 win over the Smiths Falls Bears to qualify for Sunday's championship final. Chris Van Bridger's empty net, short-handed goal with 39 seconds left in the game clinched the exciting victory. Chad Benoit potted two goals and Jason Thompson the other in the win.

Seven lucky for Bantam C's

CARDINAL — Coach Richard Lortie noticed a few more grey hairs following last Saturday's (Dec. 28) Bantam C minor hockey tournament.

His Winchester Hawks, undefeated in the first half of their 1985-86 Upper Canada season didn't cause him concern with their play, on the contrary, they won all three games and took the Cardinal Minor Hockey championship trophy home with them.

Injuries and illness caused the Winchester coach a lot of concern. His only goalie, Jeff Nelson, couldn't attend the tournament because of health problems. Rick Rodney took over between the pipes, but gave way to Marc Sarault, who started in the Hawks' final two victories. John Tessier was knocked out of Winchester's already deplete 11-man lineup with a serious shoulder injury and to top it off Clarence Holmes and Kevin Bell could only play an odd shift when hit by the flu bug.

"We had just seven guys left and Marc Sarault filling in as goalie, and he did just a super job in nets," explained the coach.

Rick Rodney, working as goalie in game one, gave up four goals to Athens, but emerged from the game with a 6-4 win to his credit. Hawks' captain Alain Cayer scored three goals a game in the tourney.

In their second test Winchester thumped Potsdam, New York 6-1, breaking up a scoreless game with one second-period goal and five third-period markers. Marc Sarault missed the shutout when the opposition scored with 3:30 left in the game.

Al Cayer scored three more goals in the win and drew two more assists to build his total to 10 points in two games. Kevin Bell scored once and picked up two assists as did Chuck Droppo. Stephane Drouin had a goal and one assist.

Marc Sarault didn't miss a shutout in the "A" championship game as he whitewashed Cardinal 4-0 to help his team to the title.

Hawks led 2-0 after the first period on a pair of goals by Al Cayer. Cayer scored again in the second period to register his third hat trick in three games. Kevin Bell scored once and picked up an assist in two of his rare trips to the ice.

Each team picked up three penalties in a scoreless third period.

Hill doubles Hawks for Atom B trophy

WINCHESTER — Vankleek Hill and the Russell Warriors carried off the top prizes here in last Saturday's Cliff Warren Memorial Atom B Hockey Tournament.

Vankleek Hill proved to be the force to be reckoned with on the "A" side of the event, doubling the host Winchester Hawks 6-3 in the championship match.

Russell took the consolation honors thumping Brockville 5-0 in the "B" division showdown.

Allan Sheldrick posted the shutout for Russell while Travis Ford and Greg Bols paced the attack with two goals each.

Russell was knocked into the consolation side by the Metcalfe Mustangs who nipped them 4-3 on Adam MacDonald's overtime goal. Dennis Dalgleish paced the Mustangs with three goals.

Greg Bols, Travis Ford and Chris Martin replied for Russell. Bols' goal sent the game into overtime.

Russell then qualified for the "B" final with a 3-0 shutout over Prescott. Allan Sheldrick posted the shutout and Greg Bols led the attack with two goals.

On the "A" side Vankleek Hill took Brockville 3-1 in their opening game and eliminated Cumberland Blues 5-1 before beating the Hawks 6-3.

Winchester opened their event with a 6-1 decision over the Prescott Commodores. Danny Adams led the charge scoring three times and assisting on another. Jeff Hyndman had a goal and two assists while Jason Fawcett added a goal and one assist. Cory Fluke fired in a single goal.

Hawks advanced to the "A" final with a 6-2 decision over the Metcalfe Mustangs. Danny Adams sparked Winchester with a three-goal effort. Jeff Hyndman scored twice and added one assist. Cory Fluke scored once.

Denny Raistrick posted both wins for the Hawks.

Metcalfe Juniors advance to regional level

Four young Metcalfe curlers, with skip Bradley Dow calling the shots, emerged victorious in the Zone One Pepsi Junior Curling competition staged recently in Ottawa. Competing against seven other top district rinks the boys won three of their four games and qualified for the regional championship at Trenton on Jan. 4. A victory at this level would qualify them for the provincial playdowns. Left to right are Michael Stachon, second; skip Brad Dow; Stephen Turley, third and David Stachon, lead. Press Photo—Rowan

Char-Lan wins Midget silver

WINCHESTER — Char-Lan iced the best team here last Friday and came away with the championship banner in the annual Cliff Warren Midget Hockey Tournament.

Sponsored by the Winchester and District Minor Hockey Association, the Warren Memorial tournament was kicked off with the Midget competition and presented the Atom B event the following day (Dec. 28), play continues at the Winchester arena throughout this week with events for Pee Wee B, Bantam B and Atom A teams.

The champs from Williamstown kicked off their championship day with a 7-0 decision over Smiths Falls Bears. Jeff Kirkey posted the shutout and finished off the event with just two goals against him in three games.

Serge Picard scored three times and Gilles Lapointe added two goals and two assists for the winners.

The Prescott Defenders then lost 5-1 to Char-Lan and were eliminated in the semi-final round.

In the "A" final against Richmond the champs got single goals from Bryan Ward, Ron Lefebvre, Daryl Menard, Jamie Latreille and Gilles Lafrance enroute to a 5-1 victory.

Cumberland Blues took the consolation title with a 4-3 decision over the Smiths Falls Bears.

The host Winchester Hawks had a first round bye and were eliminated 3-1 by Richmond. Ray Sherrer had the lone Hawks' goal, scoring with 11:37 left in the game. Richmond thumped the Edwardsburg Bruins 8-0 in their first game.

Ormond Cloverdales break tie for first place

WINCHESTER — Ormond Cloverdales won the showdown for first place in the weekly Winchester and District Broomball League Sunday night card, thumping Morewood Vikings 5-1.

Their victory moved the Cloverdales two points up on Morewood and improved their record to 12 wins and two losses. The setback dropped Morewood's mark to 11 and three.

In other results Toyes Hill Roadrunners blanked Newington 4-0, Dunbar and Finch tied at three and Crysler shut out Winchester Raiders 2-0.

Ormond opened up a 4-0 first-half lead on Morewood and cruised to the 5-1 decision over the Vikings.

Bob Acres got the winners off to a quick start, firing in goals at 19:55 when he scored from Dan McDiarmid and 11:10 when he hit from Keith Young.

Doug Sloan made it 3-0 scoring from Dan McDiarmid at 9:05 and Young fired in a relay from Ian Linton at 3:34 to make it 4-0.

Brian Como ruined Ben Melenhorst's hopes for a perfect game when he took a pass from Bill Moran and scored Morewood's lone goal at 12:29 of the second period.

Ormond countered that goal with their fifth at 13:56 of the second frame. Doug Sloan scored it on a pass provided by Ian Linton to make it a 5-1 final.

Toyes Hill Roadrunners climbed back up to the 500 level in the second game of Sunday's card, blanking Newington 4-0. Wayne Hunter posted the shutout and his offence gave him a 4-0 first-half lead to work with.

Crysler slammed the door on winless Winchester Raiders, winning 2-0 in the evening's final match.

Ed Leger posted the zero for Crysler who remain one point behind Pool B leading Toyes Hill with the victory.

Luc Proulx scored the winning goal from Steve Boucher at 4:20 of the first half and Boucher took a pass from Mike St. Pierre and added an insurance marker at 9:25 of the final stanza to complete the scoring.

Pee Wee B's take consolation cup at Kemptville

KEMPTVILLE — Winchester Pee Wee "B" Hawks succeeded in bringing home the B-side trophy from the Kemptville Tournament last Friday, (Dec. 27) winning two of three games.

The opening period of the first game proved disastrous for the Hawks as Kemptville notched four counters while Winchester managed a lone goal by Todd Fawcett.

Pat Poirier added a goal in the second period and Jason Gundy scored in the third as Kemptville defeated Winchester 6-1.

In the first game of the consolations round Athens took an early lead as Shawn Blanchard beat Winchester's Billy Zrymiak at 1:28 of the opening period. But Chad Brandimore netted the tying goal two minutes later with assists from Tony Holmes and Brad Robinson. Dereck Holmes, assisted by Derek Brannan and Todd Fawcett, scored what proved to be the winning goal halfway through the second stanza. Fawcett, with an assist from Brannan, scored the insurance goal seven seconds later, then added another in the third to lead Winchester to a 4-1 triumph.

In Winchester's final game against West Carleton, the Hawks' Dereck Holmes opened the scoring at 3:12 of the first period driving the puck behind netminder Grant Conrad. Todd Fawcett and Derek Brannan drew the assists. West Carleton tied the game with 24 seconds left in the first period as Jason Banray beat Billy Zrymiak cleanly on a perfect passing play.

Both teams were kept off the scoreboard in the second and third periods.

Sudden death overtime saw a very determined effort by Winchester as they completely hemmed West Carleton in their own end. Tenacious forechecking by Chad Brandimore and wingers Tony and Chris Holmes prevented their opponents from advancing beyond their own blue line.

Hawks' captain Derek Brannan finally drifted a partially screened shot past the West Carleton netminder at 3:24 of the overtime to win the game and secure the Pee Wee "B" Hawks first trophy of this tournament season.

Lester Holmes, filling in for coach Larry Berry said he was "extremely pleased with the work of the team."

Frankly speaking

TERRY PUTS WINCHESTER IN THE BIG TIME

When a local makes the big time it sure makes the entire area feel proud, but when a young local player is picked to represent his country in a world tournament then all local hearts beat faster and we watch with added interest as the big number two takes his regular shift with a team that looks as if they will be the world champs. Terry Carkner plays his hockey with the Peterborough Petes and was picked as a first draft choice last year by the New York Rangers of the NHL; now he is well on his way to fame as a regular playing member of the Canadian Junior team who currently lead the tournament with three straight wins in the world competition. Dad Bob and Mom Marion left this week to follow their son and their pride must be great as it is with us all as we follow the big fellow with great expectation. Terry played all of his local minor hockey in Winchester and after a year as a rookie with the Junior B Hawks was picked up by Mack McLean, coach of the Brockville Braves as a first step to his present position on the Petes' blue line. Best of luck Terry, we look forward to welcoming a world champ home on Jan. 25 when the Peterborough Petes come to Winchester to play the Hawks.

HAWKS RIDING ON A TWO-WIN STREAK

It has been a better Christmas for the fans and coaching staff of the Hawks as the team has come to life and presented their followers with two straight wins against Metcalfe last Sunday and again against Clarence Creek on Friday night. After 10 straight losses, it sure is a relief to see the team putting out the effort and if this current trend of ambition continues they could still be an honest threat to any team in the league; but the effort must be given for 60 minutes every game. Hawks play away this weekend with a Friday night encounter in Vanier, then they take on top-place Navan at Navan on Sunday. Two wins are possible as Navan had a tough time beating the Hawks in their last game which the Hawks blew by only one goal after leading for a while. We sure hope that the team can keep up their winning ways and wish the boys a happy new year by starting it off on the right foot or should we say skate?

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL FROM THE ARENA STAFF

Break doesn't slow Hustlers

WINCHESTER — Harvex Hustlers came off a week long Christmas break to play an old-timer doubleheader on Sunday.

Here in the morning the Hustlers got two goals each from Dick Christie and Bob Peddle enroute to a 6-2 win over the Chesterville Oldtimers. Phil Lyall and Pete McKay each scored singles. Doug Cheney and Rick Cormier put pucks behind Kevin Baldwin.

That night in Metcalfe the Hustlers scored three times late in the game on their way to a 6-3 win over Metcalfe. Bob Peddle scored twice while Butch Oldford, Gary Lapier, Phil Lyall and Jim Shaw fired in singles.

Sunday morning in Winchester the Osgoode Kamakazis defeated the Old Hawks 7-4. In recent games the Hawks downed Iroquois 8-2 with Don Griffith leading the way with four goals. Bryan Helmer, Reg Hyndman, Bill Hogaboam and John Sloan added the other goals. In a match with Maxville Bill Hogaboam led the Hawks to victory with two goals. Brian Helmer and John Sloan added singles.

Nesbitt goal gives Bulls big 1-1 tie

METCALFE — Bulls' George Nesbitt scored with 15 seconds left in the game to give his team a dramatic 1-1 tie with the Bruins here in one of two Metcalfe Town Hockey League games played Sunday.

In the other matchup first-place Hawks blanked last-place Whalers 5-0.

The Bruins took a 1-0 lead in their tight-checking game with the Bulls with just three minutes to play in the final period. Denis Larmoureaux gave his team a 1-0 lead when he ruined Bill Jamieson's shutout, scoring on a pass fed to him by Phil Quinn.

Bulls lifted their goalie and tied the game up at 1-1 when Nesbitt beat Don Cram with just 15 seconds left on the clock.

Roy McCooeye was red hot in the Hawks' net as they trimmed the Whalers 5-0 in the morning's other match.

Hawks' captain Pete Nooyen led the charge, scoring three times. He opened the game scoring from Dan Crerar at 16:15 of the first period and then hit from Doug Reaney at 1:02 of the second period and closed the scoring, making it 5-0 at 11:17 of the final frame. Dan Crerar drew an assist on the final marker.

Hawks' other two goals were unassisted efforts by Steve Wade in the second period as he made it 2-0 at 14:34 and 3-0 at 5:02 of the sandwich session.

Atom B's post two shutouts

WINCHESTER — Winchester's Atom B Hawks posted back-to-back shutouts over Gar-Don of Brockville and North Leeds of Westport, winning by 7-0 and 5-0 scores only to finish the 1985 portion of their Upper Canada Minor Hockey League season on a losing note.

An 8-3 loss to Brockville Gilbacco here on Dec. 20 spoiled a winning string the Hawks had established. Danny Adams' third goal of the game at 11:17 of the third period had the Hawks on top 3-2, but Brockville roared back and scored six times in the final 9:24 of the period to win 8-3. Besides Adams' three goals the Hawks received two assists from Cory Fluke and one from Cody Mayoh.

Kevin Benn scored four of his five goals in that big third-period rally. Chris Galshaw netted two for Brockville.

On Dec. 13 in Brockville the Hawks bombed the Gar-Don team 7-0. Denny Raistrick posted the shutout while Danny Adams and Cory Fluke led the attack with two goals each. Cody Mayoh, Erin Berry, Jason Fawcett and Michael Spear added singles.

Raistrick registered another shutout on Dec. 14 as Winchester blanked North Leeds 5-0 in Westport.

Hawks broke open a scoreless game with Jason Ibbetson's second-period goal and added five more in the final stanza.

Ibbetson finished the game with two goals as did Jeff Hyndman. Danny Adams had a goal ,and one assist and Cody Mayoh drew an assist.

Belles grab four December points

METCALFE — Metcalfe's Belles rang up four Gloucester Association points in their last two outings, defeating Cumberland 7-3 and taking two points from Gatineau when they failed to show for a home game in Russell Sunday evening.

The Belles' record after the '85 portion of the schedule stands at three wins, four losses and three ties. They will meet Gatineau in their first game in 1986 on Jan. 5.

Barb Dewan led the Metcalfe offence in the 7-3 triumph over Cumberland, scoring three times. She also drew an assist. Her linemates, Angi Robb and Karen Gallinger also finished the game with four points each.

Tracey Ford of the Junior squad had to be called up for the game and played a strong game in the Belles' nets.

In Memoriam

McGOWAN — In loving memory of Audrey McGowan who passed away Jan. 4, 1984.
No farewells were spoken,
No time to say goodbye,
You were gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why.
We think of you in silence,
And often speak your name,
Now all we have are memories,
And your picture in a frame,
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
Our silent tears still flow,
For what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
—Sadly missed, Walt, Lyal, Aileen, Wayne, Charlotte, Bonnie, Brenda and Cathy 38

BLACK, McGOWAN — In loving memory of a dear brother Norman Black who died Jan. 2, 1981 and a dear sister Audrey McGowan who died Jan. 4, 1984.
May the winds of heaven blow softly,
On two peaceful graves
Where a brother and sister lay sleeping,
The ones we could not save.
—Sadly missed by the Family 38
