Mr. Eldon Fennell Injured In Accident

Mr. Eldon Fennell, local business man, suffered severe injuries in a highway accident while enroute to Ottawa, on Tuesday afternoon of last week. Suffering from a double compound fracture of the left leg, facial injuries, body bruises and shock, he was taken to the Ottawa Civic Hospital where he is still a patient. Dr. J. J. McKendry, of Ottawa, was the attending physician.

The accident occurred on Highway 31, about 10 miles south of Ottawa. Mr. Fennell, accompanied by a young man from Montreal, who was spending the holidays with Mr. Geo. Carlyle, was enroute to Ottawa. Shortly after he passed "Gibson's" Corner, he slowed down, before passing a bicycle which was ahead of him, and because another car was approaching him in the opposite direction. This car, owned by Mr. R. M. Elliott, of town, was returning to Winchester with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Elliott and children, Mr. Arnold Barkley and Miss Marjorie Barnard as passengers. Gordon Elliott was the driver.

As the Fennell car slowed down, it was struck from the rear by a light Army truck, which careened off into the ditch and turned upside down. The impact caused the Fennell car to swerve across the road where it collided head-on with the Elliott car and then went into the ditch.

As a result of the collision, Mr. Fennell's car is almost a total wreck, while the Elliott car suffered considerable damage to its front. Both were towed to the garage of Melvin Motors.

None of the passengers in the Elliott car or Army vehicle, which was privately owned, suffered serious injury, although they were badly shaken up. Mr. Fennell's companion also escaped with minor injuries.

Following the accident, Mr. Fennell, who was unconscious, was taken to a nearby house, while Mr. and Mrs. Elliott assisted in rendering first aid, notifying members of his family of the accident and summoning medical aid.

After Dr. McKendry's arrival at the scene of the accident, he had Mr. Fennell removed to the Ottawa Civic Hospital, where his injuries were attended to.

X-ray examinations revealed that Mr. Fennell's left leg was fractured in two places and that there was a slight fracture of the cheek bone below the left eye. His chest was severely bruised, and due to his teeth going through his lips, his mouth was badly swollen.

Evidently Mr. Fennell was rendered unconscious when his head struck the windshield, after his car was struck from the rear by the truck, because he did not know that his car had collided with the Elliott car or had been ditched, until told about it later.

Mrs. Fennell has been staying in Ottawa and visiting with her husband each day since the accident.

The Press joins with Eldon's many friends here in wishing him a speedy and complete recovery.

Heavy Snow Storm Hits This District

The heaviest snowstorm of the winter hit this district last Friday evening, and as a result, Winchester was snowbound for the greater part of Saturday.

Accompanied by a strong east wind, the storm started late Friday evening and continued until Saturday afternoon. With the temperature slightly above zero, the storm at times reach blizzard proportions and the snow was whipped into drifts from three to five feet high in places.

With highways drifted full, motor traffic on Highway 31 was at a stand-still over the week-end. The bus service on Saturday was cancelled, as plows found it impossible to keep the roads open as the storm coninued. All trains were hours late as a result of the storm. On Saturday evening, there was hardly any person in Winchester from the surrounding district, and many stores closed up shortly after the supper hour.

After hours of hard-pushing, Doug Angus and his tractor-snow-plow succeeded in opening up all streets in the village for motor traffic, but another storm from the east, which started on Sunday afternoon, threatened to cause another tie-up. It lasted only a few hours, but intermittent snow-falls kept the plows on all roads in action as they struggled to keep the main highways open for holiday travel.

For the past several months, boys and girls from Winchester and district have been attending the local classes of the Provincial School of Music, and Mr. Collins, the supervisor, is well satisfied with their progress to date. He extends a hearty invitation to everyone, and especially the parents of the students, to attend the Music Recital in the Town Hall on Monday evening, January 6th.

THE NEW YEAR 1947

Sometime, somewhere, most people stop for a moment at least as another year closes its chapter to meditate on the past and to look forward to the future. Next year—1947—will be a decisive one in the world's history, and the world being what it is today, that means this country and you and I. The ordinary man, woman, boy and girl, may some times wonder if their individual thoughts and actions have any bearing on the larger issues of the day—and we believe that they most certainly do! If it wasn't for the faith and courage of the ordinary individuals all over the world, this civilization would have gone the way others have before us—and if enough individuals do not have faith and courage in 1947, then our civilization will take another step toward the disaster that overtook other civilizations in the past who were just as smart, just as rich, and just as progressive as we think we are.

It requires faith and courage to have the conviction of principles in a day when the popular trend is towards lower standards all along the line, towards self-indulgence in many forms, towards taking the easy and popular way. Courage is defined as "that quality of mind which enables one to encounter danger and difficulties with firmness, or without fear or depression of spirits." That courage which is founded on faith in the highest and best, and on love for God and man, is an enduring, unshakable, shining quality that not only enables the possessor to face life squarely and satisfactorily, but it is also a light strength to others. Faith and courage shows itself in many forms and in many places—in the humblest homes, in kitchen and office, church and school, and on every battlefield of life.

Our wish for the New Year is that we all will have faith and courage more abundantly and that 1947 will be a happy one for you and yours.

DON'T LET HIM GET YOU DOWN !

In a town where everyone knows everybody, there is always a knocker ready to paint a most sordid picture of prevailing conditions and attitudes. Don't let him get you down. He'll tell you community support is lacking here and there, and it seems to be his business to knock local business:

The churches are losing support.

The newspaper is something or other.

The council is spending too much money or too little.

Isn't he a wonderful specimen of manhood to have aroud when you might be needing a little encouragement or an optimistic suggestion?

If this knocker could really suffer a little, see the other's viewpoint a little and not always say what he thinks to the other fellow, there might be still some good left in him to help the town. But it is questionable if he will change.

He is the type of fellow who is ripe for communism, or any other "ism" foreign to goodwill and community progress. He walks on the street of destruction.

What a wonderful purpose to have in life! To destroy and never to build, never to pat your fellow man on the back, never to praise, always ready to condemn.

Remember, friend, when he starts on you—Don't let him get you down. Be a booster in your own home town.

QUOTES FROM YESTERDAY

When a man's busy, why leisure
Strikes him as a wonderful pleasure;
'Faith, and at leasure once is he,
Straightway he wants to be busy.

—Robert Browning

THE JOYS OF NATURE

The Family Herald and Weekly Star, in commenting on the most attractive feature of farm life, points out that when all the answers are boiled down and their essence extracted, it will probably be found that they all have something to do with the farmer's close relationship with Nature. There is a great fascination in the miracle of procreation and development of plants and animals, which scientific knowledge, instead of lessening, tends to increase, while the individual personality of each animal and each field adds immensely to the pleasures of farming.

What The Family Herald and Weekly Star says is no doubt true. Country residents live physically closer to Nature, and through constant contact are more able to have an understanding and appreciative mind. However, there is no reason why the joys of Nature should be restricted to rural residents. Town and city dwellers have opportunities to study Nature, too, if only they will look. Great opportunities are offered in the field of horticulture, or in the study of bird life, or by watching the changing seasons, or even in a small vegetable plot.

Nature does not restrict its pleasures to certain ciasses or groups of people. Those who are too busy in the hustle and bustle of present day life are cheating themselves if they do not stop and pause to consider, to seek, and to find delight in Nature's treasures. There is joy to be found in a bird's song, in a flower's rich color, in some cloud effect.

Nature's beauties are at hand every minute of the day. Are you enjoying them to the full?

MY DAILY PRAYER

(Author Unknown)

"This coming year I'd like to be a friend to everyone;
I'd like to feel each day well spent at setting of the sun;
I'd like to know that I have done at least one kindly deed,
Before I lay me down to sleep that I have given heed—
To some one's cry for sympathy, or friendship or that I
Have made the day seem brighter to some chance passer-by,
And that the world is better still in just some little way,
Because I've tried to live the very best I could each day.

"I'd like to be a ray of light when skies are overcast,
I'd like to help some one who failed to blot out all the past,
To start again despite the storms, and find the skies are blue,
To know that in this good old world there's lot's that's fine and true;
I'd like to be the kind of person everyone will love,
And make the world seem just a little more like heaven above;
I'd like in all my dealings to be true and just and fair,
That God will help me do these things shall be my daily prayer."

EDITORIAL NOTES

If we could eliminate "reckless driving," we could enjoy "wreckless" driving.

The changing theories of educationists in regard to school administration deserve attention. At the moment centralization is their theme, but a few years hence, when another set of officials has taken office, it may be changed to decentralization.

Field Marshal Montgomery has now been made a Knight of the Garter, though some partisan American critics have claimed that he didn't have a leg to stand on. Perhaps these critics need a more elastic judgment, says the Christian Science Monitor.

London Free Press: We live in times of relative security on this continent but it does not call for any hyper-sensitive imagination to understand that this happy state of affairs is not a perennial feast. It is not a fantastic dream to conceive of economic collapse or of the eventual breakdown of world peace. Mrs. Roosevelt's "young people" will almost certainly undergo the experience of re-establishing the state one day, and the Archbishop of York's vision of fire, fury and desolation could prove to have been a true vision.

Hands, Hands, Hands,
Generous thumbs,
Mean, close-held digits,
Little fingers bearing signs of artistry
Nervous, bitten nails,
Hands.

What kind of hands are these,
Raised to God Almighty?
My hands?
Your hands?
Hands.

I trow, these hands
Nailed Him to the Tree,
Hands like yours—
Like mine—
Hands.

Hands raised for mercy,
Grudging-given to His little ones,
Lustful hands, aping innocence
We never knew since childhood.
Hands.

Hands of Colgotha,
Hands of Coventry,
Bloody hands,
Groping hands,
Hoping hands,
Hands.

But yet the hands of Bethlehem,
The Wise Men's hands,
And Mary Magdalene's,
And those who, dying, won Victoria's Cross.
Hands.

The hands of all the ages,
Begging,
Pleading still,
Dear Christ,
Two thousand years are gone
And, still, we lift
Our puny hands in prayer.
These trembling hands,
The red, unhappy hands,
Of all this seeking world
To Thee.
Our hands.

New Year's Eve Festive Occasion For Native Scots

Christmas never aroused much enthusiasm in Scotland—but on New Year's eve the Wassail bowl goes around, filled with savory liquid nostalgically fragrant.

Floating atop the Wassail bowl, apples stir memories of the "apple-howling" when boys switched the trunks of fruit trees petitioning "a good howling crop"; somehow, the "lamb's wool" (as the decoction of the Wassail bowl is often called) seems reminiscent of young folks rushing to the nearest spring at the stroke of 12 to drink the "cream of the well"—the first one so doing, might expect good luck during the ensuing year.

Handsel Monday—the Monday after New Year's, is traditionally the "big Day" for Scotch boys and girls: and, in addition to being the Scotch day of gift-giving, it is a day of feasting and gaiety.

Small wonder, that families and friends gather on New Year's eve to

"Drink a cup of kindness yet
For Auld Lang Syne."

Tell Me an Indian New Year's Story

The ceremonial for the snow has passed, when enemies are forgiven and harsh words forgotten, as a new trail has been blazed for all through the New Year's festivities.

The story-telling grandmother has taught the ancient chants and customs through the beads of the strings of historic wampum; but now she again has time to entertain the children.

Gathered around her lodge-fire, they plead for another story with their bright eyes and shrill voices. To satisfy them, she tells an ancient legend about the clouds.

"Long moons ago when the world was first made, the sky at wintertime was cloudless much as it is on clear midsummer days. The ground was covered with white snow and the trees, except the pines, stood bare. The cold wind whistled around the bark cabins; and with a cloudless sky, everything above and below looked dreary.

"The children, too, missed the green leaves and changing colors over the landscape and they gave a wish that the sky might have clouds now and then. It is true, dark-gray, fierce-looking clouds came in great masses and covered all the sky and let down snowflakes to amuse the children. But the children also wished for bright clouds and the old bear in the sky heard their wishes.

"So the old bear blew his moist breath into the heavy clouds and broke them up; he even made humps in some of them, and held on to the corners of others, until when they passed over the village, each cloud had a different shape, some like bears, some like wild cats, some like hills and even some like funny people. Ever afterward, the clouds took these strange shapes to bring smiles and imagination to all children in midwinter."—Dr. E. A. Bates, Cornell.

Traditional New Year's Gifts Were Sacred

The Druids distributed branches of the sacred mistletoe, cut with peculiar ceremonies, as New Year's gifts to the people and the Saxons observed the day with gifts and festivals.

The Roman custom of taking gifts to the emperor was introduced into England as early as the time of Henry III. Queen Elizabeth is supposed to have supplied herself with her jewels and wardrobe almost entirely from these gifts.

As late as 1692 the English nobility were accustomed every year to send to the king a purse containing gold.

Under the Tudors and the Stuarts it was the habit of all classes to give presents to friends with the best wishes for the New Year.

Ladies received presents of gloves or pins which were then expensive. Sometimes the gifts were wrapped in money and from this practice we have the term "pin money."

President's Reception

It has been the custom from the beginning of the Republic for the President of the United States to welcome the New Year by holding a reception open to the general public.

On the first New Year's day after his inauguration President Washington opened his home to receive the people. Throughout the seven years which Washington lived in Philadelphia as the capital of the nation, he continued this custom.

PRAYER FOR THE NEW YEAR

Dear Lord, I ask Thee
For this New Year,
An extra gift of courage
My little trials to bear.
I ask not for success;
For wealth or fame or power;
I ask for added faith
To live life, hour by hour.
Give me kindly thought, Lord,
To use for charity.
I want no gold to give,
I'll spend kind thoughts for Thee.
—Ruth Richwine Smith.

PORK STRATEGY

(Ottawa Citizen)

For pork and beans, the smart packer uses jars made of high-power microscope glass. Magnified 10,000 times, the pork, if any, is visible.

RETRENCHMENT NEEDED

(Ottawa Journal)

We shall, it is to be feared, remain far from a balanced budget, and from substantial tax reductions as well, unless the Government curbs its habits of extravagance.

UNSAFE CAR DOORS

(Ottawa Citizen)

Until safer car doors are the rule, motorists are wise to remember that this hazard does exist and that children in automobiles must be constantly watched. Except for coach-model cars (which for children are the safest) they should never be left in the rear seat alone.

TOO MUCH MILKING

(Farmer's Advocate)

Other things being equal, three-times-a-day milking will increase production about fifteen per cent. over twice a day milking. The extra labor involved offsets some of the gain. For record-making purposes, frequent milkings are advantageous, but most dairymen feel that twice-a-day milking is often enough. Any more is too much.

WORTH REMEMBERING

(Chatham News)

Britain may have made some mistakes. But let everyone also remember that if it had not been for Mr. Churchill and the British people in 1940-41, those problems might have been settled by Adolf Hitler. There might have been no Jewish immigrants to storm the gates of Palestine, and the question of India might have been neatly answered by the Japs. It is well for all peoples to remember Britain's great contribution to the battle for world freedom.

POOR IN LIBRARIES

(Vancouver Daily Province)

Canada is poor in libraries and the provinces and municipalities, with narrowed revenues and increasing demands, find themselves unable to do very much to aid them. The Dominion might, with great advantage to the nation, interest itself in public libraries. At the very least it might set the standard by establishing a national library which could offer inspiration and leadership.

THE TAXES WE PAY

(Toronto Financial Post)

A gallon of ordinary grade gasoline (at Toronto) costs 32 1-2 cents. Federal tax is eight cents, provincial tax is three cents, add approximately three and a third cents for other taxes. That means the fuel that makes your car go places is being provided for around 18 cents a gallon.

That package of cigarettes costs you 33 cents. About 22 cents of the amount is tax, only 11 cents for the cigarette store, the distributor, the manufacturer and the tobacco grower.

APPRECIATE QUIET CANADIAN SUNDAY

(Brockville Recorder & Times)

A border hotel-keeper declared a few days ago that what we needed most of all in this Province to attract tourists was a wide-open Sunday and liberalized liquor laws. Perhaps we might see more visitors if we did as this hotel-keeper (who cannot be particularly disinterested) says we should do, but perhaps all our additional visitors might not be of exactly the type we would care to welcome. Moreover, we have a right to consider ourselves as well as our visitors and we believe it to be the wish of a large majority of the people of this Province that Sunday should be, as far as possible, a day of rest and quietness and that booze should be kept under some form of control. As a matter of fact, the tourist traffic seems to be doing quite well on the existing basis. There was certainly no shortage of these visitors last summer. And probably more of them appreciated our relatively quiet Sundays and our liquor restrictions than resented them.

Why VICKS VAPORUB Is So Good For Relieving Miseries of Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home-remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. And here is the reason . . .

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—to ease coughing spasms, help clear congestion in cold-clogged upper breathing passages, relieve muscular soreness or tightness. It promotes restful sleep. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good to use when colds strike. Try it!

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Perfume Stains

Perfume stains can be removed from the dressing table scarfs by using peroxide of hydrogen.

Removing Stains

Moist table salt will remove egg tarnish from silver, as well as coffee and tea stains from china.

Winter Window Wash

When cleaning the windows in freezing weather, use a cloth moistened with kerosene, instead of water.

Combs and Brushes

Clean hair brushes and combs by washing them in water, to which a small quantity of ammonia has been added.

Winter Plants

Cold tea or milk will make plants blossom during the winter months. One should alternate with water every other day.

Linen

When purchasing linen, select the half bleached. It is stronger than the bleached, and after washing several times it will become perfectly white.

Curling Feathers

When curling feathers or plumes, shake the tips through steam from the spout of a kettle, and then curl with a silver fruit knife or a whale bone.

Falling Leaves

Instead of burning the leaves that fall in the yard, rake them into a corner and cover with loam. In the spring you will have a well-fertilized loam for your garden.

Stubborn Drawers

Drawers will not stick if floor wax is rubbed on the slides and also on the drawers. Polish well, because unless rubbed in thoroughly, the wax forms a sticky covering.

Rust Spots

Rust spots that have accumulated on the stove during the summer months can be removed by rubbing linseed oil on them. If the spots are obstinate, sandpaper them.

Greasy Soup

To remove the last drops of fat from the top of the soup, throw a lettuce leaf into the vessel. It will absorb the grease and can then be removed after serving its purpose.

High Stool

To prevent unnecessary fatigue, have a high stool to use when paring vegetables, washing dishes, ironing, and doing other things which may be accomplished while sitting.

Baking

If the oven will not accommodate two pies at once, without the one overlapping the other, elevate one of them by placing a light tin plate on the rack and putting the pie on it to bake.

Heavy Underwear

Before putting winter underwear into the wash, turn it wrong-side out and brush with a whisk broom to remove the lint. This will prevent the lint from getting down the drain and clogging it.

Old Bedspreads

Don't discard the old bedspread which is wearing out. Use it to cover the springs under the mattress. This will protect the mattress from damage by the springs, and will keep out much dust and dirt.

A Christmas Carol

By Charles Dickens

MARLEY was dead.

Scrooge knew he was dead. Scrooge and he were partners. Scrooge was a tight-fisted hand at the grindstone, a squeezing, wrenching, grasping, scraping, clutching, covetous, old sinner!

Once upon a time—on Christmas Eve—old Scrooge sat busy in his counting-house.

"A Merry Christmas, uncle. God save you!" cried his nephew's cheerful voice.

"Bah!" said Scrooge, "Humbug!"

One day when asked to give to the poor for the festive season, Scrooge replied, "I help to support the poorhouses—they cost enough; and those who are badly off must go there."

AFTER dinner that night, Scrooge went home to bed. A disused bell that hung in the room started to swing. It was succeeded by a clanking noise as if some one was dragging a heavy chain over the casks in the cellar.

It came through the door, and passed into the room. It was Marley! Marley's chain was made of cash-boxes, keys, padlocks, ledgers, deeds and heavy purses wrought in steel.

The Ghost informed Scrooge, "it is required of every man that the spirit within him should walk abroad among his fellowmen; and if that spirit goes not forth in life, it is condemned to do so after death. It is doomed to wander through the world—and witness what it cannot share.

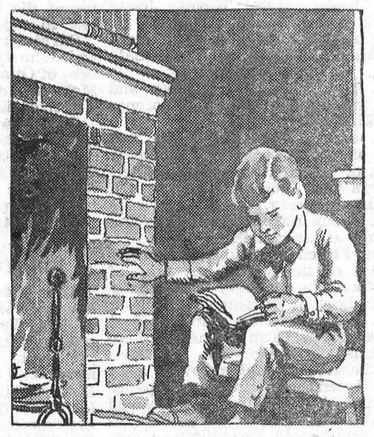
"You will be haunted by Three Spirits. Without their visits, you cannot hope to shun the path I tread. Expect the first when the bell tolls One."

Scrooge awoke and the curtains of his bed were drawn by a small elfish creature.

"I am the Ghost of Christmas Past," it said.

The Ghost and Scrooge went to a bare room where a lonely boy was reading near a feeble fire: Scrooge wept to see his poor forgotten self as he used to be, and glanced axiously towards the door. It opened; and a little girl much younger than the boy came in and, kissing him, addressed him as her "Dear, dear brother."

"I came to bring you home, dear brother!" said the child. "Home, for good and all. Home, for ever and ever. Father has sent me in a coach to bring you."



THEY stopped at a warehouse door. It was Ferzzwig's. A fiddler came and tuned like fifty stomach-aches. They danced and ate. Scrooge found himself by the side of a fair young girl.

"It matters little," she said, softly. "To you, very little. Another idol has displaced me; and if it can cheer and comfort you in time to come, as I would have, I have no just cause to grieve."

"What idol has displaced you?" he rejoined.

"A golden one."

"Spirit!" said Scrooge, "show me no more! Conduct me home. Why do you torture me?"

Scrooge had no occasion to be told that the bell was again upon the stroke of One.

Now his bed became the very core and center of a blaze of ruddy light, which streamed upon it when the clock proclaimed the hour. Living green so filled it that it looked a perfect grove.

IN EASY state upon this couch, there sat a jolly giant.

"I am the Ghost of Christmas Present," said the Spirit.

"Spirit," said Scrooge, "conduct me where you will."

Perhaps it was the Spirit's sympathy with all poor men that led him straight to Scrooge's clerk. On the threshold of the door the Spirit smiled, and stopped to bless Bob Cratchit's dwelling.

In came Bob, Tiny Tim upon his shoulder. Alas for Tiny Tim, he bore a little crutch.

Master Peter, and the two ubiquitous young Cratchits, went to fetch the goose, with which they soon returned in high procession.

There never was such a goose. Bob said he didn't believe there ever was such a goose cooked.

"God bless us every one!" said Tiny Tim.

SCROOGE was taken from Cratchits by Christmas Present to another end of town.

It was a great surprise to Scrooge to hear a familiar hearty laugh. Scrooge recognized it as his own newphew's.

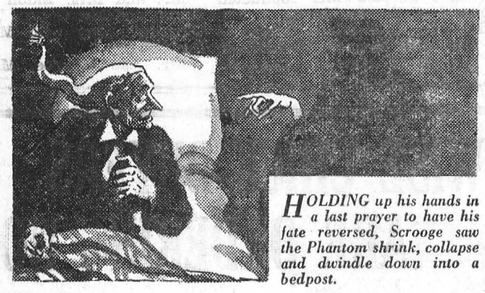
"He said that Christmas was a humbug, as I live!" cried Scrooge's nephew to the party. "He believed it too."

The bell struck again.

Scrooge looked about his bedroom once more, and beheld a solemn Phantom, draped and hooded. He went with the Phantom into an abscure part of the town, and into the presence of a man, just as a woman with a heavy bundle entered.

She explained that the blankets belonged to Scrooge, but being dead he was not likely to take cold.

Scrooge shuddered at the revelation that this would be his fate in retribution for his unkindnesses during life.



HOLDING up his hands in a last prayer to have his fate reversed, Scrooge saw the Phantom shrink, collapse and dwindle down into a bedpost.

YES! and the bedpost was his own.

The bed was his own, the room was his own. Best and happiest of all, the time before him was his own, to make amends in!

Running to the window, he opened it and put out his head, calling to a happy urchin in the street.

"Do you know if the Poulterer's have sold the prize turkey?"

"It's hanging there now."

Scrooge had the turkey delivered to Bob Cratchit's. Scrooge then went to church and in the afternoon he went to his nephew's house.

"It's I. Your Uncle Scrooge. I have come to dinner. Will you let me in, Fred?"

Let him in! It is a mercy they didn't shake his arm off. He was at home in five minutes. Nothing could be heartier.

HE WENT to the office early the next morning. Bob was eighteen minutes behind his time.

"I am not going to stand this sort of thing any longer. And therefore," said Scrooge, leaping from his stool, and giving Bob a dig in the waistcoat: "I am about to raise your salary!"

Scrooge was better than his word. He did it all, and infinitely more; and to Tiny Tim, who did not die, he was a second father. He became as good a friend, as good a master, and as good a man, as the old city knew, or any other good old city, town or borough in the good old world.

THE MIXING BOWL

BY Anne Allan
HYDRO HOME ECONOMIST

Holiday Greetings, Friends! The doors swing in, the doors swing out; no need to sing the folk song—these very words are true wherever Christmas is celebrated. In spite of the numerous prepared foods and the baking spree that mother had managed prior to holiday week, there seems to be a continuous clatter in the kitchen. The coffee pot has never cooled since two days before Christmas and the fruit cake wrapping has become torn in the repeated rushes to serve guests who "swing in" the door. Meanwhile, mother concocts leftovers into attractive and tasty dishes. Here's hoping she may glean a few ideas from our list of supper dishes to help her during the busy week.

Holiday Soup—To leftover soup, add vegetable stock and 1-3 cup of coarsely chopped nuts. Heat, pour into soup bowls and top with rice krispies.

Escalloped Turkey—Make a sauce of 2 tbsps. butter, 3 tbsps. flour, 1 cup milk and 1-2 cup gravy. Add 1 cup (or more) diced turkey, 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 2 tbsps. chopped celery, 1 tbsp. minced parsley. Pour into shallow pan and sprinkle with turkey stuffing. Bake in electric oven at 350 degs. for 15 minutes.

Duchess Potatoes—Combine two cups mashed potatoes, 2 tbsps. melted fat, 1-2 tsp. salt with 2 beaten egg yolks. Form into round cakes or put into pastry bag and squeeze mixture into shapes onto greased baking sheet. Brush lightly with beaten egg whites. Brown in preheated electric oven at 450 degs. for 15 minutes. Serves 6.

Christmas Tree Salad—Use minced parsley or endive and strips of sliced prunes to form a tree design on each side plate. Add cooked cranberries, grapes and bananas in small pieces and chopped nuts. Sprinkle with French dressing.

Cheese Melba—Spread a very thin layer of cheese on one side of left-over bread. Place on baking sheet and leave in a warm oven for two hours. (Bread should be thin to give crisp, tasty toast.)

Hot Sausage and Apple Sandwich—You require 3-4 lb. sausage and 3 apples. Shape seasoned sausage meat into round patties 1-2 inch thick, fry and remove from pan. Keep hot. Core and slice apples, leaving skin on and saute in a little sausage fat. Place a sausage patty and a slice of apple on toast. Garnish with carrot curls. Serve with cabbage salad.

Appetizer to serve with soup or tomato juice: Fill cake decorator with cream cheese and press cheese on crackers. Stick in slivers of pickle.

Grapefruit Roses—From a thick-skinned grapefruit remove the yellow rind just deep enough to leave a smooth surface. Dip grapefruit into hot water and scrape off white membrane. Starting from one end, peel a continuous strip about an inch thick. Place carefully in water and boil gently until cooked in tinted syrup. Place in open roseshape on a bed of parsley or lettuce.

Specialty Dessert—Make with 4 squares of plain cake, 1 cup leftover pudding sauce and 1 cup of scalded sultana raisins. Slice cake through centre and spread with pudding sauce mixed with sultana raisins and cake or graham cracker crumbs. Put on the top pieces and place in the refrigerator to chill. Cut each piece in two and serve.

Leftover Coffee—Bring 1 cup of coffee and 2-3 cup sugar to a boil. Serve over heated muffins you split in half.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. N. R. asks: Have you a recipe using mincemeat to substitute for mince pie since we have lots of mincemeat but no shortening for pastry.

Mincemeat Coffee Cake

Answer: 2 tbsps. butter, 3 tbsps. brown sugar, 1-2 tsp. cinnamon, 1 cup mincemeat, 1-4 cup dripping, 1-2 cup white sugar, 1 egg (well beaten), 1 1-2 cups all-purpose flour, 2 tsps. baking powder, 1-2 tsp. salt, 2-3 cup milk.

Oil a deep 8 x 8 inch pan; melt the butter in it; sprinkle the melted butter with the brown sugar and cinnamon. Spread with the mincemeat and press firmly into place. Cream together the dripping and white sugar. Add the well-beaten egg. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Beat lightly; pour over the mincemeat. Bake in electric oven at 425 degs. for 25 mins. Invert on a large platter and serve in squares with hot coffee.

Mrs. J. M. asks: recipe for sweet potato balls which will retain their shape.

Spiced Sweet Potato Balls

Answer: 3 large sweet potatoes, 1-2 cup chopped nuts (optional). 2 tbsps. fat, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1-8 tsp. nutmeg, 1-8 tsp. allspice, 1-8 tsp. cinnamon, 1-2 cup flour, 2-3 cup of brown sugar, 1-3 cup water, 1 1-2 tbsps. of butter, 1 tbsp. lemon juice.

Scrub the potatoes and cook in their jackets till tender. Remove the skins and mash. Add the nuts, fat, salt and spices. Blend well and shape into eight balls. Roll in flour and place in a casserole. Boil the brown sugar, water, butter and lemon juice together for 5 mins. Pour over the potato balls. Bake in a hot electric oven for 20 mins., basting occasionally.

Miss J. C. says: Parkerhouse rolls were made with week-old yeast but dough raised beautifully then sunk.

Answer: The raised dough should have been put in pre-heated oven immediately before the old yeast weakened the cellular structure.

NEWLYWEDS HONOURED

On Monday, Dec. 16th, a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Allan Cinnamon when about one hundred guests gathered in honour of he and his bride, who were recently married. An address was read by Mrs. Benson George, and a presentation of a purse of money was made by Messrs. Roy Cumming and Benson George. Mrs. George then presented Mrs. Cinnamon with a bride's book.

Allen replied, thanking all those present. Lunch was then served, and the remainder of the evening was spend in games and music supplied by Mrs. Garfield McVey and Miss Helen Carkner.

Following is the address:—

Dear Allan and Joan:—We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered together here to-night to offer our congratulations and best wishes. During the past year, indications were not lacking that sooner or later a life partnership would be entered into between you.

Allan, we consider you one of our boys, as you have always lived among us. Your willingness to help in our social life has made us glad to call you a friend.

Joan, you came to us a stranger, but since that time your friendliness has made you many friends, and we are glad that you are settling down in our community.

You are now busy in the happy task of settling down in your home. With our heartiest wishes for your future, and as a token of our regard for you, we ask you to accept this gift as an expression of our friendship.

Signed on behalf of neighbours and friends of Cloverdale.

WEDDINGS

DURANT—PATTERSON

A wedding of considerable interest took place at St. Johns, Que., in St. James Anglican Church at 3 o'clock on Saturday, Dec. 21st, when Miss Lillian M. Patterson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Patterson, became the bride of Mr. Lyle E. Durant, son of Mrs. M. H. Durant and the late Mr. Durant, of Winchester.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and was gowned in a long white satin dress and a floor-length veil with a halo crown. She carried her grandmother's white satin prayer book, with a nosegay of orchids. Rev. Gordon Addie performed the ceremony. Mr. James Wood was best man, and Miss May Campbell, of St. Johns, played the Wedding March.

A reception was held at the bride's home for about sixty guests. The bride and groom then left on a wedding trip to Winchester and points west, the bride travelling in a teal blue suite, leopard coat and matching accessories. On their return they will reside in St. Johns, Que.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. M. H. Durant and daughter, Audrey, mother and sister of the groom; Mrs. Emma Schneid, of Utica, N. Y.; Mrs. Theresa Halsey, of East Syracuse, N. Y.; Miss Cecile Povin, Montreal.

NEWINGTON BOY IS STRANGLED BY FALLING WINDOW SASH

Robert Roy Simmons, Jr., five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Simmons, who reside just northwest of Newington, was accidentally killed Sunday morning when the window of a shed, into which he was climbing, fell down on his neck.

Dr. J. M. Pollock, Avonmore coroner, told police he would return a verdict of accidental death by strangulation and said he considered an inquest unlikely.

Police said the coroner told them the child had gone to an unoccupied building of the farm which was used as a playhouse after members of the family discussed the possibility of a power failure. There was a lantern in the buildings.

Police were informed the father had gone in search of his son about nine a.m., a half-hour after the boy had left the house. He found the child's body in the window, with the sash on his neck. The window had apparently fallen down as he attempted to climb in.

Snowbound roads prevented police frou reaching the home to conduct investigation.

Prunes

The flavor of prunes will be greatly improved by adding a little cinnamon and lemon.

Painting Brick

When painting brick, it is very important that the surface be thoroughly dry. The joints of new brickwork can be treated with a solution of zinc sulphate in order to neutralize the alkali in the mortar. Before one paints a brick wall, it is a good idea to fill the pores by applying a coat of boiled linseed oil thinned with turpentine or raw oil with some drier.
