Boys Will Be Invited To Mark Boys'-Girls' Week

As one of the methods to mark observance of Boys and Girls Week, the Rotary Club of Chesterville is holding a special meeting this coming Monday to which each member will invite a boy. Reporting at the meeting Monday evening, Francis Moriarty, acting secretary, stated the Board of Directors hope to reopen the playground in the near future and work of preparation will start at once. Some painting of equipment is necessary and some new equipment will be purchased.

The tennis court will be put into operation as soon as a new net and tapes are available, and it is hoped to form a tennis club among the young people interested. The club is providing the court and caretaking, so the admission fees to the club should be very moderate. As this is the only court in town, it was felt the only method of accommodating players would be through the organization of a club which could set up a playing schedule.

The big business of the evening was the election of the new Board of Directors which will take office July 1. Leon Marcellus, Vice-president, will become the new president, and his board will consist of Walter J. Carr, past president; Leonard Allan, Geo. H. Barkley, H. Brown, P. S. Boyd, P. J. Gilroy, J. A. Morris and Gordon Wragg.

Dr. W. H. Lloyd announced he had completed plans for the speaker at the annual Ladies' Night of the club to be held in the Community Hall on Thursday, May 3rd, to which members of the Brockville club have been invited.

P. S. Boyd made a plea for assistance in re-forming the Chesterville Red Cross Branch on a peace-time basis, suggesting that the members take an active part on the executive to be reformed.

INSPECTOR OF LIBRARIES MAY ADDRESS MEETING

The Inspector of Public Libraries for Ontario will be invited to address a joint meeting in Chesterville of the Women's Institute, Rotary Club, the Municipal Council and the executive of the Public Library Association, on the invitation of the Board of Directors of the Rotary Club, who discussed ways of assisting Chesterville's library, at a meeting held Friday evening. If the Inspector is not available, it is planned to hold a joint meeting and discuss means of re-organizing the Library as a Free Library.

Garden Club Organizes At Enthusiastic Meeting

At a very enthusiastic meeting recently held in the Chesterville High School, the Chesterville Garden Club was organized for the 1946 season.

Miss Marguerite Macdonnell, the District Coach of girls' projects; Miss Rowe of the Women's Institute Branch, Toronto; and the Agricultural Representative, H. W. Graham, addressed the meeting on different phases of the work involved. Gordon Wragg was appointed the leader of the Club.

Signed up for the season are fourteen first-year members, ten second-year members and one third-year member. The officers are as follows:

President, Miss Ardeth Justus; Vice-President, Miss Margaret Gilroy; Secretary, Miss Shirley Rowe; Assistant Leader, Miss Katherine Durant.

The members propose holding several meetings throughout the season at which they hope to have pictures and speakers along gardening and home canning lines.

IMMUNIZATION CLINIC

An immunization clinic will be held in the Public School, Winchester, on Friday, May 3rd, 10 to 11 a.m. as an extra clinic to accommodate those who have not completed the series of three injections. Miss Norma Tonkin, Public Health Nurse, is anxious that parents make an effort to bring their children to complete their immunization against diphtheria and whooping cough. She advises anyone who is unable to attend the clinic to have the series completed by the family doctor.

Some Confusion On Sunday With Daylight Saving Time

Many church-goers in Chesterville found themselves going to Sunday morning services just about in time for the last hymn, as confusion reigned about when the timepieces should have been set one hour ahead for Daylight Saving Time. The Proclamation issued by Reeve Barkley stated Daylight Saving Time would go into effect "from midnight Sunday, April 28th, 1946," and this was interpreted by many as setting the clocks ahead on retiring Sunday night; in spite of the fact the CBC went on fast time at 2.00 a.m. Sunday.

Many would rather not talk about their embarrassment, so the matter went off quietly. It is expected most of the farming community will adopt summer time along with the village and the surrounding municipalities of Winchester, Kemptville, Merrickville,, Ottawa, Brockville, Prescott, Iroquois, Morrisburg and Cornwall. Morewood schools have announced they will operate on Daylight Saving Time.

Many Friends Attend Reception For Newlyweds

The Community Hall was packed Tuesday night with friends and relatives present at a reception for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Merkley (nee Madeline Marcellus) who were married on April 20th. The evening was spent in dancing with Kirkwood's Orchestra in attendance, and at about midnight the newly-weds were called to the stage where Miss Gladys Marcellus of Morewood read the following address and the presentation of a substantial purse of money was made by Lyle Alford.

Chesterville, Ontario,
April 30, 1946

Dear Madeline and Carl:

On your return from your honeymoon, your many friends have gathered here to-night to welcome you back to the community, where you will, for the present at least, make your new home. We all join in the happiness that is yours and we hope that the years that lie ahead will bring you both a full share in the blessings of health and prosperity.

The years each of you have spent in Chesterville have earned for you the admiration and high esteem in which you are now held. To you Carl, your enlistment and overseas service in His Majesty's armed forces fully justify the deepest gratitude and highest respect for your unselfish devotion to duty, as well as the right to choose such a girl as Madeline for your wife. And to you Madeline your sterling qualities of character and charm of personalities, not to mention the sunshine of your smile, have won for you, not only a large circle of friends, but a husband of whom you may be well proud.

Will you now both be pleased to receive from us this gift, not only as a momento of this occasion, but as a future reminder that your many friends in Chesterville will continue to wish for you, all the joys and comforts that a happy wedded life can give.

Signed on behalf of your many friends from Morewood, Chesterville and Dunbar.

The bride looked charming in a dressmaker suit of rose wool with brown accessories and had a corsage of coral roses and maiden hair fern. Her only ornament was a gold locket a gift of the groom.

SHAMEFUL CONDITION OF OUR STREETS

The first week of May has come around, the sixth week of official spring, and our streets still are covered with the accumulation of the winter's filth, left to be stirred up by autos and carried into our homes and business places by every fitful gust of wind.

Chesterville's street surfaces are second-to-none for a community of equal size, and it might also be said the accumulation on and about the streets should claim a first.

This accumulation has grown to such a degree as to interfere with drainage of many streets, with the result sidewalks are flooded with every rain. One striking example of this is at the Nation River bridge. The drain under the sidewalk, which should carry water off the square, plugs with rubbish and a great pool of water forms which is showered over the sidewalk by every passing vehicle.

The time for cleaning up and washing down Chesterville's streets is long past due, and we would suggest that the Municipal Council give careful thought to this matter at its regular meeting scheduled for next week.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' WEEK
(Contributed)

Every week, and every day of the week, is concerned with Boys' and Girls. Rotary International lays special claim to this week, and sets out an elaborate programme with which communities can focus attention on the place of youth in modern society.

This past week the Ontario Educational Association has been convening, and the press has made timely references to the question of youthful character. It is to be commended for so doing. Outstanding have been several observations on the manners of young people in conspicuous places. There is an old saying that "Manners make the man", and it still stands high in the world of affairs, to which the young aspire.

It has been well-said that material ways of every description have been found to hasten youth on the way to making a living. Are we keeping pace by instilling, at the same time, the virtues of consideration for others, thoughtfulness and the sense of appreciation and gratitude for what more experienced folk provide? If we are not, then some day, we can be sure, youth will find out about it. We shall have been very remiss if we do not impress the young with the fact that the old as well as the young have paid a high price, in recent years, for what is now available in services.

The citizens of to-morrow will assess what they have carried with them, in the light of the example set by grown-ups of to-day. Let us help them, now, by emphasizing that living a life is at least equally important as making a living. Ths is one of the greatest contrbutions adults cas make to Giris' and Boys' Week in our homes, where young and old meet together.

LESSONS OF WAR IN DAYS OF PEACE

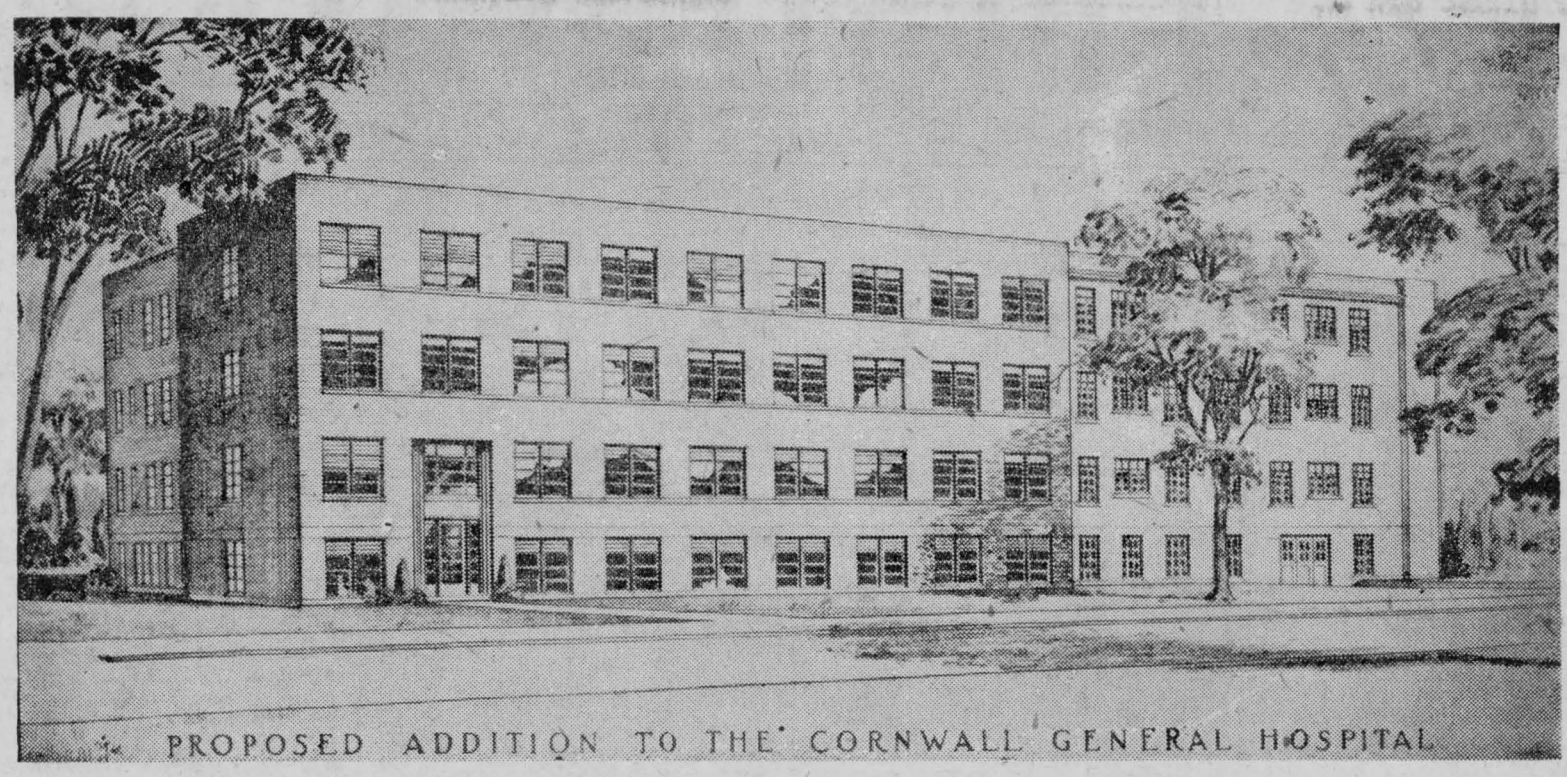

Speaking at the annual regimental dinner of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in Cornwall, Saturday night, Major General R. H. Keefler, C.B.E., D.S.O., E.D., stressed a number of points that deserve careful attention. A brilliant soldier, he spoke of his reactions to conditions which he has found on his return to civilian life.

Major-Gen. Keefler commanded the 3rd Canadian Infantry Division, "The Water Rats", from Operation "Plunder"—the crossing of the Rhine—until after the European war had been wound up, which included some very heavy fighting. The impression that great fighting organization left on him formed one of the most telling parts of his address. Unselfish cooperation showed time and again in the division's battles was a direct proof that Canadians, from seven of the nine provinces, could completely submerge religious and racial differences for the attainment of victory.

Every man who fought in the line will agree with General Keefler who said, "We didn't think or talk about how the other fellow spoke King's English, if he did, or whether he heard Mass or sang hymns on church parade." War is a horrible experience but it has the outstanding virtue of drawing a clear line between the major and minor issues.

But when the fighting men came home they found a big let-down which was also experienced by the workers on the home-front. The old sectional disputes had not been wiped away. Apparently they had been put in mothballs and when the war had been won, they were brought out in all their old virulence. Perhaps the speaker was thinking of this when he wrote his final order to his 3rd Division: "Remember the spirit of loyal and unselfish co-operation that was part of the division. Try to retain it in your future mode of life and try, in the interests of Canada, to spread its strength among your fellow citizens."

Another of the Major-General's timely thrusts was his blast of those who would discredit the leaders who brought military victory by publishing stories of bickering and discontent, and stories that brought embarrassment to a distinguished visitor and a distinguished Canadian.

PROPOSED ADDITION TO THE CORNWALL GENERAL HOSPITAL

This picture is an architect's drawing of the proposed extension to Cornwall General Hospital. It will be built on the north-west corner of the present building and will give the hospital badly needed accommodation for beds, operating rooms, technical laboratories, kitchens and other necessities. To raise the $250,000 estimated as its cost of construction, the hospital is organizing a counties-wide campaign from May 27 to June 6. The campaign is being carried out under the slogan "Very Truly Yours" in an effort to impress on all residents of the United Counties that Cornwall General Hospital is a publicly-owned and operated institution.

1946 is an all-important year

FOR CANADA'S TOURIST BUSINESS

MILLIONS OF AMERICAN VISITORS are expected to come to Canada during 1946 for their post-war vacation.

It won't always be easy to accommodate them. We still have our crowding and shortages. We are still in the aftermath of war. This is the very reason we should all take special care to be courteous and considerate to our guests this summer.

This year, of all years, we must maintain the reputation we have won for true hospitality.

YOU MAY NEVER SEE A TOURIST, BUT... tourist dollars flow to you. The grocer, the garage man, the farmer, the office worker—everybody benefits directly or indirectly from tourist spending, and the extra work and income it creates. Last year, tourists in Canada spent more than one hundred and fifty million dollars. In the years ahead, as our ability to handle tourist traffic grows, who is to say how big this business may become? For Canada is in an enviable position—a natural vacation land next door to the most travel-minded nation in the world. This is an all-important year! It may be difficult in many ways yet it holds great promise for the future.

THEY'LL BE TALKING ABOUT US... We want them to come again. We want them to tell their friends: "We had a marvellous time in Canada!" By making them truly welcome, we can win millions of enthusiastic salesmen for Canada—"satisfied customers" who will pass on to many times their number the story of Canadian hospitality and of Canada's unlimited attractions as a vacation land.

HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION
BUILDS CITIES

THE growth of cities and towns has always been influenced by the transportation facilities provided for them . . . and everywhere that motorcoach transportation has been established it has helped to build the centres served by the highways.

Flexible, safe, dependable, the convenience and comfort of motorcoach travel have made it first choice with many thousands of people.

No other form of land travel offers its patrons the scenic value of motorcoach service, and the new parlor-car motorcoaches provide luxurious improvements that increase the pleasure of passengers.

Travellers are seated higher in these new coaches, and windows are placed so as to provide an unobstructed view of scenic points of interest. The deeply-cushioned, reclining seats are equipped with white head-rest towels. Ventilation facilities are improved. Baggage compartments are dustproof and waterproof.

EFFECTIVE IN THE NEAR FUTURE

A new motorcoach service will be established between

CORNWALL, MONKLAND, FINCH, CHESTERVILLE, WINCHESTER
KEMPTVILLE, MERRICKVILLE and SMITHS FALLS

Two services daily will operate in each direction. Full details will be released in the near future.

IN MEMORIAM.

McNAUGHTON—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Mr. D. P. McNaughton who passed away April 28th, 1942.

We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts to-day;
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
We think of him in silence,
No eye shall see us weep;
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.

Meeting Spring in Southern Ohio

The Story of a Motor Trip to Marietta, Ohio, enjoyed by the Editor During Easter Week

During Easter week the editor, Mrs. Lacey and Miss Helen Lacey spent a long delayed holiday visiting with their daughter, Mrs. R. L. Jones and Dr. Jones of Marietta, Ohio. The round trip was made by motor and with several side trips in the vicinity of Marietta reached a mileage of almost 1600 miles. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed passing through all the variations of almost winter conditions into early spring weather, where the season was about a month earlier than in this area.

Crossing of the border was made over the Roosevelt bridge at Ivy Lea where a panorama of almost breathtaking beauty spreads up and down the St. Lawrence dotted with its numerous islands, seen as it were from a mountain top when one reaches the highest point of the structure. The illusion in the apparent height of the bridge as it is approached makes one feel that no motor car could possibly make the grade. It vanishes, however, on closer approach as do the long hills on the highways.

After passing Watertown, a hundred miles on the way, one begins to sense a change, slight changes in the appearance of farm buildings and of the soil which was just beginning to be tilled. The southerly direction is continued until a village named Mexico is reached where a sharp shift westerly is made and continued along south of Lake Ontario. After passing through several good sized towns where considerable manufacturing was carried on, the fruit belt was reached with cherry orchards and vineyards spreading on either side of the highway, the latter showing no new growth. A shade of color was showing on the cherry trees with promise of great beauty when the return trip would be made in a week's time. This promise was fully borne out. Almost as far as the eye could reach the countryside was most beautiful with bloom.

Rochester is the largest city which is passed through before reaching Buffalo. It is known as the "Flower City" which seems most appropriate.

Buffalo is reached after a run of about 70 miles through nice country with many evidences of fruit growing and ever increasing market gardening as one passes through Batavia. On leaving the latter city we moved over to another highway which carried us into Buffalo on Main street of the city. It was not necessary to go through the city. Our friends, the Misses Rose and Marion Macnaughton, by whom we were entertained for two nights and one day, live close to the city line in a beautiful northern suburb. Moving out of Buffalo Easter Sunday morning in traffic at a minimum, we crossed the city on Highway 18, which is also Bailey Avenue, about fifteen miles, until joining up with No. 20 almost clear of the city. Buffalo, although to many of us seeming much farther away than is Toronto, is actually many miles nearer in going south of Lake Ontario instead of on this side of the border.

Getting away from Buffalo in good time we were on our way to Southern Ohio. Before turning directly south a run of slightly over a hundred miles to Conneaut through a most beautiful fruit growing district was necessary. An unusual scene for Easter Sunday morning was farmers working on the land. Before reaching our destination it became quite common. All through the fruit belt the absence of cattle in fields was quite noticeable and silos were not so conspicuous, although where there were silos they had changed to some extent from those in Dundas county. Many were made of staves, cement and stone. In Ohio the silos were usually of brick, of a less diameter than ours and much taller. Batteries of three of these brick silos looked quite imposing. Brick making in Ohio is a big industry. Mile after mile of the highways are paved with bricks as are the streets in many cities and towns. The brick plants become conspicuous the farther south you go. Much of the labor in the southern plants is negro labor, where it is housed in what looked like company houses.

Just how the pasture problem was handled on the Ohio farms without fences along the highways we failed to learn until it dawned on us that we were not seeing any cattle in the fields. In fact more Holsteins might be seen between Chesterville and Winchester than we saw in Ohio.

Shortly after leaving Buffalo we began to see the scythia shrub in full bloom. That was not unusual but it marked the advance northward of the season. After meeting a few of the shrubs in bloom in favored positions they soon became common, then passed from view as they completed their cycle of bloom and we saw them no more. Other bloom became more common such as the dogwood, the redbud, lilacs, azaleas and many others. The azaleas were very striking. When driving through the hills or mountains you would unexpectedly see a bank of azaleas bordering the highway or a lawn, perhaps twelve or fifteen feet, bright as a flame and most beautiful. The dogwood grows to a considerable height and when in bloom is a mass of comparatively large white flowers. On the hills and mountain sides they relieve the drabness of rock and green trees.

When within eighty or a hundred miles of Marietta the road becomes very picturesque, continually winding, climbing up, up until you pass the crest and then down, down, after you had a glimpse of kingdom come. Everybody swishes along over these roads at a clip that often brings one's heart in his mouth, when his experience of hills has been that of Cameron's Hill on the way to Finch.

A flock of black sheep looked like a curiosity on first glance, but they weren't really black. They were of the merino breed, raised for their wool. Their fleeces become so dirty in that district north of Marietta that it is excusable for a green horn to make the mistake.

Oil wells were a common sight along the highway pumping that rich Pennsylvania crude. One farm woman remarked that it was not difficult for them to make money on their farm as they had an oil well and a coal mine on it. Many coal mines are right along the highway.

Returning we took a different route for the first hundred miles travelling along the left bank of the Ohio river from Marietta to East Liverpool, at which point the river turns east and flows toward Pittsburg. Practically all the hundred miles are built up like passing through continuous towns and villages, while on the West Virginia side many heavy industries such as steel mills were in full blast, their tall stacks emitting great volumes of soft coal smoke darkening the whole valley and smudging all the buildings making them look dull and dingy.

One thing quite noticeable was the United States flag. When it was flown in any place it always appeared to be a nice new or at least clean flag, something to be proud of and admired.

The greatest Friend of Truth is Time; her greatest enemy is Prejudice; and her constant companion is Humility.—Colton.

THE steady strong demand for eggs and poultry makes it plain that this is going to be a profitable year to start good chicks — as many as you can raise right.

In choosing your chicks, remember what so many poultry raisers have found to be a fact — "The Bray Chick Does the Trick". Mrs. M. V. Kidd, Nipissing, Ont., for example, writes this: "I have raised Bray Chicks for more than 15 years, and have always had great success with them." Mrs. Blanche Seymour, of Lennoxville, Que., reports; "The chicks were lovely and strong, and we had excellent luck with them." Mrs. Amos Wilson, Turtle Cree, N.B., writes: "Excellent results—I know of no better chicks anywhere."

Poultry meat markets are just about swept bare. If you started your "main crop" chicks earlier, put your brooding equipment to work again with a bunch of Bray cockerel chicks. Write for our "Daily Special" or ask your Bray agent or hatchery manager.

THE PROVINCE OF PROMISE...

ONTARIO, in a geographical sense only, may be said to be sharply divided . . . a natural division into north country and south country that emphasises the province's variety of climate—of industry—of character. Northward, Ontario extends to the semi-arctic region of Hudson Bay . . . Southward, to the semi-tropic fruit belt of the Niagara Peninsula . . . "The Garden of Canada" . . . a blossom land overflowing with nature's gifts, where peaches, plums, pears, grapes and cherries come richly in their seasons. Fruit farming is but one of the untold opportunities offered by the four hundred thousand square miles, and more, that are Ontario . . . a veritable empire of resources.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Once upon a time the first sign of spring called for liberal dosings of sulphur and molasses, sassafras tea and other "spring tonics". Now, most homemakers have a speaking acquaintance with vitamins and minerals and know that throughout the year we need generous amounts of the foods which can supply these essential substances. In olden times, the rundown condition from which many people suffered in the spring was actually caused by the winter's faulty diet.

Variety meats such as liver, heart and sweetbreads are an excellent source of protein, minerals and vitamins A and B. Veal and calf liver have gained in table acceptance, but few homemakers realize that beef and pork liver are actually richer in iron.

Here are some tips on preparing liver, whatever the kind, to make it tender, tasty and nourishing.

Skinning: Before cooking, slice skin from pork or mature beef liver. Tender young liver—calf, lamb or baby beef—usually does not need skinning.

Scalding: Scalding improves flavour and helps "set" the juices.

Cooking: Pork liver should be thoroughly cooked and will be more delicate if braised with vegetables or made into a stew or loaf. Broil or saute long enough to take away the red colour.

LIVER LOAF

1 lb. beef liver, 1 medium sized onion, chopped, ½ lb. pork sausage, 1 cup dry bread crumbs, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tbsp lemon juice, 1 tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. celery salt, 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup stock, 4 slices bacon.

Cover liver with hot water; simmer 5 mins. Drain liquid and reserve for stock. Force liver and onion through food chopper, using medium blade. Add remaining ingredients except bacon. Form in loaf in 5½ by 10½ inch pan. Top with bacon strips. Bake in moderate oven (350 degs.) 45 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

RAGOUT OF KIDNEYS

6 lambs' or 4 veal kidneys, salt, pepper, 4 tbsps. fat, ½ tbsp. finely chopped onions, 3 tbsps. flour, 1½ cups hot consomme.

Scald, skin, and soak kidneys 30 mins. in cold water. Slice, sprinkle with salt and pepper, saute 5 mins. in 2 tbsps. fat. Remove to hot dish. Cook onion in remaining fat until brown. Add flour and stock slowly. Bring to boiling point, season, strain, and add kidneys. One half cup of mushroom caps peeled and quartered, may be added.

SAUTEED HEART

Clean, wash, cut in ½ in. slices and soak 1 hour in salted cold water. Sprinkle with flour or crumbs and saute slowly in baking fat (about 15 mins.)

BOILED HEART

Clean hearts. Simmer in water until tender. Split, remove gristle and chop. Season and serve on toast.

SUGGESTIONS FOR USE OF BAKING SODA

1. Use 1 tsp. baking soda with 2 tsps. cream of tartar to 1 pound or 4 cups flour.
2. Curdling of milk in baked dishes, such as scalloped beans, can be avoided by adding ⅛ tsp. soda.
3. Before storing fresh meat in a refrigerator, wipe it with a clean cloth that has been dampened in a solution of baking soda and water. This will remove dried clots and leave meat sweet and clean.
4. Rub meat that has come out of a brine or chilling room with baking soda.
5. Wash lunch pails, cookie jars and bread boxes with soapy water and rinse well with baking soda solution.
6. Every refrigerator should be thoroughly cleaned by washing out with baking soda solution.
7. A package of baking soda should be near the stove in case of a fire in broiling pan or frying pan which can be quickly smothered by soda.
8. When food burns or sticks to pots and pans, fill with water to cover the surface to be cleaned, add a tablespoon of soda and boil the solution.
9. Baking soda is a good detergent but is not abrasive. It can be used to clean glass surfaces, windows, mirrors, bath and basins.
10. Being mildly alkaline, baking soda makes an excellent mouth wash and gargle. It also soothes the membranes of the mouth.
11. To remove odors of onions, fish, etc., from the hands make a paste of baking soda and rub over hands. Let dry for a few minutes, then rinse.
12. Baking soda is an inexpensive medicinal aid—for indigestion, laxative, baby's bath, foot bath or restful bath, teeth, insect bites, baby's rash, baby's bottle or disguising castor oil.

Here is the toast of your friends today: "Health, Wealth and Happiness on life's roadway".
