They can be used for windbreaks, riverbanks or idle land to help prevent soil erosion. Planting will also be provided for an additional eight cents a tree. The minimum order is 700. Those with less than five acres of land can also get assistance from SNRCA in obtaining seedlings from private nurseries. For more information, contact forester Josee Brizard.

Upon arrival, they noticed the front glass door was smashed. Stolen was an empty cash register, valued at $500. If you have any information on this or any crime, call Crime Stoppers toll-free at 1-800-265-TIPS (8477). If your tip leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash reward of up to $1,000. Fair a success despite low turnout

Greg Hewitt

From the pro wrestling to the Holstein Show to the highland dancing, the 63rd edition of the Chesterville Fair this weekend went off without a hitch.

But despite the variety of diversions, organizers of this year's Chesterville Fair are disappointed with attendance.

Chesterville Fair Board president Tony Wouters said the overall program was enjoyed thoroughly by those who attended, but said the fair just didn't draw as well as it should have.

"I think our Fair Board did a fantastic job, everyone did what they were supposed to do, and the weather co-operated to a big extent. But I don't think it was very well attended," he said.

"We were expecting a few more numbers."

Wouters noted that the big events, such as the wrestling Friday night and Mickey Hayes-Hosson & New Country, who entertained Saturday, were excellent shows and were received with enthusiasm by those who did attend.

Wouters said the perennial time conflict with Ottawa's Central Canada Exhibition has proven difficult to compete with, as people are drawn to the Ex's big acts.

"I think we had a real excellent program, all our volunteers were there when we needed them. We were pleased with what we had to offer."

Wouters said major changes in the fair are in the works for next year, as the board will likely cut out the big name entertainment and focus on more local acts as a means of both cutting expenses and drawing the community.

"We're going to keep plugging away and get that magic combination where people will come along," Schoones said, adding that without government grants next year, the

McCloskey to serve 30-day suspension

Liquor infractions found during routine inspection

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Chesterville's McCloskey Hotel will serve a 30-day liquor licence suspension next month after being caught with illegal liquor behind the counter last year.

Liquor licensing infractions were discovered during a routine Liquor Licence Board of Ontario inspection of the Victoria Street establishment in November 1993, when it was discovered that two of three liquor bottles tested were illegal.

Testing showed that a vodka bottle contained citric acid, which is not present in liquor sold at LCBO outlets. Also, a gin bottle, after analysis, was found to contain a brand different than that which appeared on the label.

Under Ontario law, only liquor purchased from the government can be served in Ontario bars. The suspension takes effect September 1 and lasts the entire month.

At an LLBO hearing in May this year, McCloskey Hotel owner and licensee Ivan Merkley argued unsuccessfully that the illegal products were brought into the establishment by an outside party while the bar was unattended.

The board did not accept that as an explanation, saying it had "grave concerns about such an operation wherein the bar is left unattended and accessible by one and all in the area to tamper with if they wish."

In lieu of a liquor licence suspension, Merkley offered to donate an amount equivalent to the lost business a suspension would mean — about $9,000 — to Winchester's Naomi Home for battered women.

But the imposing of fines or other penalties besides licence suspension or revocation in cases of liquor infractions is not within the board's powers.

Lawyer Doug Grenkie, who represented Merkley at the hearing, noted that his client was about to retire from a full-time position to look after the hotel.

LLBO counsel Richard Kulis recommended a licence suspension rather than revocation given that it was the hotel's first liquor infraction.

The board's written ruling, handed down last month, stated deep concern about illegal liquor being brought into licensed premises, describing it as an "extensive problem in the industry."

"The public is entitled to know that any liquor that is served in a licensed establishment has been purchased in a government store. The restriction to purchasing all liquor on the licence through a government store ensures that the product has been fully tested for health hazards as well as ensuring that the appropriate taxes have been paid, allowing the government to provide the public with necessary services," the decision states.

In an interview Thurdsay, Kulis said all liquor licence holders in the province were warned in June 1993 that serving illegal liquor would not be tolerated.

He also said illegal liquor cases have been a priority for the board for the past two years, and that larger offences often carry full liquor licence revocation.

Merkley, when contacted, declined to comment on the matter, and Grenkie is not available for comment.

Details needed in zoning dispute

CHESTERVILLE — The two sides battling over the zoning of a vacant piece of land in the village have taken small but significant steps toward a compromise.

At a public meeting last Wednesday, Harold Edwards, who represents 37 residents who live adjacent to a five-acre parcel of land bordered by South, College, Mary and Queen streets, said the group would accept an R1-X2 zoning, which would allow residential housing but with conditions to be set out before development.

Developer Peter Van Kessel, who owns the land, said he might accept that zoning, but said he was not willing to let the group or the village impose special conditions on the land's development, something which Edwards' group had asked.

"If I can't get the seniors' building, I might accept (mixed), but not the specifications. I want that option on my own, not somebody else's," Van Kessel said.

The public meeting was called to once again seek public input into the village's proposed zoning bylaw. At the meeting, planning consultant Calvin Pol responded to comments and questions that have been received from the Community mourns loss of Jamie Kennedy

Record Staff

Emotion was high Friday as family, friends and a community said goodbye to one of its young and promising members.

Funeral services were held Friday for 20-year-old Jamie Kennedy, who died in hospital last Wednesday from injuries he received in a tragic highway accident August 22 north of Morewood.

Kennedy had been badly injured after the car in which he was a passenger left County Road 7 and struck a hydro pole. He was airlifted to Ottawa General Hospital, where he died Wednesday.

The driver of the car, Cory Van Delst, 20, of RR 3 Chesterville, and passenger Dennis Desormeaux, 19, of Chesterville, received minor injuries in the crash.

Jamie was preparing to return to Lakehead University in Thunder Bay, where he was to enter his second year of science studies. He was an outstanding athlete at North Dundas District High School, from where he graduated in 1992.

In a public thank you to the community for its help and condolences following the tragedy, the Kennedy family described Jamie as having lived life to its fullest, and having touched everyone he knew with his wonderful talents and qualities.

And despite the tragedy and suddenness of his death, the Kennedy family courageously decided to donate Jamies's organs so that others might be helped.

public since the document was first unveiled at a public meeting in June.

In response to the CCC's written submissions, Pol recommended to council that the village zone the property R1-X2, which would allow site-specific conditions to be imposed, and that six semi-detached and six townhouses or a six-unit apartment should be allowed.

"I think there's some negotiating to be done here," Reeve Jim Cook said. But Cook added that the village needs a better idea of what Van Kessel is proposing before any specific details are discussed.

Van Kessel was asked to submit specific plans for his proposal, and planning consultant Calvin Pol recommended that the village have an independent study done of the need for seniors' housing in the downtown core.

The CCC and Van Kessel have been at odds over the zoning of the land for more than a year. The residents say that high-density housing is not consistent with the neighborhood, while Van Kessel says there is a crucial need for seniors' housing in the heart of the village.

Both sides have submitted petitions to the village.

Much of the debate between Van Kessel and those in attendance centred on the need for seniors' housing.

Van Kessel said he was disappointed and surprised there wasn't a delegation of seniors at the meeting demanding seniors' housing. He has proposed a one or two-storey senior's complex for the land.

"I have a demand — I have a lot of seniors that would like an apartment," Van Kessel said. "If I had 20 units I could fill them tomorrow."

Edwards stressed that the CCC is not opposed to development of the land, but opposed only to the building of high-density buildings. He asked that all members of the group be officially notified by the village of any proposed changes in the land's zoning in the future.

Missing signs will cost taxpayers

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE — Winchester Township will have to replace more than a dozen road signs that have been stolen during the past week.

Township roads superintendent Arden Carruthers said 14 signs, including eight yield signs, road name signs and checkerboard dead-end signs went missing in the Nation Valley area of the township.

The signs are valued at between $35 and $60 each, and township taxpayers will have to foot the bill for their replacement, as they are not insured and not covered by government subsidy.

"I don't know who's doing it or why, but they're unbolting them right off the posts and leaving the posts down," an angry Carruthers said.

"It's 100 per cent taxpayers' money that goes into signs."

Carruthers noted that missing signs, especially yield signs, pose a serious safety hazard. At the more dangerous locations, the signs have been replaced.

But the township doesn't keep a stock of road signs, and they have to be ordered, which could take weeks. Also, the roads crew is busy with construction at this time of year, Carruthers said.

Carruthers said he is going to contact police about the thefts, and asks anyone who sees one of the signs to call police or the township.

Signs have also gone missing in Williamsburg Township east of Winchester Springs.

Wet weather helps student workers

Mike Aiken
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Wet weather and a couple of government grant programs helped ease another difficult summer for students.

Agricultural Employment Services manager Margaret Macdonald said there was little change from last year, except for the weather.

"The haying season stretched out a bit, which has helped students," she said, but otherwise numbers were about the same.

With about 100 students employed through the office, 60 were employed on a full-time basis for the summer and another 40 on a casual basis, Macdonald said.

Dundas Human Resources Centre manager Cynthia Whetter said 44 of the 69 students who filed found work, but added many had a hard time finding full-time work.

"It was tough on them," she said. "We had some really good students who weren't able to get full-time work."

Federal government programs, such as the Summer Wage Assistance program, provided some relief for students and employers by offering a $3 an hour wage subsidy this year.

Applications for the $48,000 available locally were quickly filled within days of their announcement in mid-May.

In 1992 and 1993, the provincial government spent $730,000 to create 900 student jobs in agriculture in the province. The program was extended this year to include operations outside of horticulture.

The Canada Employment Centre for Students in Cornwall placed 1,023 students this year, up 24 per cent from last year, when 828 students were placed.

Student employment officer Priscilla Strable said 99 per cent of job vacancies posted were filled.

Figures for the province were about the same as last year, when they hovered around 18 per cent.

The Canadian Federation of students reported 80,000 returning students between the ages of 15 and 24 were out of work, or 18.9 per cent.

In June the number dipped slightly to 73,000, or 15.4 per cent.

Correction:

An August 17 article on the Finch ambulance station said they received 125 calls a year. The figure should be 125 calls a month. The Record regrets the error.

Merchants set for trade fair

CHESTERVILLE — More than 100 merchants will provide one-stop shopping for area residents at this weekend's trade show. For just $2, residents can see merchandise from about 100 merchants at the Chesterville Arena.

"What else can you get for $2," says organizer Donny Wheeler. "You can walk around, see what they all have and the kids can visit the Nestle's display, which always has some good stuff for them."

Last year's show attracted more than 1,000 people, with more than $1,800 in proceeds going towards local business associations.

Two $100 tickets for the Stacy Paul charity draw will be given away as door prizes during the fair. Winners have a one in 400 chance of winning $10,000.

Businesses from Mountain, Morrisburg, Winchester, and Chesterville, as well as area fire departments take part in the show to help advertise their products and services.

Sheldon Shane of Shane Signs has gone a step further by donating a sign to the village of Chesterville worth more than $2,000.

While early booth rentals have been slow, they have started to pick up as the weekend approaches, Wheeler said.

"We always have some trouble, but towards the end things pick up," he said, adding booth rentals were only $22 for the weekend, $35 for a corner booth. "It was slow last year but it picked up at the end."

The show has run in both Chesterville and Winchester over the last five years, with arena rental fees waived for the event.

JAMES MICHAEL KENNEDY
(JAMIE) AGE 20

The family of Jamie Kennedy would like to express their sincere thanks to the community for all the help over the past week following Jamie's tragic accident. The floral tributes, mass cards, memorial donations, sympathy cards, food, the assistance at home and above all the sharing of our grief at the hospital, wake and funeral by so many true friends, will always be treasured by us.

We have come to appreciate, over the past few days, the sincerity of Jamie's friends in the universal sentiment that his infectious smile, laughing eyes, eternal optimism and delight in life itself will live on in them throughout this earthly existence we share.

Jamie was special. He had so many wonderful talents and qualities. He was strong and exceedingly fleet of foot. He was an outstanding athlete, a very successful student pursuing a promising university education, with bright prospects for a career in teaching. He lived life to the fullest and enjoyed every second of being with us.

Jamie was loved by all from early childhood to university. Everyone Jamie met he touched with his special spirit. We all have a piece of him, some more than others such as his donor recipients.

The impish grin, the good natured mischievousness, the ability to relate to children...Jamie, how are we to go on living now that you are gone?

The miracle of life is a message of which Jamie has reminded us all. We cannot reverse his death, but we shall remember him and the joy he brought to our lives. We can honour him by promoting those same values he sought to achieve through our lives and those of our children. We mourn his passing and are heartbroken by it, but we owe it to him to celebrate his life.

We will remember the good times with him, and may his spirit and memory live with us and through us for the rest of our days. Let us thank God for the time that he was here with us.

Sincere thanks to all,

Bryan, Helen,
Kerry, Jason and Rebecca

Stormont Fair begins with demolition derby

It will be just one of many attractions planned, says Stormont Agricultural Society president Murray MacDonald.

"The members have once again planned many attractions for all to enjoy," he said in his message to fair goers.

Scheduled events include baby contests, talent shows, livestock competitions and demonstrations.

This year the fair board singled out two members who have passed on for special recognition.

"We would like to thank Margaret Duvall and Lynn Bancroft for the contributions they have made to the fair and their communities," MacDonald says. "They are no longer with us, but we will always remember their encouragement and help."

The demolition derby gets under way at 7:30 p.m., with an opening day parade Saturday. It departs from Newington Public School Saturday at 12:30. Parade entrants are instructed to assemble at the school yard a half-hour early for judging.

This year's theme will follow the international year of the family, with points awarded for originality, construction, relevance to the theme and overall appearance.

Other events on Saturday include a fastball tournament, beginning at 9 a.m., heavy horse show at 10 a.m., Anthony Lee the illusionist at 1:30 and a talent show at 7 p.m., following the youth dance.

Fairgoers can ride the midway all day on Sunday for $8. At 1 p.m., the horseshoe tournament and baby contest will get underway, as well as the model airplane show.

Monday's highlights include 4-H day, with cattle judging and horse jumping. A light horse show gets underway at 10 a.m. and a horse drawing competition at noon.

The finals of the fastball tournament are scheduled for 1:30 p.m., with children's storytime, face painting and puppet show to follow.

A display honoring the 50th anniversary of the Stormont Agricultural office is also planned, with former representatives and long-time residents invited to reminisce.

Many of their stories will be included in a book, which promises to be full of local color.

Admission for Friday's derby will be $7 for adults, with children under 10 admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

For the rest of the weekend, admission will be $5 for adults, with a weekend pass for all four days $18. Children under 10 are admitted free of charge.

EDITORIAL & OPINION

EDITORIAL

Growing pains

The lineup was jam-packed with entertainment of all sorts. The weather co-operated, and it's a safe assumption that almost everyone who attended this year's Chesterville Fair enjoyed their visit.

The problem was, there were not as many people at the fair as there should have been.

The Chesterville Fair, 63 years in the making, has perhaps been caught by the changing times and changes in the public's recreational habits.

In promoting the annual event, fair organizers use the expression "something for everyone" until they're blue in the face, but they're right.

If anyone saw the diversity of what was offered over the weekend, it was the Chesterville Record. One minute, a goat show was in the camera lens, and in the next minute, a seniors' bridge and euchre tournament. Or a wrestling spectacle, or a martial arts demonstration. The list goes on and on. From culture to agriculture, sports to music, rides to magic.

There's no question that the fair is first-rate, and capable of entertaining even the most discriminating of consumers.

But in the Record this week, fair organizers say very frankly that they are disappointed with attendance this year. It wasn't a total disaster, but disappointing nonetheless.

Some events, like the wrestling and Holstein Show Friday and Highland Dancing and Casey Jones performance Sunday, were well attended. And just about every event, regardless of crowd size, was thoroughly enjoyed by those who did attend.

It's hard to pin down exactly why those who didn't attend this year didn't attend.

The time conflict with Ottawa's Ex is obviously a factor to consider, perhaps the economy.

But it's going to be a difficult task for fair organizers to sit down and decide where changes are necessary, to have to monkey with a fair that has developed over the years into one of the best in eastern Ontario.

But with a realistic approach and the same dedication shown year after year, they'll hopefully, as Fair Board President Tony Wouters put it, find that magic combination that will draw the public.

OFF THE RECORD

Cowslips and Cowflops redux

By Robin Morris
Dubious Achievements Editor

Well Gentle Reader, we're back in the saddle after a week in Virginia Beach where de fambly and I were engaged in a research project for your edification and elucidation. Are there no lengths to which I will not go; no extremes of temperature and ozone depletion to which I will subject the young lads; no end to the all you can eat seafood buffets to which the whole family is exposed, so that these experiences can be shared with you? Nominate me for a Nobel Peace Prize, a Vanier Institute of the Family Cordon Bleu or an Albert Schweitzer Humanitarian Award if you must, but know that I would do it all over again simply in the knowledge that the fog has parted slightly and you are able to see distant places in a clearer light.

My research on Virginia Beach is not yet complete, so deeply did we delve into the place, so we offer you this week a continuation of the Cowslips and Cowflops that we began on the day before our departure.

A Cowflop to municipalities that permit banks on busy intersections to install automated teller machines (ATMs, to use a TLA - three letter acronym) without considering the effects they have on traffic flow, particularly in small towns. The ATM is designed to cut the bank's costs at the same time giving customers expanded access to their cash, all in the name of convenience. But one person's convenience is another's inconvenience especially when some thoughtless lout wheels around a corner and stops, leaving three or four feet of his vehicle (usually a half-ton) sticking out into the intersection, all for the sake of just popping in to use the ATM. Meanwhile, you're trying to make a right hand turn into the westbound lane at a busy intersection and your view of eastbound traffic is completely blocked by the cap on the lout's pick-up. In order to make your perfectly legal right hand turn on a red, you must take a chance by swinging into the opposite lane and executing a turn as if you were driving an 18-wheeler, which, because of its articulated construction and length, is forced to make wide right turns. Did this, you ask, recently happen to me? How did you guess? There I was, stuck beside a bank which shall remain nameless but whose initials are RB of C, when the Halfton Halfwit of the Week parked his red and silver GM Sierra Grande 4x4, leaving the x4 blocking the intersection while he ran inside, oblivious to the inconvenience he was causing those members of the more law-abiding motoring public. After a light change, the HHOW climbed back into his cab, swung away from the curb and promptly made a left into an all-but vacant parking lot directly across the street! He then proceeded to circumvent the red light on his northbound street by driving through a convenience store parking lot and ended up stopping about a hundred yards distant, across from a hardware store. Talk about urban planning gone awry.

******

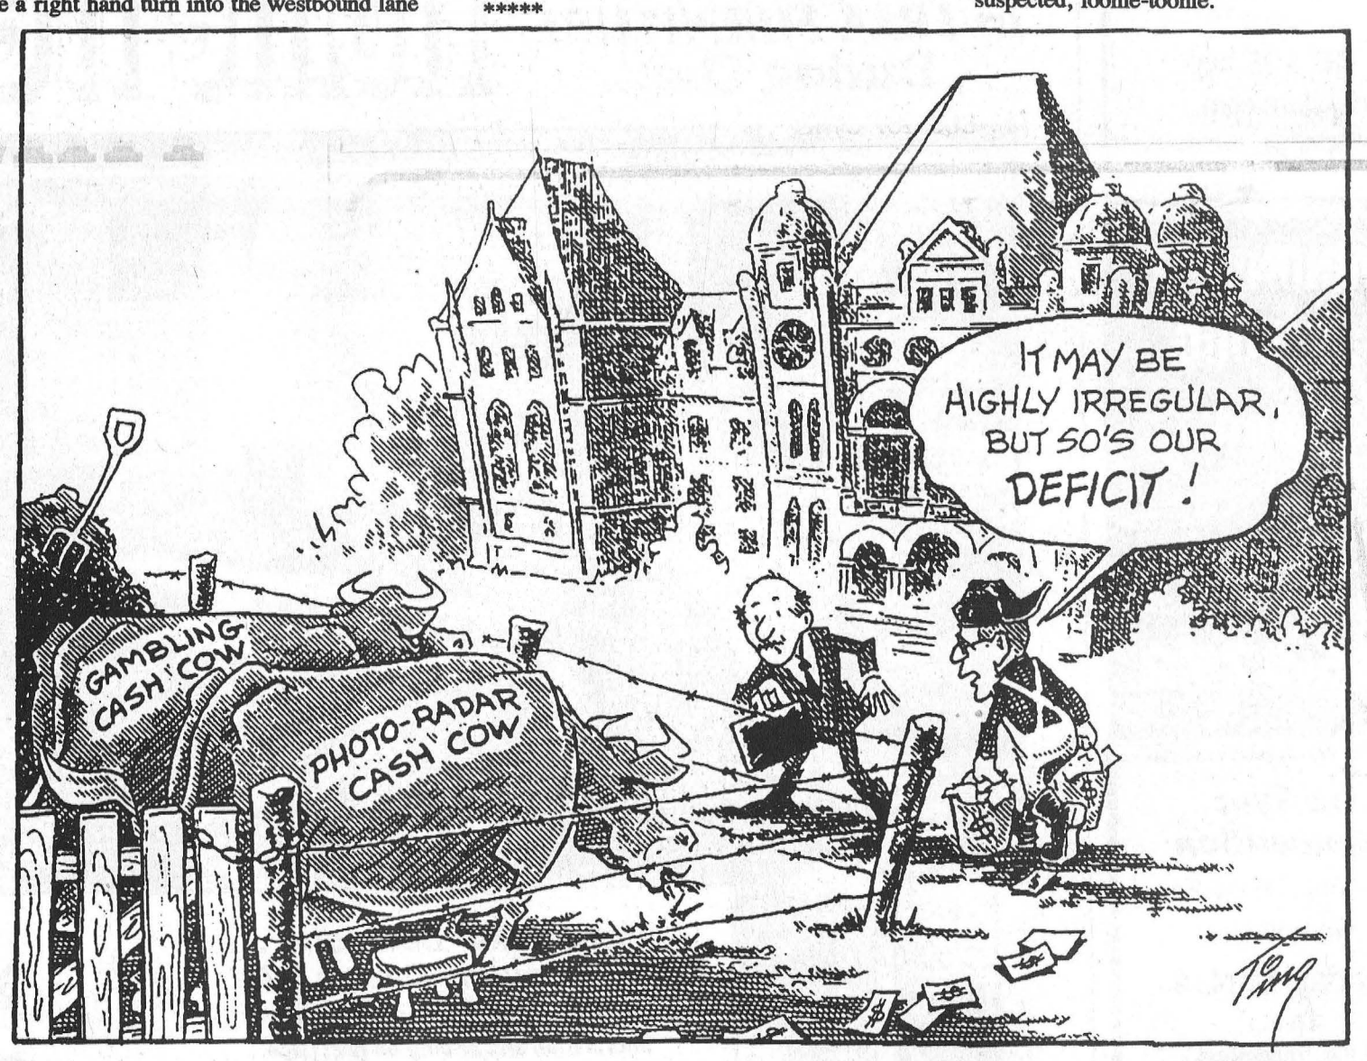
I'm all but winded after that lengthy bout of dyspepsia, but here goes again: A Cowflop for those annoying radio ads about Budweiser beer. The announcer proudly tells us that the swill is brewed in Canada, has five per cent alcohol and doesn't taste like its American making love in a canoe cousin. So why bother to call it Bud, bud? Why not call it Just Another Rip Off of a Famous American Brand for Those Whose Taste Buds Were Nipped in the Bud and leave it at that.

******

And while we're at it, a Cowflop to the chairman of the Brewer's Retail who was quoted recently in an Ottawa newspaper that the Beer Store won't sell individual bottles or cans of beer because somebody might pop the top and drink it right away. Instead, the government-authorized monopoly forces you to buy a minimum of six containers thereby keeping up its gallonage, all in the interest (yeah right) of stopping the rogue suds quaffer from opening that one can of cold beer. If the Beer Store is so concerned about the consumption of One Bottle of Beer, then why doesn't the BR chairman call his pal over at the LCBO and find out how and why it got into the practice of selling individual cans and bottles of refrigerated beer. After all, do you have to buy Crown Royal by the six? Where is it written that retailing beer in multiples of six will cut down on illicit consumption. Let's say you only have a couple of bucks in your pocket, just enough for one bottle of Brown Pop. You go to the Beer Store only to be turned away in the same attitude that asks if you put on clean underwear this morning and did you leave the refrigerator door open. But, you can nip on down to one of many LCBO outlets that has individual cans of nicely chilled European brews and for about a buck-seventy, your thirst will not only be slaked but you'll have enough left to buy a Popsicle for the kids to split when you get home.

******

And in closing a Cowslip to the federal government for suggesting that the two-dollar bill be replaced by a coin. The one-dollar coin is the loonie. May we humbly suggest that the two-dollar coin be dubbed the toonie. In combination these would accurately describe federal monetary policy as being what we have all long suspected, loonie-toonie.



THE FARMER'S WIFE

By Wyn Thompson

In late summer one of my favorite wildflowers comes into its own, the goldenrod.

Now, it seems Victorian ladies did not dignify the common goldenrod of the fields by naming it as one of their favorite flowers. Nor did they consider planting it in their gardens.

But, goldenrod is much more valued in Europe than it is here at home. It is one of our native plants that was taken across the ocean to be planted in the finest European gardens.

There are several kinds of goldenrod, and in August and September, they fling forth their feathery golden plumes to accompany the purple Eastern Ontario asters. These dramatic plants harmonize with the other brilliant colors of the season.

Goldenrod does comes up each year wherever it can establish itself despite the best efforts of the Farmer. But my, how useful it is to those who like to dye their own yarns for spinning and weaving and to flower-arrangers for dried bouquets.

I never think of goldenrod but I think of hummingbirds. The reason they go hand in hand with me is that it is at this time of year we have large populations of hummingbirds at our feeders, sipping long and deep at the sweet water.

Of course, I do nurture flowers that attract them and when I see them totally immersed in a hollyhock blossom, I think of Ralph Waldo Emerson who said,

"Seeing only what is fair,
Sipping only what is sweet."

This incredibly little bird —the smallest of all birds —is part of a large family, but the ruby-throated hummingbird is known on the East coast of North America.

It leaves us in September, about the middle of the month, to spend the winter with several of its cousins in Mexico and Central America.

How it can fly two thousand miles or more, about five hundred miles of which is over the open water of the Gulf of Mexico is a mystery. But, it is believed that although he weighs only about as much as a dime, he can stoke up, storing food and energy for this long flight by eating well beforehand, of the best-known energy producing food, honey from the flowers, and protein from the millions of tiny bugs it devours.

I have read that a hummingbird will visit from one thousand to two thousand flowers a day, as well as eating many small insects which it catches in the air.

The ruby-throat is never more dazzling than when he is courting his lady-love. His courtship ritual is great fun to watch. As the lady of his choice sits on a little branch of a cedar tree outside my kitchen window, he flies back and forward in front of her, like a jewelled pendant swinging on an invisible wire. He dives and loops through the air in magnificent maneuvers.

He changes direction in a flash, he hovers in the air, all the better to let her admire him. He utters little high-pitched cries, as he courts or feeds. The fast movement of his wings creates the humming sound which is the reason for his name. You usually hear him before you see him.

He is not a responsible spouse, for after the mating he goes off to sip honey at a pretty flower or perhaps even to find another lady, leaving the job of building the nest, incubating the eggs, and rearing the young to the female.

I find it fascinating that hummingbirds get along well with people, so long as they are not disturbed. If I decide to put out fresh sweet water when they wish to feed, they think nothing at dive bombing me, so I always make sure I'm wearing my straw hat.

They don't get on well with other birds, not even their own kind. They are brave but jealous and will fearlessly attack larger birds, like goldfinch, if they dare to sit on the cross-arm holding the sweet water.

For entertainment value, it is great fun to provide feeders of sweet water on your lawn to attract hummingbirds. There is constant coming and going at our feeders each summer from early May to mid-September.

The Farmer said he has never seen a hummingbird come near our bird bath, but they will often fly through the arc of the lawn sprinkler. Legend has it that a hummingbird brings good luck. That's for sure, for it is good luck indeed just to have one near so you can watch its wonderful flight patterns, its dainty sipping of sweet water, its magnificent coloring when caught in the rays of the sun.

On one of our junkets this summer, we spent some time perusing a Guiding display depicting the story of Guiding from its inception. And the changes in the uniform, for both girls and leaders!

We have two Guides in the family and were reminded that they are part of the biggest family in the world, with girls in 118 countries. Of course, this is a special year for Guides as 1994 is the International Year of the Family. I just wish all girls could have the opportunity to be Guides.

One of our other side-trips this summer was to spend a few days in the capital city, house- sitting. As the job was not strenuous, we were able to explore once again the loveliest city in the world. Or so it seems to me.

Now as August draws to a close the evenings are cool. Autumn is in the air. The signs are small, but unmistakable, for summer is already walking the path to yesterday.

But, we have no complaints, it has been a grand one.

School boards re-hire teachers

Mike Aiken
Record Staff

CORNWALL — All 107 contract teachers laid off by local school boards last spring are expected to be rehired.

Public school board superintendent Marc Schaefer said as many as 18 new teachers may be added to fill spaces left by those retiring or on leave.

Last May, the SD&G board of education sent layoff notices to 65 contract teachers, while another 42 were sent to contract teachers with the Catholic School Board.

An additional 10 teachers will be needed at the public board's nine high schools, where some growth in enrolment is taking place, and another seven or eight at 29 elementary schools, said Schaefer.

More than 20 staff members elected not to return for the coming school year.

The board has about 800 teachers on staff, with more than 400 employed in high schools.

The assistant director of the Catholic School Board, Linda Wilson, said all of its teachers who wanted to be rehired were able to find positions for the fall.

Restaurant owners say kids are alright

To the Editor:

Re: Chesterville's destructive youths

We are so quick to tar all the young with the same brush. The acts of destruction by a small few, and not all are the sons and daughters of Chesterville people, stand out in everyone's mind. The majority of young in town are very good kids who for lack of a place to go are observed downtown.

I'm talking from experience because at the Heritage Cafe we put 3 picnic tables beside the restaurant, we received numerous pieces of advice that they would be destroyed. But to the surprise of the skeptics and to my pleasure the tables were not damaged although well used and even more was the food that the garbage was placed in the garbage can and even the ash trays were used.

So I thank all you bad kids and the tables will be back for your use as long as we're in business.

Yours truly,
Howard and Isobel Smith

Congratulations to fair board

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the executive and directors of Chesterville and District Agricultural Society who organized and, along with many other volunteers, put on a very successful fall fair last weekend.

For those who did not attend —too bad! You missed some great entertainment. From the midway, to exhibits and demonstrations, cattle, horses, goats and 4-H shows, to highland dancing and acrobatics, everything was top quality. And all for the price of a $6 gate admission —money well spent. My only complaint —it was not possible to be in two places at one time.

Thank you for all your hard work and your determination to include all age groups. Your efforts are appreciated.

63rd Chesterville Fair entertains small but enthusiastic crowds

fair's budget will have to be looked at carefully.

Teen Pro and Midget Wrestling set up under the grandstand Friday to a small but excited crowd. The wrestlers taunted the audience, yelled in agony and literally bent over backwards with a selection of well-choreographed but entertaining moves.

The wrestlers, of all shapes and sizes, deflected good-natured insults from a young and enthused audience. The 'good guys' and 'bad guys' were immediately distinguishable. A brief downpour during the act didn't dampen the young spectators' spirits.

"The people that were there really enjoyed it. The parents and kids were screaming and yelling, just like on TV," Wouters said, adding that the band Saturday was "excellent," even though few attended the dance.

The Gym Masters wowed a small crowd in front of the grandstand on a windy Sunday afternoon with a variety of acrobatic stunts including their trademark human pyramids, involving several local youngsters in the act.

Stronger crowds enjoyed the baby show, fitness and Jiu Jitsu demonstrations in the arena, as well as 'mentalist' Casey Jones, who had about 15 audience members under his spell.

Fair Board past-president Martin Schoones said he expected a bigger crowd Saturday, when perfect weather graced the event.

"I thought we had lots to show people, but I guess we're not getting the word out," he said. "Maybe the competition with the Ex is just too much and we're not getting the Ottawa people coming this way."

Schoones noted that the pancake breakfast Sunday, Casino Saturday and all the agricultural shows like the Holstein and goat shows were well attended.

Also, the number of concession booths under the grandstand was up over last year. The number of exhibits entered was also strong.

IN MEMORIAMS

MELDRUM - In loving memory of a dear husband and father Claude, who passed away August 29, 1988.
It's already six years since you left us here on earth,
But you've never left our hearts and minds.
Always remembered by, Edna, Gerald and Sharon

IN MEMORIAM
DECOOMAN - In memory of my best friend Pete, who left Sept. 3, 1993 at the age of 19.
You changed my life, that's for sure, just as I know I changed yours. You showed me how to live, carefree and happy, while I taught you how to love.
It didn't matter what anyone else thought, as you'd say, "Who cares?" I miss talking with you, laughing, being silly, your magic touch, your way with words.
Death is a natural part of life –just wish it wasn't a part of mine. I never realized how fragile life really is. Enjoy life for it is far too short.
Though I've found someone special and new, your picture remains framed in my room. I'll never forget you. The memories will stay forever. Nobody can ever take them away. I miss you so much.
Love, Hazel

IN MEMORIAM
DECOOMAN - In loving memory of a dear son and brother Peter, who passed away Sept. 3, 1993.
He is gone but not forgotten,
And, as dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies in the heart concealed.
Always remembered, Ed, Debbie and Melissa

Hallville Trojans finish with WLBL pennant, Selects second

WINCHESTER—Victories over the Mountain Bootleggers and Shoneroy Splinters last week were enough to give the Hallville Trojans the 1994 Winchester Lob Ball League pennant.

Last Wednesday the Trojans tripped up the Bootleggers 24-8 and Thursday edged Shoneroy 12-11 to finish the regular season with an impressive 13-1-0.

It seems a little strange to see the defending champion Chesterville Selects in second place but a 10-4-0 record leaves them number two.

Should the Shoneroy Splinters win their final two games they could tie Chesterville with 20 points. The Splinters currently hold third place with an 8-4-0 record.

Hallville, Chesterville and the Legion 108 Royals (5-9-0) have all played their 14 regular season games. Mountain (13), Morewood (13) and the Hansma Old Boys (13) each have one left while Shoneroy and Taplen (1-11-0) have two dates left on their schedules.

Hallville got a two-run homer and four runs out of Terry Richardson in their 24-8 win over Mountain. Bill Hummell also crossed the plate four times. John Patterson and Mike Patrick each supplied three runs. Dwayne Backes and Andre Beaulne each supplied a pair of runs for the Bootleggers, who didn't score their first run until the fourth inning.

Bill Hummell homered and scored three runs, including the winner in the seventh as Hallville nipped Shoneroy 12-11 last Thursday. John Patterson also hit one out for the winners. Darrell Shelp sparked the Splinters scoring four times, belting three homers and driving in seven runs. Chuck Verhoeven, Neil Bartholomew and Leo Vanderlaan each scored twice.

TWO FOR VIKES

The Morewood Vikings, in spite of playing shorthanded won a pair of games beating the Legion Royals 26-24 and Taplen 14-10.

Dan McMahon led the attack in Monday's win over Taplen scoring four times. Chris McKibbon added three. Gerald Eby crossed the plate six times in the Vikings 26-24 win over the Royals. Brian Como belted a pair and Paul Sobering a three-run shot. Simon Buaman supplied five runs. Mark Armstrong hit a pair of "dingers" for the Royals while Doug Winters and Barry Exner scored three runs each. The Legion pushed nine runs across in the sixth but went down in order in the seventh and lost by five.

ONE RUN

The Hansma Old Boys came out on the winning end of a rare one run, 3-2 decision when they edged the Legion last week.

Garth Hansma and Roy Hansma scored in the first inning. Wayne Hunter made it 3-0 in the third and his run held up. Mark Patterson cut the Legion deficit to 3-1 with a solo homer in the fourth. Fern Gauvreau made it a 3-2 final when he doubled and scored on a Mark Armstrong double in the seventh.

The Shoneroy Splinters posted a 16-14 decision over Taplen Construction on Monday night. Second run homers by Rick Grisel, Kent McMillan, Chuck Verhoeven and Wally Vandekemp gave the Splinters an early 9-0 lead.

Jeff Tibben cracked a "grand salami" in the Legion sixth but it wasn't enough.

League champions

Flyers win opener against Blues

CHESTERVILLE—Playing inspired ball hockey the Frog's Co-operators Insurance Flyers roared to an 11-3 win over the Legion 108 Blues here Monday night.

The victory opened the C/WMBHL best of three championship series and left the underdog Flyers with the opportunity to sweep the set with a win in game two tonight, Aug. 31.

The Flyers and Blues opened the game observing a moments silence for Flyers forward Jamie Kennedy who passed away following a traffic accident last week.

The Flyers also were wearing black armbands in honor of their teammate and seemed determined to win the title for him.

Sparked by Todd Marcellus' three goal - four assit effort the Flyers jumped into a 4-1 first period lead. They were up 9-1 after 40 minutes and 10-1 before the Blues were able to score their second goal of the game.

Marcellus' seven points jacked his play-off total to 20 points. He has now scored eight times and drawn 12 assists in just four games.

Cory VanDelst, joining the Flyers for this final series, chipped in two goals and four helpers.

Jeff Holmes scored twice and set up three goals. Defenceman Jeff Hyndman had four points on two goals and two assists. Shawn Clark added a pair and drew and assist. Mike Desormeaux (2) and Chad Simpson picked up assists.

Pat Brugmans, subbing for Dennis Desormeaux posted the win. Clint holmes and Simon Wilson weren't in the Flyers' lineup.

Rob Raistrick and Ray Sherrer each had a goal and one assist for the Blues. Jamie Whitteker notched the other marker. Aaron Sherrer, Jerry Gibson and Troy Helmer collected assists.

Winchester Lasers zap combines for championship

WINCHESTER—Coach Gary Johnson says he is proud of the way his team came through in the crunch to win the 1994 16 and Under League soccer championship.

"I've been around the sport for 25 years and there is as much talent on this team as I've seen in sometime. They all played very well," the coach explained.

Winchester and the Osgoode/Rideau/Metcalfe Combines tied for first place over the regular schedule compiling 9-1-0 records but the Combines got top spot because of a better goals against average.

In the league championship tournament the Combines edged the Lasers on penalty kicks to win the opening game.

Winchester then defeated Russell to move on to a rematch with the Combines for the championship. Winchester prevailed by a 3-1 count. Matt Dean paced the champs with a two-goal effort. Ryan Holmes booted in the other and split the goalkeeping duties with Ryan Filion.

Matt Dean led Winchester's offence netting four goals in the three tourney matches.

Winning team cards 34 in tourney

WILLIAMSBURG—Cedar Glen Ladies' Night participants abandoned regulation golf this week for a best ball tournament, with Norma McIntosh, Berneice Whitteker, Sharon Whitteker and Brenda Brunt teaming up for a 34 and first low gross.

The foursome of Elke Brown, Shirley Belanger, Nancy Warner and Barb Douglas won second low gross with a 37.

Joyce Gove, Marie Shelp and Lee Moore rounded out the winners with a 38.

Last Thursday night, it was back to regular golf for men, with Sid Bird's 37 taking low gross in "A" class and Gary McMillan's 38 taking second low gross. First low net went to Dean McIntosh with a 32.5, while Johnny Morrow's 33 gave him second low net.

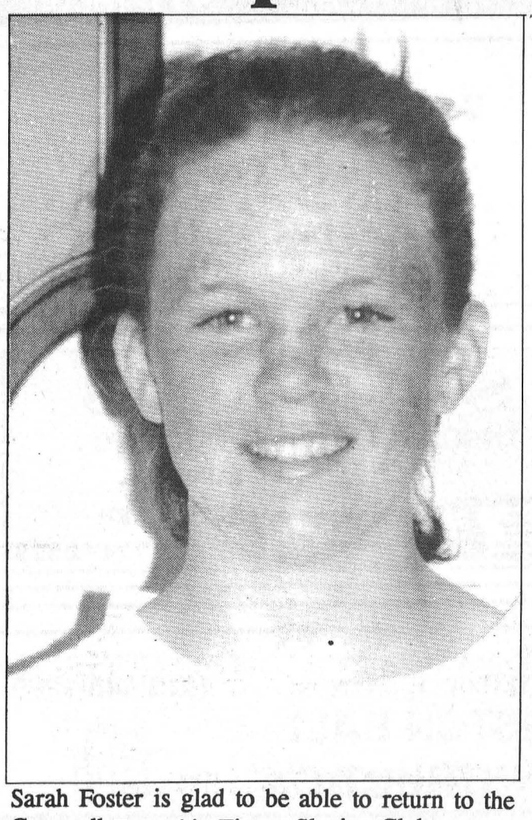
"B" class golfers burned up the course, with first and second low gross going to golfers who finished in the 30s. Neville Vincent carded a 37 on back holes, while Al Thompson had a 39. Darrell Shelp won first low net with a 24.5, and Steve McIntosh took second with a 31.5.

In "C" class, Nick Theodosiou and Bill Collins both came in with 42's, but Theodosiou took first low gross on back holes. Paul Lacombe's 29.5 gave him first low net, while George Bloom won second low net with a 31.

Joe Cass captured first low gross in "D" class with a 48. Jim Cook finished in second spot with a 53. Net prizes went to Jack Faulkner for his 30.5 and Jamie Whitteker for his 34.

David Casselman won long drive competition, while Paul Lacombe and Johnny Morrow both won prizes in the closest to the pin competitions.

Competition - who needs it! I want to coach



Sarah Foster is glad to be able to return to the Cornwall Township Figure Skating Club.

What started out as a way of fixing a birth defect has now become a way of life for Long Sault's Sarah Foster.

When Sarah was 7 years old her parents knew there was something different about her, primarily in the way she walked - she had no balance. The doctor said her hip muscles were underdeveloped and suggested she start ice skating to build her hip muscles.

That was 11 years ago and Sarah is still skating.

While skaters brave the frigid winter mornings to practice before school in hopes of obtaining world class competitive status, Sarah too heads to the rink before sunup but not to be the skater with the most gold medals.

Sarah hits the ice every day and trains just as hard as a competitive skater in hope of one day being a coach.

"Right from the start when I really got into skating, I didn't want to go into competitions. I wanted to coach," says Sarah, who has the intelligence, athletic ability and drive to achieve whatever she wants.

"The coach she has now (Cindy Cassell) says she could be a real competitive skater," her mother, Val, quickly added.

Sarah is modest when it comes to her accomplishments, on and off the ice, leaving it up to her mother to boast about her only daughter's accomplishments.

When Sarah manages to get a bit of spare time she spends it drawing.

"She's very talented in that area. It has been suggested that she pursue a professional art career but she couldn't get into an art program because of skating," her mother said.

Of all the famous skaters and coaches to idolize, Sarah opts for Josee Chouinard. It is, however, quite obvious those who have had the greatest impact on her life are those who surround her on a daily basis.

"My first coach, Karin (Metcalf) Poapst coached me for my first five years that I skated. She thought (me getting into coaching) was a good idea," Sarah said.

Her mother tells a slightly different version as to why Sarah wanted to get into coaching.

"From the time she was eight, she said 'I want to be just like Karin.'"

Another person who has had a tremendous amount of influence on Sarah's skating career is her best friend Tara Millward.

"Sarah wore Tara's skates for years. She's followed Tara through the ranks," Val adds.

While Tara is currently trying to crack the national competitive circuit, Sarah is working her way through her coaching certifications, which includes Can Figure Skate, so she can go to Trent University to pursue a teaching degree.

"I'd like to put myself through university and when I go I hope to find a coaching job," she said.

Looking back on Sarah's accomplishments one might almost forget she is just 15 years old. But giving up the things normal teenagers get to do doesn't seem to bother this spunky red-headed freckled face athlete.

"A boy asked her out last year and she had to say no because she skated Friday night, worked on Saturday and skated on Sunday," Val explained.

That boy may not have been very understanding but her family and the rest of her friends are. After all, her brother is also an instructor and Val's office is right in the arena.

"You have to give up a lot, especially in sports and school until the end of the (skating) year...because practices are after school," said Val.

Sarah, however, does not seem to mind giving those things up.

"I don't think there are any bad things (about skating). It's a lot of fun because I know everybody and I'm friends with everybody," she explained.

It seems that nothing can slow this ice princess down. Last year the Cornwall Township Figure Skating Club had no arena.

Sarah skated out of Cardinal and Prescott last year when the Long Sault arena, which was originally built in 1958 by Hydro, was torn down because of an extremely leaky roof. Not to mention the fact that it would be twice as cold in the arena, than outside, on the coldest day of the year.

KEMPTVILLE - It may still be summer outside, but the people of Kemptville were gearing up for the winter this past weekend.

Kemptville held its third annual Sno Show that was once again a success.

"It's (the Kemptville show) comparable to the Markham Sno Show in the fall. It's Markham quality but on a smaller scale, explained one of the organizers, Ray Beddard.

"This show is for anybody who loves the snow," he said.

And there definately seems to be a lot more Canucks getting used to, and actually trying to enjoy the infamous Canadian winter.

"The show went over very well...We had 1,445 people attend. That's 350 more than last year," noted Beddard.

The show offered snowmobilers everything from vacation packages to antique snowmobiles.

"The clothing distributor was new. It enhanced the show a lot and it gave people something more to look at. People responded very well to it being there," Beddard said.

"The show basically gave people (ideas of) things to do in the winter without going south."

Avonmore throws in towel early

Cloudy water forces pool closure

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

AVONMORE - The summer is not quite over but it is for the Avonmore pool.

After spending most of the summer trying to correct a water discoloration problem, the chairpeople of the Avonmore pool have decided to throw in the towel.

"We've had a problem on and off all summer keeping the water ungreen - keeping it blue. There were problems with chemical balance and keeping it (the water) from being cloudy," explained co-chairman Annette McRae.

Complaints from parents, general frustration and an order from a Cornwall pool inspector led to the closure last week.

"We just felt that what we were doing in other years was not working this year," said McRae.

McRae added that this is not an unusual occurrance.

"Every year pools experience this - microorganisms changing and increasing while the chemicals change."

Although the water looked very uninviting, according to McRae, its quality was always perfect.

"It's been safe all along. The water was tested regularily like all other pools," she said.

The exact cause of the continual reappearance of the cloudy water is unknown.

"You can't put your finger on one specific thing and say that's it," McRae added, "it is a chemical inbalance coming from (patrons coming from) different pools, the environment and acid rain."

Until the end of the swimming season, Moose Creek pool will honour all Avonmore pool pass owners.

For those who wish to make up missed lessons due to the pool closure please contact Annette McRae at 346-2616 to make further arrangements.

Thunder loses its boom in P.E.I.

Kemptville 'licking its wounds' after poor showing at Worlds

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

KEMPTVILLE - The Kemptville Thunder can say they were there, but not much more.

The Thunder were among 48 teams from across

North America participating in the World Softball Championships held in Summerside P.E.I..

The Thunder won one of tree games. They beat Shelbyville, Indiana 2-0.

"We didn't do very well," said Thunder's general manager, Paul Sheard.

They lost 7-2 against Aurora, Illinois and 5-3 to Abbotsford, B.C..

It was the experience not the number of wins that mattered.

"Our season is over now and we are packing our bags, licking our wounds and getting ready for next year," explained Sheard.

Hoffman, O'Brien winners at Speedway

Delayed Coca-Cola race finally run

Special to the Record

CORNWALL - Doug Hoffman won an endurance test and Cornwall Motor Speedway's 75-lap "Coca-Cola Classic" on Sunday, Aug. 28th, while Danny O'Brien drove away with the Big Block Track Championship, courtesy of a second place finish.

Hoffman, out of Allentown, Pennsylvania, driving for the Corwall-based Sheldon Legue Racing team, played 'bump and run' in the second turn of lap-61, to get past O'Brien and speed away to his second 75-lap victory of the season in Cornwall. He also visited Victory Lane in the "Spring Nationals" on June 9th.

"I feel real bad for Danny the way I got past him," said Hoffman, who collected $4,000 for the win.

"There was an opening there and I went for it but it closed really fast and we came together pretty hard," added Hoffman, who also won Saturday night on the asphalt in Flemington, New Jersey.

Hoffman had lined up 14th in a 29-car field and was patient in the early going. He finally pulled alongside O'Brien on a lap-34 restart.

O'Brien still enjoyed a productive evening. Runner-up status nailed down the Big Block Modified Track Championship for the 26 year old Kingston driver.

The title carries with it a $3,000 (U.S.) prize from McCreary tires. O'Brien also pocketed $2,500 from the race and an extra $1,000 for winning the "Canadian Tire Five-Star Shootout", which is a special 5-lap bonus race among the five previous modified feature winners this season.

Luke Plante placed third in the 75-lapper. He trailed O'Brien by just four points for the track crown heading into the evening.

Rounding out the 10 were Cornwall's Steven MacDonald, Brian Herne of Hogansburg, NY, Tim Fuller of Edwards, NY, Laurent Ladouceur of Alexandria, Ont. and Rick Cauvier of South Mountain, Ont.

There were just three leaders in a race interrupted by 14 cautions. Polesitter MacDonald was passed by O'Brien on lap-10.

A mix of 30 big and small block modifiers were in the pits with qualifying heat wins recorded by O'Brien, Ladouceur, Rick Wilson of Joyceville, Ont. and Kyle Jacobs of Hogansburg, NY.

Ovide Doiron of Alexandria, Ont. took a 10-lap consi that completed the starting grid.

Sylvain Latulippe topped a 20-car field to win the 25-lap Sportsman division feature. The victory earned the St. Clet, Que. driver a berth of a 100- lap feature in Granby, Que. on Sept. 10th.

It was the second win of the weekend for Latulippe, who nabbed the checkers Saturday night at Frogtown Speedway, near Hogansburg, NY.

Chris Jones of Demorestville, Ont. and Brian Billings of Merrickville, Ont. were second and third followed by Quebec runners Alain Beliveau of Granby and Mario Clair of Drummondville.

Chris Herbison of Brockville, Ont. emerged victorious in the 100-lap Street Stock feature followed by Leon Delormier of Cornwall Island, Ont. and Stephane Brisson of St. Albert, Ont.

Crysler Midget and Pee Wee champs

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

CRYSLER - Crysler's Midget Girls Softball team are singing 'We are the champions' for the first time since entering the league.

Crysler beat Winchester in two straight games with scores of 19-1 and 16-4 to take the Seaway Valley Midget Girls Softball League title.

"They are a very together team," explained coach Christena Yelle.

"They play very well together as a team and they know where each other are (on the field)," added Yelle.

One reason for them being such a tough collective unit to play against is because the core of them have played together since they were kids.

"Most of these girls have been together for eight years...most of them (also) come from the same school," explained Yelle.

Crysler ended its fourth regular season with an impressive 11-1 record. Yelle gives much of the credit to the athletic ability of her team, especially that of pitchers Lisa Chabot and Christine Bancroft.

"They're an extremely talented group of athletes," she said.

For such a young team they have veteren talent.

Crysler started playing in the midget division, 16-19 year olds, four years ago when most of the team members were too young for the category.

"We've always played up in our division. This is the first year they've been in this (midget) division by age," explained Yelle.

In this year alone they averaged 20 runs a game while their opponents could only average about 6 runs, said Yelle.

That is quite an improvement from when they placed sixth out of eight teams in their first year.

"We've steadily moved up," she said.

In their second year they placed fourth and in 1992 they finished second when they lost to Kenmore two games to one in the finals.

This year there were only three teams in the league and Berwick placed third behind Crysler and Winchester.

Pee-Wees also winners

The Crysler mixed Pee Wee team became the division 'A' champs at a one-day tournament held in Marionville.

Crysler beat out Monkland 20-9 to advance to the finals where they defeated first place Marionville 27-19 for the title.

Berwick are the 'B' division champions.

Crysler finished the season with an 8-2 record behind Marionville who had nine wins and one tied game.

But this year Sarah will be back on home ice. The newly renovated arena cost $1.8 million, $1.2 of which came from community donations.

Nothing can stop Sarah from hitting the ice every day. Including injuries.

Among the broken fingers and a broken foot, one of the most serious injuries she suffered from was a dislocated knee four years ago.

Through all the therapy and doctors telling her she would never skate again, Sarah never gave up on her dream to skate.

"I was skating three weeks later," she proudly pointed out.

3-pitch keeps baseball alive in Chesterville

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE - There may be no major league baseball action happening but there is enough mixed 3-pitch softball happening to keep fans busy. There were five games last week.

On Monday night, the fifth place Butchers squeaked by the second place Warriors while the Blue Devils beat Frogs Flyers.

On Tuesday night the Sphincters defeated MT Bulls while the 60 Pounders lost to the Shakey Movers.

The High Rollers won by default over the Shakey Swingers Monday night.

Butchers 15 - Warriors 14

The Butchers just got by the Warriors in the first game Monday night.

By the bottom of the fourth the Butchers had scored 14 runs.

The Warriors tied the game in the fifth by striking out the Butchers' first three players to walk up to the plate and then scoring four runs themselves.

Both teams failed to score any runs in the sixth inning. But in the bottom of the seventh the Warriors managed to drive one home to win the game 15-14.

Blue Devils 12 - Frogs Flyers 7

The game remained scoreless until the bottom of the third inning when third placed Flyers managed to drive one runner home.

The Devils then retaliated and scored three runs of their own in the third.

The Flyers drove two more home in the fourth to tie the game 3-3 going into the fifth inning.

The Flyers took the lead in the fifth with four players making their way to home plate. That lead did not last long.

Sphincters 11 - MT Bulls 5

The Sphincters took an early lead over the Bulls and never looked back.

They scored three times in the first inning while the Bulls only drove one home.

The Sphincters continued to dominate the game by bringing two more players home which brought the score to 5-1 at the bottom of the second inning.

Each team brought three more runs in but that wasn't enough to give the Bulls a win.

Shakey Movers 7 - 60 Pounders 3

The first place Pounders started strong and held on to a 2-0 lead until the fifth inning when the Movers scored off their first two players to walk up to the plate to tie the game 2-2.

The Movers scored five more runs in the sixth to give them a 7-2 lead.

The Pounders could only bring one more runner home to bring the final score to 7-3.
