Legion's New Cenotaph Unveiled Before Large Crowd At Remembrance Service

To the words of that immortal hymn, "O Valiant Hearts," sung by the Winchester United Church quintette, to the distant strains of the famous Royal Canadian Air Force Band which played softly in the background, and to the even more distant drone of a jet fighter plane facing through the cloudy November skies, Mrs. Spurgeon Boyd, mother of two well-known district boys who were killed in action in the Second World War, officially unveiled Winchester and district's new War Memorial Cenotaph here on Sunday. President Carl P. Laushway of the Winchester Post escorted Mrs. Boyd to the flag-draped cenotaph where she revealed the plain but attractive Barr-granite memorial to a huge and solemn crowd of Remembrance Day observers estimated at over 2000 persons. The nine-foot high Cenotaph, of greyish stone, is located on the north-east corner of the District Memorial Hospital grounds, where, with the hospital, it will remain as a fitting tribute to those who paid the supreme sacrifice. Inscribed on the stone are the words: "To perpetuate the glorious memory of our fallen heroes." Also appearing on the stone are the words: "Their names liveth for evermore. Erected by the Winchester Branch of the Canadian Legion, 1954."

The unveiling ceremonies were a part of a very impressive Remembrance Day church parade and service here on Sunday, conducted in a highly efficient manner by members of the Winchester Post 108. Taking part in the proceedings was Canada's finest band, the 55-piece Royal Canadian Air Force aggregation directed by Squadron Leader E. A. Kirkwood, which led the colourful and smart parade of 500 strong. The parade was made up of Legion members from Winchester, Williamsburg, Chesterville, Russell, Ladies' Legion Auxiliary members from Williamsburg and Winchester, members of the Armed Forces, and two companies of Cadets from the Winchester High School Cadet Corps. In charge of the parade was Legion president C. P. Laushway, who was ably assisted by the adjutant, Capt. John Kerr. At the hospital grounds members of the parade formed up in a half square,and the colour parties, headed by Sam Ault, flanked the Cenotaph, holding their attractive breeze-blown flags high to form an emphatic setting for the service. The colour party contingent consisted of Messrs. Robert Morrice and William Hay of Russell Branch. John Presand and Stewart Allan, of Chesterville Legion, Gerald and Garnet Empey of Williamsburg Post, Lyle Hess of the W. H. S. Cadet Corps, and Ken. Summers and George McConnell of Winchester.

Members of the quintette which sang were the Misses Kathleen Fennell, Carolyn Alford, Joan Clark, Louise Summers and Norma Bailey.

Rev. Henry Kielty, minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, was the officiating clergyman at the service. The prayer of dedication was given by Squadron Leader E. S. Light, assistant Supervisor of all Protestant administration in Canada's Armed Forces. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Reeve John Fader of the Village of Winchester, and Reeve E. B. McMillan of the Township of Winchester. Also speaking was Ontario Vice President of the Canadian Legion, Henry Harvey, of Ottawa. Before the Last Post was sounded by trumpeteers of the renowned band, prayer was offered by the Rev. T. N. Mitchell. minister of the United Church. Following the minute of silence in which the large congregation silently paid individual tribute to those who did not come back, Reveille was sounded by the trumpeteers. The humble and impressive laying of wreaths among the small white crosses and rows of poppies in front of the Cenotaph was carried out as the band once again provided the accompaniment of meaningful music for the following:

Besides adding a definite spirit to the marching with its fine renditions of leading military marches, the Air Force Band also played for the singing of the hymns, "O God Our Help In Ages Past," and "Abide With Me." The service concluded with the Band's inimitable rendition of "God Save The Queen."

Prior to the Remembrance service and unveiling ceremonies at the hospital grounds, the parade formed at the Legion Hall and marched to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church where the service of worship was heard by what was probably the largest congregation ever to file into that building. Mr. C. A. McDonald, student minister at the church, was in charge of the service, and the guest speaker was Squadron Leader Light, who also participated in the service at the hospital grounds.

Following the parade's dismissal at the Legion Hall, members of the Band and other guests were entertained at Marshall's Hotel Restaurant, where President Carl Laushway voiced thanks on behalf of the Winchester Branch to band members, to visiting Legion members, to Comrade Archie Rice for his industrious effort in heading the committee that had a great deal to do with the general efficiency and organization that characterized the entire proceedings; the Press for its co-operation and publicity, and to all others who contributed to the general success of the memorable day.

Municipal Nominations To Be Held On November 26

Municipal Council announced Monday evening at the regular monthly session that the annual Nomination Meeting for the Village of Winchester would be held this year on Friday evening, November 26th. Nominations will be received between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock for Reeve, Councillors and School Trustees. If necessary, an election for the respective offices will be held on Monday, December 6th. There will be two polling booths open. Eligible voters residing on the north side of Main Street will cast their ballots in the Public Library, while ratepayers living south of the main thoroughfare will exercise their franchise in the Clerk's Office. Mr. C. R. Robinson was appointed Returning Officer, and his Deputy will be Hugh Wilson. Wilfred Lannin and Gilbert Raistrick were appointed poll clerks, and the poll constables will be Joseph Barrigar and Nelson Dixon.

Monday night's session saw the final reading given on a bylaw which calls for the issuing of a $20,000.00 debenture by the village for the Winchester Hydro System. Approval by the Municipal Board in Toronto is all that is necessary now to make the by-law valid. Issuing of the $20,000 debenture was made necessary by the heavy bill of expense piled up by the local Hydro System in the past two years. The extensive changeover presently in progress, cost the village an estimated $11,000 last year, and it is expected expenses will exceed $15,000 this year.

Building permits were issued to Messrs. Garfield McVey and James Kelso. Municipal accounts passed totalled $11,091.91, while Hydro bills amounted to $4,325.42. The unusually big figure for Municipal accounts is due to a clearing up of business as the year nears an end. It is expected the auditors' report will be presented next Tuesday at a special meeting of Council. This report will be published in the Press, and statements will be handed out at the Nomination meeting.

Town Foreman Henry Lennox reported that the village's snow fence and iron poles were still in the hands of some local citizens, and at his request it is asked that all persons using this snow fence return it as soon as possible.

Reeve John Fader presided at the meeting, which was attended by Councillors Max Boyd, George Elliott, Robert Woods and Allan MacIntosh; Clerk-treasurer C. R. Robinson and Chief Constable G. B. Raistrick.

Hospital Auxiliary Met Last Thursday

There were 10 units represented at the regular monthly meeting of the District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. This being the first meeting of the new year, the president, Mrs. R. D. Ledgerwood. named the sub-executive and directors. and introduced the new ones.

The minutes were read and accepted. Miss N. Elliott, the treasurer, reported almost $500 raised during this past month, and $3500 was added to the retiring fund which is now the grand total of $7,000.

In the absence of Miss Wilson, her report was read by Mrs. Keith Carkner, which was a very fine report. Donations were received from the United Church, Morrisburg, of vegetables and several gifts from "White Gift Service"; Matilda W. I., food value of $15.00; Mrs. Alice Casselman, Mr. and Mrs. Iden Merkley, Williamsburg; Rev. G. Carryer; R. D. Wylie; Mrs. Audrey Crerar, 100 lbs. of flour.

The treasurer was instructed to renew the Readers Digest for the hospital.

The Winchester Unit reported calendars for sale, with the name of the hospital and auxiliary on the cover. a nice gift for 40c with envelope included for mailing. These may be obtained from Mrs. Archie Rice or Mrs. Melvin Scott.

The TV chair, donated by Vice & Craig, was left over until a later date. The members are asked to save their Quaker box tops from rolled oats and flour, and in turn they will be sent to the Quaker Fund raising plan and receive cash donations. All box tops are to be given to the Mulloys and Mountain Ridge Unit.

A feather tick, which was not sold at the June Garden Party, was made into 3 pair of pillows by Mrs. Cowan, of Metcalfe. These were sold at the meeting for $12.00. The president thanked Mrs. Cowan for her work.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, with Mrs. H. Fetterly at the piano.

Osgoode Township High School Formally Opened

Osgoode Township's new modern $130,000 High School was officially opened last Friday at special ceremonies held in the East Osgoode Community Centre. The crowd of interested supporters were believed to be the largest ever to jam into the huge hall in the Memorial Centre.

Harry Pullen, of Ottawa, assistant superintendent of secondary education for the Ottawa Collegiate Institute Board, who was representing the Ontario Minister of Education, was the main speaker, and he declared the event a "red letter day in the life of the community." Mr. Pullen said that although the school was a wonderful building, more room would eventually be needed, and he warned Board members to do their planning now. One way, he said, is to go after provincial authorities for more class rooms.

In concluding his address, he explained how the law outlined the rights, duties and privileges of school trustees, teachers and students. To the students he said: "You have a privilege of establishing a tradition for this new school. It never had a good name nor a bad name. The way you act while students at this excellent school, the way you behave, the way you drive, the way you live—all will have an effect that will create a reputation for this school. Give the school a tradition that the youngsters here tonight will have to live up to."

Chairman Wilbert Duncan said the new school would cost the ratepayers only one mill on their taxes. Ross Babion, the principal, said there was nothing but harmony among teachers and students at the school.

Earlier in the evening hundreds of people toured the brand new school where classes started for the first time on September 7th of this year. The official ribbon cutting ceremonies declaring the school opened were performed by Inspector Eric Runacres, of Toronto.

Other speakers who brought greetings and congratulations were: John Boland, reeve of Osgoode Township; Howard Willard, principal of Winchester High School; William Powell, principal of South Carleton High School at Richmond; architect A. J. Hazelgrove, of Ottawa, and Rod McRuer, former chairman of the high school board.

During the evening, a musical prgoram featured the singing of "Bless This House," by Mrs. Babion, piano solo by Diane Cochrane, and numbers by the school choir directed by Miss Disher.

The opening prayer was read by Rev. H. Roberts of Holy Trinity Anglican Church, and the closing prayer was said by Rev. J. E. Davies, of Metcalfe United Church.

The program was followed by refreshments and dancing.

Mrs. Spurgeon Boyd Unveils The Cenotaph

Honours for unveiling the Legion's New Cenotaph on Sunday were given to Mrs. Spurgeon Boyd, of Vernon, mother of two sons who were killed in action during World War II. New Style TV Antenna - Home-Made

A little improvising by an anxious TV viewer in Winchester last week gave birth to the potentialities of TV antennae construction. So, at the risk of dooming the sale of these highly regarded outside structures. we would remind householders of a new use for old coat hangers and old curtain rods.

According to said gentleman, who purchased a new TV set last week-end (without the aerial), this is the story. The TV set was bought Saturday. With 48 leisure hours staring him square in the face and with a yen to see how the new set worked, with a little ingenuity and an idea or two of how such things operated, the gentleman in mention raided the clothes closet and storage room, came up with some old wire coat hangers, curtain rods and some bits of wire.

A few frantic hours later, the curtain rods and hangers had been twisted and turned and wired together, set outside, and the TV set was turned on. Lo and behold, it worked. On Sunday night it worked even better, and WCNY, Carthage. was coming in strong—on three or four old coat hangers and a couple of curtain rods—an initial investment of perhaps twenty or twenty-five cents.

Not particularly interested in patenting his temporary set up and not wishing to become an overnight tycoon, Mr.——— now belongs to the fraternity of higher priced antennae owners, having acquired his necessary aluminum rods, etc., this week.

Coat Hangers and Curtain Rods. H-m-m-m!

Results of By-Elections

Although they won only one of the six seats in Monday's by-elections, Toronto York West, the Progressive Conservatives' overall vote was a marked increase over previous elections, narrowing the gap in most instances. The C. C. F. party won Selkirk in Manitoba, and the Liberals were victorious in their four strongholds, two in Quebec and two in Ontario. The upset of the day nearly happened in Stormont riding when Deputy Reeve Albert Lavigne, of Cornwall Township, eked out a 357-vote margin over his Progressive Conservative opponent, Donald R. Dick. The Liberal majority in the last Federal election was over 6000. Here is a recapitulation of the voting in Stormont on Monday:

	Dick	Lavigne
Cornwall City	4,506	3,586
Cornwall Twp.	4,020	6,186
Finch Twp.	505	538
Roxborough Twp.	781	615
Osnabruck Twp.	1,155	524
Finch Village	173	48
Totals	11,140	11,497

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Not wasted lives, but glorious in their death,
True men, who marched away at Duty's call,
They counted not the cost, thought not of self,
They nobly gave, in time of need, their all.
Their honor was a banner never lowered,
Our wistful, tragic, splendid, sons of fate,
Intrepidly, without display,—they died,—
Today, it measures gain,—our loss so great.

—Dorothy Sproule.

A BLOW TO SMITHS FALLS

News importance and headlines are related. Generally, the more important the news the bolder and blacker the headline. Last week's issue of the Smiths Falls Record-News, one of the province's larger and better weeklies that has made a habit of crediting a deserving story with a suitable caption, had what was probably the simplest, the blackest, and the largest headline it has published in several years.

Five cruel words told the unfortunate story: "FROST AND WOOD TO CLOSE." To the people of Smiths Falls, and particularly the company's four hundred and some odd employees, it was the most crucial piece of news and certainly the blackest headline they had ever read. The content of the story that followed revealed the cause, the old law of economy that when supply exceeds demand something has to be done. According to the plant manager, who regretfully made the announcement, the plant has enough orders to remain open until next Spring. At that time it will shut down, and 400 people, effecting the whole economical status of the Rideau town, will be out of work.

The Frost and Wood Company manufactures farm machinery. The bulk of the company's products is bought by the Canadian farmer, some of the implements are exported. The decision to close down was made reluctantly by the management, and after due consideration it was, in all fairness, a necessary step to maintain the financial status of the Frost and Wood Company. The reason, there are more than one, is apparent. Farmers, many of whom are having a hard time to make ends meet at present, are buying less farm machinery. They are buying less equipment because they have less money. They have less money because their farm produce prices have fallen drastically while their cost of living has remained relatively high—due to a great many causes, not the least of which is the compelling demands of unions for wage increases, and the vital loss of overseas and foreign markets. Last week it was forecast that the farmers' national income this year would be down several millions. These are warning signals which, we hope, are shining bright in the eyes of our government representatives.

We have maintained all along the farmer's importance to our national economy. We are maintaining more vigorously now. Unless some alleviation to the problem is forthcoming in the near future, the shutting down of the Frost and Wood plant at Smiths Falls will be just the first in a long series of economic catastrophes in this country.

TREES

Looking out the window we can see the tall greyish brown trees standing monotonously alone, stripped of their colourful leaves, their branches drooping mournfully, leaving the onlooker with a depressed feeling of melancholy. Soon the grass, still a rich green in colour to offset the dreariness of the trees, will be covered with fleecy white snow. Junior will be tripping down the walk with his new sleigh, and Dennis will be playing the old game of throwing snowballs when the back is turned. In just over a month Christmas will be here, and for a time, at least, all will be joy and merriness before the onslaught of three rugged winter months.

But cheer up! The invigorating life of Spring will not be long in coming, the trees will regain their impressive splendour, and once again that longed-for season, Summer, will be here.

Summer! What's that?

NIGHT CLASSES

Night classes, a very worthwhile way to spend a few hours each week in the fall and winter months, are more popular today than ever. Time was when night classes had to do with university extension courses or with extramural students writing off a subject or two towards a degree.

To-day, night classes are given not only in larger centres but in the smaller communities, where adequate facilities for instructing are at a premium. The lessons learned vary from degree lectures to instruction on a diesel engine and the intricacies of how to sew. All classes are valuable and offer an opportunity not only to the unfortunate who was unable to acquire an advanced education but to every person interested in furthering his education in theory and in practice.

Although the night classes sponsored by the extramural departments of many universities bring an added source of revenue, the prime accomplishment is not so much the money as it is the opportunity and helping hand it affords the industrious in the creation of a better educated body, and the development of a more spontaneous friendship.

No town is too small to attempt such a venture in sponsoring night classes. Once tried, the results are more than likely to be amazing.

EDITORIAL NOTES!

Last week was National Book Week. Besides putting a plug in for all the good reading material there is to-day, we suggest that the so-called censors start doing their censoring in the contents instead of bulging their eyes on the suggestive covers of much of the trash that frequents the newsstands.

The Relief fund for victims of the devastated areas left by Hurricane Hazel is still open for contributions. Over three million dollars have been donated to date, but a lot more is needed to help compensate the people living in the heavily damaged areas where the loss is estimated at upwards of $24,000,000. All donations, the size does not matter,will be gratefully accepted. They may be sent to the Hurricane Relief Fund, Toronto.

Seeing is believing. Perhaps that is the premise of the educationists who have introduced Television to the class rooms of Canadian schools. Not a new venture, it has been tested and apparently proven in the United States, the idea of having television in class rooms was tested last week in certain Canadian centres across the province. If it proves successful, after a reasonable trial period, television sets will very likely become standard equipment in schools. And, perhaps, one day TV educational shows will be a compulsory part of the curriculum.

"The Paralysis of Pride"

"Self-love is that grand master passion in every human heart. Let us give self-love the first place in the inventory and catalogue of our passions, because it has the largest place in all our hearts and lives. It is out of self-love that all other evil passions spring. The whole fall and ruin and mystery of our present human nature lies in this, that in every human being self-love has taken, in addition to its own place, the place of the love of God and the love of man also. We naturally now love nothing and no one but ourselves. And as long as self-love is in the ascendent in our hearts, all the passions that are awakened in us by our self-love will be selfish with its selfishness, inhuman with its inhumanity, and ungodly with its ungodliness. And it is to kill and extirpate our so passionate love that is the end and aim of all God's dealings with us in the world."—Alexander Whyte.

IN REMEMBRANCE

PAPER BAG CRUSADE

By F. L. Rowley

LITTLE things often start big battles. Like the day that Mayor John Fulcrum found the brown paper bag pulled over the parking meter. He stalked into his outer office with arms flying, eyes bulging, and an unlighted cigar sticking out of his red face. His secretary, Julia Daly, spilled nail polish all over her desk when she spotted that black cigar—that meant trouble!

Miss Daly held her ears as the mayor stormed into his office and slammed the door. She pitied poor Sheriff Giles. The sheriff was waiting to see Mayor Fulcrum.

"Hello John!" said Giles now as he peered over the top of an old magazine.

"Get your big, dirty shoes off my desk!" screamed the mayor.

"What's eating you?" asked the sheriff.

"I've just been over to Shelbyville," said the mayor unbuttoning his soiled shirt, "and you should see that town! Not a scrap of paper in the street; not an empty bag or tin can in the park. It's spotless! Then I come home to Hillcrest! In one block—one short block, mind you—I counted no less than six small paper bags! The last one was pulled down over a parking meter. It's an outrage, sheriff! I expect you to do something about cleaning up this town."

"I could get a little stick with a spike on the end," suggested Giles.

Mayor Fulcrum scowled. The sheriff strolled over to the window. As he gazed out upon Hillcrest's Main Street a happy light came into his eyes, for there, directly below the Mayor's Office, stood Parson Oakley.

"There's our answer!" cried Giles. "Excuse me, John, but I have an appointment with Parson Oakley. He has a knack for solving problems like this."

It happened in the park during the annual get-together of the Hillcrest Poetry and Dramatic Club.

Mrs. Etta Farnsworth was giving a startling rendition of Hamlet's soliloquy. Sheriff Giles tore himself away long enough to buy six bags of popcorn. These he distributed carefully; one each going to the mayor, fire-chief, water-commissioner, the heads of education and sanitation, and to Parson Oakley. Nods of approval followed this gesture of thoughtfulness.

A howl went up several minutes later when it was discovered that a group of distinguished gentlemen had been marched quietly off to the town clink. Their crime? Tossing empty popcorn bags onto the park grass.

"Where's the mayor?" asked Bill Sparks, the blacksmith, as he walked slowly towards Giles while rolling up his sleeves.

The sheriff's hand dropped instinctively to his gun. Bill stopped. "He's in jail. That's where you'll all go if you don't clean up this park. The mayor broke a city ordinance; he threw paper on the grass."

"The water commissioner and the fire-chief are in jail too—and so is Parson Oakley!" cried a small boy.

"When you clean up this park—I'll release the prisoners!" snapped Giles. He wiped his brow as the murmuring townsfolk began collecting bits of paper and other refuse. That had been close!

A cheer went up from the crowd a few minutes later as Mayor Fulcrum and his fellow law-breakers appeared on the scene. The mayor waved his arms for silence.

"Fellow citizens," he said, "I am convinced that Sheriff Giles was justified in taking such drastic action. We have all been extremely careless in regard to certain ordinances. The sheriff opened my eyes; I hope he opened yours."

Today there is no town in all the land as neat and as clean as Hillcrest.

The members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion are to be congratulated for their efforts in having a Cenotaph erected on the District Memorial Hospital Grounds, in memory of Winchester and district's fallen war heroes. The Cenotaph was unveiled on Sunday during a well-arranged ceremony, with the musical background being provided by the popular R.C.A.F. Central Band. It was a colourful parade that preceded the solemn ceremony of Remembrance. The co-operation of other branches of the Legion added much to the service. The committee in charge of the arrangements did a splendid job.

CANADIANS ARE UNDER-NOURISHED

Unfortunately, facts show that most girls over 20 are undernourished. Did you know you are speeding up tooth decay—that you need more proteins and calories? The experts advise us to stop taking our food for granted and put some serious thinking into our eating habits.

This is amazing since Canada is an important bread-basket in the world yet we're starving ourselves.

Star Weekly this week publishes the nutrition article entitled "Canadians Are Undernourished" which covers the subject fully.

OSGOODE BAPTIST CHURCH SENIOR MISSION CIRCLE

The November meeting of the Senior Mission Circle of the Osgoode Baptist Church, Vernon, was held at the home of Mrs. Peter MacMartin on Friday, Nov. 5th, at 2 p.m., with the president, Mrs. Mac Bowen, presiding, and a good attendance of members and visitors present.

The topic, "Our Duty to our New Canadians" was given by the president, and the Scripture was read by Mrs. Maynard McDiarmid.

It was decided that a united meeting of the Senior and Evening Group Mission Circles would be held on Friday, Dec. 3rd, when the annual Baptist Women's Day of Prayer would be observed; also a United Thank Offering meeting of the Senior and Evening Group Mission Circles will be held on Nov.10th in the church.

A very interesting part of the programme was the presentation of a Dominion Life Membership certificate and pin to Mrs. Peter MacMartin, the certificate being presented on behalf of the Mission Cirlce by Mrs. James Ferguson, and the pin, a gift of Mrs. MacMartin's family, was presented by her daughter, Mrs. Wesley Lewis. Although completely taken by surprise, Mrs. MacMartin thanked the Circle very sincerely in thus honouring her with the first Dominion Life Membership presented by the Circle, and the presentation service ended with prayer by Mrs. J. W. Bee.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. A dainty lunch was served and a social half-hour spent.

CANADIANS ARE UNDER-NOURISHED

Unfortunately, facts show that most girls over 20 are undernourished. Did you know you are speeding up tooth decay—that you need more proteins and calories? The experts advise us to stop taking our food for granted and put some serious thinking into our eating habits.

This is amazing since Canada is an important bread-basket in the world yet we're starving ourselves.

Star Weekly this week publishes the nutrition article entitled "Canadians Are Undernourished" which covers the subject fully.

WINCHESTER AND DISTRICT DEALERS ATTEND CHRYSLER CONVENTION

Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, last week presented its complete line of the much-anticipated 1955 models at a special preview showing and dealers' Convention held in Windsor.

Among those attending were Messrs. Max Boyd, Ed. Boyd and W. J. L. Boyd, of W. J. L. Boyd & Sons Limited; W. C. MacDonald of MacDonald Motors, Winchester, and Messrs. Rae Steinberg and Mac Strader, of Steinberg Motor Sales, Williamsburg.

Close to a thousand Chrysler of Canada dealers from every part of Canada were on hand to have a close-up look at the new Plymouths, Dodges, DeSotos and Chryslers which were elaborately displayed in a section of the newly-enlarged passenger car plant, the setting amid spotlights, rich drapes and carpeting accenting the sleek styling and brilliant colours of the vehicles.

At the meeting the dealers learned that V-8 engines will be available for the first time in all five of the company's lines this year. With the new engines and completely re-styled bodies will go a considerably enlarged range of colours and interior fabrics.

Addressing the initial business session, E. C. Row, president and general manager. emphatically declared that it was the corporation's immediate objective to capture a greater share of the Canadian automobile market.

The Chrysler president and general manager was highly optimistic concerning the future of the Canadian economy. A comprehensive economic survey of Canada covering the period 1951-1971 had been undertaken three years ago, he said, and for these three years the forecast had proved to be very conservative.

"I can tell you that the outlook for Canada's future prosperity is excellent, both on a short and a long-term basis," Mr. Row asserted.

Public presentation of the 1955 cars is scheduled for dealers' showrooms across Canada in a few weeks' time.

Dont laugh at the fellow who is an eccentric or screwball . . . a right of democracy is the right to be different, so when you see somebody doing something in an odd or startling manner, don't laugh at him, watch him."

SNACKING

Although it seems right as rain to us, our North American eating set-up of "three squares a day" must seem extremely odd to a great many people in the world who take four, five or even six meals a day as a matter of course. Actually, it must seem odd even to us, unconsciously, since few of us actually do eat three square meals a day. Some of us eat only one, a large number of us eat two, and probably most of us eat at least four.

The eating routine of the average urban worker is something like this. A.M.: Butterflies in the stomach. That extra half hour of sleep was nice, but now he's in a terrible rush to get to work on time. He believes in big breakfasts, tells other people they should start off the day with a good meal, but all he can get down with any assurance of retention is a cup of coffee, and maybe a little fruit juice. No conversation. Noon: A big lunch, heavy on the meat and potatoes; pie for dessert, coffee. 4 p.m.: If possible a sandwich and coffee, or peanuts or a candy bar. If not possible he drools till quitting time, when he grabs a bite of something to fortify him for the trip home. Supper time: A big meal, heavy on the meat and potatoes. Midnight: A raid on the ice box. Cold meat, cake, left-over dessert, or whatever there might be. Finis.

Our natural tendency toward snacks seem to indicate a need for them. Perhaps there is scientific justification for the British teatime custom. But there is another side to the snacking picture, as shown by the following question and answer.

QUESTION: "My children are in the seventh and eighth grades. Both feel they should have at least 25c a day for afternoon snacks at the corner store. They claim most of the older children receive at least this much, just for snacks. I know they are hungry when they come home from school, and it has been my practice to give them at least a glass of milk and some apples and oranges, and on cold days a bowl of soup and buttered toast. What will happen if they buy their own snacks?"

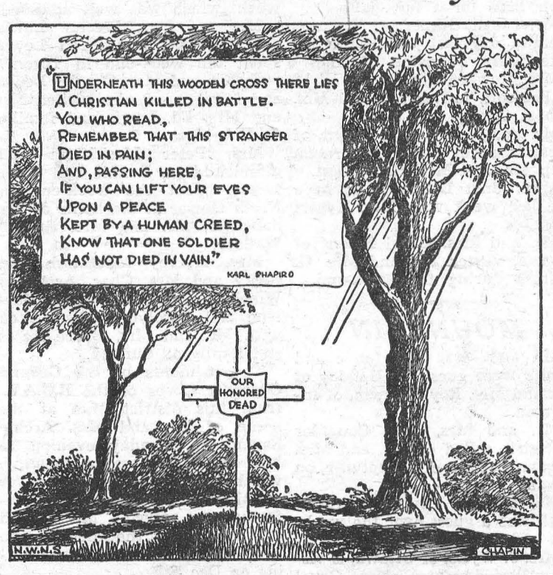
Answer: Your policy has been wise. Try to resist the pressure as long as you can. Most children are ravenous after school. and there is no harm in giving them wholesome food such as milk, cheese, fruit. etc., provided you do not give them enough to spoil their supper appetities. However, it is rather unlikely that any spending money you give them for "snacking" at the corner store will be spent on such foods. Customarily, youngsters spend their snacking money on such things as ice cream, candy or soft drinks.

Certainly you should be stubborn about mid-morning recess-time snacks. A good lunch is important to a growing child, and how many children are able to eat properly at noon after filling up on sweets at 10 or 10.30 in the morning. It might be practical to give your children a limited amount of spending money under very strict conditions. Put them on their honor not to snack during mid-morning recess,find out what sort of snacks are availabe at the corner store, and impress on your children the importance of sticking to the proper foods, in moderation, and cut off the spending money immediately when they show that their afternoon snacking is interfering with their zest for supper.

RURAL WATERS AND THE BLUE BABY

In rural areas, where drinking water is obtained from natural sources, there is often danger for a small baby fed on formula, if the well has an excess of nitrates. The well may be quite pure most of the year but, as the result of heavy rains or unusually heavy ground washings, as in spring, nitrates may enter the water. This can be harmless to older children and adults, but it can cause an infant to develop "well-water cyanosis." There is no danger from water which has been subjected to municipal filtration processes. Boiling does not do any good to water containing excess nitrates—rather, it causes concentration. Persistent blueness in a young infant should always have medical attention. When well water is to be used in an infant's formula, the water shoulid be tested for purity.

Remembrance Day



MOST PRECIOUS POSSESSION

Helen Keller said, "Nothing can compensate a man for the loss of his sight." This precious possession should be protected from injury, disease or strain. Both work and play, at home or on the job, should be done in adequate light——not too glaring, not too dim. If the job entails working where there are flying particles, the eyes should be protected by goggles or whatever device is used in that particular trade. If sand or other such substance gets into the eyes —unless it can be seen and removed easily by bathing or by bringing the upper lid down over the lower lashes—a doctor should be consulted. Amateur probing may cause more serious injury.

NEW OFFICE FOR WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BOARD

A new district office of the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario was officially opened in Cornwall recently to serve the giant St. Lawrence Seaway project and the industrial development which will follow its completion.

According to E. E. Sparrow, chairman of the W.C.B., the Cornwall district office will serve as a liaison office similar to those now functioning in Fort William and Ottawa to facilitate effective administration of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The new offices are located at 502 Pitt Street in downtown Cornwall and Irwin Manson, who has been associated with the Board during the last 15 years, will be Cornwall District Representative in charge.

More than 60 representative of industry, labor and the medical profession, government, Hydro and seaway authority officials, in addition to senior offices of the Workmen's Compensation Board, attended the ceremonies.

The opening of the new office arises from the Board's experience in establishing the district offices at Fort William and Ottawa. It is a further extension of Board activity based upon the success of these two offices in increasing the effectiveness of the WCB's administration.

"It is to be hoped that the groups involved in functioning of the Act—the employers, workmen, and the medical profession, will take advantage of the facilities at Cornwall," Mr. Sparrow pointed out.

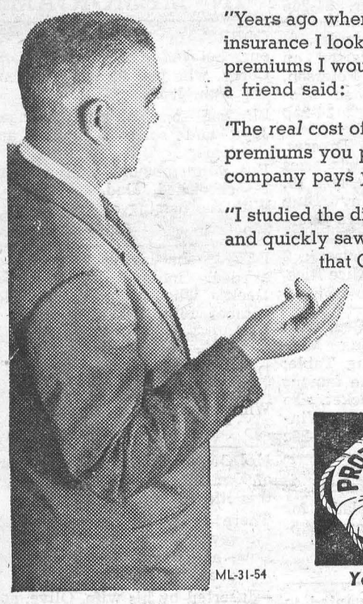
"Would you like to earn Hundreds of Dollars for a little study?"



"Years ago when I was buying my first life insurance I looked only at the size of the premiums I would have to pay . . . until a friend said:

'The real cost of life insurance consists of the premiums you pay, less the dividends the company pays you over the years!'

"I studied the dividend record of The Mutual Life of Canada and quickly saw the advantage of buying insurance from that Company. After all these years I am ahead hundreds of dollars because of that decision."

LOCATE THE BOX

When moving to a new neighbourhood, one of the first things the family should find out is the location of the nearest fire alarm box. Sometimes, in case of emergency. the telephone may be out of order and an outside alarm must be used. Knowing exactly where this is situated will save loss of valuable time. Also, members of the family should know where the main electrical switch and watermain shut-offs are to be found in the house. If the house is supplied with gas, the method of turning this off should be familiar to members of the family. These are simple matters, often overlooked, which could be important in an emergency.

DIRT COLLECTORS

Small children who drop candy or food on the ground usually pick it up and continue eating it, unaware that it may have been contaminated with dirt and disease. It is difficult to explain about germs to small children, but it isn't hard to make them understand that food dropped on the ground is dirty and could make them sick. They should be taught, also, never to give other youngsters a lick at cones or candy — contagious ailments can be passed on very easily.

PUBLIC FACILITIES

When using the public washrooms in gas stations. stores, restaurants or railroads. practise common sense sanitary precautions. Do not use any roller towel that others have used and keep toilet articles such as combs or personal towels from bare shelves or tables. Skin diseases can be passed on if these surfaces have been used by those suffering from such ailments.

CHILD TRAINING PROBLEMS

Most parents encounter problems in the training of their children. Many of these problems are emotional in character. In most cases, it is possible to help a child overcome undesirable habits and attitudes and to ease him through his first decade both before and after he starts school. Authorities on children's emotional development have prepared a series of Child Training folders which are available free of charge from local or provincial health departments.

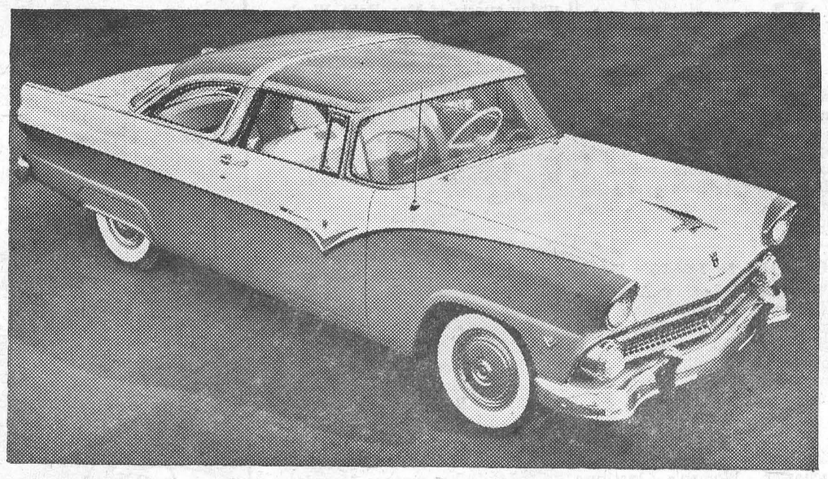
The New 1955 Ford



Worth waiting for is this newest entry by Ford of Canada into the high-styled car field. It is the Fairlane Crown Victoria with a tiara-like chrome strip arched over the top of the car. It offers a choice of two powerful Y-block, overhead valve V-8 engines with 162 and 182 horsepower. Dual exhausts are standard on this new model. The Crown Victoria has a wrap-around windshield and is under five feet in height. It also is available with a transparent roof over the driver's compartment.

IF YOU know how to store foods properly, you can cut down on waste and save actual dollars and cents. Here are several tips worth remembering:

Leafy vegetables keep best with moist cold. Crisping pans are ideal for those vegetables which have been sealed in vegetable bags or moisture-proof wrappings such as aluminum foil or plastic bags.

Both fruit and vegetables should be washed before storage. Dirt contained in them may cause spoilage, even though the produce is refrigerated.

Keep milk cream and butter away from light before getting it refrigerated or you may loose some of the riboflavin in it. Use fresh milk for drinking and old milk for cooking.

Ground meats, fish and poultry keep nicely in ice compartment trays, but you should plan on using them as soon as possible because of their quick perishability.

Carefully washed milk cartons, cut in half, or paraffined butter cartons are good for keeping meats in the freezing compartment if you don't have enough ice cube trays.

THE C's OF HELL

Its Cries—

"And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Laarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame."—Luke 16:24.

In Luke 16:19-31, our Lord teaches: In hell, a cry for the smallest mercy brings only smarting memories.

Once in hell, it is too late to cry for ourselves or our friends.

To reject Christ here means you will cry to him in vain hereafter.

"What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"—Mark 8:36.

POULTRYMEN

Listen For Sneezes In The Poultry House!

Some people sense poultry trouble 3 days before it's ready to break and take prompt action to head it off completely! One good way to acquire this faculty is to go to the laying house about 9 p.m. and listen a few minutes from the doorway without turning on the lights or disturbing the birds in any way; also to watch birds carefully whenever you are feeding or gathering eggs.

The first few months in the laying house are most critical for the pullet, for she has to finish her body growth at the time she is laying her heaviest.

That's why we're recommending a proven Purina laying ration that's designed to help with both of these big jobs. That's also the reason we're urging our friends to top-feed Purina Booster Checkers—just a gallon per 100 birds daily. Sure pays to give pullets what they need.

1. Purina Eggena is lower in price and higher in protein in 1954. A complete ration.

2. Purina Chowder Concentrate now in Checker-ett form. Mix with grain for eggs at lowest cost.
