Mets Winners of Lacrosse Championship

It was a long time coming, but the O'Keefe Trophy has finally come to Ourltown.

Five years ago, under the direction and leadership of John Laurin the Morrisburg Mets lacrosse team was formed, and entered in the Seaway Junior Lacrosse League. At that time lacrosse was practically unheard of by the younger generation, having been absent from the scene for many, many years. It was only through a sincere interest in the game, and a hard effort that John organized a complete minor lacrosse set-up in the village, often dipping into his own reserves to help out his teams financially. But the wisdom of the minor set-up was clearly demonstrated this season, as several of its graduates contributed to the success of the trophy-winners.

The Mets did not do well those first few years; their first season, they had one win and one tie both against Maxville. More often, however, the score sheet would read 20-1 and similar scores.

Interest in the game grew however, as that scrappy team which emulated their namesakes of baseball fame, gained a reputation for losing all their games, but winning all their fights. In ensuing seasons, the Mets gained experience and continued to show improvement, and with their fine showing this year, John Laurin, Leo Braniff, Steve Casselman, and all the others who have helped the team in any way now have reason to be very proud of the result of their efforts.

This season, the Mets made a shambles of the rest of the league, winning all their regular season games except the first one, and sweeping the semi-final series in straight games. In the final series, the Mets were pitted against a fine team from Alexandria and took the first two games of the series. However, in their third encounter, the Mets came up with an unaccountably bad game and showed slight resemblance to their winning capabilities. They dropped the game to the Glens 6-4, putting the Men from Glengarry right back in the series. The Mets had a short workout Saturday morning, and then moved on to Alexandria in the evening, where interest in the series was at a high pitch. The largest crowd of the season, including some 200 from Morrisburg and area, was on hand for the game. The Glengarry Pipe Band marched from the Mill Square to the Glengarry Gardens, and played a short concert before the game, and between periods.

Mets jumped off to a fast start, taking a 4-0 lead in the first period on goals by Glen MacDonnell, Steve Casselman, Ralph Duvall and Jim Notman. However, at the start of the second frame, it was announced that the first Morrisburg goal had been disallowed, as the stick from which it was scored was too short.

This decision seemed to cool the Mets a little, and the Glens narrowed the count to 3-2 before the second buzzer.

In the third, the champs carried the play and went out in front by a 5-3 score on goals by Donnie Mabo and Erwin Meyer.

Sensing a triumph, the Mets rushed out fast again in the final quarter, but a couple of the Glens by the name of O'Brien, did not share their enthusiasm, and each of the brothers dropped a goal behind Joe Billings to knot the count at 5-5. However, at the nine minute mark, Jim Cameron drove one past McIntyre in the Glens' cage and it was all over, as the Mets checked their opponents like mad until the final buzzer.

There was wild jubilation among Morrisburg players and fans, who streamed onto the floor, as the O'Keefe Trophy was brought out and presented to Captain Steve Casselman.

The beautiful trophy is now on display at Red's Barber Shop in the Shopping Centre.

The Mets will now continue in the Castrol Cup playdowns. This trophy is emblematic of the Canadian Junior B Championship. Wednesday night of this week, the Mets will begin, at the local Community Centre, a two-game, total-goals series against Valleyfield, P. Q. The winners of this series will then advance to the Castrol Cup finals in Winnipeg.

Should the Mets be the victorious team to represent the East in the finals, they will be in need of some financial assistance, (approximately $500.00). Anyone who is interested in pledging donations of any amount, large or small, is asked to please contact Arthur F. Laurin, High Street, Morrisburg, or phone 543-2519. (The Leader herewith offers to the Mets a pledge of $25, at any time they are ready to make the trip. Are there 19 other dedicated lacrosse fans in the area, who will match us? If so, the financial problem will be solved).

60th Anniversary For Well-Known Area Couple

Mr. and Mrs. George K. (Kenneth) Casselman celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Monday, August 19th, 1968. The couple were married at the home of the bride, the former Jessie Maud McIntosh of Williamsburg, and enjoyed a horse and buggy ride to Ottawa for their honeymoon.

Mr. Casselman was a school teacher for eleven years. He taught at Rowena and Dundela schools, was principle of Williamsburg school and finished up teaching manual training at Ottawa. Following his teaching career, Mr. Casselman owned and operated the general store at Dunbar, eight miles east of Williamsburg. For twenty years he was both farmer and merchant. Heretofore in 1945 when he and Mrs. McIntosh moved to Williamsburg village where they now reside.

At the wedding of sixty years ago the bride's attendant was her sister Grace, now Mrs. Grant McIntosh of Calgary. Best man was the late Dr. Aden McIntosh who practiced at Moose Jaw, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. Casselman are the parents of three sons: Mac K. at Marmora, Jack K. at Petawawa and Rex K. at Ottawa. Mr. Casselman smilingly explained that he had always found "George Kenneth Casselman" to be too long a signature to fit in the slotted space so he decided his boys would not be similarly plagued. They have 8 grandchildren, all with the "K" and one grandchild without the "K".

Mr. Casselman who will be 86 November 23 has been manager of the Williamsburg Pioneers baseball team for over 20 years. He grows a large garden which he looks after entirely by himself each year. Mrs. Casselman celebrated her 85th birthday August 8th. The couple both enjoy good health except for the odd twinge of rheumatism or arthritis.

The popular couple received many gifts, cards and messages of congratulations when a surprise "Open House" was held at their home on Ottawa Street, on Monday. Among the messages were telegrams from Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Trudeau, Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House and from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker as well as a letter with information that a plaque would follow from Hon. F. M. Cass.

Fyle-Allison Vows Heard on Saturday

Tall magnolia candles, white anemone mums and tangerine carnations decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Allison of No. 1 William Street, Morrisburg for the marriage Saturday, August 17 of their daughter Lynne Elizabeth Allison to Charles Richard Fyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fyle of St. Thomas, Ont. Rev. D. L. Gordon officiated at the 3 p.m. ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a floor length A-line gown of ivory corded silk with slight train. The lower skirt was encircled with magnolia blooms of corded silk. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion fell from a high pillbox, and she carried a small muff with Cateleya orchid and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Allison was maid of honor. She was wearing a gown of island green corded silk. It was full length in classicA-line, and she carried a bouquet of white anemone mums and ivy.

Miss Kimberley Ann Bergman, the bride's niece was flower girl. She wore a tangerine full length gown of corded silk with a wreath of ivy and she carried a knot of anemone mums and ivy.

Mr. Dennis Gillespie of Kingston was groomsman. Mr. David Allison Mr. Hugh Rutherford and Mr. Barton Bergman were ushers.

Wedding music was played by Miss Joanne Fyle, sister of the groom.

A garden reception for 75 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were present from Chesterville, Mountain, Ottawa, Montreal, Huntingdon, Toronto, Kingston, St. Thomas, Rochester, N.Y. and Ridgewood, N.Y.

Following a honeymoon trip through the New England States, the couple will reside in Ottawa.

HURRAH, THEY'RE BACK. Canada's 24,000 postal workers have resumed normal duties, but according to officials, effects of the 22-day-old strike could be felt for many weeks. The backlog of mail was so great that even a Herculean effort by the posties will not be able to overcome the pileup entirely.—TNS Photo

Let's Return to the Returnable Pop Bottle

An Editorial in The Globe and Mail
Thursday, August 15th, 1968

During the postal strike, writers of Letters to the Editor were remarkably determined to continue expressing their beefs, though it put them to the cost and inconvenience of sending them by wire or bringing them in by hand.

A considerable number of these missives dealt with the question of non-returnable bottles for soft drinks. Reading them over — both the printable and the unprintable, one is forced to the conclusion that Ontario citizens, excluding those with special interests such as soft-drink and bottle manufacturers and supermarket managers, are virtually unanimous in their opposition to non-returnable soft drink bottles.

It is therefore interesting to note that municipal politicians have also been getting the message. At the Ontario Municipal Association meeting this week in Windsor some dozen municipalities, mostly cities, presented a resolution calling upon the provincial government to ban non-returnable bottles, and the resolution was passed by the association.

Premier John Robarts should listen to these voices of the people, for they not only almost certainly speak for the majority of Ontario voters, they speak sense.

Those who defend the bottles argue that they were produced in response to a demand from the public. This is nonsense, for the public had no way of expressing such a desire. The non-returnable bottles were simply foisted on shoppers, by the method of gradually withdrawing returnable bottles. Where the public has spoken, through letters and its elected representatives, it has voted no. — Why, indeed, should it favour the added cost — which it will pay — of useless bottles that clutter unbearably its summer garbage cans?

The other arguments, that bottles are only one cause of litter and no more important than any other, that nobody has complained of non-returnable bottles containing such items as ketchup, that public education is the only way to insure that people do not litter streets and highways, are equally without validity.

Soft drink bottles are a dangerous form of litter. People do not consume vast quantities of ketchup in a public place; hundreds of thousands of them — and especially children — do consume vast quantities of pop in public places. When the bottles were returnable, they created an army of child cleanup experts, hired for the job by the money they got for returns. When the bottles became non-returnable, the children broke them, as any habitue of our parks or beaches knows full well. Broken bottles cut feet, have caused, in fact, many serious injuries — as abandoned candy-bar wrappers or cigarette boxes do not.

As for a public education program, practically the entire surface of this continent proves that North Americans are incurable litterbugs, despite all the clean-up campaigns, despite the fines — in some cases large fines — for tossing out refuse. Education campaigns just don't work, not in our present state of civilization.

Mr. Robarts should act on the advice of the municipal leaders and ban non-returnable pop bottles. He should do it because it is the sensible thing to do, but more importantly because it is — if he made a genuine test of public opinion — what he would find the majority of Ontario people want; and he was elected to serve them — not special interests.

Third party bid

In the swirl between the Republican party nominating ritual at Miami Beach and the Democratic party's gathering in Chicago, the most serious third party bid in more than a generation is gathering force in the United States.

It is led by a man who must qualify for the ideal native American fascist — former Alabama governor George Wallace.

Wallace and his American Independent party pose a threat to stable government in the U.S. far more serious than any minority government crisis ever experienced by Canada.

Wallace could prevent the American people from choosing a President next November.

With the U.S. presidential campaign about to begin in earnest, public opinion polls credit Wallace with the support of about 17 percent of American voters. In the South, this rises to 35 percent.

The position which Wallace has achieved far out-reaches the last Southern rebellion against the Democratic party, which came in 1948 with the organization of a States Rights' party (Dixiecrats) to oppose what was for that time a radical civil rights plank pushed through by Hubert Humphrey. Wallace began his drive for a straight flush in presidential politics at the door of the University of Alabama in 1962. Then governor of that state, he went through the political charade of pretending to block Negro students and federal marshals from integrating the school.

Using the governor's office in Alabama as a national sounding board, Wallace began to attract attention as the most violent remaining anti-segregationist governor in America. He condemned the civil rights movement as a Communist plot, cultivated the white backlash against Negro unrest into an attack on "crime in the streets", and called for total victory in Vietnam.

Wallace played the role of a spoiler in the 1964 Democratic presidential primaries. He ran up significant percentages in several northern states and would probably have launched a serious Presidential campaign but for the nomination of Barry Goldwater. As a result, the Republicans carried several southern states as Goldwater appealed to the same segment of voters as from which Wallace had drawn his strength.

The organization of the American Independent party in itself represents tremendous political skill, dedication and considerable unexplained financial support. It is not easy to get a new party on the ballot of most American states, but Wallace has managed to do this, starting with California and continuing through a wide crescent to Florida.

Wallace will not be on enough state ballots to win the Presidency in November even if he did have the backing of a majority of Americans.

But because of the American voting system, Wallace could prevent either the Democratic or Republican candidates from winning a majority of electoral votes. (The candidate who gains a bare majority of a state's popular vote wins ALL of that state's electoral vote. In turn, the candidate with a majority of electoral votes becomes president.)

If Wallace should be able to win enough Southern states to prevent either major party candidate from gaining a clear majority of the electoral vote, the election will be decided by the House of Representatives. And it is Wallace's hope that if this happens, he will then be able to horse trade his support to the candidate willing to meet the demands.

In this event, George Wallace, not the American people, would decide who is to occupy the White House and what policies the new president is to pursue at home and abroad.

The threat of this becoming reality has so shaken American politicians that proposals have been made to abolish the electoral college and to elect the president by straight popular vote.

Commenting on the Negro riots in Washington, he told one election rally, "I'll see that it's safe to walk the streets of Washington if I have to put soldiers on every corner."

Our mass media

I know, that postal strike wasn't all bad. I know it was a great inconvenience for some people, and meant a real financial loss for others.

But there was a certain quiet satisfaction in knowing that you didn't have to answer those urgent letters. There was relief in the thought that you wouldn't be getting three or four bills every day. And there was positive pleasure in not being bombarded by advertising flyers and other third-class mail.

In short, there was a slight hiatus in our daily scramble. Of course, the day of reckoning came, when all the bills came in one bundle, and there was no way of putting off writing those letters. But there was a little peace there for a while in at least one aspect of our bedevilled lives.

It started me thinking about what would happen if the entire communications system was tied up by strikes. Everything: telephone, television, radio, newspapers, the lot. Do you think we'd survive?

I do. In fact, if the whole n-ry, bothersome business ground to a halt for a couple of months, we'd probably all live a couple of years longer.

Those who would suffer most would be the young and the old. Taking away the squawk and thump of their transistors from the ears of teenagers would be like tearing a baby from its mother's breast. Robbing the elderly of their morning news and their evenings with the Beverly Hillbillies re-runs would be arrant cruelty.

But I don't think the rest of us would suffer. I think we'd thrive and grow fat and calm and interested in real life, on a couple of months of peace and quiet.

Those who have been out of touch with "civilization," on a hunting or fishing trip will know what I mean. One simply does not miss the ominous headlines, the grave news reports, and the assorted garbage contained in our mass media.

In such conditions, a newspaper is for lighting a fire with, or cleaning a fish on.

Radio is completely unnecessary. Lack of telephones means that nobody can get at you with bad news. And sitting around a fire with friends is a lot more enriching than sitting around watching third-rate old movies.

Indulging in the mass media, or surrendering to them, or allowing them to rule your day, is merely laziness and habit. And the deeper you sink into the slough of words, the harder it is to break out.

Some people are addicted to the morning paper. It's like the first cup of coffee or the first cigarette. They are surly and uneasy until they unfold it. And what do they get? Wars and rumors of wars, strikes and rumors of strikes, a lengthy rehash and expansion of last night's TV news, pompous editorials stating the obvious, and assorted junk.

Some never read a paper at all, but depend on their news from the radio. The thing goes all day long with a steady stream of commercials, semi-hysterical disjuncts pouring forth piffle, and the same news and weather reports, almost verbatim, every hour. Don't think this doesn't erode the soul.

Some make the telephone their news media. They're not interested in world or national news, but only in the local gossip, and they literally spend hours a day exchanging inanities with other addicts. I would not care if we never had a telephone in the house. One of my mottoes is that no telephone call is ever worth answering.

Then, of course, there are some people who are hooked on all forms of communication. As a result, they never read a book, never think an original thought, and can be led around politically by the nose.

These mass media add a lot to life, but they take a lot away as well. Under their constant barrage, we fail to cultivate our own garden.

I'm all for some quiet. Would you like to try it?

Williamsburg Pioneers captured their own trophy for the 6th time at the 6th Annual Williamsburg Softball Tournament on Saturday. The Pioneers were hard pressed for their victories, but came through despite rain, mud and intense cold. Shipman's and Wajax of Ottawa failed to show for their games, so the Pioneers and Cardinal P a t s were given byes. Williamsburg defeated Domville 5-0 which was interrupted by rain in the 5th inning. They came up against Brinston Seniors, who led the Pioneers 1-0 going into the 7th and errors prove costly, as the Pioneers came up with the all important win to end up in the finals and to defeat Cote Excel 4-0. Cote Excel had defeated Cardinal 1-0 in order to reach the finals. Prize money went to Williamsburg — $200; Cote Excel $100; Cardinal and Brinston $50 each. Doug Boyd pitched the final 2 games for Williamsburg, the final a 3 hitter, earning him the $10 prize of Most Valuable Player.

The Dundas Fastball League is currently trying to finish up their games in order to start their playoffs. Cardinal has 19 points and 4 games to go. Williamsburg is finished with 19 points. Brinston has 13 points and 1 game, Ingleside finished at 13, and South Mountain 8 points with 3 games.

The playoffs were to start the 21st, but rain has intervened. The Southern Section of the St. Lawrence Girls Softball is still a mixed up affair. Playoffs are to start the 21st, and as yet 3 or more games has to be played. Cornwall has 28 points and 1 game, Domville finished at 18 points, Brockville 8 points with 3 games, Morrisburg 8 points with 3 games and Cardinal 8 points with 1 game.

Friday night Brockville failed to show up at Morrisburg, so 10 pts. is held by Morrisburg with the other 2 games scheduled for early this week.

Williamsburg was winning team at Saturday's Softball tournament held at Williamsburg. This was the sixth annual tournament held there and against tough opposition the home team won every time. This year saw 14 teams in competition.

Excel of Hull was $100 for second place while Cardinal and Brinston were awarded $50 each for third and fourth place scorers. Williamsburg, top team received $200 and the Dow Brewery trophy which was presented by Doug Ackland representing Dow Brewery.

Doug Boyd, Williamsburg's pitcher was judged most valuable player of the tournament and was presented with a cash award of $10.

The last game of the day saw Williamsburg face Cote Excel of Hull at 10 p.m. The game scheduled for 8 o'clock was held up because of the earlier series having been rained out at six o'clock. The final score was 4-0 for the home team. Doug Boyd struck out 7 and had a three hitter. Hull put up three pitchers who struck out seven, walked several and allowed Big Doug Casselman to get away with a home run.

WATER SHOW IS PRESENTED AT CRYSLER PARK

A water skier, airborne to heights exceeding 100 feet behind a speeding motor boat, climaxed a spectacular water show presented Sunday afternoon at Crysler Marina under sponsorship of the Collins Bay Water Ski Club and St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

Harold Townsend, club instructor and champion, demonstrated the art of skiing with a huge aluminum and nylon kite, of barefoot skiing and of transferring from water skis to a single paddle.

Executing unusual antics on a surf board, described as the granddaddy of today's water ski, Douglas Gostlin performed the difficult feat of surfing while standing on his head.

A human pyramid was formed, on fast moving skis when Doug Gostlin and Mike Hewitt held skier Irene Douglas aloft on their shoulders as she waved to the thousands of spectators who ringed the margin of the bay.

"BREATH OF LIFE"

KINSMEN CLUBS' THEME AT CNE

To publicize their continuous support of the Cystic Fibrosis research clinic at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, the Central and Northern Ontario district Kinsmen Clubs will provide and staff a display booth at the Canadian National Exhibition in support of Cystic Fibrosis research.

Located in the Better Living Building, the booth will be used to demonstrate the need for research and also the treatment itself. Children afflicted with the dread disease, which it is claimed is a major cause of death in young Canadian children, will be on hand at the booth throughout the Exhibition weeks.

The Kinsmen will endeavour to raise $35,000 in 1968-69 to give a Cystic Fibrosis child "The Breath of Life". Over $100,000 has been raised in the past three years for support of the Kinsmen Cystic Fibrosis Research Centre.

THE SPORTS BEAT

By Glen May

Gabler has matured

When you chat with Argonaut quarterback Wally Gabler you immediately are engulfed with a feeling of ease. This personable young man is in his third season at the helm of the Good Ship Argonaut, and judging from past performances, it will be his most successful.

Wally is blond-haired, muscular, friendly, unassuming and a fine athlete. And, let it be stated, here and now, Mr. Gabler is a gentleman in every respect.

Wally is currently (this column was written August 9) playing out his option. In laymen's terms this means that he is employed by the Argos until the end of this season and his salary is reduced by 10 percent. If he does not come to terms with his employers during the season or shortly after, it is likely he will find employment elsewhere, probably in the United States.

Various scribes on the football beat have suggested Gabler is seeking a $50,000-a-year pact.

To this he replies: "I wish they'd negotiate for me. I haven't mentioned money to anyone but coach Leo Cahill and general manager Lou Hayman."

How much is he after? Wally would not offer the exact amount, but he feels his "figure is reasonable and doesn't expect any problems. I'm playing a waiting game and my figure is not unfair."

"I want to play with the Argos, but we're in football to make money. I know the money is available. They offer a lot of money to a rookie but not the veterans. I gave them a one-year figure, but I'd be willing to go for a long pact if the money was right."

"If the Argos don't give me what I want I would get employment in the United States. I know the money is available there."

"The other players tease me about not signing, but there's no bad feelings about it."

"If I don't sign during the season, then my price will be higher. It's to my advantage to wait, the longer the better. I'd want more then because I would have lost money during the year." Gabler feels he was "just learning" during his first two seasons with Toronto. Now he is confident he has gained the necessary experience "to do the job."

A perfect example of the new Wally Gabler could be summed up in this remark: "If my line and backs don't do the job then I'm no good. The backs are paid to run with the ball and I'm paid to direct and throw the ball."

Don't you hear the talk of a mature quarterback?

Gabler isn't predicting an Argonaut onslaught this year in the Eastern Conference, although he says, "we have as good an opportunity as anyone of getting to the Grey Cup . . . we can go with anyone."

However, he looks for a tight race with the conference winner coming away with a won-lost record of about 8-4.

Wally is positive a college quarterback cannot make the adjustment to professional football in one year. He explained that it takes two or three years just to recognize defenses and be able to adjust on pass-patterns when the prime receiver is covered.

The more he talked the more knowledgeable he sounded. It brought to mind a remark last year made by a Toronto sports-caster who asked coach Cahill: "When is Gabler going to grow up?"

Last year Cahill couldn't find an answer. This year he wouldn't have to find an answer as the question won't be put forth.

DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

Weekly Report

REFORESTATION INCREASES IN ONTARIO

By Hendrick H. deVries,
Nursery Superintendent.

Substantial increases in the Ontario Government's Reforestation programme will have an early effect on the activities at 7 large provincial nurseries located at Kemptville, Orono, St. Williams, Midhurst, Swastika, Fort William and Dryden. Approximately 70 million trees were distributed from these nurseries during the fall of 1967 and spring 1968. This will be increased by 43% to 100 million trees during the next 2 or 3 years to meet an ever increasing demand for planting stock resulting from the enthusiastic response by land owners to the services and benefits of the Woodland Improvement Act and the steady enlargement of Municipal Forest areas for the production of wood films and recreational pursuits. Production of trees for reforestation at Kemptville Nursery will be increased this fall by 3,700,000 units to a total of some 15,031,000 trees annually. The increase will reflect in the supply of the major species, viz. red pine, white spruce, white pine and white cedar. A slight increase will be noticed in the supply of various other species.

Twenty-two acres of new seedbed area will be sown this October. Additional straw mulch and shade sections will be required as well as extensions to the irrigation facilities to ensure adequate moisture for plant growth.

Plans and studies are now underway to facilitate the handling of the stock from field to planting site, machines to harvest the seedling trees, methods and technique of automation to enable trained staff to lift, pack and ship more trees in a given period of time.

Trees are available to anyone in Ontario comprising 2 acres or more, exclusive of buildings, and under the Woodlands Improvement Act, 5 acres is the necessary minimum acreage. Twenty-five different tree species are grown at the seven nurseries and can be purchased for the cost of $14.00 per thousand for Scotch Pine and $10.00 a thousand for all other species. The minimum order is 25 trees or any multiple of 25. Application forms and tree planting advice is available, free of charge, from your local forester or through the offices of the County Agricultural Representative — why not contact him soon, and discuss your reforestation plans?

THE PATTERSON NATURE TRAIL — CORNWALL

Conservation Officer

By Robert L. Ramsbottom,
The St. Lawrence Saunders Fish & Game Club, Cornwall, have just completed the first half of their planned one-mile long nature trail. Located on 92 acres of Ontario Hydro property, just beyond the western outskirts of the City, the trail offers people an ideal opportunity Leased from the Hydro for this purpose, Reynald Tessier, president and fellow members began this project in January. With the assistance of Lands and Forests personnel, a trail was marked and the trees were identified. A path was cleared through dense hardwood by removing trees and grubbing out large rocks and rotten logs. All trees infected with Dutch Elm disease were removed and burned.

An extension of the trail will take the nature conscious person along a marshy area to view such birds as the woodcock, sandpiper, bittern and perhaps the occasional marsh hawk. Wood ducks, which normally nest in hollow trees, will be given opportunity to nest "in style" with the planned construction of wood duck boxes in the marsh.

Almost everybody will be affected by these changes in the Ontario Highway Traffic Act

Turn Signals: Four-way flashers may be used to indicate a disabled vehicle or emergency situation. Turn signals must not be used for this purpose and should be used only when the motorist intends to turn, change lanes or move from a parked position. Effective September 1, 1968.

Flashing Green Signal Lights permit exclusive left turns as well as permitting traffic to turn right or proceed straight through while conflicting traffic at the intersection is stopped. Effective September 1, 1968.

Pedestrians must not cross the street on a flashing green traffic light except where pedestrian "Walk" signals are displayed. Then they should obey signals. Effective September 1, 1968.

Riding in House or Boat Trailers is prohibited. Effective September 1, 1968.

Walking on Highways with speed limits of 50 mph or higher may be prohibited by municipal by-laws. Effective immediately.

Attaching Oneself to a Moving Vehicle is prohibited. Effective September 1, 1968.

Licence Suspension up to 30 days for speeding 30 mph or more over the limit is now at the discretion of the convicting magistrate. Effective immediately.

A Resident of Another Province of Canada who drives in Ontario must have a valid driver's licence issued by his province. Such driver must obtain an Ontario licence upon becoming an Ontario resident and surrender his current driver's licence issued by such other province. Effective immediately.

Used Motor Vehicles: Private Sales: Unless the new owner of a used motor vehicle can produce a certificate of mechanical fitness to the Ontario Department of Transport (notice of a sale or transfer must be given within six days) he must surrender the plates and an Unfit Vehicle Permit will be issued. After the vehicle has been made fit, plates can be obtained by producing a certificate of mechanical fitness. Effective November 1, 1968.

A dealer must now surrender the licence plates of a used motor vehicle to the Department at the time of the sale unless he is able to give the buyer a certificate of mechanical fitness or unless he is selling to another dealer.

Farm Tractors, self-propelled farm implements and any vehicle being pulled by either of them must carry a "Slow moving vehicle" sign of a specified design when operating on the highway. Effective September 1, 1968.

Wider Vehicles and Loads. The permissible width limit of 96" has been increased to 102". Effective immediately.

Motorcycle Helmets that meet specified standards must be worn by operators and passengers. Effective September 1, 1968.

Certain Municipalities may Exempt Themselves by By-Law from School Bus Regulation requiring operators to flash red signal lights when stopped to pick up or discharge passengers where the speed limit is over 35 mph (Metropolitan Toronto and satellites, Metropolitan Ottawa and satellites, London, Windsor and Hamilton).

In municipalities that pass such a by-law, school buses will not flash red signal lights and other traffic will not be required to stop. Effective immediately.

Motorized Snow Vehicles will be regulated by special legislation.
