Chesterville Fire Fighters Ross Casselman (shown) and Dale Marcellus along with other members of the Chesterville Fire Department were friendly toll-keepers last Saturday. The department established two tolls. one at the Chesterville bridge, and the other on Queen St. across from the Chesterville Arena to collect donations for the Iroquois Firemen's Families Fund. After several hours of collecting the firemen had $1,761 to donate to the fund for the families of the five Iroquois Fire Fighters who died in a tragic crash two weeks ago while heading to a fire.

SD&G County Board

Education spending rises 9 per cent

CORNWALL (Staff) - The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education announced an average increase in public education taxes of 7.94 mills in 1981 at its budget meeting here last night.

Expenditures forecast for the elementary panel of the board total $16,170,859 in 1981, an 11.5 per cent increase over 1980. The corresponding average mill rate increased by 7.09 mills.

The secondary school budget has been set at $30,096, 994 for 1981, an increase of 7.7 per cent. The corresponding average mill rate is 3.11.

On a $5,000 property assessment, for example, an elementary school rate payer would pay approximately $39.50 more than last year and a secondary school ratepayer would pay approximately $4.25 more.

The increases are, in part, due to an increase in the funds set aside for secondary level vocational equipment (an approximately $140 to $150,000 increase and in part, to the bolstering of the reserve fund.

Director of education, Rosaire Leger explained the reserve fund was being gradually built up to the point it eventually will relieve the interest burden carried by the board.

The interest is generated by the three month period from the beginning of the fiscal year (January) until the budget is passed, during which teacher's salaries must be paid.

Close to $500,000 interest payments have been incurred during the present year because of the approximately $9,000,000 spent thus far.

The $250,000 set aside for the replacement of vocational equipment will be retained in a centrally controlled fund, explained Mr. Leger, rather than doled out on a per capita basis.

In this manner, the smaller schools will not suffer the funding disadvantage they could on a per capita basis. This is especially desirable when replacing, for example, a room full of typewriters; on a per capita basis, one of the smaller schools would have its first purchase outdated by the time it was scheduled to make the final acquisition.

The board, added Mr. Leger, is advancing slowly and cautiously into microcomputers and the new 'chip' technology. While this lessens overall expenses, it is still an outlay at the present.

He noted although the Ontario government have set aside a large allocation for special education, this would not necessarily mean additional funds to the board budget.

The funds will be used as incentives for board's who do not have adequate special education programs in effect at present.

Mr. Leger stressed this did not mean the SD and G board would suffer for having implemented the program gradually. In fact, he said, the board is to be commended for its action.

By implementing the programs gradually the board were able to find qualified, appropriate teaching personnel to teach the programs, as well as having the taxpayer slowly accustomized to the implementation of the special ed tax burden.

A board suddenly thrust into the situation will still be paying the proportion this board is, but will be suddenly faced with the additional outlay.

Provincial grants have increased by 9.6 per cent and the maximum ordinary expenditure per pupil has been increased by 11.9 elementary and 11.56 secondary.

The following are the 1981 mill rates in the elementary panel for each municipality including the 7.09 mill rate increase followed by the 1980 rate in brackets: Chesterville village 54.49 (47.40); Finch village 39.89 (32.80); Winchester village 57.69 (50.60); Finch Township 44.18 (37.09); Osnabruck Township 46.16 (39.07); Roxborough Township 43.26 (36.17); Williamsburg Township 49.29 (42.20) and Winchester Township 54.66 (47.57).

In the secondary school panel the new rates, followed by the old in brackets are: Chesterville village 43.35 (42.50); Finch

Study backgrounds Nation River history

BERWICK (Staff) - In the early 1800s a mineral water spring was discovered at Winchester Springs. A sanitorium was operated at the site until 1904.

That was just one of a number of springs that provided a small, yet popular, industry in the basin of the South Nation River. In total five wells were commercially developed and a number of other wells were locally known. The well which became the most famous was at the hotel at Carlsbad Springs in Gloucester Township.

"A hotel had been erected at Carlsbad Springs in 1864. At that time the site was known as Eastman's Springs. In 1905, the name of the hotel was changed to Carlsbad Springs to copy the name of its more famous precursor in Czeckoslovakia. The last hotel, part of which can still be seen in 1980, had accommodations for 175 guests and opened in 1909. Six wells were developed on the property. The principle sources were enclosed in small summer houses and water rose in the earthenware well about 60cm in diametre and a couple of meters deep. Two of these houses and wells can be seen in 1980. The deepest well, known as "magic spring", tapped a spring at a depth of 73 meters. Hot sulpher water baths were also provided. The spa remained popular until the 1930s."

These and countless other historical findings are part of a study done by Christopher Andrea for the South Nation River Conservaton Authority. The study was commissioned by the authority to:

- provide an overview of the land-use history of the South Nation River drainage basin.

- provide information on local residents' knowledge of, and attachment to the history and man-made heritage of the South Nation River drainage basin.

- identify and describe a range of representative heritage and landscape features that illustrate important phases in the historical development of the South Nation River drainage basin.

The report, which was completed last fall, contains information on the flood-drought pattern of the South Nation early settlement in the river basin, agriculture in the basin, industries, the timber trade on the river, water power, and perspective on the importance of the history of the drainage basin to the local residents.

Have you ever wondered why the river is called the South Nation River? It doesn't flow south and there is no North Nation River.

Mr. Andrea traced the name of the river from its origin.

"The South Nation is a relatively young name for this river. For well over two hundred years the river was known as the Petite Nation. Not until 1908 did the South Nation become formally adopted as the official name for this river".

The name Petite Nation was derived from the particular Algonquin tribe, known as the Ouescharini, that lived on both sides of the Ottawa River. The French called this tribe the "little nation of the Algonquins" because of the Indian's low stature.

At that time there was another river referred to as Petite Nation, in Quebec. "The mouths of these two rivers are virtually opposite one another on the Ottawa River. The mouth of the Petite Nation in Quebec became the site of a fur trade fort. Although Petite Nation was the common name of the river, minor variations such as Petit Nation, La Petite Nationale, La Petit Nation and Little Nation appeared in maps and reports from time to time."

Because of the close proximity and identical name of the two rivers in Ontario and Quebec, early attempts were made to distinguish between them.

The name South Nation first appeared on a map drawn in 1828 and again in an engineering report from 1855 but these were exceptions.

Around 1877 gazetters began to refer to the Ontario river as the South Petite Nation.

Although Petite Nation was the most popular name it was formally dropped in favor of South Nation in 1908.

Besides recounting many famous historical events which occurred in the vicinity of the South Nation River, such as the location of the first MacIntosh Apple Tree, Mr. Andrea reports little known historical data such as the clay industry in the drainage basin.

"At one time several small operations utilized clay deposits located within the drainage basin. At the Village of Inkerman, a small pottery was operated about 1865 or 1866. Another pottery opened in 1873 in the Village of Russell and operated until 1890."

He also reports that two brick yards were constructed at Russell. Numbering among the structures built with the bricks from Russell was the Ottawa Civic Hospital.

The authority will use the information gathered by Mr. Andrea to become aware of the historical potential. SNRCA Resources Technician Susan Beckman, says the historical background study, along with an archaelogical background study will form a final heritage report to be completed in about a month.

Ms. Beckman says if the studies are accepted by the authority executive they will be used in the development of the basin plan. They will be particularly effective in helping plan parks, and recreation areas in the basin.

Tenders called for Agricultural College

(Special) - The Hon. Douglas Wiseman, Minister of Government Services, has announced that tenders are now being called to provide a new College of Agricultural Technology for the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

The college, to offer courses of instruction in the French language, will be established in the Champlain Boys Training School in Alfred, 70 kilometres (44 miles) east of Ottawa. Operated by the Ministry of Community and Social Services, the school is being phased out of use in conjunction with a reorganization of ministry programs.

Renovations will be completed throughout three floors to provide modern facilities for approximately 150 students. These facilities will include laboratories, classrooms, and a library. Existing heating and ventilation systems will also be modified as part of the project to conform with government energy conservation standards.

Design and contract documents have been prepared by Ministry of Government Services staff. Completion of the project is expected by September 1981.

Trefoil forage yields increase at KCAT

by John Madill

KEMPTVILLE - Forage yields of trefoil have been increased by 47 per cent at Kemptville by direct seeding. The increase of 1½ tons per acre came from both the seedling year and increases in the first production year. The 'catch 22' - you cannot get both top forage yield and cereal production.

Direct seeding has been most successful with birdsfoot trefoil. It cannot withstand competition especially when the companion crop has been adequately fertilized with nitrogen. On the other hand, red clover competes very well. Trials currently underway at Kemptville suggest little improvement in forage yield of direct seeded red clover while at the same time there is no cereal production. Thus direct seeded red clover would seldom offer an advantage.

Alfalfa is somewhat near the middle in benefiting from direct seeding yet being easier than trefoil to establish. In fact alfalfa does not offer a clear cut answer to direct seeding vs. companion crop. The need for straw and grain may be the best guide. With alfalfa the grain crop should be seeded at a lower seeding rate and go lighter on nitrogen. Early seeding is very important to get the grain crop off allowing the alfalfa seedlings a good two months development before winter.

Grain lodging is serious business. Regardless of the stage of growth, a badly lodged companion crop should be removed soon after lodging. Cutting the grain for hay or silage at the early dough stage will remove the largest amount of protein and TDN per acre.

When grazing the grain should be allowed to grow to about one foot in height and then grazed back to three-five inches. Continuing growth may provide repeat grazing but it may be necessary to spray or clip the weeds.

In most cases the greatest hazard to direct seeding is competition from weeds.

There is little point in removing the competition from a campanion crop and substituting it for weed competition. Quackgrass must be removed prior to direct seeding a grass-legume mixture.

Even if you intend to have a pure stand of legumes it is easier to clean out the perennial grasses before seeding the new forages. Broadleaf weeds are much easier to control in new seedings than in an established stand. Subsequent development and winter stresses will make broadleaf weeds less susceptible to herbicides.

Seeding trials at Kemptville have demonstrated that seedbed preparation is more important than the type of planter. Seeding rates can be reduced by 25 per cent with a well prepared moist seedbed. The standard grain drill with a forage box followed by either harrows or a packer is ideal. On light sandy soils where drought is a problem to get germination, rolling offers a real advantage.

SD&G Board closes two schools

CORNWALL (Staff) - The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education, in close votes, decided to close two schools last week at a regular meeting.

Roxborough Township school near Moose Creek and Monkland Public School in Monkland will close their doors on June 30, the last day of the school year.

The board administration had recommended closing the two schools along with three others, Bonville Public School, John Sandfield Macdonald public School and Maxville Senior School. But board trustees voted to keep the latter three schools open. Administration was instructed to investigate the possibility of twinning the Bonville school and John Sandfield Macdonald school. The proposed closing of Maxville Senior Public School was deferred.

If Roxborough Public School had remained open the one-room school would've housed six grades next September. Trustees voted for closing the 25-year-old Monkland school because the building has deteriorated physically.

Reporting to the board of trustess superintendent of education Ken MacLennan noted the board facilities have been studied for the last four years. He said projections show enrolment will continue to decline in the coming years.

Mr. MacLennan said the administration's recommendations were made because space was available at near-by schools, transportation was reasonable and facilities better.

The vote to close Roxborough School was carried 6-5 and the vote to keep Monkland School open was lost 5-6.

Yvan Rouleau: Model airplane wizard

CRYSLER (Staff) - Yvan Rouleau is his name and radio controlled model airplanes is his game.

Mr. Rouleau builds, flys and sells the airplanes; a hobby he seriously undertook four years ago and now spends a great deal of time on it while he helps his wife Gabrielle run a grocery-hobby store next to their home in Crysler.

"This started as a hobby but now it's a job," says Yvan. "I'm busy at it, but I love it. When I'm building airplanes, I don't think about anything else."

Since he began building airplanes in 1977, Mr. Rouleau has constructed 49 planes and has sold all but two of them. His clientele extends from Hawkesbury to Ottawa and as he becomes increasingly well-known, business could continue to boom.

Although he has only been involved in his hobby for a relatively short period of time, airplanes have always been in Yvan Rouleau's blood. He was a member of the airforce during World War Two and spent two years in Europe.

Like most model airplane buffs, he started out putting together the plastic replicas that one can buy in any craft shop or toy store. However, when he spied some radio controlled models in a magazine, his interest soon changed.

Yvan's first endeavour into this stage was with airplanes that came equipped with a control line. The line, connected on a small roller on the underside of the wing was approximately 30 ft. long, so obviously there were limitations for the airplane. Still, the experiences with control line crafts whetted Mr. Rouleau's appetite for the hobby.

The 'hobby' can turn out to be a fairly expensive one depending on the individual's taste. Basic kits can run anywhere from $50 to $120, the motor, depending on the size from $33 to $225 and the radio from $119 to $490. In addition, there is the starter gas (which is a Nitro mixture) and any additional accessories that are required.

Of course, prices can vary. For instance, Yvan pointed out a motor for a helicopter that nudged $2,000.

Yvan has become pretty profficient at airplane building. He can finish one in two to four weeks. The key is not to rush. "If you don't feel like doing it," he says, "then don't do it. It's better to be careful than sloppy."

The planes are fairly light due to the fact that the inside body is constructed of balsa wood. The average craft weighs around four pounds.

A recent invention has made a builder's life easier. It's called Monokote and basically it replaces the painstaking job of painting. Monokote is a durable plastic covering that comes in rolls that the hobbyist cuts to his specifications. "Painting took a long time and it could be messy," said Yvan who had used a 'gun' to get the paint onto the plane.

Mr. Rouleau has one tip for people who are interested in flying radio controlled model airplanes. "Join a club," he says. "Don't fly alone especially if you're a beginner because there's a good chance you'll harm your plane. At a sanctioned club an instructor can point out the basics of the plane and show you how to fly it properly."

Yvan himself belongs to the Ottawa Radio Control Club at which he pays an annual membership of $20 a year. Before that he belonged to a club in Hawkesbury. Mr. Rouleau is also a member of the Model Aeronautics Association of Canada which has a membership fee of $15 a year. The association also puts out a magazine which gives all sorts of tips for the enthusiast.

The hobby is primarily for fun although Ottawa was recently the site of the World Championship Show. Buffs come from all over the world, testing their planes under stringent flying conditions. Some were evaluated in 29 categories with 130 points up for grabs. Yvan said one day "he would like to be part of it" although with only four years of experience in the field his outlook is realistic. Some of the people entered in the competition have been involved in radio controlled model airplanes for over 40 years.

As a former garage mechanic and a resident of Crysler for 35 years Yvan Rouleau isn't complaining about his lot in life.

"We're happy here," he says, "and the airplane building is going good."

Chickens practical choice

(Special) - Ontario chicken is an economical choice either fresh or frozen. Marketing specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food suggest you consider several options before choosing.

If you plan to cook and eat the chicken within a few days of purchasing, fresh chicken is the best choice. Once you bring the chicken home, remove the wrappings, cover it loosely with aluminum foil or waxed paper, and keep it in the coldest part of the refrigerator until you're ready to cook it.

Whether you choose Ontario fresh whole chicken or Ontario fresh chicken parts will depend upon the intended use, as well as cost and convenience. Fresh chicken parts may cost more than a whole chicken, but the convenience of having the chicken separated may be more important.

Frozen chicken is your best buy when you plan to keep the poultry for longer storage. When buying frozen poultry, you may save on the packaging material and the cost of freezing, since they have already been done. Ontario poultry is frozen at its peak of freshnesss. For best quality, frozen whole chicken should be used within 12 months and frozen chicken parts within six months.

Chicken may be cooked from the frozen state, but results are best when it has been thawed. Frozen chicken can be thawed in the refrigerator (5 hrs per lb.), in cold water (1 hr per lb.), or at room temperature (1½ hrs. per lb.). Thaw frozen chicken just before it is to be cooked; never thaw and then refreeze without cooking.

Fresh or frozen, whole or in parts, Ontario chicken is a good choice any day!

Mariners meet at Goldfield

GOLDFIELD (Special) - Members of Chesterville Harbor, Mariners With Christ and friends met Tuesday evening at the Duart MacLean home at Goldfield for their monthly "sailing".

Fifteen "crew" members were "on deck" for the "sailing" of the "Good Ship Faith". First Mate Garnet Johnston "piloted" the "ship"; Mrs. Milton Shay, purser, "logged the voyage".

The captain, the Rev. E. Earle Eaton, read the Mariners' chart and gave the report, assisted by several participating members; also, on request, sang one of his own Gospel songs.

James Bray, accordionist, was accompanist, and also played for a Gospel hymn sing. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mansell Atkinson. The message of the evening was brought by Mrs. Earl Eamer.

Prayers were offered for the sick and bereaved, and cards of cheer signed for shut-ins. An offering was received for the ongoing work of Mariners, and contributions received for the Gospel signs ministry.

Refreshments were served by a hospitality committee, including Mrs. Shay, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Arthur Dillabough, Mrs. Eamer and Mrs. MacLean.

Milk flavor affected by light exposure

(Special) - Whether the consumer buys homo, 2 per cent or skim milk, all types are subject to flavor deterioration when exposed to light, according to a recent study conducted by the Department of Food Science at the University of Guelph.

Samples of milk exposed to light for 24 hours and milk protected from light were evaluated by 145 panelists for flavor differences. More than two-thirds of the panelists were able to correctly identify light-exposed and partially skimmed milk.

Of the three types of milk used in this study, the unexposed milk was significantly preferred," said Dr. J.M. deMan, who headed the project. "The mean preference scores for the unexposed homo and partially skimmed milk were 7.1, and the skim milk rated 5.8. After light exposure, the mean flavor scores were 3.4, 3.5 and 3.3 respectively. Flavor deterioration in light exposed milk appears to be unrelated to its fat content.

After light exposure for 24 hours in plastic pouches, the loss of ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) ranged from 84.7 per cent to 90.3 per cent in the three types of samples.

WE WANT TO WIPE OUT CANCER

It will take you, and you and you to help put an end to cancer. So, when your Canadian Cancer Society volunteer knocks on your door, remember that your dollars can help bring the victory over cancer a little nearer

Please Give Generously —

1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7.

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits.

Many things cause changes in bowel habits— what you eat, how much you drink. But take action if the bowel or bladder changes seem too extreme, or last for any lengh length of time.

2. A sore that does not heal.

It may not be painful. But it may signal an early, curable mouth or skin cancer, particularly if it lasts long.

3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.

This serious sign should never be ignored. See your doctor immediately.

4. Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere.

Eight out of ten breast lumps are not cancer. If it is cancer and is found before it spreads, chances of cure are excellent.

5. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.

Indigestion is a common complaint, but persistent indigestion, heartburn, nausea, loss of appetite should send you to your doctor.

6. Obvious change in wart or mole.

If it gets bigger, blacker, or scaly, take action.

7. Nagging cough, or hoarseness.

If such a symptom persists, especially if you smoke any form of tobacco, don't wait. Make a doctor's appointment.

the daffodil

" . . . daffodils,
that come before the swallow dares and take the winds of March with beauty."

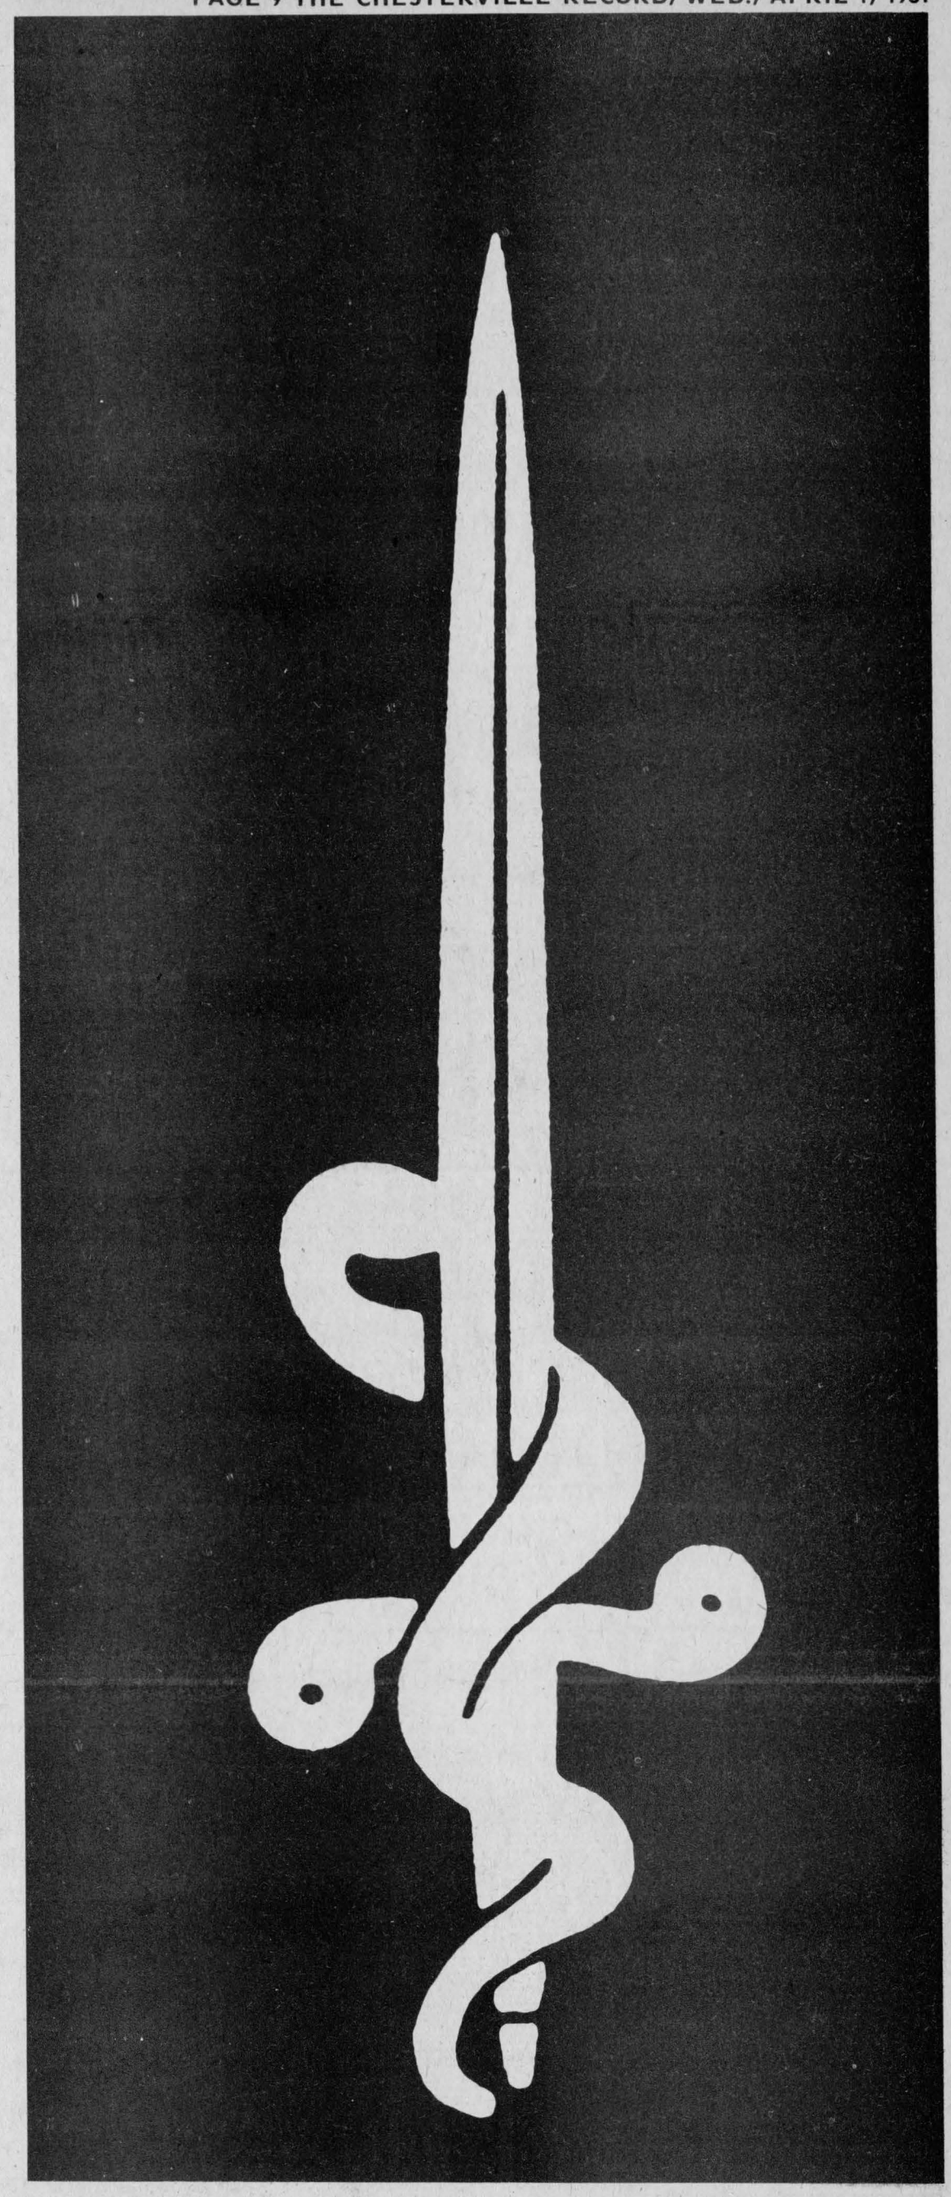
From: The Winter's Tale, by William Shakespeare.

On a spring day many years ago, a group of Cancer Society volunteers decided to decorate the tables for a Cancer Tea with daffodils. These early spring blooms, they felt, represented a sense of hope — renewed life. This sense of hope and renewed life was exactly the feeling which the Cancer Society volunteers wanted to express in every facet of their work; Education of the public with regard to the necessity for an early visit to the doctor when warning signals are noted; Service to those unfortunate persons who were suffering from the disease of cancer; and the raising of funds to support the work of Cancer Research to find the cause and a cure for this disease.

Years later, the same group of volunteers discussed the possibility of having a Daffodil Day at the beginning of April — the Cancer Society's Campaign month. An anonymous donor ordered and paid for 5,000 daffodils to be flown into Toronto from Vancouver. A group of veterans from the Second World War sorted and cut them and shipped them out across the City of Toronto.

From then on, Metropolitan Toronto has annually celebrated Daffodil Day at the beginning of April. Other cities have followed suit. Beyond this, in every large and small centre in Ontario, Daffodil Sunday is now celebrated — with bouquets of daffodils decorating churches of all denominations, with pastors mentioning the day from the pulpits, with generous-hearted florists donating the blooms, and with public service groups distributing the flowers to the churches, banks, stores and other public meeting places throughout the province.

The message of hope which every volunteer increasingly endeavours to bring to her work is symbolized perfectly by the flowers of spring of which Shakespeare wrote. Today, they have become as much a symbol of the Canadian Cancer Society as the Caduceus.



the caduceus

The flag of any nation is a source of pride to the peoples of that nation - a family crest, a club insignia - all are proud symbols containing meaning for certain peoples or groups.

The symbol of the Canadian Cancer Society is the Caduceus. Almost every one of the many thousands of men and women volunteers in Ontario wear it at one time or another. In hospitals it is woven onto the sleeves of the volunteers' yellow smocks. It is engraved on all the Cancer Society literature and on its stationery. It is recognized by everyone as the symbol of the Society.

Thousands of years ago, the Greeks had a god of medicine called Aesculapeus. In his temples, healing was carried out. His symbol was a staff with a serpent twined around it. This staff, sometimes called a caduceus, came to be the badge of the medical profession. The Canadian Cancer Society took this symbol and changed it slightly into a more militant form. Instead of a staff, they have a sword - the sword of hope, the sword that will never be laid aside until the fight against cancer is won. The serpent remains. For countless centuries it has been a token of renewal of health and strength.

In using the Caduceus as its proud symbol, the Canadian Cancer Society is informing the world of the war it is waging on cancer, of the hope that Society has for renewed health for all who may have this disease, and of its final objective of banishing this disease from the face of the earth forever.

Snoopy, a black Labrador, and his master, Kenneth MacLean, won't be making the daily trip to MacLean Hardware, Main Street, Finch after last Saturday - their final business day. Snoopy has kept shop for 13 years, while Mr. MacLean, at 80 years of age, has grown up with the store. - staff photo -

Doors closed by two old friends

FINCH (Staff) - Saturday afternoon two veterans of the hardware business said goodbye to their last customers and locked the door for the last business day, here.

Kenneth MacLean, 80, and faithful Labrador Snoopy, 13, have made many friends through the operation of MacLean Hardware, on Main Street, said Mr. MacLean.

"It's a comfortable building with big plate glass windows to watch the world go by", he said. The two-storey brick structure was erected by his father in 1910 or 1915. Time has eroded the exact date from his mind.

He took over the store in 1929 as a young man. "I grew up with it and I like it but I guess there's a time to quit."

Come, let me show you the store, he says. Some things have impressed you before the tour starts. The tall, ornate, tin ceilings, the antique wood and glass store fixtures and the old roll rop desk at the back mark the days gone by. The store could well be caught somewhere back in time.

I'll show you a few things. I bet you don't know what they are." A school bell, a coal scuttle, dies for casting old screws, the head of an old sleepy brown bear and one, last footwarmer, left from horse and buggy days.

The store could well be a Hollywood set but for the modern appliances and tools that shatter its Walton-like charm.

The store is near the public school and Snoopy and Mr. MacLean have had their share of visits from the youngsters. "Here's a story that will amuse you, I'm sure," he begins.

The village children ran over to the store after dismissal one day, it seems. Straight to the back of the store they rushed - to show the uncritical eye of Snoopy their examination papers. Later one mother phoned to tell Mr. MacLean he must have an exceptional dog if the children felt obliged to show him their exam papers.

As an only son, the decision to take the store over from his father was made for him. With changes in society, however, Mr. MacLean's only son has gone on to a good education and an excellent job, said Mr. MacLean.

There's no way to interest him in it. Especially now the stock is gone," he added by way of a joke. The stock has been sold to a neighbouring merchant, Magee Hardware.

What doesn't go to Mr. Magee will probably fall to the auctioneer's gavel, said Mr. MacLean.

The hunting and fishing trophies (stuffed ducks, deer and pheasant), the domed glass showcases and the carved wooden shelves mark the end of an era for the 80-year old Mr. MacLean.

Now on to something else. Maybe we'll travel, he said.

Spring is here for sure and the time for spring cleaning is now!! Band members will be around Sat., April 4th to collect your empty pop and beer bottles, in the first fund-raising event of the spring. The money raised will help pay for the band's tour in May.

Another group getting into the spring of things is North Dundas's Gymnast team. The team placed second overall in the SD&G Gymnastics meet on March 19, and especially fine performances were given by: Laura Hunter who placed first in Junior Beam; Laurie Appleby, first in Junior Unevens; Sherrie Gibson, first in Intermediate Unevens; and Dawn Williams, second in all-around Individual placings.

Dawn won Female Athlete of the week for her fine performance, along with Pam Roach and Jenny Freda for their play in the Midget Girls Volleyball Tournament.

In the Tournament, held Tues, March 17, the Midget girls defeated St. Lawrence, CCVS, and La Citadelle. They then lost two hard-fought matches against Tagwi and General Vanier leaving them only two points away from the final championship match. Their excellent play left North Dundas in third place for the season!

In House League Curling, Green defeated Red 6-0 and Gold edged Black 3-2 in the last games of the year.

The final standing were: first, Green (56 pts.); second Gold (51½ pts.); third, Red (43½ pts.); fourth, Black (36 pts.). Green House wins the MacDonald Trophy as the top team.

The school curling team received heart-warming support from students in their bid to raise enough money to travel to the All-Ontario's in Fort Francis, March 31. The total ticket sales amounted to $615, well over the original goal. We wish them great success.

The luck of the Irish must have been with the staff team when they norrowly defeated the students (345-18) on St. Pat's Day Reach for the Top. But the students came back swiftly when the pixies were back in hiding. The team defeated the teachers in Volleyball on Thurs., March 19. The score is now 4-3 for the teachers.

With Easter just around the corner and the Porker (Mr. Stephen) down eight lbs., students will be trying to harness their spring fever and get some work done before the next holidays. Good Luck!

Record Recipes

by Chris Brown

I have two recipes for apple pie this week; one is and one isn't.

Sound a little strange? It is, in a way. One is apple pie and one isn't, but I defy you to give the taste test on the 'isn't' to your family.

I remember getting caught on it, myself. I was about 12 or 13 years old. I was just coming in from school to a big airy old house we lived in on Victoria Street. The kitchen was filled with apple pie smell and so of course, spotting the pie, I nabbed a piece.

When Mom asked me what kind of pie it was, I thought she was a little off that day. Apple, of course. She asked again and I began to get a little suspicious. But it still tasted like apple. What else had she put in, I wondered.

To this day, she looked to me, standing there in the kitchen, like the proverbial cat who swallowed the mouse. When I finally had to give up, she almost burst to tell me it was Ritz crackers and had not one apple in it!

Even if I have apples to the day I die, I'll never forget her glee in her surprise for us.

Naturally here in the middle of a bumper crop of Macs in the heart of MacIntosh country, we wouldn't think of such heresy (but for those heretics among us, here it is).

RITZ CRACKER APPLE PIE

2 cups water
2 cups sugar
2 tsp. cream of tartar
2 tbsp. lemon juice
grated rind of one lemon
36 or so Ritz or snack crackers
some butter or margarine to dot cinnamon or apple pie spice

In a saucepan, heat the water, sugar and cream of tartar. Simmer gently for 15 minutes. Add the lemon juice and rind.

Break the crackers coarsely in pastry shell. Pour the cooled syrup over the crackers and dot generously with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon or apple pie spice. Place top crust.

Cut slits to allow steam to escape. Bake in a 425 oven for 25 to 30 minutes; until crust is crisp. Serve with whipped or ice cream.

THE REAL THING

5 to 6 Medium Macs
1 tsp. cinnamon and pinch of nutmeg
2 tbsp. butter
one-third cup flour
one-third cup white sugar

Cut up apples into pastry shell. Mix flour, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg together and sprinkle overall. Dot with butter and place on top crust. Bake at 450 for 12 minutes then at 350 for a further 45 minutes.

These times are for fairly thinly sliced apples and only the softer varieties at that. I suppose one would add time for green cooking apples or for thicker slices.

Bluegrass requilted

It took Shirley Carruthers (left) and her mother-in-law, Amy Carruthers one week of sewing to make this quilt. The design is called Star of the Bluegrass and was made to be raffled at the Bluegrass Festival near Morewood this summer. The two women report they had some help with the sewing from various neighbours and friends who stopped in at different times. Still the seamstresses finished with sore fingers. The raffle tickets are being sold by the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary members and the money will be donated to the hospital auxiliary. Tickets will be available in a couple of weeks from auxiliary members, bluegrass organizers and at a souvenir booth during the festival July 17 and 18. There will be a second draw, also on Sat., July 18 for $50. The two seamstresses estimate The Star of the Bluegrass would sell for $400 retail.

School Guidance Corner

By Don Stephens
Head of Guidance

Last week I wrote about the trends for the future that are at work in population, urbanization and in the Canadian family. This week I will look at the field of Education and the labour force.

The peak of enrolment in our elementary and secondary schools occured in 1976. From then until 1990 it is an all downhill trend with a 12 per cent decrease forecast for this period.

However, University enrolment, particularly part-time, evening, and short term courses, will increase in job related skill areas.

Private companies are beginning, under pressure, to assume a greater role in technical and skilled training partially due to strict enforcement of imigration quotas.

We will need a new understanding of learning patterns and styles and school-bound education as we now know it will be challenged by a greater variety of learning opportunities. Lifelong learning will become a higher societal value.

In the labour force "White Collar" work has steadily increased while the "blue collar" segment has correspondingly declined especially in the primary activities of fishermen, farmers and miners.

Women in the workforce now constitute 40 per cent of all workers and will remain so throughout the 80's, with women and young people continuing to dominate the part-time employment sector.

Primary activities will lose employment, construction will remain constant and the highest growth will be in financial service and public administration structure. The work week will continue to decline with a 34 hour work week predicted for 1989. Employment rates will remain high, especially for youth (15-19), women, and those with lesser education.

The trend to the shorter work week will mean more time available for non-work activities and the demand for education in the "service area" will continue to cause schools to respond in this direction.

The process of old job titles disappearing and new ones emerging is happening all the time. The Financial Post Magazine, September 6, 1980, in an article called "Do You Know What Your Children Will Be Doing in 1990?" mentions new job titles such as:

Energy Generalist - person who can advise clients on the intricacies of any heating system (part engineer, part technician, part contractor).

Space Colonist - person who can work in space and on extra-terrestrial bodies.

Thanatologist - psychological counsellor for the terminally ill.

Pre-Retirement Counsellor - helps people who seek advice on their retirement.

The article mentions other career areas that appear to have a bright future:

-Energy - all aspects especially solar.

-Environment - oil drilling, ocean mining, marine geology, ocean farming.

-Microbiology - new hybrids, microbe ecology, microbiology in mining.

- Counselling - to deal with the crises at all stages of human development. People will seek professional adviser on the direction of their lives.

-Mechanics - working on electric and hydrogen cars.

Next week I will look at the occupational prospects in all the major career areas giving those that have bright prospects and those that look pretty gloomy.

the farmer's wife — by wyn thompson

I went out early this morning and despite the few lazy snowflakes that were falling, the birds were singing their hearts out. I heard the first robin since I returned from the south. He certainly sounded cheery enough.

The flower beds lay idle...not a bulb had forced its way through the dark brown earth. Just as well, I commented to no one in particular. I empties the ashes on the garden and returned to the house. By the time I reached the door, big feathery flakes were falling with an idle grace. Winter is not over yet.

I thought of the Brookgreen Gardens, near Myrtle Beach. They had been bursting with spring three weeks ago. These gardens are located on the site of a former plantation home where indigo and rice crops were once raised.

Magnificent avenues of live oak trees, interesting plants and attractive lily ponds provide a perfect showcase for the sculpture and a pleasant experience for the nature lover. Picnic areas, a wildlife park and visitors pavilion make it a delightful experience for entire families. It is the nearest thing to the Frogner sculpture park in Oslo, Norway that I have ever seen. And Frogner Park is something that affected me more than anything I have ever seen in my wandering around.

The development of Brookgreen Gardens was begun in 1930, though the plantation grounds on which the Gardens are built, date back to the mid-1700's. Mr. and Mrs. Archer M. Huntington's original plan was to build a winter home here, but inspired by the overwhelming natural beauty of the site, they decided to create a sanctuary for living and growing things where they could be seen and appreciated.

A winding, open-work brick wall was constructed to define the grounds without setting up too great a barrier between the gardens and the countryside. The plan of the garden walks, drawn by Mrs. Huntington, took the shape of a butterfly with outspread wings, with all the pathways winding around the central space that was the original homesite.

The Gardens provide an appropriate setting for a collection of representative American sculpture from the middle 19th century to the present day. Now more than 380 works are exhibited on the grounds, a number of which are Mrs. Huntington's.

Only one building, the kitchen, remains from the original plantation home which stood where the main fountain is now located. Opposite the kitchen is the Museum of Small Sculpture, where smaller works are placed in a loggia around a delightful interior pool and fountain.

Being associated with millstones, I found the six large millstones placed in the Gardens and once used for hulling rice on nearby plantations, of the utmost interest. They reflect part of the history of Brookgreen, as rice was the main crop of the plantation for many years during the 1800's. Just as wheat and barley and rye and oats was in Eastern Ontario in the 1800's.

The Gardens contain a wide variety of plants, many of them labelled to assist in identification by the visitor. The entire tract is a sanctuary, and a small wildlife park is maintained to provide closer look at some of the animals native to the Region.

The entrance plaque set forth the theme of the Gardens..."These Gardens are entrusted to the courtesy of the visitors and are dedicated to the memory of those whose loving hands first planned and planted them." Archer M. Huntington.

All too soon we were back in Eastern Ontario. The beaches of South Carolina, the plantations, the night tide of the Atlantic...all have receded into the past. We are back on the job.

Tonight we go to the Orpheus Society to Two for the Seesaw. And I am quite looking forward to it!

Today, it is easy to believe that spring is here. The sun warmed our backs as we took the three grandchildren for a pancake luncheon at an area sugar bush. The birds sang and so did all the people who were there. There is nothing so fine as a real spring day in Eastern Ontario. We wait so long for that special day.

The vernal equinox had happened two days previous...that point from which celestial longitude is measured, and which signifies zero on sidereal or star time. It is the New Year's Day of the skies.

I have always been fascinated by this occurence. The word equinox comes from the Latin aequi and nocium, or equal nights. It might just as well be called equidies, or equal days. At noon, on the equator, the sun stands directly over head and, in all parts of the world, night and day are equal in length.

The equinox occurs when the sun crosses the celestial equator. Usually that's on March 21, but in a leap year it can come as early as 6am, March 20. So spring is officially here and we Eastern Ontarions are about to enjoy it to the full!

I planted my seeds indoors this weekend...tomatoes, caulifower, peppers, petunias, pansies etc. The Farmer suggested a cold frame. I agreed it would be a good idea, for I agree with Crockett who said. "The growing season is never long enough. No matter where they live, gardeners are forever searching for ways to earn another few weeks, another month." And of course, a cold frame is a simple device that will help you capture an extra month of growth at each end of the season - an early start in spring, and an extension into fall.

It is still March. And March is for zipped up coats, woolen mittens, for wild wind and a scudding sun, for frosty nights and billowy clouds and a white moon sailing. March is for considerable coughing and sneezing, for muddy paws, and for washing and wiping up.

March, says Lady, fast at my heels, is for being alive, and thankful for breathing the first breath of spring. And any time now, April will walk in daffodil skirts down our Eastern Ontario valleys.

Council disputes editorial

To The Editor:

It is the unanimous opinion of Chesterville Village council that a response to your editorial of March 25th is in order.

It would appear that in your attempt to be somewhat sensational and in enthusiasm to beat the drum for freedom of the press you have missed the point completely in understanding Council's wish to have clear factual, and accurate information reach the public by way of the press.

In your editorial you made the false statement that Council has taken the route of discussing very little business in open council meetings. Most discussions are held during special council meetings. It is imperative that such exaggeration and misrepresentation of fact be corrected immediately. Council endorses completely the concept of a free press but such irresponsible journalism we do not condone.

With the exception of salary negotiations with our municipal employees, all council meetings, both regular and special meetings, are open to the public.

In order that the public would be aware when council was meeting, a resolution was passed at the March 10 meeting of council to place an advertisement in your paper announcing when council would be meeting so that all who wished could attend. If it were ever the intention of council to be in any way secretive we would hardly have taken such action.

Furthermore, to set the record straight (pardon the pun) there have been only two special meetings of this present council. At the first of these two meetings council made a complete tour of the village to assess the present street lighting facilities and to set priorities for additions and replacements.

On completion of this tour, council returned to its chambers and listed a number of areas where present policies regarding the administration of village business needed revision and where new policy needed to be drafted.

An example of two present policies which were thought to be in need of revision were the policy regarding the rental of village facilities, such as the town hall, Drop-in-Centre, Park Pavilion and Arena, and the policy concerning the issuing of building permits.

It should be pointed out that ordinarily the drafting of such policy would be done by committees but since all members of council expressed a desire to have input into such policy formation, it was decided to call a second special meeting to get down to the business of actually formulating new policy.

The second special meeting was a working session during which a draft policy was arrived at for the two aforementioned concerns. These were the only two special meetings of this council and there was absolutely no intention to be secretive about either one.

All that was done was to conduct what we considered to be a very necessary investigation (The present state of our street lights) and a routine policy update both of which are just too time consuming to be incorporated as part of a regular meeting.

You also imply in your editorial that more factual information re the business of council would be available from the village clerk, a non-elected municipal official, than from any of the elected members of council.

We, as members of council, disagree with this implication and although we respect our clerk for the job he is doing for the village as clerk, we feel that we do not need the clerk to interpret for us what has gone on in council. We would like to avoid, if at all possible, a repeat of the famous "town truck episode" of last year.

Finally, you state that our Reeve could "allow only the information he desires to reach the public". It is the opinion of all of council that Reeve Ward has never withheld information and that any information which has been given by him to the press was never other than that which actually took place in council.

May we also point out that if you are really interested in seeing that the public is always well and accurately informed, you or your representatives will make it a point to be present at all our meetings and you can then report what took place without the need for additional clarification from anyone.

Sincerely,
Mike Coyle, Councillor
James Cook, Councillor
Bryan Beazer, Councillor
Bert VanKessel, Deputy Reeve

Junior Farmer history needs fond memories

To The Editor:

The Junior Farmers Association have taken upon themselves to write a book on the history of Junior Farmers. We have an authoress hired, her name is Linda Biesenthal, also author of the book called "To Market, To Market".

There will be four chapters to this book and to this date three chapters are completed. She gave us a report at the March Directors meeting, on what she has done so far, and all seems to be going well, except for one thing; the last chapter is to be on the reminisces of Junior Farmers. She has asked the Provincial Directorate to ask their home county for material to go into this section.

So now I will pass her request on to you. Any former Junior Farmer, who has very fond memories of the good times they had in Junior Farmers in years gone by, can possibly write a page on the topic and send it to Tony Vanderlaan, Box 412, Winchester, K0C 2K0, or call 774-5319 if you are not clear on what is required Please give your name and the years you were in the Dundas Junior Farmers Club.

I remain sincerely,
Tony Vanderlaan
Provincial Director

Whipper Watson says thanks

On behalf of the Easter Seal Society, I would like to express my sincere appreciation for the sum of $900,000 raised through Snowaramas this year. Through your support, the proceeds raised will help to benefit the lives of 6,700 phsically disabled youngsters throughout Ontario.

Again, I would like to thank you for showing you care by making the Whipper Watson Snowarama for Timmy-Tammy the highlight of this year - The International Year of Disabled Persons.

Sincerely,
Whipper Watson

A large number were attracted to the Community Hall on Friday afternoon when the oratorical contests were held among the students of the High School were held to produce defenders of the James Graham Ker Trophy which was won last year by the students of the school.

The speakers in the senior event were Donald Cameron and Aldon Droppo, the former proving the winner. For the Junior Shield there were six competitors, Bernice Dillabough, Shirley Schwerdtfeger, Helen Moore, Doreen Gillard, Baden Boyd and Neil Kelly. All did remarkably well, giving the judges considerable difficulty in making the award which finally went to Neil Kelly. The Senior Shield is awarded annually by Dr. H. Hutt and the Junior Shield by H.S. McMurray.

The judges were P.S. Inspector W.J. Stewart and Miss Marion Casselman who chose as the representatives of the school Neil Kelly and Bernice Dillabough to defend the trophy at the Ker contest April 24.

On the advice of a carpenter, work will be undertaken at the high school building to pack with oakum spaces said to exist between the brick work and window frames in the recently constructed addition, in an effort to make the heating of this part of the building easier.

A carpenter examined the windows for the fitting of storm sash, discovered the poor fit of the frames and recommended this remedy. A heating engineer from a well known firm was to have examined the heating plant but has not done so and another request was sent by the secretary.

A modern drinking fountain is to be installed shortly to replace the tank now in use. Since a new well is supplying good water, the installation of the fountain is practical and will of course by connected to the pressure system of the school.

The only other business facing members of the board was the passing of accounts.

While a definite objective in the Canadian War Services has not been set for the Chesterville District, organizers are hoping that at least $1,000 will be realized when the final figures are totalled. This district has more than gone over the top on every drive so far during this war, whether it was the Red Cross or any other; the record will not be let down this time if everyone does his share when the volunteer canvassers make their calls.

Canvassing of Chesterville and district for the Canadian War Services fund has been delayed through lack of supplies but the work is expected to start on the weekend when another shipment of cards, workers kits and so forth is expected from the Toronto headquarters.

Chesterville Fire Department and the residents of the village must take pride in the amount of money collected Saturday for the families of the five Iroquois Fire Fighters who lost their lives just two weeks ago while on their way to a fire. The Chesterville donation to the fund is $1,761 bringing the total collected in the area to $63,368.

The shooting attempt on the life of American president Ronald Reagan brings back memories of other assassinations, both recent and in the not so distant past. The killing of John Lennon, John Kennedy, his brother, Robert Kennedy, and Martin Luther King come rushing back to mind. It's frightening to realize that the same political system that made it possible for these men to come to the forefront of our society also makes their positions in society dangerous.

The assassination attempt also brings back those same nagging questions about capital punishment and gun control. Is it possible for secret servicemen to protect the president without help from a deterant such as capital punishment? Is it fair of society to ask these men to risk their lives to do so without tougher support from society?

Should gun possession be beyond the reach of the general public because there are some people who are not mature enough, responsible enough, or sane enough to be allowed to carry a gun?

The American people may be taking a long hard look at both these issues now. With recent indications our neighbor to the south is leaning more towards the right, the final outcome of the examination may extend such a trend.

The Chesterville Recreation Department in conjunction with St. Lawrence College is offering a new play group in which mothers and their children can meet for one day a week to play and socialize.

It's an idea whose time has come. With many working women taking time away from their jobs to raise children for a few years the group will offer them a chance to get together with other women in the same situation. Discussing common problems will assure mothers they're not alone. It'll also help prevent mothers from having a feeling of isolation from the rest of the world.

All the program needs now is participation.

Van Der Veen-Morris wed at Inkerman

Sat., Nov. 22, 1980 at 6pm, Marjorie Ann Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Morris, became the bride of Daniel Jack Van Der Veen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wietze Van Der Veen at the Inkerman Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Candelabra's at the front of the church and candles in each window formed the soft setting for the double ring ceremony solemnized by Rev. Doug Tatton.

Bedford Robinson was organist for the occasion. "The Rose" was played for the signing of the register.

The groom was assisted by Donny Van Der Veen as best man, and Geren Morris, Jeff Van Der Veen, and Tommy Morris were ushers. All wore gray tuxedos with matching velvet trim.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional floor length bridal gown made of satin-silk imprinted with lily of the valley, featuring white lace around the neckline and down the front.

She had a full length veil with a blusher, all trimmed in lace and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white carnations and lily of the valley.

The bride was attended by Deanna Van Der Veen as matron of honor; Cathy Robinson, Kendra Burd and Connie Lacelle were bridesmaids. The matron of honor wore a floor length pink gown with three-quarter length crocheted jacket.

She carried a hand bouquet of morning glory, pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaids were attired in matching wine floor-length gowns with brief jackets and carried hand bouquets of pink and red and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride and groom assisted the bridal party in welcoming guests to the dinner reception held in the Winchester Wesleyan Church hall. An evening reception followed in the Chesterville Legion Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Van Der Veen have returned from their honeymoon and are now residing at Morewood.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and reception were from Chesterville, Winchester, Trenton, Brockville, Ottawa and Toronto.

Nursing assistants Ottawa chapter guests

OTTAWA - On March 17, 1981, the St. Lawrence Chapter of The Ontario Association of Registered Nursing Assistants were guests of the Ottawa OARNA Chapter for a meeting held at the Queensway-Carleton Hospital in Ottawa.

Before getting down to pressing business, everyone enjoyed a delicious buffet supper. There was a salute to St. Patricks day with a specially decorated St. Patricks Day cake.

The St. Lawrence Chapter group was then introduced and welcomed by the Ottawa Chapter president Mrs. Pat Boot.

Business for the annual meeting and workshop was discussed. It is to be held at the Talisman Hotel in Ottawa on May 12 and 13 and being chaired by Linda Cunningham.

A small resume was given by Mrs. Sharon Mills in regard to the entertainment to be held on pre-registration night, May 11. This merriment will be sponsored by the St. Lawrence Chapter.

It was mentioned that Mayor Marion Dewar of Ottawa, will be proclaiming May 13 as RNA Day in Ottawa at the meeting on that particular day.

In the absence of our president, Lucy Grant, vice-president Linda Collins presided. After further OARNA business, the meeting was adjourned and Miss Collins thanked the Ottawa Chapter for inviting us to their Chapter Meeting and for the beautiful meal.

Berwick 4-H club on its way

(Special) - The Berwick 4-H Homemaking Club held their first meeting on Sat., Feb., 28, 1981 at the home of Mrs. Mary Luykx.

The spring project is "Which came first the Chicken or the Egg".

The leaders of the club are Mrs. Mary Luykx and Mrs. Monique Rutley.

The members picked a name which is "The Berwick Chicken Delites." The members then elected the officers as follows: president, Kim Johnstone; vice-president, Lise Ouellette; press reporter, Donna Kearns; and a floating secretary.

The topics discussed were chicken stock, principles of cooking chicken, nutrition of poultry and eggs, and a hen party quiz.

The members are enjoying the club and they are looking forward to the party at the last meeting.

The last meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Luykx on Sat., April, 4, 1981.

Calling all moms and tots

(Special) - St. Lawrence College, in cooperation with the Chesterville Recreation Department, is organizing a play group for pre-schoolers in the Chesterville Drop-In Center.

It is proposed that the play group will meet on Thursday mornings commencing April 16, 1981.

A short meeting is planned for Thurs., April 9 at 10am in the Drop-In Center to organize the program.

The children will be able to participate in crafts, including finger painting and colouring, games, story-time and singing. In other words, the activities will be restricted only by the childrens' and mothers' ingenuity. The children will be allowed for the most part a maximum amount of freedom to pursue activities that interest them, as well as some group activities, including a snack-time.

The purpose behind the group is to give children who are not yet old enough for Nursery School an opportunity to socialize and cooperate with each other and also to give the mothers an opportunity to get together with the children and other mothers in an informal atmosphere.

The mothers will take turns organizing the group activities and ensuring that the Drop-In Center is left clean when the play group is finished.

There will be no charge for attending the play group other than a nominal fee to cover the childrens' snacks.

Due to limitations of space, attendance must be limited to 15 children. Please leave your name with Linda Schwerdtfeger, St. Lawrence College Rural Office, at 448-3551.

4-H club finish project

(Special) - The Finch Scramblers finished another homemaking club. The title of this club was "Which Came First, The Chicken or The Egg?"

We started the club off with talking about chickens; how to cut up a chicken and its many uses.

Then we talked about eggs; how to store them and what to do with leftover yolks and whites.

We took a trip with the Finch 2 club to the Crysler Egg Grading Station. There we had a tour of the station and were shown how eggs are graded.

Our club and the other club, Finch 2 are going to have a party, April 2. The members are to make the food for the party with recipes from the club. We are going to invite our families, friends and WI members who are sponsors of the club.

Our Achievement Night is Wed., Apr. 15 at the Avonmore Recreation Centre at 7:30pm.

Everyone is welcome to come to see what all the 4-H members have done in the other clubs and to see the next topic in the 4-H homemaking club.

Kindergarten classes remain full-day

CORNWALL (Staff) - Although the Ministry of Education will only issue grants for half-day kindergarten programs the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education voted last week to continue full-day kindergarten classes at the board's expense.

The board is now the only one in Ontario with a full-day kindergarten program.

Since the ministry restricts grants to half-day programs the board must pay the full cost of the other half-day portion of the classes. Cost of the program this year was budgeted at $374,000, up from $296,000 last year.

The major argument in favor of keeping the all-day classes was the half-day French immersion program incorporated into it.

Sandra Enns, a Cornwall trustee said the French immersion program couldn't continue in a half-day program. She added that the French program was widely accepted throughout the Three United Counties.

As the program exists the students take a French program for half a day and the English program for the second half.

A motion to have a French-English program in a half-day kindergarten program was defeated.

Administration official Jean Comtois said the board's French education program would qualify for the maximum grant of $15 per student plus the 10 per cent increase for 1981-82.

The board ignored the advice of its finance committee chairman Wes Libbey in approving the full-day program. Mr. Libbey suggested any proposal shouldn't be considered until the budget came out this week.

Williamsburg Canadian Tire Store manager, Ed Hanson, will be manning the telephone for the local area at the CJOH telethon this Saturay for the Ottawa Civic Hospital Cardiac Unit. Those in the Williamsburg area wishing to make a pledge to the project can call the Williamsburg Canadian Tire Store this Saturday night between 7pm and midnight. Mr. Hanson will be at the CJOH studio to read as many of the pledges from the local area as possible. Get your dialing finger ready!

535-2845 is the number to call with your pledge

WILLIAMSBURG (Staff) - The Canadian Tire Store in Williamsburg usually closes its doors to the public at 5pm on Saturdays and the staff goes home for the holiday Sunday.

But this Saturday will be slightly different. After the store closes April 4 some of the staff won't be leaving. They'll be at the store until midnight answering the telephone.

Canadian Tire Stores in the area will be used as regional phone-in centres for a telethon to raise the remianing money for the Cardiac Unit at the Ottawa Civic Hospital.

Manager of the Williamsburg store, Ed Hanson, says staff from the store will be manning the phones. Anyone wishing to donate can call 535-2845 give their name, address and pledge.

Mr. Hanson explained that donors can make a single pledge or, if interested in making a large pledge, can ask for an installment plan.

Members of the Williamsburg staff are "king of excited about it" says Mr. Hanson. Twelve members of the staff will be participating in the telethon taking shifts.

The Canadian Tire Stores in Ottawa have participated previously in raising funds for the project. And last summer the Williamsburg store sold raffle tickets for a car in order to raise money for the unit.

The major impetus behind the telethon is CJOH Television in Ottawa. While $7,921,000 or 96.5 per cent of the money needed has been raised the television station says a major commitment is necessary to finish the project.

Another $304,000 is needed to ensure the start of the Cardiac Unit. Hosting the telethon will be Max Keeping, anchorman on the CJOH news show Newsline. Someone from each phone-in area will be at the CJOH studio to read as many pledges as possible from their area. Mr. Hanson will be manning the Williamsburg desk.

Regional phone-in centres will also be located in Canadian Tire Stores in Alexandria, Arnprior, Brockville, Buckingham, Carleton Place, Cornwall, Deep River, Gatineau, Hawkesbury, Kemptville, Maniwaki, Pembroke, Perth, Prescott, Renfrew, Shawville, Smiths Falls as well as Williamsburg.

The Ottawa Civic is the main hospital in Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec providing open-heart surgery, complete cancer treatment services, the only total body scanner, full resources for metabolic diseases, extensive medical research in 85 active projects, and microplastic surgery for accident victims.

Through its varied facilities the hospital cared for more than 208,000 patients, 23 per cent of whom were from outside the Ottawa-Carleton area, both in Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

Lillie I. Beckstead dies suddenly in hospital

Lillie Isabella Beckstead, 114 Renfrew Ave., Ottawa died in the Civic Hospital Fri., March 20, 1981. Mrs. Beckstead, better known as Lillie, lived her early life in the Chesterville area and in her latter years retired to Ottawa for the past 26 years.

Lillie will be sadly missed because she did so much for everyone in the Church, and related activities. No one was a stranger to this fine lady.

Mrs. Beckstead was born in Casselman, Ontario, April 10, 1905. She was the daughter of Marshall and Catherine (Montague) Merkley and was married to Grant B. Beckstead, April 14, 1926.

She leaves to mourn her loss: her beloved husband; a son D'Arcy Charles of Ottawa; and three daughters, Marion (Mrs. V. Thomas Fournier) Brockville, Doris Armstrong, Brockville and Thelma, Ottawa. She also leaves six grandchildren, Ian S. Beckstead, U. of R., Richmond, Virginia, Sherri and Judi-Ann Fournier, and Cindy, Cheryl and Malcolm Armstrong all of Brockville.

Mrs. Beckstead is also survived by four brothers, James Henry, George Arthur, Harold W. and J. Albert and one sister, Mrs. May Harriman.

The body rested at the Kelly Funeral Home, Ottawa, where relatives, neighbours and friends called to pay their last respects.

Rev. Jean Barkley, of Glebe-St., James United Church, conducted the funeral service.

Mrs. Beckstead was so inclined that among her last bequest insisted that it was befitting that her dear friends and nephews should and would be pallbearers. This function was carried out by the following people: Martin J. Montague, George B. Pickering, Aidan (Gus) J. Poupore, Ivan Merkley, Claire Merkley and Barry Merkley.

Interment took place at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

As we knew Lillie, she loved everyone, however, Lillie knows that we will all by together at the Master's call.

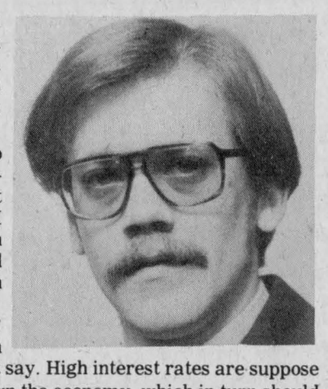
ST. LAWRENCE COLLEGE SAINT-LAURENT

Osnabruck this week

Richard Waldroff



Our federal politicians are still tying up countless hours in debate of the constitution. A document that no doubt is important but not necessarily a priority at this time.

Inflation, oil pricing, and so on, carry much greater importance. These are the items that concern most people today. I know this because I speak with different people each day, and these are some of the areas which they mention.

Where is it all going to end? Now that's a good question! I am not an economist so I really can't say. High interest rates are suppose to reduce spending, thus slow down the economy, which in turn should reduce inflation.

To me it seems just when prices have levelled off, or just when we have gotten use to the new price, oil products increase and we start all over. Our inflation rates appear to stem from the cost of oil and its by-products. Maybe to control inflation we must solve the oil pricing problem first.

Romping Through The Bruck

A report from the Osnabruck Recreation Director on last week's activities is as follows: Osnabruck Township March Madness Recreation Program was a great success this year, and will be even better next March! The teen dance was held on Thursday evening with eighty teens.The Children's program was attended by about 40 children each day, under the supervision of nine volunteers. Seventy children took the bus to Disco Wheels in Cornwall for an afternoon of roller skating. Black belt Karate instructor, Kevin Backs, put on a demonstration for children and teens at ODHS on Wednesday evening. The town council showed up Monday night to compete in the Adult Sport Fun Night, but couldn't manage to come close to a team of much younger bodies. The winning team was awarded Cooper sport bags to recognize their talent in such events as the tricycle race, bubble gum blowing and blind volleyball. A special thanks from the Recreation Department to all those who volunteered their time to make the program a success.

Dairy farmers request renewal of dairy policies

OTTAWA - Dairy Farmers of Canada (DFC) responded to a government discussion paper on federal dairy policy here last week by asking the government to renew its long-term commitment to "all the policies and programs required in a well conceived and consistent" national policy for industrial milk.

DFC President Bill Sherwood summarized the success of the national supply management policy and affirmed dairy farmers' support of it in a statement before a public hearing conducted by the Ministers of Agriculture and Consumer and Corporate Affairs.

The national dairy policy "has provided stable and fair returns to producers of industrial milk", he said, "it has provided consumers with a continuous and adequate supply of high quality dairy products at moderate prices."

Mr. Sherwood underlined the importance of the dairy industry to Canada, because of the "very substantial, and in many ways special contribution the dairy industry makes to the beneficial use of the land, to the economies of rural communities, to employment and to a stable rural society."

A detailed brief presented by the national association of dairy farmers addressed a number of questions and issues raised by the recent government discussion paper.

On the issue of quota values, DFC said that the conclusion drawn by the government paper from the level of quota values amounts to saying that producers can and should produce industrial milk for almost 25 per cent less than they are now.

"This is nonsense," said Sherwood, "It is nonsense that producers can produce the supply at such prices, and even greater nonsense to suggest that they should!"

Sherwood went on to show that for this conclusion to make sense would mean productivity since 1974 would have had to increase by at least 5 per cent to 7 per cent per year to offset cost increases. "Such a rate of productivity improvement is not even remotely achieveable" said Mr. Sherwood.

To be sure any productivity gains that are made are passed on to the consumer, DFC suggested a renewed forward five year guarantee of setting a target level of returns, on an agreed basis of costing criteria and methodology, so that the level of returns could be adjusted annually directly from the cost that the level of returns could be adjusted annually directly from the cost data.

"Our basic position," Mr. Sherwood said, "is that returns for industrial milk should provide producers with fair and reasonable returns to labour, capital and management, at better than average levels of productivity performance."

Berwick wins Oldtimers Tournament for the second successive year
Chesterville plays well but bows in consolation match to Metcalfe

(Staff) - For the second year in a row, Berwick captured the championship of the Chesterville Oldtimers Tournament.

Berwick earned the title with a 5-2 win over Smiths Falls Saturday at the Chesterville Arena.

Metcalfe denied Chesterville the consolation crown as they toppled the local favorites 6-2 in the B title match.

The warm weather on Saturday softened the ice creating problems as the day wore on particularly in the final two games. The crew at the arena flooded the ice twice before the A championship, but generally they were at the mercy of the high temperatures..

After a scoreless first period, Berwick hit for three straight goals in the second stanza before Smiths Falls got on the board. Winston Dingwall, Stephen O'Donahue and Brian Stewart found net within a span of two minutes before Garnet Badour scored for the Falls at 12:30.

Berwick regained their three-goal edge early in the third period as Guy Janveau tallied but Smiths Falls made the game interesting when Ernie Jones scored with four minutes left.

They immediately put the heat on the Berwick club, just missing on several chances to pull within one. With over a minute to go Smiths Falls goalie Don Webster scurried to the bench in favor of a sixth attacker but the strategy failed as Berwick's Leonard O'Donahue rolled the puck down into the vacated net sealing the win.

Chesterville put up a good fight in the consolation final but nothing seemed to go right for the Oldtimers as they were beaten by Metcalfe.

The home team had several probable scoring chances go up in smoke due to missed passes, the sluggish ice or because of Metcalfe goalie Tom O'Jack, who had Oldtimers forwards shaking their heads after coming from nowhere to make stops.

Neither team managed to score in the first period as O'Jack and Chesterville netminder Wayne LaPrade held their respective forts.

Metcalfe finally broke the ice in the second stanza as Walter Nibogie, Ron MacPherson and Terry Otto scored. Homer Geertsma breathed some life into Chesterville as a result of his hard drive which found the upper corner of the Metcalfe net with 1:12 left in the period.

However, a deficit of two goals was as close as the Oldtimers were to get on this day. Metcalfe again put a string of three unanswered goals together in the third period as Dan Morris, Harry Billings and Nibogie scored. Brian Savage setup Rick Cormier with two seconds left accounting for Chesterville's second goal, thus completing the game's statistical data.

Berwick advanced to the championship final with a close 1-0 win over Osgoode. Guy Janveau scored the game's only goal at the 15 second mark of the first period. From that point on it was a battle of evenly matched teams.

Ernie Jones scored the typing goal with 29 seconds left in the contest and Neil MacDonald tallied in extra time providing Smiths Falls with a come from behind 2-1 victory over Osgoode in the other A final. M. Magnan found net for Kemptville.

Chesterville moved to the consolation game when they cut down Edwardsburg 8-1. Les Holmes paced the Oldtimer attack with a hat trick. Jack Lannin, Rae Imrie, Don Munroe, Bernie Curran and Mike Fyke popped in singles. R. Brodeau unleashed the only drive that beat Wayne LaPrade.

In the other B semi, Metcalfe blanked Chalk River 3-0. Terry Bishop flicked in a pair of markers while Earl Merkley had the other. Tom O'Jack racked up the zero.

Chesterville was eliminated from the Championship Round as they were doubled up 4-2 by Osgoode in the tourney's first game. Paul Charlebois, Ron Ferguson, Terry Holmes and John MacAnich scored for the winners. Rae Imrie and Erik Thompson replied for the Oldtimers.

Brian Stewart and Winston Dingwall both chalked up hattricks in Berwick's 9-0 romp over Edwardsburg. Harold Dingwall, Stephen O'Donahue and Sid Bird had the others. Gord Markell posted the shutout.

N. Forbes kept the puck out of the net as Kemptville toppled Metcalfe 3-0. M. Magnan, J. Leizert and B. Milne provided all the scoring Kemptville needed.

The final preliminary game saw Smiths Falls nip Chalk River 4-3. Dennis Staples, Neil MacDonald, Clare Churchill and Ernie Jones scored for the Falls while J. Hickey, K. Lance and T. Scully replied for Chalk River.

The Bruins dropped their first game 4-2 to a strong squad from Nepean but won their second contest against Kemptville as Bradley Conley, Perry Armstrong, Terry Mousseau , Denis Landry and Laurier Desormeaux hit net.

Damien Laflamme was named the Most Valuable Player of the consolation final. He scored four gaols and two assists during the tournament.

On Wed., March 25, the Bruins travelled to Russell and won all three games they played to capture the A championship.

In the first game Crysler beat out Clarence Creek 2-1 in a very tight contest. Frank Landry and Denis Landry tallied for the winners. The Bruins downed Kemptville in the second test with Denis Landry, Perry Armstrong, with two, and Terry Mousseau firing in the goals.

The championship game against Parkwood Hills was a thrilling and hard fought match by both teams. Crysler overcame a 1-0 deficit to win 2-1. Terry Mousseau and Perry blasted in the goals.

Bruins are battling Winchester for the Carleton-Dundas Minor Hockey League Championship. Crysler leads the series five points to three.

Maroon one win from title

(Staff) - Maroon is one game away from becoming the champions of Chesterville Town League Hockey.

Maroon took a two game lead over Green in their best-of-five final with a 4-2 win Thursday night at the Chesterville Arena.

All the goals were scored in the third period. Green got on the board first with Pat Lynch set up Pat Imrie at the 1:06 mark.

However, Maroon drew on even terms at 2:59 courtesy of Randy Elliott who found net with help from Greg Beckstead and Kevin Mackler.

Elliott tallied again three minutes later from Greg Beckstead giving Maroon the lead. The spectre of overtime loomed large when Mike Lecuyer beat Maroon goalie Steve Droppo at 10:31.

Greg Beckstead put a dent in Green's victory hopes when he scored from Kevin Mackler and Bill Halem with only 1:46 left to play.

Maroon put the contest away for good when Mackler scored from Randy Elliott at the 14:54 mark.

The loss puts Green into a must win situation on Thursday night at the Chesterville Arena. Game time is 7pm.
