SLPC cancels French classes

JUDITH O'BRIEN
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — The tangled red tape of bureaucracy may prevent some employees of The St. Lawrence Parks Commission from taking French lessons this winter.

Bureaucrats from the provincial government's French language training service have set the minimum number of French language students per class at six, even though officials estimate French speaking visitors to Upper Canada Village number as high as 30 per cent. Because only three people have registered for the advanced class and an insufficient number for the beginner class the courses won't be offered.

Mike Hart, SLPC Human Resources Manager said other alternatives such as courses at St. Lawrence College in Cornwall or night courses at local high schools may be offered to interested employees. He said he "hopes to do something" but could not guarantee a starting date.

Only those who began French language training last year are guaranteed classes this year. They number approximately 10 to 14.

"We had three people in the advanced class this year and we are looking for other candidates to make a larger group," said Hart. "If we can't we will look at other alternatives."

He said no cut off date has been announced yet but the only definite plan will be to go ahead with the students who started courses last year.

He maintained that whatever the outcome, the parks commission will continue to reimburse employees for the cost of the French lessons and whatever alternative is arranged it must be satisfactory to the French language training service and eventually lead to an Ontario Civil Service bilingual designation.

The parks commission receives money to provide French language training in its regular budget from the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation but is hoping to receive increased funding for language lessons over the next few years under Bill 8, the French language services act.

"We were pleased with our attendance in classes last year," said Hart. "It was higher than any other group. Somewhere down the road we might broaden classes to include others but right now our priority is admission staff, interpreters and some commssion employees, those who come into direct contact with French-speaking visitors."

Several employees were disappointed with the cancellation of lessons. Many mentioned they could not attend night courses in Cornwall because of family commitments but were ready, willing and able to take lessons during the day. In-house courses offered by SLPC are held mornings and afternoons three times per week at the Morrisburg Legion.

Noble Villeneuve, MPP Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville said he would certainly look into the situation. When contacted at his Moose Creek office Monday Villeneuve said he hadn't heard anything about cancellation of French lessons and he couldn't comment until he knew more. He did say, however, that he had not been approached by any employee of the parks commission about the language lessons, but even if there were only four or five people signed up for lessons they should be provided close by.

"I think they should go forth no matter what happens," he said. "If the parks commission needs assistance to make sure the classes go on or to establish guidelines that are more flexible I will help."

Council orders second opinion for village pumps, wet wells

JUDITH O'BRIEN
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — The problem plagued village trunk sewer project has hit another snag — and a second opinion is needed.

At their meeting Monday night Village councillors agreed to seek a second opinion from the Ottawa engineering firm of Totten, Sims and Hubicki on the sewer pumps and wet well and determine the need for a building or cover over the sewage screen located at the sewer plant.

The screen is used to filter sewage and in the original design by engineer Derek Wilson of Toronto, it was located outside of the main sewage plant. But council thinks the fluid might freeze during the winter months and may need a building or cover to protect it.

"It probably should have been designed with a cover but councillors are not engineers and neither am I," said Village Clerk Lloyd Barkley. "The engineering firm are specialists in sewage design."

The engineers from Totten, Sims and Hubicki will also determine whether the village should stay with the present pump system or install new ones.

The Ministry of Environment told the village the present pump system is not up to par. The pumps will only work when they are full of water but the sewer level is lower than the pumps, forcing the pumps to start to work at a lower elevation which can cause serious problems if not corrected. Engineers will have to decide if the village should install a vacuum system to allow the pumps to function or lower the wet well. Other options include installing variable speeds on the pumps or submersible pumps.

Barkley could not say how much the second opinion would cost or how long it will take. He did say that MOE would probably reimburse the village for the second opinion fees. But when asked if council was withholding Wilson's fees he refused to comment.

Background

There have been several problems with the village's two-phase sewer project. Barkley said phase one of the project, the trunk sewer, came in right on target and exactly as designed but even it experienced a bumpy road.

Phase one cost $1.6 million and involved repairs and installation of a trunk sewer. In May, Wilson said the level of water coming into the system was below the bottom of the pumps situated near the sewage plant. At that time MOE said the pumps were not up to par.

In June council had to borrow a submersible pump for 30 days to get the sewer system going and test the pumps that were malfunctioning. Council did not have to pay for the use of the submersible pump but had to pay $1,000 installation costs. The main problem with the pumps was they could not handle various speeds.

Last month MOE said the village sewer problem was not very serious providing the municipality planned on correcting it soon. The problem was the current state of the pumps did not meet MOE standards to suspend its solid removal. Because the sewer was located lower than the pump it could cause serious problems if left uncorrected.

Rick Eamon from MOE estimated modifications to the pumps could cost between $30,000-$40,000. In addition council passed a motion to stop the sewer project at phase one.

Wilson was to meet with council prior to Monday's regular session but failed to put in an appearance.

Reject offer

County road workers locked out

BONNIE MCNAIRN
Leader staff

WINCHESTER SPRINGS—Negotiators for the United Counties and the locked-out road workers will head back to the bargaining table today, Wednesday, with the help of provincial mediator Brian Martin.

Stressing they aren't on strike and they want to work, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees local 1714 formed a picked line in front of the Counties Road building east of here Tuesday morning. They were locked out last Thursday morning after rejecting the Counties' offer by an 82 per cent margin.

Union Vice-president Robin McIntyre said the two issues are money and job security.

"We are presently $1.90 behind the Department of Highways rates and at least five township crews in the United Counties are making more than we are," he said.

The union is seeking a $1.50 per hour increase over a two-year period while the Counties are offering 50 cents the first year and 55 cents the second. Road workers presently earn an average of $10.25 per hour.

"We feel if we had had more talks we could have settled this without a lock-out," said McIntyre. "They've told us if we don't accept what they offer we can stay out until we do."

Last week's vote, which saw the Counties' offer rejected by 82 per cent, did not give a true picture explained McIntyre. "Actually 100 per cent of our members thought it was unfair but the 20 per cent who voted for it did so because of their financial situation."

"We've had 100 per cent participation in our action against council," he added.

McIntyre explained his group is looking for the same settlement received by Charlottenburg Township which was $1.50 per hour over two years. "They settled Sept. 24 after being locked out for only eight hours," he said.

As for the job security the workers are asking there be no reduction in work hours or present staff due to contracting out.

There is some contracting out now, explained McIntyre, but it's work we can't do and our road workers are not against that. "We just want to do the work we are doing which includes signing, patching, ditching and general maintenance," he said. "It's our intent to protect our present union members."

Monday, members of local 1715 met with various members of counties council including Osnabruck township Reeve Stewart Hart, Johnny Whitteker, reeve of Williamsburg Township and Gerald Holmes of Winchester Township.

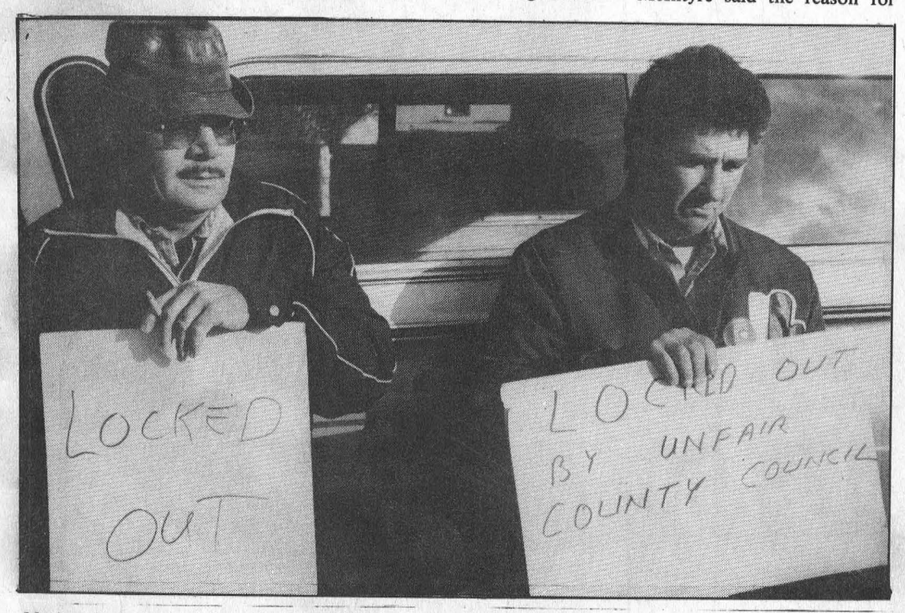
"Generally they thought we should be closer to the Department of Highway rates than we are," said McIntyre.

McIntyre said the reason for the lock out was the counties felt the union had deliberately dragged their feet in negotiating and reaching a decision. "They said Steve Backs (CUPE district representative) is notoriously hard to set up a meeting with, but Mr. Lapointe (Counties Clerk-Treasurer) is not easy either."

Thursday afternoon some members of the Union walked into Lapointe's office and stayed for 45 minutes. They left after Cornwall police were called in. On Friday they entered a county owned building in Finch but left on their own after a few minutes.

Counties Councillors voted at their last session to lock out workers if mediation talks failed. The previous contract expired March 22. Although the union has been in a legal strike position for over one week, a strike vote has not been taken.

Wednesday's session will be the fourth time the two sides have attempted to resolve the dispute.



United Counties road workers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees local 1715 were locked out by the Counties Thursday after negotiation talks failed. The workers, citing money and job security as the main stumbling blocks, picketed the Counties roads building west of Winchester Springs, Tuesday. —McNairn photo

Village of Cardinal charged

The Ontario Ministry of the Environment has charged the Village of Cardinal with 16 charges under the Environmental Protection Act.

The village is charged under section 27(b) of the act, which pertains to operating a waste disposal site not in accordance with the conditions of a Certificate of Approval.

The charges follow a ministry investigation into events between September 1985 and May 1987. The ministry alleges non-compliance with the conditions of a Certificate of Approval which prohibits the burning of waste and which requires that waste be compacted and be covered with clear fill on a regular basis.

A first court date has been set for 9 a.m., Oct. 15, at Prescott Provincial Offences Court.

Accident on Hwy. 401

Morrisburg firefighters were called out at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday to help extricate the driver of a tractor-trailer which had been in collision with a van. Firemen had to cut through the sleeper in order to reach the trapped driver, a process which took two hours. The accident occurred two kilometers west of Morrisburg on Hwy. 401. Carol Dufresne of Montreal suffered a broken arm and other minor injuries. The driver of the van escaped injury. —Sam Laurin photo

Police Report

MORRISBURG — OPP report two accidents which occurred on Oct. 2. At 9:55 a.m. Donald Robinson of R.R.1 Williamsburg struck and killed a deer on Hwy. 31 south of the 401 overpass.

Robinson, 30, was driving a 1984 Chevrolet pick-up. He was not injured in the collision but damage to the pick-up is estimated at $2,000.

At 10:15 a.m. Vinko Tsui, 21, of Waterloo, Ontario was involved in a single car accident while proceeding west on Hwy. 401. Just past the Stormont-Dundas County line he attempted to overtake another vehicle. His car wheel went off the road into the shoulder. He overcompensated while trying to get back onto the road and rolled his car.

He was not injured but damage to his 1987 Nissan is estimated at $7,000.

Stats for the week of Sept. 28 to Oct. 4 are:

12 hour licence suspensions	3
alcohol related charges	4
persons charged with alcohol related offences	2
highway traffic act charges	80
highway traffic act warnings	24
persons charged under liquor licence act	4

LONG SAULT — OPP report several accidents in the area during the past week.

Sherry Campbell, 20, of Ingleside received $1,200 damage to her 1983 Toyota when she collided with a 1977 Ford driven by June Zeran, 59, of Newington in the parking lot of the Ingleside shopping plaza.

The accident occurred Oct. 1 at 10:15 a.m. The Ford received $300 damage. There were no injuries and no charges were laid. The accident was investigated by Const. Iain MacLeod.

Steven Blackman, 20, of Etobicoke, Ontario was charged with careless driving following an accident on Hwy. 401 east of Wales Road.

On Oct. 3 at 1:37 a.m. Blackman was proceeding eastbound on the highway when he entered the median crossed into the westbound land and rolled the car several times, landing in the ditch.

Blackman and a passenger in the car Michael Dewe, 20, of Toronto received minor injuries and were transported by ambulance to hospital in Cornwall.

Blackman's 1987 Dodge received $15,000 damage. Const. Mark VanBuskirk investigated.

Iroquois joins recycling trend

JUDITH O'BRIEN
Leader staff

IROQUOIS — The face of Ontario may be red but soon there will be plenty of blue in Iroquois — blue recycling boxes that is.

At its meeting Tuesday night, Iroquois council unanimously endorsed a plan by Guy Leclair of Dundas Recycling to begin a recycling program in the village.

Leclair is starting similar programs in Winchester and Chesterville this week and he estimates Iroquois residents will generate 4,100 pounds of recyclable newsprint per month, 1,300 pounds of glass and 950 pounds of metal containers. He said the estimates are on the conservative side and he predicts he will collect more recyclable materials.

The village has agreed to purchase one blue recycling box per household. The box is used to store recyclable materials and is put out on regular garbage collection days. One-third of the cost of the boxes will be picked up by the provincial Ministry of Environment, another third by Ontario Multi Material Recycling Inc. (OMMRI) and the final third by the village.

Leclair said municipalities, which start recycling programs, usually begin with a heavy promotion campaign through newspaper advertisements, posters and distribution of flyers. OMMRI picks up the tab for the launch campaign and Leclair will supply flyers which will be mailed out with village hydro or tax bills every six months.

"We are looking at major changes in landfill sites with costs to truck waste to central sites increasing and in this area it will probably be Spencerville," said Leclair. "In addition there will be tipping fees. Eventually I hope to see all of Dundas County recycling."

Leclair said the blue box recycling container gives people a place to store materials in their homes, remind them to save materials for the program, and is easy for garbage collectors to identify.

"The materials go every week so it doesn't clutter up the house," he said. "Convenience is the most important issue. You don't have to take labels off glass containers although the average person usually takes labels off tin cans."

By recycling Leclair estimates the village can save 10 to 15 per cent of its landfill costs and he will provide the village with statistics on the number of tonnes of recyclable material he collects each year.

Councillors were eager to get the program underway immediately but according to Leclair, by the time the blue boxes are delivered it will be a cold period of the year and it is not a good time to start a recycling program when there is snow on the ground.

"We are looking at a spring start-up in Iroquois," he said. "I am hoping we will achieve a 70 per cent participation rate."

Leclair will draw up an agreement with the village providing him with the exclusive recycling rights in Iroquois for five years, on the condition the village receives grant money for blue boxes and the launch campaign. If his performance is poor the village will have the right to cancel the contract.

MORRISBURG — Willa Johnston of Ottawa Street is 97 years young and enjoying every minute of it.

The former Illinois resident was born Aug. 15, 1890 and has lived in the Morrisburg area since 1932. Reaching the mature age of 97 has brought Willa a host of congratulatory messages from Governor-General Jeanne Sauve, Noble Villeneuve MPP Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville, Norm Warner MP Stormont-Dundas and the latest from Prime Minister Brian Mulroney.

Willa is an active member of Lakeshore Drive United Church and the Morrisburg Canadian Club. In fact she used to attend Canadian Club meetings when women were not allowed membership status and were forced to sit in the gallery.

Willa credits part of her longevity to her continuing interest in national and local affairs. She says she doesn't go to bed until she has finished watching The National and The Journal every night.

"Once you lose interest you've had it," she said. She is pictured with Karen Gorrell, who presented a plaque from the Prime Minister.

APEC members wrap up two day conference

BROCKVILLE — APEC (Alliance for the Preservation of English in Canada) members representing three regions in Ontario wrapped up a two day conference in Brockville Monday, and repeated their belief that Ontario's Bill 8, the French language services act is a bill which discriminates against unilingual Anglophones.

In a statement released to the media, Faye Garner, Eastern Regional Director said the group has watched "with dismay" the increasing level of discrimination as each new step in the Official Bilingualism process was taken by government.

She said research on official bilingualism conducted over the past 10 years has shown how little the public knows about its discriminatory aspects.

"APEC knew that a responsive chord must be struck in the grass roots of this province if our message was to get through and bear fruit," she said. "Premier Peterson has provided us with the vehicle for the transmission of our message, Bill 8."

Group members claim that APEC offices have been flooded with telephone calls and letters over the past eight months requesting more information on Bill 8, and membership is expanding at a rapid rate. Branches are continuing to open on a weekly basis and membership is said to be province-wide.

Garner said members are also concerned about Bill C-72, a revised act of the Official Languages Act of 1969. She said these two acts will result in the English-speaking people of Canada becoming serfs of the new French elite, and the collusion of the leaders of the political parties concerning official bilingualism has confirmed that a conspiracy of silence exists.

"Language police to enforce these acts will cost taxpayers tens of millions of dollars and are resulting in loss of job opportunities for English-speaking Canadians, inefficiency and higher taxes for everyone," said Garner. "We in APEC are gravely concerned about the inevitable consequences for Canada as a nation if Bill C-72 and Bill 8 are implemented."

Garner cited the example of anglophone nurses working for the Eastern Ontario Health Unit in Cornwall and Winchester. She said as a direct result of Bill 8, EOHU is now designated a bilingual organization and there is no chance of promotion for unilingual staff members.

APEC branches which were represented at the meeting included Morrisburg, Ottawa, Winchester, Kemptville, Smiths Falls, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston, Napanee and Picton. Delegates from the North Bay branch attended as observers.

Ottawa Valley serial killer

OPP add another investigator to team

TORONTO — Another investigator has been added to the 60-man team investigating the Ottawa Valley serial killer case OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson announced Monday.

Supt. Ron Piers will join the search for the killer linked to three and possibly more deaths in the Winchester area over the last 12 years.

Piers was one of the men who solved the Hulmuth Buxbaum murder case. Buxbaum was the millionaire convicted of the first degree murder of his wife in July 1984. He originally told police his wife was killed by an unknown assailant on the highway near Komoka, Ont.

Piers was recently promoted to the OPP's private inventigator's registration branch but was named to this case to help Det.-Insp. James McCormick investigate the area killings. Dept.-Insp. Lyle McCharles, a former member of Special Enforcement Unit into organized crime has also joined the investigation. MacCharles helped get convictions against Cosimo Michele and Remo Commissio, alleged leaders of the mob in Ontario.

The appointment of Piers to the case was made because the OPP understand public concern over the deaths, said Ferguson.

He also said the OPP has changed its press conference policies as a result of one held Sept. 21 in Long Sault. During the press conference McCormick urged the killer to talk to the media and tell his story. As a result of local rumor a Chesterville area man was hounded by the media for days.

Solicitor General Joan Smith said this week that the OPP made an error in judgement in handling the serial killer investigation.

Six deaths are under investigation, dating back to 1975. In all but one of the six deaths, police say, fire was set or an attempt was made to set a fire.

Now thank we all our God

Next Monday, October 12th marks the observance in Canada of the festival of Thanksgiving, an observance that was first marked on the North American continent at the Plymouth Colony in Massachussets on November 21st, 1621. On that date, the earliest settlers of the colony invited the friendly Indians whom they had found there, to join with them in giving thanks to God for the fruits of their bountiful first harvest. The Indians, it is said, introduced their European friends to such New World delicacies as wild turkeys and pumpkins, and apparently everyone agreed that the observance was an unqualified success. So much so, that the custom soon became general, and spread to other states.

In Canada, Thanksgiving has been linked to the Old English Harvest Home Festival, and is now observed on the second Monday of October. Although for a great many people, the original deeply religioous meaning of the feast has been relegated to a second position, it is nevertheless the last holiday before the onset of the long, cold Canadian winter, and it has become a favorite occasion for family gatherings and feasting, for jollity and celebrations.

In spite of the many and persistent troubles which plague most of us at one time or another, surely all of us can find a great deal to be thankful for at this time. We do, it is true, have a high cost of living, but we also have the highest wages in the world; although we still have far too much unemployment, we also have the most generous unemployment benefits of any country. Above all, we have the great good fortune to live in Canada, and for this beautiful and bountiful land we should never cease to be thankful. We enjoy comparative freedom from disease, drought and famine, the scourges of so many millions of the earth's inhabitants. Our educational opportunities are among the finest in the world, and are constantly improving. Our health is protected and our lives prolonged by the best facilities and the most advanced research. No other country has more reason to be thankful than does Canada.

All of us can afford to take a few moments this weekend to reflect on our good fortune, and to give thanks to a kindly Providence for all those bounties which we enjoy. Some of us might even be influenced to do a little something extra for a neighbor — to express our thanks in a concrete manner.

Referendum is unlikely

Those people who keep clamoring for a referendum on Ontario Bill 8 are ignoring several facts which should be apparent to almost anyone.

The first fact is that a resounding vote of confidence on the matter has already been given to Premier David Peterson. Just in case some of his critics may have forgotten, the Liberal leader, during the election campaign which ended just a month ago, stated on many, many occasions, and in the most unequivocal terms that he, his caucus and his party were committed to the Bill, and that if he were elected to form a government, there would be no referendum on it. He made his stand perfectly clear, and asked the voters of this province for their support.

The rest, as they say, is history. In one of the widest sweeps ever recorded in Ontario's political history, electors from every section of the province gave such tremendous approval to the Peterson record and the Peterson party platform, that his majority in the Legislature is one of the largest ever, for any Premier.

The second fact being ignored is that the New Democratic Party, which also gave unqualified support to Bill 8 during the election campaign, elected the second largest number of members, and became the Official Opposition; and that the only party leader who waffled on his earlier support for the same Bill, lost his own seat, and later resigned as party leader.

Under such circumstances, the possibility of any referendum at any time during the next five years, is about as likely as you winning the 6/49 draw tonight. A cautious gambler, we think, would hesitate to lay odds on it.

Winterize your car now

If you drive and maintain your car in winter the same way you do in the summer, you're asking for big trouble, advises the Ontario Safety League.

According to the League, your car needs differ in the winter much in the same way you need to master different driving skills to meet winter driving conditions. For a quick pre-season warmup to guarantee you won't be left out in the cold, here's how to winterize your car in seven easy steps:

1. Have your battery tested. Get it charged, if required, or replaced if you think it will not last through the winter.

2. Check brakes for quick, precision stops. Perfect braking means equal braking on all four wheels.

3. Check all tires for worn spots and balance. Regular tires with deep treads will provide adequate traction on most winter roads. Snow tires are even better. Reinforced tire chains are best for severe snow and ice stop-and-go traction.

4. Check windshield wipers for adequate arm tension and blade contact. If blades are worn or cracked, replace them.

5. Fill the windshield washer system with a quality anti-freeze solution.

6. Test the defroster to make sure all of them are working properly.

7. Check the entire exhaust system for leaks. Even a small exhaust leak in a tightly closed car could cost your life, or the lives of your passengers.

Fire prevention practices

This year, the week of October 4th to October 11th is observed as Fire Prevention Week in Canada, and firefighting groups across the country call to everyone's attention a few sensible precautions which can help prevent fires, and which can save lives if fires do get started. Here are a few of them:

Make sure that your home, your business premises or wherever else you are likely to be, have a properly functioning smoke alarm. Many fires gain considerable momentum before they are noticed.

Do not have gasoline, kerosene or other dangerously flammable materials in your home unless it is absolutely necessary, and then only in approved safety containers. Be especially careful too, in the storage of propane gas containers.

Do not overload electrical circuits or services. Do not use heavier fuses than specified. Such practices invite fires.

Keep matches, lighters, etc., out of the reach of children.

Employ only a competent baby sitter, and make sure that your sitter knows what to do in case of fire.

Check cushions, waste baskets, etc., for burning cigarettes before retiring. And don't ever, ever smoke in bed.

Prepare not only one, but two plans of escape from your home, and make sure that every member of your family is familiar with them.

Remember, almost all fires are caused by human carelessness, and almost all of them can be prevented. Fire Prevention Week is the ideal time for a review of fire safety practices in every home.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles
by Bonnie McNairn

Continuous rain and a lack of participation by local merchants saw small crowds out to view the 7th annual Morrisburg and District Home and Trade Show.

Ed Lumley, M.P. for the riding of Stormont-Dundas had been appointed by Prime Minster Pierre Elliott Trudeau as Parliamentary Secretary to Federal Minister of Finance, Jean Chretien.

Paul Hill, of Hills' Mobile Village approached Morrisburg council with plans for a proposed sub-division of pre-fabricated and on site building to be located north of Highway 2 and west of the Morrisburg Water Tower.

The Ontario Liquor Store Outlet in Morrisburg was experiencing in-store changes which included re-constructing the interior to include open shelves.

The Morrisburg Library was officially opened with Ed Lumley M.P. cutting the ribbon held by Max Keeping from CJOH TV.

At Heinz' Food Market cauliflower were two for $1 and Maxwell House ground coffee was $3.79 a pound package.

1967

The October 6th, 1967 issue of The Leader reported that over 400 people joined to offer their best wishes to a popular Matilda Township couple, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Zeron who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. They were married September 28th, 1927 by Rev. Mahlon Robertson, United Church minister at Iroquois.

Contemporary in concept was the summer home, near Morrisburg of one of Canada's foremost landscape architects, Donald Graham of Ottawa. Although the Lake St. Lawrence setting on scenic Highway 2 was typically Canadian, Architect John Leamin had introduced an exciting feeling of the Orient with the suggestion of pagodas behind a walled enclosure.

At Brinston's Allied Food Market turkeys were 39 cents a pound and waxed turnips were seven cents a pound.

Pictured on the front page of the October 4th, 1987 issue of The Leader was Paul Roberts, proprietor of Paul's Hall, Williamsburg, as he presented a cheque for $1,500 to Morrisburg Police Chief Earl McIntyre, who accepted the cheque on behalf of the Ronald Pitt Fund.

Morrisburg High School won the Meikle Cup in the annual competition against Iroquois High. Some champions of the day were: Lawrence Wells, Morrisburg, senior boy; Douglas Casselman, Morrisburg, intermediate boy; Robert Gillard, Iroquois, junior boy; Anne Heuvel, Iroquois, senior girl; Louise Elliott, Morrisburg, intermediate girl; Sharon Smith, Iroquois, junior girl.

Opening dates for the new shopping centre at Morrisburg were set for December 5, 6, 7.

Headlines in the October 3rd, 1947 issue of The Leader read Body of Billy Snyder Found. The body of Billy Snyder, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder of Morrisburg, was found about half way between the head of the Little River and Waddington, N.Y. Searches had been continued since the accident between the oil tanker Translake and the coal carrier Milverton a week earlier.

The 60th anniversary of the institution of Court Williamsburg No. 20, Canadian Order of Foresters located at Morrisburg, was celebrated by a large and representative district meeting called by Dr. K.A. Blancher.

At the Morrisburg Locker Plant Retail Market oranges were five dozen for $1 and pure pork sausage was 35 cents a pound.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Black had received word from Ottawa that their daughter Muriel, three-years-old, was the perfect little model and would be seen in the new publication entitled "Growing Up from Three to Six."

1937

It was announced in the October 1st, 1937 issue of The Leader that the two parties at the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute which made up the Students' Council had selected their leaders and make their nominations for the year. The elections were expected to be held within a week. The Athenians' President was Keith Saddlemire and the leader of the girls was Mildred Cameron. Spartans president was Arthur Colquhoun and Betty Weston was leader of the girls.

At the Cameo Theatre everybody's sweetheart, Shirley Temple, was startring in Wee Willie Winkie. To accommodate the huge crowds expected extra matinees were being run on Friday and Saturday.

The village of Iroquois reported its first case of poliomyelitis in the current epidemic, the victim being an adult.

At Beckstead's market round steak was two pounds for 25 cents and celery hearts were 10 cents a bunch.

The October 7th, 1927 issue of The Leader reported that Daisy Oliver of S.S.3 Williamsburg Township won the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. trophy for the pupil with the highest number of points at the Williamsburg School Fair.

A total of 156 students were enrolled at Morrisburg Public School.

At the Dominion Stores Ltd. Domino black tea was 69 cents a pound and white beans were four pounds for 17 cents.

the Kitchen Garden

V.A. Hughes

As we approach Thanksgiving, the harvest that we are grateful for is resting in freezers, root cellars and larders, a colourful array of produce from the garden. In the past this abundance was especially appreciated as there would be little else until the following year.

There was no fresh Asparagus from Mexico and no frozen peas. Before the advent of frozen or canned vegetables, we had to rely on dried vegetables and root crops that could be stored during the long winter.

One of our favorite stories that recalls those early days is from the series by Laura Ingalls Wilder, "On the Banks of Plum Creek". Today we may not dry the strings of Apple slices or put Turnips by in sawdust, but most of us will have a few jars of a favorite relish or jam on the shelf.

While we were looking for something new to do with the Apple harvest we found ourselves with a growing stack of cookbooks, all Canadian. Among the best were two from Nova Scotia — "Out of Old Nova Scotia Kitchens" and "Ripe 'N Ready", and a recipe in an old I.O.D.E. cookbook for an Apple custard. But reading cookbooks is something like reading mysteries, once you've finished one you're looking for another. The stack grew and ended up looking like this:

Balcom, Joan: Ripe 'N Ready, Apple recipes, Kitchen Tested, from Nova Scotia's Famous Annapolis Valley. Howard H. Letau — Truro 1966, $4.00.

Bates, Christina: Out of Old Ontario Kitchens. Pagurian Press — Pagurian Press 1978, $8.50.

Ellis, Eleanor: Northern Cookbook. Hurtig Publishers 1979 pb. $6.00.

Garrett, Blanche Pownall: Canadian Country Preserves & Wines, James Lewis & Samuel, Publishers 1974, $5.75.

I.O.D.E. Evangeline Chapter, Halifax, N.S.: New Tested Recipes, Ross Print Ltd. 1934, $3.75.

Margaret, Len: Fish & Brewis, Toutens & Tales. Breakwater 1980, $3.00.

Nightingale, Marie: Out of Old Nova Scotia Kitchens. Pagurian Press 1976. $7.50.

Rebick, Glenna & Alvin: The Very Best of the Baker Street Bistro. The Porcupine's Press 1984. $4.00.

Rubia, Geraldine: A Poem In My Soup. Jesperson Press 1980 pb. $4.00.

Sister St. Mary Edith: The Secrets of Good Cooking. The Montreal Cooking School 1928.

Stechishin, Savella: Traditional Ukrainian Cookery. Trident Press 1959. $20.00.

Vineberg, Trina: Family Heirlooms. McClelland & Stewart 1965. $5.00.

As a result of our reading we are going to try something new. This year our Thanksgiving tribute will take a different form, not Pumpkin pie that traditionally appears on the festive table, or the Pumpkin soup that we've offered in the past. This year it's Apple Custard and a recipe from the Baker Street Bistro Cookbook — a curried soup to warm the gardeners who have been out planting bulbs.

Curried Sweet Potato Soup

1 large onion, chopped
1 clove of garlic, finely chopped
4 sweet potatoes, peeled and chopped
1 carrot, peeled and chopped
2 medium potatoes, peeled and chopped vegetable or chicken stock and cream

Gently simmer onion and garlic in 2 Tbsp. butter in a large soup pot. Add remaining vegetables and stock to cover, add another 2-3 cups liquid. Cover tightly and simmer until vegetables are tender.

Season with 1-2 Tbsp. curry powder, 1 tsp. cumin, a pinch of cinnamon, ground ginger, salt and pepper. Puree a little, 2 cups at a time in a blender or food processor, adding cream to alterbate batches.

Return to soup pot, adjust seasoning and broth for desired taste and consistency. It is normally served fairly thick. A dollop of sour cream and/or toasted almonds make an excellent complement.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Editor, Morrisburg Leader,
Morrisburg, Ontario.
Dear Mr. Laurin:-

Having grown up in the Morrisburg area, I've always kept an interest in the happenings of the village, even though I'm now living in Ottawa. I was particularly interested in the comments of Gerry Rosenquist regarding APEC and Bill 8. Living in a bilingual region, I have seen the effects of bilingualism on people who cannot speak the second official language, whether it be French or English. Many cannot go to school outside of working hours to learn the second language, due to either family commitments or lack of funds. Although I cannot say I've seen anyone lose their job because of language, I have seen many people denied promotion and/or locked in a dead end job because of it. I myself was offered a higher position on the condition I passed one final test, French. Because I didn't achieve the requested language proficiency, the position was offered to the second most qualified person.

This procedure is commonplace in a bilingual organization. And although people may not lose their present job once it becomes bilingual, when they leave, and that job becomes vacant, the next person to apply will more than likely be required to speak both languages, thereby restricting those who are unilingual from applying, regardless of how qualified they may be. I feel it is very unfortunate that this situation exists. I am not against bilingualism, and am always trying to upgrade my second language skills, but I do feel people must be realistic, in that there can be certain obvious employment restrictions when implementing a bilingualism policy.

As a concerned observer of the language debate in Morrisburg, I hope that this letter will open some eyes as to what kind of situation could exist in a bilingual work environment, and help people make a more informed, realistic decision. Incidentally, I have resigned from the bilingual organization where I was working, and have taken employment with a company where 95% of

Donation accepted

The Stormont and St. Lawrence chapters of the I.O.D.E. donated two park benches and two planters to The St. Lawrence Parks Commission for use in the rose garden. S.L.P.C. IODE donate benches, planters

MORRISBURG — The Stormont and St. Lawrence chapters of the IODE dedicated two park benches and two plant holders to the St. Lawrence Parks Commission last week, for use in the Queen Elizabeth Rose Gardens.

The IODE is a patriotic organization founded in 1900 and dedicated to providing service to the King or Queen of England.

The money to buy the benches and planters was raised by both chapters through yard sales.

Robert Cook, General Manager of SLPC said the gift of the rose garden to the Queen in 1984 was a very unusual thing.

He explained that when the Queen or King visits Canada the government usually decides to recognize the trip with a gift. The gift is not a personal one but is given to the Queen in her capacity as Head of State. In return, she donates it to the people of Canada.

The 1984 visit by Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip was to recognize the history of Ontario and the government decided to give a gift which would in turn recognize the province's early history.

"I am pleased they decided to recognize this area which was one of the earliest settlements in Ontario," said Cook. "The selection of the grounds for the Queen Elizabeth Rose Garden is significant because a battle was fought there to ensure Canada remained a national entity."

Cook said the rules of protocol were changed somewhat by the presentation of the gardens, because when it was presented to the Queen it was not yet built. Cook said the Queen was delighted to accept the gardens provided they were finished.

In addition to the roses, new benches and planters, the gardens will feature 25,000 daffodils next spring. A fountain on the grounds has just been completed and over 2,000 trees have been planted.

The parks commission intends to build an exit from the highway to the rose gardens next month so it will be easier for people to stop in and enjoy it.

The IODE decided to present a gift to the gardens because the Queen is the patron of the group.

Pleasure drive to run Oct. 11

MORRISBURG — The Eastern Ontario Pleasure Driving Society Inc., in co-operation with The St. Lawrence Commission, are presenting a horse-drawn "pleasure drive" through Crysler Farm Battlefield Park on Sunday, October 11 (raindate: October 12) at 1 p.m.

The Eastern Ontario Pleasure Driving Society is a group of vintage carriage enthusiasts based in Eastern Ontario, with members hailing from Ontario, Quebec and the United States. This society was established in 1975 with the mandate to promote the "association of individuals with an interest in vintage carriages other animal-drawn vehicles or pleasure driving...The society emphasizes family involvement in meetings and driving activities." Most driving activities are planned to take place between May and October although sleigh rides also take place in winter.

A turnout of 20 vehicle entries are expected for this special Thanksgiving weekend driving event. Original and accurately restored and reproduced vehicles involved will include surreys, single and double concords, phaetons, traps and runabouts. The horse-powered drive will be a dress-up affair with drivers and passengers decked out in the appropriate historic garb.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Carelessness had no boundaries. No one can predict when or where the next tragic fire will happen. That's why it's important that we do all our jobs and practice fire prevention in everyway. Make it your business to look for fire hazards...in the home, on your property and where you work! Fix any faulty wiring...immediately; empty trash regularly...avoid buildups; keep heating and cooking equipment in top repair; store old oily rags in metal containers. Make sure you and everyone in your family knows what to do in a fire emergency...before it happens. Play it smart...be fire safe!

Dozens of times each year, Morrisburg and area Volunteer Firemen are called away from their families or jobs to risk their well-being in the service of others. They ask no payment for their effort but they ask your help in preventing senseless fires which we can prevent. On Fire Prevention Week we thank our firemen and ask your help in making every week Fire Prevention Week.

Check qualifications

Doctors win right to advertise service

When you are looking for a new doctor, what do you need to know to make an informed decision? Obviously, the doctor's professional qualifications are going to be important to you. But are other factors such as doctor's hours, hospital affiliation and services provided also important in reaching your decision? Does your list of considerations include such items as parking and baby-sitting facilities, what languages the doctor speaks, the doctor's age and sex, and how long you have to wait for an appointment?

The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, the body which regulates medicine in the province, is reviewing these questions in light of the legal restrictions which now govern the rights of doctors in Ontario to advertise their services.

Right now, a doctor's right to advertise is very limited, in order to protect members of the public from misleading advertising by the few physicians who might abuse this privlege.

Ontario law allows physicians to advertise only by way of professional business cards, appointment cards, a brief listing in a telephone directory and a small announcement in the newspaper when a practice starts up or changes locations.

Since this law was established, however, the practice of medicine has changed dramatically. The range of services provided by doctors varies widely, and many health care alternatives such as community health centres, and walk-in clinics are gaining new prominence. As well, consumers are becoming much more sophisticated and want to know a great deal more about their options before choosing a doctor.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons is reviewing this area in order to make recommendations to the Ontario Government as to whether or not the restrictions on doctors' advertising should be changed, and if so, how they should be changed.

In its review, the College is looking at issues such as what information would be in the public interest for doctors to provide and how should that information be provided. For example, should advertising be allowed in newspapers, in health care magazines, on radio, on television, in household flyers or brochures in the doctor's office, or should some combination of these choices be available?

In conducting its review, the College will be asking for opinions from public interest groups, members of the public, members of the medical profession and other professional groups, in order to develop a series of recommendations which meet the needs of the public while still protecting the public interest.

If you have an opinion on the issue of advertising by physicians that you would like to offer for the purposes of this review, please write to: The College of Physicians and Surgeons, 80 College Street, Toronto, Ontario. M5G 2E2. Attention: Dr. A.A. Shardt, Policy and Research.

Hunters warned not to eat moose liver

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is again warning hunters not to eat the kidneys and liver from moose, or the kidneys from deer because of high cadmium levels.

Cadmium is a heavy metal which can be toxic at high levels of exposure. It occurs naturally at low levels in the ecosystem but may reach higher levels in some areas. Cadmium accumulates in the kidneys and liver of some longer-living species such as moose and white-tailed deer. Experiments have shown that very high concentrations of cadmium can cause kidney and liver damage in mammals.

"Cadmium levels in moose and deer are lowest in southwestern Ontario and highest in central Ontario," Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio said. "The reason for these regional differences is not yet known, but we're conducting further studies to find out why, and how cadmium gets into the ecosystem."

The World Health Organization has set a limit of 0.5 milligrams per week for human consumption of cadmium. Extensive testing in Ontario has established that 300 grams (11 ounces) of liver from deer fawns may be consumed per week, according to WHO guidelines. The ministry recommends that liver from older deer should not be eaten, but that other moose and deer meat are safe for consumption.

Ministry researchers first discovered high cadmium levels in moose kidneys in 1984. Since then, with the co-operation of Ontario hunters, more than 700 moose and 950 white-tailed deer have been tested across the province. One trend that's been noted is that cadmium levels are generally higher in moose than in deer.

The ministry is involved in various co-operative studies with other government agencies and universities to determine the pathways of cadmium in the ecosystem.

Seaway News

BY CINDY LAURIN

Hi everybody! Well another week at the grindstone has gone by and we have all survived it. (I think!) Is everybody as bogged down with homework as I am? I hope not.

This week we had two of our students running for Social Convenor which involves negotiating for school dances and what not. The two, Les Pap and Kelly Tyrell, campaigned for a week and the votes were cast on Monday. Congratulations to Les Pap!

The new squad of Seaway Cheerleaders for the 87/88 season has been chosen to cheer the Seaway teams to victory. They are: Nancy Byers, captain, Isabella Farlinger, Cindy Laurin, Kim Dalrymple, Stephanie Watson, Kimberly MacDonald, Christine Prins, Laurin Rushton, Tammy Lewis and alternate Jennifer Allison. The girls will hopefully help Seaway make a big win this Thursday.

This week the Seaway students started their annual chocolate bar drive. All the kids will be out selling bars and almonds so eat, eat, eat!! The kids want to get rid of the chocolate bars because, rumors has it, the top selling homeroom gets a pizza party. So get out there and sell kids!

This past week there has also been the selling of Campus kits. Nifty little things with $22 worth of products for only $5.50. So get them while they're hot. There are only a few male kits left so be a pal and take them off Mr. Fairweather's hands. He looks so discouraged out in the hall trying to get rid of them.

Just a word for all you eaters out there, the cheerleaders will be holding a bake sale on Thursday across from the cafeteria at noon. Here's your chance to get some homebaked cookies or cupcakes at low, low prices. (Sounds like a Broyhill furniture commercial doesn't it?) The cheerleaders are raising money for new uniforms so it's for a good cause.

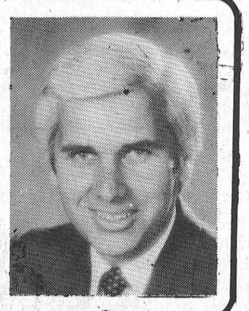
There is a dance coming this weekend at the Morrisburg Civic Centre. Word is out that there will be a dance there every month so night life in Morrisburg may pick up a bit.

And for all you concert goers, Brighton Rock will be appearing in the Seaway gym on Thursday, October 15. There is no school the next day so there's no excuse for not going and having a little fun. Well, that's all for this week. See you next time!

REPORT FROM

PARLIAMENT HILL

BY NORM WARNER, M.P.



The government recently tabled the Emergency Preparedness Bill, an act intended to replace the often criticized War Measures Act.

For the last 17 years Canadians and politicians of all parties have been urging abolition of the War Measures Act and its replacement by less Daconian legislation.

The government announced the designation of September 25 to October 1 as Canadian High Technology Week.

The past week showcased Canadian achievements in the important field of high-tech.

Over the last year the government has introduced several initiatives in the field of high technology; the establishment of the National Advisory Board on Science and Technology, chaired by the Prime Minister; the signing of Canada's first ever National Policy on Science and Technology with the provinces and the territories; and the launching of InnovAction, a comprehensive federal strategy for science and technology.

On the local front I would like to congratulate the Long Sault Yarn Plant of Dominion Textile Ltd. on winning a bronze award at the fourth annual Canada Awards for Business Excellence. The ceremony took place in Halifax and was sponsored by the Department of Regional and Industrial Expansion.

The award, presented by Hon. Robert De Cotret, Minister for Regional and Industrial Expansion, was won by the local plant in the field of productivity, for modernization of the manufacturing of yarns.

The staff of the plant worked together to win this outstanding prize and should feel pride in their achievement.

Last Saturday evening I was pleased to be present at two important local events. The 9th Chapter Night Dinner of the United Empire Loyalists was held at St. John's Presbyterian Church Hall. I was pleased to chat with so many fellow Loyalists. As well, I was pleased to attend the 35th annual banquet of the Nativity Guards. The event was held at Nativity Hall a fine crowd represented their organization.

Formed in 1907

Boy Scouts in need of volunteers

The Boy Scout movement started in England, in 1907, by Lord Baden-Powell at that time he had seven members, who embarked on the first scout camp on Brownsea Island. Within two years, there were tens of thousands of young boys in the organization.

The movement arrived in Canada in 1909, with one of the first scout troops being formed in Merrickville. In 1916, Boy Scouts of Canada was proclaimed by an act of Parliament. Since then, several hundreds of thousands of Canadian boys have passed through what is the largest organization for boys in the free world.

But, many ask, What is scouting all about?

Scouting is an organization serving boys from age five to twenty-five, through five levels. Beavers, Cubs, Scouts, Venturers and Rovers. Girls may not join in at the Venturer level.

The aim of scouting is to help its members develop their character as resourceful and responsible members of the community by providing opportunities and guidance for their mental, physical, social and spiritual development.

The principles of the movement are that man must to the best of his ability, love and serve God; respect and act in accordance with the human dignity and rights of individuals and to recognize the obligation on himself to develop and maintain his potential.

The Beaver program, for boys 5,6, and 7 is designed to develop a love of nature, an ability to share and play together to express their creative ability.

The Wolf Cub section, for boys 8, 9 and 10 is a program designed for maximum enjoyment through activities in areas such as outdoors, acting, games, badge and star work, crafts and stories.

The Scout Troop, for boys 11, 12, 13 and 14, provides an adventurous program where members participate in many activities, develop skills, earn badges and awards and have fun in the outdoors through hiking and camping, all designed to help guide them as they move towards good citizenship.

The Venturer is a boy or girl between 14 and 17. They work as a company in the planning and operation of action-oriented programs.

The Rover, for young men and women between 17 and 25, is a program that emphasizes the enjoyment of the outdoors, acts of community service and personal development.

All of these programs come under the umbrella of a sponsor, normally a church, service club or fire department. A group committee is then in place to ensure that the policies of both the Boy Scouts and the sponsor are followed.

Aside from the boys, possibly, the most important person in the group is the leader. He or she must be 18 years old to be an assistant, and 21 years old to be the leader in charge.

Have you given scouting a thought? Has your son mentioned that perhaps he would like to join. If so, contact a leader in your community, you will be directed to the appropriate section for your son's age. Remember, that in Scouting, there is a place for everyone.

Rabies vaccine okay

CORNWALL — A warning issued by U.S. authorities that thousands of dogs and cats in Canada and the U.S. have been inadequately vaccinated against rabies will not affect animals in this area said Dr. Robert Bourdeau of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

An estimated 15,000 veterinarians throughout North America injected the vaccine subcutaneously — below the skin — instead of into the muscle tissue.

But Bourdeau said veterinarians in this area were not using the same vaccine. The vaccine in question is made by Norden Laboratories in Nebraska but the Centre for Disease Control in Ottawa specified the EOHU use a different vaccine during its rabies clinics held throughout Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell in July.

"I don't think it poses a problem in this area," said Dr. Bourdeau.

Eastern Ontario is one of the areas in the province where the incidence of rabies is expected to rise. Over 5,000 animals were vaccinated at special clinics in July.

Local & General

Winners of prizes at St. Lawrence Rebekah #373 Bazaar were, Jerry Woods of Winchester, the quilt; Mrs. Margaret Hutt of Morrisburg, the afghan; Glenda Disheau, of Morrisburg, the pillow and the door prize winner was Mrs. Mae Weir.

Draw winners were Mrs. Terri Martel, Zita Baker, Mrs. Pat O'Shaughnessy, Mrs. Kathleen Godkin, Mrs. Marjorie Johnston and Mr. William Godkin.

Winners at euchre held on September 30th at the I.O.O.F. Fraternal Hall were Alice Crowder, Kezia Wells, Clifford Seeley, and Harold Crowder.

Door prize winners were Edna Graham and Bill Godkin.

Half and half winners were Homer Rutherford with two, Homer Jannack and Bea Hollister.

The next euchre is October 7th.

St. Lawrence like a big bank account, study to find out how big MORRISBURG — Knowing there are fish in Lake St. Lawrence is one thing, but determining the species, the extent of the population and finding out in what direction the fish community is heading is the job of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

And it's one that ministry biologist, Ross Cholmondeley, is taking a keen interest in as he prepares to collate the information coming in from the month-long Index Netting Program which has been carried out on Lake St. Lawrence from Cornwall to Kingston.

The program, which has been in place since 1983, received a boost this year from the revenue generated from the sale of resident sport fishing licences and, says Cholmondeley, "This allowsed us to expand our program. We are able to study new areas like the Iroquois to Kingston area which has never been done before."

In the past the program alternated on a yearly basis between Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Lawrence. It is designed to give the Ministry an indication of what the major sports fish are and where the population is heading.

The study began on Lake St. Lawrence, the day after Labor Day and will wrap up this week.

"Because we are looking at the entire fish populatin we are using gill nets," said Cholmondeley. "This is unlike a commercial fisherman who is after a certain species and would therefore use a specific net."

Nets are placed in different areas of Lake St. Lawrence and at different depths, again to ensure all species are included.

"We have nets place from 10-25 feet down and others are placed deeper than 25 feet," he said explaining, "Different fish like to live in different water temperatures and levels and we want to get a cross section of the entire fish community."

Cholmondeley explained the ministry is using 48 sites in the study and this works well with the Americans who, on alternate years, have 32 sites. "In total we have 16 central sites between us and as a result these are done every year. That way the entire St. Lawrence is studied to some extent yearly."

The nets are lifted and moved every day. "We don't get much in the deeper water," said Cholmondeley as he watched his three-man crew of Bob Martel, Rick Hollingsworth and Mick Fauthier haul in an empty net from a deep area south of the mouth of the Hosaic Creek.

"The shallow nets usually give us the biggest catch in the late evening and early morning hours," he said. "This is when the bigger fish have moved in to feed."

And sure enough the crew inspecting the net near the mouth of the Hosaic Friday morning found a good catch including perch, bass, suckers and carp.

When the nets are pulled in the fish are removed from their trappings and then begins the procedure of measuring their length and taking their weights. Scale samples are retrieved to determine age and the sex and maturity status are recorded, a process which requires cutting the fish open.

"By determining the maturity status we can tell how much stress a fish population is under," explained Cholmondeley. "If a fish population is declining then the fish of that species grow faster and mature earlier. That's why we want to know at what age the fish are reaching maturity."

Although some fish are released the sport fish have to be cut open, but says Cholmondeley, "The number of fish we take is not large, in fact it would be less in a month than the anglers would be harvesting. We take only what we need."

And there is no waste. Those fish used are taken to Cornwall where they are prepared, frozen and sent to the Ministry of Environment to be tested for contaminates.

"So really we kill two birds with one stone, said Cholmondeley. "We get the results we need and the Ministry gets their fish for contamination studies."

The daily process can take up to five hours for the three nets located in the Morrisburg area and after that the nets have to be reset, not an easy job because of the currents in this part of the river. "Because of the currents the nets can only be set in one direction and in some areas the currents are so strong the nets do not hold up."

Overall the entire program has about 800 hours of total time the nets are in the water, from start to finish, and the areas the nets are set, from year to year, do not change.

"We keep the sites generally the same every two years, said Cholmondeley. "In that way we don't change our results by moving to a better area."

"This is the basic program we need to make decisions on how to manage this fishery," said Cholmondeley. "This fishery is like a big bank account, where everybody can take out what they want. It's our job to make sure they don't take out too much, by first determining how much is in there and then how much is going out."

Some stocking unwise

MORRISBURG — While it is the dream of many fishermen to be able to fish salmon or trout from the waters of Lake St. Lawrence Ross Cholmondeley, a biologist with the Ministry of Natural Resources, says stocking the Lake with either one would not be a good idea.

"First it probably wouldn't work that well," said Cholmondeley. "The salmon need cold clear water streams to reproduce and because these aren't available we would be continually stocking salmon."

"But," he points out. "That's not our biggest concern."

"If you were to stock salmon, which are the most ferocious feeders you can put in a body of water, they would feed on the available Alewife, the prime food source for most game fish, said Cholmondeley. "And if you lose the Alewife you would do so at the expense of one of the other game fish and this would more than likely be the walleye which is just now rebounding incredibly. "It is just not good management to put something in that would affect this."

"We have to work at protecting our natural reproducing population," he said.

Lake St. Lawrence is a reservoir and there is a problem with the amount of food a water body like this can support because of the draw down effects created by the changing water levels.

Low water problems

MORRISBURG — Local boaters would be the first to let you know of the problems created by the low water level in Lake St. Lawrence but this is not the only recreational activity on the St. Lawrence to be affected.

"The low water levels could have serious effects on the fish," says Cholmondeley. "The shallow areas that are exposed now are some of the most critical areas used for spawning and nurseries."

Because of the draw down on Lake St. Lawrence, the result of what is done at the dam, vegetation is unable to establish itself in many areas.

Many of the important areas are now expansive mud flats. "You don't get the invertebrae development and there is a lot of siltation," he said.

The fluctuating water levels in the St. Lawrence is the major reason why the lake doesn't produce as much as it could.

In the spring the fish move up the creeks to spawn. The water is high because of tile drainage but the high water level does not remain, the water flowing into the St. Lawrence which is now very low.

"The fish spawn in the high water, the water drops leaving the eggs high and dry," said Cholmondeley. "Again this is another reason for our work on the creeks. We want to try and keep the beds deeper to aid the spawning."

Restrictions not there to punish

MORRISBURG — The time is long past when fishermen could head out to the St. Lawrence, fish whatever species they want at any time of the year and take as many as they desire.

Restrictions are there, not to punish the sportsman, but to ensure that he'll have fish on his plate for years to come.

"In certain waters we find it necessary to impose size limitations," says Ross Cholmondeley of the Ministry of Natural Resources. "For example we have a size limitation for fishing muskie here."

"We want to make sure the fish aren't taken by anglers until they've spawned at least once."

As well we adjust seasons for fishing certain species to protect spawning," he said. "In particular the small mouth bass is adjusted season-wise."

Spawning in all fish is determined by water temperature and a late spring might result in cool water temperature until June. The ministry tries to guard against fishing a species prior to spawning.

But even this sometimes isn't enough as in the case of the small mouth bass which is unique in its spawning.

"Bass clear out a gravel area and then the male bass guards the eggs," says Cholmondeley. "Because he is very protective he goes after anything that gets near the nest and that's why bass are so easy to catch in the spring."

"When it leaves the nest it leaves the eggs unguarded against predators, so even though people throw them back, prior to the opening of the season, the problem is they've taken the bass off the nest," explained Cholmondeley.

Because of the strong currents in Lake St. Lawrence, hauling in nets used in the current fish study becomes a difficult task. Friday's cold wind also became a factor to contend with. —McNairn photo

Lake St. Lawrence is definitely under-producing

MORRISBURG — Ross Cholmondeley, a biologist with the Ministry of Natural Resources in Cornwall, says Lake St. Lawrence is definitely under-producing but the Ministry is looking for ways to improve production and in the last few years some fish populations have been on the upward swing.

With the Index Netting Program first established in 1983 now underway in the St. Lawrence the Ministry has been able to track production in the river and set up various programs.

"We've had good luck tracking the yellow perch, walleye and small mouth bass on Lake St. Lawrence," says Cholmondeley who is responsible for setting programs and analyzing the results. "Since we began the program we have noted the walleye (pickerel), which is the number one sport fish sought by Ontario anglers, has doubled in population. And if you've got a population doing well in a reservoir, like Lake St. Lawrence, then you know you've got a good fish program."

Cholmondeley explained that at the time of the Seaway project in the late 1950s, the fish lost their spawning habitat and it takes time for a population to start using new areas.

"The walleye population is probably just now recovering from the effect of the building of the dam and the Seaway project," he said. "It can take up to 20 years or more for a population to re-establish itself."

Cholmondeley credits much of the Walleye success to the rehabilitation projects the ministry has carried out on several creeks such as the project completed on the Hosaic, just east of Morrisburg, in June. There the creek banks were shored to prevent further erosion and siltation in the creek bed.

"We did the Hosaic this spring because it's a very important small mouth bass hatchery," he said. "And next year we hope to transfer some Walleye into the Hosaic to see if we can establish something there."

"We really don't know why the walleye aren't spawning in the Hosaic, it actually being a better site than Hoople creek," said Cholmondeley. "We suspect they might be spawning out near Canada Island."

The first walleye was spotted in Hoople Creek in 1978 and before that there was no spawning there at all. Last year over 1500 walleye were counted in a single night. "So the population has found a new site and established itself," said Cholmondeley.

As well as determining where the fish population is heading, the study enables the ministry to determine if undesirable fish, such as white perch, are invading the territory. "You can get an imbalance, too many fish you don't want," says Cholmondeley. "Then you will see the fish community begin to shift in the wrong direction."

If the fish community develops an imbalance then you can consider bringing in commercial fishing to correct the situation," he said. "Carp is one species in the St. Lawrence which is an undesirable. The carp have really established themselves here."

It would be reasonable to establish commercial carp fishing here, which would be done with impounding geer so there would be no overlap of sport fish, but for the time being this is out of the question. "The contaminate level in carp is too high and commercial fisheries can't use them," explained Cholmondeley. "There's not much we can do. Samples are taken each year and although contaminate levels have been decreasing, due to the carp feeding habits, the level remains high.

The carp is considered an undesirable fish because it destroys bass nests and uproots vegetation as it noses around in the shallows in the spring.

As well as tracking the sport and undesirable fish the study enables the ministry to look at the food available.

"We try to keep track of the rock bass, pumpkin seed (sunfish) and the alewife," said Cholmondeley pointing out they are important to fishermen in that they are the prime forage fish for walleye and pike. "Alewife is the single most important fish for feeding the larger fish. To lose them as a food source would mean the loss of one or more of our other species."

Legion bowling

INGLESIDE — The Bad News Bears and team five moved into a tie for first place in Legion Mixed Bowling league action this week — both picking up three point wins from their opponents.

Linda Stata, with a 653 cross on single games of 195-216-242, led the Bears to their three point win over the Dipsticks who counted heavily on Nora Markell's 642 (196-228-218) for their single point.

Team five, led by Barb Marriner's 677 cross (275-199-203), posted their results against team seven who salvaged their single point in the final game of the night with Hilton Cryderman and Tammy Webb both bowling better than 200 Games.

The Cyclones slipped into third place with a four point effort against the Three Ballers. Karen Holmden was the top Cyclone's bowler with a 625 cross (228-172-225) and Guy Hart led the Three Ballers with a 607 (197-178-232).

The Back Spinners won two games against team two and then picked up a point for the higher team pinfall after the three contests. George Baker was high roller for the Spinners with a 568 cross and Gary Cryderman produced a 591 for team two.

Legion darts

MORRISBURG — The Double Ones and the Spoilers moved into a quick lead in the opening night of Legion Dart League action here Tuesday, both teams picking up five of a possible seven wins from their opponents.

The Double Ones' picked up their points from The Awesomes with two outs from Lyle Beckstead and singles from Roy Lapier, Doris Ward and Minnie Vaughan. Answering for The Awesomes was Philip Tinker with a pair.

Led by the three-out performance of Pearl Harris, the Spoilers left little for The Odd Ones who stepped in with wins from Lee Sipes and Sandra Julien. George Baker and Dorothy McBain completed the Spoilers' wins with one out each.

The Flyers put together a late charge to come from behind a 3-1 deficit and claim a 4-3 win over The Arrows. Guy Hart, spare, led the effort with three winning throws and Sarah Merkley had one. Rita Boyd led The Arrows with two outs and Bobby Jack Hart had a single.

Bruce Armstrong had the hot hand for the Kings and Queens as he provided that team's four outs and on the other side Lyndon Casselman did the talking for the No-Outs with three wins.

The Daredevils topped team 10 with four wins on a pair of throws from Dalton Dawley and singles from Marg McCutcheon and Elsie Guindon.

Carl Schwerdtfeger, Lurinda Beckstead and Alice Tinker had team 10's outs.

The League, this year, has expanded to 11 teams and the format sees one team sitting out a bye each week. Team 11 took the first bye of the season Tuesday.

High scores of the evening went to: Bobby Jack Hart 140-100-100; Guy Hart 132; Mary Barkley 118 and Carol Ann Shields 100.

Lions lose in exhibition play

MORRISBURG — Morrisburg Junior B Lions head coach Kevin Casselman says that while the Lions didn't manage to get a mark in their exhibition win column, two games on the weekend gave him the chance to take a good look at the more than 40 players in this year's camp.

The Lions played their first game of the year against the Glens in Alexandria Friday night. The Glens, who are down close to the team they will be going with for the season, won the match 13-6.

Sunday the Winchester Hawks were in town and here the contest was a little more even, the Hawks like the Lions still carrying an excess of players. An exciting third period saw the Hawks come from behind to take the 7-6 win.

"We were able to evaluate what we have," said Casselman following the weekend play. "We have quite a few newcomers who look quite good and we have some tough decisions to make."

Casselman says he plans to be down to about 20 players after tonight's (Wednesday) practice.

As for the Glens and the Hawks, who the Lions will meet this year because of the realignment in the league, Casselman said they were both good skating clubs. "But it's hard to say much about them because we aren't familiar with their line-up," he said.

Sunday's crowd at the arena was much better than Casselman or the Lion's management had expected. "We had about 120 fans out which is good for a pre-season game," said Casselman.

Friday night at Alexandria the Glens moved into a 4-1 first period lead and were out front 10-2 as they headed for the final and the 13-6 victory.

The Glens scoring was well spread out with Mike Daniels, Glen Campbell and Ken Robinson getting two apiece and singles coming from Mike Sauve, Leonard Sequin, Mathew Merthiaune, Denis Levac, Michel Lateuzel, Andrew Meth and Andrew McCormick.

For the Lions Mike Lamarche, who comes from Cornwall and is a proven goal scorer with two City Junior B scoring championships under his belt, had a pair and Randy Mullin, Sean Baker, Greg Wells and Jim Bennis had singles.

Sunday in Morrisburg Randy Mullin led the Lions attack with three goals, Bobby Jack Hart had a pair and Johnny Morrow was good for one. The Lions led 3-2 after the first period but the Hawks came back in the second frame which ended 5-5.

Mark Smith led the Hawks with three goals and Kirk Barkley, Mike Grady, Dwaine Bazinet and Tim Ouderkirk had singles. Smith scored the winner with 4:30 left in the game.

This weekend the Lions host the Glens at 8 p.m. Friday night and Sunday they are on the road to Winchester for a 2 p.m. match.

Ferguson has low gross at SD&G golf tournament

CORNWALL — Led by Jeff Ferguson's 82, which gave him low gross of the day, Seaway District High School golfers picked up the first interschool silverware of the year, here Friday.

Along with Ferguson's championship win, the girls combined to claim first in their team division, Karen Craig coming in with second low gross behind Susie Thompson of General Vanier.

Other members of Seaway's championship girls team were Kim Bucking and Tammy McEwen.

With Ferguson's first place finish the Seaway boys were able to take second place. The individual runner-up for the boys was Paul Marion of General Vanier who shot an 86.

Playing for Seaway were Greg Wells, Ed Byvelds and Charles Labarge.

The strong performance from the Seaway golfers gave them a second place finish overall in this year's S.D.&G. championship tournament, again played at the Cornwall Golf and Country Club.

St. Lawrence High School became this year's champion by a slim seven strokes over the Seaway entry. St. Lawrence posted a 550 team aggregate, Seaway finished at 557 and La Citadelle High School was third with 572 strokes.

The field consisted of 45 golfers representing five schools.

Lawn bowlers end season

IROQUOIS — Trophies and other prizes were awarded to Iroquois Lawn Bowlers following their pot luck supper, here Monday night at the Civic Centre. Thanks were also expressed by incoming President, Shirley Cooper to Nelda Brown for her fine leadership of the ladies' division during the past two years.

In addition, Harry Gilmer's eightieth birthday was observed, and honourary memberships were bestowed on two hard working members of the club over many years, Gwen and Ray Parmeter.

The District Triples Championship was won by skip Jan Davis and teammates Jean Marsden and Lois Roberts. In acknowledging the third consecutive win by this team, Jan mentioned that Iroquois has won the trophy for the past four years. The first win was by a team skipped by Shirley Cooper, with Jan Davis and Lois Roberts as Vice-skip and Lead.

Femme Tibben received her Novice singles trophy. Her name appears on this trophy for two consecutive years. Other Iroquois players with under five years experience will have to hone their skills for next year's competition as Femme will no longer be eligible to play in this event.

The first, second and third place winners of the various other trophies were: Caldwell Ladies Triple: Joyce Lapierre, Myrtle Reynolds, Janet Davis; Doris Traynor, Bettie Laurie, Shirley Cooper; Bea Haldane, Eve Willis and Lois Roberts.

Hargreaves Trophy: Heather Baker, Connie Masters, Janet Davis; Verla Perrin, Bettie Laurie, Lois Roberts; Joyce Jones, Claire Graham and Nelda Brown.

Ladies Doubles: Verla Perrin, Janet Davis; Bea Haldane, Jean Marsten; Sydney Smith and Femme Tibben.

Ladies singles, Lois Roberts Trophy: Janet Davis.

Novice Singles, Shirley Cooper Trophy: Femme Tibben.

Ladies Provincial Pairs: Lois Roberts, Janet Davis.

Davis Trophy: Joyce Lapierre, Claire Graham, Shirley Cooper; Bea Haldane, Ruth McCullough and Ambert Brown.

Keeler Trophy: Joyce Lapierre, Mona Hannay, Art Roberts; Heather Baker, John Seibert and Nelda Brown.

Mixed Doubles: Chris Fetterly, Lois Roberts; Jo Rosenquist and Ambert Brown.

Men's Doubles: Clare Reynolds, Art Roberts; Don Smith and Harold Baldwin.

Flag football

Meanies press winless Greens

MORRISBURG — Doug Wilson's Green team, which has yet to put a mark in the Morrisburg Flag Football League win column, felt the pressure of the Blues Meanies' attack here Sunday morning, an attack which resulted in a 26-0 victory.

Phillip Dillabough's "bend but don't break defence" was brought in and was very effective in taming the Greens who were unable to mount any kind of a successful attack.

Meanies' quarterback Tom Dawley threw touchdown passes to Bill Dillabough and Phillip Dillabough and two strikes to Tom Pepers for the 26-0 win.

Despite a 7-6 loss to the Reds, the White Ferrets were able to pick up two points by default.

The Reds, led by John Vaughan and playing with only four other players, were winning 7-6 and moving the ball well when Kevin Adams was in a collision with Gary Dickinson which sent him to the sidelines.

This left the Reds with insufficient players to complete the game according to league rules and the Ferrets were able to salvage the two points.

This Sunday the Meanies play the Ferrets at 10 a.m. and the Reds and Greens tackle at 11.

High school basketball

Seniors rebound for win

CORNWALL — The Seaway District High School senior girls basketball team rebounded from their opening game loss to Tagwi two weeks ago with a 45-40 victory over the General Vanier Vikings here Wednesday.

Kim Bucking and Lisa Van Hoof, both in their first year of senior competition in the SD&G A school loop, provided the spark for the Spartans who led 19-13 at the half.

VanHoof led the team with 14 points and Bucking was right behind with 12.

Answering for the Vikings were Trudy Bedars with 12 points and Deanna Manson with eight.

In Junior action the Spartans suffered their first loss 48-31.

Chantal St. Jean led the Vikings to the win with a 19-point game and Lori Dupuis and Cathy Watters contributed eight points each.

Krista Casselman had a 10-point game for the Spartans and Jennifer McNairn had eight.

Riverside darts

RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS — Mike and the Aspartameds moved to the front of the 10 team Riverside Mixed Dart League in the opening night of play here Wednesday with a big 13 wins out of a possible 18.

Gail Robinson obviously was not out of shape after the summer-long layoff as she went to work for seven outs to lead the Aspartameds to the victory. Mary Gummeson was good for three, Mike Lortie a pair and Peggie Kaddie (spare) a single.

Led by John Gummeson's six wins, the Close Calls slipped into second place with 12 points. Gummeson was backed by three winning throws from Dave Robertson, two from Joan Smirle and a single from Betty Grey.

Team Three and Kim's Cuties settled into a tie for third place at 10 points, team three led by Kenny Baker with four wins and Kim's Cuties by Kim Grey with five.

Also getting wins for team three were Don Lewis with three, Gayle Hart two and Charlie Lewis one. Carl Schwerdtfeger struck three times for the Cuties and Fayle Lavallie and Lloyd Smirle contributed single outs.

Chris Casselman led team eight to nine wins with his five outs and Lynn Dillabough (spare) provided a pair. Sharon Wereley and Lyle Beckstead had singles.

Karen Beckstead and Keith Wereley provided three outs each for the Bozos as they worked their way to eight points and a tie in the standings with Markell's Marvels. Cecil Lewis provided the other two Bozo wins.

For the Marvel's it was Bobby Jack Hart (spare) with four wins, Darlene Lortie with three and Ron Bradford with a single.

The Hit and Miss hit seven times and the No Names matched them with seven of their own. Jim Scott and Keith Johnston had three each for the Hit and Miss and Cheryl Neild had a single. Gary Bradford had three for the No Names, Sarah Merkley two and Ted Seymour and Mary Casselman singles.

The No Fools and Judy fell into the basement with six wins, three each from Roger Markell and Judy Scott.

High scores: Cecil Lewis and Kenny Baker 132; Mike Lortie 130; Elva Baker 124; Keith Johnston and Sarah Merkley 110; Cheryl Neild 109: Charlie Lewis 106; Mary Casselman 105; Lloyd Smirle 103-100; Kim Grey 100-100; Jim Scott and Don Lewis 100.

The 19th hole

MORRISBURG — We can't fight it. The season's over and luckily we were able to get the closing day golf tournament at the Morrisburg Golf Course completed Sunday...before the snow flies.

Can almost guarantee though that the 19 people out Sunday will tell anyone that although it wasn't snowing it sure felt close to it.

With toques and even snowmobile mitts the group played the course using the course lay out which was last in play about 10 years ago. Although a few tackled the trees in front of the old number one tee most felt it was much easier way back then. Only three completed 18 holes the rest heading for the clubhouse after nine.

The old par four first hole gave up one birdie to Terry Laurin and the par four second allowed a birdie to John Cottrill as well as one par to Richard Baker. The par four sixth proved the easiest with Cottrill again getting a birdie and another seven players posting pars.

The low gross of the day was shot by Brian McNairn with a 39 on nine holes and John Cottrill came in with a 41. For the ladies Barb Sheridan led with a 47 and Bonnie McNairn had a 49.

Along with those who played several other, less hardy, golfers joined the group for a pot luck supper and the presentation of trophies won throughout the season.

The clubhouse is now closed for the season but the greens staff will continue until their work is cleared up. This includes some construction around the clubhouse.

A reminder that anyone interested in joining the winter club should contact someone on the committee to be included on the phone list.

The annual general meeting is set for November 28 so mark it on your calendar now. Your official notice of the meeting will come through the mail.

And with that we end another golf season and look forward to seeing everyone...at the 19th hole in the spring.

Thanksgiving weekend chance to enjoy village

MORRISBURG — Thanksgiving weekend, Oct. 10, 11 and 12 will be the last chance to view the following activities at Upper Canada Village, 11 kilometres east of here: cutting, stooking, harvesting and threshing operations; flax processing, spinning and linen weaving; and bedding preparations which includes mattress stuffing and a quilting bee.

The cutting, stooking of grain and corn will take place in several fields in the vicinity of Loucks Farm. In the main barn at Loucks Farm oats will be threshed using a horse-powered threshing mill. This 1860s method of threshing replaced the more primitive way of flailing the grain by hand or using horses or oxen to trample and separate the grain from the chaff.

Another series of activities planned for this weekend will be processing of flax which includes: whetting, retting, drying, scrutching and finally heckling the flax. A heckle is a board with many long sharp teeth protruding from it. The flax when drawn through the heckle is straight and the chaff is removed. This separates the coarse fibres from the silky ones. These preliminary processes were usually conducted by the men. The women dressed the distaff, spun the flax into linen thread and wove it.

This weekend the processing and spinning of flax will take place at the Tenant Farm and the weaving of linen will be demonstrated at the McDiarmid House.

The woven linen will be made into tea towels which will be used in the Village homes.

Harvest meals consisting of Village-grown produce and pork will be served at noon to the farmhands in the kitchen of Loucks' Farm.

The Village women will be busy knitting, stuffing mattresses with fresh straw and finishing an exquisite quilt in preparation for the long winter ahead.

A special Thanksgiving hymn will be presented on Sunday, October 11 at Providence Church at 1:30 p.m. and at Christ Church at 3 p.m.

Council refuses to permit trailer on severed land

WILLIAMSBURG — Township councillors turned down a request by Ottawa resident Gord Lister to put a trailer on land he owns in the third concession at their monthly meeting here Saturday.

Lister said he intends to move from Ottawa to Williamsburg Township in the future but he doesn't have enough money to build a permanent home at the present time. In a letter to council he said the township should encourage people to build in the area to help increase the tax base.

During his presentation he said he would be willing to put the trailer far enough back from the road so it wouldn't be clearly visible but council nixed the plan.

Reeve Johnny Whitteker said the reason the council passed a bylaw against trailers coming into the municipality 15 years ago is because they didn't want Williamsburg to become a trailer park for all of Eastern Ontario. He said there used to be a used trailer business located in the area at the time which sold broken down trailers and that was not the image Williamsburg wanted to project.

He said council would encourage someone to start a trailer park in the township but for now trailers are not allowed on severed land.

Council gave permission to the Ottawa Valley chapter of the Kidney Foundation to conduct a door-to-door fund-raising campaign in the township in March 1988. Council member Gord McNairn urged all councillors to have their donations ready.

The next meeting of Williamsburg Township council has been rescheduled to Saturday, October 31 at 10 a.m.

Advertising deadline

MORRISBURG — The Leader office will be closed Monday, October 12 for the Thanksgiving holiday and will reopen Tuesday, October 13. The deadline for classified ads remains Tuesday at noon while the deadline for displays has been moved to Friday, October 9 at 5 p.m.

We wish everyone a safe and happy holiday.

OBITUARIES

William Douglas Knox

A native of Iroquois, a former office worker at Caldwell Linen Mills, and a patient for ten years at National Defence Medical Centre, Ottawa, William Douglas Knox died there on Monday, September 28th.

Born July 28th, 1916, he was a son of the late Harry Douglas Knox and his wife Mary Rose. He attended the Iroquois schools, and was married at Iroquois in 1940 to Ruth Marcellus, who predeceased him in 1983.

He is survived by a son Michael Knox of Richmond, Ont., a daughter Joann Knox of Toronto, and by four grandchildren. A member of Iroquois United Church, he was also a Charter Member and Past President of Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 370, Iroquois; a Life Member and Past Master of Friendly Brothers Lodge No. 143, A.F. & A.M., Iroquois.

Friends were received at the C.W. Marsden Funeral Home, Iroquois, where funeral service was held on Wednesday, September 30th at 2 p.m., with Rev. Herb Klaehn officiating. Interment followed at Iroquois Point Cemetery.

Pall bearers were: Roger Coulter, Jack Shaver, Willard Duncan, Wilfred Gibbons, Dale Froats, Lanny Patterson.

Terry C. Fawcett

Terry C. Fawcett, a construction laborer and resident of Chesterville, died on Wednesday, September 30th at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. He was 43 years of age.

Born at Chesterville, November 11th, 1943, he was a son of the late Clayton T. Fawcett and Nellie Baker.

He is survived by sisters: Gail Thornton of Truro, N.S., Doris Smith of Ottawa, Trudy MacKenzie of Stittsville, Susan Stevens of Chesterville, Janie Liscumb of Kingston, Merna Jones of Thunder Bay, Brenda Ooosterman of Finch; and eight brothers; Douglas of Ottawa, John of Winchester, Brian of Iroquois, Jim of Hallville, Greg of Mountain, Barrie, Ernie and Jeff all of Winchester. He was predeceased by a sister Anne McClintock and a brother Steven.

Funeral service was held at J.R. Vice Funeral Home Inc. Chesterville, on Friday, October 2nd at 2:00 p.m., with Rev. Roy Harwood officiating. Cremation followed, with interment of the ashes in the family plot at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Wayne Douglas Smith

A Brinston area farm worker, and native of Belleville, Ontario, Wayne Douglas Smith died accidentally at his work on Sunday, September 27th.

Born February 5th, 1951 at Belleville, Ont., he was a son of Ralph Smith and his wife Stella Gallivan, now residents of Morrisburg.

In 1971, he was married at Iroquois United Church to Beverley Barnhardt, who survives. He is also survived by a daughter Elizabeth, and a son Wayne. Other survivors (besides his parents) are three brothers; Garry of R.R.1 Brinston, Robert of Ottawa and Stephen of London, Ontario; and a sister Mrs. Goldie Britton of Bowmanville, Ontario.

Funeral service was held at the C.W. Marsden Funeral Home, Iroquois, on Wednesday, September 30th at 11:00 a.m., with Rev. Alan Tysick officiating. Interment was at Roselawn Memorial Gardens, Maitland.

Pall bearers were: Sterling Flegg, Wayne Ault, Bill Barnhardt, Bert Kennedy, Rene Valliquette, Roy Coughler.

Archibald Murphy

A native of Crysler, Ontario, a resident of Morrisburg for many years, and retired assistant ranger at St. Lawrence Parks Commission, Joseph Archibald Murphy died at Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, September 22nd, following an illness of two months.

A son of the late Gordon Murphy and his wife, Hannah Hunt, he was born on July 2nd, 1912. He attended public school and high school at Crysler and Berwick, and in 1942 was married at St. Mary's Rectory, Morrisburg, to the former Ada Maude Durant, who survives.

Also surviving are a daughter Marlene of Milton, Ont., two step-sons Fred and Carl of Newmarket; and three brothers; Gordon and Philip of Toronto and Patrick of Iroquois.

A devout member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Morrisburg, he was also a very active member of the Morrisburg Senior Citizens.

Funeral service was held at St. Mary's on Friday, September 25th at 10:00 a.m., with Father James MacGillivary celebrating the funeral Mass. Interment followed in the Old Union Cemetery at Williamsburg.

Pall bearers were: Harry Tindal, Rodney VanAllen, Sam Casselman, Floyd Reddick, Claire Reddick and Gordon McGregor.

New food delivery system

Winchester auxiliary begins fund-raising

WINCHESTER — A new food delivery system is required for the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, and raising money for it is the next objective of the Hospital Auxiliary. The cost is approximately $100,000.

Based on past results the goal will be achieved through the determination and efforts of the area auxiliary members and the strong support usually proferred by Ottawa and Seaway Valley citizens.

Major undertakings to facilitate patient care is not new to the Auxiliary. For example, their most recent significant expenditure was $71,000 to replace Intensive Care equipment and an additional $13,000 on a defribulator for the Emergency Unit of the hospital.

The next money raising activity of the Winchester Hospital Auxiliary is the International Bazaar and Festival to be held at North Dundas District High School, Saturday, October 17, from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m. Ann Keon (Mrs. Wilbert Keon) of Ottawa has kindly agreed to open the event. Baked goods, crafts, and entertainment will reflect the International nature of the event, and "Christmas Around the World" theme. Boy Scouts will assist with parking, and Girl Guides will provide free babysitting.

The current food delivery system, said Bert Stel, Executive Director of the hospital, was installed in 1959 to serve 35 to 90 patients. It consists of partially prepared trays from steam tables and refrigerators and placing the food in the hot and cold compartments of large, hand pushed, stainless steel trucks. On arrival at the ward, the trucks are plugged into electrical outlets, the food assembly is completed by the dietary staff and the trays are distributed by the nurses. In 1968 the system was expanded when patient capacity increased from 90 to 130 beds.

Food trucks in 1959 cost $1,500 to $2,000 each. By 1968 each cost $5,000, and if replaced now would cost $11,000 to $12,000. They have been subject to modifications and repairs over the years.

The proposed system will include a conveyor belt from which all tray components can be served. The trays and tray lids are designed to keep food at the appropriate temperature. Therma cups will provide the same standard for beverages. Small delivery trucks will be used to wheel these self-sustaining food units to the wards. The dietary staff will be free to help with tray distribution, thus making more nursing time available for the more technical aspects of patient care.

The hospital is undergoing a Master Planning Review, the results of which are expected next Spring. If redevelopment is recommended in order to meet community needs, it might involve some delay in the implementation of the new food delivery system. If not, the Executive Director estimates the new equipment will be in use by next fall.

Sheila Howat, Director of Dietetics, advocated the changes and was instrumental in the studies which were carried out. The advantages she foresees are: better temperature control of the food; better quality control in the tray assembly and better use of the dietary staff.

Shop early for personalized plates

TORONTO — If you're planning to give personalized licence plates for Christmas gifts, it's best to order now. According to Ministry of Transportation and Communications officials, all plates ordered by October 21 will be ready for Christmas.

Since their introduction in July 1983, personalized plates have become popular Christmas gifts at $100 a set.

In the past, the number of orders soared from 60 to approximately 150 a day by late October.

However, these plates take six to eight weeks for delivery, so you should order early if you want a set ready for the holidays.

This year, in response to the Christmas rush, MTC has designed money envelopes you can put under the tree in lieu of the actual plates. The recipients can then take the money to their local issuing office and choose what they want on their plates.

The envelopes are free and available at all issuing offices across the province.

Personalized plates may have from two to six characters arranged in any combination of letters, or numerals and letters, except those combinations used on regular plates. Combinations which do not include any letters, may contain up to two numerals.

Premier endorses Bill 8

IROQUOIS — Village council received a letter from Premier David Peterson at its meeting Tuesday night, explaining his government's commitment to Bill 8, the French language services act.

Iroquois council previously passed a resolution calling on the government to hold a referendum on Bill 8 during the 1988 municipal ballot.

But the Premier responded in his letter that the government is firmly committed to the principles of the French language services act and to its speedy implementation.

"We view it as a major legislative accomplishment which not only acknowledges the long-standing contribution of Franco-Ontarians to the province, but also puts Ontario in a leadership position on language issues on the national scene," he said.

He added the act is the culmination of a series of Ontario Government actions on the provision of services in French which began in 1968. He further wrote that the bill does not impose any obligation on a municipality to offer its services in French, whether the municipality is in an area designated bilingual or not. Rather, it applies to the public services offered by Provincial Government ministries and their agencies, boards and commissions. At Cabinet's discretion, it can also apply to certain public service agencies such as hospitals, children's aid societies and group homes which are publicly funded.

Premier Peterson reminded council of the consultative committee which is advising him on the provision of French language services at the municipal level. The committee is composed of representatives from the Association of Municipalities of Ontario the Association Canadienne-Francaise de l'Ontario and the Ministry of Municipal Affairs.

Since no action was required the letter was filed for information.

Application refused

The Ministry of Municipal Affairs has refused to endorse an amendment to the village's official plan rezoning land on Lot 3, plan 50 from industrial to residential.

Tom Smart, Senior Planner for the north and east said it is illogical to extend residential uses into industrial lands as conflicts between the uses are sure to arise. He said there are other suitable designated residential lands within the village which can be readily developed.

"Council should encourage this type of use to locate in an area already designated for residential purposes," he said.

Presently there are three approved subdivisions in Iroquois including Elizabeth Heights, Peter McEwen subdivision and one belonging to an Ontario numbered company.

Reeve Frank Rooney suggested MMA representative Pat Shepperd meet with council to discuss options. Council has agreed to invite Lloyd McMillan, Denzil Prunner and Norvan Grant to the meeting since their property borders the land in question.

Small businesses take advantage of government's new ventures

TORONTO—The New Ventures small business start-up assistance program has guaranteed more than $42 million in loans to entrepreneurs across Ontario in the program's first twelve months of operation, the Ministry of Industry, Trade and Technology has announced.

"Since New Ventures was announced last September, more than 3,200 businesses have been started with the support of this program," Industry, Trade and Technology Minister Hugh O'Neil said. "I'm pleased to see that entrepreneurs from all areas of our province are participating: from Dryden in the north to Ford Erie in the south, and from Winchester in the east to Windsor in the west."

MITT statistics show that more than 14 New Ventures loans are being approved by participating financial institutions each business day. Geographically, approximately 21 per cent of the loans to date have occurred in Eastern Ontario, 8 per cent have gone to entrepeneurs in Northern Ontario, and 71 per cent to new businesses in Central and Southwestern Ontario. By gender, 73 per cent of the approved applicants have been male, and 27 per cent female.

"The feedback we're getting on the New Ventures program is very positive, and that substantiates the original conclusion of the Committee of Parliamentary Assistants for Small Business that this kind of an initiative was needed," said Rick Ferraro, Ontario Small Business Advocate and chairman of the committee.

"The relatively recent addition of credit unions and caisse populaires in Northern Ontario as participating financial institutions should boost participation rates for that region in future months," he added.

Through New Ventures, loans of up to $15,000 can be provided via participating institutions to qualified applicants who wish to start a small business. The loans must be approved in the normal manner through loans officers, but do not require collateral since they are guaranteed by the provincial government.

Applicants must invest one dollar of their own money into the venture for each dollar lent, although this requirement is reduced to fifty cents on the dollar for applicants in Eastern and Northern Ontario.
