Brian Dockstader public speaking winner

"What It Means To Be a Canadian" was the subject chosen by Brian Dockstader, Chesterville, winner in the Dundas Public Speaking Contest held at Morrisburg Public School.

Seven pupils from public schools in the country delivered addresses on subjects ranging from "Exploration of Space," "What It Means To Be a Canadian," Municipal Government and Civic Affairs."

Judges were Rev Douglas Fry, Knox Presbyterian Church, Iroquois; Rev E. B. Bugden, Trinity United Church, Chesterville, and M. N. Hutchison, Winchester, Inspector of Public Schools.

Announcing the decision of the judges, Mr Hutchison said all speeches were of a high calibre considering that there had been a short time for preparation, age of contestants and scope of topics.

Contestants were Garth Workman, Mountain No. 4; Kathryn Edgerton, Morrisburg; Vicky Thompson, Iroquois; Dick Christie, Mountain Township; Joy Woods, Williamsburg; Kenneth McNairn, Winchester, and Brian Dockstader, Chesterville.

An elimination contest was held earlier at each school. The winning Dundas contestant will meet with other district finalists at Ingleside on Saturday, December 3.

Hosea Droppo, principal of Morrisburg Public School and chairman of the evening, announced that next year the W. Stewart Trophy will be given by the Dundas Teachers' Institute. Each pupil competing this year will receive a memento from the Teachers' Institute.

New paper next week

This newspaper is appearing for the last time this week in this particular size. As explained on Page Three of this issue, "Record" is getting bigger. We are adding a column to each page and making each page longer.

The newspaper has grown steadily and in the past few years, local advertising and local news has had more and more difficulty finding proper space on our smaller sheet. In spite of extra page, we have felt the pinch.

Beginning next week you will receive a bigger paper, and as always, we will strive to make it better.

Village nominations held council returned for 1961

Friday night was Nomination Night in Chesterville. Fifty-two persons turned out to nominate and listen. When nominations closed, all members of 1960 council were back by acclamation and Grenville Fyke was a new face among the old on the Public School board. Council was headed again by reeve Carl Merkley and councillors are Harold Sharkey, Keith Graham, George Laflamme and James Fyke. Public School members are Stuart Allan, chairman, Dr B. W. Lapp, Jack Fulton, Grenville Fyke and sitting members with the chairman, Lorne Thompson, Archie Black. Clerks are Lorne Marcellus for the village and Jack Doering for the school. Lee Smith declined the nomination for the school board for another term.

Chesterville council members faced nomination night with a record of much work done, and braced for a lot of questions and arguments. By the end of the night, the questions had been answered and no arguments had arisen. The impression was abroad council had done a satisfactory job to date.

Lorne Marcellus, clerk, was chosen as chairman for the evening. He ran down the financial statement with some pleasure, noting a small apparent surplus for the year. This was expanded by several council members who felt the removal of the deficit and payment of the hospital grant would leave the town in a sounder position next year.

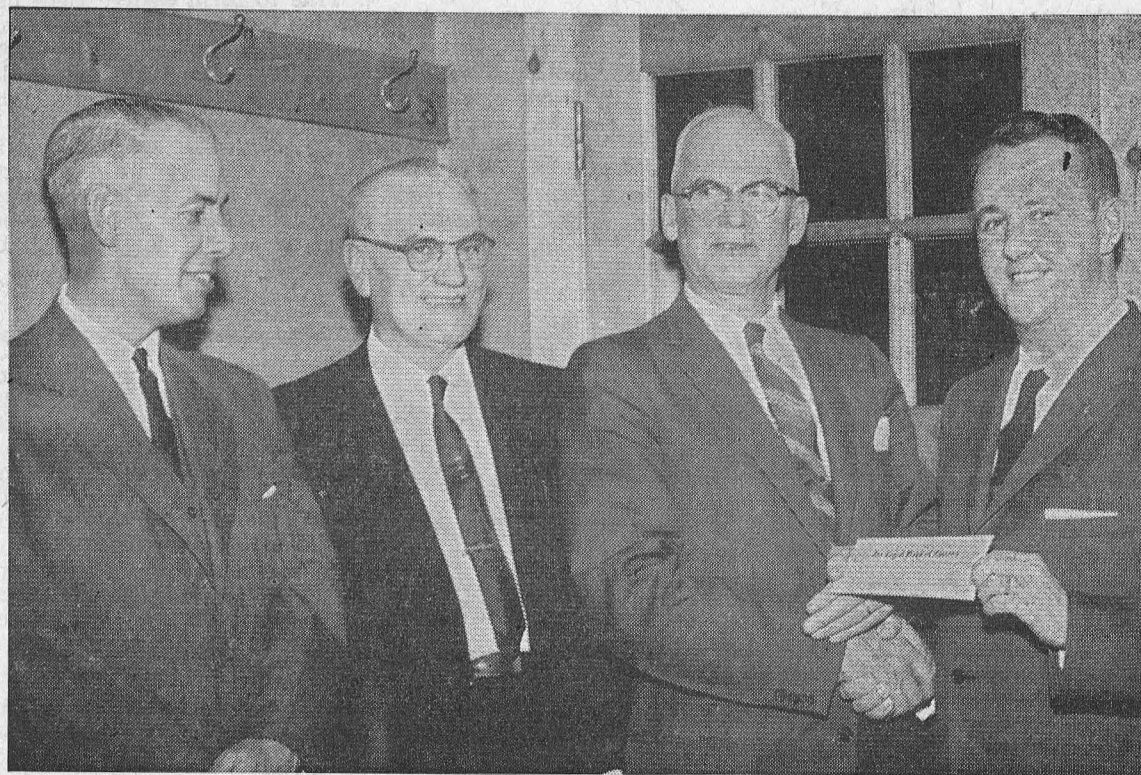

Reeve Carl Merkley took his listeners through some of the work. The public was asked to hold its fire until final repairs could be completed.

The water system was reported as being underground, waiting for testing. This will be done as soon as pumps are installed. The water tank is rising and councillor Graham offered the opinion the system would be in operation by the middle of January.

Questions and answers were more numerous on the water system than any other part of municipal work. Some explanation was asked about the business of paying a $6 charge each year for a connection to each village lot. This was explained as being a definite regulation of the Municipal Board, and had to be added to the system cost. Other charges were discussed, including the mill rate of 6.8 mills and a hydrant cost of $100 annually for each of the 32 hydrants the town will use from the system. As one questioner pointed out, the tax cost will run somewhere around 9 mills plus the set figure of $6 per connection per lot.

The meeting adjourned at nine o'clock after school board members expressed their thanks to their movers and seconders.

Down Chrysler way last week Chrysler Chamber of Commerce presented Winchester District Hospital with a cheque for $1,000. The money had been raised during the summer, and the presentation was made during the annual Chamber banquet. In our picture are John Davis, hospital administrator, president Stewart Begg, Leroy Boyd, hospital board chairman and John Benoit, chairman of the fund raising committee.—Record Photo.

Santa Claus coming Dec. 17th

Hooray for Santa Claus! That's the shout from the small fry when they hear the old gentleman has promised to be here in Chesterville Sunday afternoon, December 17.

Ladies of Chesterville Women's Institute have just received the word via rocket to expect him at the hall some time between two and three o'clock. It is planned to have everyone in the hall by two and await the coming while being entertained by local talent.

Candy and treats are in store for those that come early and sit reasonably quiet.

Rail strike halted?

As we go to press Wednesday morning there is word the rail strike has been averted by new legislation. At least until May 15.

We are glad to hear the outcome of the Ottawa deliberations. Christmas time seems like a poor time to shut up shop on the railroads.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

Everybody and his brother has tried writing this column for the Great White Father on different occasions. When he takes off on the annual lost week into the bush, the busy B's have to do it. When he wanders away for a short fishing expedition into outer space, the editor of "Everybody Eats" has the chore. This week we were ordered to get to the typewriter and turn out something. So here we are, writing from the Blue Room of this abode of hired help and many bosses.

Our first attempt may be somewhat unsure. There is always a question about how much digging hiszoner will take before the worm turns. And while we work here in the upper regions still the faltering feet of five o'clock can whip upstairs in a hurry if the occasion demands. This week, though, it has been a different kind of whip. Down there the crew is sweating over some change or other in the "Record." Something about making it bigger and better. Every little while blue smoke rolls up the stairs and the embossing machine splutters and coughs from the gas attack. Usually it develops something has gone wrong with the change-over and the boss has blown another of his gaskets. He should use Western Tire's models, for better service.

Periodically the boss arrives upstairs with another contingent of sightseers. He takes considerable pride in showing customers this department of toil and sweat we laughingly call the "Blue Room." That name comes, not from the colour, but from the usual grade of atmosphere that prevails. The complications one gets into trying to earn an honest dollar. We should have known though, there would be lots of work for a woman. We watch the windows being washed, the lawn mowed and the gardening done across the road, and all done by the women at Crumb Castle. Why did we think it would be different here at the foundry?

Some of my best friends ask what all the thumping means from the second floor of the "Record" building. Let this reassure everyone we are not breaking rocks. Here squats a machine called a plate embosser. It is a typewriter with a mind and the darn thing has to be managed. That's the writer's job. Directing the brute. Every time a letter key is touched, the outfit thumps like a giant's heart and stamps a letter on a metal plate. To date we have managed the thumps to turn out nearly 70,000 plates with complete addresses on them. Then we have to listen to instructions on how to file the plates and waste time changing the files because the boss has changed his system again. It is such a pleasure to get home at night and do a little bossing of our own.

Next week we are sure this column will be back into his hot little hands. We are willing to be stenographer, mail clerk, embosser, mail operator, coffee maker and general clerk but writing a column is not our line. Back to you, Dad.

CARD OF THANKS

The Midget Hockey Club is grateful indeed to Teen Town. In answer to an appeal the Teen Towners voted to supply hockey sweaters for the club and this year the Midgets will turn out one of the best clad teams for many a season. The executive and coaches of the team wish to take this opportunity to thank the Teen Towners for their unhesitating response to this recreational need.

Fire struck last Friday here in the village. The house belonging to Mrs Simeon Droppo and standing unoccupied for several weeks suddenly burst into flame. Firemen were quickly on the job and the flames put out. Damage to the upper structure was extensive.

OURS AND OTHERS

That rail strike

The impending rail strike, coming next Saturday, sits like a bother at the back of nearly everyone's mind. If negotiations do not improve, the strike will take place, and man, will the truckers be busy!

We have two minds about the matter. Rarely are we undecided about anything, but in this case we are. It seems to us the railways and the unions are at a point to try conclusions with circumstances that make it impossible to arrive at a solution.

Right at this moment Parliament is sitting in Ottawa with a burden of conscience over gathering unemployment in Canada. That august body intends wrestling with the matter for the next few weeks; the contest is between tough opponents and the final solution may or may not be a shot in the arm to an economy suffering from a nasty, indigestible lump of recession.

Right at this moment the non-operating workers of Canada's railroads, all 111,000 of them, feel they need more money in the pay envelope and they feel the railroads can afford to pay it. Their economists, and never fear there are just as smart men in the unions as out of them, think they have a good case on which to base their claims.

Let's look at the season of the year the union chooses to hold a strike. Christmas business is one of the highlights of the economic year to thousands of businessmen across Canada. Buying was done way back in the summer for this season. Orders have been processed and shipping scheduled. Then the shipper goes out of business for the duration of the strike. In the resultant confusion, a lot of businessmen will do some heavy breathing. And as before they will be permanent converts to trucking to assure a future delivery. Other communities not served by highways will just be out of luck.

The railways may be able to pay what the conciliation board recommended. We are not economists. But we do know it is a damn poor time to pull a strike. Christmas will come to many people late or not at all because of it.

If the non-ops are entitled to a strike for more money, why take the one time of year that can hurt more people in the heart than any other? The railroads will make fat propaganda from a Christmas tie-up and a hard-working union will get a black eye.

A fine example

This week we are pleased to report the success of a Chesterville Public School student. Brian Dockstader came home from Morrisburg the other night with honour for himself and his class. He was named Number One in a contest of public speaking at Morrisburg over tough competition. We had the pleasure of hearing him here at the local service club.

We mention Brian with the thought in mind that this year has not seen the usual activity in the department of public speaking in the schools we sometimes find here.

Drive carefully

The weather is finally catching up with us. Rain, freezing rain and snow are all on the book now and at the moment we are getting a little of each.

Car drivers would be advised to take a hitch in their watchfulness. Now is the time to use care and avoid the ditch or worse.

The average Canadian motorist has a built-in knowledge of what to do when driving in snow or on ice. Occasionally that knowledge becomes impaired. Fatigue, carelessness, and bottle music can dull reflexes to a dangerous degree. Not too often can slippery roads be mastered with any combination of the impairments in operation.

It is really to be hoped the school boards have not forgotten the training the occasional public appearance gives the students. They gain confidence and poise their elders would give a couple of right arms to have now.

We offer Brian our good wishes and good luck for his trip to Ingleside and the public speaking finals of these eastern counties sponsored by the Ontario Trustees Association.

or on ice. Occasionally that knowledge becomes impaired. Fatigue, carelessness, and bottle music can dull reflexes to a dangerous degree. Not too often can slippery roads be mastered with any combination of the impairments in operation.

Drive safely and carefully this treacherous weather. Go safer by going a little slower. Remember a slip making time might end doing time.

FALAISE, Normandy — Coming back to this historic land of William the Conqueror, we wondered if we would be able to locate any of the places we had "visited" in our tour of 16 years ago. Armed with the maps we use in those days, and our war diary, we realized that map-reading from behind the wheel have to worry about the driving chore. But we managed to find several spots—minus the fox-holes and shelters, of course.

On Sunday morning we drove west from Caen along the road to Bayeux—which we had last travelled in the opposite direction. We turned off at Rots and visited the old Chateau hidden in the woods. As we started out the winding drive, we met M. J. Beaujour Bourget, owner of the chateau and its lands, who insisted we return to look over more closely the old place on land decided by William the Conqueror.

Madame Bourget and their son and daughter met us and welcomed our family group and we spent a delightful hour in the richly furnished old building chatting over those eventful days. The Bourgets were able to return to their home fairly early in the war (they had been ousted by the German Army) as the Chateau was liberated the first day by the Canadians. Our "Canada" sign on our front licence plate and our "Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association" plate were our passports to welcome wherever we went. Over a glass of wine and some cakes, we reviewed our experiences and said "au revoir" to a delightful family.

We swung up to Bretteville l'Orgueilleuse (Barrelful of orange juice) and la Villeneuve, Norry-en-Bessin, back through Carpiquet and its famous airfield. Out over the beautiful new bridge over the Orne, we drove through Fauberg de Vaucelles along the road.

How different on this beautiful Sunday afternoon! As we stopped for a picnic lunch a swarm of bicycle racers and spectators went by, and cars streamed along the highway.

Signposts read like an operation order—Ifs, Cormelles, Hubert Folie, Bras, Bourgebus, Verrieres, Tilly-la-Campagne . . . Near Roquancourt we stopped to look again at a spot in the woods by the railways tracks where a tragic error brought tons of bombs onto the Canadian and Polish divisions . . . then we came upon the beautifully maintained cemetery of Bretteville-sur-Laize, and one of those experiences only war can breed.

We met two couples from the Maritimes, now stationed at Antwerp, looking up the graves of buddies. We mentioned an experience at Cormelles, and how Miles Casselman from our hometown of Chesterville had pulled us into a 4th LAA shelter. Tufts had been in that very battery, recalled the day and experience, and recalled the terrible damage suffered by the British AGRA in the valley beside us.

Along the Falaise Road we stopped to pay a moment of respect at the Polish Military Cemetery, a beautifully kept memorial with hundreds of crosses, row upon row. But, we wondered, what of the connection between this memorial and a pillaged homeland still in bondage?

Falaise—the northern jaw of the trap where Montgomery crushed Rommel's 7th Army—is now a modern little city, rebuilt with beautiful new homes and stores. Overlooking the countryside which saw such terrible carnage in August 1944, stand the ruins of William the Conqueror's great citadel. In the square before the Chateau a great equestrian statue commemorates his Cabinet reshuffling or discussing shadow Cabinets always has been a popular Capitol Hill game, and not infrequently played wherever Canadians gather in groups from Halifax to Vancouver. This is natural and good. It shows an interest in politics and public affairs without which we cannot operate our system of government at all much less successfully.

I was of the vast majority who favoured George Hees as Minister of Trade and Commerce. Not that I wished to see him moved from Transport. He did a fast-moving imaginative job on Canada's transportation problems. All across the country we have new airports that we can boast about. Away ahead of schedule was his use of funds allotted to this purpose. In a country of Canada's vast distances, air travel is essential. Thanks to energetic Mr Hees we are now able to maintain our high position amongst air-minded world businessmen and travellers which was bequeathed to us by the brave and gallant boys of the R.C.A.F. in two world wars.

We, in Grenville-Dundas, have special reason to be grateful to his vision in setting up the excellent committee which studied St. Lawrence port facilities and gave us concrete stimulation in the warehouse just completed at Prescott and the wharf being built at Morrisburg.

Everyone wondered how George Hees would handle the trade and commerce problems which affect our whole economy and standard of living, and at the same time are so interrelated with foreign affairs and cold war.

True to form George Hees has wasted no time in doing something, and what he did was sensible. He assumed, quite properly, the role of leadership that falls upon a Cabinet Minister, whether he likes it or even accepts it. He decided quite properly and obviously that a leader must recognize the goal to be achieved, then enunciate the plans to be followed.

reign, with his nine Dukes of Normandy about him . . . the faithful companions at the Battle of Hastings in 1066. Nearby stands the 13th century church being restored to its former state, and still regularly used by worshippers—keeping watch on a countryside steeped in history and blood—blood of liberators whose ancestors William once conquered.

Of this, is history made.

FRIENDLEE FARM CHATS

by Lillian Allison

"We met two elderly ladies last summer in Nova Scotia," a friend said in her letter. "One of them had a daughter married to a descendant of the McIntosh who found the apple tree in Dundela. She was very interested in the story but I couldn't remember much about it. I promised myself I'd find out more and send it to her. Now I'm wondering if you have some information . . ."

As soon as I read that I could see in my mind a page in an old Maclean's magazine with pictures and the whole story. One of my hobbies is saving articles like that and filing them away. In a spare moment I checked the files. I looked in "Biographies." I found stories of poets and politicians but no apple-men. I looked under "Interesting Facts about Canada" but there was no story of the McIntosh apple.

I knew I wasn't licked. There would have to be a story in the "History of Dundas." So I lugged that big book downstairs and began to thumb through it. The book opened at a picture of Mr McIntosh and the original tree because there was a newspaper clipping there.

Unfolding the clipping I found it was the story I wanted taken from an Ottawa paper dated November 6, 1948. My father-in-law had cut it out and filed it there for future use.

And I'm sure glad he did. I haven't yet found the story in the "History of Dundas." I've read it for two hours and a half until my eyes burn. It's absolutely fascinating. I'd like to read it from front to back.

The section on Religious Life is intriguing. The history of our county churches is amazing. Grantley church, for instance, was built in 1882 and cost $1,600, the book says. Chesterville Anglican cost $2,400. In 1904 there were seventy-two adherents. In 1902 the Methodist circuit consisted of Winchester Springs, Elma and North Williamsburg had a total of 325 members. They paid their preacher $900.

The Lutherans at Riverside who had immigrated from Germany to help build the canal first met for worship in the homes. In 1787 they sent a messenger to Philadelphia for a Book of Sermons and a hymn book to help with their services. Soon they procured a preacher and in 1789 built a tiny church—the first Protestant church in Upper Canada.

At one point the Lutherans and Presbyterians together built a church in Williamsburg. Later there was a small squabble and some of the Lutherans left and built a church of their own at Bouck's Hill.

A Methodist preacher in Matilda was tried for performing a ceremony of marriage and was sentenced to banishment. He and his family were put into a canoe and ferried across the St. Lawrence. Finally he was pardoned through the efforts of John Rose at Dixon's Corners who rode on horseback all the way to York (Toronto) with a petition begging for the minister's reprieve.

The story of Chesterville's Roman Catholic church goes back to 1851. Before that the Catholic immigrants from Ireland worshipped in a log school a mile south of the village. Father Coyle built the present church in 1851. A list of pioneers who helped reads like our telephone directory. Some names there are: Moran, Chambers, McCloskey, Curran, Masterson, McDonald, Wheeler, McCadden, Flynn, Coyne, Barrett, Manley, etc.

I was interested in a picture on one page showing the Dundas students at Queen's University for the term 1903-04. There were fifteen of them—eight in Arts, two in Science, five in medicine. Among the aspiring doctors pictured was Dr M. W. Locke. Two of the students were girls. I wonder how many Dundas students we could find at Queen's today. And we talk about modern education.

There is a list somewhere of all the chemicals found in the spring water at Winchester Springs. Little wonder the stuff tastes like it does. The book says, however, that it cured Thomas Armstrong and his men of scurvy. And that was lucky for he was the man who built Armstrong's Mills, now Chesterville.

The history tells too that when farmers were drilling a well between Winchester Springs and Williamsburg early in this century, they suddenly struck gas. They stopped it up only after much difficulty. Later an oil and gas company came to drill on that spot. When the history was written (1904) the outcome of the drilling was not yet known. I wonder what happened. That was just fifty-six years ago. Does anyone remember?

Could it be we have natural gas in this county? If you are going to look, wait for me.

A NEW CHESTERVILLE 'RECORD'

Over 66 years ago when this newspaper began, it consisted of four pages, with five columns to a page and just under 15 inches long. The type was set by hand; the paper was rough and grey; advertisers were faithful but few.

The years have seen many changes. The size has varied from a small four-pager, up to a big six-column four-pager, then down to five columns but up to eight pages.

Since the war, with the growth of local advertising, we have had recourse to more and more pages, in spite of an additional column added a few years ago.

Now, following the addition of more equipment and permanent staff, we grow larger and, we hope, better.

The "Record" next week will be printed on a new style of newsprint. The quality will be such to allow photos to show up to better advantage and the paper will be of heavier stock. There will be one extra column on each page and each column will be over two inches longer than this present size. All in all, each page will have about 35 more inches of space for news and advertising.

The increased size of the "Record" will allow us to carry more news and news features than has been possible of late. It will also pose some problems of development.

We would ask, most earnestly, that correspondents and advertisers do your very best to get your copy to us even earlier than usual for the next while. New machines and new hands must be allowed a reasonable length of time to get a new production rolling well. We would ask your indulgence if we are late—we hope you will help by not being late.

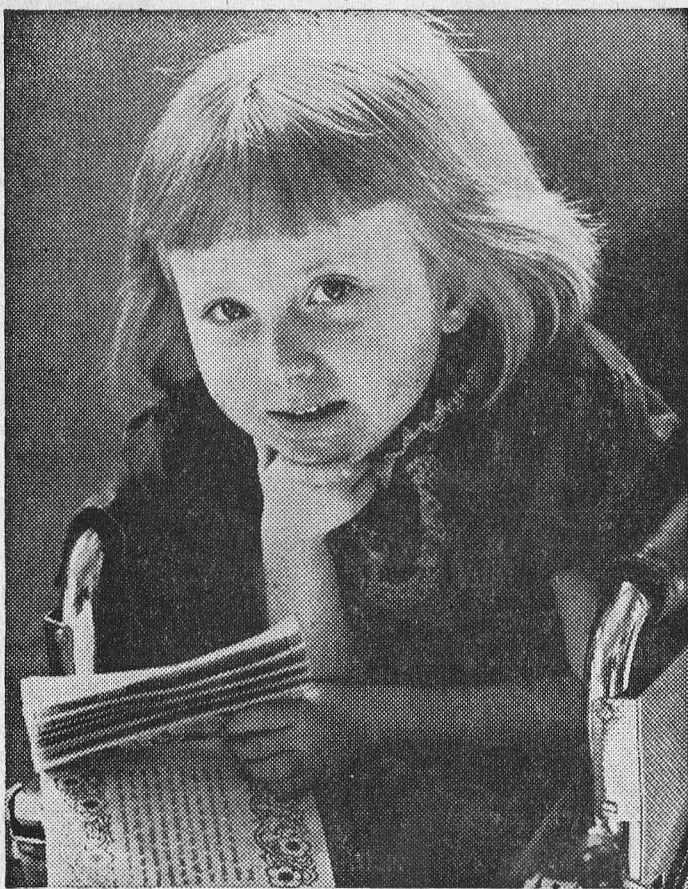

Finally, may we say "Thank You" for your continued generous support.

Next week this newspaper will take on a new and larger size. Its aim and object will be the same as always though—to serve the community that makes its existence possible.

The Only Newspaper that is interested in everything you do -- is your home-town Paper

For 66 years the "Record" has been offering its pages to local people for local purposes. Your confidence and patronage have made possible this latest move to provide even better service through the pages of your own "Chesterville Record" at no increase in cost to you.

Dundas 4-H Clubs Award Night

A special cash prize, donated by Mel Tomkins for the best 4-H showman at Mountain Fair, went to Alan Fawcett. Another cash award, donated by Chesterville Co-Op, went to Ann Algire who was the author of the best 4-H essay on Farm Safety. Eleven 4-H agricultural members were presented with certificates for completing four or more 4-H projects.

Following the announcement of results and presentations of trophies, the representatives of the various Breed Associations made their presentations to the Calf Club members.

Miss Pritchard and Mr Pearson introduced all of the 4-H Club leaders and sponsors of these Clubs, then Miss Barbara Wagner, R.R. 4, Cryslar, thanked the leaders and sponsors and on behalf of all 4-H Club members.

The junior committee of the Dundas Farm Safety Council changed the pace of the evening by presenting a short comedy skit, pointing out some of the most common accident hazards that occur in the farm home.

Mac Arbuthnot, president, Ontario Junior Farmers, made a few remarks about Junior Farmers, encouraging the formation of a club in Dundas County. He, with the help of Mrs Donald Cross, led the group in community singing, followed by games which were enjoyed by both participants and observers.

Lunch was served by Morewood Women's Institute at the conclusion of the evening and was much appreciated by 4-H members and parents alike.

Finch friends honour Henry family

On Friday evening, Mr and Mrs Dolton Henry, Ann and Howard were guests of honour at a farewell party held in Chalmers Church hall, Finch.

The program, emceed by Myles Nephew, consisted of a sing song, led by Mrs L. Hough; piano selections by Mrs Earl Bicks; an accordion and violin duet given by Lois and Kenneth Hutt, and a violin solo by Milton Milross.

Phil Casselman read an address to the Henry family and a purse of money was presented to them by Mrs Osborne Shaver.

On behalf of the 3 M's, Bob Staley spoke briefly on the work done by the Henrys and their unstinting devotion to the cause and presented them with a cheese tray. W. C. Johnstone presented Howard with a hymn book on behalf of his Sunday School class.

Mr Henry, in his usual pleasing manner, thanked all present for the gifts and issued an invitation to each and everyone to visit them in their new home. Lunch was served by the ladies.

Liberal Women see interesting pictures

At the November meeting of Grenville-Dundas Women's Liberal Association Mrs Lillian Allison, president, gave a very interesting report on the Ontario W.L.A. meeting held in Toronto which she had attended. It was her privilege and honour to introduce the guest speaker, L. B. Pearson. She gave the highlights of his address and his predictions of an election in the offing.

George Beavers, Morrisburg businessman, showed the meeting very interesting pictures of European countries which he and Mrs Beavers had visited last summer. These pictures of Scandinavian countries, Finland, France and England, along with his comments, were of great interest to all and helped to enlarge the ladies' knowledge of these countries and their people.

Tentative plans for a dinner in the spring were discussed, and it was agreed that the president should contact a guest speaker for that event.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the Prescott ladies served a very delicious lunch. Mrs Harold Merkley moved a vote of thanks to the ladies for their hospitality and to Mr Beavers for his kindness in showing the pictures.

Mrs Dale Beckstead very kindly offered to look after the January meeting at Ingleside.

Dundas Teachers' Institute holds annual meeting

The annual meeting of Dundas Teachers' Institute.

Teachers' Institute was held in Iroquois Public School recently with principal Stanley Waddell as host. Opening exercises were conducted by Rev D. O. Fry of the Presbyterian Church. Mr Davis, reeve of Iroquois, and Arlis Casselman, of the Public School Board, brought greetings to the teachers.

M. N. Hutchison, Inspector of Public Schools, spoke to the teachers. In his remarks Mr Hutchison said that he had made a survey in which he had compared a broad sampling of the Grade 8 pupil-results of the present time with the pupil-results when the passing of the Departmental entrance examination was the goal. The pupil-results under the present system proved superior to those of Departmental examination days.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs Irene Ross, assisted by the secretary-treasurer, H. Potter. Plans were laid for a winter seminar in geography and for the offering of a trophy for a public speaking contest in the future.

A resolution was passed in which the president of each group of township teachers will automatically become members of the executive of the Dundas

Mrs Ellen Reid introduced Miss Ruth Cairns, supervisor of primary work in Ottawa schools, who gave an excellent demonstration of the teaching of primary number work. Miss Cairns based her demonstration on the adoption of a method which met the needs of the individual child. Miss Cairns emphasized the need to teach the number concept thoroughly before teaching number facts and illustrated her points with many devices for interesting approaches and drills.

The teachers enjoyed an opportunity to look through books displayed by various publishing houses.

The Iroquois Women's Institute served a delicious noon luncheon in the civic centre at which Chas. Rittenhouse, Supervisor of English for the Montreal Protestant School Board, was speaker. Mr Rittenhouse, speaking on the language program, said the language program must be organic, it must be alive, it must appeal to the child's curiosity, pride or ambition. The teachers of the language must be concerned with minds not marks; must delve into the minds and memories of pupils. The speaker believed in the teaching of mechanics when its need arose. Good composition he said, is based on reasoning, therefore composition is based on the thought process.

Caldwell Linen Mills were hosts to a tour of their plant. Here the teachers followed the manufacture of towels from yarn received from the spinning mills, through the weaving, dyeing, hemming, labelling process. Each teacher received a gift and enjoyed coffee in the cafeteria.

WRONG RECKONING

For eighty-three years Pacific skippers plying between Apia in West Samoa and Suva in Fiji have been warily edging their vessels round the Zephyr shoal. First reported by the master of a schooner of that name in 1875, the shoal was noted in official maritime publications.

Twenty years later the Royal Naval vessel "Penguin" discovered another stretch of shallow water thirty miles from the Zephyr and this became known as the Penguin shoal.

Now a survey ship with a deep-sea echo-sounder has found that Zephyr and Penguin are one and the same; the first mariner was thirty miles out in his reckoning.

"But I can't spend my telephone money!"

This is a true story.

One of our telephone people recently passed a neighbourhood lunch counter where some children were about to order a second round of milk shakes and soft drinks. One little boy, called Jimmy, found he only had one dime left. He announced firmly:

"I can't spend my telephone money!"

Obviously, Jimmy's parents had convinced him that he'd never have to worry—nor would they—about being late or getting lost if he always kept a dime for a phone call: there's always a telephone nearby!

So Jimmy's telephone dime buys his mother peace of mind... it seems like such a good idea that children know how to reach home by phone.

Award contract for O.P.P. headquarters

Ontario Public Works Minister Ray Connell announced last week that the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. of Picton had been awarded the contract for construction of the new Ontario Provincial Police headquarters building to serve the Cornwall area. The cost of the building will be $244,057, the lowest of eight bids.

Location of the building is about seven miles west of Cornwall in the new town of Long Sault in Cornwall Township. It will be sited north of No. 2 Highway and will be bounded by Bethune Avenue, Mille Roches Road and Simcoe Street. It will administer Provincial Police activities in the Stormont, Grenville - Dundas and Glengarry areas.

The administration section of the headquarters building will be two-storey and full basement with brick walls and concrete floor and roof slabs. The single-storey garage section to the rear will have space for 14 patrol cars, four repair stalls, wash-rack and storage facilities.

The design will be similar to the O.P.P. headquarters building under construction at Burlington and to one at Belleville for which the contract was also awarded to the same contractors. Other buildings of this type are already in operation at Niagara Falls, Porth Arthur and Barrie.

Counties receive $300,000 from Hydro

The United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry have received $300,000 from Ontario Hydro as compensation for damages to and relocation of certain sections of county roads caused by construction of the power project.

Warden J. M. Fader and Counties' clerk-treasurer J. Cameron Kennedy were authorized by United Counties Council at Cornwall to sign the agreement with the commission. It will exempt Hydro from further damages.

Hydro also agreed to complete county road interconnections between relocated Highway 2 and the interchange structures on Highway 401. These connections are part of roads going through the villages of Ingleside and Long Sault.

If permission is granted by the Ontario Department of Highways council will spend the money at the rate of $100,000 a year for the next three years to bring county roads in the district up to a higher standard.

Hydro carried exceptionally heavy loads over county roads during the power project construction phase. As a result much damage was caused and the settlement was reached following negotiations between Hydro and United Counties' legal representatives.

TIME TO FIX FLOORS
Winter is a good time to fix spaces between the boards in a home heating system is in oper-shrunk. Clean the space between ture of fine sawdust and shel-

Visser-Marchand

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Elma United Church on Saturday afternoon when Jacobi Wauterina, daughter of Mr and Mrs Walter Mar-chand, Elma, was united in marriage to Arthur Visser, son of Mr and Mrs Martin Visser, of Spencerville.

The ceremony was performed by Rev R. Brookson and the wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs Bert
M. Loucks.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white chiffon over taffeta, with lace insets. She carried a cascade bouquet of flowers and plumes.

Mrs Rita Marchand, Ottawa, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a street-length white dress and carried pink mums.

The bride's brother, Ernest
Marchand, Ottawa, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple will reside at Petawawa where the groom is employed.

Shaler D. Hill

Shaler D. Hill, a native of Williamsburg Township where he was born 73 years ago, died in Ottawa Civic Hospital. His home was at 446 Tweedsmuir Avenue, Ottawa. He was a son of the late Mr and Mrs Peter Hill.

Mr Hill had been employed as an accountant for 50 years until his retirement a few years ago.

Mr and Mrs Hill were devout members of Stewarston United Church, Ottawa, and Mr Hill was a member of Royal Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Alice Louise McLean; and a brother, George E. Hill, of Williamsburg.

The body rested at the Hulse and Playfair Funeral Home, Ottawa, where the service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Reid, of Stewarston United Church.

The Masonic Lodge held a service in the chapel. Many floral tributes surrounded the casket. Friends attended from Williamsburg, Chesterville, Morrisburg, Smiths Falls and Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Burial was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

TOUGH BABIES

Police found that not all baby carriages in a city park were carrying babies. They held packs of playing cards, rented at 35 cents. Marked packs also were available—at considerably higher prices.

The gambling tables were Budapest park benches. An old gentleman lent money, at 50 per cent.

EVERYBODY EATS- TRY THESE!

UNEXPECTED COMPANY

WHEN UNEXPECTED GUESTS drop in can you say "And, of course, you'll stay for supper" without following it with the mental sentence "What on earth can we have to eat?"

During the Christmas season it is wise to keep a well stocked emergency shelf or if you have a handy deep freezer you can stock it with all sorts of goodies to bring out at a moment's notice.

Some of my stand-by emergency frozen foods are angel cake, ice cream, frozen fruit salad, hamburgs, individually wrapped so it will be easy to thaw the required number, hamburger rolls, wieners and wiener rolls. The above-mentioned foods all defrost quickly and can easily be served within the hour.

Chocolate Ice Cream Sauce
If you have vanilla ice cream in the freezer and a jar of chocolate sauce in the refrigerator, you will always be ready to serve a delicious dessert.

32 marshmallows
1/2 cup or 1 small can evaporated milk
3 1-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate
1 tsp. vanilla
Heat marshmallows, chocolate and milk in double boiler until marshmallows dissolve, stirring occasionally. Blend in vanilla. Serve warm over vanilla ice cream.

Fish Chowder
Make chowder up to point of adding milk. Freeze in jars. When ready to use thaw, add milk and serve piping hot with crackers or rolls you have previously made and stored in your freezer.

1/4 cup diced fat salt pork or fresh side pork
3 cups sliced potatoes
1 cup sliced onions
Salt and pepper
1 cup flaked cooked cod or haddock
2 tbsps. flour
2 cups milk
Fry pork till golden brown. Arrange potatoes and onions in layers in saucepan, sprinkling each layer with salt and pepper. Add fish. Add cold water until it barely shows in the saucepan. Cook till potatoes and onions are tender, about 25 minutes. Mix flour with a little cold milk and blend with remaining milk. Pour into chowder and bring to a boil.

Baked Apples
Baked apples freeze well. Bake in ovenware dish that can be used on the table. Cool thoroughly and cover tightly with foil before freezing.

8 medium-sized apples
1/2 cup sugar
Boiling water

Wipe and core apples. Arrange in a baking dish. Pour in boiling water to a depth of 1/4 inch. Add sugar; bake in a moderate oven until tender. It is best to test them with a fork to be sure that they are cooked through. Baste two or three times during the cooking.

For variety fill the centres with seeded raisins or dates.

Steamed Cranberry Pudding
This freezes well—or will keep several weeks in your refrigerator. Wrap well in foil for storing.

1 cup fresh cranberries cut in half
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds
1/2 cup molasses
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. cloves
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

Combine fruits, almonds and molasses. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix well. Fill greased quart sized mold two-thirds full. Cover tightly. Steam 2 hours. Serve with hard sauce.

HONOUR

San Jose, Calif., highway patrolmen investigating the crash of an automobile into a tree quoted the driver, Alexander Valencia, 21, as saying he was behind the wheel only as a favour to his friend, Serapio Alvarado, 26.

Alvarado, a passenger in the car, was quoted as saying he had stolen the vehicle but didn't feel he ought to drive it since he didn't have an operator's licence.

YOUR MEMBER REPORTS—

The goal for Canada certainly is to sell her goods, thereby balancing our trade deficit, curing unemployment and the associated ills.

What better way to promote our sales than to check on the sales staff. Accordingly, November 30, 111 Canadian trade representatives arrive in Ottawa to give interviews to Canadian businessmen. All the knowledge that our trade representatives have gathered in all parts of the world is to be brought to our city to share with Canadians. This is a most efficient, dynamic and worthwhile move.

It now remains for Canadian businessmen to take full advantage of the arrangements. Anyone who has ever had reluctance to make the initial move, who has worried over the cost of extended travelling or the time away from business, has his problems solved. There have been many frustrated by one or all of these problems, because already 5,000 applications for appointments have been received and many more are expected and welcomed. I urge all the businessmen of Grenville-Dundas to take advantage of this new type of government assistance. Help all those who will help themselves is the Hees long-time motto. We are in an ideal geographical position, at most one and a half hours by car from Ottawa. Boards and business organizations have all been advised of proceedings and supplied with appointment application forms. Have no hesitancy or timidity. This is the time to obtain a quick, first-hand, up-to-date resume of world markets.

I have application forms for anyone who has not already obtained them. I hope I have many requests. I cannot over-emphasize this meeting to Canadian businessmen.

Re: Pasteurized Milk.

Dear Sir:

We would like to take this opportunity of congratulating you the the quality of the milk as indicated by samples taken on November 22, 1960. Your samples read: coliform organisms - 0, and standard plate count - less than 3,000. Bacteriologically speaking, this indicates that the milk is of the highest quality obtainable and is the result of a job well done by your plant staff.

Mrs Harold Durant

It was with shock and sorrow the district learned of the sudden passing of Mrs Harold Durant last Wednesday. She had been in indifferent health for some time and had entered hospital for treatment on Monday, Wednesday, she suffered a heart attack and passed away with her family at her bedside.

Mrs Durant was the former Dora Ball, a daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert Ball. She was born here on November 23, 1887. In September, 1915, she married the late Harold E. Durant, a former warden of the counties who died in December, 1954.

Mrs Durant was a faithful member of Trinity United Church and its organizations. She was a member of Eastern Star fraternal society.

Surviving is one son, Douglas, at the home farm in the Boyne, one sister, Mrs George Shay, and Mr Abram Ball, Chesterville.

Funeral services were held from the residence to Trinity United Church on Saturday, November 26, where service was conducted by Rev E. B. Bugden at 2 p.m. Interment followed in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall bearers were M. E. Johnston, Graham Durant, Harold E. Merkley, Roy Darling, Howard Kittle and R. L. Coleman.

District board meets minister

School board members of North Dundas High School District took off for Toronto on Monday and had a conference with the Department of Education and Minister Roberts. The matter under discussion was what to do about school accommodation.

First reports on the meeting indicate a change of attitude toward building additions to present plants. Board members feel there is some chance of adding to present structures, if a central school is not to be built. Grant structures came under scrutiny of the board in the day-long conference. It would appear more grants are available than was realized. Further skull sessions with the school architect were indicated and this is being arranged.

The delegation was headed by Sam Ault, Winchester, chairman of the board. Chesterville council representative is John Coyne and Winchester township has as a representative the vice chairman of the board, Eric Casselman, Chesterville.

William Rose Fulton

Word was received this week of the death in Drumheller, Alta., of William Rose Fulton, a member of the Fulton family of this district. He was 81 and had suffered a seizure last week. He died in a Drumheller hospital.

Mr Fulton was born here, the son of Mr and Mrs Robert Derry Fulton. In 1913 he married the former Mary Agnes (Mame) Dwyer who survives.

In 1899 two Fulton brothers, Charles and William, founded the firm of Fulton Brothers, which has remained constantly in business here and still in the Fulton family.

Mr Fulton was a well-known citizen of Drumheller, being mayor of the city at one time. He was an ardent amateur geologist and became a recognized expert on fossils of the Bad Lands district of Alberta. Some of his findings are in the Royal Museum at Ottawa on permanent exhibition.

Surviving with Mrs Fulton are a number of brothers: A. M.

Fulton, of Lindsay, Ont.; C. T., Toronto; Dr E. M., Parry Sound; Bert and Howard, of Chesterville, and Bismark, of Vancouver, B.C. Four brothers and one sister died some years ago.

Funeral services were held at Drumheller United Church and interment was made at a city cemetery.

Chas. O'Neil, 73

The death occurred recently of Charles O'Neil in Cornwall. He was 73 years old and had been ill for a number of months.

Born at Casselman, he was the son of Mr and Mrs Cornelius O'Neil and is survived by four brothers and two sisters. They are William, Finch; Henry, in the West; Ernest, Hamilton; Duncan, Ottawa; Mrs John Kelly (Sarah), and Mrs Frank Merkley (Charlotte), Chesterville.

Funeral service was from the Rowe Funeral Home to Trinity United Church where service was conducted at 11 a.m. by the Rev E. B. Bugden on November 26. Interment followed in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Jake Baker, Willard Baker, Edwin Kelly, Raymond Kelly, Neil Kelly and Donald O'Neil.

Charles F. Dafoe

Following a brief illness, Charles F. Dafoe passed away at his home in the Third Concession, Osnaburk Township. He was in his 90th year.

A son of the late John Dafoe and his wife, the late Sarah Smith, he lived his entire life in the farming community in which he was born on May 9, 1871.

His wife, the former Jessie Miller, of Moulinette, predeceased him in May, 1939. He was also predeceased by a daughter, May, in 1897, at the age of three years, and a daughter, Lera, at the age of five months a few years later.

He was a regular attendant at Gallingtown United Church prior to the building of Ingleside Church due to the Seaway.

A member of the Farran-Ault Masonic Lodge since 1903, he was presented with his 50-year jewel at his home in 1953. A Masonic service was held at his home.

The funeral was held from his residence, with Rev S. B. Profit, of Ingleside, officiating, assisted by Mr George Cardy, of Harrowsmith, a former student minister of Gallingtown and presently attending Queen's University. Mr Cardy chose his text from the second chapter of Luke and compared the aged Simeon and Anna with the deceased.

Hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide with Me," with Miss Lena MacLaren as organist.

Pall bearers were Harry Buchanan, Chesley Swerdfeger, Garnet Dennison, Elburn Crites, Fred Jarvis and Jack Dunbar, all neighbours of the deceased.

He is survived by several nieces and nephews.

The many floral tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held.

Interment was in St. Lawrence Union Cemetery.

High school news

The students of Chesterville High School are really getting down to business now as the schedule for Christmas examinations has been posted.

The Literary Society is working on two plays for the Christmas party. Dr Proulx, English inspector, and Dr Fred Swayze, History inspector, visited the school Tuesday morning.

The students of the band enjoyed the R.C.A.F. concert at the Capital Theatre, Ottawa, Sunday night. The 55-piece band played a medley of classical and popular numbers.

Saturday, November 26, girls from the high school met the following schools at the volleyball tournament at Iroquois: South Mountain, Iroquois, Morrisburg and Metcalfe. Chesterville girls defeated South Mountain girls 15-9.

Mr, Mrs Wm. J. McElheran mark 50th anniversary

Our Lady of the Angels Church, Moose Creek, was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers when solemn High Mass was celebrated November 22 at 10 a.m. by Rev Bruno Pilon on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr and Mrs Wm. J. McElheran. Assisting were Rev Elzear Danis and Rev Aime Leduc as Deacon and sub-Deacon.

Mr and Mrs McElheran renewed their marriage vows, attended by Mrs Dan Walsh, sister of the bride, and Leonard McElheran, cousin of the groom, their attendants 50 years ago. Martin McElheran was usher.

At high noon a family dinner was served at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs Stanley Murphy, Berwick. Rev Elzear Danis was master of ceremonies. In the evening Mr and Mrs McElheran were at home to their many friends and neighbours.

Numerous gifts, cards and messages of congratulations were received, including a plaque from the Provincial Secretary of the Ontario Government, which was presented by Peter Manley, M.P.P., and a congratulatory message from the Hon.

CARD OF THANKS

The members of Chesterville council wish to express their appreciation of the confidence placed in them. The acclamation received on Nomination Night will be taken as a guide to do better and larger things for the village in the coming year. The past year has been one of many problems, but the understanding way village ratepayers have allowed council to work out solutions has helped a great deal. Especially during the water system construction when confusion and dirt was an everyday lot. All of us would like to say "Thank You" again and wish you all the compliments of the Season.

Carl Merkley, reeve; councillors Harold Sharkey, Keith Graham, George Laflamme and James Fyke.
