The Great Outdoors

Travelling through our wonderful country

This is a marvellous country, with more clean bodies of water and fresh air than most in the world. When planning your vacation think about seeing some of our country first. From the Rockies to the Atlantic we have so much to offer. From climbing mountains to bicycling trails that lead into the most lush and beautiful landscapes ever imagined, you can find something for every taste and every energy level right in Canada. Whether a history buff or a serious camper, decide what you want to see and how you can best get to the destination of choice and head out on the open road to enjoy.

With the warmer temps the BBQs are out in force and the swimming pools are causing quite a splash in backyards everywhere. It is vital to be aware that the sun has become extremely powerful within the past few years and sunscreen is a must for everyone. It is important now to avoid mosquito bites as well due to the threat of the West Nile Virus. Using insect repellents, avoiding extra time outside at dawn and dusk when these biting creatures are most active, wearing protective clothing including long sleeved shirts, pants and a hat helps and ensuring that all doors and windows are tight fitting and have no holes is a great idea as well. Eliminating mosquito breeding grounds around the house and cottage helps as well. This might include old tires, eaves troughs, rain barrels, draining any and all standing water regularly (bird baths, wading pools, pool covers, saucers under flower pots, recycle bins, garbage can lids and one may well be advised to get fish for an ornamental pond since they will eat mosquito larvae. Take care and enjoy the outdoors.

Canoeing, swimming, seadooing, tubing and boating are as close as the mighty St. Lawrence River for us in this area. Be aware of the rules of the water and take full advantage of the water playground we are so fortunate to have on our doorstep.

Do not allow your youngsters to sit at the computer or the television all summer long, encourage them to get up, get out and enjoy a safe and fun filled summer.

Is boating affordable?

(NC) - Buying a boat is one of the best investments you can make in family recreation. Over four million Canadians went boating last year, in more than two million pleasure boats — making boating one of the best recreational investments available to families.

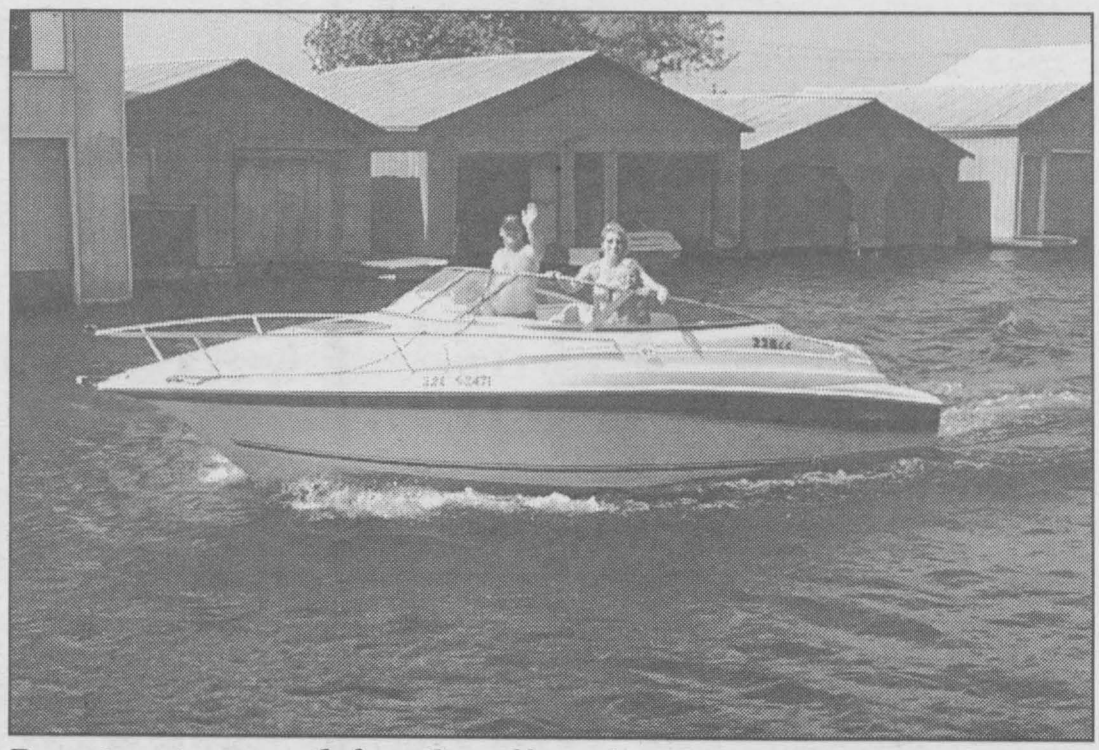

It costs less to buy and operate a boat than you may think. Surveys show people who don't own a boat believe boat prices are 30% or more higher than they actually are. While prices may vary from new and used, on average you can purchase a small 19' outboard-powered family runabout and trailer for less than $12,000. In addition, most new pleasure boats can also be financed, just like your car. A small sailboat, complete with dolly and sails, retails for less than $8,000.

The versatility of boating cannot be underestimated. Compare the number of outdoor experiences you can enjoy in a boat with other sports — fishing, water-skiing, camping, cottaging and exploring. A boat is a summer cottage, a fishing platform or an outdoor patio rolled into one special, long lasting product!

Boating really is for everyone! All family members can participate, creating their own unique, personalized version of the boating experience. Whether you are a dedicated, competitive sailor or a lodge owner — there are no barriers to boating.

To learn more about the boating experience. visit www.discoverboating.ca. Information is readily available from boating regulations to ownership matters such as financing or maintenance to events across Canada.

Boating leads to a happier lifestyle

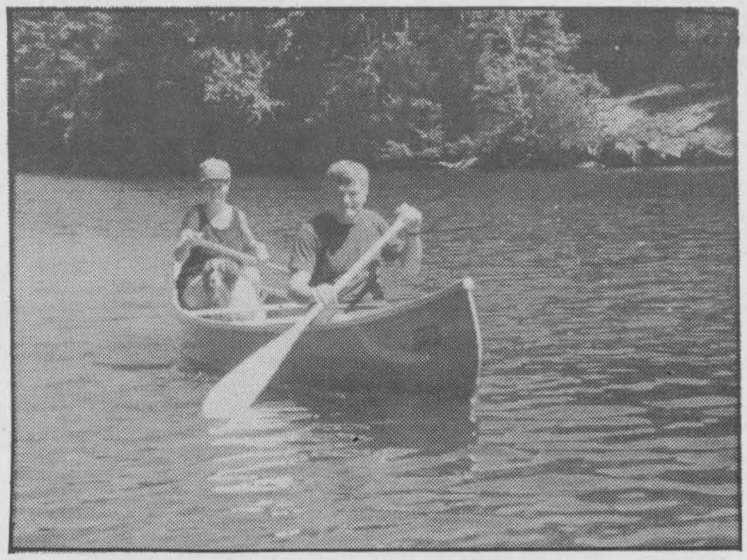

(NC) - A recent online survey (conducted in the U.S. by Impulse Research Corporation) suggests boaters are healthier and happier than their non-boating counterparts. A random survey of 1,029 men and women were selected to closely match U.S. population demographics.

On average, boaters spend nearly seven and one-half hours per week in active recreation, compared to five and one-half hours for non-boaters. When asked about the quality of their lives, the study reveals boat owners rated it about 5% better than non-boaters. Boat owners expressed greater satisfaction with their accomplishments, relations with their families and their ability to enjoy life.

Most boat owners add the benefits of owning a boat include being outdoors (89%), spending time on the water (85%), being able to unwind and leave pressures behind (79%) and finding tranquility (71%).

Families who boat reported their children to be healthier than those who don't. Boat owners rated spending time with their families as an important aspect of boating.

Fishing can be the ultimate family outing

With the demanding schedules and limited free time of today's hectic lifestyles, parents welcome ideas for simple and relaxing ways to spend time with the kids, especially during the summer months. A family fishing trip can be a fun and easy adventure that requires little preparation and cost.

Be aware of the fishing season in the area you choose. Choose a location and obtain the necessary permits, with the abundance of natural lakes and streams this is easy for us. Fishing is available close by where we live. Stock up on gear if you do not already have this in the garage or basement. Whether a beginner or a an avid angler, it is important to match the gear with the level and type of fishing you plan to do. Inexpensive tackle will allow you to bring home the fish and combo kits for the kids as they learn are great starters. Personal floatation devises are a must when kids are involved, they can fall in in an instant. Bug repellant, sunscreen and snacks and the camera, there will be shots that will be a once-in-a-lifetime for sure. Create some memorable moments with your family, relax and enjoy the great outdoors.

Boating Myths

(NC)-Recently we tried to straighten out some of the myths associated with boating, which happens to be the favourite leisure activity of hundreds of thousands of Canadians. If you're not convinced yet, here are a few more notions to clear up.

MYTH: Kids think boating is boring. Boating is anything but boring. With boating you can take part in a whole list of exciting activities including water-skiing, fishing, island hopping, lakeside picnicing, swimming and tubing. Exploring Canada's beautiful waterways and geography is eprfect by boat. Besides, it is a great way to spend qaulity time with the members of your family. Take your family and freids out for an adventure they'll remember.

MYTH: Towing and hauling a boat is a hassle. If you have a trailer for your boat, you simply have to back the trailer into the water and let the boat float right in! It's as easy as that. If you don't have one, your dealer will fit a proper boat trailer to your boat. You can pull most boats and trailers with an ordinary family vehicle.

MYTH: Boat rentals are expensive. In fact, it's quite the opposite. Rentals are very reasonable. On top of this, many launch ramps run by local municipalities are free and there are certainly many to choose from. Once you're out on the water, the sun, fresh air and smiles are free.

MYTH: Driving a boat is complicated. If you know how to drive a car, driving a boat is just as simple. You steer a boat in the direction you wish to go, with an automotive-style wheel. Rather than a gas pedal to determine the speed at which you ride, a boat's speed is controlled by an easy-to-operate lever control. Just like driving on the road, safe boat operation requires you to be alert, careful and responsible.

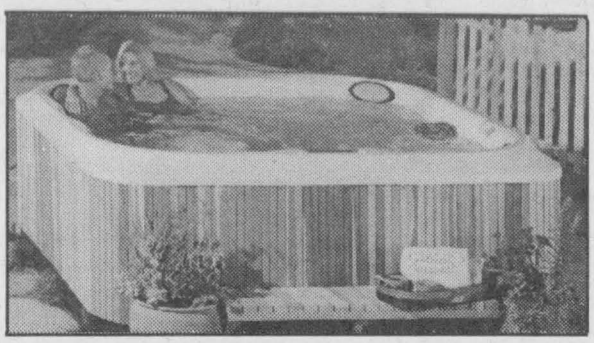

Boating is the perfect leisure activity. It's a way to unwind after a hectic workweek.

Day trips are a good idea with youngsters onboard

Local attractions welcome visitors

Travelling with children can be a great experience for everyone involved. Keep first aid supplies ready, including wet wipes, acetaminophen for kids, water or juice, snacks, colouring books, markers, crayons, paper and books for them as well as mom or dad to read aloud to them. A trivia game passes time as everyone can get into the action answering the questions. Keeping them busy will make the time pass quickly and those cries of "Are we there yet?" will subside. Plan pit stops and be flexible. Allow the kids time to blow off extra steam during those stops, a football, a frisbee, ball and gloves or a skipping rope will do the trick. Ensure they are comfortable and when stopped change seating arrangements so they see different views and everyone gets that special place at least once during the trip.

Day trips with youngsters make great sense since their attention span is short and their anticipation level high. We are fortunate in our area to have a number of exciting areas to visit within driving distance. Pack a lunch, load the kids up and head out for such attractions as Upper Canada Village, for even if you have been previously there is something new to draw you to this settlement. Seeing history as it was gives a new meaning to the entire subject. Then there is Prehistoric World where dinosaurs can be touched and fossils can be dug up, the young and young at heart enjoy this fascinating place. Fort Wellington in Prescott also provides a living history lesson. They have their annual Shadows of the Fort taking place in the evenings this summer. The Ghost Walks at the Bird Sanctuary also provide fodder for learning. We live in an area so rich in history it is vital our children know it and these are great ways to go about it.

Checking out the ships as they pass through the Locks can be a family fun thing. Walking the path along the River or biking farther along the trails proves interesting and healthy at the same time for all ages. Great Blue Herons frequent the shore line and the fishing is great if you have a pole along.

Camp sites abound in our area and there is nothing that tires youngsters out like tenting whether in their own back yard or a camp site down the road.

With La Ronde and Canada's Wonderland not too far away, the Museums in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto are a great place to spend time, there are zoos, white water rafting (for older kids) and water slides that provide a fun filled adventure for everyone.

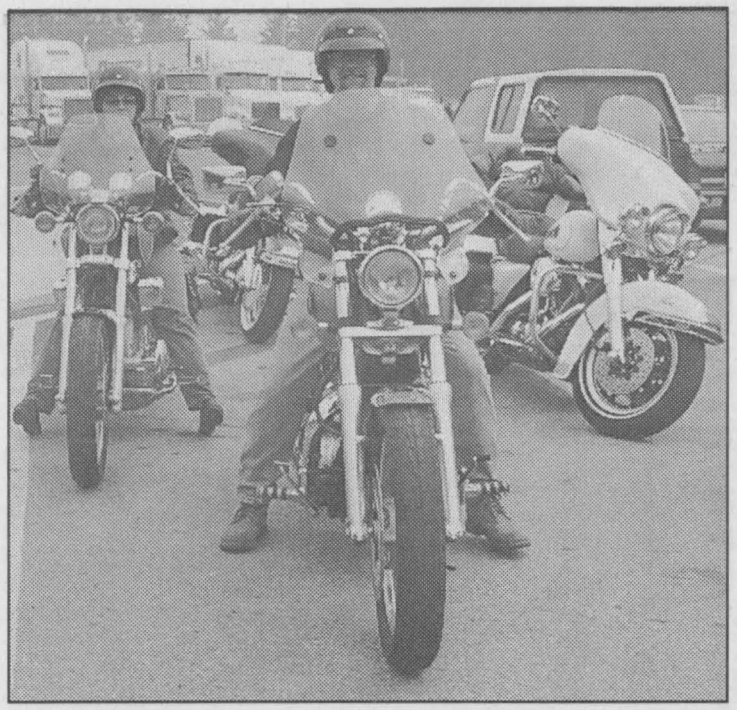

If a cottage stay is on your agenda, as many people seek the rest and relaxation of a summer retreat preparation is the best way to go. Inviting guests is up to you, but be sure they realize this is your holiday as well..."many hands make light work and every one for themselves" works well.

Be bug smart and sun smart and enjoy the outdoors with your family this summer.

Travel

There are day camps, as well as week long adventures they can become involved with. Keep them active and their brains will remain alert and healthy as fall rolls around and classes start again.

Hydration is important to everyone whether roller balding, cycling or running. We all love to get outside and get active. Whether an athlete or just lead a busy lifestyle, you must put staying hydrated at the top of your priority list. If you become thirsty, it means you are already dehydrated. Drink regularly no matter what you are doing, keep a bottle of water with you at all time and drink a little nit often.

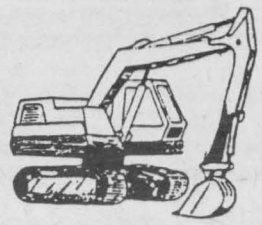

Hopefully some of these tips will help you and your family enjoy the great outdoors more fully.
