19.5% hike in hydro rates

Due to increased costs of power to Chesterville Hydro and an energy tax imposed by the Ontario Government, Chesterville residents will face a 19.5 percent increase in hydro bills starting this August.

The hike represents a 12.5 percent increase in direct costs to the village and a seven percent energy tax outlined in the new Ontario budget.

Reeve Keith Graham said the village is unable to absorb any of the increase due to the fact that the Hydro balance sheet is already operating in the red. If the village continued to charge the same rates to homeowners and pay the increase out of their own pocket it would result in a $9,562 deficit to the village in 1973.

At a meeting with Dominic Guarasci of the consumer division of Ontario Hydro last week, council heard the gruesome tale as it will effect village residents.

The first 12.5 percent increase is a combination of a direct seven percent hike from Ontario Hydro and another five and a half percent increase for continuing maintenance work.

"We can't do anything about the initial hydro increase," the reeve said, "and we could cut back on maintenance, but with an old system like ours, sooner or later we're going to have to replace it and the longer we can keep it in operation the better."

"We will be replacing some of the transformers which are operating at peak capacity with larger ones, in order to keep the system working."

The new increases will go into effect June 1st and show up on the August billing except for businesses which are billed every month and they will feel the bite in July.

For the average homeowner using about 2000KWH the bill will increase by $2 a month. The minimum charge will go from $2.50 to $3.00 while the comsumption rate follows a pattern of a $1 hike for the first 250 KWH; a $1.37 increase for 500 KWH; $1.74 for 750 KWH and $1.98 for 1000 KWH.

And on top of all this will be added the seven percent energy tax which will effect hydro, gas and oil consumption. The village will have to lower the boom on hydro users and will collect the new tax along with the regular billing.

The worst is not over according to the reeve. Ontario Hydro has projected a seven percent increase each year for the next three years at least. In 1972 the village purchased $121,261 worth of power. In 1973 this same amount will cost $144,140, in 1974 it will jump to $164,964 and in 1975 will soar to $187,052.

Lost power has also been a big expense and this matter is being investigated with crossed fingers. The reeve likened the problem to a complex water main where a certain amount of leakage is inevitable.

The hydro systems work on the same basis with an average yearly loss estimated at 4.30 percent. The amount of power lost in Chesterville last year reached 7.49 percent or a total of $11,099.

"It could be one of two things," said Reeve Graham. "There could be a book keeping loss or a direct power leakage. We're hoping it is a book keeping matter."

The individual home and business meters are read here in Chesterville over a five or even ten day period. Ontario Hydro reads their major input meters in a matter of a few minutes. The individual meters and the main meters are supposed to be synchronized and should add up to the same figures.

The problem is that Ontario Hydro reports that the village is using $11,000 worth of power for example, and the individual count adds up to maybe only $9,000. So somewhere in the system $2,000 worth of power was lost.

"We are allowed a certain amount of loss," said the reeve, "but last year we lost $4,698 worth of power more than the average. This could represent the difference between a profit or loss on our hydro accounts."

"We hope that it's just a matter of bookeeping and maybe the meters aren't properly synchronized, but if they are working properly, then that means we will have to go to a great expense in finding and repairing the leakage."

Finch child loses life in Sunday morning mishap

Funeral services for a five-year-old Finch girl, killed in a car-pedestrian mishap Sunday were held in Chalmers United Church, Finch, Tuesday afternoon.

Dawn Beverly Ethel Gibbons, daughter of Mr and Mrs Victor Gibbons of Finch was killed instantly Sunday around 9:45 a.m. when she was in collision with a car driven by Clinton MacDonald, 48, of R.R.2, Finch.

Long Sault Provincial Police said the girl was walking along Highway 43 at the east side of the community, with some other children on their way to church. The Gibbon's girl apparently darted across the street into the path of the MacDonald vehicle.

Rev. H. Funge conducted the service Tuesday with burial in St. Lawrence Valley Union Cemetery.

Surviving are the girl's parents, Victor Gibbons and his wife the formen Beverly Ezard; four brothers Dale, Douglas, Dalton, and Donald, and three sisters, Diana, Doreen, and Donalda, all at home.

Pall bearers were Douglas Hough, Kevin Hough, Ronnie Smith and Jeff Ouderkirk.

Const. Bill Costello investigated the mishap.

Bits & Pieces

Blame the Township

Main Street North residents who are having some trouble with T.V. reception especially during hockey games should not point too long a finger at Chesterville Hydro. Some homeowners feel that it's problems with the Chesterville power system which cause extensive interference with T.V. But the truth of the matter is that the problem is with power lines only a few feet away in Winchester Township. Reeve Graham said the matter was being investigated but there was little the village could do.

The Five-day Stop Smoking Plan

Want to learn how to quit smoking in five days? It's virtually impossible but the Canadian Cancer Society, St. Lawrence T.B. and Health Association and Heart Foundation are sponsoring a five day program in Cornwall starting May 7 which should help you to quit eventually if you are really interested. The Five Day Stop Smoking plan will be held at St. Paul's United Church at the corner of First and Sydney Streets. The course which costs $5 ($3 of which is returned if you complete it) runs for an hour and a half each night for five consecutive nights. There will be films and group sessions, lectures and demonstrations. If you're interested contact one of the sponsoring bodies or George Brewer of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, who is organizing the program.

Russ Jackson to be guest at Avonmore

Russ Jackson, former Ottawa Rough Riders football star and a well known T.V. personality will be guest speaker at the third annual Avonmore Sportsmen's Dinner sponsored by the Avonmore Community Recreational Association. The dinner and awards presentations will be held in Roxmore Public School Auditorium, May 4. Tickets are on sale now from all ACRA members and early reports indicate they are moving fast.

Finch Township Lets Contracts

Finch Township Council has awarded the contracts for two drain constructions to Menard Construction Co. of Green Valley at a total cost of $41,425. At a meeting of council April 16, the Ray MacLeod Drain and Bancroft-MacIntyre Drain works were awarded at a cost of $28,275 and $12,150 respectively. The engineer for the township had estimated the costs at $26,180 and $10,470 respectively. Menard was the lowest of six tenders received.

Photographic Display at Morrisburg

The Morrisburg branch of Seaway Valley Libraries is now showing the first of a series of photographic displays. The collection "Photography in Canada" has been made available by the Still Photography Division of the National Film Board. The 20 scenes in the library show some of the best examples of photographic art. The collection will stay in Morrisburg until April 28 and will then be moved to Chesterville, from where it will travel further through the different branches. This is the first display of photo art show in the libraries. Others dealing with old architecture and other subjects will follow later in the year.

Extensive drainage work undertaken by Win. Twp.

Following last year's record rainfall and the advice from the Provincial government to take advantage of drainage subsidies, Winchester Township is engaged in the most extensive drainage program in its history.

On the current tax roll drainage assessments are being collected on 32 drains completed in the last seven years; four drains presently in progress and seventeen others in the planning stage.

Deitrich and Sons and Sullivan Bros. were chosen successful bidders on two drainage tenders totalling more than $25,000. Deitrich won a $13,287 contract to construct the Curran Drain while Sullivan's will be engaged in the $12,588 Clement Drain. The only tender received on the Fawcett Drain was not accepted and tenders will be called again.

At Courts of Revision on the Curran, Moriarty, Cinnamon and Dagenais Drains no one appealed their assessment and council gave the by-laws third and final reading. Tenders on the Dagenais and Cinnamon Drains will be opened May 7.

The engineer's report on three other drains were read with only one accepted. The brief on the Steele Drain at a cost of $11,630 and the Servage Drain at $31,467 were returned for revision while the McLean Drain report at a cost of $33,036 was accepted with some amendments.

Township fathers also accepted the application of Joseph Marquette as Township Drainage Commissioner. Mr Marquette will be assisting in the supervision of construction of drains and maintenance.

$30,000 blaze destroys Avonmore garage

AVONMORE — Damage was estimated at more than $30,000 in an early afternoon fire here Thursday which destroyed an automotive garage at the corner of Main Street and Highway 43.

The blaze apparently started shortly after 1 p.m. under one of three cars in the garage at the time. The building is owned by Mrs Eva McElheran and has been rented to Campeau and Souligny Auto Body since November 1.

Marcel Campeau of Alexandria said he was working in front of one of the cars when the flames broke out under a second vehicle owned by John Hanley of Avonmore which was parked over the grease pit.

Campeau and Mr Hanley were able to push one car to safety but the other two vehicles were lost.

Chief of Avonmore Fire Department John Miller said he and his eight men arrived within minutes after the alarm. The Monkland brigade was also called along with the Newington Fire Department under the Mutual Aid agreement.

"There was nothing we could do," said Chief Miller. "When we arrived the flames were coming out of both doors and they formed a solid wall from the floor to the ceiling."

It took fireman approximately half an hour to bring the fire under control. Mr Miller said there was never any real danger to other nearby buildings. The Avonmore firemen remained at the scene four hours.

Mr Campeau said he had no idea what started the fire but estimated his own loss in stock and tools at nearly $10,000. Mrs McElheran estimated the value of the ten year old building at more than $20,000, and said she had no plans to rebuild.

Avonmore fire fighters maintain a watch over the gutted shell of a garage at the corner of Main Street and Highway 43 after fire swept the building Thursday afternoon. No one was injured but two cars and a substantial amount of parts and tools were lost in the $30,000 blaze. — Staff Photo.

Council calls for information

More information is needed before Winchester Township Council will accept the assessment levied by the South Nation River Conservation Authority for channel improvements to the Nation River.

At the April meeting of council it was decided that a resolution be sent to the Authority asking it to review the benefit assessment in the Channel Study and to indicate what allowances for land and crop damage will be made.

As more than six of the nine miles of improvement area are within the Township and approximately 50 acres of land will be used for either realignment or

$1,400 lost in fire & crash O.P.P. have quiet weekend

A young Chesterville woman escaped serious injury Monday afternoon when she was involved in one of two mishaps investigated by area Provincial Police detachments.

Winchester Provincial Police said a car driven by Connie Servage, 20, of Chesterville, was westbound on Highway 43 just west of Chesterville when it caught the north shoulder of the road and went out of control.

The vehicle skidded across the road and rolled into the south ditch. Miss Servage was thrown from the car.

Const. Norm Sarault said the woman was treated for minor cuts and bruises by Dr. Howard Justus but did not require hospital attention.

Damage to the vehicle in the 1:45 a.m. crash was estimated at $1,000.

Earlier Monday, a 1967 model car owned and driven by William Stader of R.R.1, Cardinal, caught fire and burned on the Glen Becker Road just west of Highway 31.

Const. John Goalen of Morrisburg Provincial Police, said the Strader car was eastbound when flames broke out apparently due to faulty wiring.

Williamsburg Volunteer Fire Fighters were called but were unable to save the vehicle. No on was injured and damage was estimated at $450.

Finch industry doubles capacity

FINCH — To meet product demands D & F Foam Insulation Ltd. will be doubling the capacity and size of their plant here this year as sales near the 10 million board feet mark.

The manufacturers of polystyrene foam insulation recently installed a new mould which is twice the size of the previous one and workmen are erecting a 60' x 70' addition which when completed later this year will be used for storage and office space.

The three year old company owned by Harold Fisher and Renee DeVries began production in the former Canada Packers plant, in Finch in the fall of 1970.

One of three plants in Eastern Ontario involved in this type of insulation, business has continuously grown forcing the need for increased production and storage area.

Polystyrene foam which is being used more and more today for all types of insulation is processed in the plant. The tiny beads of foam manufactured by Sinclair Koppers of Pittsburg are boiled in special tanks until they expand to approximately 37 times their original size. The expanded beads are dumped into a mould, 16 feet long, 21 inches wide and four feet deep and compressed under steam pressure into one solid block.

The blocks, weighing approximately 100 pounds are sliced into sheets of any thickness depending on the use intended.

Ontario's Increased Tax Bite - It Will Hurt

Bill Davis is probably the only man in history who can cut your throat and smile while doing it and somehow avoid a public hanging.

Our illustrious leader is up to his old tricks again of raising taxes and telling everyone that the provincial treasury is on the brink of bankruptcy and a few more pennies would tide him over the long, hot summer.

Last year he took a swipe at luxuries but this week he made sure of getting everyone in his grip by imposing a two percent sales tax increase on the basics of life and applied a seven percent tax on oil, gas and electricity

The only free thing left is air and we're sure it's only because he hasn't found an accurate way to measure lung capacity and intake, but give him a chance.

It seems to be a poor time to mention tax increases, especially with all the uproar over food prices and the cost of living, but with more than a year and a half left before another election, Mr Davis no doubt feels he can live dangerously.

It's doubtful that anyone ever agrees with taxes but the provincial sales tax has always appeared to be unfair because it affects everyone, not just those who can afford it, but particularly those who can't.

Income tax and luxury duties are justifiable but when you penalize someone for wearing clothes and keeping warm what excuses do you give.

We don't know specifically what the government has in mind but they say with the increased money they will give more tax relief and grants to municipalities.

We don't like to laugh in anyone's face, but it really sounds like a joke. If they're going to give the money back why collect it in the first place. We're sure that the general public likes to hold onto money just as much as the government.

The truth be known, very little of the additional tax money will ever find its way back to Chesterville or Eastern Ontario. The bulk of it will come to rest in Toronto or some other Western Ontario centre, which can apply a little more leverage.

At this time the increased taxes will do anything but curb inflation and will only add to the problems that everyone is upset about.

Mr Davis if you're trying to be a hero in your own time, you will probably end up famous like that other man, Benedict Arnold

We can't argue that increasing taxes is sometimes necessary, but if you do it just for the sake of exercising your political power, you make very few friends. We're sure that the whole province would think much more of Bill Davis if he could lower or even maintain the fact of life which is often used in the same sentence as the word "death".

And speaking of death, we were even considering suicide as a way to avoid taxes, but probably the last thing our soul would hear before it departs this earth, "That will be $750 for the funeral plus seven percent for Bill Davis".

Police stress bicyclists to use caution

Parents:

Bicycling popularity has increased and so have bicycle accidents. Bicycling is a great fun sport for children and adults alike! But as in all sports, the enjoyment derived is directly proportionate to proper performance which can only be achieved through proper training.

If you are thinking of buying a bicycle for your child, or if he or she already has one, we urge you to seriously read and consider the following facts:

- All bicyclists, regardless of age, using public roads or streets are subject to the same traffic rules and regulations that govern motorists. Among the many things parents and children must realize is that a street is for traffic. It is not a playground. To acknowledge this is highly important to the safety of a bicyclist.
- Bicycles come in all shapes and sizes. Some are simple to operate; others are complicated. The right size and design for the child can only be determined by his height, skill and experience.
- Many bicycles are mistakenly purchased with the idea that the child will grow into the bicycle. If the child cannot touch the ground with the ball of his foot, while sitting on the bicycle seat, then the bicycle is too big for him.
- The number of bicycle accidents is increasing steadily. For the most part, these accidents are caused by the youngsters "total ignorance of traffic rules and regulations, improper choice of bicycle size and design and a lack of understanding of the capabilities of the vehicle and of the maintenance required." Parents have the responsibility to decide when the child has the ability to safely cope with traffic while on a bicycle.

In this day of high traffic density in residential and rural areas, children must be alert to the dangers of improper action on public thoroughfares and to the ways of avoiding these dangers. Leaving your child's safety entirely in the hands of motorists is expecting a great deal of others; a less than comforting thought.

Too many people think of bicycles as toys - don't buy your child a bicycle and send him or her out to play in traffic.

Hints for Larger Litter Average

Research indicates that approximately 25 percent of baby pigs born do not reach weaning age.

Raising your pig-per-litter average is the best profit opportunity you have in cutting costs and increasing returns in your swine enterprise. The records on your present operation are the best place to start and improve your litter size. analyze these records and determine your strengths and weaknesses. If records are not available then take an inventory of your present situation.

In establishing goals, a realistic objective should be ten pigs weaned per litter for a good swine producer. The following is list of items that can influence baby pig losses.

1. overfeeding sows during the gestation period. Fat sows have more difficulty in farrowing with the possibility also of pigs being weaker at birth and more prone to being lain on by the sow. A properly balanced 14 percent to 16 percent ration fed at the rate of 4 to 5 pounds during the gestation period should keep sows in good condition but not too fat.
2. Sanitation - Thoroughly clean and disinfect the farrowing facilities between each farrowing.
3. Bran - One week prior to farrowing add 25 percent bran to the sow's ration and move her to the farrowing unit. This reduces the stress of farrowing and promotes easier birth and less likelihood of MMA after farrowing.
4. Farrowing Crates or Stal's - Farrowing crates assist in restricting movement of the sow. This normally helps prevent crushing or crippling of new born pigs.
5. Keep farrowing pen or crate dry and clean - A dry farrowing unit will help eliminate many of the baby pig scouring problems commonly seen in damp surroundings.
6. Attend Farrowings - This is very important. Remove fetal membranes to prevent suffocation, prevent possible chilling, dry pigs off and make sure they start nursing promptly after birth.
7. Colostrum - Make sure that the baby pigs receive the sow's colostrum or first milk after farrowing. This gets the pigs off to a fast healthy start.
8. Treat Navel Cord - The navel cord is a location where infection may enter the baby pig's body. Treat the navel cord with iodine within 2 to 3 hours after birth.
9. Heat - Provide adequate supplement heat for the baby pigs.
10. Equalize litters - If transferring pigs between sows try to do within 48 hours of farrowing. This may be necessary if certain litters are extra large or sow has an inadequate supply of milk.
11. Control Anemia - Administer iron either by injection or orally within 3 days after birth. Pigs are subject to anemia until they are eating sufficient creep or starter feed.
12. Feeding the baby pigs - When pigs are two weeks old, they should be consuming a well fortified palatable creep or starter feed. A protein level of 18 to 20 percent is recommended. Encourage the pigs to eat this material by providing small amounts fed fresh daily starting at 10 days of age. A fresh clean supply of water should also be provided.

Ann Landers . . .

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me - and others - how a vasectomy affects a man? My doctor has assured me that physically it doesn't change anything except the ability to impregnate. The horror stories about the side effects of a vasectomy have been pretty much discredited. But what about personality changes?

It's been a year since my husband had the operation and he is a different person. He never wants to stay home with me and the children. He has to be out every night. He has confessed to one affair but swore it lasted only a few months. I learned last week it is still going on.

Two of my friends have had the same problem with their husbands. They, too, were devoted family men but after the operation they began to run around. Please find out if it is possible that vasectomy can affect the mind. If so, is it permanent? — Mrs X

Dear Mrs X.: A vasectomy cannot damage a man's mental machinery but it can (and in your husband's case did) alter his behavioral pattern. You might compare it to the Pill, which has contributed to the increase in venereal disease because it encouraged promiscuity. I am not knocking either the Pill or vasectomy. I believe both have been a boon to mankind. Population control is essential to world survival, and these two techniques have helped a great deal. But no birth control method is 100 per cent safe, totally free of imperfections and without consequences. In your case I recommend counseling. Your guy has flipped his lid and I hope you can help him put it back on.

Dear Ann Landers: My sister and I are both married to men of modest circumstances. We have families and expenses. Last year we decided to give our parents a nice party in celebration of their 50 wedding anniversary.

The list of friends, neighbours and relatives is a lot longer than we thought it would be. Also, the price of food is a lot higher. We can't afford the kind of party we were planning to give. Would it be proper to ask each couple to send us two dollars? This would solve our problem completely, and at the same time it wouldn't break anyone. Please hurry your answer. We're waiting. — B and C

Dear B and C: It is not proper to charge people to help defray the cost of a party. Serve only fruit punch and home-made cookies if that is all you can afford, but don't ask for cash donations from guests.

Dear Ann: I wrote for advice and your answer was "Forget it." What kind of counseling do you call that? You say you check with authorities all over the place so why didn't you consult someone about my problem instead of giving me the brush-off?

I don't know how you have managed to hang on to your job for so long. You must know somebody high up in the business. Thanks for nothing. — C.C.

Dear C.C.: I remember your letter well because your first name (which I won't reveal here) is most unusual. I did check with an authority and his advice was this: "Her problem is insoluble. She should stop brooding about it and get busy with something else." Remember the philosphy of A.A.: "God, grant me the courage to change that which I CAN change, to accept that which I CANNOT change, and the wisdom to know the difference." Converted to "Landers Language" the message comes out "Forget it."

Do you fell awkward, self-conscious - lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity." Send 35c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

FINCH INDUSTRY —

According to co-owner Harold Fisher, the demand for insulation has stressed the production capacity of the plant. During the peak period of the year an estimated one million board feet is made a month. Mr Fisher hopes to reach 10 million board feet this year.

The new section of the plant is being constructed on the south side of the present one.

Costing an estimated $25,000, the Finch resident said, two extra men are helping his own workmen with the construction of the wood frame and steel building. The structure will house one piece of machinery needed in production along with office space, storage area and sufficient room to load delivery trucks indoors.

Post office commemorates J. Howe with stamp issue

OTTAWA — Postmaster General Andre Ouellet today announced the Canada Post Office issue on 16 May, 1973, of an eight-cent stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the death of Joseph Howe, former Premier and Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia.

"Joseph Howe was a man of many talents - poet, journalist, orator and politician," said Mr Ouellet. "The dedication with which he applied these talents to the cause of government reform made him equally one of the most controversial and most influential Nova Scotians during the critical years prior to Confederation."

It was as a journalist that Howe first became involved in politics. Two years after his purchase of the newspaper, the Novascotian, in 1827, Howe began his "Legislative Reviews". In these Howe discussed local and international public affairs with his readers, developing their awareness of and participation in the reform movements of the period. He also gave vigorous support with pen and voice to the Reform Party during and after the election of 1830.

Having been a most eloquent spokesman for government reform as a journalist, Howe sought a more active role in which to implement his views. he entered the political arena as a successful candidate in the election of 1836. His platform was that Nova Scotians should have a system of government responsible to the people.

Howe's election to the provincial assembly began a political career spanning 37 years during which he served as Speaker of the Assembly and member of the executive council, (1841); Provincial Secretary, (1848-1854) and (1860); and Premier, (1860-1863). In 1869 he entered the federal government, accepting a cabinet seat as Secretary of State for the Provinces. Howe continued in this office until his appointment in May, 1873, as Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia.

Three weeks later, on June 1, 1873, Howe died suddenly at Government House in Halifax. The feelings of Nova Scotians were well summed up in the words of the Halifax Morning Chronicle which said, "From 1827 until the day of his untimely death, 'Joe Howe' has been at the head and front of all great political changes in Nova Scotia."

Nuclear power
Energy without Pollution

Pollution is the price our society pays for the fuel of progress. But there are untapped sources of energy that would not despoil our air.

Nuclear power may solve our energy needs and pollution problems. Many experts predict it will. Others disagree. A staff report to the Public Service Commission in New York recently warned that nuclear energy cannot solve the power crisis swiftly and safely. The Commission urged the development of nonatomic sources.

One source of energy suggested was coal gasification. Coal is dwindling as a source of power now because it creates so much pollution. But polluting gases can be extracted from the burning coals in special refining plants. Then the gas can be burned in steam generating plants that spew little pollution.

Still another source of energy is advocated by former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel. he has proposed that the government invest $685 million to study ways to develop geothermal energy. This energy comes from tapping the heat of the earth's core to make steam to run electric power plants.

The most visible forms of geothermal energy are geysers, hot springs, and volcanoes. Much larger reserves lie in great underground regions of hot dry rocks and volcanic molten rock. If development begins soon, Mr Hickel predicts that in another 25 years this form of energy could supply even more power than is produced by the entire electric power system in the U.S.

Developing ways to provide power without pollution is an overriding concern. To find out how you can pitch into the fight against air pollution, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

April is Diamond Month

Diamonds appeal through the ages

April is diamond month. a person born under the sign of Aries has a definite advantage. Diamond is their birthstone. according to legend, this stone is not only beautiful, but in the past was thought to have special powers to ward off evil spirits.

One of the earliest pieces of jewellery, if not the earliest, set with diamonds, although they did not look like the fiery, glittering gem of today, was the Holy Crown of Hungary, a queen's crown fashioned around 1074. Up until this time diamonds had been set in rings but for superstitious reasons of protection against evils rather than as adornment.

One of the earliest places where diamonds were worn must have been Paris, France, as it was the centre for goldsmiths from as far back as the seventh century. At this time their workshops were housed in monasteries and pieces were made for the priests. By the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, secular jewellers had become well established. The earliest reference to diamonds in Paris appears to be in 1319 when a diamond necklace was worn by the French Queen Clemence.

A well known historical figure, the "Black Prince" of England, was very fond of jewels and had more than 25 rings, some set with diamonds by 1355.

In the mid fifteenth century Agnes Sorel popularized the wearing of diamond jewellery when she was presented with diamond gifts by Jacques Coeur. a French diamond merchant. He made diamond necklaces, brooches and buckles for Agnes to wear at the French court and she became famous for her collection of jewellery.

In the reign of Elizabeth I of England, from 1558 - 1603, diamond rings became known as scribbling rings after a craze started for using the diamonds to scribble love messages on glass windows. Even the Queen, herself, was rumoured to have written rhymes to Sir Walter Raleigh in this way.

Over the centuries, diamond jewellery has ceased to be the province of Kings and queens and is now worn by more and more of the population.

Moderately priced diamond jewellery is available at fine jewellers throughout the country. Today, diamond-set pieces are showing an increase in popularity and approximately one woman in four in Canada owns a piece of diamond jewellery other than an engagement ring or wedding band.

Morrisburg Grade Eight Student Representative Nancy Bilmer is presenting Doug Grenkie, Morrisburg Cancer Campaign Chairman, with a cheque for one hundred dollars donated by the Grade Eight Class to the local unit in honour of Elsie Brais, late of the Village.

Mr Grenkie is seen presenting a special plaque to the students for the donation, in memory of Mrs Brais.

The Grade Eight Class are former winners of the Ottawa Journal Cup of Milk Fund, however, this year the project was not carried on by the Ottawa paper and the students decided to donate their efforts to other causes - cancer being one.

The Grade Eighters raised money by selling french fries and freshie at a floor hockey tournament; by selling pizza and freshie at a White Elephant Sale; by having a cake baking contest; a penny toss, a Grade Eight Hall of Fame; and a Giant Candy Cane raffle.

Ontario Gov't to seek Guidance & advice before reforms are made at regional level

TORONTO — All the Ontario government's plans for regional government have been laid right out on the table for all to see, the Honourable John White, Minister of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs, said this week.

He told the Association of Counties and Regions of Ontario that he hoped to correct "the erroneous notions that some people have about our policies, our timing and our intentions" regarding regional government.

The minister said some people seem convinced that "somewhere, in some dark corner of Queen's Park, there exist a plan with notations saying, 'Regional government here, here, here and here.'

"There is no such plan," Mr White declared.

Rather, he said, the government's proposals in January for regional governments west of Metropolitan Toronto were "the last of our high-priorty items."

"In certain other areas, such as Haldimand-Norfolk, we have commissioned studies that could very well prompt us to issue proposals. But there are no secret studies in the works, and we have no specific plans for local government reform in any part of Ontario not already covered by our published proposals.

"We intend to look thoughtfully and carefully at every part of the province where local government reform has not taken place, to see what the needs of each region are and what kind of local government reform would do the best job of meeting those needs," the minister said.

He said the government is capable of being convinced that in some cases other reform measures, such as consolidations of neighbouring communities, would serve local needs better than regional government would.

"We recognize that the answers for Metro Toronto or Oshawa or Niagara or Waterloo are not going to be the best answers for other parts of Ontario."

He said the government hopes within the next two or three years to be able to draw a map showing "how we think southern Ontario should eventually take shape in terms of reformed local governments."

But the government, he added, would not attempt to draw such a map without first seeking "a great deal of guidance and advice" from the municipalities.

In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, William Pettit, who passed away April 18, 1971.
He is gone but not forgotten

But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed.

When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.

Over 65 contestants

Fall Fair Queens to compete for 'Miss CNE'

More than 65 Ontario fall and spring fair queens will compete at the main bandshell of the Canadian National Exhibition on August 15 for the title of Miss CNE — Sweetheart of the Fair. Last year's winner, Debbie Carter of Richmond Hill, won $1,750, a trip for two to the Calgary Stampede, wardrobe and jewellery. This year's contestants were introduced to delegates at the Annual Convention of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies in Toronto on February 21.

One of the non-livestock features at the CNE Agricultural Show this year will be a western Canada museum sponsored by the Calgary Brewing Company Limited. The show will take up the entire East Annex of the Coliseum and will display everything from authentic western covered wagons to antique saddles and guns.

Junior's will show their 4-H calves in the main show ring of the Coliseum on "Agricultural Day" August 31st at this year's CNE. Junior Farmer's Day is August 30th.

Canadian National Exhibition Officials anticipate a large turnout for this year's cattle auction. Judging will take place on the 27 and the auction will be at 7 p.m. on August 28. Last year's Grand Champion beef steer, a 1,005 lb. Charolais, Red Angus Cross owned by Geo. Early of Kirwood, Ontario, was auctioned for $12,132.50 in just a few minutes. It was the highest price ever paid for a steer at the CNE.

The Canadian National Exhibition has moved its show dates for Dairy cattle to mid-week to allow exhibitors more time to prepare their prize cattle after the Ottawa Exhibition. Dairy cattle will be judged in the main ring of the Coliseum on Wednesday, August 29 and beef cattle on Tuesday, August 28.

Increased tax reduction eases burden on farmers

TORONTO — "Ontario treasurer John White's budget contained some good news for farmers" says Gordon Hill, President, Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

"Increasing the property tax reduction to 50 percent, from today's 25 percent rate, will ease the heavy tax burden on farmers. It is a progressive move, and we hope the government takes another one by finding a less cumbersome way of administering the rebate than by mailing a cheque to each farmer in the province."

Hill endorses the tax-free gift of up to $50,000 that farmers will be able to give once during their lifetimes, and the abolition of succession duties on farms transferred within the family.

"These tax breaks, coupled with Finance Minister John Turner's promise to postpone capital gains tax as long as the farm is worked by the immediate family, will make it easier to pass farms from father to son.

"Farmers, through their Federation, have been working for these changes for a long time. They are both needed, and welcomed."

Hill adds, "The way to keep young people in farming is through increased income. Tax measures are important, but young men will not stay on the farm if their farm income is not comparable to what they would earn in other occupations."

Although Hill says that farmers are pleased with many aspects of the budget, they are concerned over the seven percent sales tax and diesel fuel used in crop production, and push operating costs up.

"This is an invasion into a new tax field. In the past, food production has been tax-exempt. Farmers fear this is the thin edge of the wedge."

2 tbsp. corn syrup
½ tsp. ground cloves

Remove overwrap and casing from ham. Score fat and insert cloves on top and sides. Place on rack on open roasting pan and bake in 350 degree oven for 1-1¼ hours, basting with combined gingerale and apple juice.

Meanwhile mix marmalade and corn syrup and ground cloves in a small saucepan; simmer 5 minutes, stirring often.

Remove ham from oven. Pour off juices and apply glaze. Return to oven and heat 30 minutes more.

Coleslaw

½ cup salad dressing
¼ cup cream
1 tsp. prepared mustard
½ tsp. salt
dash of seasoned salt
2 cups shredded cabbage
¼ cup diced green pepper

Strawberry Angel Cake

1 tbsp. unflavoured gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 pkg. frozen strawberries
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 angel food cake

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Thaw and drain strawberries. Bring ½ cup strawberry juice to a boil; add to gelatin. Add 1 cup strawberries and lemon juice. Fold in whipped cream.

Slice cake in three layers; spread filling between layers. Cover cake with filling. Refrigerate overnight. Makes 8-10 servings.

Peach Halves in Jelly

Make individual molds of a peach half in lime jelly, served on a lettuce leaf. The lime makes a nice colour and flavour contrast with ham.

Tax Tips

Q. I understand that "working" mothers will now be permitted deduct the cost of baby-sitting fees from their income. What will be the effect of this change and are there any limitations upon the amount which can be deducted for child care expenses?

A. The general effect of the child care provision is that where a mother has her children cared for so that she may engage in other work, she will be allowed to deduct the cost from her income from that work, within certain limits.

Q. Are child care expenses deductible for all children, regardless of their age or is the age of the child important at all.

A. Yes. Expenses are deductible for children who are under age 14 at any time during the year or, if the child is over 14, he must have been dependent upon his parents bacause of physical or mental infirmity.

Q. What kind of expenses are deductible?

A. Deductible expenses include costs of baby-sitting and day nursery care, and up to $15 per child per week for lodging paid at boarding schools and camps. If child care expenses are to be deductible, they must be for care in Canada; furthermore, payments for such items as clothing, transportation, education, or medical care are not considered to be child care expenses.

Q. Must I keep receipts for child care expenses?

A. Yes. Deductions claimed for child care expenses must be supported by receipts. The name and address of the person to whom you make payments for child care must be provided on all receipts. Except for an organization such as a day nursery, the Social Insurance Number of the recipient must also be included on the receipt. You will not be required to attach these receipts to your return but you must keep them in the event the Department wishes to inspect them.

Q. How much may be deducted for child care expenses and does it matter to whom the payments are made?

A. A taxpayer may deduct the amount actually spent on child care provided it does not exceed the least of:

$500 per child, or
$2,000 for the family, or two-thirds of the taxpayer's earned income for the year.

There are two further requirements regarding the person to whom child care payments are made. First, child care expenses are not deductible if they were paid to a person claimed as a dependant for tax purposes by either of the parents, or to a person under 21 who is related to either parent by blood, marriage or adoption. Secondly, any such allowable deduction for child care expenses must be supported by a receipt which indicates the name, address and Social Insurance Number of the person to whom payments were made.

Q. Can a father deduct baby-sitting fees from his income?

A. Child care expense can be deducted by the father if, during the year, he was single, widowed, divorced or separated by a written agreement. he may also make the deduction if the mother is incapable of caring for herself or the children or if she is confined for 14 days or more to bed, hospital, wheelchair, mental hospital or prison. The father's deduction is limited to $15 per week for each child up to $60 per week. The same limitations of $500 per child or $2,000 per year for the whole family also apply in this case.

Q. When the father and mother both work, can either of them claim the child care expenses?

A. No. When both parents work only the mother can claim the child care expenses.

Q. Can a mother hire her older child as a baby sitter?

A. The rule is that a mother cannot claim the amounts paid to a person who is under age 21, and related to her or her husband by blood, marriage or adoption.

Beef producers

Prepared to supply "high quality beef"

"Ontario beef producers are prepared to keep an orderly supply of cattle moving to market to provide the consumer with high quality beef" said Stewart Brown, Shedden, Ontario, President of the Ontario Beef Improvement Association at a Directors' Meeting of the Association this week.

There is no intentional hold back of cattle from the market by beef producers. "We are exposing as many cattle to the marketing system as it will absorb at current prices. Uncertainty in the beef processing and merchandizing system caused partly by groups advocating a boycott of beef and to a greater degree by the psychologically charged atmosphere in the public media has resulted in reduced demand by the system and fewer cattle being purchased by packing plants."

The beef processing and merchandizing system is an extremely efficient one and one which simply reflects back through the beef system to the producer the volume of beef which consumers are willing to purchase at any given price. "This determination by individual consumers which is reflected back through the system ultimately establishes the price for cattle."

Farm input costs have risen substantially during the past few years and consequently beef producers cannot be expected to continually raise cattle at prices which existed five or ten years ago. Said Brown, "As an example a new tractor today costs about twice what it did five or six years ago and livestock feed prices have increased from 30 percent to 100 percent during the past year due to bad weather conditions in a large part of North America. Consumers should realize as well that their annual or semi-annual increase in wages is reflected back to me in the form of higher costs for input items such as fertilizer, farm equipment, parts, and gasoline. For years I have absorbed these increased costs by becoming more efficient and working on larger and larger volumes but receiving the same price for my cattle to the point where I was receiving lower and lower returns for my labour, management and capital investment. When this point is reached, individual decisions are made by beef producers to either get out of beef production or reduce the size of their operation."

Current cattle prices will insure a continually expanding supply of beef for future years. Lower prices will eventually mean reduced supplies. "Ontario beef producers are ready, willing and able to provide a continuity of supply of high quality beef for Canadian consumers and will do so if given a reasonable return for their efforts," concluded Brown.

Tykes End Season

Earl's Meats win MacIntosh Trophy

Erik Thompson Electric carried a 2-1 lead into the second game of the two game total point play-off finals. These little hockey players were tense and excited as they skated on to meet the Earl's Meats squad which was primed to play their best. Parents and friends lined the boards as the buzzer sounded the beginning of a thrilling game.

At 6:20 of the first period, which showed the tense atmosphere affecting both teams, steady Kenny Shay scored unassisted on Earl's Meats goalie Kelly Mitchell to make a 3-1 score in favour of Erik Thompson Electric. There was no further scoring in the first period and the second period again belonged to the boys of the Electric team. Mark Smith scored unassisted at 8:04 to make a one-sided total game score of 4-1. The desperate Earl's Meats boys couldn't find the opening in John Kelly's well-protected net. The third period remained a tight contest until 6:33 when hard working Duff Mitchell blasted home the puck and picked up the spirits of Earl's Meats. This resulted in a goal by Scotty Richards from Scott Mitchell and Duff Richards less than 2 minutes later. At 3:57 of the final period Scott Mitchell raced in, and shot the puck, picking the right hand corner to tie the two games total point at 4-4. This tie forced these boys to return Saturday morning to decide the holder of the Ian McIntosh trophy in a sudden death play-off game.

April 7, 1973

Erik Thompson Electric and Earl's Meats met Saturday at 8 a.m. to finally decide the holder of the Ian McIntosh trophy. These teams had already played a two game total point series which ended with Erik Thompson Electric winning the first game 2-1 and Earl's Meats fighting back in the second game to win 3-2. The games ended with the total goals scored tied at 4-4. It was a long wait for these 5 to 8 year old boys until they met for the last contest of the year.

It seemed a good omen that 5-year-old Damian Laflamme scored his first goal of his hockey career to give the lead to Earl's Meats. Kevin Moore and Brian Moss helped Damian with the goal. Scott Mitchell scored again for Earl's Meats from the slot on a pass from Duff Mitchell and Scott Richards. Scott Richards then put the puck past John Kelly who was strong in nets this game as he has been all year. Scott's goal was assisted by Duff and Scott Mitchell. Kenny Shay, who never quits, then scored for Erik Thompson Electric from Terry Barkley and Tony Forbes. Duff Mitchell then scored unassisted for Earl's Meats to make the final score 4-1. Both teams fought well and hard, certainly never quit and have over the season compiled a close record. Earl's Meats have scored 26 goals on John Kelly while Erik Thompson Electric scored 24 goals on Kelly Mitchell in the last 11 games.

Ian McIntosh presented the trophy to Earl's Meats, the winner of the sudden death play-off game.
