Election Arrangements Made By Council At Tuesday's Meeting

Expressing his appreciation of kindnesses from members of Council during his recent serious illness, Acting-Reeve P. S. Boyd took the chair at the meeting of the Municipal Council, Tuesday evening, in the absence of Reeve Geo. H. Barkley who will be out of town several weeks on business.

Bylaw 695, setting the polling places for next month's municipal elections and naming the election officers, was passed. If an election is necessary on December 16, following nominations, Dec. 2, Poll No. 1 will be in the Public Library with Basil Rowe as Deputy Returning Officer and Thos. Parker as Poll Clerk; Poll No. 2 will be in the Community Theatre where H. L. Hough will be Deputy Returning Officer with Elvin LaSalle as Poll Clerk.

Council expressed its appreciation to Police Chief Garnet R. McLean and his five deputies for the excellent work Hallowe'en, which proved to be the quietest celebration of that festival enjoyed by the village to date. Pay for the extra constables was not passed as the rate was not set on the bill turned in by the Police Chief who could not be contacted while Council was in session.

A communication from Dr. Cragg, of the St. Lawrence Sanatorium, explaining the organization required for next spring's Chest Survey Clinic and requesting the early appointment of a local chairman, was read, and the Clerk was instructed to interview the Emergency Nurses Reserve to enlist their aid.

A letter from the Minister of Highways and Public Works, Hon. George E. Doucett, was read, in which receipt of Council's resolution requesting the organization of an "Authority" for the South Nation Watershed, was acknowledged, and the Minister promised prompt consideration would be accorded it.

Council authorized payment of $5 membership of the Fire Brigade in the Eastern Ontario Fire Fighters' Association, as the application had been accepted by that body at its recent meeting in Iroquois. Fire Chief S. Morris detailed plans for the demonstration to be held in Chesterville on Thursday evening, November 14, when it is expected there will be contests between the Winchester and Chesterville Department, and representatives of companies manufacturing fire fighting equipment will put on a display.

Council authorized purchase of a wreath from Chesterville Branch of the Canadian Legion to be laid on the memorial during the Sunday afternoon Remembrance Day Service.

Boy Scouts Apple Day Nets Troop $44.82 Profit

Despite the steady downpour of rain, Saturday, the Apple Day sponsored by the First Chesterville Troop of Boy Scouts netted $45.82, to set a record for this project in Chesterville. The Scouts were on the streets throughout the day and evening and while the cold, wet weather prevented many from coming into town for the weekly Saturday shopping excursions, the boys worked faithfully covering their beats, completing their work at 9 p.m.

The Beaver Patrol, led by Tommy Moran, came first in sales with a total of $30.21 when the cans were opened at Headquarters. Ray Cass topped the salesmen with $9.84 when his collection of coppers, nickels, dimes and quarters were counted. Gordon Giles' Whip-Poor-Wills turned in $17.05, and Georgie's Merkley's Wolves accounted for $15.58.

Five and a half hampers of McIntosh apples were sold by the Scouts.

Quietest Hallowe'en on Record Experienced in Chesterville This Year

"The quietest Hallowe'en we ever experienced" was the concensus of opinion following last Thursday night's celebrations in the village. And this was no doubt due to two reasons. First, the Rotary Hallowe'en Frolic entertained the children in the Community Hall and Theatre until about 9.30, and the masquerade party following for the grown-ups attracted a large crowd. Secondly, Police Chief Garnet R. McLean and his five deputies were resolved the nonsense of other years would not be tolerated, and, while it meant patrolling the streets until after sun-up Friday, the plans of at least one group of young men were ruined.

After trailing a group of young men most of the night, the police caught up with them about 5.30 a.m., and ordered them home. Some one is reported to have attempted to tie down the whistle cord at Nestle's with a weight of cement blocks but were unsuccessful, and one group of district youths who were planting a farmer's mail box in town were caught in the act and set back on the right track.

REMEMBER VALOUR

By Winifred O. Brass

We bring you Poppies with the falling leaves
Of Autumn, midst the dirge of dying year,
To breathe a silent message to your ear
Of Hope and Promise to the heart that grieves.

Flame softly, scarlet Poppies of November,
Speak of our Hero Dead of two Great Wars,
Who rest forever with their wounds and scars,
Yet live immortally. Bid us Remember!

Flame softly, Flanders Poppies! Let your ranks
Of gorgeous colour whisper 'Peace through tears'
And in the quiet of the falling years
May we remember Valour and give thanks.

Former Counties' Warden Passed Away at Inkerman

Prominent in municipal affairs for more than half a century, William G. Timmins, former reeve of Mountain township for a number of years and a warden of the United Counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry, died at his home near Inkerman Monday morning.

The son of Mountain township pioneers, he was born there 79 years ago. His father was the late John Timmins and his mother, the former Miss Margaret Donnelly. He had lived all his life on the same farm settled by his father.

In 1913 he was elected deputy reeve, and from 1914 to 1916 inclusive was reeve. In 1916 he had the honour of being the first reeve of Mountain township to be chosen warden of the counties council at Cornwall.

A staunch Conservative, he was keenly interested in politics and held office in the Conservative Association of Grenville-Dundas, for a number of years. On two occasions he was the returning officer of the constituency at the general elections.

He was a director of Mountain Township Agricultural Society and a member of Inkerman United Church. He married the former Miss Tena Suffel in 1892, who is surviving.

Also surviving are three daughters Mrs. Edward Christopher, of Ottawa, Mrs. Arthur Guy of Oxford Mills and Mrs. Mervyn Patterson, Kemptville, two sons, George and Dalton, both of Inkerman; one sister, Mrs. Ella Donnelley, last surviving members of a family of eleven. Large Loss by Fire For Orlin Barkley as Morrisburg Plant Burns

Fire completely destroyed the poultry processing plant, Monday, owned by Orlin Barkley at Morrisburg with the loss of poultry prepared for shipment, all equipment, books and records, and furniture belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Bud Beckstead, who had an apartment in the building. Between 25 and 30 persons were employed in the plant, the loss of which is said to be Morrisburg's most serious fire in some years.

Origin of the fire is unknown, Mrs. Archie Black told The Record. She and Mr. Black were called by their daughter, Mrs. Barkley, shortly after the fire was discovered at 3 p.m., Monday. The cash for pay day of employees was the only thing saved when the flames rushed through the frame structure. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Adding to the loss was a considerable quantity of meat stored in the cooler by Marcellus Brothers butcher shop and farmers of the district.

Firemen were handicapped as but one stream of water could be used, the plant being located north of the C.N.R. tracks above the subway, and, fanned by a strong northwest wind, the flames made rapid headway. The Beckstead family, which comprises several children, escaped with only the clothes they were wearing. The fire is believed to have had its origin in a room where packages used for shipping poultry were stored.

Mr. Barkley was in Smiths Falls attending the opening of a similar plant and received notice his place was on fire just as he was about to enter the banquet hall.

During the late afternoon truck loads of poultry continued to arrive from the district and had to be turned away.

The large building was of frame construction, and had been erected as a sash and door factory under ownership of the Turner Lumber company. Later it became the headquarters of Martin Transport, and then Mr. Barkley purchased the property from the Locke Estate. It stood on the site of the Ashton cold storage plant also destroyed by fire with heavy loss 20 years ago.

Considerable Work by Volunteers At Legion Rink "Bee" Yesterday

A good deal of work was accomplished at the Legion Memorial Rink by about 25 village and district men who turned out for a "Bee" yesterday afternoon to help clear up the exterior of the rink and assist with completing the carpenter work on the interior.

With the aid of Shy Harper's team of horses, a number of soft maple trees were uprooted and hauled away and scrap lumber was gathered up and piled inside the rink ready for sawing into stove wood for this winter. A gang of men with hammers, saws and nails went to work on the puck boards and wire netting behind the nets, and by late afternoon a considerable change had been made in the appearance of the building.

Contractor Cam Thompson has completed his work, and the remaining renovations will be carried out by volunteer labour. It is hoped to have the large lights re-installed in a few days which will permit work at night to complete repairs to the puck boards and other carpenter work inside the rink.

Clearing away the trees will assist in the laying of an improved parking space for cars at the south side of the rink, especially if the old curling rink foundation can be removed and cinders laid.

There are still several canvassers to be heard from, and it is urged upon them the necessity that their work be completed as early as possible so that the contractor can be paid and other work may be financed.

ORGANIZED EFFORT — A QUIET HALLOWE'EN

Hallowe'en pranks in Chesterville were conspicuous by their absence this year, and only a couple of isolated instances of the tipper-uppers were seen. Taking last year's quiet celebration into account as well, it would seem that the efforts of Police Chief Garnet R. McLean and other citizens are bearing fruit in the education of our young folk that the customary nonsense indulged in on this festival will not be tolerated.

Complimentary reports have been heard on the success of the Hallowe'en Frolic staged by Rotary for the children in the Community Hall. The youngsters had a good time and their abundant energy was given full swing in organized games and contests. The free movie at the end of the frolic kept them occupied until about 9.30 and most of them were willing to call it a night and head for bed.

It was a good indication of what can be accomplished by organized effort for the welfare of the community, and it is sincerely hoped that the practise will be carried on. The provision of entertainment provides a method of education which, commenced in the very young, will assist to curb Hallowe'en rowdism in the rising generation.

The majority of the trouble at Hallowe'en does not come from the youngsters, who usually confine their fun to ringing doorbells for charity, but is brewed by young men who hold the erroneous opinion all is fair on Hallowe'en. The efforts of the Police Chief and his deputies in tracking down these young adults is to be commended. Especially when one reads in the papers of foolhardy, dangerous and obscene "pranks" committed in other districts was the work of Chesterville's police appreciated.

5% OF FARMERS PAY INCOME TAX

Almost every business man and wage-earner you would question about income tax would come up with the complaint about farmers escaping this levy by the federal government. The subject has become common talk and there's always the instance—(with no names mentioned) —of such a farmer never having filed an income tax return, and boy, oh boy, wait 'til the inspectors catch up with them!

Monday night, the Farm Radio Forums across Canada discussed this pertinent question and the members of at least one group were amazed to learn that only five percent of Canada's farmers pay income tax.

The Farm Forum Guide has this to say in part of the question:

"Income tax is one of the main sources of revenue of the Dominion government, but whereas all farmers pay property tax only about 5 per cent of the farmers in Canada pay income tax. Why is this? It may be that not many more than 5 per cent have incomes that are taxable but we cannot be sure of this since the other 95 per cent do not fill out the taxation forms. Yet the law requires that everyone with an income file a return whether his income is taxable or not. From the farmer's standpoint it is bad business and very shortsighted not to file his returns. Why? Because neglect to do so turns public opinion against him. City people on salaries and in business cannot avoid paying income tax. They resent the fact that farmers can. If, on the other hand, all farmers filed a statement with the Income Tax Department accurate figures on the income of farmers would be available. If the returns showed, as we expect they would, that only a small percentage of farmers have incomes high enough to be taxed, public opinion would swing immediately in their favour. This would strengthen the hand of farmers very very greatly in their fight for prices comparable with those of manufactured goods. And city people would be assured then that farmers are bearing their share of the income tax burden."

HONOUR THE DEAD— REMEMBER THE LIVING

While doing its utmost to assist in the rehabilitation of ex-servicemen and women of the Second World War, the Canadian Legion must continue to help necessitous victims of the First Great War, and this week the Legion across Canada is sponsoring the annual Poppy Day campaign to provide the funds for carrying-on of its assistance to the war heroes.

The entire proceeds of the money contributed by the public for the flame-coloured poppies is spent by local Legion branches for relief or other essential assistance to indigent ex-servicemen in "Vetcraft" shops or, in some instances, by disabled veterans and their dependents at home, under the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

When the cheering and noise of victory celebrations has died away, it is a simple matter to forget the suffering that must continue for perhaps the lifetime of some of the men who bought our freedom. And the sight of the red poppies, familiar in Canada since 1923, serves as a reminder of the debt still owed to the men who came back crippled and maimed and unable to take on a regular job once again.

The Legion's task of nation-wide distribution of these sacred Emblems is one of great magnitude, and the two-fold objective—Remembrance of the Glorious Dead and Practical Assistance to the Living, is a most worthy one.

A speaker who does not strike oil in ten minutes should stop boring.

DONALD GORDON REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE

As many countries writhe in the grip of inflation and others race towards it, Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon last week warned Canadians that they could expect soaring prices, especially in food, clothing and rents if Canadian price controls were suddenly abandoned.

Speaking to the nation over a Trans-Canada radio network in the first of a series of five broadcasts, Mr. Gordon summed up the present Canadian economic position and told the public why Canada is sticking to price control for the time being.

The Prices Board head said it was up to the Canadian People themselves to decide whether to face the consequences if price controls were dropped or go along with controls and work them out in a gradual and orderly fashion.

Mr. Gordon declared that if controls were suddenly lifted or weakened to the extent they have been in the United States, the public would have to bear a much sharper increase in the cost of living than has been the case since the end of hostilities. He said that although some prices would not skyrocket, important things like rents, foods and clothing would go beyond reason.

He stated that because of the many honest differences of opinion about the removal or continuation of price control, numerous difficulties arise. He cited the fact that there are many people who would abolish a particular control if it restricts their freedom to raise prices or to do what they want to do with the goods and services which they provide, but at the same time, these people insist on keeping a control that protects their supplies and their costs.

"Consequently", Mr. Gordon said, "we find labor insisting upon higher wages but demanding steady prices and the farmer asking for higher prices but insisting that a price ceiling of his product should be freed from control, but objecting to the rising costs of his labour and materials."

He pointed out that with these pressures the price control line had to bend to a certain extent and that is one reason why the cost of living had risen this year. He emphasized that with the pressures encountered in the changeover from war to peace, Canada at present cannot have absolute stability in her price levels. The WPTB Chairman declared emphatically that Canadians should be realistic, as their only choice lies between a carefully controlled readjustment and uncontrolled readjustment and said that people must face these facts squarely.

SKIN DISORDERS

Need for early reporting of skin disorders which may occur among workers in industry is discussed in a bulletin from the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa. Such rashes may be directly related to the type of materials which workmen are using, the health authorities say, and should have prompt attention, both for speedy treatment and in order that steps may be taken to remove the source of such infection.

GETTING SOMETHING FOR FREE

Did you ever have a chap drop in on you, just to do you a good turn by giving you a free copy of an encyclopedia if you subscribe for a couple of magazines?

That chap hopped on us the other day and started to reel off his sales talk about a mile-a-minute.

We had heard it so often we cut in on him and shot back the balance of it. This fellow was older than those who are always putting themselves through college and just need your subscription to make it sure.

When we had him flagged down we started to tell him about the racket thirty-five or forty years ago when a salesman would land right in your back yard with an incubator on his wagon, and explain, without batting an eye, the great profit to be made in hatching your chickens with one of those contraptions. You could jump ahead so quickly you would sooo own your neighbor's farm and have mortgages on others.

"Say, mister," he said, "I bought one of them about that time but it just didn't make me rich. I didn't have one of these encyclopedias to show me how."

The Conflict With Costs

It is rather strange that our own Industrial Relations Committee and organized labor in the United States, starting with somewhat different points of view, have arrived at approximately the same conclusions.

The findings of the committee were to the effect that higher wages and higher prices are inextricably associated. It also found that the whole structure of price control hinged on labor's actions. If this committee has implied that labour has been ill informed and not too wisely led, it is scarcely more than American labour leaders have themselves implied.

In the United States this process of soul-searching has been given an impetus by the sudden withdrawal of OPA regulations. The familiar law of supply and demand has had an opportunity to take hold again. The way prices followed wages increases upwards pointed sharply an unpleasant lesson.

Labor saw its wage gains disappearing almost before they were fully achieved. It was faced with a new decision; either new wage demands, such as had already sent prices skyrocketing, or the more thoughtful course of making the best of what it had and devoting its energies to fighting these upward price curves, so that its gains might remain of value.

It was not management or even industrial relations committees that stressed this choice most pointedly. It was labor itself, in the person of Kermit Eby, director of C.I.O. education and research. He made the case to labor itself through the official organ of the C.I.O. Mr. Eby said, with unaccustomed frankness, inflationary trends are "more swift and effective",—as a wage-cutting device —"than any machinery we have yet discovered for raising wages."

In other words, labor leaders in the United States are realizing and publicly stating just what Canada's Industrial Relations Committee has said—that inflation can offset most effectively an apparent wage gain so that the net result is loss both to the public and to organized labor itself.

Again we would quote from Mr. Eby's article. "Success in forcing prices down," he says, "cannot possibly break the wage scale in existing contracts. What we gain will be a real gain. It is not so sure, however, that widespread wage increases can be won at this time. If won, they are likely to be promptly reflected in further price rises. Any stimulus to higher prices will be eagerly seized upon and multiplied by the speculative operators who now occupy the driver's seat. This is one of the facts of inflation that labor should reckon with in its fight to protect its standard of living."

Along with this is the recent address of Walter Reuther, stormy petrel of the automotive unions, urging a policy of greater production.

If labor thinks so, it is thinking in its own interests and in the interests of the public as a whole. For this thinking is based on unassailable truth. There is no sound way to higher wages and a more generous life for all that does not involve the co-operation of capital, labor and management. To provide new employment, capital must be interested in wider and more competent undertakings. Management must look for new technical skills and more economic methods. Labor must use these advantages to increase production. This is the only road to higher wages that is not blocked by the specter of rising costs.

Enthusiastic Meeting Chesterville Legion Held Monday Evening

The most enthusiastic meeting of the young Chesterville Branch 434 of the Canadian Legion was held Monday evening when plans were made for the Remembrance Day Memorial Service, Board of Trustees was appointed for the Legion Memorial Rink among the more important business items and seven membership applications were received.

L. H. Doering was named chairman of a committee to prepare the programme and order of service for the Memorial Service to be held in the Community Hall, Sunday afternoon. Members of the committee are J. Frank Casselman, Geo. Crawford, H. McCloskey and Staley Chambers.

J. Frank Casselman was named chairman of the Board of Trustees for the Legion Memorial Rink, with Jack Fulton, L. H. Doering, Wendall Harper and J. A. Morris.

Jack Fulton was elected when the secretary-treasurer requested that position be divided due to the amoun of work entailed, especially since the Branch has taken over the rink project. Chas. T. Hart was named Sergeant-at-Arms, thus completing the list of officers for the Branch.

The meeting decided that dress for the memorial church parade on Sunday would be optional, but it is hoped as many as possible will turn out in uniform. Those preferring to dress in civvies are asked to wear their medals or ribbons. Purple berets bearing the Legion crest will be ordered for wear on parades, but it is not expected to have them for the Sunday parade.

L. H. Doering told of plans for the Poppy Day campaign, saying the committee of veterans' wives, headed by Mrs. Doering, had completed sales of wreaths to business places who will dress windows for the campaign, and that the sales plans for the poppies was well in hand.

Invitations were read from Cornwall and Morrisburg Branches to attend memorial services, and also a banquet to be held by the John McMartin Memorial Branch, Cornwall on November 23, at which Major General C. B. Price, Dominion President, will be the guest speaker.

Applications for membership were filed from E. Johnstone, Alton Thomas, Staley Chambers, Geo. A. Hummel, B. M. Loucks, Gerald Bowles, John R. Craik, John A. Carlyle and John C. Fulton.

HAIR NETS FROM CHINA

By Edna Jacques

Thousands of women wear hair nets to keep their tresses from blowing all over the place. The favorites are cap shaped, double mesh—made in China—of real hair.

Ever since the war these have been scarce as hen's teeth. Once in a while a small shipment would trickle through and happy was the woman who was there when they were put on the counters, for they sold like hot cakes—one to a customer only—at the magic price of 5c.

Well—they're back in the stores again at 25c each, just five times what they used to be and every mother's daughter is asking WHY this increase has been allowed.

It's pretty involved but we'll try to make it clear to you. China has the world's worst inflation, her money has gone so high that it almost takes an adding machine to figure up the price of a meal. For instance: 2 fried eggs $150; steak and garnished eggs $600; fried potatoes $200; a pot of tea $100; apple pie $400, in Chinese money. These are the figures that George Davie, an engineer from the S.S. Aspen Park, just in from the Orient, brought back with him.

Wholesale prices are 4,000 times higher than pre-war prices, and the latest figures on the cost of living is 3,754 times higher than it was in 1935. The new official rate of exchange is 3,350 Chinese dollars to one American—at Shanghai, China's great commercial city.

What has that to do with hair nets, you want to know?

Everything. In the first place the Canadian Government stopped paying a subsidy on hair nets on March 1st, which meant an increase to the wearers.

Secondly, if Canada wants to deal with China we must pay their prices and hair nets are part of the pattern of our imports from China. At 25c retail, the wholesalers are just taking their normal profit. That is what inflation does to a country, not only empties the purse but kills exports.

While our Canadian dollar keeps its present value we can sit back and watch our export trade climb to new fascinating heights and both farmers and manufacturers will find a ready market for goods 'made in Canada'.

Hallowe'en Frolic Sponsored by Rotary Proves Big Success

The Hallowe'en Frolic, sponsored by the Rotary Club, last Thursday evening proved a big success as over 200 children from the village and district gathered in costume for fun in the Community Hall. Prizes were given for costumes, comic and dress, as well as for winners of games and contests; treats were handed out and the frolic ended with a free movie in the Community Theatre.

The games and judging were under the direction of a committee composed of Mrs. Eric Casselman, Mrs. Harry Allison, Mrs. George G. Merkley, Mrs. P. J. Gilroy and Mrs. J. A. Morris.

Prizes were awarded to Madeline Lattone and Gerald Faubert, comic, and Margo Boyd and Bobby Miltmore for the best dress costumes in the age group six years and under. In the 7-9 age group, Gali Henderson and Dale Jarvis were the winners of the fancy dress, with Jean Smith and Robbie Sutherland as the best comics. In the older group, Jean Moran and Jack McGee were awarded first for the fancy costumes, with Bert Liscumb and Mac Reid coming up with the best comic outfits.

A contest of bean gathering was won by the Crows led by Paul Liscumb; Jackie Morris won the cracker-eating contest; Jack Carr and Beatrice Liscumb won the baby bottle game, and Joan Price was judged the best artist in a circle game.

At the dance following the Frolic, a great many were in costume and plenty of fun was enjoyed until masks were removed following the judging by Mrs. H. Durant, Mrs. F. Moriarty and Mrs. D. Docksteader. The winners were Miss Ruth Beattie and Edward Brady, with the door prize, drawn by A. Ross, going to Hubert Merkley.

HELPFUL NEW DRUGS FROM MILK SUGAR

In the 12 months ended March 31, 1946, about 1,500 farmers in Ontario and Quebec provided 88 million pounds of whey from which 800 tons of milk sugar were obtained, practically all used in the manufacture of penicillin and 1,700 tons of whey powder used in the preparation of poultry and live-stock feeds. It is estimated that the farmers received $125,000 from the sale of the whey. Because of the strict hygienic requirements of whey buyers, cheese factories paid much more attention to the washing and sterilizing of the milk cans with the result that the output of high score cheese increased in the areas in which the whey was bought.

The latest report of the Agricultural Supplies Board states that milk sugar has now become one of the basic ingredients in the production of penicillin. It increases the yield of the drug, enhances its keeping qualities and advances the stimulating effect upon the patient.

The outlet for milk sugar is expanding and present requirements of Canadian penicillin plants are about 100 tons per month. Some penicillin manufacturers are also making the newer drug streptomycin, in which somewhat similar culture is used as that for making penicillin. Streptomycin, however, requires a greater quantity of milk sugar per unit than penicillin.

A development of interest to agriculture is the experimental work now being undertaken with penicillin by animal pathologists of Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, in treating animal and poultry diseases. As a result of mass production of the drug, the price of it has been reduced to an extent that enables it to be used economically by veterinarians.

"Migawd," said the personnel manager, "I thought you said glamour".

She crashed the car in front of her. Backed into the car behind. Again, bumped into the car in front. The policeman asked to see her license. "Don't be silly," she said, "who do you think would give me a license?"

"Don't you think a man has more sense after he's married?"

'Yeh, but it doesn't do him any good then."

Neighbouring Institutes Entertained at Avonmore

The Avonmore Women's Institute entertained members of the Lunenburg, Finch and Moose Creek Institutes at a Hallowe'en tea in the I.O.O.F. Hall. More than 60 ladies were received by Mrs. L. Stewart MacRae, secretary of the local branch.

Mrs. Grant Tinkess presided for the afternoon program and after the singing of the Institute ode, welcomed the guests to Avonmore.

A variety program followed, including piano selections by Mrs. W. M. Wert; solo by Mrs. R. S. Abraham, Finch; duet by Mrs. Currie Blair and Mrs. Don MacGregor, of Moose Creek; solos by Mrs. B. C. Lang and Mrs. E. R. McMillan; and duet by Mrs. Edgar MacLean and Mrs. MacLeod, Finch.

Mrs. S. H. Moak, past district president, brought greetings from the Lunenburg branch.

Mrs. Harold Fader, district president of Wales, was the guest speaker for the afternoon. She outlined the various phases of Institute work and offered many helpful suggestions that could be incorporated into programs.

Winner of the Hallowe'en contest, conducted by Mrs. James Tinkess, was Mrs. William Merriman of Moose Creek.

Mrs. Grant Tinkess presided for the question box period, the questions in turn being answered by Mrs. Harold Fader.

Mrs. C. L. Arnold of Wales, district secretary-treasurer, spoke briefly on the great work being accomplished by the W. I.'s.

IN MEMORIAM

GORDON—In fond and loving memory of our dear son and brother, Earle E. Gordon, who passed away November 1st, 1943.

Time speeds on, three years have passed,
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast,
Within our home where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light,
We miss that light and ever will,
His vacant place there's none to fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in heaven we will meet again.

Ever remembered by The Family.

Canada Savings Bonds May Still Be Purchased

The Minister of Finance has announced that the sale of Canada Savings Bonds will remain open until further advised. He intimates that many were not at the moment in a position to secure them, as well as many who did not sense the fine security with the privilege of cashing at any time at any bank without charge to the holder.

A goodly number in this district made a handsome profit by selling their Victory bonds at a premium of from $4.50 to $4.75 per hundred dollars of their holdings. True you will receive a half of one per cent less interest on the Savings bonds than on the Victory loans but the security is just the same and you will have received more than the half of one percent difference for the ten years in the premium of the Victories. It works out like this: For a $1000 bond sold at a premium of $4.75 you receive $1047.50 and pay $1000 for a Canada Savings Bond. Deducting the half of one per cent you have a net gain of $22.50 on each thousand or $4.75 gross on each hundred up to $2,000. A $2,000 turn-in with the interest due added for any of the recently sold Victories will secure for you a cheque of around $113.00 over and above your new bonds. Wood, Gundy and Company Ltd., through their representative, G. C. Lacey, at the Record Office have been making that settlement. Its almost like found money.

AN INDESTRUCTIBLE RIGHT IS THE FINAL ARBITER

Mass picketing, plant sieges, and home-menacing don't fizz on the people who fix finally the wages of steel workers and owners. These most important people were not present in the meetings of the negotiators. They couldn't be asked to sit in because no one knows definitely who they are, where they live, or how much they will play. Their only possible means of representation in labor disputes is through their members of parliament.

Despite the fact that these people determine the fate of all of us, no one knew enough about them to speak for them, to say what they would accept or reject. No one knows just when they will make themselves heard; but they will be heard. When they have made up their own minds they will settle with the workers and owners in steel, rubber, transportation, lumber and every other industry. They won't care whether the employees like it, the employers like it, we like it, or who likes it.

Who are these all-powerful people? They are the unorganized consumers. They have no cohesion, no visibility, no privileges, and only one important economic right, the right to do without. It is a right beyond the reach of dictators and firing squads. It is the final arbiter in every labor dispute, under every form of government and in every economy. It is protected by all the principles of freedom and progress. It survives; it governs; it ought to be taken into account in first instances, not only in the final disasters.

Mental Health Clinics Activities Described Before Rotary Club

Operation of Mental Health Clinics in preventing and adjusting mental cases was the topic of an interesting talk to the Rotary Club, Monday evening when Miss Roberta Smith, M.A., Ph. D., of the Brockville clinic, told of her work among patients which include all age groups. It is still difficult for a patient to adjust himself after leaving a mental hospital, she said, due to the feeling that continues to exist in practically every community in regards to these institutions, and she finds her work most difficult in localities where these institutions are located.

The club has lost a valued member, with the removal from Chesterville of Dr. W. H. Lloyd, chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee, and on behalf of the members R. C. Dillabough presented Dr. Lloyd with a Ronson lighter. Replying, Dr. Lloyd said it was not easy to leave a community in which he had spent 27 years, and stated his work with Rotary had given him a great deal of personal happiness.

Keith Graham reported on the successful Hallowe'en Frolic held in the Community Hall for the children, Thursday evening, when prizes were awarded for costumes and games, treats were handed out, and a free movie shown. In appreciation of the assistance given by Mesdames E. Casselman, H. Allison, G. G. Merkley, P. J. Gilroy and J. A. Morris, the secretary was instructed to send letters of thanks on behalf of the club. The dance, following the frolic, was also a decided success.

Dr. Lloyd reported glasses would be obtained for a district child following an examination Monday by an Ottawa specialist. After examination by Dr. John A. MacMillan, prominent Montreal eye specialist, it was learned with regret that nothing could be done to assist a second child.

One guest was present at the meeting, Dr. H. G. Barton, who succeeds in the practice of Dr. W. H. Lloyd.

L. G. Allen introduced the guest speaker, Miss Smith, who is a native of St. John, N.B., and M. A. Flynn expressed the thanks of the club.

The move to establish mental clinics in Ontario commenced in 1930 and while 10 were in operation, depletion of staff during war years reduced this number to three, but officials are hopeful of re-establishment in the near future, said Miss Smith. Each is attached to a mental hospital and serves that district, searching out and treating cases before the condition of the patient becomes serious enough to require hospital treatment. Seventy-five percent of these cases include children. One group classified as socially inacceptable, includes children with bad habits, persistent temper tantrums, bullies, show-offs, petty thieves; while a second group suffered from personality problems—children who are shy, timid, preferring to be by themselves and classified as over-sensitive by indulgent parents. Another group includes those who require correction in formation of habits of sleeping, eating, elimination, and speech.

Adult maladjustment could be classified into two groups, those requiring marital adjustment and the mentally ill.

A great deal of work is done in co-operation with the Children's Aid Societies, said Miss Smith, assisting in the placing of children in suitable foster homes. Cases are also referred by the Department of Reform Institutes, Salvation Army Rescue Home, Adult Courts, Family Courts, School Attendance Officers and by relatives.

In closing, the speaker was anxious that the general public become more conversant with the work of the clinic and its facilities, for many persons can be set on the right track again before it is necessary to admit them to institutions.

SCHOOL CHILD CARE

For families with school-age children, the Child and Maternal Health Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, has drawn up the following "Safety Rules" which, it says, should become the "order of the day" in every household:

(1) Adequate rest, plus a properly balanced diet, will set up safeguards against the hazards of ill-health.

(2) Never allow a child to go to school without breakfast. This invites trouble.

(3) Allow sufficient time in the mornings for proper toilet habits, dressing, eating (not just stuffing) — and caution the child against traffic hazards on the way to school.

(4) Make sure that your child receives the "booster" dose of Diphtheria toxoid. Diphtheria still kills Canada's children.

(5) Protect your child with Vaccination. Smallpox is almost a thing of the past here, but it can return if all children are not vaccinated.

(6) Teach your child to drink at least three glasses of water daily. This aids in elimination of waste and poisonous products by washing the body tissues.

(7) Dirty handkerchiefs spread disease. Teach your child the safe way — use of sanitary tissues.

(8) Clean hands and clean teeth discourage disease. Ensure this several times daily, plus a tub bath at least weekly.

Homes the Most Important Element In Foundation of Strong Nation

There is nothing more important to a nation than the state of its homes. No one would contend that a nation can be truly great if its people live amid the risk and discomforts of inadequate and unattractive housing. The homes are significant also because they are an indication of what is happening to the people. A satisfactory social and economic environment very quickly results in comfortable, well-equipped homes and the reverse is also true. Look at the state of the homes and you have an accurate gauge of the position of the people and their state of mind.

There are certain conditions which must obtain before people are likely to establish or improve their homes. They must feel reasonably secure—able to look forward to an assured income in the same place. They must have credit available at reasonable cost—a good home may represent the savings of a whole lifetime. Builders and materials must be available and within their means—not much use building a home if you are never going to own it.

These principles apply to town and country alike though their application may vary with varying conditions. City housing is so inadequate that the city problem gets the spotlight but it is encouraging to note that there is increasing interest in the rural housing problem. "What About Farm Home Improvements" is the National Farm Radio forum topic for November 11th.

Farm homes are badly in need of repair and beautification. It is estimated that at least 188,000 farm houses in Canada need external repairs. In addition 125,000 new farm homes are required. Conditions vary from province to province. The farm homes in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are said to be in better condition generally than in Ontario, for instance. Prairie homes are in particularly bad condition.

Houses which are in many instances substantial are too often inconvenient and ill-equipped. Electricity is basic to good living, and 99 percent of city houses have it but only 20 percent of farm houses. Only 7 percent have bathtubs with running water, 12 percent furnace heating, 22 percent refrigeration as compared with 76, 62 and 70 percent of city homes having bathing facilities, furnace heating and refrigeration. That is not a very impressive record. It is to be hoped that the situation will improve with improvement in farm income when materials and equipment are more readily available.

There is another angle to this problem. Given the inclination and the time to do it many people could, at little or no expense, improve their home environment greatly. A bit of paint and some landscaping would often work wonders. Perhaps if Departments of Agriculture, Agricultural Colleges and schools would provide more instructions and a device as well as suitable seeds and shrubs, rural home improvement could be speeded up.

There may be nicer words than this
Far off in distant space . . .
But our job's here, to try and make
THIS one a better place.

Passenger: "You'll bring me back safe, won't you?"

Pilot: "I've never left anyone up there yet."

The theatrical agent's new stenographer entered the private room and said: "There's a lady to see you sir."

"Is she good-looking?"

"Yes, sir."

"Show her in."

Ten minutes later the stenographer was summoned.

"Well," said the agent gruffly, "you're a nice judge of beauty, I must say."

"Ah, but I had to be careful, sir. For all I knew, she might have been your wife."

"Yes," said the agent, acidly, "She was."

TOPAZ FOR NOVEMBER

When is a topaz not a topaz? When it is yellow sapphire or yellow quartz, which are often sold commercially as topaz. The true topaz is a much rarer and finer stone. But the term topaz is often loosely applied, for the topaz is the most popular yellow stone in jewellery.

Many people believe that all yellow stones are topazes, and that all topazes are yellow. But they're wrong. A glance into the Royal Ontario Museum shows topazes ranging from colourless through pale yellow right up to a sherry-brown. They come in pale blue and pale green, the latter often being sold as aquamarine. Very rare are the naturally red and pink topazes, but these can be simulated by heating, in an artificial process known as "pinking".

Topaz is a very hard stone, a fluosilicate of aluminum. It can be cut very easily though, and takes a high polish on the buffing wheels.

The rhyme goes:

"Who first comes to this world below
Under Sagittarius should know
That their true gem should ever show a topaz." Just why, it's hard to say. But the topaz has come to be the birthstone for November.

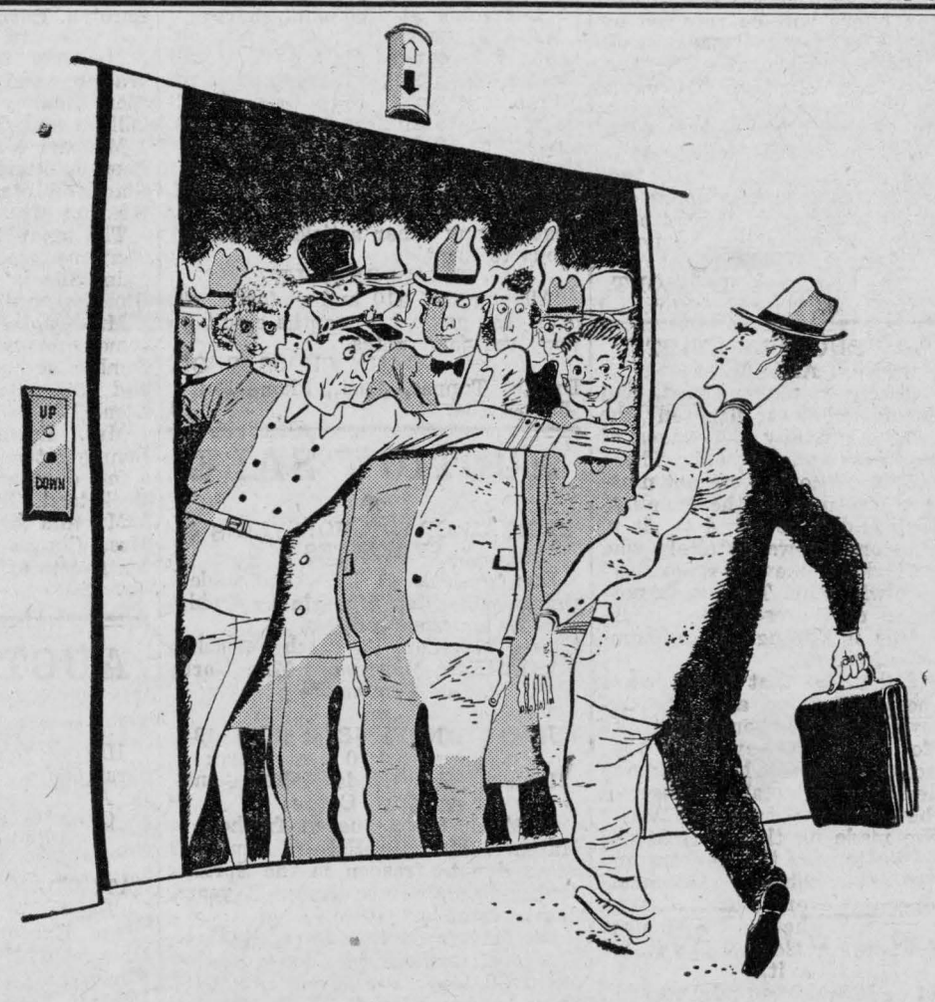

It is found in many a list of precious stones in ancient writings. In early times, St. Hildegarde highly recommended the use of topaz soaked in wine as a cure for dimness of sight. But oculists today wouldn't give a penny for her thoughts on the subject.

BURIED ALIVE!

In his tales of mystery and imagination, Edgar Allen Poe keeps harping back to the horror of being buried alive. But most of our turtles and frogs look forward to it. Some have been doing it for years.

At the Royal Ontario Museum you may see the painted turtle and his big cousin the snapper prowling around in the glass cases up on the third floor. But those in the swamps and ponds cease their activities when the cold weather sets in.

The turtles feed well during the summer and are in a nice comfortable condition when it's time for their long winter nap. Down they sink into the soft mud at the bottom of the pond, there to remain buried alive until the warmth of spring calls them forth again. Many species of frogs do likewise, and they may be frozen stiff without suffering harm.

One more can be one too many

Even Hydro cannot always find immediate room for one more consumer.

Present demands for Hydro power taxes existing facilities to the utmost. This is due to ever-increasing use of low-cost Hydro service plus necessarily restricted Hydro construction during and since the war. Shortage of materials and equipment makes it impossible to speedily accomplish expansion long since planned.

Lines and transformers now serving any one district can carry just so much power. Wherever that capacity is being completely used by present consumers, addition of new customers could be made only at the expense of service to the old, until new materials for extensions are obtainable. This condition applies in city, town and country. Everything possible is being done to overcome it. New equipment is being installed as fast as it becomes available. Your Hydro Commission trusts and believes you will recognize the facts; and assist, by your patient co-operation, in the orderly restoration of the prompt service that your Hydro always strives to maintain.

In the meantime, let your Hydro know as early as possible of any planned substantial increase in your power needs, and use this low-cost servant wisely.

WELL BRED HENS MEANS LESS FEED

Poultry nutrition and heredity determine the efficiency with which a hen utilizes feed, or, in other words, good breeding saves feed. Good breeding—inherited characteristics of high production—makes possible the transformation of a minimum of feed to a maximum of eggs.

The maintenance of poultry is the first cost in egg production, and in this regard Dominion Department of Agriculture nutritionists point out that a 6-lb hen consumes about 73 lb. of feed a year for maintenance alone. The greater the egg production, the smaller the amount of feed required for each additional dozen eggs produced. Feed consumption in flocks averaging 140 eggs per 6-lb hen per year is equivalent to 8 lb. of feed per dozen eggs produced.

Feed consumption in flocks which lay an average of 210 eggs per 6-lb. hen per year is equivalent to practically 6-lb of feed per dozen eggs produced. Still less feed is required to produce one dozen eggs in flocks laying in excess of 210 eggs per hen. R.O.P. chicks and R.O.P. sired chicks are the standard of good breeding in Canada.

"Where's Miss Lightfoot?" shouted the excited producer, rushing on to the stage at rehearsal.

"I think she's round behind," ventured one of the chorus.

"I know she is," roared the producer, "but I want to know WHERE she is."

Eastern Ontario Rally Held Canadian Order of Foresters

On October 28th, a rally night in Smiths Falls, developed into a meeting of the clans from all over Eastern Ontario. The High Chief Ranger, the High Vice Chief Ranger, District Deputy High Chief Rangers Dr. Blancher and W. J. Hughes; past District Deputies, organizers, chief rangers and members of various courts were present from as far west as Peterboro, Napanee, north to Ottawa, south-west from Brockville, Morrisburg, Winchester and Chesterville, bringing the grand total to about 150.

Seven of the eighteen candidates initiated into the Canadian Order of Foresters were presented by organizer Beckstead, who leads all other organizers in Canada in securing new members in 1946 for which he wears the distinctive diamond forester emblem.

Sub-organizer Cec. Page, a past district deputy, although only on the staff for a month presented four of the eighteen candidates.

The Winchester Quartette, accompanied at the piano by Bro. Fred Beckstead of Chesterville, rendered two selections which were very much appreciated.

The visitors returned to their respective homes at various hours from midnight on into the next day, satisfied at such a grand meeting.

GOOD-BY TO SUMMER
By Eleanor Graham

We're putting the summer away:
We're storing the chairs from the lawn,
The wickets and stakes for croquet,
Umbrellas as bright as the dawn,
And games we delighted to play—
The balls and the target-and-darts.
We're putting the summer away;
Its warmth we have stored in our hearts.

We're putting the summer away:
The goldfish are gone from the pool,
The sprinkler no longer shall spray,
The children have left us for school.
The garden is sleeping till May,
The last of our swallows departs.
We're putting the summer away,
Its glow we shall keep in our hearts.

DIGGING GLADIOLI BULBS AND WINTER CARE
Tips by The Ontario Gardener

DIG gladioli bulbs about the second week in October, remembering the advice that gladioli should be planted when the maple leaves begin to appear and should be dug as the leaves turn colour in the fall.

First, cut the tops off at ground level. Remove the tops and burn as a precaution against thrips, as some of these pests may be on the foliage. If possible, dig on a sunny day, then the bulbs may be left in the sunlight for an hour to dry. Place in open trays or boxes and store in the shed for a month, assuring fall frosts will not harm the bulbs.

At the end of a month, complete cleaning of the bulbs by removing the remainder of the tops, removing the ground and the old bulb. During the growing season the old bulb remains attached to the new one, shrivelling up, and it should be taken off before the bulbs are placed in storage for curing.

The cleaned bulbs should be placed in a cool part of the cellar where the temperature will not rise above 40 degrees. To control thrips, which will stay on the bulbs and feed if the temperature should rise to 50 degrees, place the bulbs in paper sacks, sprinkling napthalene flakes on them at the rate of one ounce to 100 bulbs. For an easy method of measuring the flakes, remember four level tablespoons equal one ounce. Close the sacks by folding over the tops.

If the treatment is started in late November or early December, the bulbs may be left in the sacks with the flakes for eight weeks: but if started later four weeks is the limit. Take the bulbs out of the sacks, shake off the flakes, and store the bulbs in open trays, boxes or baskets—not more than two or three bulbs deep—and continue curing in the cool cellar.

A young man was choosing a ring for his fiancee and selecting one, asked the jeweller the price.

"Three hundred dollars," softly replied the jeweller.

The surprised young man whistled his astonishment, and selecting another again asked the price.

"That," said the jeweller more softly, "is two whistles".

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Actions must give vent to our feelings, spurring us on to live happily together. Happiness in the home is reflected throughout a community. And helping one another is one of the most unselfish ways of maintaining peace.

As captain of the household we suggest a few ways and means by which you can make home well-remembered.

1. Your next-door neighbour could possibly use an extra basket of fruit or vegetables, which you may have in abundance. The old saying. "waste not, want not," should be a forethought.
2. That jar of sour cream or any other product which you do not use may be valuable to someone else. Phone your friends.
3. Before you become too tired to think during the busy week ahead consider where you have been losing energy and time. Let things go-by-the-board until you have readjusted your work. It may be that you require a basket to hold all the cleaning equipment for the upstairs work—and there should be one around at this season. It may be that your kitchen table is too low and causes you to stoop. This can be remedied with heavy castors which should be noted on your shopping list. One could write down many "wants" but little things do help.
4. Create a beauty spot in your living room with pieces of shrub or evergreen.
5. One of the best amusements for children on a rainy day is showing them how to make their own story book using scissors, paste pot and old magazines.
6. During the busy summer you did not have time to read. Now is the time to devote a little while every day to this pleasure.
7. Store materials separately. Summer wool sweaters must not be wrapped with rayon fabrics. And according to research, the best method is to place garments in a bag or box so that they will be protected from the light and dust without making the bag or box airtight.

Initials on your belongings will solve a problem if you are taking laundry over to put in with mother's, or the neighbour's.

9. Do not depend upon poor light when you are doing close work. Leading authorities agree that inadequate lighting can cause fatigue and eye strain.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. J. T. asks: How much cocoa do you substitute for 1 square of chocolate?

Answer: Use 2 and 2|3 tsps. cocoa plus 1 tsp. shortening to substitute for 1 square chocolate.

Mr. N. L. asks: How to remove peach stain from blue tie.

Answer: Soak immediately in sweet milk.

Mrs. M. W. asks: How to soften paint brushes.

Answer: Simmer in vinegar.

Mrs. C. G. asks: Do cooked peanut hulls harm a child?

Answer: Peanuts should be given to children in small quantities as they may cause indigestion. Hulls are removed by rubbing on a board with a damp cloth.

Mrs. B. A. says: Half a cup of fruit juice poured over pork chops baked in the oven makes them delicious.

Farm Forum Discusses Income Tax Inequalities

Meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Casselman, Monday evening, the Farm Radio Forum of S. S. No. 10 were somewhat amazed to learn that only about five per cent of Canada's farmers pay income tax. During the discussion period, in which the questions, "What is the fairest form of taxation, property, income or on use of goods?" and "Why don't more farmers pay income tax?" the group came to the conclusion that 60 per cent of the farmers "haven't a nigger's chance" of becoming eligible for income tax; and out of the remaining 40 percent half would be exempt through illness and other unavoidable occurrences. But this would leave 20 per cent of the farmers paying income tax, four times as many as at present are helping to fill the money-hungry pockets of the government.

The group will meet at the home of Angus Smith next Monday with John Sutherland as convener. The subject will be "Home Beautification".
