New Warden warns of big tax hikes for 1991

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

CORNWALL—At an annual ceremony marked by pomp and circumstance, the 1991 warden for the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry took office Monday.

Dressed in a kilt, Ron MacDonell reeve of Lochiel Township, was unanimously elected warden.

Lancaster Village reeve Jennifer Charbonneau moved his election, which was seconded by deputy reeve Arthur Buchanan of Roxborough Township.

Attending were municipal representatives from the United Counties, area politicians, counties' staff, Grade 8 students from Ecole Elda Rouleau in Alexandria, area district commanders of the OPP, chief of the Alexandria Municipal Policeand the warden's friends and family.

During his inaugural address, the new warden sounded a warning of hefty property tax increases caused by a demand for social services in 1990 which exceeded the counties budgetary allocations.

During the past year, the county welfare caseload increased by 57 per-cent compared with the previous year. At the end of November, the number of cases totalled 511, which is 206 cases, or 60 per cent more than in 1989.

MacDonell stated the size of the tax increase will depend on the amount of help forthcoming from the provincial government.

One of the priorities in 1991 will be to maintain the road system at acceptable standards, and Macdonell again stressed the need for goverment funding.

"Without adequate continued financial assistance from Ontario's Ministry of Transportation, such efforts may not be successfully realized without imposing an undue and unfair hardship upon the property tax base of these counties," he stated.

Areas of proposed construction for 1991 are County Road #25 (Glen Roy to HIghway #34), County Road #13 in the Morewood area, County Road #17 (Williamstown to Lancaster) and part of County Road #11.

Council also hopes to pave all county roads that have gravel surfaces, including the section of County Road #21 in the Glen Sandfield area in 1991.

MacDonell stated one of the more contentious issues to decide in the new year will be whether the responsibility of waste management should be assumed by the county government.

"A decision thereon will not be easy, or maybe even appropriate, until such time as the Ministry of Environment establishes criteria that is definitive, mutually understood and which can be relied upon for the development of waste management plans that can be implemented without difficulty," he said.

But MacDonell was optimisti on other matters pertaining to the United Counties.

"The recent decision by Council to retain the services of Terry O'Reilly as Director of Economic Development now permits us to begin the implementation of the economic development strategy developed for the Counties in 1990," he stated.

"The initiative will, I am sure, generate and provide many positives for the economic well being of these counties in the agricultural, industrial, commercial and tourism sectors."

MacDonell added initiatives to complete the Glen Stor Dun Lodge were progressing satisfactorily.

Council hopes to retain the services of a design architect for reporting to council during the 1991 session, and to participate in a ground-breaking ceremony this coming year.

"Progress is also being made on the development of the Community Residential Alternative Programs for the Elderly, and a contract was recently awarded for the construction of the facility to be located at Ingleside," he said.

The Williamsburg extension to Park Drive Villa is now in the design stage. Other outreach services are being developed for Glengarry County, such as Meals on Wheels and transportation for community dining.

MacDonell stated that the counties may become more involved in land-use planning, depending on provincial direction, but hopefully at council's discretion.

Library services may also undergo a review to see if improvements can be made to the present system.

MacDonell is the 142nd Warden of the United Counties.

Proudly, he listed eight representatives from Lochiel Township who have been named to the honor.

They are Alexander McDonald, 1854: Archibald McNab, 1868: D.A. McDonald, 1880: P.A. Stewart, 1889: D. Robertson, 1913: Allan Campbell, 1925: D. B. McDonald, 1943, and Gerard Massie,1973.

Merchants not enthused over BIA plan

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS—One of the chief concerns of Iroquois reeve John McAllister at a meeting here last Tuesday was the acceptance of the Community Improvement Plan.

The plan recently completed by consultants Totten Sims Hubicki Associates was discussed at a Business Improvement Association meeting December 3 and December 10.

"The discussion we had last night took an interesting twist as to the idea we project with the plaza and shopping area," McAllister told council Tuesday.

At the BIA meeting a need was expressed to define the Village image as a unique entity, and that marketing strategy should be formulated to this end.

A suggestion was also made to tie in the proposal to the theme of Iroquois Point as the focal point for the Six-Nations Indians.

The BIA is now looking at a concept plan that would include a new canopy, enhanced entryways to the shopping plaza, and attractive signage.

If merchants agree to the proposal, they also must sign over their individual canopies and sidewalks to the municipality.

The total package is estimated at $275,000, and costs covering 50 per cent of the total project may be attained through a government grant.

If the Village can come up with one half of remaining costs, the BIA would only have to put up $60,000.

"And at some point, council must consider if they should assist the merchants by bearing costs, as was done in Morrisburg," said McAllister.

"However the feeling emerged last night this is not a great time in a recession to undertake such a project," he said.

In reviewing costs, "the BIA felt a great deal could be done for less by ourselves," he added.

But sparse attendance at the December 10 meeting of only seven or eight merchants out of a total of 23 BIA members indicated a general lack of enthusiasm for the plan.

"There's no public interest. I'm disappointed, as it's for the merchants benefit.

It's hard to get excited about something they're not excited about," McAllister added.

McAllister admitted he was discouraged by the lack of understanding of what the BIA has been trying to do, and the high expectations some people had for council.

"I'm not sure how to tie it together. It's becoming a major challenge," he said.

McAllister noted that while discount clothing stores were approached to locate in Iroquois, they all required a minimum of 10,000 square feet, and the maximum square footage available was 3500.

Council is still pursuing the possibility of having a Caldwell outlet at the plaza.

While the Village has not been experiencing a boom by any means, during the past year a total of 16 building permits totalling $1,063,000 were issued.

Ten new residences were included, two commercial ventures, a new boathouse, and three additions.

"There's is something happening here, it's not as stagnant as everyone would think," McAllister said.

Ferry planned

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Although the feasibility study for the Morrisburg-Waddington ferry has not yet been completed, Maurice Bourbonnais, whose company is building the ferry, will be making a few changes to the original design of the vessel, according to Linda Bowers, a representative for the Parks Management Board.

Four feet will be added to the height of the ferry, while the width will be increased by five feet in order to compensate for wave action.

The ferry, which will take two full years to build, will be fabricated on Bourbonnais site by his son Alain.

At this time, the specific site for the dock has not been chosen, however three tentative options have been mapped out. Once the site is chosen, funding and engineering studies can be initiated.

Resident complains over high drain assessment

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

BRINSTON—Matilda Council heard an earful about unjust treatment in drainage assessment costs here Thursday.

Resident Clarence Roberts complained that he was assessed too high for maintenance on a per acre basis, compared to others in the John Hanes drain.

Roberts has a 125-acre farm located on Lot 7, Concession 4 in Matilda Township.

The property drains into two drains, the Donald Hanes Drain, and the John Hanes Drain where improvements were made in 1989.

Robert's main complaint to council was that he was faced with an engineering bill of $2,605 for maintenance on the John Hanes Drain.

Roberts hoped that council could intervene to have costs changed, which were originally set by the engineer John Stidwell.

He claimed he is charged at over $200 an acre for maintenance, while some neighbours paid far less. quoting a rate of slightly more than $13 an acre as an example.

In addition, on purchasing the property in 1978, Roberts said he had already paid $2,579 in maintenance fees for the Donald Hanes drain as part of the purchase agreement

Thus his objections were not only over a high assessment, but over paying twice for drainage.

To top it all off, when the drainage contractor Frank Ault was in the area performing maintenance work, Roberts asked for additional work to be done, not outlined in the report, for which he was charged $90 an hour.

Council powerless to do anything

Council expressed their regret that under the Drainage Act, they had no power to change assessments.

While council is in attendance at the consideration meeting during which the engineer discusses the drainage report with landowners, they have no power to change assessments.

Any appeals must be made to the Court of Revisions, and if appeals aren't made at this stage, the report goes through without changes.

Roberts was asked whether he had attended the Court of Revisions meeting.

This meeting is held after the consideration meeting, and it is up to the landowner to raise objections over unfair costs.

The final deciding board to hear appeals is the Board of Tribunals.

Roberts replied that he had protested to the engineer at the Court of Revisions, but had been "brushed off."

Contacted Friday, Stidwell said he didn't recall Roberts raising an objection at the Court of Revisions, held in September 1989.

Stidwell admitted that he could have appeared to "brush off" someone at the meeting.

Sometimes with so many vying for attention "you can get side-tracked,"he explained.

Roberts claimed he also registered a protest at the Tribunal, but his remarks were not heeded.

Stidwell didn't recall Roberts objecting at the Drainage Tribunal which met in the spring of 1990.

However, the engineer did recall another landowner, a Mr. T.VanDerZweep appealing a high assessment at the Court of Revisions, and the appeal was turned down by the Drainage Tribunal.

While council was powerless to change the assessment, they agreed the extra 400 feet of upstream work performed on Robert's property should be included as work eligible for a one-third government grant.

As the discussion ended, Roberts, who is in his eighties and still farming vowed not to let the matter rest.

"If I don't get an answer here, it won't stop here.

I'll go to Veteran Affairs or to Toronto to the person representing Old People.

I think when a person gets over 80, people shouldn't go out to take advantage of them," he said.

Work requested previously on drain

The John Hanes drain was constructed a number of years ago.

Previous to work this year, there have been no improvements since 1958. However, the drain was maintained in 1984.

The improvements were not deep enough to allow neighbouring landowners with tile drainage sufficient outlet.

During this time, there were two requests to improve the drain, which died after preliminary discussions.

One of the requests ended in a consultant's letter too landowners in 1984, with discussion of costs, but no action was taken.

Within the last couple of years, another petition surfaced, and Roberts was one of the original petitioners requesting work.

In 1989, John Stidwell Engineers prepared The John Hanes Drain Report, with a total cost estimate of maintenance at $64,444.14.

The majority of costs were to be spread out among 23 private agricultural landowners.

The highest assessment for maintenance benefits was $7,608.11, and Clarence Roberts was given the second highest assessment, at $3,129.08.

The lowest assessment on the drain was an outlet liability of $5.07.

A total of $60.43 was scheduled for two non-agricultural landowners, and municipal lands were assessed at $12,953.42.

Local contractor unhappy over tendering

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—Contractor Gary Hess, of Hess Welding Service here is wondering why Morrisburg Council doesn't put their money where their mouth is when it comes to supporting local business.

In October, council hired Dominion Bridge Company, a structural steel company with a head office in Mississauga, to replace a section of the riser column of the Morrisburg water tower.

Although Dominion Bridge's offer to do the work at $26,564 was lower than Hess' second-placed bid at $32,500, the company was delayed in starting the job until near the end of October, and in November presented a final bill of $28,564.

Bids by other companies were as follows—RAN Steel Works at $32,290, and Horton CBI at $39,800.

Hess wonders why the decision wasn't made to hire locally, and subsequently contacted a Leader reporter who made the following investigations.

The reason given by consulting engineer Don Lishman, of McNeely Engineering Ltd. for the increase in Dominion Bridge's price was a delay in starting the work, caused by difficulty in acquiring materials during the steel strike.

Hess is wondering why council decided to go with the engineer's advice that tenders be by invitation only rather than by public advertising.

Near the end of this past summer, Hess knew the job was coming up, and looked in vain in the Leader for an advertisement.

The contractor, who has performed other jobs for the Village, approached Councillor Dirk Testerink to be included in the invitation.

Council then advised Lishman to include Hess, and the tendering process was thus delayed for a few days.

The other companies, mostly located in the Toronto and Hamilton areas, had been sent invitations August 27, and told to submit tenders by September 7.

Hess received his invitation from the clerk's office on September 12, and was asked to submit a proposal by September 14.

"If I'd had two weeks to prepare my bid like the others did instead of two days, I could have had a lower bid," said Hess.

For the two previous springs, Hess was requested to give a quote to repair the tower by Village Public Works Supervisor Clare Van Allen.

Last spring Hess quoted a price of $15,000 to put a band around the inner column, but council decided to go for a complete replacement.

Although he lacks a Canadian Welding Bureau license, one of the requirements of the water tower job, Hess believes the specialized parts of the job could be performed by a licensed sub-contractor, Prescott Machine and Welding.

While few Ontario companies are qualified to construct a complete water tower, the Prescott Machine and Welding company did welding on the inside piping of the Cardinal water tower two years ago.

"I don't think the job in Morrisburg was that complicated. We could have done it," stated company manager Mike Baril.

"There's no reason why the job would be a specialized job," added Hess.

He explained other companies in Cornwall, Brockville and Apple Hill have a C.W.B. license, and were qualified.

"I'm a little upset. Every other job like grass cutting is publicized.

Council's crying to give people local business. There's no reason to go out of the area," he added.

Hess added he was grateful for the work the Village has given him. "I'm not faulting council, but I think they were steered wrong," he said.

Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough defended council's decision.

"I personally think he was treated fairly. We delayed the job for two days so he could get his tender in.

We waited for his tender, didn't open them, and then took the lowest price there was," he explained.

Accepting the lowest tender for jobs is standard procedure for municipal councils, provided the contractor is qualified.

"If it hadn't been for council he wouldn't have had a chance to tender," Dillabough added.

"We left the invitations to the engineer'sdiscretion, to hire those qualified to do the work," said Coun. Dirk Testerink.

"The tower is specialized work. But we allowed Hess to tender.

If Hess had the lowest bid, he would have been allowed," he added.

"Should council have taken a bid several thousand dollars higher?" Testerink asked.

Engineer Don Lishman says he sent invitations to a total of six or seven companies, all from the Toronto area.

"We went to firms who are known structural steel contractors," he said.

"The bottom line was council got the project for the cheapest cost, and Hess was given the opportunity to bid regardless," he said.

THE MORRISBURG PUBLIC SCHOOL CHRISTMAS CHOIR

Happy holidays to all

As this year of 1990 draws to a close, it's time once again to extend good and cordial wishes to all our friends; the time to forget petty differences which may have seemed so important in the past; the time for all members of all families, and large and small groups of friends to join together and celebrate with carols and feasting, with thanksgiving and worship.

It is the time, too, when countless millions of Christians all over the world, observe the anniversary of the birth of Jesus of Nazareth, Whom they revere as their Saviour, their Redeemer. Throughout the nearly twenty centuries which have elapsed since that birth, different branches of Christianity have adopted different customs to mark the season, but each one of these has a common reliance on the Gospel story, telling of the wondrous events of those times; all emphasize the necessity of a return to the simple admonition of love and goodwill for others. For those among us who may not have been following that admonition too closely, or with too much enthusiasm, this happy season provides a wonderful opportunity to take another look at things in the world around us. So why not take a new look at your neighbor, and this time, look for something good. Its discovery will always be pleasant, even though it may sometimes be a bit surprising, and it could just possibly lead to a new, and wonderfully close friendship.

There is a long, long list of people and groups of people to whom we extend sincere thanks, and all good wishes for the holiday season, as well as for the years ahead.

The very first big thank-you is extended to all the people with whom we work here at The Leader. Their singular devotion to the task of providing the best, most complete community newspaper and commercial printing service, has been really tremendous. We don't believe there exists any other group anywhere which has worked in closer harmony and co-operation, or with greater dedication, toward a common goal.

Our thanks too, to all the public-spirited men and women who serve their communities on councils, school boards, commissions, and other elected groups. Many times, we and others may have questioned their decisions, but no one can question their motivation or their dedication. We would include in that list too, the devoted teachers who are the daily instructors and motivators of our young people, all the members of the clergy, who are deeply concerned with the spiritual and moral welfare of their respective flocks; the police officers who constantly guard our persons and property; the firefighters who risk their lives in all kinds of weather, and in many hazardous circumstances; the doctors, nurses, ambulance personnel and other health professionals, who protect our health and welfare, — and many others.

To all our readers, our advertisers and printing customers, as well as to all other friends everywhere, we send sincere good wishes. May each and every one of you, and every member of your families, enjoy peace and happiness at this Christmas season, and may the New Year and future years be filled with good health, good friends and good cheer.

With love - Brian and Mike

Every single Canadian, and millions more yet unborn will be getting an unwanted Christmas gift this year from the guys some people refer to as "Lyin' Brian" and "Mean Mike".

And these kindly, paternal-type gents, who know so well what is good for their irresponsible countrymen, went to some considerable pains to bring you this unusual gift. They ignored or transgressed every traditional Canadian parliamentary principle; they even returned this proud and sovereign nation to colonial status when they went, hats in hand, to the Queen, for her aid in forcing acceptance of their gift by the recalcitrant colonials who had expressed almost universal antipathy for the whole concept.

Thanks for your generous gift, guys, and happy holidays to you, too. We hope for our country's sake, that you will not have to face for very much longer the ever-growing list of bankruptcies, business failures, food banks and homeless families.

The original Santa Claus

Many of the people who read, and write, and sing, and phantasize about someone called "Santa Claus", probably have not the foggiest idea of where that name came from, or indeed, whether or not it has any background in history at all. It has!

Going away back to the fourth century A.D., the first St. Nicholas was actually the Bishop of Myra, in what is now known as Turkey. His wealthy parents had died when he was quite young, and the Bishop used his inherited wealth to aid the poor and the needy. After his death in 345 or thereabouts, he was buried in the Cathedral of Myra. Some 700 years later, in 1087, a group of Italians stole his remains from the Cathedral, and took them to Bari, Italy, where they were enshrined in a new church.

As the fame of the good and kindly bishop grew, with the constant repetition of his legendary kindness, he was invoked as the patron saint of captives, sailors, pawnbrokers, and in a special way, of brides. At one time, there were 2000 churches in Germany and France dedicated to him, and over 400 more in England.

But it is probably to early Dutch settlers in the New World, that the most of his present-day fame and popularity can be attributed. His name has been corrupted from San Nicolaas or Sinter Klaas (in Dutch) to our "Santa Claus". The red-suited figure of recent years, guiding his flying reindeer and his toy-filled sleigh through the midnight sky, on a one-night, round-the-world, gift-giving mission, is a far cry indeed, from the saintly churchman of the fourth century; but the same tradition of giving, of sharing our worldly goods with others — in short, of goodwill towards our fellowman— remains exactly the same.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles

1980

It was reported in this issue of The Leader that the Matilda Township Reeve, George Cooper, was inaugurated as Warden of the Three United Counties on Monday, December 15 in Cornwall and he was the seventh Warden who resided in Matilda Township. The Iroquois Reeve, Frank Rooney, nominated Cooper and the motion was seconded by Ken McLennan of Lochiel. Osnabruck Township Reeve, Stewart Hart was chosen to assist in the installation ceremonies. Before being nominated for the position of Warden he had to serve one full year chairing the Social Services Committee, Roads Advisory Committee and the Finance Committee.

Following a fiery meeting of the Morrisburg Hydro Commission, Willard Steiberg had been elected to commission chairman and in what appeared to be the "deal for a deal" move, the 1981 budget was passed by Steinberg calling for an 11.5 per cent increase in Hydro rates. Fellow commission member, Allison, had pushed for the passing of the budget and was supported by Steinberg and ex-officio member, Reeve Bill Dillabough. In arguing cut-backs on the commission capital expenditure budget, Steinberg continued with his drive to close the office in the Morrisburg Shopping Plaza, cut the number of staff members from four people to two, and move the office quarters to the Civic building.

The Morrisburg Midget A team hosted a tournament on the weekend of December 12, and lost the A Division final against the Cornwall Midget B team, 6-4. A large crowd gathered in the arena to watch some very competitive and very exciting hockey. Throughout the day the eight teams who participated, offered four games of overtime contests. Cardinal, Athens, Winchester, Iroquois, CharLan and Spencerville were the other teams taking part.

Bruce Casselman, a well known local taxi driver, became the first in the district to install radio equipment in his two cars. There were transmitters and receivers in both vehicles with the base being in Casselman's home. The new equipment ment new business for him and faster and better service for his customers. A distance of 20 miles could be reached from the transmitters. Canadian Marconi Company from Ottawa installed the devices. The firm, which changed its name to Casselman's Radio Taxi, was using 1950, eight-cylinder Pontiacs, also operated an ambulance service.

Fire leveled the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gregoire of Inkerman, on December 18, shortly after 5 a.m. The couple and their five children narrowly escaped the burning building which apparently started with an over-heated wood stove. The damage was estimated at $1,800 to the building owned by Annie Armstrong of Brockville, while the Gregoires lost approximately $600 in furniture.

A well known Mariatown resident died in the Brockville General Hospital on Wednesday, December 20. Thomas McLean was born near Glen Becker on March 8, 1874. He was the son of the late William McLean and his wife Sarah Reddick. Educated in township schools, Mr. McLean later farmed for a number of years before his employment with the Nestle plant in Chesterville. He married Libbie Deeks and together they had three daughters and four sons. Funeral services were held at his residence and he was buried at the Maple Ridge Cemetery.

The man had just informed the Pullman agent that he wanted a berth.

"Upper or lower?' asked the agent.

"What's the difference?" asked the man.

"A difference of 50 cents in this case. The lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower. If you want it lower, you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower on account of being higher. When you occupy the upper you have to get up to go to bed and get down to get up. You can have the upper if you pay higher. The upper is lower than the higher because its higher. If you are willing to go higher, that it will be lower."

But the poor man had fainted.

The Morrisburg Maroons had their first hockey practice on Monday, December 15. The material on hand seemed to be fully equal to that which made such a creditable showing last year, with good chances for improvement by the addition of one or two fast men. On Wednesday, the Maroons invited a number of fast men from Ottawa, one or two of whom, in a practice match, proved to be in the Maroon class. The price to see one of these hockey games was 25 cents for standing room and 35 cents for all seats.

Authorities claimed that silage could be extra good feed for cattle if it was not abused by over feeding or by letting it accumulate in the mangers. If the cows were encouraged to gorge themselves with silage at the expense of grain and hay, they would not be getting enough nutrients to sustain their bodies and a profitable flow of milk. Preferably the grain should be fed on top of the silage so that it will be eaten first and then not more silage that would have been eaten readily.

Plans for unemployment relief during the months of January and February of 1921, the cost to be shared by municipal, provincial and federal governments, were understood to have been drawn up at previous meetings of Cabinet Council and an official statement to this effect was expected to be made in the course of a few days. Under the proposal, which was stated to have resulted from conferences between the Government and returned soldier leaders and others, the relief work was to be inaugurated by the municipal authorities and then the cost split equally between the municipality, the province and the federal Government.

Some new books at the library came out just in time for the Christmas season. Leading the top of the list was The Hill of Refuge by Will N. Harben. Other books included: The Unknown Wrestler by H.C. Cody; Connie Morgan by James B. Hendry; Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm by Kate Douglas Wiggins and The Girl in the Mirror by Elizabeth Jordan.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society for the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengary was held in the County building in Cornwall on December 10. Children placed in foster homes amounted to 16, while those returned to their home were only seven.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Morrisburg Leader,
Morrisburg, Ontario.

Dear Sir — I would like to congratulate the merchants of this area for their common sense concerning recycling, reusing and reducing (the three Rs). I will share a little story with you which happened recently while I was visiting my parents in Belleville. My father and I were walking through a Sears store, when we noticed a good buy on 100% cotton shopping bags, complete with Sears logo. We picked up three, and I sent my dad to the lineup to pay while I searched for the impossible elsewhere in the store. When I returned to the line, my father was deep in controversy with the cashier (most rare for my father). What was the problem? The cashier wanted to put our "environmental" shopping bags into a plastic Sears bag. My father objected, and the catch-all phrase was bandied about — it's store policy. We were strong, and eventually the manager was called, who gave us a scathing look and said "Oh, just let them go", as if he had just caught a couple of mice in a trap. This is not the first Belleville incident, only the most recent.

And now for the other side of the coin. In Morrisburg, I can walk into Biba, buy a pair of shoes, wear them out of the store carrying my old shoes (no box or bag) and maybe carrying my receipt if I so choose. The same applies in the Pharmacy and most of the other stores. I merely say "no bag, please", and my small request is granted. And when I do get a large supply of those irritating bags, I visit our bulk food store and the manageress recieves them gladly.

At Whittekers' in Williamsburg, the merchandise is remarkably underpackaged. There is no plastic on the broccoli or styrofoam under the mushrooms. The meat and cheese is wrapped in brown paper and tied with a string. I can take in my tatty old bags and they will gladly fill them up, or they will supply me with a paper one (which talks about recycling). I don't have to put my oranges or pears in plastic.

I am grateful to be accepted in this community simply as a thrifty person and not treated as some beyond-the-fringe environmental looney. This superior, environmentally sound service deserves a thank-you from the customer.

JOSEPHINE FARRAR,
Williamsburg, Ontario.

Around the Town — Sam Laurin

Christmas is almost here, and we still haven't written a letter to Santa Claus to request that some gifts be dropped off at various locations around town. Maybe this year, Santa, you could drop off some invisible paint to Councillor Gord McGregor, so he could be like the mayor, when the political hot water gets boiling. And, when you are going by Kevin Keyes' place, you could drop off a new book of riddles; also at David Cassell's one on how to tell a joke. Perhaps to our friend, Wilf McAuley, the BIA Co-ordinator, you could leave a new council, so he could co-ordinate the second phase of the Downtown Improvements a little more easily. Then you could perhaps arrange for Bo Gale an audition for the lead part in Edward Scissorhands, and please, Santa, don't forget to leave Golf Club President Bob Barclay a new set of bowling shoes, so he can soon beat his golf score.

Congratulations go out this week to all the students and teachers at Morrisburg Public School for the excellent Christmas concert they presented last week.

Looking for a gift idea? Try "The Light-Hearted Cook Book." This book is sponsored by the Heart and Stroke Foundation. It is available in Morrisburg at the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic, Delage's House of Gifts, and the Seaway Valley Pharmacy.

The people at The Leader were happily surprised at the interest shown, and the large number of entries, in our Christmas Coloring Contest. Because of the greater number of entries (more than 60) a further age category, of zero to four years was added. Every one of the entries was excellent, and the judges were forced to ponder long and strenuously as to which ones were "the most excellent." Their only regret was that everyone could not win. Everyone connected with the contest extends thanks and appreciation to each one of the contestants. The final difficult decision awarded prizes to these people:

0 to 4 years - Carissa Casselman, R.R. 1, Williamsburg
5 to 6 years - Warren Leroy, Morrisburg
7 to 8 years - Jenny Lague, Morrisburg
9 to 11 years - Jamie Baldwin, Williamsburg

Seaway District High School Band is holding a musical concert this evening (December 19) at 7 p.m. in the Seaway High School gym.

Don't forget this is the last week to find the key to Santa's Toy Box. All answers must be handed in to any merchant by noon on Friday, and I'd say it's safe to say someone will find the spot.

Merry Christmas to all!

Making Christmas crafts and decorations in 1860

The toys of yesteryear
Pictured is a small toy-making course at Upper Canada Village offered as part of a series of Christmas craft workshops. Museum educator Doug Sullivan showed this group how to make wooden toy soldiers, which formed the basis of many a child's game in the nineteenth century. At right, Jackie MacRae and her father Lee MacRae are pictured busily at work.

MORRISBURG—Craft workshops held here in November focussed not only on preserving nineteenth century skills, but in creating seasonal gifts in keeping with the spirit and tradition of the 1860's.

Participants were few but enthusiastic and hailed from the immediate area to Ottawa and St. Andrew's.

A cooking workshop held by museum educator Lucie Charlebois featured the making of gingerbread and mincemeat pie.

Apprentice bakers formed a mixture of molasses, lard, flour, cider, "pearlash," salt and ginger, and baked it on top of a bake oven for 20 minutes.

The resulting concoction was a light, sweet cake suitable for company or everyday fare.

Then they devoted their talents to creating mincemeat with traditional ingredients with the exception of meat.

Currants, raisins, and apples, with sugar, spices, "twelve sour almonds blanched and grated," and carrots were combined with pastry into a pie, then baked for 30 minutes on top of a bake kettle.

Applesauce and butter were also on the menu had there been enough hands to share the work.

A small recipe book entitled, "Notes and Quotes of the 19th century," was handed out for discussion over tea and gingerbread.

Victorian fancywork

The creation of netted "doyleys" was the focus of a Victorian Embroidery workshop.

"Our first idea was for a netted tidy, doily or weave," said Jeannette Shirley, who conducted the workshop.

Shirley searched among available canvasses in Morrisburg and Cornwall shops, settling on a small piece which could be worked up in two hours.

She then decided upon a pattern from an issue of Godey's Lady's Book, a fashion magazine popular in 1868, which also included directions for bridal veil curtains, drapes and purses, cushion covers and miscellaneous items.

"We went with the (pattern) idea, but there were so few instructions when you read these books.

Most women had to use their imaginations and they did what they did with what material they had.

That's what I did," said Shirley.

The "doyleys" were woven in cotton embroidery thread with basic stitches like the over-and-over stitch, weave in and out, and cross-stitching.

While filling in the patterns was a time-consuming affair, the stitches themselves were simple, thus eliminating confusion.

In the 1860's, embroidery woven on fine canvas netting could be used for travelling bags, slippers etc.

Middle-sized embroidered canvas was used for cushion or footstool covering, while thick canvas was selected for mats or rugs.

"The same idea can be used and turned into a pin cushion, or the top of a pillow." Shirley explained.

Museum educator Louise Burchell conducted a workshop on the making of decorative papers, a form of art recreation of the period.

In the 1860's, the rising and established middle class found themselves with leisure time on their hands.

Creating paper - crafts served to entertain as well as to provide useful items.

Paste papers had a variety of uses in the nineteenth century as book-papers, decorative cards, and linings for trunks and band boxes.

Upper Canada Village has a trunk lined with paste paper which likely originated in England in the late 18th or early 19th century.

After a brief introduction on the history of paste papers, Burchell's group worked on ways of making a design without the use of a block popular throughout Europe during the seventeenth and eighteenth century.

Combing, sponging on and sponging off, blocking and splattering were methods commonly in use.

Flour paste could be made from cornflour, wheat flour, and rice flour.

Vinegar-paste made from vinegar and sugar had a texture different from flour paste.

Early records suggest American colonists used vinegar paste to decorate the walls of their homes, but there is no firm documentation.

Workshop participants used simple water-based colors to beautify their art, such as poster paints, powder paints, or tubes of water color.

After completing the workshop, three or four decorators took home book covers, while others had beautifully adorned papers.

"Family groups enjoyed this workshop, " said Burchell. "It's one that children can do at least as well as adults if not better."

Museum educator John McManus conducted a workshop in which participants learned some of the basics of a largely forgotten art, tinsmithing.

The knowledge of the craft may have been common in the eighteenth and nineteenth century but is not widespread in the twentieth, because the procedures weren't well-documented.

Nevertheless, through a demonstration of techniques he had acquired, McManus managed to show his apprentices how to create candle sconces, candle holders, decorative icycles for a Christmas tree and a tin cup.

While some items like the icicle could be made with hand tools, machine procedures were needed to form the candle holder and the cup.

First, the three pieces of the cup were cut from tin, the bottom with a circle cutter.

Then the cup's bottom edge was turned up with a burring machine, and the top edge folded twice.

The main portion of the cup was turned to a circle, and soddering used to join the cup circle to the bottom and the handle to the side.

An 11-year old girl completed this most difficult item in a record 20 minutes!

Due to modern-day health standards, The Village departs from nineteenth century custom and uses lead-free sodder to join seams which would be touched by food.

Toy workshop

Last but not least, the Christmas toy workshop led by Doug Sullivan provided an opportunity for children of all ages to create toy soldiers.

Constructed with predrilled pieces of wooden dowelling, held together with glue, and decorated with acrylic paint, the soldiers were made of the simplest materials.

Wearing identical uniforms, with painted hats and trousers, the toys were a recreation of "Military Tenpins."

The object of this nineteenth century game is to roll a wooden ball and knock over as many of the enemy as possible.

Sullivan's group also received a hand-out on Recreation in the 1800's.

During this period work and leisure were generally intermingled in activities such as quilting, threshing, logging, apple, or pea-shelling bees.

There were also opportunities for children and adults to participate in sports and leisure activities at social events like picnics, fairs, and celebrations.

When not engaged in work or study, or attending social events, children spent much time in imaginary play, in which common objects like a box, or broom took on new life.

The available toys also served the same function, in which dolls, miniature furniture, or wooden soldiers recreated an adult world.

Winds that make your home to shake. Lives Lost! in an Earthquake! Hunger in the distant lands. All this trouble has come to man. I tell you friend there is no doubt. A greater change will come about. There comes a day my friend I fear. I tried to tell you and you would not hear. The ways of God you have put aside. In his word, you will not abide. You say I will do as I need. I will have my way in this world of Greed. All this pain, hate and strife. Doctors taking human life Sickness and hunger Sin has made. Now a plague brings death called Aids. To a dying world you see. A loving God says pay attention to me.

MORRISBURG & DISTRICT LIONS CLUB
Dec. 17, 1990

To the Citizens of Morrisburg & District:

Once again our Christmas Angel Tree and Christmas Food Drive for the less fortunate were an outstanding success!

The reward from just seeing the contributions from various merchants and citizens and wrapping the gifts from the Angel Tree almost brings a tear to one's eye at the kindness and generosity extended toward our fellowman. Believe me, it makes us proud to be Lions.

I would like to extend a special word of appreciation to the Bank of Nova Scotia, Caldwell employees social club, Canadian Tire Williamsburg, St. Lawrence Parks staff association and of course The Morrisburg Leader, and all my fellow Lions who gave of their time and effort from a busy schedule to a very successful event.

Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year. In the words of Tiny Tim "God Bless Us Everyone!"

Local police catch car thieves

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Following a routine stop on Highway 401, officers from the Morrisburg Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police discovered a much bigger violation than speeding last Monday.

At approximately 3:15 p.m. on December 10, Constable Tony Kerr clocked three cars for speeding.

After pursuing the vehicles into the Long Sault Detachment area, the cars were pulled over. Each car was driven by a young male in mid-twenties from the Chicago area.

Kerr obtained the drivers' licence and registrations, and along with the plates, the cars were checked through the police computers. None of the cars were reported stolen.

However, for some reason the young men offered Kerr $1,000 to release them. Kerr refused and ticketed them with $261.75 each. The men then asked permission to pay the fine in cash and leave.

All three males boarded one of the vehicles and followed Kerr back to the court office. While at the department, the serial number was retrieved from the vehicle, checked, and found to be stolen. When a check of the other two cars was completed, it was found that all of the vehicles had been stolen.

Upon further investigation, it was learned that five vehicles, including the two 1991 Mitsubishi's and the 1991 Chevrolet Lumina, valued at over $80,000,had been stolen from a car lot in Joliet, Illinois on December 1 of this year.

Somehow, the drivers had obtained false registration certificates from the State of Illinois registering the vehicles including the real serial number.

Arrested for possession of stolen property were Wincenty Konoyjowski, Tadeusz Zeglen and Mariusz Chniel all of Chicago.

According to the men, they were instructed to drive the cars to a specific destination, leave the keys in a hiding spot, and return home by plane. The men were paid $500 plus expenses to do the job.

It's believed the vehicles were destined for Europe, stated Morgan Hill, Media and Public Relations Officer.

All three men were released on Thursday by Judge Fitzpatrick on $1,500 bail each. Their court date is scheduled for February 19, 1991.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE
FROM THE
STORMONT, DUNDAS AND GLENGARRY
CATHOLIC SCHOOL BOARD

In a Christian society, the Christmas spirit touches everyone. Children and adults alike rejoice at the thought of making others happy through the exchange of good wishes and gifts and by enjoying and participating in familiar seasonal stories and songs.

In the Catholic school system, a special emphasis is placed on the original Christmas story and its significance to mankind. Understandably, children develop deep feelings of well being and personal security at learning how the Child, in spite of such humble circumstances on the first day of Christmas, was truly, and remains King. Our teachers repeat that story with great enthusiasm.

In a world fraught with sadness, conflict and economic turmoil, the Catholic School Board invites you to remember the original Christmas story and to share your good fortunes with those of lesser means. There are various legitimate funds and church charities to which you may contribute in order that all children here and abroad are shown a glimmer of hope for our global society..

Town League Hockey

Blues fire two last minute goals

LAURIE DAY
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—Close and exciting games were on the schedule of the men's town league hockey on Thursday night in Morrisburg, as the first game between the House of Carpets and the Flyers ended in a four-all tie.

The second game saw Charlie's Sport Shop edge out the F-Team, 4-3, and the Blue team fired two last minute goals to overtake Parkers' Paints, 5-3.

Four-all tie

The Flyers and the House of Carpets took to the ice first to start things off in league action.

Flyers' Bert Hummel found the net in the first period past the House of Carpets' borrowed goalie, Marc Goupil as he took a pass in a Frank Hummel and Donald Black play.

Frank Hummel then put the Flyers up by two, until Fred Osler landed one for the House of Carpets when he snuck one by Pat Brugmans, off a pass from Jamie McIntosh.

McIntosh then hit the net with the tying goal. Osler assisted on the goal.

Black ended the first period 3-2 for the Flyers as he fired one to count with 3:32 left on the clock.

Greg Stubbings came back in the second for the House of Carpets, with some help from McIntosh and Osler.

The Flyers only scored one goal in the second and it wasn't until there were less than four minutes remaining. Frank Hummel took his second goal of the game with assistance from linemate Rob Reynolds.

The final goal came from Carpets' Bill Lawlor to tie the game at four. Mike Laurin and Philip Dillabough were credited with the assists.

Hooles takes two

Ian Hooles found the net on the first two occassions for Charlie's Sport Shop, as they defeated the F-Team 4-3, but it was the F-Team who counted the first goal of the game.

Robin Adair fired the first one past Charlie's, David Black, from a set-up by Gary McInnis and Dale Gilmour.

Three minutes later, Hooles fired one back, unassisted.

Darren Mullin hit the target on the return. This time it was Adair who helped Gilmour with the play.

Adair fired the go-ahead goal for the F-Team, but it was short-lived, as Bob Deleavey tied the game at three at the end of the first.

The winner was fired by Charlie's Barry McShane, as he took a pass from Doug Cassel ending the game 4-3.

Blues 5 Parkers 3

In the third game of the night, Parker's Paint fell two short of another victory, when the Blue team won, 5-3.

Mike Stewart started the scoring for the Blues, as he nailed the first goal past Jeff Whittaker in the net for Parker's. Andy Lee and Robert Jordan were credited with the assists.

Lloyd Wells fired goal number two for the visitors as Bobby Jack Hart and Tom Hodgson set him up.

Stewart marked up yet another goal for the Blues before Tom Shapiro finally got Parker's on the board, to end the first period 3-1 in favor of the Blues.

Parker's Jim Whelan found the net off a pass from Lindsay Weegar to start the second-period scoring, but it was the last minutes of the game that the final three goals were scored.

Wells set up Hodgson to score for the Blues with 1:14 remaining, and then it was Allan Black who answered back for Parker's.

Weegar and Whalen claimed the helpers on the Parker's goal.

With 16 seconds left in the game, Blue's Lee fired the final goal to end it 5-3.

Taking credit on the assists were Stewart and Peter White.

Winchester gets a taste of their own medicine

Lions ruffle the big birds feathers in OT win

WINCHESTER—Ex-Winchester player, Derrek Holmes, must have felt funny when he scored the game winning goal in overtime against his former teammates, the Winchester Hawks, when the Morrisburg Lions travelled there for a Jr. B game Friday night.

It must have felt even funnier for the first placed Hawks to get the tables turned on them after the last match up with the Lions in Morrisburg on November 23 ended in a 17-1 blow-out for Winchester.

The excitement filled the arena, and when the score was tied at six after regulation play, and tension could be felt throughout the building in anticipation of the final minutes. It was anyone's game, and Morrisburg could feel the victory.

A five-minute sudden death overtime was played, and it was ex-Hawk, Derrek Holmes who made good on his breakaway to score unassisted, just 3:52 into the period.

Winchester's Dean Wilson got by Lions' goalie, Jeff Hopkins to get things started in the first period, as he handled a pass from linemate Sean Gordon.

Morrisburg answered back with a goal scored by captain, Yvon Besner, as he was set up by Jason Smith and Chris Vanbridger.

Morrisburg then went ahead on a Craig Villeneuve goal, but the lead didn't hold long, as the Hawks' Wilson, hit for his second of the game to tie the teams at two apiece at the end of the first period.

The Lions fell behind in the second, but didn't lose their heads, as the close-checking game resulted in fewer penalties than expected.

Winchester added three more goals in the second period, to Morrisburg's one.

"I didn't think they could do it (come back)," said Lions' assistant coach, Ralph Luimes. "But a good unified effort proved they could."

Besner scored the second goal for Morrisburg, while it was Scott Bell, Derek Brannan and Jeff Cutler who scored for Winchester.

Winchester fired one more goal to put the Hawks up 5-3 at the beginning of the final period, but the period also saw the Lions gain their confidence back, and ruffle the Hawks feathers with three markers to tie the score at six.

With less than six minutes to go, Morrisburg couldn't find the net to land the winning goal.

The overtime finish was inevitable.

Winchester received one point in the effort, and Morrisburg marked up two more points in their "WIN" column.

Sunday afternoon loss

With a loss to the Alexandria Glens on Sunday in Morrisburg, the Lions are still averaging over .500 with their last nine games, winning five of them.

Morrisburg held Alexandria closely, as they played a strong defensive game, but the boys couldn't count enough goals for the win, as they lost an 11-6 decision.

The first period ended in a three-all tie, as the Lions stuck like glue to their opponents.

Marc Sauve scored the first goal of the game, as he was assisted by Dan Levert and Glen Campbell.

Two newly signed members of the Lions, Scott Reaney and Randy "Tug" Mullin combined their efforts for Morrisburg's first goal. Reaney fired the marker.

Mike McAllister fired Morrisburg's second goal, to take the lead in the first period, but Alexandria answered back with a goal from Campbell on a play with Levert and Pat Campeau.

McAllister fired the go-ahead goal, but that too was short-lived as Stephane Lacelle tied the game once more at three apiece to end the first period.

Alexandria pumped in three more goals in the second, as Sauve claimed his second of the game. Martin Amyot and Craig Johnson scored the other two.

Morrisburg's only second-period goal came with 3:52 remaining, and it was Jamie Smith who fired his first of two markers.

McAllister assisted on the play, to end the second 6-4.

Craig Johnson and Serge Bellefeuille counted the Glens next two goals, and by this time it seemed as though the Lions couldn't recover from the 8-4 deficit.

Smith fired his second goal of the game, as did Mullin to bring the score to 8-6, but Alexandria skated away with the win as Bellefeuille fired two, and Sauve hit for the final mark on the board, ending the game 11--6.

The Lions pulled out one big win over the weekend, against incredible odds, and the Alexandria game could have went either way. It looks as though the Lions are going to be big contenders for the playoffs.

Late scoring for Peewee IIs win

LAURIE DAY
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—The Peewee IIs hosted Kemptville in the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League on December 9, and third-period scoring was what it took to beat the visitors, 3-1.

Morrisburg got off to a slow start, and didn't claim a single goal in the first two periods.

Cory Locke played well between the pipes, as only one goal scored, and that was in the first period.

A. Vuneau got by Locke with only 1:02 left in the first 20 minutes.

The second went by uneventful, as neither team scored, but Morrisburg came alive in the final period, and pumped in their three goals in the last half.

Jim Donaldson fired the first goal for the home team unassisted.

B.J. McPhearson netted the winning goal with some help from Donaldson and Damien Whitteker, and he fired the assurance goal less than two minutes later.

Kevin Hamilton picked up the assist on the last goal for Morrisburg.

Whitteker and O'Brien take two

On Thursday of last week, the team traveled to Brockville to play against Standard Trust, and they squeaked out a close- game win, 6-5.

Morrisburg got off to a better start in this game as Paul O'Brien fired the first goal past Brockville's goalie, John Pakenham, off a pass from Chris Markell.

Whitteker picked up his first of two goals at 8:10 into the first period, with Jim Donaldson and B.J. McPhearson assisting.

Brockville came out for the third all fired up, as they tied the game at five-all with only 1:52 remaining.

Scoring for Standard Trust were Ian Pattinson on two counts, and Milko for the third.

Cavers and Riley Hatheral scored for Metcalf in the third period, and Morrisburg's Jim Donaldson landed a goal for the home team.

Bruce Whittaker remembers the good old days

LAURIE DAY
Leader staff

INGLESIDE—If you go into the bowling lanes at Ingleside, no doubt you would see him; whether it be tending the bar, sweeping the floors, or 'shooting the breeze'.

Bruce Whittaker, a charming vital man, full of life, and some affectionately say, full of a lot more than 'life', is an 87-year old who volunteers his time and expertise at the Ingleside Bowling Lanes.

"I don't know what we'd do without him", says Lanes manager, Brenda Henderson.

"The first thing I do when I get here in the morning," he ponders, "is turn on the lights."

As his thoughts consume him, he smiles and adds, "That's so I can see where I'm going."

Besides the cleaning of the lanes themselves, Whittaker sweeps, mops, vacuums and does the dishes.

"But that's not all he does," Henderson states. "He cleans the pins, puts out the water bowls if there is bowling in the afternoon, cleans the machines, ball racks and returns, and he even tries to fix the lanes."

When the lanes break down, in order to repair them, Garry Brownlee, Lanes owner, has to climb through a maze of planks and machinery behind the pins and work from there.

"It's kind of tricky to get in behind all that stuff, and I don't like Bruce to get in there if we're not here, in case he gets hurt." Brownlee states, "And it's not hard to get hurt back there."

Whittaker recalls,"One time I did fix the lanes, and I didn't get hurt," he points out, "but Brenda and Bruce weren't here yet, so they couldn't give me 'heck'."

Whittaker also stocks and tends to the bar. He unloads the beer truck when it arrives and loads it into the storage room.

"I gave up bowling in three leagues last year so I could tend to the bar," he says. "The sights are a lot better from this side of the bar."

Quite a ladies' man is he, as he's always got a girl or two indulged in deep conversation.

"Oh, I see the women over there," Brownlee points out. "Once in a while I see you get a peck on the cheek. No wonder you like bartending."

A valuable asset

Whittaker was in the bowling league at the time when Brownlee purchased the establishment in 1985.

"I don't know who adopted who," Henderson states.

Whittaker remembers,"Well I came down to see what they was doin', and they wasn't doing their work right so I said I'd better come in."

And he's been there ever since. Volunteering his time for whatever errand had to be completed, or job to be performed.

Helping Henderson in the kitchen when she's busy, is another talent he has mastered. Making coffee, tea, handing out Nevada tickets or signing out shoe rentals, are often on his list of 'things to do today'.

A little history

Whittaker was born in Chesterville on November 27, 1903. He went to the 9th Concession School House in that area until he was 14 years old.

"We had to take French and Latin," he states. "I knew I couldn't get my tongue wrapped around those words, so I quit."

He left his home in Chesterville to go to work out west on a German settlement, as a harvester.

"I took a train out...it was $15 out and $20 return. The farmer paid me off at $6 a day."

On one particular trip home when he was 21, Whittaker met his future bride-to-be, Hazel Eamon.

They were married on December 5, 1925.They had three children, Shirley, Phyllis and Neil. Hazel died in 1979, after 54 wedded years.

"In the Thirties, I worked in the grist mill, on the locks, and delivered mail by horse and buggy on the side," he says.

Whittaker was employed at the Iroquois Locks for 34 years and eight months.

"That was before and after the Seaway," he adds.

"Let me tell you about the difference between experience and education," he reflects. "A lady fell heir to a machine shop and was going to fire this old fella because she didn't like him and hire a college graduate.

The foreman told her, "No you keep him, he's a good guy and he can do anything."

"Well, we'll test him out," she told the foreman.

So they designed some little thing that she wanted the two men to make, and after some time she called them back into her office.

The old fella brought in the piece and it was exactly what she had wanted, however when the college graduate came in he said, 'I'm still hunting for the blue prints."

And that's the difference between experience and education." Whittaker finished.

In his spare time

When he found the time, Whittaker bowled in five different leagues, until 1979.

"I bowled in two leagues on Mondays, Men's and Legion. Tuesday it was the Rocket league. Thursdays and Fridays it was the mixed leagues," he recalls.

Each league represented at least two hours of bowling.

From 1979-85, he bowled in four leagues and up until last year he bowled in three leagues.

"I've given up bowling for bartending," he states. "But I still can throw a few balls when I want to."

Brownlee and Whittaker play a few games when there aren't too many people around.

"He can still hit 175 (single)," states Brownlee.

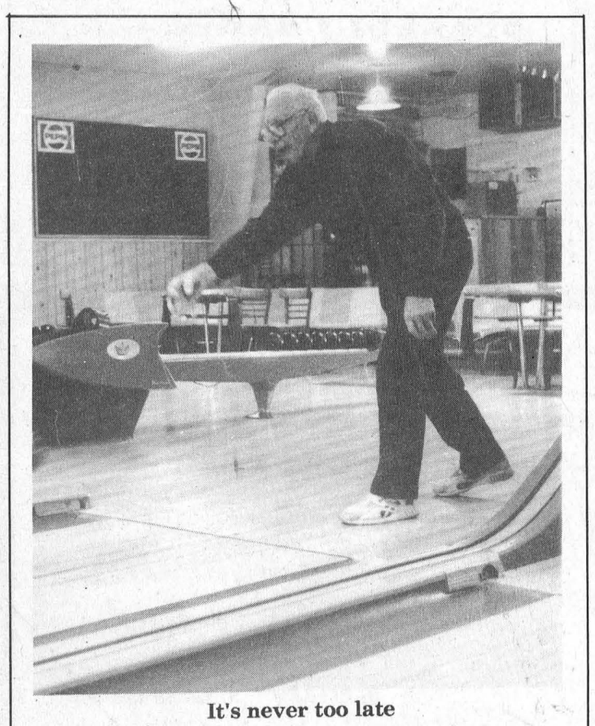
Whittaker lives in a four-bedroom house in Ingleside with his 13-year old feline, Buttons.

"I just had my 19-year old cat put to sleep last year,"he says.

When he's not at the lanes, which is seldom, Whittaker likes to build clocks, and putter around in his garden. He is also a carpenter, as he built a customized cabinet for his wife's sewing machine, along with shelves at the lanes.

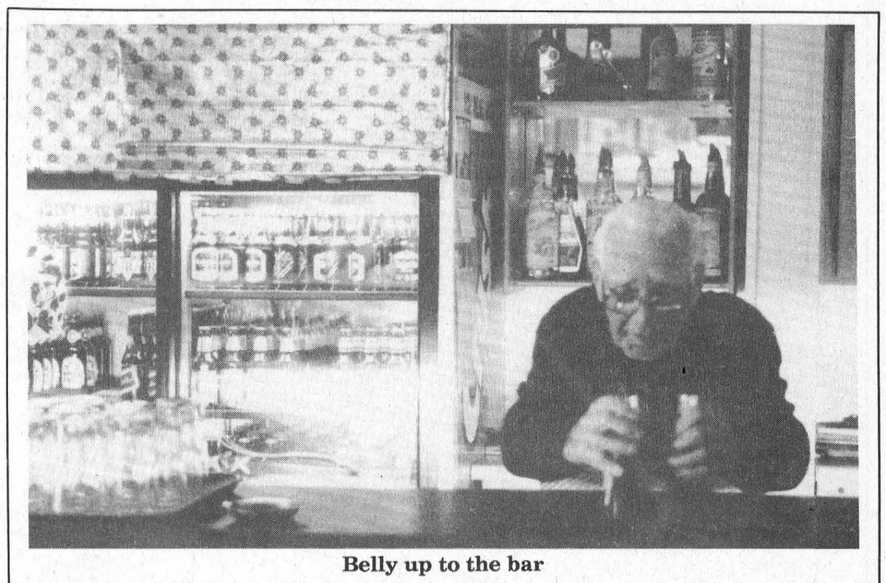
"He does everything," Brownlee states. "I truly don't know what we'd do without him."

"I'm gonna keep on workin' til this ol' body won't work anymore." Whittaker says. "I'd be lost without these guys, and this place to come to. It's my second home."



It's never too late

Bruce Whittaker demonstrates that it's never too late to do just about anything, including bowling. He threw a strike in this shot, one of many over his 87 years. Bruce bowled in five different leagues for many years and just recently gave it up, but he still manages to throw a game once in a while. L. Day photo



Belly up to the bar

One of Bruce Whittaker's jobs at the Ingleside Bowling Lanes is bartending. He says he doesn't know what he'd do without his good friends there and his also states that he'll be there until the 'ol body quits.' L. Day photo

KALRIM CYCLES & SPORTS

WHERE SERVICE IS A FACT, NOT A PROMISE
BOUNDARY RD.
PROGRESS SQUARE 937-4488

In the early 1970's, million of adults purchased cycles for exercise,racing or touring; many did so because bicycles don't have expensive repair and maintenance costs. The latest addition to the bicycle field in terms of popularity are the mountain bikes or all-terrain bikes. They were invented by hobbyists who borrowed parts and ideas from the hill climbing or dirt bike motorcycling sport. Utilizing the type of handlebars and brake levers found on motorcycles, lightweight racing bike gears, wide waffle-tread tires accompanied by heavy duty rims, a beefed-up frame and your leg power, you can take a mountain bike where most other bikes have never gone before, and survive no damage. They are noted for their soft, cushioned ride and positive traction characteristics and are as at home on city streets as they are on the trails. KALRIM CYCLES AND SPORTS are recognized as the three United Counties bike headquarters as they cater to a multitude of avid cyclist types and novices alike through knowledgeable sales, service and stock of parts or accessories.

KALRIM CYCLES AND SPORTS opened in March 1989 and is locally owned by COOKIE and his wife BETTY PARADIS-KALSI. Brand name bicycles include Raleigh, Gardin, Mongoose, Haro, Bianchi and Genesis. They have a professional service department, custom wheel building service and repair all makes and models.

Who wouldn't love to find a new bicycle under the Christmas tree this year?

Although riding a bicycle is still a simple activity, buying a bicycle isn't. Bicycles are more specialized than ever, and because of this it is important to buy from a bicycle specialty shop. There are more recreational bicycles than ever and some are made specifically for touring [and long distance and short-distance touring bikes differ substantially from one another]. Then, there are racing bicycles in every class from beginner to expert, commuter bicycles, mountain bikes, BMX, and more. It's not easy to gauge the value of bicycles, as sometimes a cheaper bicycle may not look different from a more expensive model, but there is a difference in material, frame work and general craftsmanship. At KALRIM CYCLES AND SPORTS they assemble, test and then re-check every bicycle before it leaves the shop.

Whether you are a beginner or a pro, stop in at KALRIM CYCLES AND SPORTS where customers are friends as we feel this business merits your patronage and our recommendation.

SHORNEY'S OPTICAL

HAVE GREAT NEW LOOKS IN LENSES
820 McCONNELL [contact lenses & hearing aids]
CORNWALL SQUARE 933-1084

Lenses aren't just little glass "windows" anymore. Indeed, technology has "made a spectacle of itself' in recent years, providing a variety of new developments in lenses and lens treatments. In fact, even choosing complete eyewear has become a science, with video-enhanced, computerized equipment that transfers facial, frame, and lens data to images of the prospective eyeglass wearer in alternate styles of eyewear.

SHORNEY'S OPTICAL, your eyecare professional, will help you choose the best vision correction possible and the most attractive alternatives in spectacle wear. And although you may be a layman when it comes to deciphering a spectacle prescription, there are some things you should know about what's in lenses.

For instance, if you're nearsighted to the point of being "blind as a bat", high-index lenses may be the best way to overcome the look of "bottle cap" lenses, those lenses that seem inches thick.

Scratch-resistant coatings are particularly helpful for those who tend to abuse their glasses.

Sunwear, for example, is today more often than not treated to filter out harmful ultraviolet [UV] and infrared [IR] rays..

There are also lenses that look like "upside-down bifocals" but actually are designed for people needing near vision correction above eye level, like painters and pilots.

If bifocals and trifocals are not cosmetically appealing, progressive lenses may be the way to go.

SHORNEY'S OPTICAL has been offering quality and personal service since 1928.

BOURK'S Ignition Ltd.

447-11 ST. W. 932-1194

Many thousands of motorists will experience some kind of disabling vehicle trouble this year. Although some mechanical difficulties cannot be anticipated, many highway breakdowns can be avoided through preventative maintenance.

Regular engine tuning is vital if you want to get the most from your energy dollar and it should be done at regular intervals. A winter tune-up is most important to get your engine ready for drastic temperature changes and by doing this, it can cut fuel consumption by up to 10 per cent.

Due to the economical situation in today's market, more and more people are holding on to their vehicle for longer periods of time. As with any mechanical device, the longer you keep it, the more maintenance and repairs it will need. The best way to save money in the long run is to pay close attention to how your vehicle handles and sounds, and avoid putting off service work. It's like going to a dentist; no one likes to do it, but it is a must.

Choosing the right person to repair your car can often lead to disappointments. You can now go to very specialized shops like muffler or brake centres, or your general garage. The most important thing to remember when making a final choice is that the shop is only as good as the mechanics working in it.

BOURK'S IGNITION LTD. are specialists in carburetion, auto air condition sales and service, propane conversions, batteries, ignition, generators, starters, windshield wipes, and speedometers. They carry a complete line of A.C DELCO parts, and a large selection of tools, hoses, belts, test equipment and service equipment.

The business today is under the personal direction of Dunrobin resident TOM BOURK, President, with KEITH LEBARRON Vice-President, and DICK FISHER, Secretary. BOURK'S IGNITION LTD. opened in Cornwall on April 21, 1986 and is managed by KEITH JONES.

The final game saw Moprrisburg shutout Tri-Town 3-0 for the B championship.

A red hot stick from Jamie Barkley claimed all three goals for Morrisburg.

John Casselman and Brad Boivin picked up the assists.

Villeneuve addresses task force

TORONTO—On Thursday, December 13, Noble Villeneuve, Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry & East Grenville M.P.P., presented a brief to the Task Force on National Dairy Policy in Ottawa.

Villeneuve's presentation drew attention to the problems Ontario's dairy producers have faced by not being granted sufficient production increases to cover growth in demand for milk products.

"Too many Eastern Ontario processors are not receiving enough milk to produce the cheese, cheese curds and other products that the public is demanding," pointed out Villeneuve, "and at the same time, farmers in this province are being told to cut back industrial milk production. It's a clear sign that the administration of our national supply system is failing to respond to market forces."

Villeneuve said that there have been a number of recent published attacks against marketing boards, and while the writers are "very poorly informed," Villeneuve said that one area in which the national system has failed has been in responding to industrial milk demand in Ontario.

"I think it's quite clear that we need a system which can respond to these, and other changes in the market place," said Villeneuve. "I believe supply management has worked well for producers, processors and consumers. But after all these years it's a good idea to sit down and take a look at those areas where changes do have to be made. That's why I'm glad to have had the opportunity to make this presentation.

Peewee IIs take three more wins

WESTPORT—Morrisburg's Peewee IIs were found in Westport on Friday for a contest with the North Leeds Flames, and they won the game, 3-1.

Derek Roles took the first goal of the game, as he got by Westport's goalie, John Hamilton in the first period. Chris Lee picked up the assist.

Period two saw Westport's Eric Lawrence fire their only marker by Mike Adlington in the crease for the home team.

Morrisburg's Rice returned the goal with 1:29 left in the period, as he took a pass from Aaron Banford.

In the third period, a little space was added between the scores as Morrisburg's Banford found the net to end the game 3-2.

Ogdensburg is defeated

The Peewee IIs went across the bridge to play in Ogdensburg on Decemmber 9, and came out on top of the 6-1 decision.

Jason Rice was in fine form as he nailed two goals in the first period to get the game started.

Kirkwood assisted on both goals and Banford claimed a helper on the first.

Eric Clark fired the only goal in the Morrisburg net, which came in the first period.

Andrew Thompson and Kirkwood claimed the second-period scoring with two goals.

Thompson was unassisted, and it was Rice who picked up the assist on the Kirkwood goal.

Banford fired two shots to score in the third period; the first unassisted, and Rice claimed the helper on the second.

Adlington claims shutout

Mike Adlington was on the money when he played between the pipes for Morrisburg on December 11, against the North Dundas squad in the 6-0 shutout.

Banford picked up two goals in the game, both in the first 20 minutes, and one assist.

Derek Roles and Jason Bailey claimed the second period with two goals and in the third it was Daryl Kirkwood and Jason Rice who scored.

LONG SAULT—The Peewee IIs played a very vigorous, hard fought game against Ottawa's Southend Capitals, in the South Stormont Peewee II Tournament held in Long Sault on Sunday, and the boys from Morrisburg came out on top, 3-2.

Ottawa's team hadn't lost a game all season, until they met up with the Morrisburg boys.

In the hard-hitting, close checking game, Morrisburg gave it all they had to go on to the finals in the A division.

Once there, they met up with the CharLan Rebels, but apparently the first game of the tournament took a little too much out of Morrisburg, as they lost the second game, 4-1.

Aaron Banford was the fire-starter for Morrisburg in the first game as he got things under way in the first period.

He was unassisted on his first of three tournament goals.

The second period saw Banford score from a pass off linemate, John Domanko's stick, which put Morrisburg up two.

In the third, it wasn't until the final five minutes that the game got a little tight.

Ottawa's Eric Cosgrove fired a marker by Morrisburg's goalie Mike Adlington, who played professionally between the pipes.

Tyler Punkari claimed the assist on the Ottawa goal.

Grig Miki tied the game at two apiece as he netted one from Chris Acres.

Daryl Kirkwood was the game-spoiler for Ottawa, as he and Jason Harper tore up the ice for the winning Morrisburg goal with only 1:35 left on the clock.

Morrisburg went on to meet CharLan in what turned out to be the final game forMorrisburg as they lost in the 4-1 decision.

Kirkwood scored the lone marker for Morrisburg in the fiirst period, but the previous game was showing signs of wear as Morrisburg couldn't net any more goals.

For CharLan, Tim Corput nailed two, and John Fisher and Brent Lauzon fired one apiece.

Shopping. I wonder if anyone besides myself has ever had the experience of shopping during a Midnight Madness Sale. If you have, you'll know what I mean when I say I will never, ever do it again.

I came to this conclusion when I went shopping two weeks before Christmas at the 1000 Islands Mall in Brockville on Midnight Madness night. Compare that to an evening jaunt with a herd of hungry elephants.

To begin with, so much of the merchandise had been pawed and pulled that either the item was stretched beyond repair, or it was in the wrong bin, leaving the next unsuspecting shopper the opportunity to misguidedly think the "perfect" sweater was on sale for a mere $9.99.

There's nothing more infuriating than to wait in line for 30 minutes, only to get up to the cash register, find out the sweater is $109.99, not have enough money, and then have to slink away quietly just to save a mere shred of your dignity.

It's also entirely impossible to walk leisurely through the mall, browsing, without getting caught up in the flow of traffic and being carried at the speed of lightning to the four mile long line-up at the InstaBank machine.

There's absolutely nothing you can do at this point but stand there, wait your turn, and withdraw enormous amounts of cash.

The floor then seems to move beneath you, forcing you back into the stores, where the only escape is to spend, spend, spend.

Superior PROPANE INC.

THE FUEL OF THE FUTURE
South Branch Rd. Cornwall 933-0224
Hwy 2, Prescott 925-4815

The Cornwall location is managed by BOB BRUNET and the Prescott location is managed by LARRY SHATTRAW.

A high-efficiency propane furnace can reduce your fuel bills. Conventional furnaces have an efficiency of 66 to 75 percent. A high efficiency furnace is rated up to 98 per cent efficient. This translates into fuel savings that are ideal for both the home and cottage. See the selection of leading names such as Lennox "Pulse", Clare "Megasave", Duomatic Olsen "Ultramax" and Glow Core.

SUPERIOR PROPANE'S water heaters are highly economical, fully automatic and four times faster than electric water heaters.

Consider HUNTER or WARM MORNING Wall Furnaces. Single or multi-room automatic propane heating comfort without costly duct work and registers. Front and optional side and rear outlets. Perfect for homes without basements. Sizes available form 35,000 to 85,000 BTU's.

SUPERIOR PROPANE also feature WARM MORNING, HUNTER, or DUO-Therm Space Heaters. Fully automatic propane space heaters are the ideal home heating supplement. Choose from models ranging in sizes from 20,000 to 65,000 BTU's.

How about their DRU, HUNTER or WARM MORNING Direct Wall Heaters. Units are installed directly to an outside wall. Room air is not used and there is no need for ducts, chimneys or even electricity. Direct vent heaters do not draw cold air into your home through doors and windows like conventional heaters. Perfect for cabins, room additions, sun rooms or garages.

Thinking about a fireplace? Try propane fireplaces by DRU, VALOR or HUNTER. No ashes to clean! No logs to carry! Just frame, glowing logs and warmth.

SUPERIOR PROPANE is one business in this area the people are really warming up to.

Iroquois agrees to third water tower inspection

IROQUOIS—Last Tuesday, council agreed to having another inspection on their 30-year old water tower, after reviewing correspondence by consultants Totten, Sims and Hubicki.

The third inspection was agreed to, despite two previous reports during the last two years.

RAN Steel Works Ltd. of Bolton, Ontario inspected the storage tank in July 1990, and Warnock Hershey Professional Services Ltd. performed an inspection in July 1988.

Both engineering reports indicated corrosion in the riser column, resulting in pitting.

But RAN's report completed two years later showed increased and active pitting to a depth of a quarter inch, which is the thickness of the pipe.

Nevertheless, leaking has not yet started.

Council has discussed with RAN the possibility of repairing and repainting the riser instead of replacement at an estimated $182,000.

A new tank would cost about $1 million.

Repairs would only be a temporary measure until if and when government funding could be obtained for a new tank.

Council asked the previous goverment twice for funding and was refused on grounds Iroquois was low on the priority list.

The municipality is now faced with a number of alternatives.

One is to repair the riser and repaint the tank.

The second is to replace part of the riser as in Morrisburg, and repaint the tank.

The third is to replace the riser and repaint the tank as recommended by RAN Steel.

The fourth is to add a cathodic protection system to any of the above alternatives.

The inspection, performed on an empty tank, should decide whether the riser should be replaced or repainted.

The consultant's fee for this additional inspection would be less than $1500.

Council noted this was the third inspection to date for the water tower, but agreed the additional inspection would be worthwhile.

"At $30-$50,000 to replace or repair the riser, it would be money well spent," said Reeve John McAllister.

"If we don't do it, what will we do? Sit tight until it leaks," stated Deputy Reeve Ed Thompson.

The additional inspection is to be included in the 1991 budget.

Merry Christmas wishes to all our wonderful friends and customers!

Iroquois to host hazardous waste day in spring 1991

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS—After discussiions here last Tuesday, Iroquois council will continue investigating the possibility of setting up a joint Hazardous Waste Day, for sometime in May or June of 1991.

A number of area municipalies met here recently with a representative of Laidlaw Environmental Services Ltd. to discuss the possibility of holding a Hazardous Waste collection.

Municipalities represented were Winchester Township, Williamsburg, Chesterville, Matilda, Morrisburg and Iroquois.

Laidllaw sent quotes and procedures which were discussed last Tuesday, and council is to discuss the proposal further with the communities.

Wastes to be disposed would include used batteries, paint cans, household solvents, herbicides, insecticides, crank case oil etc.

Laidlaw recommends the Village hire local contractors to recycle waste oils, car batteries, and propane tanks.

Items not accepted by the waste-handling company are PCB contaminated wastes, radioactive wastes, explosives (to be referred to the police), and unknown chemicals.

Should any of these wastes be brought to the site, Laidlaw is to containerize the materials, and recommend for their disposal at the Village request.

A Laidlaw technician will be on hand for the testing of unknown chemicals.

At a base cost of $8500, Laidlaw provides material and expertise to coordinate the operation.

Laidlaw supplies a vehicle for transport of materials, a bulk lab pack, safety equipment, information signs, and traffic control barriers.

Individual lab packs and drums for specific chemicals are to be supplied at additional charges.

The company also supplies a supervisor, and four service crew to receive, sort, and pack the waste.

A maximum of ten volunteers will be required to control traffic flow, and to offload waste from cars to the receiving area, which is provided by the Village.

Each car will be required to show a waste ticket, which will be checked against the car's contents.

Waste will be packed in "designated non-reactive groupings" in 45 gallon steel drums.

Liquid paint will be bulked by Village staff into steel drums, and all drums will be labelled under the Transportation of Dangerous Goods Act, and Ontario Regulation 309.

At the end of the day, all packaged materials will be transported to Laidlaw for treatment at their plant in Thorold.

Residual materials are to be sent to a licensed hazardous waste site in Sarnia for incineration or landfill.

Coun. Clare Brown questioned the costs of the program, especially the additional costs at $325.00 per individual lab pack, and specific drums ranging from $35.00 each to $300.00.

However, 50 per cent funding to a maximum of $15,000 is available to the host municipality from the Ministry of Environment.

If area municipalities join in the agreement, the remaining costs are to be divided among all parties.

Also costs over and above the basic charge of $8500 are based on the percentage of users.

"If only ten per cent show up, there'll be only ten per cent of costs," said Reeve John McAllister.

He estimated that with all these factors, the total charge to the Village may be as low $1500.

McAllister stated the Village of Chesterville had investigated setting up a Hazardous Waste Day on its own, but the cost was prohibitive.

The Village of Chesterville is considering being included as a satellite in the arrangement.

Dalrymple presents request for van for disabled

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS—Council is considering a request by John Dalrymple, of the Williamsburg Non-Profit Housing Corporation for disabled transportation in South Dundas.

"We have a lot of pressures but we'll give it some thought and get back to you," said Reeve John McAllister after Dalrymple's presentation last Tuesday.

Although the Williamsburg Non-Profit Corporation already has a van funded by the Ministry of Community and Social Services and used by seniors, Dalrymple pointed out that at the present time, several disabled cannot use it.

Also, the population as a whole is getting older and in greater need of transportation to fit their special needs.

Equipped with a hydraulic lift, the van requested is intended for the disabled of all ages.

Defined by the Ministry of Community and Social Services, "disabled" refers to anyone who can't go up steps or walk more than 50 meters.

Dalrymple added the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded was also requesting usage of a van for the disabled.

Estimated capital costs for the van are set at $46,000, which grants from the Ministry and Communications would cut in half to $23,000.

The first year operating costs are estimated at $36,000 and include the cost of a full-time driver with a Class F license.

An MTC grant would reduce operating costs for th first year by 25 per cent.

Thus with four area municipalities splitting the capital shortfall, the total cost per community would amount to between $3-$5,000.

Donations from service clubs may further reduce this amount.

In addition, a user fee of $2.00 and MTC grant of $6.60 per trip would reduce the operating shortfall.

"The more usage, the better you do," explained Dalrymple.

From the experience with the Williamsburg seniors van, the lowest usage is during the first year.

Usage picks up in following years as the popularity and demand for the service grows.

Dalrymple has already gained the approval of Williamsburg Council on the proposal, and Coun. Trevor Tolley was appointed to serve on a committee to represent the municipality.

Deputy Reeve Charles Barkley will represent Matilda Township on the committee, and Morrisburg Council is also to send a representative.

Christmas comes early

For the Winchester District Memorial Hospital's ongoing renewal and upgrading fundraiser, Christmas arrived early this year. The 25 doctors on the hospital's medical staff donated $25,000 to the campaign. Dr. Raymond Dawes, chairman of the campaign's professional task force, said Monday the doctor's contribution should be duplicated periodically over the next three years. Pictured above, Dawes (left) and WDMH executive director Jim Egan decorate a Christmas tree in the east wing's lounge with the doctor's cheques.

Christmas in Church

This year, as in previous years, The Leader takes pleasure in offering a calendar of Christmas services and concerts being held in local houses of worship.

It is hoped this small effort will encourage residents to participate in the joyful commemoration of the birth of the Savior.

In a world growing increasingly more aggressive and unstable, the stability of the Christian Gospel is casting an even brighter glow than in decades past. The birthday of the Prince of Peace is indeed worthy of wonderful celebration.

St. Mary's students give Santa their lists

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—With Christmas less than a week away, it wasn't difficult to get seven students from the kindergarten class at St. Mary's Separate School in Morrisburg to talk about St. Nick and their hopes for the perfect gift.

Francis Zambon wasn't asking much of Santa this year, requesting nothing other than a train.

Aideen Maguire is hoping Chris Kringle will drop off a Barbie and one dress to go with it at her house this year.

Baby Sparkles was the top priority for Sarah Stanczak for this 1990 holiday season.

Ashley Jarvis wants a doll this year as well, however her preference is Baby Alive. Besides that, Ashley would like some new clothes for her Barbie.

Thomas Byvelds is hoping Santa to bring him one of the year's most popular toys, a Nintendo game. To go with it, Thomas is hoping Santa will be in a generous mood and bring him a Super Mario 3 game cartridge.

For Jamie Byvelds, the Ninja Turtles are the hit of the season. "I want the Turtle Play Set more than anything," he said. Jamie would also like the Turtle Hockey Game.

Ninja Turtles were on Matthew Howards mind as well. He wants the Turtle Play Set too. As well, Matthew's list to Santa also includes a walkie talkie and a play motorcycle.

What we want for Christmas!

Holiday hostesses choose sterling silver for their festive celebrations

At-home entertaining is flourishing all over America as hostesses are lavishing taste, time and dollars on dining accoutrements with drama and style. According to Food & Wine magazine, frequent hosting of parties is definitely on the upsurge, with 30 percent of U.S. households entertaining more than five years ago.

Traditionally, the holidays usually mean lots of festive celebrations, from small intimate dinners and family gatherings to elaborate gala affairs.

Whether the party is large or small, fancy or simple, impromptu or planned, more entertainers are rediscovering the charming old customs of their grandmothers, who set their tables with such loving care. After all, just like in the good old days, it still holds true that hospitality can be judged by the attention paid to details.

Make any occasion special

What would the grandest celebration be without your finest linen, china, crystal and sterling flatware and table accessories? They make the occasion ever more special. A napkin threaded through a shimmering sterling silver napkin ring becomes a work of art; a cornucopia of fresh fruit, pine cones and colorful Christmas ornaments in a silver bowl becomes an elegant centerpiece; an eclectic mix of new and heirloom sterling flatware and serving pieces expresses your individual flair; and a sterling gift at each place setting thanks your guests for the pleasure of their company.

Although grandmother may have taken the family sterling out of the cupboard only for special holidays, the Silver Information Center suggests making every meal into one that is a reflection of your good taste.

"Using sterling silver flatware every day actually improves it," says Katherine Wolf, director of marketing. "As sterling is used, it takes on a beautiful lustrous finish, or patina."

Gifts for the hostess

One time-honored tradition that still endures year after year is bringing an appropriate house warming gift for the hostess. Little things mean a lot; whether sent or hand carried, a gift is a fitting way to say thank you.

This Christmas there is an abundance of delightfully luxurious silver gift choices in all price ranges: Items for the home, those related to a hobby or career, and fun personal indulgences.

When in a dilemma of what to bring, here are some sterling gift ideas for the hostess: a selection of fresh pasta with a pasta scoop, a shimmering Victorian Christmas tree ornament, measuring spoons with your favorite family recipe, an egg timer as the perfect accompaniment to this year's new board game, a bookmark tucked inside a book by her favorite author, a golf tee for the weekend golf pro, or a memo pad and stamp holder or key ring for the executive.

The beauty of sterling silver gifts is that they can be personalized with a monogram or special date to be remembered long after the festivities end.

Whether you're purchasing sterling flatware, table accessories or gifts, always look for the mark, "Sterling" or ".925." This is your assurance of quality, and it is stamped on the back of every piece of sterling silver.

For further information about sterling silver, write to the Silver Information Center, Brochure, 295 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10017. SX901952

The joyous bells heard this Christmas have roots dating back to historical times

We experience Christmas with all of our senses, enjoying the evocative fragrance of evergreens, the bright colors of the decorations festooned everywhere, the haunting, spicy flavor of freshly baked cookies.

The traditional glass balls hung from the tree have a particular feel to them, smooth and cool to the fingertips, and markedly in contrast to the roughness of bark or the stinging prick of pine needles.

But, most of all, we hear Christmas in a myriad of ways—the joyful carols, the laughter of children as the holiday excitement builds, and the ringing of bells...everywhere, the ringing of bells.

Just walk downtown, and listen to the bells rung by the Santas posted at every street corner. Their bells serve as a reminder, not only of the season's pleasures, but of the season's spirit—the importance of giving to those less fortunate than we are.

Merry little bells decorate Christmas stockings and hang from tree branches, tinkling every time the tree is touched. And, great, sonorous bells call the faithful to prayer, their ringing adding an important top note to the Christmas tableau.

Like so many other aspects of the Christmas season, bell-ringing has ancient roots. During many pre-Christian mid-winter celebrations, bells were rung because it was believed that repeated loud noise would drive away the lurking evil spirits that caused the frightening phenomenon of winter, and ensure the rebirth of life which occurred in spring.

Early Christians believed bells to have powers over their physical well-being as well as their spiritual health, so much so that in the early centuries A.D. priests regularly blessed bells before they were hung in the church steeple.

Even after being taken down and buried (in wartime, for instance), church bells can still be heard ringing on Christmas Eve, according to legend, at least by true believers.

In medieval times, the church bells were rung to announce Christ's redemption of the world. And, in parts of England, church bells would ring each morning for three days before Christmas as a reminder of that holiday's approach.

One English custom, still practiced in some localities even today, is Tolling the Devil's Knell, also called The Old Lad's Passing Bell, which occurs on Christmas Eve.

The sonorous sounds of church bells ringing the Devil's Knell—a death knell, because folklore holds that the Devil died at Christ's birth—precede the joyous ringing after midnight has struck, to mark the day of Christ's birth.

An eerie folk story of Christmas bell-ringing comes from the French region of Brittany.

According to this tale, a blacksmith chose to ignore the bells which rang for Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve and, despite the sacred nature of the evening, continued with his work.

He was interrupted by a customer, an old, crooked man carrying a broken scythe, which he asked the smith to repair. This the blacksmith did, not knowing that the old man was the personification of Death, and his scythe the tool he used for his work.

By dawn of Christmas Day, the blacksmith was dead, a victim of his own blasphemy, for by working on such a holy day he had grievously flouted its sanctity.

Church bells were not the only bells associated with traditional Christmas celebrations. In many communities, carolers were accompanied by hand bell-ringers when they made their rounds.

In other communities, bell-ringers donned masks and went from door to door on Christmas Eve. These bell-ringers, called Belsnickles, were often repaid with a plate of cookies, also called Belsnickles, a recipe for which [reproduced from Mimi Sheraton's classic cookbook of Christmas sweets, Visions of Sugarplums (Harper & Row)] is given below.

BELSNICKLES

- ½ cup (¼ pound) melted unsalted butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 whole egg
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 to 1½ cups flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- Pinch of salt
- Granulated sugar, for sprinkling

Pour butter over sugar and beat until creamy. Add eggs and beat well. Sift flour twice with baking soda and salt. Resift gradually into butter mixture, adding only enough flour to make a dough you can roll. Beat thoroughly until mixture holds together. Chill several hours. Roll out to paper thinness on a lightly floured board. Cut into 1-inch rounds, sprinkle liberally with granulated sugar and place on a buttered baking sheet. Bake in preheated 400° oven for 8 to 10 minutes, or until faintly golden around the edges.

Makes 4 to 5 dozen cookies.

Today, some of our most popular holiday songs evoke the cheerful chiming of bells at Christmastime.

"Jingle Bells," which dates from the middle of the 19th century and which was written for a Boston Sunday School event, is probably the most famous of these, but also very well-known is the enchanting "Silver Bells," a paean to the joys of Christmas in the city, which was performed in the 1951 Bob Hope movie, The Lemon Drop Kid, but popularized by Bing Crosby.

More meaningful by far is the poem "Christmas Bells," by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, which has, since its composition during the Civil War, been set to a variety of tunes. In it, the joy the Christmas bells evoke is contrasted with the pain caused by war and killing. The poet cries out in anguish, but the bells peal their reassuring response:

"The Wrong shall fail,
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!"

All The Best!

Fact or fiction?

Morrisburg Public kids state views on Santa

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG- Christmas — it's that time of year when rumours are flying around town that somebody special might be coming to visit.

In an effort to separate truth from the legends surrounding the esteemed gentleman in the red suit, a Leader reporter interviewed some Morrisburg School children last week, and determined the following facts.

Most had already met Santa Claus in various nearby locations such as the shopping plaza, but one child warned that a "fake Santa" was making the rounds.

The children had a number of opinions on how Santa could make all the toys and ride around the world so fast, and visit millions of children in one night.

"It's all his reindeers, and he has big things around his sleigh that makes him zoom off," Betty Jane Casselman in Grade 1 volunteered.

"He has a machine to make toys very quickly, and his reindeer are fast," Grade 1 student Allen Chung answered.

"Rudolph is the leader."

The students were all agreed on one item.

"I like Santa, I think he's cute. He's nice because he gives us lots of presents," said Grade 3 student Stephanie Shaver.

However, they differed on Santa's other characteristics and habits, for example his favorite snack.

"One time I left cookies. He ate them and the dishes were washed afterward," said Jasmine Sager, in Grade 3.

"Once we left him hot chocolate, and once we left him Coke," explained Mary Lynn Osborne, also in Grade 3.

"We left a bale of hay for his reindeers, but they didn't eat it. I don't know why," she pondered quizically.

Mary Lynn had an easy explanation for Santa's miraculous route through the chimney.

"Oh he just snaps his hand and goes down, and nods his head and goes back up," she said.

"I think he drops himself down the chimney," interjected Sager.

But Grade 1 student Ashley Froats believed Santa came down with an umbrella.

Betty Jane Casselman had some insider information on how Santa picks the children who are to receive gifts.

"In his sack, there's a list that shows the kids who've been bad or good."

"He keeps track of us by writing letters to us if we write to him," explained Mandy Richmire, also in Grade 1.

But Janssen and Chung thought Santa kept tabs through his elves.

Hoping to receive everything on their wish lists, the youngsters were quite concerned about how they measured up in Santa's eyes.

Sheldon Disotell in Grade 1 knew you had to be sleeping in order to receive gifts. "And you have to be good too," he added.

Some were making a special effort to impress him.

"I'll get up and make coffee for my mom and my uncle Kevin in the morning," said Mary Lynn.

And Stephanie Shaver had an authoritative definition on the meaning of Christmas. "The most important thing is when the family gets together - caring and loving others and not fighting on Christmas Day," she said.

Last but not least came the all important question— "what do you want for Christmas?"

Joseph Janssen had a short but high tech list for Santa to fill—"a colored TV. to put in my room, a ten-foot ghetto-blaster to carry everywhere, and a remote control car with batteries."

Allen Chung had his heart set on a special kind of pencil or pen he saw one day at the Bayshore.

"There's a button on it - you just press it and something pops out of the box.

And I want something magic, I don't care what," he said.

As usual, dolls were an all-time favorite and number one on some of the girls' lists.

"I want Barby's Magic Voyageur and Little Miss Magic Hair. It comes with a brush you can put on her hair. You put hot or cold water and it changes color," stated Froats.

"Oh, and an Icecapades Barby with a skating outfit, and skates."

Nicole Montroy in Grade 1 wanted a "Little Miss Makeup doll" in addition to a coloring book, and a pencil case.

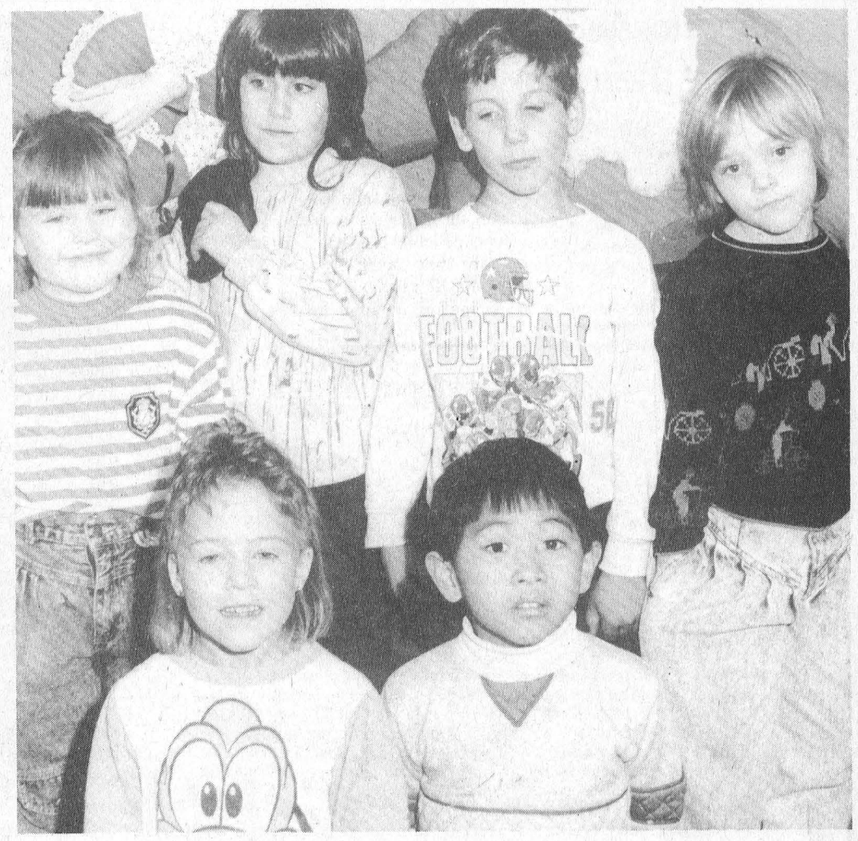
"I want an Oops a Daisy doll. That's the kind that falls down and cries and says Mama.

But she doesn't eat, only Baby Alive does that," said Mandy Richmire.

Betty Jane Casselman wished for Baby Uh-oh who wets and dirties her diapers, and a Rattling Bones game.

Disotell is looking forward to seeing a remote control car, crayons, a coloring book, and clothes under the Christmas Tree.

"I want Ninja Turtles sewer hockey. It's hockey, not fighting," chimed in Grade 1 student Bryan Shields.



Thoughts about Santa Claus. . . .
In a special interview last week, these Grade 1 students told the Leader their thoughts about Santa Claus, and mentioned a few little things they would like toreceive for Christmas. Pictured at back from l-r are Nicole Montroy, Ashley Froats, Joseph Jansen, and Mandy Richmire. At front are Betty Jane Casselman, and Allen Chung. C. Thompson photo

Christmas contest winners from area public schools

LAURIE DAY
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—The students of the area public schools were asked by The Leader to write a paragraph; for the younger children, that paragraph consisted of a Christmas Wish.

Participating in this category were grades two and three students.

The grade two students were from Iroquois Public School, and the grade three students were from Elma Public School.

The winning entry from Iroquois came from seven-year old Trevor Hanes, and it read;

Dear Santa I was god how are you doing and what I what for Christmas is the Ninja turtle movie the weel thing and the pizza thrower good buy mary christmas from Trevor Haness

The winning entry from Elma Public School was from eight-year old Brad Lynn and it read;

A Christmas Wish list
I wish I may, I wish I might, I wish I get my wish tonight.
1. Everyone in the world would have a good Christmas.
2.Everyone has presents from Santa.
3.People believe in Santa.
4.If Santa would have milk and cookies at everyone's house.
5.Everyone would have a beautiful Christmas tree.
6.Everyone can decorate their house.
7.Everyone gets to learn about Christmas at school or at home.
8.Everyone has a great Christmas.
9.Everyone knows the real Christmas,
10.Everyone has great presents.

For grade four The Leader went to Dixons' Corners and the winner was Katherine Adams. Her topic was 'What Christmas Means to Me' and it went as follows;

These are some things I like about Christmas,

Christmas to me means being able to decorate the Christmas tree. We put up lights and bulbs. We make decorations for the tree too. But my favourite part is putting the star on top of the tree.

It is fun to wake up in the morning and look at all the presents under the Christmas tree, I like opening presents but I like giving presents away to.

Christmas also means fun at school. We draw names for presents, We have treats for lunch. We also do all kinds of activities, We sing lots of songs and play games. We even have a Christmas concert.

Christmas also means being with your family. In my family we all get together for a turkey dinner. We have pies, cakes and cookies. My aunt even makes brownies,

These are only a few things I like about Christmas.

The grade five winner was found in Iroquois, at St. Cecilia's. Patricia Weagant wrote;

What Christmas Means to Me!

To me Christmas means love and peace. It means sharing and gift giving.

I like to celebrate and decorate, We wouldn't have had Christmas if Mary hadn't said yes to the angel that asked her to have Jesus as a baby.

On Christmas, I like spending time with my family. It is fun to decorate the Christmas tree and sing Christmas carols.

That is what Christmas means to me!

The grade six winner was Willow Croteau. She goes to Rothwell/Osnabruck School in Ingleside.

What Christmas means to me...What I want for Christmas is mom and Glen to get married, and to stay married forever, He would make the best father ever.

And I really love Christmas, and Glen too! and because he is the best, and he will be forever and ever. i love him very much,

And I also want for Christmas is a new per, and get a daughters pride ring.
by Willow Croteau.

The school chosen for the grade seven class participation failed to comply, therefore we chose two winning entries from the grade eight class of Stampville Public School.

The winners were Julie Croteau and Lainie Dowell. The first selection is from Julie;

What Christmas means to me...Christmas to me means time for family. When everyone comes together, not for five minutes, but for the whole Christmas season. Not fighting with each other, just enjoying each other and the holiday.

Peace...Christmas is a time for peace. No fighting, no shooting, no killing, just peace.

The most important thing Christmas means to me is Jesus. On Christmas day we all should take time out of everything to remember him and his mother and Joseph and that special moment of his birth. And what Jesus brings to all of us. And that is what Christmas means to me.

This is Lainie's entry;

Christmas to Me...Christmas to me means presents. Not just receiving but also giving. Seeing someone smile when you've just the perfect thing for them.

Christmas can also mean a beautiful snowfall brightened by the festive lights around the town. It's a real Christmas tree found and decorated by the whole family.

Christmas also means magic, Brought in two totally different ways. To some it is a special baby that brought peace to the world. Or to the young it is a kind man that brings presents on a special night to good children in a flying sleigh.

The Leader wishes to thank all those schools who participated in the contest and congratulations goes to the selected winning entries.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BRIEFS

MORRISBURG—In order to take further steps towards moving the Morrisburg Bell from its present location at the entrance to the Morrisburg Public School, committee was formed at the last Chamber of Commerce meeting December 4.

The committee formed includes chairman Duncan Edmonds with the Business Improvement Association President Gord Lane, Chamber of Commerce representative Rev. Don Smith and a Women's Institute representative.

The committee was formed to complete the necessary steps to moving the bell to a place of prominence in the shopping area.

One of the ideas discussed was to include the cost of a bell tower in the phase II of the PRIDE program.

The bell was given to Morrisburg by James Morris, Morrisburg's founder and first Post Master.

Sleigh rides at UCV

MORRISBURG—Those people who think that riding on a one-horse open sleigh sounds like a lot of fun will be pleasantly surprised to find sleigh rides and many other family activities at Upper Canada Village this Christmas season.

From December 27 to 30, the Village will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., offering parents and youngsters a glimpse at winter fun during the past century.

As a special holiday feature, an exhibit of antique toys from the Upper Canada Village collection will be displayed at Crysler Hall.

Children will get a chance to play with various 1860's toys, make a simple period game and a Victorian Christmas decoration to take home.

Hot mulled cider will be sold there as well.

Jack Frost willing, the ice on the canal will be ready for skating and sleigh rides will take visitors through the snowy village streets between 1 and 3:30 p.m.

A Holiday Wish to One and All!

May you enjoy a glad and glorious Yule.

For true Christmas spirit, look no farther than family and friends

Many contemporary holiday traditions begin in the home

Suddenly, days are getting shorter. Twilight comes early, mistily, and the deep, translucent blue of the evening sky is frosted, as snow hovers over. Christmas is indeed coming, and the winter chill in the air is almost unnoticed in the merry bustle of the holiday season.

Buildings don their Yuletide finery, as garlands in red and green and innumerable evergreens festoon lighted windows and welcoming doorways.

Shoppers return home, day after day, laden with mysterious packages. And, indoors, boxes of ornaments are brought down from the attic and lovingly uncrated, as the tantalizing aroma of home-baked cakes and cookies fills the air.

Indeed, the traditions of Christmas are many and varied, and each is an immutable part of the season. Yet, each individual family has its own traditions, too, and it is these that are often the most treasured.

While one family trims its tree with heirloom ornaments, brought over from Europe generations ago, another brings memories to life with homemade ornaments saved from year to year, the collection growing as the family does.

Yet another family ties special ornaments to beautifully wrapped Christmas presents. After the gifts have been opened, the new decorations, symbols of both givers and recipients, are hung on the tree, where they will appear again and again in following years.

In one family, it wouldn't be Christmas without Grandma's buttery spritz cookies; another schedules an afternoon of baking that they can enjoy together. While mom lights the oven and oversees the process, the kids happily roll and cut, and later decorate, their own gingerbread men.

Some families go out each year to a tree farm, where they can select the perfect evergreen, chopping it down themselves. Others make a ritual of decorating living trees in their own front and back yards, with garlands of lights to beguile the eye, and birdseed balls to encourage those birds that haven't migrated to visit throughout the winter.

Some families keep a living tree indoors during the holiday season, then plant it after all the Christmas decorations have been taken down. Others dry the branches and trunks of their cut trees, saving them to throw on the fire the following Christmas. Both achieve a sense of continuity, something that is very much at the heart of the Christmas spirit.

Stuffing the stockings is the centerpiece of one family's holiday festivities. Each Christmas Eve, after Midnight Mass and a late supper, everybody hurries about, hiding treasures in the long, bulging stockings that have been hung carefully on hooks over the fireplace.

Another family, in a modern home without fireplaces, has made it a tradition to lay the already-filled stockings at the foot of each child's bed during the night, to be opened first thing in the morning.

Some families organize skating parties each Christmas; others have evenings of caroling, culminating around a steamy bowl of wassail. And, while some go out for innumerable visits to family and friends, others take joy in staying home with those dearest and closest to them.

Above and beyond the customs that have been handed down through generations, individual family traditions make the holiday season truly special. These are personal expressions of the Christmas spirit, a spirit that lives and flourishes in an atmosphere of loving and giving, caring and sharing, a spirit that is as old as Christmas itself, yet forever new. SX901854

THE PHONE WAS STILL A NOVELTY in 1884 when Thomas Nast created this pair of illustrations of a little girl calling Santa, who picks up the receiver in his toy-and-package-filled workshop. A jovial fellow with ruddy cheeks, capacious belly and white beard, Nast's Santa, who graced the pages of Harper's Weekly for over 20 years, was the basis for today's most familiar image of St. Nick. SX902456

Create a Christmas cornucopia

Filled with candies and other sweets, decorated paper cornucopias were traditionally hung on the boughs of Christmas trees in the 19th century. These cornucopias were made by avid readers of the ladies' magazines of the day, which frequently printed instructions for creating them.

For those who wish to bring a touch of Victoriana to a contemporary Christmas, cornucopias are easy to make.

Draw quarter circles on thin, bendable cardboard (using a compass for accuracy), leaving a margin on one side for the seam. Using the same pattern, form more quarter circles out of decorative wrapping paper, two for each cornucopia (to serve as lining and outer surface).

Cut the shape out, glue the lining and outer paper to each piece of cardboard, and allow to dry. Then, form into cones, gluing on the inside where the extra margin is tucked.

Glue loop of ribbon or decorative cord to the top of each cornucopia to form a handle for hanging. Add other decorations—stickers, tinsel, bits of doily—as imagination dictates and, after they have thoroughly dried, fill with candy, nuts or other treats. SX901863

ORIGINS OF RUDOLPH

One of the most beloved figures in modern Christmas lore, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, was born when a Montgomery Ward advertising copywriter named Robert L. May was told to create a booklet which could be given to children at Christmastime.

That was in 1939, and "Rudolph with his nose so bright," the nose which made him a laughingstock among the other reindeer, has charmed generations of children for over 50 years.

Interestingly enough, the words of the song, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," were not included in the original booklet that told Rudolph's story, and were not written by May.

Rather, 10 years after May's original creation, his brother-in-law, composer Johnny Marks, put Rudolph's tale to music, and wrote the lyrics with which we are familiar today.

Cowboy-singer Gene Autry recorded the tune, which was released in the fall of 1949 and quickly became a smash hit. SX901861

Rug hooking courses now being offered

KIM TOSHACK
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS—For those who enjoy leisure arts, but dislike driving to Cornwall or Brockville, the solution is here. Beginning January 2, two St. Lawrence College credit courses are being offered in Iroquois.

The first course, Advanced Rug Hooking, uses the them "My Back Yard". Students will investigate the elements and principles of two dimensional design to create a rug or hanging using the "Primitive" style of rug hooking.

Texture Techniques in Rug Hooking is also made available to those interested. This program studies texture through the use of basic tools and fibers in the creation of a hanging using traditional or contemporary design elements and colour harmonies.

St. Lawrence College, Brockville, requires that at least 16 students sign up.

Both courses are running from January 2-March 27 on Wednesdays from 12:30 to 4 p.m. at the Iroquois Legion Hall. These credit courses in Fibre Arts are instructed by Joan Boyle of Prescott.

Boyle has been teaching rug hooking in Iroquois for approximately 12 years now.

"I did it in the civic centre for most of the years," she said. "And then they moved me over to the Legion."

It was Boyle herself who began teaching rug hooking in this part of eastern Ontario. She started teaching in the fall of 1971 in Prescott. Since then, Boyle has held classes in many different places, including Spencerville, Brockville, Prescott and Cornwall.

Boyle says her class is different because she uses flannel (woolen fabric) rather than yarn in the "traditional method".

"It's a different texture than the yarn work," she said. " But it's good because you use recycled clothing and just buy what you need."

Although the course has been offered in Iroquois before, students do not have to be seasoned professionals.

"Beginners really add to the class," said Boyle. "They bring a whole new aspect to the course."

To register, students must pay a fee of $79. There is no student activity fee. For further information on the course, contact St. Lawrence College in Brockville at 345-0660. Participants are urged to register early.
