ATTENTION OF AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

All Motorists whose cars are fitted with storage batteries will find that the manufacturers' instructions advise having the battery taken out of the car for the winter months, provided the car is not in service, and have it charged periodically—about every two weeks.

When a battery is not in use this charging is necessary to keep the cells in proper condition.

For those who wish to run their cars during the winter season, all that is needed is to keep this battery charged. A discharged battery will freeze but there is no danger of a battery freezing when the specific gravity of each cell tests 1250 or over.

On the other hand for those who do not wish to run their cars, having lately installed special equipment for battery charging, we are prepared to store and charge batteries of any make at a very nominal rate.

Our New and Up-to-date Garage and Service Station is now open and ready for business. We are no longer cramped for room and so we are able to handle all sorts of repair work. We have had our experience; we know our business and our aim will be to give you the benefit of expert knowledge and a job that will be in every way satisfactory.

At present we have on hand over $1500 worth of Automobile parts. If your car needs any repairs, now is the time to have it attended to. We will make the necessary repairs, inspect and over haul it from stem to stern and put it in tip-top shape, all ready for the spring.

Later in the season we will be too busy with other work to take in many repair jobs. The time to get your car over hauled is before you put it away for the winter. Bring it along now and we can start at once and stay with it till the work is complete, which will mean a job 100% quicker, better and cheaper. Once spring comes it will be impossible for us to give this class of work the time and attention we would wish.

KILLED IN ACTION

Mrs. David Wood was on Wednesday, November 29th, officially notified that her son, Donald, has been killed in action. Pte. Prunner enlisted with the 77th Battalion, Ottawa, in the Fall of 1915, and sailed for Overseas last Spring. The sad news was received in town with much regret. A memorial service will be held in St. James Church, Sunday, December 10th.

The telegram, conveying official notice reads as follows: "Ottawa, 28th. 'Mrs. David Woods, 'Deeply regret inform you 145189 Private Donald Prunner, infantry, officially reported died of wounds November 18th., 1916, gunshot wound multiple body.'"

The following letter was written by the unfortunate a short time prior to receiving his fatal wounds "Somewhere in France, Nov. 3, '16 'My Dear Mother,

"Just a few lines in answer to your ever welcome letters which I received a while ago in the trenches. I have also received the three boxes all O.K. I was certainly pleased and glad to get them for I certainly made myself comfortable and have some of the things left. The shoes fitted me fine. You used good judgment in guessing the size. They will be just right for going through shell holes and wet trenches. I have seen quite a bit of warfare since I have come over here and hope to see more. We have been in a very hot place here to fight. No other place is any hotter than here. We took a trench from Fritz and a few hundred prisoners. Had a chat with some wounded prisoners in a dressing station while I was getting my hand dressed up. I got hit with a piece of shrapnel, but not very badly. Have not been laid up a minute with it, and it is fine now. It is the one that I am using at present to write you these few lines. We took a trench from Fritz here in France some where which had been taken before several times, but could never hold it from counter attacks. This time we took it and held it after many fierce attacks. It was great the way our fellows went over, all wearing a smile of delight at getting a good chance to give it to Fritz. We followed our artillery up very close and within a very few yards of their trench, and when they saw us they all jumped out of the trench with rifles in their hands, and we thought we were in for a hand to hand battle. We were surprised, however, to find they were surrendering to us, and we soon turned them in under a safe guard to be escorted out. There were plenty of machine guns firing and bits of shrapnel flying about, and I got a little touch on my hand with some shrapnel, although I was not badly injured and assisted some of the other fellows. We got all kinds of souvenirs in their trench. Their wounded said they had had hardly anything to eat; no bread for a couple of days, so I guess they are not used too good. Most of the Germans were wounded by their machine gun fire for giving up and they looked as if they were in need of sleep very badly. There were many young fellows under military age. We found their trenches in good condition, only badly shelled by our artillery. They said the bombardment from our artillery was fierce.

At present we are billeted in a very large town and are quite comfortable. We are in some of the houses here, and have a fireplace to dry our clothes when we do a bit of washing for ourselves. I suppose you will laugh when you hear we are doing our own washing but we do it quite well. I have seen a number of tanks and have been inside a few of them. They are quite a funny-looking machine, and are very clumsy, but they do great work here and do much damage to Fritz's territory. They go in and out of shell holes or craters which are plenty here, making the land look more like honey comb. I have been inside the tanks, some that had been damaged by shell fire. I have also seen our airmen fetch down Fritz's planes in some of their air battles. All it does here is rain. Can't depend on the weather—one minute the sky is clear and ten minutes later it's pouring rain."

"THE BIRTH OF A NATION"

In response to numerous and urgent requests, D. W. Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation," which has scored the greatest triumph a theatrical attraction has ever achieved, has been booked by Manager Gormley for an engagement of one night only—Tuesday, December 12th. In every respect this presentation will be the same as presented in all big cities, including the same big symphony orchestra of 25 instruments.

David W. Griffith, whose fame has now girded the globe, chose or the theme of his great spectacle the turmoil and travail of over fifty years ago, out of which a new and united nation was born. A Southerner himself, the son of General "Thunder Jake" Griffith of the Confederate Army, Griffith knows the heart of the South. Through his wonderful pictorial story of what the South suffered he has brought out the brotherhood of the North and has done more to cement the friendship of the two sections than all the books that have been written. Editorials in Northern newspapers say that he has forever wiped out Mason and Dixon's line.

Those who have seen "The Birth of a Nation" no more wonder that it cost $500,000 to produce. They only marvel that it did not cost more. Take the battle of Petersburg, for instance—the reproduction of that alone cost a small fortune. Then the burning of Atlanta and reproduction of the legislative hall in South Carolina, all cost large sums.

"The Birth of a Nation" is the art triumph of the twentieth century and no one can afford to miss seeing its wonders.

A Record

We are all willing—in fact anxious—to do our share in furthering the cause for which the Allies are fighting in the war, in order that we may share in the National pride which Canada has gained and is today enjoying. Nevertheless, The Leader, in extending congratulations, makes its bow to Miss Jean Fetterly of this town, who claims a record of having knit one hundred pairs of socks to date, since the outbreak of the war, and is still engaged, with as much determination as ever in this good work. This is a noble example, and one that has won for Miss Fetterly, the respect and admiration of the community.

DEBATE

The question whether women are to have the right to vote or not will be settled in the Lecture Room of the Methodist Church Monday, Evening, Dec. 11th. Debators in favor of Woman Suffrage will be Dr. G. M. Gorrell and Mr. C. E. Cook, while those opposing will be Mr. A. C. Clement and Dr. Will C. Davy. Admission 15 cents.

On Sunday evening Rev. W. E. Reynolds will speak on the following subject "The Tongue Guard League" but we do it quite well. I have seen a number of tanks and have been inside a few of them. They are quite a funny-looking machine, and are very clumsy, but they do great work here and do much damage to Fritz's territory. They go in and out of shell holes or craters which are plenty here, making the land look more like honey comb. I have been inside the tanks, some that had been damaged by shell fire. I have also seen our airmen fetch down Fritz's planes in some of their air battles.

All it does here is rain. Can't depend on the weather—one minute the sky is clear and ten minutes later it's pouring rain."

"Your loving son, DONALD."

MACKENSEN AND FALKENHAYN NEAR RUMANIAN CAPITAL

Teuton Troops Reach Alexandria, Which is Forty-Seven Miles From Bucharest—Cavalry Playing Large Part in Success of Enemy.

London, Nov. 26.—Mackensen and Falkenhayn have joined forces and are now driving together on Bucharest. At one point only forty-seven miles separate the invaders from their goal. The Rumanians are hastily falling back toward the capital, burning and laying waste the villages and plains in the path of the enemy.

Mackensen's army of invasion has crossed the Danube, despite its flooded condition, and is moving swiftly on Bucharest. Leaving his Dobrudja units in charge of subordinates, the German Field Marshal personally supervised the transfer of his forces to Rumanian soil, and is now leading them in the march on Ferdinand's seat of government.

Meanwhile Falkenhayn's northern army continues its sweep down the Alt Valley, steadily approaching the point where it, too, will be able to join hands with the units on the Wallachian Plain and greatly reinforce the force, against which Bucharest is being compelled to fight for its life.

The German troops are at the rate of the capital it does not seem probable that they will be able to reach Bucharest before the end of the year. The German troops are at the rate of the capital it does not seem probable that they will be able to reach Bucharest before the end of the year.

USE OF WHEAT IN MAKING LIQUORS

Announcement is Made by the British Board of Trade.

London, Nov. 26.—An official announcement by the Board of Trade has been reported to the Board of Trade in consequence of the high price of barley, purchased by the Board of Trade for use in their business. The Board of Trade has accordingly ordered the effect of the use of wheat in the production of spirits to be prohibited by the Minister of the Interior.

DRIVEN OFF THE COAST

Several Patrols Were Sent Out.

A raid by six German destroyers on the English coast, which took place on Thursday night, was announced in an official statement to-day. The raid was ineffective, according to the statement, which declares that the six German destroyers participating in it steamed away quickly after firing a dozen rounds, one shell striking a small vessel, but causing little damage and no injury to the crew.

Apparently the raiders were operating in the vicinity of Ramsgate, on the coast about 15 miles north of Dover.

TEUTON AVIATORS RAID BUCHAREST

Several Persons Killed by the Enemy in Rumanian Capital.

London, Nov. 26.—Telegraphing from Bucharest under date of Sunday, The Morning Post correspondent says: "From 10 o'clock Sunday morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon squadrons of enemy airplanes flew over Bucharest and the Chitila dropping bombs. Several persons were killed. Some of our airplanes engaged the hostile craft."

BOTH THE HOSPITAL SHIPS WERE SUNK BY SUBMARINES

British Authorities Do Not Believe That Britannic and Braemar Castle Hit Mines.

A despatch from London says: Rumors that there was a possibility for some definite negotiations towards peace were discounted on Friday by Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, who told the Associated Press that "in view of the Belgian deportations and the sinking of hospital ships any talk of peace at the present time must be futile."

reached a point some twenty miles east of the Lower Alt. It indicates also that Alexandria, an important city on the Vedeia River and the Zimniza railroad, is surrounded, and doomed to capture any hour. The second column of Mackensen's troops, advancing northward from Zimniza, reached the southern outskirts of Alexandria to-day. Falkenhayn's advanced forces are only a few miles to the north of the city to-night. Tomorrow should see a junction of these two army groups, thus bringing the entire forces of the two commanders together for the final drive on Bucharest.

Alexandria is only forty-seven miles from the capital, but the Teutons will have no railroad line at their command between the two places, so their progress will of necessity be slower than heretofore. It is not improbable that this movement will be purposely delayed until the German forces on the northern front move near enough to strike at the capital from the north while their allied forces are attacking from the south and west.

Cavalry is playing a large part in the success of the German advance in the Wallachian Plain. It is one of the few times in the whole war when trench lines have been passed and open field fighting is the order of the day.

MAY TURN LINE OF THE ALT RIVER

London is Pessimistic Over the News From Rumania.

A despatch from London says: The position of Rumania is far from accurately known here, but the Austro-German claims that they have occupied Orsova and Turnu-Severin and crossed the Danube at several points are featured in Saturday morning newspapers as forming an unpleasant situation which at least one of them, the Daily Mail, regards as critical.

An invasion across the Danube if not checked would, it is contended, result in turning the line of the Alt River, where it was expected the Rumanians would make a determined stand. This line, being unusually strong, it was supposed the Rumanians could hold it against prolonged attack. Whether they are actually standing there is unknown, but it is noteworthy that the Austrians claim to have reached the line.

There is still no news of what happened to the defenders of Orsova and Turnu-Severin, but it is assumed that the main body retired hastily, hoping to make secure its retreat between Craiova and the Danube.

Nothing has been learned concerning the measures of the Russians to help the Rumanians. The Times says the present Russian silence regarding their movements on the Rumanian front is more significant than the recent silence of Bucharest.

Opinions here differ as to the extent to which the Germans will benefit as regards grain supplies by overrunning south-western Rumania. On one hand it is considered most important for the invaders, but on the other hand it is declared that it is a popular mistake to suppose that they will get vast stores of cereals as the country, although rich agriculturally, is not a granary, and as most of the harvest was gathered and sent weeks ago to Galatz and Braila. The maize harvest, however, has not been finished, and part of this crop might fall into the Austro-German hands.

Dutch Coal Famine.

A despatch from Washington says: Scarcity of coal, due to the war, has driven the Dutch to the ash heaps for fuel. Consular reports on Wednesday describe a method of grinding the refuse from furnaces and passing it through a liquid which separates that having fuel value from cinders and ashes. It is said that two thousand tons of refuse produces twenty eight tons of fuel.

ALLIES CANCEL RIFLE ORDERS

Great Britain and France to be Independent of the United States.

A despatch from New York says: Britain and France will no longer purchase munitions of war from the United States. Efforts are now being made to secure cancellation of previous contracts for arms and ammunition placed by Great Britain and France in this country. Hereafter Britain will be able to manufacture in the British Isles and Canada all supplies needed in the war with Germany, except in cases of extreme emergency.

These facts became known in New York through sources in close personal touch with Commissioners of the British Government supervising contracts and the purchase of munitions in this country.

Attempts made by representatives of Great Britain and France in this country looking towards cancellation of all munition orders have progressed to such an extent that French orders are now held in abeyance in several of the American factories.

An order for 2,000,000 rifles formerly placed with the Midvale Steel & Ordnance Company and later distributed to various plants of the Remington Arms, Union Metallic Cartridge Co., and the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., has already been cancelled.

The tentative release of the British Government by the Midvale Steel & Ordnance Co., which was originally part of the Remington Arms, Union Metallic Cartridge Co., involves contracts aggregating $60,000,000, covering 2,000,000 rifles. This does not include other large rifle, bayonet and cartridge orders placed with the Remington Arms & Ammunition Co. and other plants throughout the country.

It is understood that the British Commission will reimburse the Midvale Co. for cash up to perhaps $10,000,000, which has gone into the Remington Arms & Ammunition Company's operations.

From representatives of rifle-making factories resident in New York it was substantiated on Wednesday that shipments of French rifles have practically ceased, these orders being held in abeyance against efforts of that Government to secure cancellations during the past three months.

It is taken for granted among munition dealers that the release of the Midvale contract is but a preliminary to similar contract releases by many concerns in the United States now engaged in manufacturing rifles, ammunition, projectiles and heavier ordnance.

LIGHTS AGAIN ABLAZE IN NEWFOUNDLAND

A despatch from St. John's, Nfld., says: "The regulations by which lights were ordered extinguished or dimmed and the port of St. John's closed a month ago 'as precautionary measures taken against the incursions of hostile ships of war,' have been suspended by Governor Davidson. The notice of this suspension, published over the name of Arthur Meews, Deputy Colonial Secretary, gives no indication of the developments responsible for the return of normal conditions. During the period of restriction lighthouses were closed early or conducted behind shuttered windows, automobiles showed only faint side lights and streets were kept dark."

GERMANY CLAIMS SINKING 3,322,000 TONS OF SHIPS.

Of This Tonnage Berlin Says That 2,550,000 Is Great Britain's

A despatch from Berlin says: An official communication issued on Tuesday gives the following information concerning ships of enemy and neutral countries which have been captured, sunk or blown up by mines during the war: "During October 146 hostile merchantmen of 306,500 tons have been brought into port or sunk by submarines or torpedo boats of the Central Powers or lost owing to mines. Neutral merchantmen numbering 72 and of 87,000 tons were sunk because they were carrying contraband to the enemy. Since the beginning of the war 3,322,000 tons of hostile shipping, of which 2,550,000 tons were British, have been lost owing to the war measures of the Central powers."

BROTHERS IN THE BELGIAN ARMY.

A despatch from Paris says: Two brothers of the new Austrian empress, Princess Xaxier and Sixte of Parma, are serving in the Belgian army. President Poincare recently decorated both the princes with the War Cross.

FRANCIS JOSEPH'S REGIME "A PERIOD OF BLESSING."

A despatch from London says: The German Emperor has sent a message of sympathy to Emperor Charles of Austria on the death of Emperor Francis Joseph, whose government, says Emperor William, "will live in the history of the monarchy as a period of blessing."

GERMAN ASSAULTS REPULSED IN CHAMPAGNE AND ON ACRE.

London, Nov. 26.—Attempts by the Germans to assume the offensive on the Western front at three points to-day failed, British troops holding the lines east of Beaumont-Hamel, north of the Ancre, repelled a German attacking party. Berlin claims to have taken 160 prisoners Saturday night. Enemy raids south of Arras were also repulsed. In Champagne the enemy launched an attack east of Aubermes, but was repulsed by the French barrage.

KING ALBERT APPEALS TO NEUTRAL POWERS.

A despatch from Havre says: King Albert of Belgium has sent autograph letters to King Alfonso of Spain, Pope Benedict and President Wilson on the subject of the deportation of Belgians by the German authorities, according to the Vingtieme Siecle.

RUMANIANS HAVE PROFITED BY FALKENHAYN'S DELAY

Failure of Germans to Cut Through by Predeal Pass May Save Bucharest.

A despatch from London says: "It is for Hindenburg to decide whether the gains of the German army in Rumania pay for the losses sustained on the other fronts by the withdrawal of divisions to operate there," said Major-General F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations of the War Office, in discussing on Thursday with an Associated Press correspondent the latest military developments. "It is impossible and foolish to prophesy the outcome of the German campaign in Rumania," continued Gen. Maurice, "but I can say the first efforts to cut through by the way of Predeal pass have been a failure. Since that time the Germans have had to go a long way around, thereby giving the Rumanians time which they need."

"The Germans have a long line of communications to defend, while the rapid approach of Midwinter operates in favor of the Rumanians."

"I will not undertake to say whether further successes by the Germans in that area might compensate them for other losses. Since their venture began the French at Verdun have regained much lost ground and captured 6,000 prisoners, while we gained a considerable victory on the Ancre with 7,000 prisoners, and the Italians took more ground on their front as well as 5,000 prisoners."

"I have just returned from a visit to the scene of our late success, and can assure you we captured everything we set out to gain, despite the official German communique asserting that we had much greater objectives in view."

40 AIR BATTLES ON WESTERN FRONT

British and French Aeroplanes Obtain Mastery in Every Combat.

A despatch from Paris says:—The official report says:—

"During Friday in Lorraine three British aeroplanes engaged several German machines in combats. One enemy aeroplane was brought down in the forest of Gremeecey. On the Somme front, French aviators delivered no less than forty aerial attacks in the course of which five enemy machines were brought to the ground. Sergt. Flachaire brought down his sixth enemy machine and Lieut. Doullin gained a victory over his tenth German aeroplane south of Vaux Wood. On Wednesday Sub-Lieut. George Guynemer brought down two enemy aeroplanes in the region of Falvy, making 23 in all by him."

"Six of our aeroplanes have thrown down fifteen shells of 120 millimetres upon the Town of Brukeres. Another unit of one of our squadrons has bombed the aviation ground at Griselles. Between 3.45 p.m. and 7 p.m., a total of 171 shells of 120 millimetres were dropped at this point. During Friday night four French aviators bombed the blast furnaces and factories at Voelkingen, on the River Sarre. Twelve shells of 120 millimetres and twelve of 155 millimetres were thrown down. They all apparently were well aimed. Our aviators returned without accident."

PEOPLE OF BRITAIN NOT FULLY AWAKE

Sir William Robertson Says Nation Does Not Recognize Issues at Stake.

A despatch from London says: The morning newspapers of Friday give prominence to an appeal by Sir William Robertson, chief of the Imperial staff, for greater war efforts on the part of the people of the nation. The appeal was contained in a letter to the Council of one of the London boroughs, and says:

"There is no doubt whatever of our ability to win the war if only we really put our backs into it. We have not yet done this. We still do not recognize the issues at stake nor the efforts we ought to make and can make if we will but try."

"I have every confidence in my countrymen, but they are not yet fully awake."

Alongside of Sir William's letter is published a plea from the leading English bishops for the banishment of all extravagance and ostentation, particularly in the matter of foods, in the celebration of this year's Christmas holidays, and the making of the Yuletide "a self-denial Christmas—a simple festival of joy, thanksgiving and prayer."

NEWFOUNDLANDERS SUFFERED One Hundred and Fifty Reported Missing Known to Be Dead.

A despatch from St. John's Nfld., says:—Governor Davidson publishes an official message from the War Office intimating that inquiries made through the American Embassy at Berlin respecting 150 Newfoundland soldiers missing since the battle on the Somme on July 1, in which the Newfoundland regiment was decimated, discloses that none of these Newfoundlanders are prisoners in Germany, hence they are now posted officially as believed to be killed.

POPE DEPLORES BOMBING OF BUCHAREST PALACE

A despatch from Rome says:—Pope Benedict has sent a telegram to the Queen of Rumania deploring the recent bombing of the Royal Palace at Bucharest by aircraft of the Central allies.

CHINESE LABOR ON MUNITIONS

50,000 Are Already Under Contract for Service in France.

A despatch from Washington says: France and Russia, the United States Government has learned, are importing thousands of Chinese and Indo-Chinese to work in munitions factories and arsenals to free their native workmen for military duty. The number already put to work in French plants is estimated at 20,000, with 30,000 more under contract by permission of the Chinese Government for four years' service in France; Russia has contracted for 20,000, of whom 5,000 have reached the country.

Most of the Orientals are trained artisans, drawing wages in some instances as high as $5 a day. Specially chartered ships are moving them to France, while Russia is transporting them by way of the Siberian railway. The Indo-Chinese are being distributed largely among the munitions plants in the south of France. Already more than 3,000 are at St. Medard, 700 are working at Bassens, 500 at the Toulouse arsenal, 900 in the Tarbes arsenal, and several thousands of Chinese and Indo-Chinese in the smaller plants and agricultural pursuits. Some of the more highly skilled men are in aeroplane factories.

URGER TO CEASE SELLING TO SOLDIERS

Montreal Hotelmen May Adopt This Course Voluntarily.

A despatch from Montreal says: Liquor will not be sold to soldiers in this city henceforth until after the war, at any hour of the day or night, if the wishes of President George Payett, of the Licensed Victuallers' Association of Montreal, are complied with by the licensees. President Payett issued a letter on Wednesday to the license-holders, calling attention to the fact that the military authorities seem to be worried more and more over the danger to discipline through the sale of strong liquor to soldiers. "I would suggest," he said in his letter, "that strong drinks of any kind at any time be refused to all men wearing the King's uniform from now on till the end of the war." He concludes: "I urge you warmly to concur in doing that bit to help the authorities."

DAVID M'NICOLL, RAILROADER, DEAD

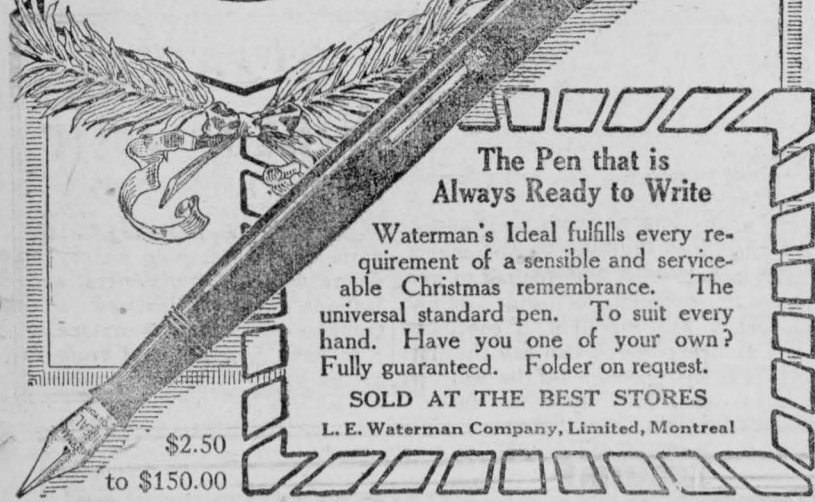

Expired at Guelph After a Long Illness.

A despatch from Montreal says:—Mr. David McNicoll, formerly vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, died at 11 o'clock on Sunday at Guelph, Ont., after a protracted period of ill-health. Mr. McNicoll retired from the C.P.R. two years ago.

DUKE WAS REMINDED OF KINSHIP TO KAISER.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The recent visit since his return to England of the Duke of Connaught to the Canadians in France has produced a good story. A certain well known Canadian major-general, while entertaining the Duke at the front, the Germans began to shell this particular spot. According to the major-general, the Duke took the shelling very calmly, simply remarking, "This is a present from uncle." The reference to the relationship between the Duke and the Emperor William of Germany and how the latter paid his compliments to his uncle caused much amusement, according to the major-general.

Useful Hints and General Information for the Busy Housewife

Selected Recipes.

Soft Gingerbread.—Six cups of sifted flour, three cups of molasses, one cup butter or lard, one cup sour milk, one teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful cinnamon, one teaspoonful ginger, pinch salt. Bake in a loaf. Half of this quantity can be used.

Bran Muffins.—Perhaps your readers would like to try it: One pint bran, one pint entire wheat, sugar, heaping teaspoonful baking powder, three tablespoonfuls molasses, one teaspoonful salt; mix with sweet milk rather stiff; bake in hot oven.

Eggs Cooked in Gravy.—Take two or three large onions, slice them very thin, fry till a nice brown. Have ready three or four hard-boiled eggs cut in slices and a cupful of nice gravy with a little flour of arrowroot mixed with it. Add the eggs to the onions, then pour in the gravy, and stir in all till the gravy has thickened.

Delicious Spanish Cake.—Take butter, eggs sugar and flour of equal weight. When the butter is beaten to a cream add the eggs, sugar and flour in the order named. Beat and stir for twenty minutes or more; then drop it in small mounds on a sheet-iron pan dusted with flour. Place a preserved cherry in the center of each cake and bake in moderate oven.

Macaroni With Grated Cheese.—Break half of a small box of macaroni in short lengths. Have a large kettle of water boiling briskly. Salt it and drop in the macaroni, which should have been rinsed in cold water. Boil hard until the macaroni is tender. Turn into a colander, pour cold water over it and then hot water. Season with salt, pepper, butter, a little minced green pepper and one-quarter pound grated cheese, stir lightly, turn into a hot vegetable dish and pass more grated cheese when serving it.

Apple Dessert.—Pare half a dozen apples, cut in quarters and remove seeds, then boil gently in one cup of water with two cups of brown sugar. When soft strain off the juice and put apples in dish from which they will be served. In another pan melt one tablespoonful of flour and one cup of cream (milk will do). Let this get hot, then add apple juice, allow the mixture to come to a boil and simmer for five minutes, stirring all the while; pour this over the apples and you will have a delicious dish.

Lady Fingers.—Make regular spongecake batter, turn it into a pastry bag with a tube in the end and squeeze it out the shape of lady-fingers. Dredge with powdered sugar and place in a very moderate oven. They must not spread or swell. If the former the oven is too cool; if the latter the oven is too hot. When baked remove them carefully from the pan, put the two flat sides together and place them on a sieve to cool. Pans indented in the shape of lady-fingers are much less troublesome to use than the pastry bag.

Jellied Chicken Consomme.—1½ level tablespoonful granulated gelatine, 1 quart chicken stock, carefully strained and all fat removed; juice of 1 lemon, beaten white and crushed shell of 1 egg, salt to taste. Remove all fat from the chicken stock, add beaten egg, the crushed shell and lemon juice to the stock, place it over the fire and stir until it boils. Boil 2 minutes, then simmer for 10 minutes and strain through cloth wrung from cold water. Dissolve the gelatine in the hot strained stock, add salt, pour in a shallow dish and set aside until set. When it is firm and chilled, beat the jelly with a fork to break it up, then fill bouillon cups and serve.

Squash Delicacies.

The squash and the pumpkin deserve a frequent place on the menu outside of the traditional pie. It is true that they are both rather insipid vegetables by themselves, but as an accompaniment to some more spicy dish, or prepared properly, they are both delicious and a welcome change from the more common vegetables.

For example, baked squash—cut in strips like a watermelon and bake until a light golden brown—is a delightful change from the baked potato or other starchy vegetable addition to meat.

Squash Souffle.—Two cupfuls of steamed mashed squash, one cupful of cream, two eggs, salt and pepper. Add the seasoning to the mashed steamed squash then add cream and the well-beaten whites of eggs, turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in slow oven.

Steamed Squash.—Cut in pieces, remove seeds and membrane and steam until tender—about thirty minutes. Mash, season with salt, a dash of sugar, mace and a lump of butter. Serve very hot.

Squash Pudding.—Three cupfuls of steamed mashed squash, two-thirds cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, three-quarters teaspoonful of cinnamon, two and one-half cupfuls of milk, two eggs. Mix sugar, salt and cinnamon and add to squash. Add well-beaten eggs and milk, turn into buttered pudding dish and bake in moderate oven until firm.

Baked Squash.—Cut a squash into strips of about two inches square, dust with salt and pepper. Place in baking dish and add one-half teaspoonful of butter and one-half teaspoonful of molasses for each piece. Bake in moderate oven until soft.

Squash Breakfast Biscuits.—One-half cupful steamed, mashed squash, one-quarter cupful sugar, one-half cupful scalded milk, one-quarter cupful butter, one-half teaspoonful salt, one-quarter yeast cake, one-quarter cupful tepid water, two and one-half cupfuls flour. Dissolve seasonings, yeast and butter in milk and water. Then add squash, cover and let rise over night. In the morning shape into biscuits, let rise and bake.

Cheese Luncheon Dishes.

Cheese Souffle.—Cook together in a saucepan two tablespoons each of butter and flour. When they are mixed pour over them one-half pint of milk. Stir to a smooth white sauce and into this put eight tablespoons of grated cheese, a little salt, dash of paprika and a pinch of baking soda. Beat four eggs, the whites and yolks separately. Remove the cheese mixture from the fire and beat in the yolks of the eggs, then fold in the whites. Turn the mixture into a pudding dish and bake in a steady oven until it is a golden brown. Serve immediately.

Cheese Straws.—To a half pint of prepared flour add two ounces of grated Parmesan cheese. Moisten with the yolk of an egg and enough milk to make a paste that can be rolled out. Roll into a thin sheet and cut into narrow straws. Bake to a delicate brown. Remove from oven and sift grated cheese over them.

Things to Remember.

WINTERING HORSES CHEAPLY.

Brief Article By One of the Officers of the Department of Agriculture.

Below are given some results obtained at the Experimental Station, Cap Rouge, Que., in the cheap wintering of idle horses. The methods followed and the feeds used were such as to make the plan applicable to, and worth a trial in, practically all parts of the Dominion.

Help is scarce, high-priced, and oftentimes unreliable, so that large implements and more working stock have to be employed. It is not always possible to buy a good team at a reasonable price in the spring, while it is often hard to get a decent figure for the same animals in the autumn. It would thus seem advisable, when the ground freezes, to lay aside, as it were, for the winter, all horses which are not absolutely required and to feed them as cheaply as possible without impairing their future usefulness.

To gather data upon this subject, an experiment was started at the Cap Rouge Station in 1911 and has been continued during five consecutive winters, with mares and geldings, some nervous, others quiet, aged five to eighteen years. It has been found that they fared well on a daily ration of one pound mixed hay, one pound oat straw, and one pound carrots or swedes for each one hundred pounds of their weight. Not only did they gain an average of twenty-nine pounds during the five months of the test, but they showed, the following season, that they had lost no vitality nor energy.

The rule generally followed was to gradually cut down the work, also the feed, from November 1 until November 15 when the animals under test were placed in box stalls. They never went out, during the winter, with the exception of an occasional drive of a mile or so. On April 15, easy jobs were given to them and a small quantity of concentrates was allowed until by May 1 they could be under harness ten hours a day and were on full feed. These are important points not to be forgotten: to lower and raise the ration little by little, and to leave the horses practically idle.

If horses, due to a hard season's work, are in low condition, they should be fed up to their normal weight before being left aside for the winter, and enough exercise should be allowed during that period to prevent stocking. Another good thing is to give a purgative so as to clean out the system before the long rest. One should also remember that some animals are more restless than others and dissipate more energy, which means that more food will be required, so that the above mentioned quantities should be increased or decreased slightly, according to circumstances.

Mixed hay, for this purpose, can be of any grass or weed which horses will eat, must not be musty, and should not be worth more than half of timothy. Roots may be carrots, mangels or swedes, though the first are always liked, and the two latter are sometimes refused at first, which requires skill on the part of the feeder to have enough eaten; if roots are not given, bran should form part of the ration, as animals at rest will soon get costive and will not thrive very well on dry roughages alone. Oat straw should be used, as it is more palatable than other sorts.

It would probably be well to chaff at least half the hay and straw, but as the idea is to lower expenses, there seems no doubt that the cost of cutting these roughages would be greater than that of the extra feed necessary to supply the energy used in masticating them. The roots were sliced, most of the time, for the experiments, and it seems better to give them thus, though it is not absolutely necessary, as long as they are not of such sizes as to be swallowed whole, when there may be danger of choking.

It was noticed at Cap Rouge that the legs of horses kept in box stalls, and fed as previously described, did not stock up. If there is no box stall, it is advisable to turn the animals out every day, when the weather permits, so that they may take some exercise. In this case, it is probable that somewhat more feed will be needed, to make up for the lost energy and heat. As to the number of times to feed, it seems that twice a day is sufficient, and that about the same quantity can be given both morning and evening.

IN THE OLD DAYS

Commanders of Armies Were Counterfeitters.

Many ideas have been adopted for supplementing the currency of the different countries engaged in the present war, but it is doubtful if our commanders will be forced to the expedients that were often essential in the old days.

For example, prior to Napoleon's 1812 campaign, the Paris gendarmes one night made a raid on a house in the Plaine Montrouge, and discovered quite a fine manufactory of false notes. There was quite a stir next day when the Police Minister made the announcement that the manufactory had been started "by order of the Emperor." The false notes, which were Austrian and Russian, instead of French, were intended for use against the enemy on the Russian Expedition, but the bulk of them came to grief during the great retreat.

Wellington was responsible for a similar stroke of business during the Peninsular War. Being badly in need of gold when about to invade France, he conceived the queer idea of hunting out some counterfeit coiners from the ranks. Quite a number of these gentry were forthcoming, so strangely constituted was our Army in those days, and these were ordered by the duke to exercise their evil art by transferring his English sovereigns into louis d'or and napoleons.

Our troops at present on the Continent, however, are being paid in English money, the French Government having issued a proclamation to all bankers and traders to give change at the rate of twenty-five francs to the sovereign.—London Answers.

MOTTO STILL STOOD.

Bomb Destroyed Church, But "Love" Command Remained.

The following is a little story which appeared in a recent issue of the Churchman:

One of the bombs which fell on a town in the North Midlands of England exploded over a little Wesleyan chapel 100 years old. The building was completely wrecked. Only one wall remains standing, and on that wall is painted in decorated red and blue lettering the text, "This commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another." The words can be read fifty yards away, and they were murmured by thousands of people who came to gaze at the tumbled pile of bricks and woodwork which sprawled over the site of the chapel.

The Duchess of Devonshire and Lady Anne Cavendish.

The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire have arrived in Canada to take up the great charge just relinquished by T.R.H. the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. To follow those who have made themselves so universally beloved is no easy task, but it is prophesied in England that the new Governor-General and his charming wife will quickly win our hearts. The Duchess of Devonshire, as a daughter of Lord Lansdowne, does not come to Canada as an entire stranger, since her distinguished father was Governor-General from 1888 to 1889, and then went on to India as Viceroy, as did the late Lord Minto.

ROYAL YEAST

Has been Canada's favorite yeast for over a quarter of a century. Bread baked with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other, so that a full week's supply can easily be made at one baking, and the last loaf will be just as good as the first.

THE FASHIONS

Little did our grandmothers dream when they sat together and worked and gossiped at their quilting-bees that the quilting they did then would furnish inspiration for dress trimmings for the women of to-day!

Certainly, the quilting trimming is a very novel idea from the fertile brain of our modern designer. It is generally used in bands at the lower edges of skirts and suit coats and is also used as a decoration for collars, cuffs and pockets. The work is done in machine-stitching and usually the same color silk as the background is used. The sketch above illustrates the conventional diamond-shaped design but other designs of a less conventional character are also utilized. In this attractive one-piece frock of satin, the belt and the lower edge of the skirt are quilted. Some suits of satin and silk have been seen with quilting on the collar, cuffs and pockets.

Imitations of the quilting idea have also been carried out in heavier materials. For instance, a very good looking full length coat was worked with heavy navy blue silk in the diamond shaped quilted design on a mustard-color background. The large square pockets were entirely covered with this work, a touch of it was on the cuffs, and the collar also had some of it. Mustard is one of the very popular colors for separate coats. Numbers of them are seen at present, some unrelieved by any trimming, and others with collars of Hudson seal or other black furs. Some of them also have bands of fur at the edge of the sleeves or of the coat itself.

The Present Styles Very Youth-Giving

The woman who has not invested in a one-piece frock this season must feel very much out of the swim of fashion. As the days go by, more and more of these frocks are seen in serge, broad-cloth, wool jersey, velours, velvet and velveteen. When a top coat is not necessary, a shoulder cape of fur is the usual accompaniment. Straight lines continue to be the most approved in this type of dress, for the fashion these days is to be slim, and no better way of obtaining this effect is to be had than by wearing dresses cut on these lines. Fashion dispenses these youth-giving styles most liberally at present, and it is no wonder that women have taken so kindly to them for they make them look young and slender.

For producing straight effects, nothing gives better results than the long unbroken panel and consequently the panel is now enjoying its day of popularity. A smart effect is shown here in the dress of black velvet with a satin panel extending from neck to hem. The bulging pockets add to the style of this dress and do not detract from the slender effect. Panels are not all stitched down like this one. Some of them hang free over the dress and are known as floating panels. A dress which has been specially admired was of dark blue crepe meteor with long straight panels back and front in the form of an overdress. These were in a lighter shade of blue crepe meteor. They extended from shoulder to hem and were confined at the waist by a loosely-tied cord. The top of the front panel was embroidered in silver across the front.

New Russian Blouses

Russian blouses are gaining a stronger hold day by day and they have become so universally popular that the name now stands for almost any kind of a blouse that has a polum. The high collar and side closing which once typified the Russian blouse are no longer symbols of it, for this blouse has taken on manifold new forms. Many of them slip on over the head or are opened in front revealing a contrasting vest; and as to the high collar, it has been quite usurped by the flat rolling collar.

Successful Red Cross Concert

Last Friday evening the pupils of School No. 11, Williamsburg, gave an entertainment in aid of the Red Cross fund. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a goodly audience assembled and listened with rapt attention to an excellent program of speeches, dialogues, songs, etc., by the pupils.

Hon. Andrew Broder was present and addressed the audience on the importance of the Red Cross work in this war. He commended the children of No. 11 for their zeal in collecting funds. "If a school with an enrollment of fourteen pupils can raise upwards of one hundred dollars, we may expect the county gift to reach $10,000," was Mr. Broder's estimation of the amount that we might be able to forward to our soldiers at the front.

To Miss W. E. Webb, teacher of No. 11, a large amount of credit is due in accomplishing this grand success, and she enjoys the admiration and respect of the people whom she serves, by her self-sacrifice in this work. Miss Webb, assisted by Mattie Shannette, one of her pupils, made a canvass of the section; she placed her own spacious home at the disposal of the public for a Red Cross Tea, taking a leading part at the above-named entertainment. The net proceeds being $32.00.

AULTSVILLE

The Ladies Guild of St. Pauls Church, Aultsville intend holding a sale of useful and fancy articles suitable for Christmas gifts, in the basement of the Church on Saturday evening, December 9th. Light refreshments will be served; also all kinds of home-made candy. Do not fail to patronize the Ladies of the Guild; your problems of what to give at Christmas will be solved. Doors open at 7 o'clock.

The Red Cross Workers are holding a supper on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. Rupert. Boxes for our boys who have gone Overseas will be sent shortly. If you have a friend among the boys you are invited to contribute something towards the boxes for their comfort.

Several from here attended the memorial service of the late Lieut. Wm. Wylie at Woodlands, Sunday, Nov. 26th.

Mr. Arthur Loucks of Montreal and G. S. Bouck of Cornwall spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Loucks.

Pte. Geo. Skiggs is spending a few days here with his family.

Pte. J. Patterson of Kingston spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Markell and family before leaving for Overseas. His many friends were pleased to see his smiling face again.

Dr. H. Morgan of River Beaudette is in town.

Mr. Harold Shaver of the Pres. College, Montreal, spent the week-end at his home here.

Engineer Chas. Walker who has lately returned from France, being invalided home after spending two years in the trenches, spent a few hours here on Sunday with his father, Mr. Samuel Walker.

Engineer Walker was wounded three times and is minus part of the right shoulder blade, and also a bad wound in the knee. He figured in several battles and was buried in a dug-out for two hours and thirty-eight minutes, only one other being taken out alive. He has received his honorable discharge, and intends working in a munition factory in Montreal.

Mrs. Geo. Bouck and baby, Hugh are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Loucks.

Miss Lucy Hanes spent a few days last week with friends at Faran's Point.

The following letter has been received by Mrs. M. Hollister of the 2nd. Concession from a wounded soldier at the front.

"Dear Mrs. Hollister: Just a few lines hoping they find you quite well as this leaves me at present. I expect you will be surprised to hear from me and wonder why I write you. Well, I will tell you. A short time ago I was sent to a hospital and while I was there I had the pair of socks knitted by you, so I thought I would just drop you these few lines to thank you. I am very pleased to think there are other people besides those who live in England, who think about us boys who have given up good work to serve our King and Country. I will now close with best wishes. "Gunner G. Griffiths."

THE LAPSE OF ENOCH WENTWORTH

By MEL GORDON CURTIS,
of "The Woman from Wolvertons"

CHAPTER XXII.

Jason had been a drinking man, Mrs. G. had been a drinking woman, and Mrs. H. W. had been a drinking woman. The phrase "a human derelict" stuck obstinately in his brain; it described him vividly. Already he had more than his deserts. The vengeance of Zilla Paget was the last straw. The woman's image flashed before his eyes; he heard her satanic laugh and saw a fleeting vision of his picturesque golden-haired loveliness as he had slammed the door and left his home.

Wentworth gritted his teeth savagely, then he looked at his watch. It was close to midnight. He went downstairs, paid his bill, ordered a carriage, and drove to the Waverly Place house. As he stood fitting the key noiselessly into the lock his heart beat tumultuously for a second, or two. He opened the door stealthily and passed through the vestibule. The house was still and a lamp burned dimly in the hall, as Jason always left it until his master returned. He hung his hat on the rack, stole upstairs to his own room, switched on the electricity, and glanced about. He locked the door and undressed swiftly. Ten minutes later he was sleeping the death-like sleep which follows complete exhaustion of brain and body.

He did not wake till noon. Jason answered his ring. The old negro entered with hesitating steps.

"Good morning," said his master. "Jason, do you know how a guest lives in a hotel when he wants to be alone, absolutely alone? He eats in his own room, his mail is brought to him, he goes and comes without a word being spoken to him by anyone in the house. You understand?"

"Yassir."

"I wish to have that sort of service in my home until—your mistress returns. If it is necessary, engage another servant to look after your duties. I want you to wait on me exactly as I have explained. You can do it, Jason?"

"I'll be mighty glad to do it, Marse Enoch."

Wentworth returned to the theatre and took up his duties as if nothing had happened. His associates greeted him with their usual courtesy; still he felt as if a drop curtain had fallen between him and the world where his daily labor lay. Women and a few men shrank away from him even while they seemed trying to be polite, sometimes kind.

Zilla Paget made no secret of her change of residence. She flaunted the news of it abroad and Wentworth's lapse from the conventionalities of life made a nine-days gossip in theatrical circle. It even agitated moralities which had been esteemed lenient. The reason back of the intensity of feeling was not, in every case, shocked virtue, but Dorcas was loved, while the Englishwoman was held in universal contempt and hatred.

Curiosity threw out its dragnet among the people in the company, who watched Wentworth go and come among them day after day, treating Miss Paget with an aversion which was colder than anything doled out to her by the players at the Gotham.

"I tell you, it's a pose with Wentworth," said John Breen, the man who played the janitor.

"Pose, nothing," answered his wife scornfully. "Wentworth hates Paget worse than any of us do, and that is going some. I've watched them together. She knows he hates her, even if she is living alone with him under the same roof. He's afraid of her. I've seen it in his eyes when he didn't know anybody was watching. If I don't miss my guess there's blackmail or something like that back of it. She's fit for it. Wentworth's a goat in some way that we're not on to."

It was several days after his return to business before Enoch met his sister. He heard in a casual way that she had rented an apartment and had taken Alice Volk with the two children to live with her. Their first encounter was an ordeal to each one. They came face to face in the foyer. Enoch said "Gooding morning" and held out his hand. The girl held it for a second, looking up into his face with eager vivacity. The ghost of a smile broke over Enoch's haggard face, then he glanced backward at the glass door behind him, slammed, and Zilla Paget came rustling in.

He turned brusquely and entered his office. The jaded look in his eyes had changed to shuddering hate. Dorcas passed out to join the throng on Broadway. She felt chilled and lonely. She did not realize that the sun was shining.

CHAPTER XXIII.

"All I have left to say, Wentworth, is this—we have come to a crossroad and you must choose between two paths: either cut that woman out of your life or don't expect to take your place among decent citizens."

There was a look of discomfort and anxiety in Grant Oswald's pale, high-bred face while he spoke, although his voice was emphatic. Enoch did not answer. He moved restlessly in his chair once or twice, lifted a program that lay on his desk, and ran his eyes through its pages. Oswald paused as if waiting for a reply.

"I can't understand your infatuation, Wentworth," he went on; "the woman degenerates every day of her life. God knows," a bitter tone crept into his voice, "I feel culpable for even bringing her across the ocean. Then I ought to have let her go when I spoke of it a month or two ago. She was bound to do mischief, only I never dreamed that you would fall in to her clutches. I warned you."

Enoch sat in sullen stillness, with his eyes fixed on a calendar which hung above the desk.

"I wish," Oswald's tone was almost wistful, "that you would at least talk it over. I think I can deal with the woman if anyone can. I have always treated her with a certain stand-offishness that she resents. She has tried, more than once, to cross the line I drew. She didn't succeed, and it galls her. I never put into words what I think of her. She understands, however, that I recognize her value dramatically, while personally—to me—she is offensive. If she has you in her power, won't you tell me? It would never go beyond these walls. She knows that I know her story. Low as she has sunk, she realizes that it is not what the world would call a creditable story. I can handle her easily."

A gleam of relief and hope drifted for a moment across Wentworth's face. Then he laughed nervously and the sullen frown returned to his eyes. He rose and began to place the office floor with nervous footsteps.

"Won't you trust me?" pleaded Oswald. "I have a real regard, Wentworth, for you as well as for your genius. I would do it for your sister, if for no other reason. There is time enough yet to pull away, but," he spoke abruptly, "it won't be long. The woman has dragged more than one man to the gutter or to—suicide." Wentworth laughed disagreeably. "Well, it won't be suicide," he answered harshly.

"Don't be too sure. When a man who has always had a fair amount of the sand by screening through a 1/4-inch screen. For the above-ground portion of walls the forms should be made with care, the boards being carefully matched so that a smooth surface will be obtained in the finished wall. This result is obtained by spading the concrete as it is being placed in the forms. Spading consists of thrusting between the form and the fresh concrete a thin wooden paddle. This serves to force the stone back into the concrete, allowing a rich mortar coat to flow against the forms. In walls above ground it is well to reinforce with small steel rods or wire mesh. This reinforcing runs in both directions and serves to prevent any cracks due to settlement or other causes.

Walls for buildings can be constructed as described, but for buildings of considerable size the thickness of the walls should be 8 inches, and one or two lengths of rods should be laid about 2 inches above the tops of windows, doors and other openings.—Canadian Farm.

WHEN YOUR FOOT SLEEPS.

Pressure on the Sciatic Nerve is the Cause.

If we sit for some time with our legs crossed our foot "goes to sleep." We are really pressing on the sciatic nerve, which supplies nearly all of the nerves of the leg and foot, says London Answers. The nerve is elastic, and is flattened by pressure just like a rubber hose. The fibres which make up the nerve are sensory, that is to say, they carry sensations to the brain.

Motor nerves carry sensations from the brain to the body. The only ways to stop a nerve carrying sensations are by cutting it or by pressure, which pushes apart the soft nerve matter, which is covered with a sheath, just as the water is pushed apart if you press a hose.

When the pressure is on the nerve messages cannot pass backwards and forwards. If the pressure is released the nerve matter returns to its place and does its work.

CUT BULLET FROM HEART.

French Surgeon Tells of Unique and Delicate Operation.

Dr. Maurice Beausseant, who had already extracted a piece of grenade from the right ventricle of a man's heart, told the French Academie des Sciences recently of a second similar operation performed with success.

A corporal wounded at Eparges had been treated for peritonitis, and then had been operated on for appendicitis. He continued to suffer in various ways for more than a year, when a radio-scope revealed the pressure of a shrapnel ball, moving in time to the beatings of the heart. Supposing this to be in the pericardium or sac about the heart, Dr. Beausseant "went in," as the surgeons say, and saw that the ball was actually in the right ventricle, near the lower end.

The heart was drawn out; its wall was cut open between two loops of wire; the ball was removed and the heart was sewn up again. Six months later the heart had healed so perfectly that there was not a sign of irregularity about its pulsations.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

London.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used to say: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses will now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense

WEATHER KIND TO ENGLAND.

Rain Has Twice Decided Battles in Favor of the British.

Weather, which is again hampering the operations of our armies, has in all times influenced the course of battles, observes the London Chronicle. Its effect, however, has generally been one-sided, and some past examples form a hopeful precedent. At Crecy, for instance, the "great rain," which Froissart records, rendered useless the bowstrings of the Genoese archers, but the English bows, being kept in cases, were not affected. At Plassey, too, a heavy shower of rain damaged the enemy's powder to such an extent that his fire slackened, and Clive was enabled to avenge the massacre of the Black Hole.

Bad weather materially contributed to the failure of Napoleon's expedition against Russia; and the Austrians, in the retreat at Solferino, were saved from annihilation by a hurricane so fierce that, according to the Moniteur of that day, "nothing could any longer be distinguished on the field of battle."

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs. If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmitin (Double strength). Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat. This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.

WHEAT WISDOM.

Wheat-growing in Egypt Traced Back to 3359 B.C.

The statement that "wheat will end the war" may need qualification, for there are other factors; but the assertion holds much truth. Wheat, in the form of bread, is absolutely necessary to each of the nations engaged in the present war, Japan excluded. There are no substitutes "just as good."

There is evidence that the Chinese cultivated wheat nearly 5,000 years ago, regarding it as a direct gift from heaven. The Egyptians attributed it to their god, Isis; the Greeks to Ceres. Concerning the latter, it was believed that when she had taught her favorite, Triptolemus, how to till the soil and make bread, she gave him her chariot, and in that he traversed the world, distributing corn to all nations. Wheat-growing in Egypt can, by the evidence of a grain found imbedded in the brick of a pyramid, be traced back to 3359 B.C.

Varieties of wheat are legion. A French firm in their trial seed grounds had over six hundred varieties growing, and since then "crossing" has increased the number.

HARD WORKING WOMEN

Will Find New Strength Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a home; every girl in offices, shops and factories is subjected to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to meet unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite, bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep up their strength and keep away disease by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. N. E. Tomsett, Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"For several years I suffered terribly from nervous debility and was scarcely able to do a thing. During that time I consulted several doctors, and many medicines without getting any help, and I began to think that I would never get better. One day I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and thought I would try them. After taking four boxes I was much better, but I continued using the pills for several months when I was again in the best of health. When I began taking the pills I weighed only 100 pounds. While under their use with my renewed health I now weigh 140. I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every one whom I know to be ailing."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SIKH BOY WON FAME.

Queen Victoria Gave Silver Cup to Ram Singh, Indian Artist.

The story of Sirdar Bahadar Ram Singh, whose death occurred recently, is that of a Sikh boy, born in humble circumstances, who rose to honor and distinction by his own merit and endeavor and who remained, in spite of that distinction, unspoiled, a kind-hearted, modest, genuine man to the end, "L. J." writes in the Indian.

Ram Singh, as a lad, attracted the attention of Lockwood Kipling, father of Rudyard Kipling, and under the auspices of the famous Anglo-Indian artist the young son of a Punjabi cultivator became almost equally widely known as a designer. Later he succeeded to Mr. Kipling's post as principal of the Mayo School of Art at Lahore.

In 1891 Ram Singh was ordered to proceed to England to design and supervise the decorations of the Dunbar Hall at Osborne House. The new room was to be in Indian style, and the work was executed with remarkable beauty and effect. The Queen took great personal interest in the work during its progress, and much admired it on completion. Ram Singh might have obtained many commissions in England after that, but he was a singularly unambitious, modest man. He loved his work, but in the strange surroundings he was often homesick, and in 1892 he returned to the Punjab with the treasured possession of the silver cup given to him by Queen Victoria.

UPSET KAISER'S RECORD.

Crown Prince Sceptical About His Father's Bag of Deer.

The Kaiser and the Crown Prince have always been more or less at daggers drawn, and an amusing story of the Crown Prince's "cheek" on one occasion is told in London Tit-Bits. They were out shooting with a party. At the end of the day it was announced that, as usual, the Kaiser had "beaten all records."

The deer we had "shot" were laid before him on the ground in a long line. The photographers began to get busy. "Sixty-four head, your Majesty," announced the head keeper dutifully in the meanwhile.

The Kaiser made no comment or contradiction, but suddenly the Crown Prince chimed in scornfully, "Sixty-four head? That's rather funny, considering you had only sixty cartridges, isn't it, father?"

"Father" became black with fury, but the mischief had been done; a good many of the party had overheard the remark, as the Crown Prince had meant they should.

IF FOOD DISAGREES DRINK HOT WATER

When food lies like lead in the stomach and you have that uncomfortable, distended feeling, it is because of insufficient blood supply to the stomach, combined with acid and food fermentation. In such cases try the plan now followed in many hospitals and advised by many eminent physicians of taking a teaspoonful of pure bisaturated magnesia in half a glass of water, as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water draws the blood to the stomach and the bisaturated magnesia, as any physician can tell you, instantly neutralizes the acid and stops the food fermentation. Try this simple plan and you will be astonished at the immediate feeling of relief and comfort that always follows the restoration of the normal process of digestion. People who find it inconvenient at times to secure hot water and travel in such cases frequently are obliged to take hasty meals poorly prepared, should always take two or three five-grain tablets of Bisaturated Magnesia after meals to prevent fermentation and neutralize the acid in the stomach.

THE CONNAUGHT TUNNEL.

Construction Work Rapidly Approaching Completion.

One of the greatest of the achievements of the Canadian Pacific Railway is the Connaught Tunnel. This great work—through the lofty Mount Macdonald—amongst the Selkirk Mountains, is nearly six miles long and double tracked. The excavation has been made at a cost of over $12,000,000 to the great transportation company. But the C.P.R., which has spent from $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 per annum on the development of the West previous to the war, does not even in times of a conflict affecting the greater part of the world, spare expense where the public convenience makes an urgent demand. The opening of the tunnel will greatly facilitate traffic, will open a new route, and will do away with many miles of snow sheds.

The Connaught Tunnel will give the Canadian Pacific the lowest grade of any transcontinental railway running through the Selkirk Mountains. It was bored in less than three years under the supervision of Mr. J. G. Sullivan, Chief Engineer of Western lines, and it is claimed that no undertaking of similar dimensions was ever completed in such a short time. In the excavation of the tunnel many engineering difficulties had to be overcome. But mighty rocks gave way and the roots of a gigantic mountain crumbled before the advance of human skill. At various points along the pass there is an eighteen inch concrete wall lining.

During the recent trip to Western Canada, Lord Shaughnessy, accompanied by Chief Engineer Sullivan, took a tour through the tunnel Lord Shaughnessy was well pleased with what he saw. The construction work is now rapidly approaching completion. Two miles of steel rails have yet to be laid on one side of the track. It is expected that the formal opening will take place during the first days of December. Since its inception the C.P.R., it is reckoned, has spent over $200,000,000 in the development of the West. The latest expenditure is as popular as any that had previously been made.

When His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and party took a trip through the tunnel on July 17th, the Duke expressed in eloquent words the gratification it gave him to be associated with the pioneer work of the Canadian Pacific, and he complimented the company on the splendid strides it was making in the development of the country. Then His Royal Highness, baptizing the new work, christened it the Selkirk Tunnel. Some weeks later, at the request of Lord Shaughnessy, His Royal Highness consented to have the tunnel called after him. Henceforth it is to be named the "Connaught Tunnel," a fitting compliment to the excellent services which the Duke of Connaught gave to the Dominion during his term as Governor-General.

They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Double Proof.

A tramp knocked at a farmer's door and called for something to eat. "Are you a Christian?" asked the good-hearted countryman.

"Can't you tell?" answered the man. "Look at the holes worn in the knees of my pants. What do they prove?"

The farmer's wife promptly brought out the food and the tramp turned to go.

"Well! Well!" asked the farmer. "What made those holes in the back of your pants?"

"Backsliding," replied the tramp as he hurried on.

The wife of a Unitarian minister in West Virginia has been married three times. Her maiden name was Partridge, her first husband was named Robins, her second, Sparrow, and the present, Quale. There are now three young Robins, one Sparrow and three Quales in the family. One grandfather was a Swan and another a Jay, but he's dead now and a bird of Paradise. They live on Hawke avenue, Eagleville, Canary Island, and the fellow's name who wrote this is Lyre, and he's a relative of the "bird" family.—Exchange.

The Leader joins with her many friends in extending congratulations to Miss Ruth F. Hilliard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hilliard, whose name appears among the successful for winning the "Carter Scholarship" in the June Upper School examinations.
