TWO MEN KILLED AT INKERMAN C. P. R. CROSSING

Twin-Engine Train Strikes Stalled Car

A tragic aftermath to Christmas claimed the lives of two district men on Tuesday morning when a Canadian Pacific Railway through freight, bound for Montreal, ripped through a 1948 Chevrolet Fleetline sedan at the level crossing at Inkerman Station. The crossing, located four miles south-west of Winchester, is without signals.

Dead are: Connell Wyatt, of R. R. 3, Winchester, and James Carter, 18, of Iroquois. The two victims were the only passengers in the car, and were killed instantly according to Dr. Wm. Byers, of Winchester. They were officially pronounced dead by Dr. C. A. Louden, district coroner, of Morrisburg.

Eye Witness Report

Bernice Allison, co-owner of A. T. Allison & Sons, of Inkerman, was the only eye witness to the district's only fatal highway tragedy over the long holiday week-end. According to Mr. Allison, who was unloading coal from a nearby freight car, the car, driven by Carter, apparently stalled on the eastbound right-of-way. At that time the oncoming freight was well up the track, and according to Lucien Nardeau, Smiths Falls, the train engineer, the double deisel engine's whistle was given a long blast and several short ones before the impact. Mr. Allison yelled in vain at the two occupants of the car who, it seems, were trying to get the car started and across the tracks. At the time of collision the 65-car train was going about 40 miles per hour. The impact was so great that the Carter vehicle was virtually pulverized and carried down the track over half a mile. The car was still entangled with the damaged cow catcher of the deisel engine when the train was finally stopped.

Mr. Wyatt was thrown from the car by the impact just east of the crossing. Young Carter was pinned in the wreckage and had to be pried from the twisted mass of steel when the train was brought to rest.

Traffic Stopped

The accident occurred at 10.05 a.m. and it was nearly two hours later before the car was freed and the train moved enough to allow traffic to resume on the county road to Inkerman. All other Canadian Pacific trains were delayed during the tie-up.

Damage to the cow catcher and other parts of the engine front may be in excess of $1000, according to G. Baxter, of Smiths Falls. Before the train was moved it was necessary to use an acetylene torch to clear away parts of the twisted steel.

At the time of the accident Mr. Wyatt and Carter, a boy friend of the former's daughter, Shirley, were on their way to Winchester to pick up Cpl. Lawrence Wyatt who had taken his car to Melvin Motors. Cpl. Wyatt later appeared at the scene of the tragedy not knowing that one of the victims was his father.

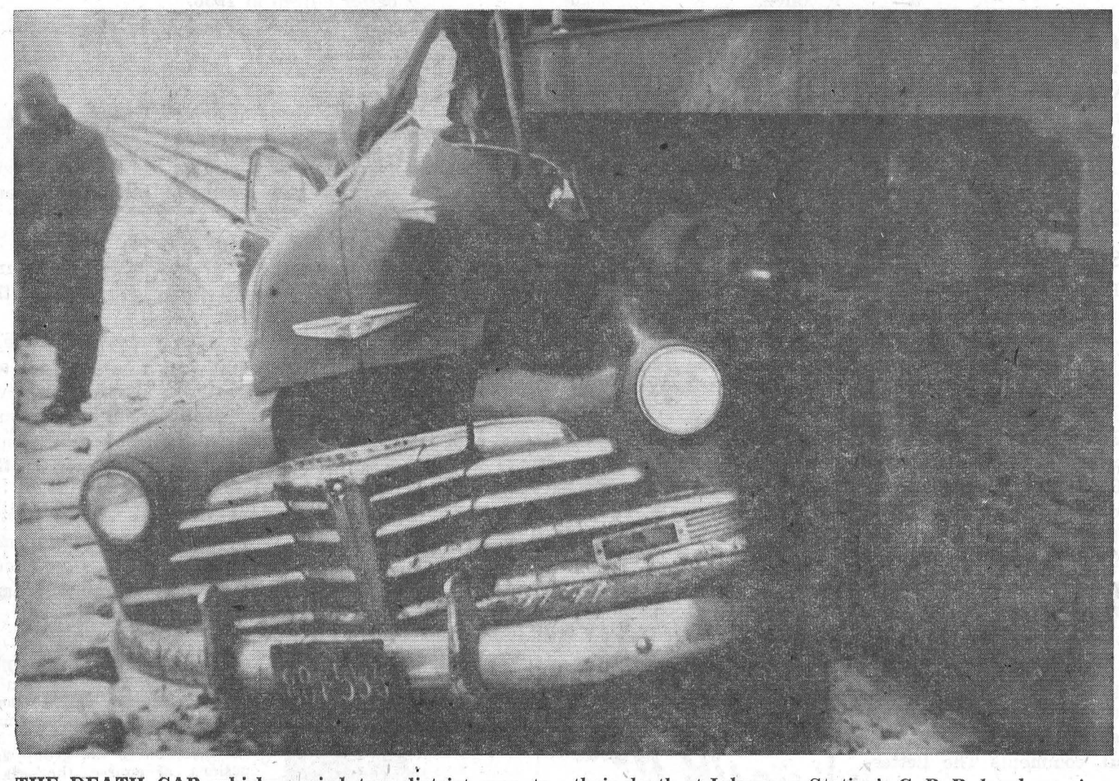
3 Killed In 1941

The double fatality on Tuesday is the only major accident reported at Inkerman Station since the disastrous train wreck in 1941 when three train crew men were killed and six others were injured. The 1941 accident happened about 6.30 o'clock Monday evening, March 31st, when cars from a 66-car through freight broke loose, jumped the track and crashed into a waiting passenger train making its daily stop.

Constable Herb. Myers, Morrisburg detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, was in charge of the investigation, and said that it was the 14th accident, the only fatal one, reported in this area during the Christmas week-end.

Mr. Wyatt, a well-known farmer in Mountain township, is survived by four sons, Donald, of South Mountain; Morris, of Iroquois; Lyle, of Prescott, and Cpl. Lawrence Wyatt, stationed at Petawawa with the Canadian Army; and two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Easter (Cora), of Iroquois, and Shirley at home. One son, Lloyd, was fatally shot during a hunting trip three years ago.

James Carter is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carter, of Iroquois.



THE DEATH CAR which carried two district men to their death at Inkerman Station's C. P. R. level crossing on Tuesday morning. This photo, only one taken while the train and car were still intact, was snapped half a mile east of the crossing after the train was finally stopped. Only the front end of the car was recognizable. Victims were Connell Wyatt, 65, of R. R. 3, Winchester, and James Carter, 18, of Iroquois.—(Winchester Press Staff Photo).

Hockey Outlook Not Too Bright For Winchester

Unless somebody produces a magic act and pulls a team out of the hat, it looks as if Winchester may be without organized hockey for the first time in many years. Rumors had it that an Intermediate team would be formed here, but with the reorganization of the Kemptville Royals, any possibility of an Intermediate entry from this town seems unlikely.

The new Kemptville Royals could very well be termed the Kemptville "Ex's," because the present roster looks like an Inkerman Rocket lineup from days gone by. Such former Inkerman stars as Denzil Crowder, Grant McIntosh, Ralph Hurley, Lowell Craig and many others, combined with fellows like Sammy Gaw, will form the back bone of this team which is entered in the St. Lawrence Intermediate League with teams from Cardinal, Prescott and Morrisburg.

Popular mentor of the ex-Inkerman Rockets, Lloyd LaPorte, will handle the coaching duties of the new Royals, so it should be like old times. Chances are that some of the games may be played in Winchester.

Elsewhere in the local hockey world, former Rocket stars Edwin and Erwin Duncan, who for the past few years have been stars with the Belleville Memos playing in an OHA Sr. B loop, have signed with Brockville and will play their Senior Hockey closer to home this year.

Only hope for a Winchester team seems to be with the Juniors where some effort has been made to get the boys together. Lack of talent in the management department seems to be more of a stickler than getting enough players.

Bill Sherwood, a Junior star with Winchester last year, is presently playing Junior A hockey with Eastview in the Ottawa City League.

Getting back to the local Junior situation, it would be a shame to see this club dropped for a year because of nobody to take over the reins. Four or five local hockey enthusiasts have brought this club along in the last five years, winning two or three championships, and gaining a lot of fan support. To this writer's notion there should be enough younger men in the town, who haven't had a turn at managing or coaching a hockey club in the last five years, interested in keeping the Juniors alive.

As for minor hockey, no arrangements have been made as yet.

United Church S. S. Christmas Concert

Winchester United Church Sunday School's annual Christmas Concert, held in the church auditorium last Wednesday evening, was well received by a large audience of parents and friends. Christmas decorations, including a brightly lit Chrstmas tree, adorned the church interior for the special presentation.

Rev. T. N. Mitchell, minister of the church, was the chairman and welcomed the large congregation in his opening remarks. A musical interlude preceded the actual program which saw piano duets by Bobby Barton and Brian Robinson, Betty Lou Dawson and Dianne Dawson, and Mavis Duncan and Shirley Lannin. The interlude was arranged by Miss Annie Walker, local music teacher.

Lyn Melvin extended a Christmas welcome to everyone, and the following program of entertainment was presented:

For A Safe And Happy New Year

It all depends on how you look at it. If you are thinking of taking a taxi to that New Year's cocktail party, you may tell yourself it is much more expensive and less convenient than driving your own car.

The Ontario Safety League suggests that you consider what might happen when driving with "one for the road" under your belt. At the very least, a police officer may stop you on a routine check. If he finds you have been drinking he may advise you to finish your trip by taxi, leaving your car where it is until you are better able to handle it. Then, how'll you get your baby-sitter home? Also by taxi, of course.

By now you are complaining of the high cost of living it up. But it could be worse. The officer might charge you. That means being an overnight guest of the government, then buying your way out with hard-earned cash. And we don't know where you can get less value for your money. Of course, you will probably be asked to leave your driver's license with the court for a time. Then, how will you navigate?

Or even worse, in your exhilarated state (you're not even intoxicated) you may victimize some innocent pedestrian or motorist. That is when things get really expensive.

So if you are likely to be doing any drinking, you would indeed be wise to take the Ontario Safety League's advice, and leave your car at home. If you do take your car, have the strength of character to say, "No thanks. I'm driving." It is the cheapest form of insurance you can get for a safe and Happy New Year.

WEDDINGS

CAMPBELL—ROBERTSON

Miss Vivian Lois Robertson, Reg. N., became the bride of Glenn A. Campbell on Monday, December 26th, at a marriage performed in St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Iroquois.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Robertson, of Iroquois, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Dan Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, of Ormond.

Chrysanthemums and evergreens formed a setting for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. R. H. Smith. The wedding music was played by Margaret Ann Fisher, and the soloist was Murray Graham, of Toronto.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Phyllis Robertson, Reg. N., of Galt. Roy Campbell, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were David Robertson, brother of the bride, and Donald Campbell, brother of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was charming in a dream white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over bridal satin. Her headdress was a tiara of seed pearls which held in place her fingertip silk illusion veil, set with lovers' knots and Christmas glitter. She carred a semi-cascade bouquet of baby white mums and red roses.

Mr. and Mr. Campbell will make their home in Ottawa.

Winchester Bowlers Qualify For Ottawa Regional Finals

Eight Winchester and district bowlers who call Flora's Bowling Lanes their home alleys have reached the Ottawa Regional Finals after successfully taking the first step in the Regional qualifying round bowled recently.

The five-game qualifying round was bowled off in Ottawa, Cornwall and Winchester, with several hundred bowlers trying for the honours. Of that number eighty qualified for the final round to be run off the first part of the new year.

Locally, Phyllis Henderson, who last year was the only district bowler to make the Ottawa all-star selection and go to the Ontario finals at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto, stood third in the 30 lucky women who made the grade. Four other Winchester lady bowlers, Lillan Acres, Mabel Ogden, Elsie Chapman and Lula Dawley, also entered the final roll, slated for the Capital Alleys on February 11th.

Ken. MacMillan headed the three men who were hot enough to be a part of the fifty bowlers who will roll for the final team at Cornwall on February 4th. The other two men to find a place on the coveted 50 are Dalt. Kenney and Harold Armstrong.

The bowling tournament, sponsored by a well-known brewery, is a preliminary to the all-Ontario 5-pin finals to be played at the annual sportsmen's' show in Toronto next year. The team getting past this summit goes on into the all-Canadian final as Ontario's representative.

Scores of the five-game total of Winchester's eight representatives in the regional finals are as follows:

The Regional finals will consist of ten games, two blocks of five games each.

A New Page

Let us forget the hurts of this last year,
Its sorrows and mistakes,
The lowering clouds, that lengthened out the hours,
The failures and heartaches;
For this New Year, let good an entrance gain,
That love may fill some need,
Forgetting self, that through the shining hours,
We do some kindly deed.
Glimpsing the vastness of the path we tread,
Earth's values fade and flee,
The dawn is near of God's eternity,
"The best is yet to be."

Here's A Recipe For A Happy New Year

"Take twelve fine, full grown months, see that these are thoroughly free from all old memories of bitterness, rancor, hate and jealousy; cleanse them completely from every clinging spite; pick off all specks of pettiness and littleness; in short, see that these months are freed from all the past—have them as fresh and clean as when they first came from the great storehouse of God.

"Cut these months into thirty or thirty-one parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time (so many persons spoil the entire lot in this way) but prepare one day at a time as follows:

"Into each day put twelve parts of Faith, eleven of Patience, ten of Courage, nine of Work (some people omit this ingredient and so spoil the flavor of the rest), eight of Hope, seven of Fidelity, six of Liberality, five of Kindness, four of Rest, (leaving this out is like leaving the oil out of the salad—don't do it), three of Prayer, two of Meditation, and one well-selected Resolution.

"Put in about a teaspoonful of good Spirits—a dash of Fun—a sprinkling of Play—and a heaping cupful of Good Humor.

"Pour into the whole—Love—and mix with a vim. Cook thoroughly in a fervent heat; garnish with a few Smiles and a sprig of Joy; then serve with Quietness, Unselfishness, and Cheerfulness, and a Happy New Year will be a certainty."

All But Gone

Old Dobbin has been on his way out for many years. And right now it looks as if the horse, at least the working horse, has served its time and can sit back in the Halls of Glory knowing it has more than fulfilled a useful place in the making of our western civilization.

The machine age, which really swung into an accelerated pace at the turn of the twentieth century with the introduction of the motor car, has today replaced the horse in practically every phase of life. And the last few strongpoints of the old grey mare are now surrendering.

A few weeks ago, what was described as the world's largest maker of stuffed horse collars, went out of business in Illinois. In several Ontario hamlets the only practising blacksmith is well over the eighty-mark. If he isn't, he's selling farm machinery to make a living. Show, race and riding horses are still much in demand, and will very likely be around for many generations to come.

It is doubtful, today, whether one youngster in a thousand could identify the long, square, tapering horseshoe nail or the pungent smell when a red hot shoe was tried for size on the horse's hoof.

Mysterious And Distasteful

Communist East Germany now joins Communist Czechoslovakia as the beneficiary of Canada's butter support price programme. Canadian Press reports that a Dutch firm has purchased at 37 cents a pound some 7 million pounds of Canadian butter from the Government at Ottawa, for resale to East Germany. The Agricultural Prices Support Board paid butter producers 58 cents a pound for this butter. The 21 cents a pound difference, of which the Soviet- dominated East German regime will be the beneficiary, came out of the pockets of Canadian taxpayers.

In the light of Agriculture Minister Gardiner's recent assertion at Victoria that "when you hear people say we have a butter surplus, don't believe them," the East German butter deal becomes as mysterious as it is distasteful, comments The Letter-Review.

What To Do In Winter

The 1955 crop has been generally a good one. Grain bins are overflowing. Potato yields were high and showed excellent quality. One of the best apple crops in Canadian history was picked. Canning crops were far superior to those of other years. Favorable advances were made in several other crops.

Winter is the time for farmers to relax after a long season of ploughing, planting, spraying and harvesting. It is also a time when they can accomplish a number of chores neglected during the year. The tractor needs cleaning up and perhaps an overhaul. Farm implements probably require a new coat of paint. With depressed farm prices, this is more important than ever. Next year the old tractor and old equipment may have to be used. Protection of such substantial investments becomes of prime importance.

Perhaps the farm home interior needs a bit of cheering up with a new paint job. This isn't as impossible as it once was. Odorless interior paints in lively colors have been developed in recent years which enables one to paint the inside of a home without any discomfort to the occupants.

Winter is also the time to catch up on reading the accumulated literature on the latest in scientific farming. It will soon be seed dressing time, so what's new in seed disinfectants and how can losses to plant diseases and soil insects be reduced? What does the federal government's entomological report forecast for insect plagues next year?

And how about the 1956 fertilizer requirements? Will the early buying discount be taken advantage of? And is the fact that fertilizer ordered during winter months is better cured a further inducement?

Yes, winter can be a most profitable season for the farmer.

Editorial Notes

One of the biggest week-ends of the year, that of New Years, faces the motoring public in another day. If you come through the Christmas drive unscathed, double your efforts to see that the New Year week-end is as uneventful where accidents are concerned. Courtesy, care and common sense will again be the ingredients of the motorists favourite cocktail this week-end. And if one for the road is really necessary, make it coffee.

To all subscribers, advertisers, job patrons, loyal correspondents and friends of the Winchester Press the publisher extends New Year Greetings. Not only in appreciation of our pleasant business relationship throughout the past year, but, in all sincerity, we wish you and yours an abundance of good health, wealth and prosperity during 1956.

Not many New Year resolutions will be broken if each of us resolves to be a better citizen in 1956.

OF MANY THINGS . . .

A NEW YEAR

(By Ambrose Hills)

When the bells ring and the whistles blow, I intend to quietly take my wrist watch off my left wrist and slide it onto my right. All through January of 1956 I shall wear my watch on the right wrist.

I have a good reason. I want something to remind me many times a day of the resolutions I hope to keep. They are good resolutions and they sound easy; but I know from past experience that they are more difficult than they seem at first glance.

In 1956 I propose to be kinder, slower to criticize, more generous with praise. I hope to remember the other fellow's birthday once in awhile.

I propose to talk less in 1956 and do more. This, I fully realize, will be a tough discipline for a gabby fellow.

I propose to examine with a critical eye many of my most firmly-held convictions, for I know myself to be extremely opinionated.

In 1956 I hope and firmly resolve to cultivate the spiritual side of my nature, for I know myself to be over-fond of the material things of life.

There is also among my resolutions a word or two about health. Because I am dead set against national health plans is no reason why I should neglect personal health. Exercise and a sensible diet, plenty of sleep and a clear conscience will be the health rules I set for myself.

I have made such resolutions before and broken them promptly. But this time I shall have a reminder. Every time I look at my watch, these resolutions will flash before my mind."

It's YOUR HOSPITAL

by

MRS. CHARLES McLEAN
PRESIDENT, ONTARIO HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION

As one who has been keeping a home for thirty years, I have first-hand knowledge of the value of sharing homemaking experiences with other homemakers whether over the back fence, across the verandah, or through other accepted means of household communication. Some of the best pointers I ever learned about housekeeping came from my neighbours in this way, and I would like to feel that I have been able to pass on the odd good tip from time to time.

Perhaps you wonder what "back fence forums" have to do with hospitals. The answer is, plenty. The actual back fence, of course, is not a prop employed by hospitals, but the sharing of information and experiences is a regular hospital activity.

Just try to imagine your community isolating itself from other hospitals. Immediately you can see what would happen. Your hospital would soon be behind the times from almost every standpoint — facilities, efficiency and economy. This, of course, would never do.

To make sure that there is a continuous flow of information and co-operation among hospitals for the advancement of all, hospitals have organized themselves locally, provincially and nationally.

But local hospital co-operation is the prop that makes the other organizations strong.

I think it would be safe to say that whenever two or more hospitals have been situated close to each other there always has existed a measure of co-operation and sharing. It is not until recent years, however, that hospitals across Ontario were completely organized into regions for the purpose of bringing local co-operation and sharing to a very high standard of attainment.

It will readily be seen that organizing all hospitals of Ontario into local regions required central leadership. This leadership was provided by the hospitals' provincial body, the Ontario Hospital Association. The province was divided into thirteen geographical regions, each of which elected its own officers, adopted its own constitutions and became known as a Regional Hospital Council of the Ontario Hospital Association. Each Council is an entity unto itself but is identified with the Ontario Hospital Association for the purpose of broader relationships with other regional councils through this body. The Ontario Hospital Association, of course, endeavours to provide suitable leadership to assure the maximum of beneficial results for the member hospitals of each region.

The general aims and objects of the Regional Hospital Councils are to maintain a high standard of hospital service, to foster co-operation among hospitals and other health agencies, and to educate the public on the functions and problems of community hospitals.

Councils meet at intervals throughout the year — usually quarterly—and reports of their meetings are forwarded to the parent Association to enable it to make a survey of hospital activities throughout the province. Much valuable information is thus available for vital problems which hospitals have to meet, and the sharing of ideas and information from the Regional meetings greatly assists the Ontario Hospital Association in its role as spokeman and counsellor for its member hospitals. Since the introduction of Regional Hospital Councils, there has been a definite upsweep in enthusiasm and results for the improvement of hospital care for the people of Ontario. One outstanding example of this is the fact that the 31st Annual Convention of the Ontario Hospital Association held at the end of October of this year was the largest ever, with some three thousand hospital delegates, visitors and exhibitors attending.

A look at some of the subjects discussed by the Regional Councils shows that they really mean business. Such areas of hospital administration as purchasing and stores control, the cost of operating schools of nursing, hospital accreditation (the meeting of the high standards necessary to be an "accredited" hospital), the cost of providing hospital care for indigent patients, accounting, nursing service, inter-departmental knowledge, fire insurance, women's hospital auxiliaries, public relations, payments for indigent patients, hospital housekeeping, relations with medical staff, and Blue Cross, are but a cross-section of the many subjects that Regional Hospital Councils discuss thoroughly.

In addition to the group discussions, of course, there is a distinct advantage of increased personal relationships among the key hospital personnel who take part. This is where the real "over-the-back-fence" person-to-person conversation comes into the picture.

Yes, co-operation and sharing among hospitals is vital, whether it is in Metropolitan Toronto, which forms Regional Council No. 6, or Regional Council No. 13, which takes in such northern places at Atikokan, Beardmore, Fort William, Port Arthur and Red Lake. The degree of success attained at these local regions will help determine the future over-all effect of the provincial Association and ultimately will be reflected in the national and international hospital scene.

You can be sure that your hospital is not an isolated health centre. It is connected in a very vital and effective manner with hospitals, locally, provincially, nationally and internationally. As the Ontario Hospital Association Convention theme this year stated "Good patient care is our constant aim."

WILL EDMONTON GO METROPOLITAN?

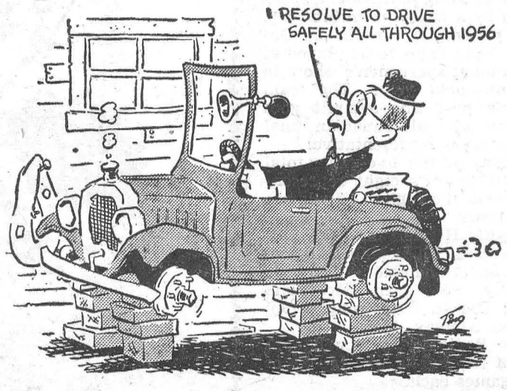
Oil discoveries have put Edmonton in debt. Can her suburbs get her out of it? The city is gunning for amalgamation, and Alex Henderson in this week's Star Weekly has reported on Edmonton's financial fatality as thousands of Canadians elect to live in this oil centre.

ALSO

George Franklin Smith helped science take an important step forward in the field of supersonic travel when he bailed out of an airplane at supersonic speed and at a low altitude. This week, in The Star Weekly, this flier relates his experiences to you in a feature article entitled "I Bailed Out At Supersonic Speed."

THE OPEN DOOR TO SAFETY!

Motorists are reminded that no matter how bad the weather, it is quite unsafe to start a car in a closed garage. Carbon monoxide from the engine can seep into the car and cause death, with no warning sound, color, smell or taste. The garage door should be propped pen, if necessary. The gale that may be raging will do less damage to the driver than the dangerous fumes from his car in a closed space.



But seriously, you needn't leave your car on blocks all year, to enjoy 1956.

The "low down" is slow down - with an extra dash of care and courtesy.

The 7th Column

As Father Time again strikes his balances, takes inventory. and readies his stock of 365 days for a new store keeper, we can't help but be thankful that, among our greatest assets, we find tallied the spirit of good will and friendship of many "old friends" like Press subscribers, advertisers and correspondents. It is our sincere hope that in the days ahead we will do nothing that could lessen that friendly regard in the slightest degree . . . and that our every deed may truly express the warmth as our "Holiday Greetings."

This is just a friendly note to tell you how much we of The Press appreciate doing business with swell folks like you. Your friendship and goodwill have meant a lot to us and we hope that our pleasant association will long continue. We will always do our best to serve you in a way that justifies the confidence you have placed in us. It is our earnest desire that we may, in some way, add to your success and happiness. May we express our sincere appreciation for past and future orders.

One Sunday after President Coolidge had returned to the White House from church, where he had gone alone, Mrs. Coolidge inquired:

"Was the sermon good?"

"Yes," he answered.

"What was it about?"

"Sin."

"What did the minister say?"

"He was against it."

The Plouffe Family

Here they are sitting down to their Christmas turkey—the Plouffes. The jolly French-Canadian family, heard every week on CBC Television, had some hard luck in the early days of the Christmas season, but things worked out for the best and here are Mama and Papa with their family (left to right) Guillaume, Napoleon, Ovide, Cecile, and their son-in-law, Onesime.

Tomorrow I will live, the fool does say; today itself's too late; the wise lived yesterday.—Martial.

Newlyweds Honoured

A surprise party was held at the Wallace home, Mountain, when approximately fifty relatives gathered to honour newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hoy, of Ottawa.

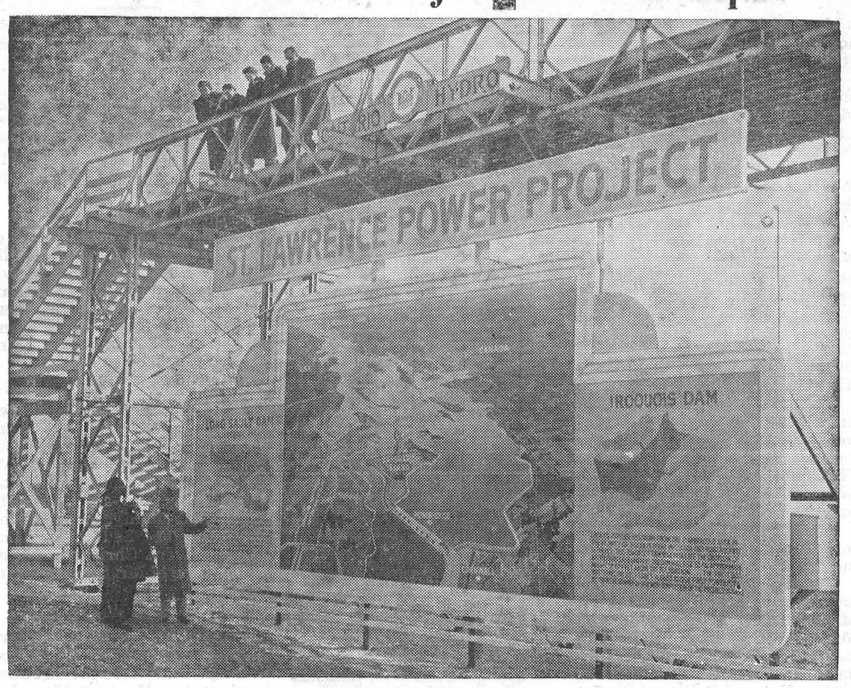
The evening was spent in visitation and a musical program, beginning with tape recordings by Stanley Wallace.

Marilyn, Brenda and Bobby Marcellus, children of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marcellus, of Morrisburg, gave several tap dancing numbers and also sang a number of songs, with Marilyn accompanying at the piano. James Brown of Hallville played several violin solos, and Roy Marcellus and Raymond Patterson gave a couple of step dancing numbers which were greatly enjoyed by all.

Miss Effie Wallace and Hugh Martin presented the gifts on behalf of those present to the honoured guests, while Miss Marjorie Black read a suitable address. Both replied very fittingly. The hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Hans Peterson, served dainty refreshments, and a social time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoy will reside in Ottawa where both are employed.

St. Lawrence Power Project Lookouts Popular



Visitors to Ontario Hydro's St. Lawrence Power Development can view the progress of construction work from two strategically located project lookouts. One is at the powerhouse site and the other beside Long Sault Rapids where construction of a dam is proceeding. A third lookout, built by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority 35 miles up the St. Lawrence at Iroquois Point, provides a view of the seaway canal and lock and also of the Iroquis control dam. The main function of this dam will be to permit regulation of the outflow of water from Lake Ontario.

Have Explanatory Maps

At the two main lookouts are to be found large, attractive maps and drawings of billboard size, portraying work to be done in the respective areas. The one near the powerhouse site is an artist's coloured drawing which gives the visitor an excellent conception of how the development will look when completed. This drawing shows the powerhouses which, in themselves, will act as a gravity dam spanning the north channel of the river from the Canadian shore to Barnhart Island. Flanking the power dam are the dykes which will impound the water and form a huge lake stretching back upstream to Iroquois Dam, which is shown in the distance.

This drawing also shows the finished Long Sault dam. The international seaway and locks through which shipping will pass into the flooded area are indicated on the drawing. Also shown are the many new islands that will ultimately dot the future lake — or power project headpond—to be created as a result of flooding.

Lookout Platform Popular

Close to the main powerhouse lookout display sign is a Bailey bridge platform, from which tourists can view the powerhouse work area. The platform, which is 20 feet high and 50 feet long, will accommodate about 100 persons at one time. It is one of the most popular places for visitors in the area. Already, an estimated 40,000 persons have climbed the stairway to reach this platform and watch the progress of construction work.

Visitors also have an opportunity to study a long map of the whole project. Below this map is a detailed plan of the two stages of work to be done on the Long Sault dam.

Because of the accessibility of these lookouts located adjacent to Highway No. 2, which is the main route to Toronto and Montreal, many tourists are taking advantage of the opportunity to make a close-up inspection of the work. Conducted tours of Ontario Hydro's St. Lawrence Project may be arranged for organized groups by contacting the Commission's head office in Toronto or the Project Office at Cornwall.

LEROY STRADER RETIRES AS RECORDS CLERK

Leroy E. Strader retired on December 16th from the National Research Council after thirty-five years in the Public Service. The last twenty-six and a half years he has served with the National Research Council in Central Registry.

On Thursday, December 15th, a farewell party was held in the Cafeteria in the main building on Sussex Drive, which was attended by a large number of Admnistrative and Scientific employees, past and present.

The introductory address was made by Dr. F. T. Rosser, Director of the Administration Division, and Mr. S. P. Eagleson, General Secretary, who is one of the oldest members as to length of service, made the presentation address, and presented Leroy with a purse from his fellow workers and associate members. Mrs. Strader was presented with a beautiful bouquet of red roses by Mrs. R. C. Dillon who had charge of arrangements.

Leroy was called to the floor a second time and was addressed by Dr. Tickner, President of the Research Council Employees' Association, and presented with a framed Life Certificate in the Association. This was presented in honour of his efforts in forming the Association ten years ago and for his continued interest in the welfare of his fellow employees since.

Leroy replied in a few well chosen remarks and thanked those present for the honours they had conferred on him and Mrs. Strader. A cordial invitation was then extended to everyone to visit the Straders at any future date at the farm at Hawthorne Road.

NEW YEAR'S AGAIN!

There is no reason why Maggie Sinclair should be surprised to find a New Year on hand once again; it happens every 365 days. Maggie, however, turns up every 7 days on the CBC television show "Cross-Canada Hit Parade" and also has been featured as a musical comedy singer. Unfortunately, the New Year's baby can't tell her what the top tunes will be in 1956, but she will keep in touch by watching the show every week.

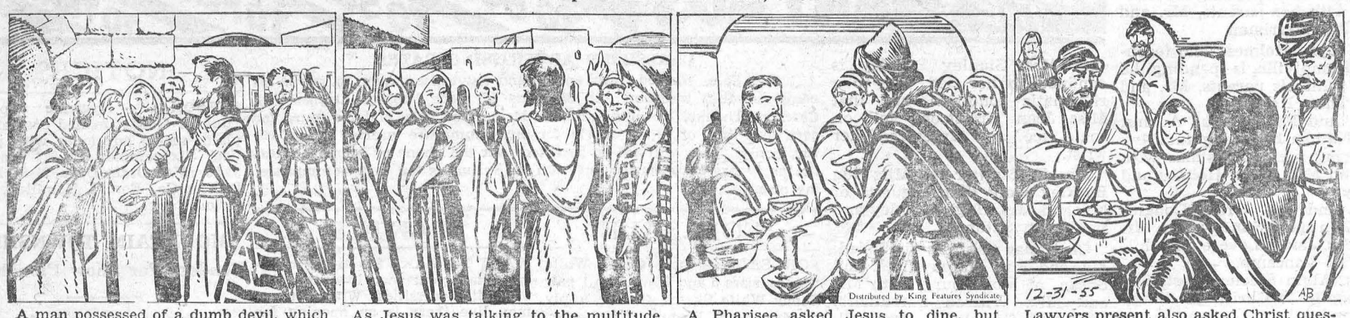
Jesus Rebukes Insincerity

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 11:14—12:3, 54-59.



A man possessed of a dumb devil, which Jesus cast out, was then able to talk. Some who saw the miracle, accused Christ of casting the devil out by Beelzebub, chief of devils; others demanded a sign from heaven.

As Jesus was talking to the multitude, a woman in the company said blessed was the mother who had borne Him, but Jesus said to her, "Yea, rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it."

A Pharisee asked Jesus to dine, but when He sat down to eat the Pharisee wondered why He had not first washed. Jesus reproved him, saying that Pharisees were very particular about outward forms, but careless about their morals.

Lawyers present also asked Christ questions. He called them all hypocrites. Angered, they urged Him to talk of many things, hoping He would say something by which they could accuse Him.

MEMORY VERSE—Luke 11:23.

CHRIST STERNLY DENOUNCES HYPOCRISY

Scripture—Luke 11:14—12:3.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE WORDS of Christ which are assigned to today's lesson were uttered less than four months before His death and resurrection. His disciples seem not to have recognized the fact that even after all the miracles He had performed, and His preaching about repentance and the necessity of men to be born again and live righteous lives, many were still opposed to Him and would eventually bring about His death.

Jesus Himself knew it and was prepared to suffer His sacrificial death and to rise again to prove that He is the Saviour of mankind and those that believe on Him shall live everlastingly.

There were some men and women living in Palestine in Jesus' time who were possessed by evil spirits. These devils were subject to Jesus and feared His power. Now we read that some evil-minded persons accused Christ of being under the influence of Beelzebub, prince of devils. What a monstrous thing to say! What can wicked minds suggest to those who possess them!

Jesus answered immediately, that "every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against itself falleth."

We can readily see how true that is in our own day. In a home that is divided against itself, divorce almost surely follows and the home is broken up. The same is true about countries in many of which there are many different parties struggling for control, fighting each other and bringing destruction upon their country.

"And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your judges."

There were men called exorcists who claimed to cast out demons and the Jews boasted about them.

Other persons asked Jesus for a sign from heaven, and He rebuked them by saying:

"This is an evil generation; they seek a sign; and there shall no sign be given it, but the sign of Jonah." Jonah, we know, was delivered from "the great fish," and was then considered a man of God.

Then Jesus spoke of the southern queen sparing no time or expense to visit Solomon and listen to his wisdom, "and behold, a greater than Solomon is here."

"The men of Nineveh shall stand up in judgment with this generation and shall condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah."

"The light of the body is the eye; therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body is full of darkness."

Our space is being limited, perhaps I might interpret this saying in a very simple way. There are people old and young, who seem to see only evil in the world. There are others who see it as full of love and beauty.

Jesus saw both evil and good. He rebuked the evil, but He loved and forgave repentant evil doers, tnd even in His agony on the cross He begged forgiveness for His tormentors. Why not teach the children to look for the good everywhere, making their eyes lamps to lighten burdens as Christ did when He was on earth?

A Pharisee invited Christ to dine with him, and as Jesus sat at table, the Pharisee marvelled that He had not first washed His hands. This was a custom with the Jews who regarded themselves unclean if they brushed against Gentiles in the street or market.

"And the Lord said unto him, Now do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness."

Pharisees, he said, tithe "mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God; these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone."

He commented that the Pharisees loved the best seats in the synagogues and the respectful greetings of folk in the markets, and called them hypocrites, like graves that were not marked so that men walked over them unaware.

A lawyer said: "Master, thus ... est us also," reproach. Christ answered: "Woe unto you also, ye lawyers! for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers."

"Ye build the sepulchres ... prophets, and your fathers ... them," and He referred to ... rias who was slain in the ... God, He said, would send ... Changing Furniture

Changing the arrangement of the furniture will lessen the wear of rugs and furniture. The change will also seem good to the housewife who is at home so much.

Paint On Glass

Paint can be removed from window glass by mixing some powdered pumice stone into a paste with equal parts of turpentine and oil, and rubbing the paint spots until they disappear.

Care of Pictures

Examine the backs of all the pictures once in a while to see that there are no breaks in the paper that cover them. Unless paper is pasted over the back of the frame, dust is sure to enter and mar the pictures.

Painted Walls

To wash walls that have been painted, put a little household ammonia into warm water and use white soap. Change the water as it becomes dirty.

Renovating a Leather Coat

When a leather coat has become faded, try applying a stain made of walnut hulls. Put the hulls into a kettle of water and boil until the water is slightly thick. Then strain it and apply with a paint brush. If necessary, apply two or th coats, after each subsequent c is dry.

AFTER CANDY—THE BRUSH

After eating candy or other sweets, be sure that the teeth are brushed thoroughly to remove any particles that might remain between the teeth. These particles of sugar or any other food commence to form destructive acids in a matter of minutes and these may cause dental caries. If the toothbrush cannot be used at the time, rinse the mouth with water. Eating an apple or other hard fruit will help in emergency.

DON'T BE A CHIPMUNK

While hibernation in a warm and probably airless chamber suits the groundhog and chipmunk, humans need fresh air and exercise in the winter. Even older people need outdoor walks and they should try to take these daily in suitable weather. For snowy ground, rubber soles suitable for icy walks should be worn, together with some gadget to help grip the snow. Many older people gain confidence from carrying a cane to help balance.

COLDS REQUIRE ATTENTION

Even a mild cold should never be neglected. This common ailment may start as a simple case of "sniffles" but it could develop into pneumonia if neglected. To protect fellow workers and the family, anyone suffering from a cold should try to stay indoors in the warm, drinking plenty of water, fruit juices and milk. To prevent the spread of germs, the nose and mouth should always be covered when coughing or sneezing. To a baby, a cold can be a serious matter, so it is wise for the person with a cold to avoid handling an infant any more than is necessary.

SENIOR'S SOCIAL LIFE

Older people need social contacts and mental stimulation. Too much sitting indoors, knitting or doing any other sedentary job is not good for those in normal health. In many communities clubs have been formed to give the senior citizens an opportunity to meet their contemporaries and to engage in handicraft, hobbies and other recreation. This has had excellent results and for the older people who have accumulated more years and experience than the younger folk around them, it provides more enjoyment in life.

LADY-IN-WAITING

The diet of the expectant mother should be a well-balanced one, with plenty of milk and milk products and at least three glasses of water a day. In addition, she should have a daily dose of vitamin D. Plenty of vegetables, both fresh and raw, as well as potatoes, fresh or dried fruits, and wholegrain bread and cereals should be included in her diet.

POSTURE'S IMPORTANT

Anyone whose work entails sitting at a desk or table for long periods may develop a tendency to slump forward, with rounded shoulders. This is conducive to fatigue. Sitting with curved spine and head bent downwards, doesn't improve the appearance and it doesn't ward off tiredness, but sitting erect with straight shoulders does help to give a look of alertness and a feeling of energy. It is advisable to have the seat adjusted to the right height so that the work will be at the right level for working and at the most suitable distance for the eyes.

COD LIVER OIL IS FUN NOW

Years ago, old timers recall, cod liver oil was a crude, fishy-tasting medicine that was no favorite among the children, but it was recognized as a very necessary substance for youngsters. Today's children are fortunate in that their vitamin D comes in pleasant capsules, tablets or liquid. It is still necessary during the growing years, from birth to the age of sixteen, in order that bones may grow straight and strong and teeth come in normally.

WINTER VENTILATION

During cold weather, there's a great temptation to close all doors and windows to keep out stray drafts and cold air, but lack of ventilation makes the air in a room dry and stale. To give it the humidity necessary for health, a humidifier, homemade, if necessary, should be used. A vessel of water on the radiator will serve the purpose. If the window is left open a little at the top, it will allow circulation of air and provide better ventilation.

NOTICE!

To assist snow removal crews in clearing the snow from Winchester streets, particularly on the Main streets, I would call on the co-operation of all motorists in seeing that their vehicles are not parked over night on local streets, during the winter. At the same time it is requested that motorists do not leave their cars in any one place on main thoroughfares for a long period of time during the day. Such practices will hinder snow removal crews from doing the best possible job. The Highway Traffic Act gives authority to the local police department to have cars, which are in the way, pulled away to another location, the owner being liable for payment of towing service.
