Nothin' Floodin'

With Spring officially here area residents have for the second consecutive year taken note of the lack of flooding conditions on the Nation River. Waters that swirled up to nearby doorsteps and forced traffic off Cass Bridge and made travel in the area possible only by boat were once an accepted part of the spring scene. Have things changed?

Apparently so. Flooding of the past years has been non-existant over the past two spring seasons and waters right now are only at a good summer level. Earlier in the season the rains and sudden thaw of snow did raise the river to near the top of the river banks, but the thaw changed to cold and the water drained off leaving only cracked and mangled pieces of ice.

Many are terming this "the year of no flood." At present there are still ice patches lingering in the water but, with the April sun to warm things up these will soon disappear. And then the water will be running well within its banks and, as can be seen in the above picture, well down the worn shoreline.—Press Staff Photo.

$80,000 PROJECT

P.S. Jammed Board Seeks Expansion

Winchester Public School is filled to capacity. Two new classrooms are needed to properly accommodate more than 360 students expected to register at the school this fall. In addition, with increasing pressure being placed upon school boards to provide physical education facilities for elementary school students, the school has need of a multi-purpose room. These facts were outlined to town council at their regular monthly meeting Monday evening. Reeve Reynolds and his four fellow Council members listened intently as School Board Chairman Raymond Annable and Property Committee Head Ken Summers expounded on future needs.

Good news was the first issue of tidings from the school board as they requested only $20,000 from the municipal coffers to operate this year. The $20,000 figure was down $13,00 from last year's budget of $33,000. Reason for the decrease is the increased grants that came to the school late in 1964 and were not accounted for in the 1964 budget. Council expressed its hope that the larger grants would continue indefinitely.

Included in the budget received from the school board were funds for the renovation and conversion of the Susie Annable Memorial Hall into two classrooms. The two additional classrooms will be a necessity when in 1965-66 the Grade 8 class is split into two sections. There will be at least 48 students in Grade 8 this fall. The other classroom change will see a basement room currently in use as a classroom be reconverted to a manual training room. The classroom additions would then answer accommodation problems for probably at least two years. In the foreseeable future if any additional classrooms were to be constructed they would be placed on top of the present new addition to the original school.

To ascertain Council's feeling towards another project that seems to be essential to proper education, the board outlined first rough ideas on a proposed multi-purpose room to be used for physcial education or other classes. A rough estimate of the cost of this addition was placed at $80,000. This, naturally, is a preliminary figure and subject to change.

The program outlined would see the construction of the large 87 by 45 foot room on the east of the existing buildings running in a north-south direction. The room would be equipped with a sliding, folding, sound-proof door that would permit the dividing of the room into two parts to facilitate separate classes for boys and girls P. T. or other subjects. A 15-foot stage would allow the entire room to be used as an assembly hall or theatre to seat from 500-600 persons.

Sizeable provincial grants are available for the construction and the multi-purpose room addition could be expected to raise the total operating school grant by as much as 3%.

Long and critical discussion followed the outline and Council, seemingly impressed with the proposal, requested that the school board ascertain actual cost figures and return to another meeting with final details of the plan on paper.

Auxiliary Greets Five Student Nurses

First student nurses at the nchester and District Memal Hospital were introduced the members of the District morial Hospital Auxiliary at April meeting. The five girls were welcomed to the meeting by the president.

At the request of the purchasing committee several acquisitions are to be made. Included are office furniture and drapes, filing cabinets, one refrigerator, desk and two chairs, blood pressure cup, conductivity testing equipment, and one "meal-on-wheels" wagon. Estimated cost of the articles to be obtained is $3,000.

Announced at the meeting was the date for the annual Hospital Fair. June 19 is the date set aside and plans will begin for this big event immediately. Members were reminded of the importance of this money making affair and urged to volunteer their services.

The Auxiliary sponsored Dessert Bridge and games afternoon is slated for the Board Room on April 28 at 1.30 p.m. Everyone is welcome and may anticipate an enjoyable afternoon of fun and games. In addition, many door prizes will be given away.

Mountain Unit announced that they will be holding their Easter Tea and Bake Sale in the Presbyterian Church Hall on April 10 at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Gerry Flucke of Winchester will be the special guest at the May meeting. She will show her pictures of Northern Canada and Alaska.

Several members are planning to attend the Spring Confernce in Perth on May 11.

Village's Newest Business Store Opens Friday

Winchester will gain its newest business establishment this Friday evening when MacIntosh's TV and Appliance is officially opened at 8 p.m. Long associated with the Winchester business community, Harvey and Phyllis MacIntosh will be welcoming Fred M. Cass and local municipal officers to the official opening of their new store.

Located on Main Street West, the newly refinished store has a complete new face applied to it and the interior is designed to serve the TV and Appliance customer. At the opening, door prizes will be given away and refreshments will be served. Congratulations are in order to the new MacIntosh TV and Appliance Store.

Dundas Assoc. For Retarded Receives Charter

Dundas County Association for Retarded Children received its Charter at a meeting in the North Dundas District High School Auditorium last evening. W. R. Kirk, Executive Director and Secretary to the Board of the Ontario Association, presented the charter.

Holy Week Services Begin In District

Everyone will be welcomed to the Community Holy Week Preaching Mission to be held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church April 13-16.

Under the auspices of the Winchester Ministerial Association services in the pre-Easter period will be held Tuesday to Friday night with the song service commencing at 7.45 p.m. Many contributors to the services are well known locally. Miss Carolyn Alford of Ottawa will provide special musical selections at the Wednesday service. Mrs. John Hall will be the guest on Friday evening.

Speakers include Rev. Alex McCombie, Rev. Alvin McIntosh, Rev. Ronald Rowat and Rev. Hamish Kennedy. Plan to attend the services in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

In Williamsburg the Ministerial Association will sponsor its Holy Week Sunday through Thursday, April 11-15. All offerings will go to the Canadian Bible Society. Rev. E. Hawkes will speak in the Winchester Springs United Church on Sunday, Rev. D. W. Chappell in Elma United Church Monday, Rev. J. D. Pereboom, Rev. W. J. Goos and Rev. W. A. Adam will speak in Williamsburg churches.

Centennial Park Project Plans Taking Shape

If the park committee were planting money trees in the Centennial Park it certainly could be a profit making establishment. Approximately 3,700 trees will be planted in the park at relatively no cost. However, money is not easily grown and the Centennial scheme still has need of funds from all sources available. Councillor Roy Fawcett outlined latest details of the park development to Monday evening's session of Council.

Reeve Reynolds and Councillor Fawcett have ascertained the availability of several additional grants that will compliment the Centennial grant to make Winchester's ambitious project possible. More than $1,700 is to be had from a Recreation grant, and others are pending. Funds available under the Centennnial scheme total $2,960 from the village and $2,370 from the Township. A $5,000 grant from Communities Centres is also noted. To this amount can be added the $1,000 pledged by the Winchester Women's Institute over the next three years, and other amounts that hopefully will come from organizations such as the 100 Club and the Legion. To be accounted for also is the annual municipal grant for the operation of the park.

Latest in the donations to completion of the project has come in from the Student Council of the North Dundas District High School. The Student Council has offered its assistance to purchase eight picnic tables of the type to be used in the park.

Finalized costs are yet to be ascertained on the bath house which will house change rooms and flush toilet facilities Plans for this structure are currently being drawn up and will be turned over to contractors for estimates very soon. With this price in hand the committee will be able to state the entire cost of the project. Since the original plan several additions have been made. These include a heating unit for the showers; and four underwater lights that are necessary for night-time swimming.

As soon as possible work will begin on the south end of the park. The help of local Junior Farmers and other volunteers has been assured to level and put the park in shape for seeding and the preparation of the new ball diamond. Levelling, complete or partially complete ditching and drainage will get close attention.

The lease on the Community Park held by the 100 Club has been turned over to the village with certain specifications that are considered agreeable to all parties.

OTHER BUSINESS

In a busy session Council handled routine business quickly and authorized a $10 donation to the Winchester Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, acceptance of the Police Department report for the month of March and other minor matters. Police Chief Whitteker was given municipal approval to purchase a new uniform and shoulder patches and a new filing cabinet for his office.

On Streets and Roads further investigation into the application of double surface treatment on some streets was requested. Drainage came in for discussion and some remedial action will be taken to rectify water conditions along St. Lawrence at Fred Street. Members are now trying to prepare insertions for the roads program to be undertaken in the soon to be brought down budget.

Tenders for the new west-end well close April 6, and work on the project that will reinforce the village water system is expected to begin shortly.

Accounts passed for payment were: Hydro, $6,577.65; water, $6,387.12; and village, $5,319.75.

Seeks New Location

Expansion and relocation is the subject uppermost in the minds of members of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 108. To this end the local branch has appointed a fact finding committee to investigate possible future moves.

Chaired by Basil Dawley, the committee is manned by Steve Corry and Don Casselman. This committee will delve into the proposals and report back to the Legion as a whole at a later date. The committee is also interested in the sale of the present hall and will hear any offers.

Impressive Student Show For Parents

It's hard to believe that teachers at North Dundas District High School have to lock their history students in the ancient stocks to make them appreciate the value of that intriguing subject. Well, no one does believe it. All the history students at the local secondary school are enthusiastic and even conscious of the — please say no more!

Sandra Hatcher in the stocks on the left and Elaine Summers and Erma Allison on the right were demonstrating some of the projects that have been completed at NDDHS this year. At Open House last Friday evening the school was pleased to have as visitors many parents and friends of students who were on hand to see examples of the year's work. Incidentally, Elaine and Erma are dissecting a frog in the Biology room.

Much of the student's work was on display and all the visitors were invited into the gym where the physical education classes were beating up and down the hardwood playing basketball, broomball and even folk dancing.

It was an interesting and exciting evening for visitor, student and teacher alike.—Chesterville Record Photos.

Exploded Myth

Without in any way playing down the immense social and economic implications of advancing technology, the continuing improvement in Canada's employment situation can be said to provide its own eloquent answer to those who argue that the net result of machines displacing workers must necessarily be fewer jobs.

There has certainly been no slackening in the rate at which Canadian industry — in the interests of lower costs and greater efficiency — has been switching to automated production processes in both plant and office; quite the reverse. Yet between 1961 and 1964 the average number of Canadians working increased by more than half a million, from 6,049,000 to 6,595,000. Over the same period, the proportion of those without a job declined steadily from 7.2 per cent. to 4.7 per cent. (the lowest level since 1957).

Last year's rise in employment was particularly vigorous: 231,000 more Canadians had jobs than in 1963, an increase of 3.6 per cent. We thus bettered the three per cent. annual average increase for which the Economic Council of Canada has called between now and 1970. The 1964 increase, in fact, was the best since 1956 (4.1 per cent.) and compares with an average annual gain of only two per cent. over the decade 1953-63.

All this is highly encouraging, furnishing as it does clear evidence that a dynamic, expanding economy can cope — and simultaneously — with both a rapidly growing labour force and the redundancy which is the unavoidable by-product of technological change. Hardly less important (remembering those people who are today doing quite different jobs than they did three years ago) is the supporting confirmation of human capacity to adapt to the new employment requirements of industry and society.

Our recent experience, then, explodes the myth that automation necessarily means fewer jobs. It also points up the paramount importance of national policies designed to keep the economy expanding at a sufficient rate and also accelerate the development of adult education, vocational counselling and industrial retraining programs.

A much larger role is clearly indicated for these last in the years immediately ahead as growing numbers of the labour force are required to equip themselves with more knowledge and higher skills.

The Challenge Of Cancer

Cancer presents one of the greatest challenges of the 20th century.

This challenge is being met by the combined efforts of hundreds of thousands of volunteers in different countries of the world. In Canada the effort is directed by the Canadian Cancer Society. Its function — as stated in its letters of patent — "to reduce the mortality from cancer."

The Canadian Cancer Society is the only national voluntary health organization fighting cancer through research, education and service. The sole source of funds is from voluntary gifts from the public, collected during the annual April campaign.

Each year the amount spent by the Cancer Society for Cancer control has increased until this year it is $4,756,999.

Because only through medical research can cancer ever be completely conquered, the Society is concentrating more and more on support of research. This year it will spend $1,984,448 for this purpose.

Through the Society and its affiliate, The National Cancer Institute of Canada, a nation-wide research programme has been developed. It now supports 98 research projects, 27 research fellows and 11 fellows in radiation physics and biophysics. This programme is ever growing and a great deal more money is needed.

Cancer is not one disease but a group of diseases characterized by the disorganized and unregulated growth of abnormal body cells. In many cases there is favourable response to modern methods of treatment if diagnosis is made before signs of spread are evident. All tumours are not cancer — some "benign" growths may begin in different organs of the body and reach a considerable size. These do not spread but, as with cancer, the earlier treatment is begun the better.

To spread, cancer cells break off from the original tumour and travel through the lymph canals, arteries and veins, to other parts of the body where they cause new tumours to form. Early treatment may prevent this.

Treatment to-day is by surgery, radiation, and a considerable number of drugs, chemicals and hormones. Cancer can strike anyone at an age. It can affect children as well as adults, but it strikes with increasing frequency as age advances.

This year about 72,000 Canadians will be under medical care for the disease. In addition, there will be about 47,500 new cases diagnosed for the first time. In 1963 about 25,000 Canadians died of cancer; 380 were under eight years of age. Of every six deaths from all causes in Canada, one is caused by cancer. More men than women are affected, the ratio being 56 men to 44 women. There has been a slight increase in the national cancer death rate. In 1940 the number of cancer deaths per 100,000 population was 122; in 1950 it was 128; by 1963 it had risen to 133. Much of this increase was due to lung cancer.

April is Cancer Month in Winchester and the local Cancer Society will have more than 150 volunteers canvassing for funds throughout the entire Winchester district. The objective of the Winchester and District Branch is $2,000. Please do your share!

Toronto Report

BY FRED M. CASS

In contrast to the long and tedious hours of debate for months with a final flourish of accomplishment at the Session's end which we have witnessed on Parliament Hill in Ottawa, the Ontario Legislature has been slowly but steadily debating and working its way through the Province's business with plenty of time for each Member to have his say and yet with no major filibuster or obstruction of the people's business.

The estimates of the Department of Labour and of the Department of Reform Institutions last week received their expected debate and necessary approval. In the case of each of these Departments the New Democratic Party members were as wordy as usual, putting over and over and over again in the printed Hansard their Party's philosophy with respect to the principles which lie behind government poilcies in both the sphere of labour and of correction laws. And since the NDP socialist philosophy and principles in these areas are not shared by either of the two old and major parties, there was very little result gained from all the verbosity save perhaps a reasonable impatience on the part of all other Members to get on with the work of the House.

Two important committees brought in reports during the week. One was the Select Committee of the House on The Municipal Act and associated legislation. This Committee has been sitting for several years and had at previous Sessions brought into the House interim progress reports. The final Report appears to be a most interesting work obviously guided by the experience as well as the prejudices of its Chairman. Many basic and far-reaching changes in Ontario's municipal organization were recommended or suggested by the Committee's report. For those of us in rural Ontario the greatest change suggested is one often previously advanced by others, which would abolish our present Village-Town-Township-County municipalities as we know them, and in their place erect a larger area or regions which would be more homohenous and adaptable to present conditions in Ontario than some believe our present municipal organization to be. Such far-reaching and basic change, however, will require a great deal more study and research and experimentation before it could be acted upon or adopted and much more about this pressing problem undoubtedly will be said, printed, heard and read in the days ahead.

The other Report was by the Attorney-General's Committee on Security Legislation set up about two years ago. This Committee, headed by the Chairman of the Ontario Securities Commission and composed of prominent and knowledgeable men from the Civil Service, the academic field, business life and the securities industry, presented a very complete report of the present bad practices and laws in the securities field. Recommendations were submitted based on British and American experience and laws which, if implemented, should destroy most of the presently complained-of ills but may also, in so doing, destroy a large source of risk capital so necessary to the development of our economy.

Ottawa Report

By Mrs. Jean Wadds

On Friday, March 26th, the Minister of Agriculture announced the Government's dairy policy.

Immediately the Opposition critics hit to the core of the problem, the well considered request from the Dairy Industry of $3.50 per cwt.

Mr. Arnold Peters (Temiskaming) whose father has long been associated with dairying and Dairy Associations, put it plainly:

"The farmers have waited until quite late in the year for this announcement to be made. It should be borne in mind that the dairy policy is to change by May 1, and if this statement is correct I doubt whether the minister will have the regulations ready by that time.

I believe the farmers of this nation, particularly those engaged in the production of secondary milk, would take the view that when the Canadian Federation of Agriculture made its recent presentation asking for a base price for secondary milk of $3.50, it was not being unreasonable. But the Minister has weaseled and finagled on that amount."

Mr. Clement Vincent (Nicolet-Yamaska) active on all Agricultural committees, was also concerned as to the actual amount to be received by farmers.

"We do not yet know if the dairy producer will get the requested minimum price, that is $3.50 per cwt., but the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the farmers' unions and the catholic farmers' union informed us that if the price under the new dairy policy is $3.30, $3.35 or even $3.48, strong protests will be made with the Government in order to get this minimum price of $3.50 which is absolutely necessary for every dairy producer.

In practice farmers will not know what they are getting in subsidy until the end of the eleven month period. Only under the most optimum conditions will the goal of $3.50 per cwt. be received.

The main factor involved is the announced intention of the Government to deduct from the subsidy any expenses accrued by the Government in shipping dairy surpluses out of the country. The calculated subsidy could, for example, be 15c per cwt. and from this could be taken a Government deduction of, for example, 5c per cwt. for export expenses, leaving the farmer only 10c per cwt. subsidy payment.

There is a second subsidy payable to the producer of manufactured milk at the end of the eleven month period and based strictly on 1964-65, or last year's production rather than the current production. This is a graduated subsidy as follows:

(1) Any producer producing milk in year 1964-65 not eligible;

(2) on production up to and including 47,999 pounds of manufactured milk, subsidy 25c per cwt.;

(3) on the amount of milk shipped between 48,000 pounds and 95,999 pounds, Government subsidy 20 per cwt.;

(4) all milk marketed in excess of 95,999 pounds, 10c per cwt.

It is estimated that this second subsidy will probably work out to about $100.00 average payment per producer.

Of great interest to Grenville-Dundas is the cheese branch of the industry. The Minister of Agriculture did not mention cheese at all. We do not know whether the Government intends to restore the subsidy on cheese exports, especially to the United Kingdom, but we know that the subsidy which was 4 cents a pound at the beginning of 1963, was reduced to 3 cents a pound by the present Liberal Government, that same year, and then to 2 cents a pound, last year.

A press release from the Dairy Farmers of Canada this week follows with the same criticism:

"It is clear that in practice the policy announced of a $3.50 objective for "domestically used" milk almost certainly means manufacturing milk producers will receive something less than $3.50 on the average.

With regard to the policy on export subsidies, the present basis is unacceptable due to the technique of deducting export subsidies expenses from the $3.50 that producers would otherwise get.

Another clearly unsatisfactory aspect of the new policy is the exclusion of the milk which goes to manufacturing that is produced by the farmer who also produces milk for the fluid (fresh bottled) market. Such milk will return the producer probably 70c per hundred pounds less than that paid to producers who ship manufacturing milk only. This is too great a differential by far. Dairy Farmers of Canada has asked that this "secondary" milk receive the same level of support as any other manufacturing milk. As an absolute minimum the return for such milk should include the full 74c per lb. for butter which is the support level for this product.

The producer of farm separated cream is inadequately compensated under the policy. A further 3c per pound of butterfat should be provided."

Sugar and Spice

by Bill Smiley

Watching the world lately, I find it hard to believe that mankind has progressed very far since the day Cain clobbered Abel and began a fad that has never lost its popularity — murdering one's brother.

Whether it's Alabama, Hamburg or Havana, Quito or Quebec, the pattern is the same: clubs swinging, women screaming, skulls cracking, blood spurting.

Hammering one's fellow citizen with a billy-club is one of the leading outdoor sports of this generation.

It's difficult to believe that all the hatred and viciousness among men is based on color, or religion. The Pakistanians and Indians loathe each other. They're the same color, different religions. The Viet Nams and the Viet Congs murder each other with mutual relish. Same color, same religion.

In South Africa, whites kick blacks around. In North Africa, blacks kick whites around. In both cases, religion is ammaterial.

In South America, the rich kick the poor around, and they all go to the same church. In North America, wives kick their husbands around. Same color; same religion; different sex.

If it isn't racial or religious or sexual, what then is the basis for all the pounding of other people? Is it simply fear that if you don't smash the other fellow's skull first, he will kick you in the groin?

Or is it something more simple and primitive, just a savage joy in the letting of blood, in pain and cruelty?

It's hard to know. An anthropologist will say one thing, a psychologist another. And a good bartender could probably come as close to the truth as either.

It is my experience that the tensions of race, creed and color are completely artificial. It is only when they are fanned by ignorance, fear or malice that they burst into flame. Ignored, they dissolve and vanish.

The other day, I was supervising an examination. For something to do, I looked down a couple of rows of students and checked off their national origins. They were Swiss, Polish, Dutch, German, Italian, Norwegian, Anglo-Saxon. There were Jews and Roman Catholics and Protestants of all denominations.

They didn't even look as they should have. A red-headed German and a red-headed Jew. A couple of swarthy, black-haired Mediterranean types called Smith and Jones.

And I happen to know there is no hatred, no tension over race or religion or pigmentation, in this group. There is only the normal clash of personalities, based entirely on individual likes and dislikes.

In 1943 I trained at a R. A. F. station in England. On my course were pilots from half a dozen European countries, from Canada and the U. S., from Africa and Australia, from Trinidad and India, and from all over the British Isles.

Color ranged from silver-blond Norwegian, through coffee-hued Maori Indian from New Zealand to coal-black West Indian. Religion ran the gamut from agnostic to fervent R. C., from Baptist to Moslem. We were like brothers.

On my 21st birthday, having sprained an ankle badly in a rugger game, I couldn't walk to my own birthday party. I was carried to the pub on the shoulders of a magnificent turbaned Sikh from India, a Polish count, an Australian dairy farmer, and the scion of a fine old Belgian family. It was my finest hour, when my brothers deposited me gently at the bar.

And it helped convince me that race, religion and color have very little to do with man's inhumanity . . . or humanity . . . to man.

Letters

Winchester Press,
Winchester, Ont.

Dear Sir:

A short, but nevertheless, sincere note to thank you for your co-operation and assistance to the Ontario Heart Foundation during our 1965 Heart Fund Campaign. The coverage we received from your paper surpassed all expectations, and it is due to this fact that our Heart Fund was successful.

You enabled us to inform the public that February was Heart Month in Canada and also what the Ontario Heart Foundation is doing in the field of research.

We have always enjoyed the association with all press representatives and it is a pleasure to look forward to this throughout the year.

Once again, a sincere "heart" felt thanks for your assistance and co-operation during February.

With best wishes.

Yours very truly,

ONTARIO HEART FOUNDATION

The Seventh Column

Bill Smiley's widely travelled column "Sugar and Spice" rates a high readership not only in The Press but in more than 100 weekly newspapers across Canada. This week's column is just one of the many reasons why Bill's direct approach to everything in general seems to meet with the approval of a great many readers. Bill writes of humanity and inhumanity this week, of discrimination and the urge to harm your brother. It makes pretty good reading and it makes a lot of sense. The message is there as you will see when you read Smiley's column on this editorial page.

Maybe by the time this column is read we'll have to eat our words. But we still say the Maple Leafs have a few good hockey games left this season — as Les Canadiens from Montreal may well find out. The Leafs have looked anything but sharp in the first two appearances. But they have too many good pros, conscious of the loot at the end of the line, to lay down on the job without a good struggle. In the other series it is all Detroit so far with the series swinging to Chicago. If the Red Wings pick up a win in the Windy City they could end it all in Detroit next Sunday night. We call them to make the finals, and providing the injury list isn't too long, it is going to take a lot of team to keep this flying crew from capturing Lord Stanley's famous mug this year.

This Spring will probably go down on record as the year of no Nation flood. At least it looks that way now and there seems little possibility, even with heavy rains, of nature changing the picture. However, we do need some rains in the worst way. The water level is generally low, fields are unusually dry and wells are far from their normal level. In town a good rain or two would help erase some of the winter debris still littering the streets. Certainly hope the Council comes up with a better street cleaning program this year. Right now the main thoroughfares, in particular, are filthy.

If you don't think week-end traffic through Winchester is heavy, better think again. If Sunday's parade through town on Highway 31 was any indication the short Morrisburg to Ottawa route is in for record business in the warmer months ahead. Sunday's traffic was almost endless and at times it was not uncommon to see 20 or so cars lined up at the main intersection.

Winchester Curling Club winds up its first season in the new building this week-end with a gala club bonspiel. The first year has been a good one and the executive is looking forward to even better things when next October rolls around. The Club is certainly a credit to the community and curlers from Winchester and the entire district have, without doubt, enjoyed the facilities.

And now for some golf . . . or fishing, whatever your fancy. Judging from the conversation it looks as though the neat nine at Upper Canada will be a busy place this summer. The next nine at this popular lay-out are being prepared but it is not expected that they will be ready for play until late this year and very likely not until the opening of the 1966 season.

Winchester's newest store, MacIntosh's TV and Appliances, opens its modern doors to-morrow, Friday, and Harvey and Phyl MacIntosh extend a cordial invitation to everyone to be on hand for the opening Friday night. The store at the Main-St. Lawrence intersection is a real asset to the Winchester and district business community and we wish the owners all the best in their new venture.

Especially For Women

At Home

Mr. and Mrs. Ganzmer Clark will be "At Home" to their friends on April 24, 1965, from 2 to 4 p.m. on the occasion of their 50th Wedding Anniversary, at 310 Church St., Iroquois.

Hospital Patient

The many friends of Mr. Gordon Sutton, 545 Broadhead Street, Ottawa, will be sorry to learn that he is seriously ill in Ottawa Civic Hospital.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Kerr, of Mountain, announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Elaine, to Able Seaman Charles Parnell, H.M.C.S. Gloucester, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parnell, of Porter's Lake, N. S. Marriage to take place in late April.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Fawcett, of Winchester, wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their son, John, to Jennifer Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, formerly of Winchester.

BIRTHS

Following is a list of recent births at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital:

Slides of Holy Land Enjoyed At Vernon

Very picturesque slides of a trip to the Holy Land by Miss Edna MacFadden, of St. Stephen's Church, Ottawa, highlighted the April W. M. S. meeting of Vernon Presbyterian Church held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Wallace. Assisting her at the projector was Mrs. A. J. Campbell. A Crusader cross, heirloom necklace, glazed pottery were among the articles brought from Palestine which were displayed by Miss MacFadden.

Mrs. Condie, Presbyterial home helpers secretary, brought greetings from the president, Mrs. Mooney.

A life membership certificate was presented to Mrs. H. M. Lee. From a Toronto paper a news flash was read which had the pleasant news that a former S. S. member, Graham Stoodley, blind since he was fifteen months old, had been called to the Bar at Osgoode Hall. A card of congratulations was sent to Graham.

"Through The Years" was the W. M. S. programme convened by Mrs. Ian Dow, assisted by several ladies.

The Ladies' Aid meeting, with Mrs. Wallace presiding, decided to have a Clarke Food Supper in mid October, and also accepted a catering request for July. Mrs. Clarence Kennedy offered to set up and quilt a quilt, recently pieced by Mrs. Wallace Comrie.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Wm. Dow and Mrs. Ken. Dow.

Women Teachers Hear Conference Reports

Dundas County Women Teachers' Federation meeting in the Winchester Public School on March 30th listened to an interesting account of the Toronto Conference given by Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Cole illustrated the address.

President Mrs. Marjory Thompson presided at the meeting. A short program of song and dance was presented by Winchester pupils Dolwyn Collins, Stephen Workman, Wendy Earl and Gordon Durant.

A Bake Sale was conducted by Mrs. Helmer and Mrs. Hanes. Funds received go to the Goodwill Fund of the Federation.

Large Turnout For Ladies' PC Meeting

A largely attended meeting of the Representatives of the Grenville-Dundas Ladies' Progressive Conservative Association met in the Wedgwood Room of the Parliament Buildings for dinner. Mrs. Jean Wadds and Mrs. Fred M. Cass were present.

The president, Mrs. P. A. Locke, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Locke gave a progress report on the MacDonald Cartier Library Fund, noting that the halfway mark had been reached in their objective.

General discussion followed on Work Shops to be held in Grenville-Dundas, and a report of this discussion will be sent to W. J. L. Boyd, President of the Grenville-Dundas Men's Association.

The ladies agreed to be hosts to the Annual Fall Eastern District Meeting of the Women's Advisory Committee. Place and date will be announced later.

Membership tickets for the Grenville-Dundas Progressive Assoication can be bought through the Men's Association.

St. Paul's Agnes Glassford Meets

Mrs. Irene Armstrong and Mrs. Fred Christie were conveners of the March meeting of the Agnes Glassford Evening Auxiliary held in the Sunday School rooms of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

An inspirational verse read by the president opened the meeting. Letters of thanks from shut-ins were read by the corresponding secretary.

During the meeting the treasurer reportd a substantial bank balance which will be forwarded to the Presbytery Treasury this month. Mrs. S. Cameron and Mrs. A. Davidson volunteered to convene the April meeting.

Mrs. Armstrong read the devotional from John 14, and Mrs. Christie read a paper "Tying the Strings" referring to bundles of love and thoughtfulness which help to hold society together. Mrs. Armstrong closed the meeting with prayer.

"Art Recognition" was the name of a contest conducted previous to the lunch served. Mrs. E. Barkley thanked the conveners.

W. E. Watts Dies At Ottawa In 76th Year

A former Winchester area resident, Wilber Erwin Watts, second son of the late Byron Watts and Jennie Hughes, died in Ottawa Civic Hospital March 19th, in his 76th year.

Born at New Dublin, Ontario, April 2, 1889, he moved with his parents to the Melvin Settlement in March 1896. There he received his public school education and later attended Winchester High School. Following a business course in Ottawa he gained employment with the M. F. Beach Co. as a stenographer and bookkeeper. On December 25, 1913, he married Ethel A. Summers, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Summers. The couple resided in Winchester for several years.

In the Spring of 1929 he accepted a position as bookkeeper in the office of Dominion Concrete in Kemptville and lived there until 1942. At that time he became employed by M. Zagerman of Ottawa and remained there until 1963 when he retired because of ill health.

A member of the Sunnyside Avenue Wesleyan Methodist Church, he is survived by his widow, Ethel A. Summers; three sons, Harold and Ronald of Hazeldean, and Kenneth of Cornwall; two sisters, Miss Inda Watts and Mrs. Jerry Summers, and a brother, Aura, all of Winchester.

Funeral service was conducted by Rev. M. E. Summers in the Chapel at Hulse and Playfair, Ottawa, on March 22nd. Interment was in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wallace Surprised By Family On 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wallace were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening last when they were taken by their family for a five o'clock turkey dinner in the private dining room of the Country Kitchen, in honour of their Diamond Wedding Anniversary.

The family was represented by their daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren. It was deeply regretted that a few members of the family were unable to be present.

The tables, which were beautifully laid, were centred by a bowl of white crysanthemums and pink carnations and tall tapers.

Another happy surprise of the evening was the gift of an artistically designed and delicately etched family tree, done by one of the grandsons, James D. Taylor of Toronto. The presentation was made by three of the small great grandchildren, Kathy and Michael Windsor and Leah Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace expressed their thanks and sincere appreciation to their family for this very happy evening, another treasure for their book of memories.

A ROUND-UP OF NEWS FROM THE DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOLS

OTHS MDHS NDDHS

N. D. D. H. S.

(By Joyce Budgen)

Friday, April 2nd, was a very busy night at North Dundas. Open House proved to be a great success and everyone was very well pleased with the results. The parking lot was full of cars and the school full of parents and members of the surrounding communities to watch the students of North Dundas perform many of the daily activities of the school. These activities included a basketball game, a fashion show, science experiments, and even several intricate dissections in the Biology laboratory. The visitors were given a glimpse into the varied activities of the school, were able to see the school in operation and actually become a part of its workings. Congratulations are certainly in order for all those who made this such a successful evening and a most educational experience.

Report cards have been given out and returned by now. This is the last and most important term of the year as the next exams are the June exams—the ones that weigh the heaviest in promotion.

A film will be shown at the school this Thursday evening for all those wishing to see it: "The Old Man And The Sea." This should be especially interesting to all Grade XII's and XIII's as it is being studied in English this year.

O. T. H. S.

(By Sharon Irven)

By now the majority of students have received the results from their exams and are no doubt conditioning their parents for report cards which are soon to follow.

Perhaps in an effort to inspire us to harder work, a Careers Day was held on Friday, April 2nd. Each student was given the opportunity of listening to three speakers. The speakers included reprsentatives from the Civil Service, Metropolitan Life, Department of Agriculture, Department of Lands and Forests, Carleton University, St. Pat's College, The Royal Bank, Ontario Vocational Centre, Armed Forces and Civic Hospital.

The Year Book Society has been working to meet the final deadline. Students who ordered Year Books are reminded that they may pay the balance of their subscription all this week and next.

Many students have been practicing diligently for Variety Night which will be held later in May. This is being advertised as "the best yet" and all indications are that it will be.

The Student Council is asking for theme suggestions for this year's formal. Arrangements have been made for the dance to be held May 21 at Lakeside Gardens. Music will be supplied by the Esquires.

EXPERIMENT AT QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY

TV Goes To School

Television as a tool for teaching is under close scrutiny at Queen's University.

The University's new Biology building has been equipped with closed circuit television which will permit a lecture or laboratory demonstration to be channelled to as many as 16 classrooms.

While television is in use there, elsewhere on the campus a committee appointed by the University Senate is considering the value of television and its best applications in the university environment.

PICTURE

Professor H. M. Good of Queen's University Department of Biology adjusts the focus for a microscopic view of a plant section used in a closed circuit television lecture at Queen's. The television facilities, installed in Queen's new biology building, can serve 16 classrooms at once.

Two demonstrations in relatively large auditoriums have been held, using regular cases in History and Philosophy. Students of the courses and staff members who observed have filed out questionnaires, whose answers are to be analyzed to provide the committee with preliminary reactions to the use of television.

Major advantage of television, it is felt, lies in the fact that it permits a professor to show to a large number of students events too difficult to demonstrate otherwise. It puts every one of scores who may be watching a lecture on television into direct contact with what the lecturer wishes to show.

In the $2,900,000 Biology building, picture tubes glow in television sets perched in a corner of each equipped classroom.

The lectures and demonstrations originate in two small studios on the third floor of the building. Each is equipped with two television cameras, one to be focused on the lecturer and the other on microscope sections or demonstrations.

Dr. B. N. Smallman, head of the biology department, is enthusiastic about the equipment provided for the building.

"It's a model installation and is proving most satisfactory," he said.

Its versatility and value have been improved by the addition of a special welded aluminum housing for one of the cameras. The housing rolls on tracks laid horizontally on one wall of the studio, permitting the rapid shift of the bench camera from one demonstration to another. The installation was designed by Dr. H. M. Good of the biology department, one of the "regular performers" on the closed circuit system.

The housing also permits the camera to be moved into position above a high-powered microscope, so that prepared slides may be shown on the television screens.

In the future, additional electronic switchgear will permit television lectures and demonstrations to reach 24 classrooms in the building.

One demonstration of the value of television was provided recently when a biology laboratory session involved dissection of a dead cat. Sketches showing the various steps of the dissection were not available for the students, but the problem was surmounted by demonstrating these on television.

The students, reported one classroom observer, were able to go ahead without the sketches. "Without television, this couldn't have been done," he said.

For its on-campus study of the applications of television, Queen's will be able to draw on a report already prepared for the committee of presidents of the provincially-assisted universities and colleges of Ontario.

This report indicates that closed circuit television may help Ontario universities through a difficult period in the next decade. In that time it is felt likely there will be a critical shortage of lecturers. With a single lecturer speaking by television to several classrooms, a part of this problem would be resolved.

PICTURE

Introduction of closed circuit television for lectures at Queen's University has provided a new teaching aid this year. Above, first-year Biology students attend a lecture delivered via the television screen. Such lectures are supplemented by laboratory work and other lectures delivered in person by the teaching staff.

4-H Clubs

Winchester

A feature of the fifth meeting of the Winchester 4-H Homemaking Club No. 3 was the visit of the Home Economist, Mrs. Murray, who was welcomed by Mrs. Beedie. The leaders, Mrs. Beedie and Mrs. Aitchison, explained the differences between informal, semi-formal, formal and high teas, and the customs surrounding each. The leaders and several of the girls demonstrated making fancy sandwiches.

During the tea which followed the meeting, Mrs. Murray gave the girls some very good information about Achievement Day and the Reference Files.

The president, Linda Stewart, thanked Mrs. Murray for being present.

SIXTH MEETING

At the sixth meeting on April 3rd, the girls discussed planning a party. Included in this discussion was the proper method of extending invitations, suitable plaes for having the party, games which might be played, and other things pertaining to the subject. The assistant leader, Mrs. Aitchison, gave a demonstration on how to decorate a cake using marshmallows.

Carleton County

4-H Clubs in Carleton County will be organizing during the Easter holidays. Open to all young people who are at least 12 years of age by January 1, 1965, and who will not be 21 before January 31, 1965, they have a chief objective of development of a club member's thorough training in agriculture and citizenship.

Eight different projects are offered prospective members this year. In the dairy and beef calf projects members are required to care for one calf for the duration of the club year. Junior dairy and beef heifers are born between January 1 and May 1, 1965. Senior dairy and beef heifers and beef steers are to be born between July 1 and December 1, 1964.

Swine Club members will be required to look after one pair of weanling sows, and sheep Club members must care for at least five ewes and their lambs. In all livestock clubs, members are required to keep records of the cost of production.

Barley will be stressed by the Grain Club this year. And the Soil and Crop Improvement Association will assist in the purchase of seed. Corn Club members will be given a sample of early maturing hybrid to seed their plot. The tractor project requires members to be 14 years old and have a tractor available for use.

S. Mountain

South Mountain Party Pets discussed their skit for the 4-H Homemaking Achievement Day at their meeting on Saturday. Ten members were present as Ada Meerakker acted as chairman for the business session.

The leaders asked the girls to write up their club stories and include a formal wedding invitation in their books. Notes were taken on the subjects. Mary Lennox, Doreen Farrell and Linda Berry read their notes on a planned party.

Chesterville

At the organizational meeting of the Chesterville 4-H Poultry Club George Holmes was elected president. Ed. Pearson chaired the meeting in the Department of Agriculture Office, Winchester.

Eleven members present elected the following officers: President, George Holmes; vice president, Deanna Holmes; secretary, Phyllis Holmes; and press reporter, Hugh Garlough.

Vernon WA Hears Easter Message

Opening theme of the regular meeting of the Vernon W. A. was "Christ Is Risen," given by the president, Mrs. Isobel Lewis. Twenty members answered the roll call in company with four visitors.

Included in the devotional by Mrs. E. Howard were the crucifixion, death and resurrection of Jesus. The Easter message was given by Mrs. George Lewis who asked: "If Christ does not rise, then our preaching is done for nothing and we must live for nothing too?"

Entertainment was provided by Marjorie McDiarmid, Jill Stewart, Brenda Blair and Carol Ferguson who sang "Mighty Army Of The Young."

During the business session it was decided to hold a pot luck supper on April 26 commencing at 7 p.m. Each member will bring a guest to the meeting, and entertainment is planned following the supper.

APRIL IS CANCER MONTH

Puddlin'

Ingredients:

Two little girls (or boys).

Four low and leaky overshoes (or rubber boots).

One big puddle (deep for good measure).

Instructions:

Stand in puddle two little girls.

Stir water gently with feet until water flows into boots.

Step firmly on bottom of puddle until mud oozes in leaks and covers boots.

Slowly proceed out of puddle, being careful not to disturb mud.

Enter kitchen with care allowing mud to fall in patterns across a spotless floor.

Leave boots in bathtub.

Return in five minutes to observe one well baked mother.

WARNING: repeated use of this recipe will result in the baker being given the Good Spanking Seal of Approval.

Well, little Laurel and Linda, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Carkner, did not try this infamous recipe on their mother, but they do illustrate aptly just what the ingredients are for the recipe and have a stir stick in hand. Momma Carkners comment might coincide with the sign that stands at the corner of York and Mill Streets "STOP."

CCGS Grenville To Be Replaced After Fifty Years' Service

A familiar veteran of 50 years' service on the St. Lawrence and the lower Great Lakes, the CCGS Grenville, is to be retired in Canadas' Centennial year.

Tenders have been called for a replacement of the lighthouse tender that has become a familiar sight to all along the St. Lawrence. Completion date for the new vessel has been set at Spring 1967. A second ship, the CCGS Safeguarder, will also be replaced. The Grenville is stationed at Prescott with the latest model lighthouse tender, ice breaker Simcoe; and the Safeguarder at Sorel. Both new ships will be of a similar design to the Simcoe. The only exception being that the new twin diesel units will be two feet longer at 181 feet.

The vessels primarily service navigation aids and perform lighthouse supply duties and will be able to function as ice breaking units when required. Each of the ships will carry a four-ton derrick and the Prescott vessel will have a special buoy wench operated by remote control. Accommodation will be for a crew of 30 with either single or double berth cabins plus special facilities for messing, catering and recreation.

The Grenville was built and launched in Toronto in 1915. It began its 50th year of service last week when it left for the Beauharnois Canal to prepare for the expected early opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Captain Al Moreau is master of the ship.

DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

Taking Measures To Decrease "Nuisance" Beaver Population

An increase in the beaver population in the Kemptville District, Department of Lands and Forests, has made the furry creatures take on a nuisance value. Their engineering projects in conservation of water have resulted in many complaints of flooding and poor drainage. These colonies become known as nuisance beaver.

To cope with the situation the department has instituted a beaver removal programme in which trappers are requested to trap colonies out completely. If they are unable to do so or if new colonies move in the Spring, these in turn are destroyed by department personnel.

The moderate snow condition of the winter has permitted trappers to devote an extra effort to beaver removal. This has shown up in the number of beaver sealed in the district since November 1, 1964. A total of 3,682 beaver were sealed up to February 28th, 1965. Several others are expected to be sealed before the season closed last week.

Property owners are requested to advise the Conservation Officer in their respective area of any damage done by beaver.

WHAT GROWS FASTER THAN WEEDS?

Debts can grow faster than weeds under the right conditions

Suppose you had an accident or a sickness that incapitated you for a while . . .

. . . the everyday expenses would go on; there would be extra medical expenses; and you might have to pay someone to do the chores.

Under these conditions, debts might grow faster than weeds. Why not find out how CIA's could help you meet the costs of this emergency?

ACCIDENT and SICKNESS INSURANCE

Barkley - Gow Vows Exchanged

Baskets of white gladioli, pink and white carnations decorated Colquhoun United Church on Saturday as Carol Anne Gow was united in marriage with Carl Arnold Barkley. Rev. Wellwood Adam performed the double ring ceremony at 1.30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Gow and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Barkley of Williamsburg. Wedding music was played by Miss Linda Hummel who accompanied the soloist, Mr. Danny Millward who sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register and "I'l Walk Beside You" at the reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white lace made in A-line fashion with a slight train, and bow in back, and shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried white and red carnations.

Miss Iris Gow, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a light green nylon over taffeta, small white hat and carried white and pink carnations. Roy Barkley was the groomsman and the guests were ushered by Ray Barkley and David Gow.

For the wedding reception in the church hall the bride's mother wore a dusty rose knit suit with rose and white accessories. The groom's mother chose a multi-colored acetate dress with navy accessories. Their corsages were white carnations.

For a wedding trip to points west the bride chose an aqua shade dress with beige accessories and borg jacket. On their return they will reside in Morrisburg.

RECIPE OF THE MONTH
By the Ontario Tender Fruit Institute
"Buy Canada Choice Canned Fruit"

Minted Peach Lambies

Springlike accent to spring lamb patties

1 lb. ground lamb
4 strips of bacon
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup milk
dash of thyme or marjoram
4 or more peach halves
mint jelly

Mix ground lamb with salt, thyme or marjoram and milk. Shape into 4 oval patties. Score with handle of wooden spoon. Drain a can of Canada Choice canned peach halves. Arrange peach halves (hollows up) around lamb patties on broiler pan. Place 5 inches from heat and broil 12 minutes. Turn patties. Broil for 5 minutes longer. Fill centres of peach halves with mint jelly. Top each pattie with bacon slice. Broil for another few minutes until bacon is done.
