Foot Guards Regimental Band At Parks, Sunday

The regimental Band, Governor General's Foot Guards, made its first appearance on June 15th, 1972, barely eight days after the formation of the Regiment. The occasion the departure from Canada of Lord Lisgar, who was relinquishing his post as Governor General of Canada. In the one hundred years since that first ceremonial occasion, the Band's appearance at the many military and state functions that take place in the Nation's Capital have made it familiar to many Canadian foreigh guests alike.

The band has performed on several occasions before Her Majesty, the Queen. Due to the Regiment's close association with the Governor General, the band has performed for many distinguished Canadian and foreing personages.

The band is comprised of approximately fifty misicians. The present Diredtor of music Captain G. E. Aubrey, CD, has served for twenty-one years with the band, rising through the ranks to attain his present position. He is ably assisted by the Bandmaster, Master Warrant Officer J. Fleming, who saw service with military bands in England prior to coming to Canada in 1957, and the Drum Major, Master Warrant Officer J. Fleming, who saw service with military bands and the Drum Major, Master Warrant Officer J. R. Milne, CD, who served with the band for seventeen years.

The band appears by kind permission of Lieutenant Colonel H. R. Hill Lieutenant Colonel Commanding, Governor General's Foot Guards, and with the co-operation of the Cornwall Musicians Guild, Local 800, American Federation of Musicians.
The public is cordially invited to enjoy this performance. Admission is free.

The winners are Christel Bellinger, RR2, Iroquois, and Jerry Venema, RR1, Morrisburg. Congratulations to both youngsters on their wins.

Getting Ready For Canoe Race

Residents of the little hamlet of Mariatown, west of Morrisburg recently decided that their locale with its many beautiful new residences, as well as some historic old ones, needed some "sprucing up". By a concerted community effort with almost every resident participating, they have installed street lights, have erected street names, and have created a small but beautiful park overlooking the St. Lawrence.

The next item on their ambitious program is to provide facilities at the park, and to this end they are holding a Loyalist Day on Sunday, August 26th, featuring a conoe race and a huge beef barbecue among the events. The canoe race will be the feature attraction, offering prizes of $350.00 Entry forms are available from Tony Cummins or Dale Crowder, telephones 543-2354 and 543-2275.

The following rules and regulations will govern the race.
1. Canoes must be pointed at bolth ends.
2. Single blade paddles of any length, but not to exceed 12 inches wide.
3. Both contestants must finish Two paddlers per canoe.
4. Extra paddles allowed in canoe.
5. End caps to three feet allowed.
6. No pumps allowed. Sponge and baling cans are allowed.
7. Occupants must carry or wear approved life saving devices
8. No kayaks allowed.
9. No bumping or horseplay allowed during competition or canoe may be disqualified at the discretion of the judges.
10. Decision of the judges shall prevail on all questionable canoes and disqualifications.
11. Applications must be accompanied with entry fee and must be postmarked not later than August 22nd, 1973. Late entries until noon of race day will be charged $2.00 extra.
12. Canoe competition organizers will not be responsible for damage to person(s) or equipment during the events.

For the junior class (14 and under - must show proof of age) the course is from the west side of Flagg Creek to Mariatown Bay.

SUMMER'S GOING!

For those who haven't had the time or taken the time to get away for a few days we hope the good weather we've had this summer stays just a while longer.

After the wet start we had in the Spring the hot summer days of July and August have come as a blessing and most citizens who like the great outdoors have taken advantage of the best summer in years.

The organizations that depend on good weather for their fun - the ball teams, the outdoor bowlers, summer golfers and swimmers, as well as the renewed tennis interest, have all benefitted and enjoyed the past couple of months.

Now that school opening is not far off we hope that everyone gets in all the time they can muster in the next few weeks.

The outdoors is healthy and its fun - and it costs less than anything else we get today.

STAY OFF THAT TRACK!

The outdoor track at Seaway District High School has just recently been completed at a cost of $60,000. That's a lot of hay!

But after spending that amount of money one would expect a little more respect from citizens. Lately there have been citizens seen riding, motoring and damaging the new surface. It isn't meant for bicycles, motorcycles and cars and any of these can force a resurfacing in the first year of its operation.

At a great deal of cost too, we might add. Please stay off.

IT TAKES A BIT OF SACRIFICE

School and college opening is not all that far off and many students are making plans for returning to academic studies. But some are not.

For some the best thing in their lives will be to start in earning a living, education coming to them on the job. For others, school opening will mean they will not return to school but will drift here and there trying to make up their minds what they are seeking in life.

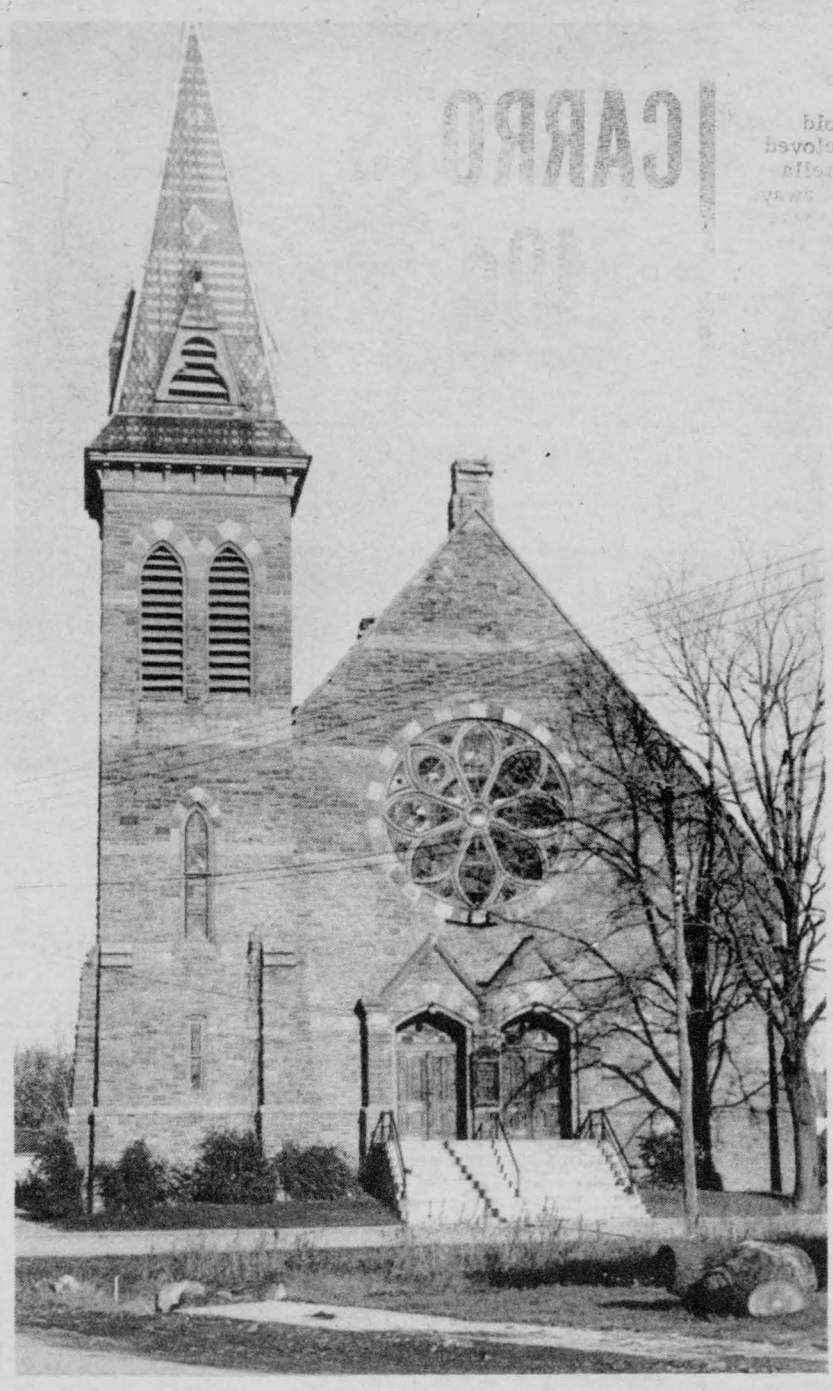

It is sometimes a hard decision to make.

And it is sometimes just as hard to decide to stay out of school as it is to return. But a decision will soon have to be made and we hope all young people will give their future the serious thought that it deserves. Then work at whatever they decide.

And don't forget the sacrifice that parents make no matter what your decision!

Iroquois United Church

Our last picture of the four churches in the old town at the time of the Seaway is of the Iroquois United Church, situated on College Street East, on the South side of the road, and one block North of the river. One of its outstanding features was the large circular stained glass window.

"IT'S FRIENDSHIP, FRIENDSHIP, JUST THE PERFECT . . . "

by Bill Smiley

There's nothing like seeing old friends. Or old fiends, as it comes out sometimes when the linotype operator is not on his toes ha ha.

I have a couple of old fiends who managed to drop in while I was getting ready to go to England. Between them, they almost aborted the trip.

It's not that they bother me. I wouldn't say that. It's just that they cripple me for about two days each, by the time we finish reminiscing and get to bed as the robins begin to chirp.

That's not so bad. A chap must expect that sort of ruin. But they brought with them a couple of other old fiends — their wives. That's what really put the tart on the griddle, as Lord Faversham said while he was roasting a well-known street-walker.

We have, all sorts of friends, eh? There are the close chums of public school, with whom there is nothing in common by the time you are in Grade 11 except the fact that Old Lady Williams beat the hell out of you every second day, when you were in Grade 5.

Then there are the bosom buddies of high school. This is an eternal, yearning friendship, often depending on the type of bosom. Ten years later you meet and there's not much to say after exchanging the number of children and wives or husbands you have had.

College friends are even closer. I was looking at a picture of four of us the other day. We had in-jokes. We were inseparable. We would give our left arm for each other.

I haven't seen one of them for twenty years. One is a drunk, a second is dead, and the third is an accountant. Not necessarily in that order.

Then there are the friends you make on summer jobs. These are so intimate you can hardly wait to separate so that you can write each other. Once.

And if you were in the service, there are all sorts of friends. There's Dutch Kleimeyer, the ubiquitous Australian, Jack Ryan, the unmitigated Canadian, Singh Thandi, the sinful Indian, and so on. A few of them still around, and your see them every five years, but that means only a couple of days of ruin.

And, of course, you have made friends since you married. There are Shirley and Bill, and Joan and Dick, and Jack and Jill, and Humphrey and Ursula. Not to mention Humpty and Dumpty. Those named are carefully disguised, and the last two can figure out for themselves who they are.

Nor should we forget professional friends, the people we work with. In my case, they range from someone like Miss S., who weighs 84 pounds after a steak dinner and has a laugh that would knock your fillings out, to Mrs. O., who is "the sexiest broad in the school", according to the kids. As a gentleman, I can only agree with them.

Yes, a chap gathers a lot of friends over a few decades. But the two I mentioned earlier on are a little special. Bub and Trap. We joined the air force together, drank beer together, sang bawdy songs together, and pursued the fair sex together.

We learned to fly together. On one leave, we hitchhiked to New York together and I can still remember Bub, after a bit of intemperance or something, spewing all over Broadway from the window of a taxi. Broadway has gone steadily downhill since.

We went our several ways during the big conflagration, and all managed to stay alive during various hairy incidents.

When we got home from the wars, we got in touch. We were all going to college and funds were pretty slim, but we'd get together occasionally for some of the old riotous living of the rude soldiery.

We all fell in love about the same time and got married about the same time. We each have two children and have shared the woes and glows of raising kids. The three girls we chose, Peg, Ruth and Suse, are still married to us, something of a record these days.

We've all been modestly successful in a material way and modestly unsuccessful in a spiritual way.

Our wives tell us, individually, that we are rotten husbands and fathers, but we don't see them reaching into the grab-bag for substitutes.

When we meet, a couple of times a year, we compare

Marines and Guards In Sunset Ceremony

In 1812 the United States Marine Corps came to war with Canada aboard an American fleet and exhanged fire with the guns on Point Hen which two years later became the site the present-day Fort Henry.

This year, on Aug. 18, in a special sunset ceremony, the Marines will set foot inside the historic fortress, coming in peace and entrusted with a friendship between themselves and the Fort Henry Guard extending back to 1954.

It was that year the Marines paid their first official visit to Canada and this year's ceremony will denote the 12th occasion on which they and the Fort Henry Guard have appeared in joint ceremonies.

Guest of honor at this year's presentation is General Robert E. Cushman, Jr, the 25th Commandant of the Marine Corps, who will be the inspectin officer for the ceremony.

Following the inspection, the sunset ceremony program will feature colorful precision drills by both the Guards and the Marines.

The Guards are one of five units in the world, and the only Canadian unit, which the Marines have honored by the presentation of a Marine Corps drum.

Alternating with the Marines coming to Kingston, the Guards have been invited to Washington one of the few non-USMC units to be extended this privilege.

The unique friendship that exists between these two units is higlighted by the fact that General Lemuel C. Shepherd, when Commandant of the Marines, became Honorary Commander of the Guards and, in tribute to their Honorary Commander, the Guards always go off parade to the strains of the "Marine's Hymn."

Other than the Hymn, the year at Fort Henry is strictly 1867.

The Marines will not only be featured at the sunset ceremony, but will also be performing with the Guards at a special military tattoo, Aug. 19 in Kingston.

The Iroquois Minor Softball Association held their 4th Annual Midget Softball Tournament on the weekend of July 28th 1973.

There has been a definite improvement in the organization and the calibre of play in this tournament over the years and this season was no exception to the rule.

Each summer more citizens are coming forward and offering their services and with this co-operation the annual event is destined to become bigger and better in the future.

In addition to several team entries from the immediate area, entries and inquiries from teams within a 300 mile radius are today a reality.

As an example, this year, a team from the Toronto district (Alderwood) had its team management state that the Iroquois Tournament was one of the finest in which they were involved with this summer and are looking in great anticipation to returning next summer. With remarks of this type a community the size of Iroquois may hold their heads high in pride for the manner in which the event was staged. However, there is absolutely no reason for the annual event becoming a two day sixteen team tournament next season. Plans should be under way in the early autumn to prepare a committee to draft the plans for the successful completion of the Fifth Annual Midget Boys Softball Tournament. In fact some serious consideration should be given to holding the tournament, in advance of the Legion Sponsored Invitational Fastball Tournament and in this way, the preparation for both events could be planned earlier in the year in addition to having more volunteers availabe to assist both local projects

The fallowing is a summary of the 11 game 1973 Midget Boys Softball Tournament.

In the "B" final Williamsburg downed South Mountain 11 to 7. South Mountain received a $20 award, and Williamsburg was presented with a $40.00 consolation prize for being declared the "B" Champions.

The lineups for the "B" final were

The "B" Champions-Williamsburg scored 5 runs in the 2nd inning, 2 in the 3rd and 4th innings and concluded their scoring with one run in the sixth and 7th innings for their 11 run total.

The "A" Championship saw the visiting Alderwood team turn back the home-town Iroquois Midgets by a 9 to 2 count. The score however did not indicate the play. Both teams played a solid offense and defense contest.

Alderwood were presented with a cash award of $80.00 for being declared "A" champions and Iroquois was awarded $20.00 for being "A" runner-ups.

Alderwood scored their runs as follows 1 in 1st - 4 in the 2nd - 2 in the fifth - and 2 in the sixth. Iroquois were shut-out in all innings except the second inning in which they registered their 2 runs. Scoring for Iroquois were G. Bondard Darcy Casselman.

Other members of th winning team were Heath- Roskaft-

The lineup for Iroquois in the final contest were E. Duval-Steven Montpetit- Henry Swank-Brice Hubbard-Edward Rooney-D. McNairn- D. Hess and K. Duval. G. Bond and Darcy Casselman-Robin McIntosh-Lance Valcour.

In conclusion the Iroquois Minor Softball Assoiciation wish to contratulate the successful teams and also those entries who were defeated because without their participation the tournament could not have been a success. Finally every team sponsor Coach and manager who preformed such a fine job in having their players perform so well on the playing field as well as the manner in which they conducted themselves off the field.

To each individual who assist in any way in helping to make this years tournament the success it was we say a sincere "Thank You".

Cheese Mashed Potatoes

Looking for a good vegetable dish to serve to a crowd? Cheese Mashed Potatoes could be your answer. Our recipe for creamy mashed potatoes seasoned with sharp Cheddar cheese and freshly chopped onion is great for a buffet or family gathering. A perfect dish with any entree, consider serving it with baked ham, beef, poultry, lamb or fish.

"Are potatoes fattening?" you may ask. The answer is "No, not in themselves. It's what you add to them that accounts for a high calorie count." In fact, potatoes should be included in a reducing diet because they have a lot of vitamins and minerals. One baked potato (100 grams or 3½ ounces, edible portion) provides merely 93 Calories.

Cheese Mashed Potatoes

- 3 pounds (about 9 medium) potatoes
- Boiling water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 cup hot milk
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh onion

Pare and quarter potatoes. Place in saucepan with 1 inch boiling water and salt. Cover and cook until soft, about 15 minutes. Drain. Turn into large mixing bowl and mash well. Add hot milk, pepper and butter and beat until fluffy. Add cheese and onion. Mix well. Serve hot.

Makes: 10 servings.

Final Highlights of Legislative 1973 Session

Last week I began a review of the highlights of part of this year's Session recently concluded. Today I would like to continue the discussion those highlights.

The general public has only recently through the media become aware of a potential shortage of energy. The Davis Government has for some time recognized the possible long-term implications of this world-wide problem and its bearing on the people of Ontario and has, since it was first elected, accorded the highest priority to resolving it. Now you can't solve any problem unless you fully understand its nature and for this reasons extensive studies were undertaken some time ago with the the creation of an Advisory Committee on Energy, and quite separately a Task Force to study Ontario Hydro which is both our greatest user and biggest provider of energy. These studies were completed recently and several concrete steps have been taken on the basis of them. A new Ministry of Energy has been established to co-ordinate all our initiatives in this field and is now under the very able direction of the Honourable Darcy McKeough. A very far-ranging and innovative report on energy by Mr. McKeough has been adopted by the Government as the basis for a future Ontario Energy Policy. I have had occasion to discuss this subject in some detail in previous columns and it is sufficient here to say that the Government is prepared to undertake any broad measures that may be necessary to ensure that essential energy supplies will be available to Ontario industry and consumers at a reasonable rate.

During the course of the recent Session, Legislation was enacted to implement the urban transportation policy announced by the Premier in November. Now, the people of Grenville-Dundas may not consider that the building of fast urban transit is a matter that touches closely upon us. Bear in mind, however, that the ultimate objective of this policy is to establish an industry in Ontario which would lead the world in this field. The implication for export potential is staggering and such an industry will provide many, many jobs in research and production. The direct and indirect benefits to all of the people of Ontario are of enormous importance.

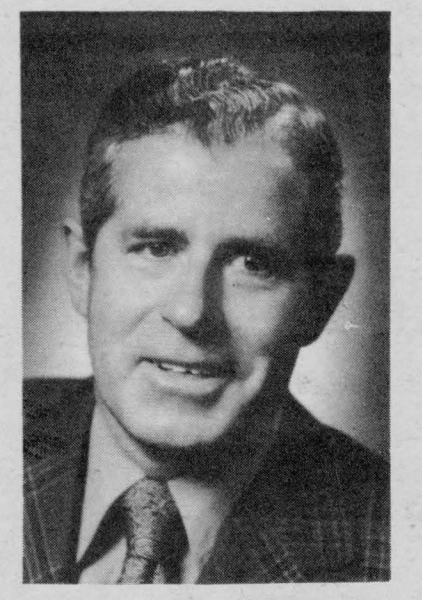

Certainly one of the most important measures introduced during the past Session Legislation which provided for huge additional grants to municipalities, the effect of which was to reduce municipalities, the effect of which was to reduce municipal dependence upon property tax. As a result the Provincial Government now provides more than 50% of all municipal revenues. In 1973 alone, some 2.4 billion dollars will be transferred from the Provincial treasury to our cities, towns, villages and townships. This figure represents approximately 90% of all Provincial revenues from both personal income tax and retail sales tax. The result of this decision is that in a year when municipal taxes were expected to rise between 8% and 10% across the Province they have, in fact, in most cases, decreased and in many instances, by significant amounts. Thus far in 1973 the Government has introduced new taxs credits ot cover our payment of retail sales tax and a special pensioner tax credit which continues the purpose is to provide a fairer tax system overall and relief for lower income groups. Ultimately we are evolving a meaningful guaranteed annual income plan. These particular initiatives mean that not with standing the retail sales tax almost 75% of Ontrio families will pay less total tax in 1973.

For some time, the Provincial Government has been pressing the Federal Government for freight rate relied on goods transported to and from the northwest part of Ontario. That part of the Province is. of cource, serviced by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways which are entirely under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government and the high freight rates obviously will make the cost of living higher in those areas.

The province however, owns the Ontario Northland Railway together with its trucking subsidiary which services the northeast sector of the Province and was able to act unilaterally in reducing freight rates in that area. A month or so ago it was announced that this reduction would average about 18%. You can imagine how this will assist the people of northeastern Ontario. What you may not realize, however, is that it will assist us as well in that goods manufactured in that large area can be transported more economically to the south and we, of course, will reap the benefit of that.

Time and space simply don't perimt comment on some of the other important events of the past few months such as the Premier's British Trade Mission, the introduction of a new Provincial assumption of regulation and authority over in providing many thousands of summer jobs for Ontario students as well as other matters.

Perhaps in the course of future columns I will have an opportunity of expanding somewhat on these developments.

An Orgy In The Rain

Seventy-four cars! It's hard to believe, but that was the number involved recently in what the Globe and Mail called "a vast orgy of rending, ripping, crushing and bending each other" on Highway 401. The Toronto newspaper stated in an editorial that "there was no heavy fog, no driving blizzard, no treacherous ice; just a light fall of rain and one minor accident around which a policeman was directing traffic."

"Just a light fall of rain." That's the clue, and a quick call to the O.P.P. told the Ontario Safety League that most drivers were travelling faster than road conditions allowed. The fact is that most drivers do not realize the danger of even a light rain, says the League.

Vehicles drop oil and grease on the roads. In the course of a year, on heavily travelled roads, this can amount to as much as 1,000 gallons per mile (or about 1 gallon for every five feet of road). Add to this the accumulation of tire dust and dirt and you have a hazard building up comparable to any winter ice condition.

When a shower comes up after a period of dry weather, the first raindrops make a fine, slippery mud of dust and oil film on the road. In a heavy downpour it may take only about 30 minutes to flush this film off the Highway. A slow, gentle rain may take as long as two hours or more.

Experienced full-time drivers will tell you that the first few moments of a slow, gentle rain are the most treacherous. Your tires can not perform a squeegee action as they roll over the residue of accumulated dust and oil and sparse drops of rain, and the tires develop a sliding action over the greasy surface, reports the Ontario Safety League. Worn tires decrease traction still further.

Wet pavement and fast driving will cause your car to aquaplane and skid. You may not realize it, but wet pavement means your tires are floating on water. It builds up beneathea wheel like a ship's bow wave, reducing the contact area. Before the tread can grip the surface even a moderately wet road, it has to disperse between 8 or 9 pints of water a second. At high speeds, the area of tread on the road has about 1/150th of a second in which to do this. Eventually, it spreads to the rear and none of the tread touches the road. Your car starts skimming like a surfboard. If treads are well-worn, aquaplaning will start even at speeds as low as 50 miles per hour.

That summer rains, slow down, warns the Ontario Safety League, or risk getting killed.

MANPOWER CENTRE MAKES REPORT

The Prescott Canada Manpower Centre reports the following situation in connection with unemployed clients registered for work. These figures in now way represent the unemployment rate in Grenville County and half of Dundas County, which the centre covers.

The number of unemployed cloents registered for work has shown a heave decrease during the month. There were 686 registered for employment during July as compared with 837 in June.

The decrease is attributed to the buoyant construction and manufacturing activities in this and adjacent CMC areas. All categories except clerical have shown a decrease over the past month. The number of registrants in the clerical category is cyclical and indicative of the heavy influx of High School grads who it is expected will be absorbed into the labour market over the next few months.

THIS WEEK from Ottawa

PM TO VISIT CHINA

Prime Minister Trudeau announced in Calgary that he will visit China, meet with Chinese officials to discuss trade matters and hold talks with Premier Chou En Lai, in mid-October for about two weeks.

Mr. Trudeau was invited by Premier Chou to visit China, during the visit of former Industry, Trade and Commerce Minister Jean-Luc Pepin in the spring of 1971.

OIL TANKER ROUTE

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp told the House of Commons that Canada is just beginning to fight the environmental threat created by American tankers carrying oil from Alaska along Canada's British Columbia coast.

Canada will continue to make representations to the United States on the tanker route -- but he said, it can do nothing to prevent the Trans-Alaska Pipeline from being built.

WORLD INFLATION

At a meeting of the International Monetary Fund, in Washington, Finance Minister John Turner called on the world's leading finance ministers for world-wide action against inflation. Rising prices have become a serious problem for all industrial countries.

EMBASSY IN SAIGON

Canada and the Republic of Viet Nam have agreed to establish diplomatic relations at the ambassadorial level.

Edward Anthony Skrabec, already in Saigon as part of the Canadian truce mission, will serve as the first head of the Canadian mission.

CANADIAN MUSEUMS

Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner announced 18 grants totalling almost $2 million to museums and galleries across the country, as part of the federal government's National Museum Policy.

The Policy, announced in March 1972, is concerned with making Canadian museum collections available to the widest number of Canadians.

COMMONWEALTH

Heads from 32 Commonwealth countries are meeting this week in Ottawa for the 10-day Commonwealth Conference.

Discussions will focus on world affairs, including political, economic and development matters; comparative techniques of government, which will cover policy-making, economic strategies and communication with the public; and projects for co-operation amongst the Commonwealth countries.

The activity in the manufacturing sector declined somewhat during the latter part of the month with the annual holiday shutdown of many plants. It is expected they will begin hiring again after the holiday session but no definite numbers are known at this time.

The Prescott Canada Manpower Centre for Students continues to operate in high gear.

How Many Would Like Cheap Protein Supplement?

1. Direct Seeding
2. Silage additives
3. Nut grass
1. Cheap Protien Supplement

I owuld imagine that headline would catch about every farmers eye. Unfortanately, you are still unable to purchase cheap protien but you can grow it. This cheap protein can be obtained by direct seeding alfalfa, red clover or birdsfoot trefoil now.

If most people put three quarters as much money into growing hay as they do corn, it would mean a lot less purchase protein supplements. Good hay or haylage can supply a large majority of your protein requirements. With good quality forage you could cut your dairy ration down to a 15 or 14% ration.

Because of the loss of alfalfa over the past two winters, the best time to reseed is in early spring or August. With good weed control and fertilization with moisture and a packed seed bed, you can be assured of a good stand.

On established hay fields where is an adequate legume stand, a fertization program would help maintain this stand. One point to note is that manure does not help the legumes to a large extent. The grasses receive the most benefit from manure. Because of this the grass grwos faster and in turn forces the alfalfa out. Therefore, with a couple hundred pounds per acre of 0-20-20 or 0-20-10 (or equivalent) would be of more benevit to the legume stands.

2. Protien Supplements

Another idea to cut down on protien costs is to use a protein silage additive on your corn silage this fall. This is one of the cheapest methods of supplying protein to the cows ration. There are many products available to you and anyone of them can do the job for you. The improtant things to check into are, what it costs per gallon, what it will cost per ton of silage, what increase in protein it will give you, what extra machinery does it require to apply and its cost?

This is the year to check into these silage additives and use one. Again this could mean cutting down to a 14 to 15% dairy ration or no protien supplements in your beef ration.

3. Nutgrass

This weed is becoming more and more of a major problem. It is coming in and taking over many of the fields in Dundas. The problem is that once it is established it is very hard to control.

Two herbicides most effectively used to control this grass are atrazine and eptam. Atrazine will kill the top growth and some of the underground systems but this governs what crop you can grow. Eptan has to be sprayed on the dry soil and worked in.

To control this grass, the herbicide treatments should continue over a number of years. One cannot expect to spray once and get rid of it. For more information about controlling this weed (as many others) consult publication number 75 - Guide to Chemical Weed Control. For next years crop, this fall or now be an excellent time to start to work on this problem.

Walter Baker Introduces Bill on Price Re-stamping

A Private Members' Bill to make it illegal to re-stamp price increases on shelf goods in retail stores will introduced in Parliament by Walter Baker, M.P., (Grenville-Carleton)

Reacting to recent disclosures of double and triple price labeling in some supermarkets Mr. Baker described the practice as "close to a fraud on the consumer; an immoral and shabby business practice.

He explained that it has long been a function of the Federal Government to check the weight scales of merchants for accuracy, avoiding short-weights for the consumer. The government has also regulated clothing size labels, so that in his view there is no reason why consumer protection cannot be provided through legislation to make it unlawful to increase the cost of shelf items.

Mr. Baker said the $40,000 a year chairman of the ineffective Price Review Board should have "something better to do than study trends and educate the public about prices".

"Perhaps enforcing such a Bill as I propose will give that Board, which is itself a fraud on the public, some better reason for existence than we have seen so far," he said.

The current price dekmma, according to Mr. Baker, would not be before us if the Trudeau Government had acted last February on Robert Stanfield's suggestion of a price and income freeze. He accused the government' of inertia and complacency with no realization of what it is like in the 'real world of the consumer.'
