Give Insight Work Of Seaway Community Services

by Lion Al Rogers.

The Rev. J. J. Hibbs, program director for Monday's meeting of the Iroquois Lions Club, introduced as his guests Mrs. Mary Steele, Marie de Jong, and Father Lloyd Cummings, members of Seaway Community Services. This is a organization that has developed over the past four years, with the purpose of offering measures of self help and renewal to communities of need in the Seaway Community. The President of S. C. S., Mrs. Mary Steele of Winchester Springs, referred to the organization as a type of enrichment and self help program aimed at mutual growth and understanding. With the aid of some twenty teenage youth from the Dundas County High Schools, for the past three years, three-week summer day-camps have been operated at each of two locations, Dixon's Corners and Glenbecker.

Marie de Jong, a capable young girl in her mid-teens was one of the youth counsellors who had received two week-end training courses last spring to prepare herself for her role and objectives as a counsellor. The same training program, offered at a pro-

Murder Trial Opens Monday

The non-capital murder trial of 22-year-old Dale Wayne Johnson in connection with the death of 85-year-old Ruby Cora Hamilton, of Iroquois, opened Monday in Cornwall. Mrs. Hamilton was found dead in her home last May 31.

Reports from Cornwall Tuesday at press time are that a six year sentence was imposed on the accused.

Seeking Support

It was learned recently, that Andrew Robert Mackenzie will seek the Liberal nomination in the riding of Grenville-Dundas, in the forthcoming Provincial Election.

Andy Mackenzie served for twenty-eight years in the Royal Canadian Air Force, retiring four years ago as a Squadron Leader. Since this time he has raised Aberdeen Angus cattle on his farm situated on Highway 16 between Kemptville and Spencer-ville, where he lives with his wife and family of four children.

To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McDonnell announce the approaching marriage of their daughter Sharon Ann to Ralph Harry Duvall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Duvall, Morrisburg on April 17th at 2 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, Morrisburg.

HELD IN BROCKVILLE

Moderator Speaks To Presbyterian Rally

Two-hundred Presbyterian adults and young people from congregations within the bounds of the Presbytery of Brockville, gathered together in First Presbyterian Church, Brockville, Sunday evening, March 14th, on the occasion of a Presbyterian Missions Rally, at which time the Moderator of the 96th General Assembly of the Church, the Rev. Dr. Dillwyn T. Evans of Thornhill spoke.

A youth choir of 40 voices strong formed the ministry of music for the evening, having come from congregations of the Presbytery to share in this Service of mission witness and praise. Their anthem was "To God be the Glory".

Assisting in the Service were the Rev. John J. Hibbs of Iroquois-South Mountain, who gave leadership in the reading of the Scriptures; the Rev. Leslie R. Renault, Host-Minister, who led in the ministry of Prayer; and the Rev. E. Earle Eaton, Moderator of the Presbytery, who conducted the Service. Mr. E. J. Flanagan, A.C.C.M., was organist for the evening, and Miss Neila Church accompanied the choir and congregation as pianist during the singing of Spirit Songs.

A very enlightening sermon address was given by Dr. Evans as he spoke of his experience in visiting the nation of Nigeria last year, and seeing firsthand the needs of that country in relationship to its past civil war, and the whole question of rehabilitation and reconstruction. Speaking positively about the acts of reconciliation taking place through the leadership of the church in that nation, he also encouraged his listeners to be ever mindful of the continuing need for food and financial wherewithal by these, their brethren in Africa. Contrasting the willingness of Nigerians to sacrifice what they have "for what might be" with a somewhat hesitancy on the part of North Americans to "give out of what they have", Dr. Evans called for a greater awareness of the blessing of expenditure "on behalf of others" and which he termed as "basic to the meaning of the Gospel today".

At the conclusion of an excellent Missions Rally, refreshments were served by the local congregation, and a discussion-question period held in the lower church-hall, and on matter of relevant concern to young people and adults, the Moderator of the General Assembly, Dr. Evans, speaking to these concerns.

During this special Service a free-will offering was received for the Nigerian Rehabilitation-Reconstruction Fund, with many organizations of congregations throughout the Presbytery making extra-gift donations during the collection.

Heart Fund Again "Over The Top"

CONGRATULATIONS IROQUOIS and surrounding concessions! The results of the Sunday Heart Fund Blitz have been completed, and your local branch of the Dundas Chapter would report proceeds of $359.00 for the work of the Canadian Heart Foundation from the homes visitation, and not including donations given through the local banks, nor through the postage-paid envelopes left at some homes.

Again we have gone 'over the top' of last year's collection, and to all those who have so enabled the Fund, THANK YOU from the Chapter, and especially from those who continue the medical research programme to relieve heart disease in our nation.

The Rev. John J. Hibbs, Mrs. Ronald Adair, For: Dundas Chapter of the Canadian Heart Foundation.

One Youngster Doing His Bit To Help Crippled Children

Jamie Wyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wyatt, Ellis Drive, is doing his bit to help the Iroquois Lions Club in their Easter Seals campaign.

The 11-year-old Grade 5 student at Iroquois Public School took on a job of selling multi-purpose cards so that he could raise money to donate to the Easter Seals campaign in the village.

So far he has sold enough cards to donate over $4.00 to the cause and expects to add many more dollars before the campaign is over.

The Post congratulates the youngster on his compassion towards other children and wishes him well in his efforts.

In Hospital

Bordon Robertson is a patient in Ottawa General Hospital, having had an operation on Friday of last week. We wish him a fast recovery to good health.

Where Now?

When we start thinking of people being able to draw $100.00 per week as a guaranteed income and think of the thousands in this country who are not presently earning that much, it gives us a twinge in our middle-aged pot.

The White Paper that those boys in Ottawa think is the all-fired answer to the ills of the unemployed may very well be the straw that broke the camels back...not to mention the storm that thousands of taxpayers in this country are going to stir up.

We agree fully that when a man is out of work he and his family should be housed and fed. Further, we believe that when he is offered a job...any job...that he should take it. If he doesn't, then he should be cut off the benefits he draws until he learns that he too must share the load we all carry. But to say that a man must be employed at the same occupation or trade that formerly gave him a living, is something else.

Most people want to work. But human nature does seem to work overtime in some individuals and in so doing, creates the problem.

Taxpayers have had it up to their ever-loving necks with politicians who think that it is their God-given right to bring about the protection of the few at the cost of the many. We don't know of anyone who would want to see one person starving in this great land of ours, but those same people also don't want to see socialism completely take over this land.

There is a limit to how far we can go as a nation and a people in providing social services. It is time we took stock of the essential means of providing care and comfort without abusing the people who pay the shot.

It's time also for those politicians in Ottawa and Toronto with socialist leanings to take off their blinders and face up to their blunders before it is too late. Surely the situation existing today in Canada is warning enough that we're not on the right road, without this country having to go through a severe depression to once again prove a point.

Balmy Days

Officially, Spring is here and just because it was snowing on the first day of Spring, we surely have enough faith in Mother Nature, not to believe she could have made a mistake!

With the kind of Winter we have "enjoyed" in 1970-71, it is high time we have a few more of those balmy Spring days such as came our way last weekend. Sunny and bright, with just a bit of chill in the air and just a bit of grass showing through where the plow has pushed its covering snow back, reminds us of those pleasant days before us.

When we smell that fresh damp earth and see the green (other than St. Patrick's Day green), then we'll count out our blessings.

Meanwhile we'll keep the rubbers on, the collar turned up on that fading Winter coat and remind ourselves of the days when we had to wear the long-johns to keep from freezing!

The sap is running and a taste of fresh maple syrup will make us feel that all is well with the world and right now we can even think well of that contrary lawn mower that is just biding its time in the garage!

THE BILL SMILEY COLUMN

TRUDEAU'S WEDDING THE WISDOM OF AGE

by Bill Smiley

Belated congratulations to our Prime Minister and his bride. It was one of the big upsets in March. The others were Mohammed Ali taking the clobbering of his lifetime, and me winning an argument with my wife.

Not from the first have I been swept away by Mr. Trudeau's charisma, though the women in my family were. At times I have had serious doubts about his attitude and decisions.

But when a man has enough sense to wait until he is 51 to get married, I feel our country is in safe hands.

Good gravy, if I had waited until 51, and I'm not there yet, I'd probably be able to ski and scuba-dive. And I might even be prime minister. And a millionaire.

But when a man marries at 25, he's had it. He has just thrown away the best twenty-five years of his life; the second twenty-five, that is.

For the first ten or twelve years, he's swimming against the tide. In more prosaic terms, he is spending about 140 out of the 168 hours in every week sorting out his kids, his finances and his woman. That leaves him 28 hours to float, and don't forget he's going against the tide. So where does he float? Downstream, that's where.

That's why so many married men of 50 are washed-up. On shore, or otherwise.

If he can keep his head above water during that first period, he's a mighty strong swimmer. But in the process, he has developed hardening of his physical, emotional and mental arteries.

And just about then, he is pulled out of the water, purple and gasping, and told that he is entered in another marathon. In short, his kids are in their teens, Swim, baby, swim.

It really racks me to think of the gifts I have squandered in nearly twenty-five years of marriage. Especially when I think of Mr. Trudeau.

We're very much alike. He's a little older and has a little less hair. Probably more teeth, unless they're falsies.

About twenty-five years ago, we were on equal terms. Both in excellent physical condition. The only real differences I can see are that he had a lot of brains and a lot of money. And I chose to swim upstream, while he chose to swim down.

Perhaps there's one other minor difference. He does everything well, and I do everything poorly. But don't forget he's had two and a half decades to practise - everything from skiing to chess - while I've had to catch them on the run.

I'd like to see what a great scuba-diver he was if he'd had to raise two rotten kids and pay off about four mortgages. Not to mention dealing with a strong-minded woman who has a direct line to divine inspiration in every discussion.

No wonder he was able to snatch up a beautiful, intelligent 22-year-old at his age. He's practically unscarred, while I'm like an old alley cat. About all I could snatch up, aside from the fact that my wife would kill me, is a 48-year-old, with three divorces and three chins.

Don't for one moment think I'm jealous. Let him have his big rent-free mansion in Ottawa while I labour over my heavily-taxed, heavily-mortgaged hovel.

Let him have his fifty or sixty thousand a year in salary. We have enough to put bread on the table, after paying income tax and putting two kids through university.

I'm not envious. He earned it, by being smart enough to stay single until he was 51.

At least I don't have to bother with platoons of photographers and numberless newsmen when I take out Barbra Streisand.

No, I wouldn't trade him even, my old lady for his, my kids for his charisma. (They think I have charisma, which is good enough for me.)

The only thing I get a little wistful about is not being asked to be Prime Minister.

And I still think I could beat him in a game of Russian billiards.

The Argyle Syndicate

There are days when Jim feels "all geared up." Like many men today, he has the sense of being just a cog in a wheel—no real identity. This is wrong!

It takes a great many Jims, all kinds, to keep the wheels turning. But each is important, and each is an individual. God intended men to have not only a sense of identity, but a basic self-esteem.

Maybe you've been underestimating yourself! Maybe you've been feeling that you are just one of the crowd! If so, during this Lenten season you'd better take a new look at both the world and yourself.

For a new perspective, maybe you'd better start going to church.

The Canadian Coast Guard icebreaker "Simcoe" will start breaking out the ship channel of the St. Lawrence River from Prescott to Lake Ontario and the Bay of Quinte on March 17.

Parents are urged to keep children from playing on the ice.

Round The Bend

OBJETS D'ART

Do you feel your home reflects the true you?

A recent issue of Ideal Home opened my eyes to the fact that I have not been artistically imaginative.

Anyone studying our solitary seascape for clues to my personality and artistic taste was left pretty well in the dark.

This is all changing.

After reading how the Graham Byfields decorated their home, I've decided that from now on the artistic tastes and temperaments of our family will be delightfully evident.

It would be stretching the point to claim, as they did with the Byfields, that there is hardly an object in our home which does not make a positive contribution to visual appeal. We have quite a few sights we'd rather you just passed by quickly and forgot, but it's amazing what you can find when you look at your possessions from the point of view of artistic interest.

Take my potato mashers, for instance.

Whenever we go to farm auctions, I bid for the 50 cent surprise box of odds and ends that are not worth selling on their own, and which nearly always includes a potato masher.

I now boast a unique "Study of Potato Mashers" group which takes up most of the coffee table.

Noting the pleasant individuality of Graham Byfield's own pen and ink sketches, I realize I have been stifling our pre-schoolers' creative instincts by repapering the wall they drew on.

I remedied that by giving each a different colored marking pen and encouraging them to express their individuality wherever they chose. Their wall scribbles are now attractively featured in every room.

In the Byfield home there is a "decoration by chance" - a cluster of black wool crochet circles on the living room wall.

Says Johanna Byfield: "They were to be part of a bedspread but were not a success. I threw them at the wall and they clung to the rough textured brickwork! And there they've stayed."

This reminded me of a friend who always tests her spaghetti by throwing it at the kitchen wall. She is fanatical about having it exactly 'al dente' -

-not too brittle, not too mushy, just right - and claims the spaghetti has reached this desired state if it sticks to the wall when thrown. If it bounces off, boil it some more, and if it slithers slimily to the floor, you've overdone things, kiddo.

Why not, I thought in a rare moment of inspiration, why not add a piquant note to that long bare wall in our living room by boiling spaghetti in colored water and hurling it onto the wall in the sort of rough pattern of a Chinese script?

This turned out exceptionally well, and I've noticed it captures the attention of everyone who enters the living room.

Finally, what could be more expressive of my own individuality than an original oil painting? The seascape was fine, but it was not - well - it was not quite me.

I bought canvas, frame and oils, and on a stormy Wednesday afternoon produced my masterpiece.

Influenced by the weather and by the fact that the only thing I can draw is an eye, I depicted "Eye of the Hurricane" in mostly abstract form.

I drew a beautiful eye in the upper third of the canvas, and surrounded it with a whirling vortex in strong shades of pure red, blue and black. I felt that everyone looking at it would sense immediately the passion and fury of my inner soul, but as it turned out not all our friends appreciate true art.

My brother-in-law, who is a doctor, said it reminded him of major abdominal surgery, and my husband has hung it in the bathroom.

He insists that some forms of art can only be deeply felt when viewed alone.

Combines Bow Out To Embrun Panthers

LYNNE O'BRIEN

Embrun Panthers came to Morrisburg Friday night full of confidence that they would take the 4th game of the series after winning the first 3. The Combines put a dent in the Panthers fur with an 11-6 victory. Jack Duncan led the team with 5 goals against Wayne Hughes. Rafter put the Panthers ahead early in the game, but Duncan tied it up some 5 minutes later. Larry Mick gave the Panthers a 2-1 lead after the 1st period, but Duncan tied it up at 42 seconds of the 2nd. Mick put the Panthers ahead again, but Duncan pumped in 2 goals with Bill Dillabouth Jr. adding one before Johnny Kelly could connect for the Panthers. Duncan scored on a power play late in the 2nd to give Combines a 6-4 lead. Ron Branchaud and Big Doug Casselman made it 8-4 early in the 2nd. Lindsay then replaced Hughes in the Panther net. Big Doug connected again. Rafter and Mick each scored on power plays to narrow the lead 9-6. Bill "Cookie" Lawlor and Ron Branchaud finished up Combines scoring. Panthers received 3 of the 6 minors handed out and a 10 minute misconduct to Larry Mick in the 2nd period. Doug Hay in the net for Combines turned aside 40 of the 46 shots fired at him. Combines managed 34 shots on Lindsay and Hughes. Combines were short: Ellis, Pyke, Gibbs and Quenneville. After the game, discussions were held for the date of the next game - the series had to be concluded rapidly so the winner could meet the Shawville Pontiacs. It was then decided to have the 5th game Saturday night in Embrun. Saturday night at 15:42 of the first period, a 0-0 score prevailed, when the puck went into the Combines player bench striking Lyle Ellis, breaking his glasses and giving him a nasty cut and he was taken to Winchester Hospital for treatment. This left the team short with several others missing: Pyke, Cameron, St. Jean and Quenneville. Dick Ducharme gave the Panthers a 1-0 lead late in the first period.

Ron Bertrand and Brian Bonnar scored on power plays to lead 3-0 after 40 minutes of play. Larry Mick, John Goodman, Ducharme and Johnny Kelly made it 7-0 in the 3rd. At 13:43 of the 3rd Jack Duncan on assists from Danny Cassel and Rick Rushford made it 7-1 and spoiled Wayne Hughes shutout. Ducharme scored his 3rd goal to give Panthers an 8-1 win

Combines were assessed 8 of the 13 minors handed out. Don Gibbs was in the net for the Combines. Embrun took the series 4 games to 1 and earned the right to meet Shawville. The Combines had a fairly successful season played 25 games in playoffs and regular schedule, winning 13, tying 2 and losing 10. Jack Duncan led the team with 12 goals in regular season and 17 in the playoffs (he only played in 17 of the games). Big Doug Casselman had 19 goals and 17 assists over the season, Rick Rushford 13 goals and 22 assists and Lyle Ellis 11 goals and 24 assists in 12 games. Team members are: Don Gibbs and Doug Hay, Allie Cameron, Shad St. Jean, Ron Quenneville, Ron Alguire, Steve, Big Doug and Little Doug Casselman, Lyle Ellis, Rick Rushford, Roy Pyke, Keith McGregor, Bill Lawlor, Morley Hunt, Paul Beckstead, Jack Duncan, Bill Dillabouth Jr, Ron Branchaud, and Gary Hess and Danny Cassel from the Junior Lions. Manager - Murray Ball, Assistant Manager - Alec English, Coach - Rae Casselman, Trainer - Junior Perrault. Combines would like to thank all the fans who supported them and the papers who printed their games and to advise you to watch for their game against the Morrisburg Juniors on Tuesday, March 30th, with all proceeds going to the Cancer Society

Mrs. J. Fenton Hosts WMS

The February meeting of the Knox Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Fenton. Members were entertained at a delicious dinner preceeding the meeting. Communications as Christians was the subject of the study led by the Minister. Everyone participated in a quiz about being a good listener.

The business of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. Moke, with Mrs. S. Perry, secretary, reading the minutes and correspondence.

Miss N. McGowan treasurer, received the offering and reported the total amount sent to the Presbyterial.

The Rev J J Hibbs closed the meeting with prayer

Setting Trends In Tree Production

The G Howard Ferguson Forest Station has been producing planting stock for reforestation for more than 20 years. An examination and compilation of the shipping records reveals some interesting trends, when during this period approximately 120 million trees were shipped from the "Kemptville Nursery".

During the first few years of operation shipping 1.5 million trees was considered to be a busy season. Most of the trees were supplied to private land owners at that time. Twenty-eight different species were grown. These included pines, spruces, larches, cedars, ash, silver maple, red oak, carolina poplar, which are still on the production target, as well as bur oak, white oak, white and rock elm, black cherry, white and yellow birch, white willow and butternut which are no longer produced.

The production of the major species, white pine, red pine and white spruce was increased during the 1950's to meet the demands for Crown Land and Agreement Forest planting projects. Three to five million trees was the annual output during this decade with 75% of the stock going to private land owners. To facilitate this increased production, a packing shed was constructed in 1952, and burlap bale packaging was introduced in 1954.

Prior to the establishment of the large Northern Nurseries at Swastika, Thunder Bay and Dryden, the production of Jack pine, white and black spruce was increased to meet the demands of the Northern Districts, such as Cochrane, Kapuskasing and Swastika. This plus an expanded planting programme in the Central and Southeastern Districts increased the early 1960 production to 9 million trees with about one-third being supplied for fall planting. Red spruce was added to the list of available species, bringing the total to 18.

The introduction in the late 1960's of the Woodlands Improvement Act and the Private Land Planting Programme, plus a marked decrease in the fall planting programme, increased the spring out-put to 8 million trees, with less than 1 million supplied for fall planting. This extra work load in the spring season taxed the lifting and packing methods and facilities considerably. To cope with this trend, plus an increase in production target to 13 million trees for the 1970's an addition was built to the Packing Shed providing for over-winter storage for 2 to 3 million trees. The mechanization programme for lifting and processing was intensified as well.

Trees from the G. Howard Ferguson Forest Station have been planted in every district in Ontario from Lake Erie to Sioux Lookout. Trees have been shipped also the provinces of Quebec and British Columbia with a few going to the United States and Great Britain for commemorative occasions.

They eat the fleshy basal portions.

It is with deep regret and much sorrow, that I must hand in my resignation as Cub Leader, of Iroquois Cub Scouts

I have had much pleasure in meeting with these boys each week for the past five years. My health at the present time does not allow me to continue as their leader. However since 1967 I have stored up many pleasant memories which I will always treasure.

My wife will try to continue with the boys until the end of June when once again its time to have our closing campfire, at which I hope to be present.

I am ever hopeful that by next September you will have a new Leader who will enjoy working with young boys as much as I have.

Estate Planning For Farm People

(2nd in a series)
by

J. W. McCullough, Farm
Management Specialist.

Last week in this column you read about the importance of estate planning. That is was a continuing thing that required changes frequently as the business developed. It was suggested the first thing to do was to figure out where you are. at now Think in terms of what you would likely be able to pass on to your survivors in the event you were to die tomorrow.

Value all your property at a fair market value - what it would sell for rather than what you would like it to bring. Include everything you own, and your interest in any property jointly owned with some other person. Don't forget to include any money owed to you, and to subtract anything you owe to others.

You must include the value of any life insurance owned by you on your life, or jointly with someone else if it is payable to your estate if you die.

This means if it is payable to your wife or children, too - provided you own or control the policy. If you have savings, a retirement fund or a pension plan (including Canada Pension) the proceeds are valued as a part of your estate.

And in case you decided to give it away, any gifts made within three years prior to death must be added. If you have made gifts to take effect after your death these must also be included. And in case you think of something that has been missed you might as well include it since there are few loopholes.

Probably a second step in estate planning is to try to decide what you want to do. What needs to be done. You certainly will be thinking about providing security for your old age. You may need to provide a chance for your son or son-in-law to take over the home farm. You may be thinking too as to how you can treat all members of the family fairly. You will certainly think about how you can keep those death taxes to a minimum. And depending on your age, your main concern may be to simply provide enough protection for your wife and family to cover all existing debts and provide for their welfare till the children are educated at least.

A family conference is often a good idea at this time. Discuss with other members of your family where you are at and what you are trying to do. You need to be sure their aims fit in with yours. Why spend time trying to figure out how and when you will transfer your farm to your son if he really doesn't want to farm at all.

There are many sides to estate planning. Since making a will is basic to everything, let's discuss it first.

You might ask yourself why is it that many people neglect to make a will. You have heard of the difficulties it causes to die without one and can likely think of several people you know who made this mistake recently. There is the long delay in settling things. There are disputes, arguments and hard feelings. There is the added cost involved, far more than the costs of making a will. Then, too, the laws of the country have a set way of disposing of the estate of a person who dies without a will.

Both husband and wife should have a will. Usually, this means the entire estate is left to each other with provision for what happens in case of a common calamity. This is fine as long as estates are fairly small. But when you become subject to estate taxes there are often better ways. Experts tell us that in leaving a $100,000 estate where it goes first to the wife and then to two children, that the kind of will you make can mean up to a difference of $8,000 in estate taxes alone.

Fortunately, there are people who can provide excellent and expert advice. Drawing a will is a job for a lawyer. You may be tempted to pick up a simple will form in a bookstore and do it yourself. My advice would be avoid this temptation. It is too risky.

Trust companies are often very well equipped to advise you in this area of estate plan-

Be Prepared For Floods

R. M. Christie
District Forester.

Snow, snow and more snow - more than enough to delight the hearts of the most ardent winter sports enthusiasts. All very lovely as far as the sport buffs are concerned, but already the heavy downfall has taken its toll as evidence by the number of roofs that have collapsed throughout the country.

Now comes the more imminent danger of flooding. To date the snow that has fallen will have a water content of approximately ten inches. It is expected that roughly only two to three inches of this water will be absorbed into the soil due to the fact that there is very little frost in the ground. The balance will have to drain away in the usual manner via rivers, creeks and low areas. Usually, this method can handle the normal winter snowfall, but this year being an exception, warnings are in order for people living in low lying areas to equip themselves with suitable pumps to handle any water that might invade their basements. It's not very pleasant to be confronted with two or three feet of water in your basement cutting off all heat, and perhaps ruining an expensive furnace. Remember, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure!

Face Elimination

LYNNE O'BRIEN

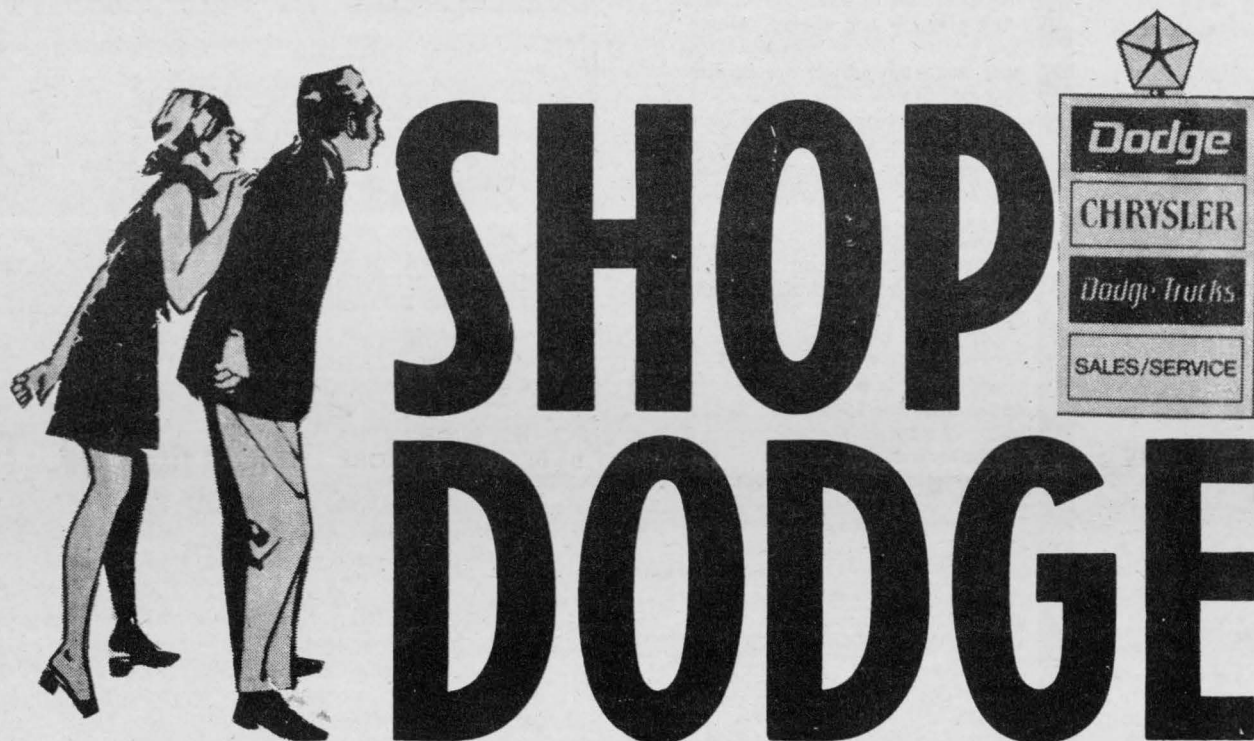

Morrisburg Combines are facing elimination after they dropped a 9-3 decision to the Embrun Panthers. The Panthers having advantage of home ice led 4-0 after the first period and 6-1 after the 2nd. Combines are behind 3-0 in the best of 7 finals. Gary Hess from the Junior Lions connected for 2 goals and 1 assist in a losing cause. Jack Duncan scored the other. Johnny Kelly led the Panthers with a pair and singles by Crozier, Bertrand, Rafter, Mick, Brian Bonmar, Ducharme and Terry Kelly. 13 minors were handed out, 9 to the Panthers, majors were assessed in a no contest fight between John Goodman and Ron Alguire. Terry Kelly and Bill Dillabough Jr. were ejected from the game with game misconducts. Combines coach Rae Casselman was given a bench penalty and ejected from the game. Lyle Ellis, Roy Pyke and Ron Quenneville were absent with Allie Cameron under further suspension by the O.D.H.A. following an appeal by Prescott. The suspension holds until its reviewed by the O.D.H.A. Doug Hay was in the net for Combines.

ning. Many of them have specialists in this field. Naturally, they will expect to become executors of your estate if they provide help, but this could be a real good idea, too.

So the point is that a properly drawn will is most important. It needs to be reviewed regularly. If you haven't - do it now.

Cancer Wins Mets Set For Season

JUNIORS challenge COMBINES

Morrisburg Juniors have challenged the Morrisburg Combines for the right to be called the Official Champions of the Village of Morrisburg will all gate receipts being donated to Cancer. The game which will decide the undisputed Champion will be played at the Morrisburg Hockey Arena in approximately 2 weeks time. Advance ticket sales will commence one week before the scheduled championship. Although both the Juniors and the Intermediate Combines are confident of winning, there is no doubt that the real winner is you since the gate receipts will add to the fight and defeat of Cancer. Cancer month is April and during the month scores of volunteers will be out knocking on your door to give you more information about this dreaded disease and to ask for your financial support in conquering it. Join the Championship Team in Defeating Cancer.

Morrisburg Mets Lacrosse Team have started practicing for the upcoming Inter-Provincial Junior Lacrosse season and from early reports it looks like a successful season. Most of last year players are returning but there are many openings on the team just the same. Stever Casselman and Jim Cameron, experienced players on the Mets of previous years, will be coaches and Walt Wagemans will fulfill the duties of general manager. Interin player representatives are Stan Mabo, Lee Tuttle and Tom Dawley and they are arranging for work-outs and fitness before the arena is open to play. The season opener is scheduled for around the 15th of May. League play will consist of 24 games with the Mets entertaining the Cornwall Centrics, Vanier Ottawa Vikings, St. Regis Braves, and Brockville Teepees. The Mets away games will be played in Brockville, Cornwall, and Ottawa and it is hoped a large Mets Fan Club will develop. There will be Met players from the entire County of Dundas as the lacrosse fever spreads on.

Grudge Game Date Set

Tuesday, March 30th, has been set for the Championship Hockey Game between the Morrisburg Combines and the Morrisburg Juniors. The grudge match will start at 8:15 p.m. at the Morrisburg Arena and all proceeds are going to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Combines General Manager, Murray Ball bluntly stated that the Juniors will never see the puck after the opening faceoff. Meanwhile the Juniors are confident that they can defeat "The Old Men". Special referees are being called upon to control the game.

Manager Ball called upon a few of the Juniors to help him in the playoffs against Embrun and the "Junior Kids" really showed their metal. Advance tickets are on sale in several stores throughout the County and prices at the Arena door will be Adults $1.25. Students .75¢ Children .25¢ to any youth leaders in the County who may be engaged next summer in any other phase of Community or local leadership. Miss de Jong won the Lion hearts with her competence and sweet youth, as well as her insights into the social concerns of S.C.S.

Father Lloyd Cummings, Parish Priest of South Mountain and Dixon's Corners, spoke of the aim of Seaway Community Services to core-late and to congregate the various social and helping agencies for the better presentation of a program that is fitted to the specific needs of the communities and people whom they would attempt to serve.
He pointed out that whereas it is important to continue the present summer camp program, the aim of S.C.S. is geared to a long-term plan of challenge and development in the process of self help.

The story of the summer camps was made more interesting by slides that showed young people happily engaged in the learning process of life through organized play, a sense of personal challenge, and new experiences, such as field trips each Friday. The average attendance at the two summer camps last year, over a period of three weeks, Monday to Friday, was 57 daily. An important new aspect of last year's planning was a hot lunch program offered by ladies of various church and community organizations. These proved most successful, and they also gave an opportunity for adults to visit the camp and participate in its noon day program.

Other guests of the evening included Mr. Leo McKee President of the Iroquois Minor Hockey Association, and Lion Frank Sliepenbeek, Zone Chairman and member of Alexandria's Lions Club. It was particularly good to welcome a visit from one of the three regional personnel of Lions Inter-

Last Monday evening was a great time to have guests because the United Church ladies offered us home made bread, stuffed roast of pork, and pie par excellence!
Lion President Alex Banford reported that six members of the Iroquois Lions Club had attended a testimonial dinner for past District Governor and Chairman of the Board of Governors, Lion Ernie Moore. He called for good representation at the Zone rally to be held in Cornwall on Wednesday evening, and for the re-weekend in Smiths Falls.
