OTTAWA (Staff) - Farmers are being urged by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to count themselves in at the June 3 census of agriculture. They are advised to ensure they receive forms on that day or just prior to the census. Said OFA president Don Knoerr, "We, as a farm organization, on occasion, obtain a great deal of information from the census. It shows us trends in the agricultural sector and helps us plan better for the future. Having agricultural census information enables us to focus on special issues of importance to farmers and indicate to government where in our view assistance to agriculture should be provided."

MDs' strike supported by area physicians

by Alvah Hanrahan
Record News Editor

A possible strike by Ontario's physicians in mid-May is supported by most of Eastern Ontario's physicians.

Last Sunday the Ontario Medical Association (OMA) gave the president a mandate to call a province-wide strike. The doctors are protesting the Liberal government's intention to end extra billing in Ontario. Premier David Peterson has indicated it is his government's intention to carry out the terms of his election promise to bring all doctors into the OHIP fold.

Locally Dr. Gabriel Slowey, president of the Winchester-Kemptville Branch Society of Ontario Medical Association, said the members of the local group would conform with any action taken by the OMA.

As a spokesman for the physicians in this area of Eastern Ontario Dr. Slowey has stressed the importance of professional independence and of maintaining freedom from excessive bureaucracy.

"We're not charmed with the idea of a strike," he told The Record just before press time, "but we're not giving away our freedom lightly."

"We're not giving in without a fight and we won't go down with a whimper." He said local doctors would be among the large contingent scheduled to make a protest at Queen's Park May 7. Local physicians, their spouses and office staff as well will be part of the delegation at the rally.

"As far as rotating strikes day by day are concerned and other methods of working to rule, Dr. Slowey said there would be nothing in the area of the Winchester-Kemptville branch.

"We're not taking days off but we are throwing our weight behind the OMA," he said.

Doctors in Smiths Falls, Cornwall, and Perth have already shown their displeasure with the government's intentions by closing their offices for a day. However, locally Dr. Slowey mentioned the large number of senior citizens resident in the area and said doctors didn't want to cause them any more anxiety.

In Hawkesbury Dr. J.A. Fairfield, president of the Prescott County Medical Association, said his membership will also comply with the May 7 rally of support for the OMA.

In Cornwall Dr. Gunter Plattner, a radiologist at Hotel-Dieu Hospital, said the Cornwall Academy of Medicine was more united than ever in is resolve to preserve professional freedom.

Doctors have said they didn't think there was hope for a settlement before May 7, the day of the rally. Some physicians have noted the premier has changed his stance slightly on the issue. Mr. Peterson has indicated there may be some way to raise extra funds for OHIP through additional taxation.

Others are speculating he hopes to use the issue to call an early provincial election. Most agree, though, that the fledgling Liberal government has underestimated the feeling on the issue displayed by the province's medical community.

Heap slams US Libya attack at meeting

by Diane Johnston
Record News Staff

CORNWALL (Staff) - "We're not ending violence by using greater violence," Spadina NDP MP Dan Heap told a Cornwall audience last Wednesday night.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Stormont-Dundas federal NDP riding association two days after American attacks on Libya, the Metro Toronto MP said American president Ronald Regan doesn't have clean hands in the matter of international terrorism.

"The terrorists are not all on one side. The people that Reagan is financing, the Contras, are terrorists."

Mr. Heap has a special interest in Central America, having been a parliamentary observer to elections in the region. He recently returned from a two-week visit to Nicaragua talking to church leaders and serves as the party's immigration critic.

Although Americans have not actually fought with the Contra forces in the Honduras against Nicaragua, he aid, "It's the Americans who are training them and organizing them.

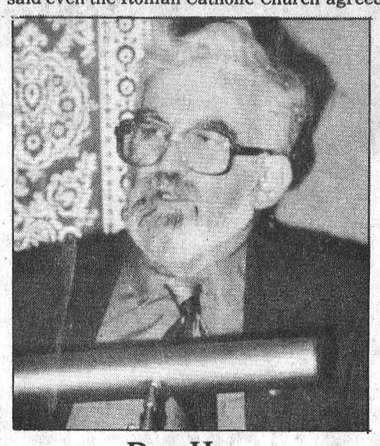
"The officers that are leading the throat cutters are the butchers (former Nicaraguan president) Somoza had as his national guard officers."

For himself, he said he wouldn't care whether his child's throat was cut by a Canadian, American or Iranian.

"It's still cut," he said.

He visited Nicaragua, he said, because "I wanted to understand how they see it, how they see it, how they see the business of a civil war in their own country."

By the end of the revolution in 1979, he said even the Roman Catholic Church agreed it was the only way to rid the country of "a bloody dictator".



Dan Heap

Since the revolution, he said the Sandanista government has abolished the death penalty and embarked on an ambitious literacy campaign.

"They're building schools and hospitals and clinics. The women are organizing for women's rights and they're getting the laws changed."

He said the majority of the population supports the government because it's giving the chance for things North Americans take for granted -- food, health and peace.

He defended the curtailment of civil rights as emergency actions necessary to cope with an emergency situation in the country. He compared them to the imposition of the War Measures Act in Canada in 1970 at the height of the FLQ crisis.

He said it should be remembered the Sandanistas began as a guerrilla army and are moving towards a democratic socialism.

But despite the wars raging in Central America and around the world, he saw hope for the future.

He said the American Congress defeated a bill for more Contra aid, despite the attack on Libya that some observers felt was timed to swing Congress' support to the bill.

"Congress today (Wednesday) defeated it, if not finally at least for some time, set it on the back burner."

In Guatemala, he said 18 parliamentary delegations from Latin American countries met recently and rebuked the United States for its intervention in the region. They also commended the development of democracy in Nicaragua, El Salvador and the Honduras.

Although North Americans perceive these countries as "at each others' throats", he said, they were praised "not for being perfect, nobody said they were, but for

Early morning accident claims life of 22-year old woman

(Staff) - An accident on County Road 13 early Saturday morning claimed the life of a 22-year-old Crysler woman.

Debbie Ann Thompson was killed when she was struck by a westbound car about 2:20am.

Police say the car in which she and her boyfriend, Peter Patenaude, 23, of Chesterville, were driving experienced mechanical trouble. She was standing in the road way trying to flag down a car when she was hit. She was thrown to the south shoulder of the road and was dead when police arrived.

Gerald Arts, 17, of Crysler was the driver of the car that struck Miss Thompson. Neither Arts nor passengers Josee Bouchard and Priscille Brisson, both of Embrun, were injured.

Mr. Patenaude was also uninjured.

Constable Bryan Helmer of the Winchester OPP detachment investigated. No charges have been laid.

County coroner Dr. Gabriel Slowey hasn't decided whether an inquest will be called into Miss Thompson's death.

"At the moment, we don't have any indication for an inquest," Dr. Slowey said yesterday.

But in an accident of this sort, he said, there may be unfounded rumors concerning the death. In that case, an inquest may be called to squelch them.

Looking at the evidence now available about the accident, he said he couldn't see any recommendations a jury could make that would benefit the community and prevent similar deaths.

But another purpose of an inquest is to determine the exact cause of death. If there are questions in the community concerning it, he said an inquest may be held "to clear the air and set the record straight".

Funeral services for Miss Thompson, a North Dundas District High School graduate, were held Tuesday afternoon in Chesterville.

She is survived by her mother, Margaret, of RR4, Crysler. Also surviving are a sister, Marlene Faulkner of Winchester, and four brothers, Garnet of RR4, Crysler, Melville of RR2, Embrun, Richard of Winchester and Dale of RR4, Crysler.

Province rescues WDMH with $230,000 budget addition

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Intensive lobbying by Winchester District Memorial Hospital for more government funding has paid off.

The hospital learned late last week the Ministry of Health will add $230,000 to the institution's 1985-86 budget.

In addition, the ministry has agreed to boost the hospital's base budget level by $242,900 for the 1986-87 fiscal year.

That increase, which goes into effect next April, follows on the heels of a government decision to increase its current allocation of just under $7.5 million by four per cent next year.

According to hospital administrator Bert Stel, the immediate infusion of $230,000 will just about cover this year's deficit.

"We're pleased and a little surprised with the announcement," said Stel. "We've been talking to them (the ministry) for over a year and we've been doing intensive lobbying since December.

"We had a considerable overdraft with the bank and we were a little worried."

Despite the boost to the base level of funding, Stel was only cautiously optimistic about the hospital's ability to make ends meet next year.

"We've been very successful in our budget appeal but I don't want the picture painted that we are completely out of the woods," Stel said. "We're not sure yet whether it will produce a balanced budget next year.

"But it's certainly going to help a great deal."

Stel said the hospital reputation as cost-efficient institution -- lowest per diem costs among hospitals its size in 1985 -- probably helped convince the province to boost its contribution.

Roger Peters acclaimed to lead S-D New Democrats

CORNWALL (Staff) - Mountain resident Roger Peters was acclaimed president of the Stormont-Dundas federal NDP riding associaton last week.

The 44-year-old energy consultant with a private Ottawa firm was chosen at the association's annual meeting last Wednesday night to succeed A. Trevor Tolley.

Mr. Tolley, a Carleton University English professor and a resident of Williamsburg Township, resigned after serving several years as president of the Federal association. He will remain head of the provincial organization.

Reflecting on his terms as president, Mr. Tolley said the 1984 federal election was a highlight for both the local assocation and the national party.

"We didn't win but as the NDP did nationally, we held our own very well and as we saw nationally, the Liberals went down."

He described the public's support for the local candidate, Ray Lefebvre, and the party as "a considerable triumph...in the face of the overwhelming support that the Tories managed to winkle out of the public."

He added, "It may be some time I suppose before we see another federal election because the Tories are so firmly ensconced in Ottawa but we must remain firmly at the ready."

Mr. Peters said preparing for the next election will be the association's top priority in the coming year.

Because of a stronger party organization in Quebec, he was optimistic New Democrats would fare better in the next federal contest.

He said unemployment in Cornwall and the rural areas, despite its low profile there, will also be an issue.

A second new member of the riding association's executive is vice-president Audrey Merpaw, replacing Jan Samis and Ray Lefebvre who declined to serve another term.

Isobella Champagne is secretary and Joe Vaillancourt, treasurer.

Bill Price, Rolland Morin, Marion Adams, Trevor Tolley, Ted Matlachowski, Ray Lefebvre and Marvin Plumadore will be members at large.

Premier to review quota

ST. ALBERT (Staff) - The oft-cited argument that Eastern Ontario cheese factories cannot produce all the cheese they can sell because of quota restrictions elicited a promise from premier David Peterson his government would review the situation.

In a swing through the eastern part of the province last Tuesday the Ontario premier visited this community where he toured the St. Albert cheese co-operative owned and operated by 60 area farmers. Mr. Peterson told producers the problem was not unique to Eastern Ontario and assured them agriculture minister Jack Riddell will visit the region to examine the situation first hand.

Mr. Peterson said he was aware of the cheese problem. The producers said the Ontario Milk Marketing Board quotas dating back about 15 years limit the amount of milk that can be produced in the area. As well they said the quotas have become more restrictive in recent years.

Cheese factory manager Raymond LaFrance said the co-op sells all the cheese it produces daily (10,000 pounds) within 24 hours. He said the plant could manufacture and sell more cheese if the milk were available. As it is his co-op has to import milk from neighboring Quebec, thus adding to the cost. With 20 per cent of the milk originating in Quebec $2 is added to the cost of every 100 pounds of cheese.

In response the premier defended the record of the OMMB saying the agency "has not been all that bad." He said a lot of farmers have been able to stay in dairying because of supply management practices provided by the OMMB.

Minister tells farmers government will negotiate fair US deal

CASSELMAN (Staff) - Canadian farmers will have to take it on faith the government will negotiate any trade talks with the US in their best interests, federal minister of agriculture John Wise said here last week.

"I think all of us would have to admit it's simply not in our best interests to start advertising publicly exactly what we have in mind," he told a crowd of about 100 at a meeting April 17 sponsored by the Prescott and Russell federations of agriculture.

If he were to state publicly that any agricultural commodity would be excluded from talks with the US, he said, the information would reach Washington within minutes.

"That just fuels the fire of the protectionist movement in the US," he said.

Ironically, the free trade controversy that's raged in Canadian agriculture since the beginning of discussions a year and a half ago may now be immaterial.

The US Senate finance committee recently said it will not give the administration the authority to negotiate a trade deal which Congress can either accept or reject but not amend.

Canadian and American proponents of a free trade agreement say trade talks may be abandoned without that authority.

The Senate committee has postponed a vote on the issue.

Canada's largest agricultural export market is threatened, he said. He pointed to Nebraska, which joined other states last year in banning the import of Canadian hogs because of the use of the antibiotic chloramphenicol.

"And we haven't shipped a damn hog there for 50 years," he said.

But he promised the government wouldn't sacrifice supply management systems.

"We're not about to sign away or give away or bargain away some of these marketing systems that have existed in this country," he said.

"We know we have a political and an economic and a public responsibility to maintain these systems."

Doug Avery, Ontario Federation of Agriculture executive member, said Canada shouldn't pursue freer trade with only the US,

"I think, Mr. Wise, as a farm community that each and every one of us would relish the opportunity to sell more of our products for a profit, particularly in the world market," he said.

"I believe that every farmer will support the concept of increasing or increased trade not only with the US but with Japan, Australia and New Zealand and many other countries in the world."

"So let us when we pick up our papers tomorrow, not hear discussions about free trade but discussions about Canada or Ontario increasing trade with other countries."

But Wise said Canada can't afford to ignore its largest trading partner.

Agriculture is not the Americans' goal in trade talks, he said. "It is for us, because it's that huge market."

He said agriculture won't be traded off against other interests in any negotiations, as happened in the last round of multilateral trade talks in the 1970s.

Any agreement on agricultural products would have to be negotiated on a commodity-by-commodity basis, he said.

He said the federal budget demonstrated the government's commitment to Canadian farmers.

"We singled out the farm sector, more so than any other sector in our society, for special assistance," he said, citing the extension of the fuel tax rebate, establishment of farm debt review panels, aid for farmers leaving agriculture and a commodity-based loan program for Farm Credit Corporation clients.

making progress to democracy."

He said the meeting was probably the first time they had talked together. "It isn't that they don't know how to fight, but they're sick of fighting. They want to talk."

Such meetings among Third World countries, today often the site of fighting directed by the superpowers, are a step towards peace," he said.

"These countries are now standing up and taking action on their own. It doesn't mean everything they do is right," he said, "but it means that the two big superpowers aren't the only ones that count, if they ever were."

Nuclear weapons have changed the face of world conflict, he said.

"We're not going to win the next war if we have one. Nobody will. The rules have changed. Therefore we simply have to find ways to negotiate peace."

Drain funds refused

BERWICK (Staff) - The province has turned down Finch Township's request for aid to pay its share of legal costs incurred objecting to the Payne River municipal drain project before the Ontario Drainage Tribunal.

At a regular meeting Monday night, clerk-treasurer Arnott Empey told council the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food had said it would abide by the tribunal's ruling that each party is responsible for legal costs.

In its decision last year, the tribunal stated. "There shall be no order as to costs and accordingly all parties are responsible for their own expenses."

Early in March, the township had argued the province should compensate it for some of its $30,000 in legal fees because assessments against large tracts of provincial land had been deleted as a result of Finch's arguments.

The township also expressed concern the project would mean the loss of riparian rights.

After hearings last fall, the tribunal was reluctant to terminate the drain at a point several hundred downstream of the Finch-Roxborough boundary, as requested by a group of Finch landowners. It said the integrity of the drain must be assured.

It dismissed arguments the drainage works would remove traditional natural river rights and said the idea of riparian rights has no significant practical value today.

In its letter to the township, the province said it understood the drain ended at that point downstream of the townships' boundary. It said there would therefore be no infringement of riparian rights beyond that point.

Annual bike event to be held May 10

INGLESIDE (Staff) - With spring upon us it's almost time for the annual Ingleside Rotary Club's annual bike-a-thon in aid of Camp Kagama and other community projects.

Publicity officer Pat English said last week the event is slated for Saturday, May 10 from 9am until 1pm. A rain date has been set for the next day, Sunday, May 11.

The major prize offered is a new bike and all riders except Rotarians with a minimum pledge of $10 who collect and turn in their money no later than two weeks after the bike-a-thon are eligible to win the bike. Contestants will win a draw ticket for every $10 pledged. The draw will be held May 31 at 11am outside Ingleside's Home Hardware.

Contributing towards the cost of the bike were Roger's Repair Service, Warren and Rice Insurance, Lefebvre's M&M, H. Warner and Son Garage, Osnabruck Repair Service and Stewart's Home Hardware.

Starting points for the event will be two: the west entrance to Long Sault Parkway and the east end opposite entrance to Island 17. The length of the course can be a maximum of four laps or 40 km.

Council to review community centre project

(Staff) - A committee investigating the feasibility of a community centre for Chesterville village will advise council to go ahead with the project.

At a committee meeting Monday night the group approved the consultant's report in principle but said council only go ahead with the structure if 50 per cent funding could be obtained from Wintario.

The committee will advise council to seek another 25 per cent of the cost from the province and raise the last quarter through a fundraising effort from the public.

A further recommendation is the formation of a steering committee to oversee the whole project, said committee member Jim Cook.

Council should look seriously at the preliminary planning and the site planning," he added.

A possible site may be the area in front of the fire hall next door to the arena.

The entire project could cost between $600,000 and $850,000 according to the report.

Mr. Cook said with all the competition for grants in Ontario it was unlikely the village would be funded this year. A more probably start to the project might be 1988, he said.

Next Tuesday night's meeting of council will be held upstairs in the community hall with donuts and coffee for members of the public. Residents are being invited to meet with council and watch the course of a meeting. At that time the feasibility study proposals will be presented.

Firefighters to hold demonstration at Health Fair

IROQUOIS (Special) - The Morrisburg firefighters will demonstrate their spreading equipment to remove victims from a simulated traffic accident at Seaway at a Health Fair Activity.

Six fire fighters will be on hand to demonstrate and explain the extraction operation. Two demonstrations will take place, the first, at 6:30pm April 29. The Health Fair is open to the public from 6 to 9pm.

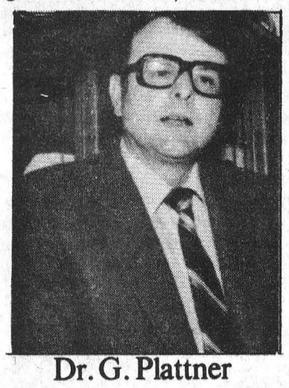
The other demonstration will be at 12 noon on April 30. The activity is being sponsored by the Morrisburg firefighters, St. Lawrence and District Ambulance service and PAID (People Against Impaired Drivers) as part of the health fair

Doctor favors extra billing

INGLESIDE (Staff) - The basic issue facing doctors in the current dispute about extra billing is not financial, a Cornwall radiologist told members of Ingleside Rotary Club last week.

Dr. Gunter Plattner, who practises at Hotel-Dieu Hospital in Cornwall, said what doctors are fighting for is the retention of their professional freedom.

"We want to practise medicine the way we think, without government control," he said.



Dr. G. Plattner

As guest speaker for the evening Dr. Plattner told the members "we hope we can get the public to agree with us."

He argued that although only 10 per cent of the province's doctors are opted out of the OHIP system, government is wrong in saying it makes no difference if that 10 per cent is forced to opt in.

"It would mean we no longer had a choice and at present we do have a choice," he said.

"In the Cornwall area not one doctor is opted out of OHIP and yet some of the most vigorous opposition in the province to Bill 94 is coming from this area."

"Why are we fighting? Because we're going to lose our professional independence."

Dr. Plattner said the physicians want to retain control of their lives and their destiny.

Dr. Plattner said premier Peterson argues accessibility to the health system is curtailed through physicians opting out but denied this was the case.

"The system is flexible and promotes efficiency. No one is denied medical care. Mr. Peterson is looking for some (who have been denied accessibility) but none have been found."

Traditional sailing skills taught

MORRISBURG (Staff) - The call of the wind and the sea will be answered this summer by a few dozen youngsters lucky enough to seek passage on Tradition II, a replica of the famed racing clipper Bluenose.

Sailing out of Crysler Park Marina, her home port, the sailboat will be manned by boys from age 13 to 16 on her voyages up and down the St. Lawrence this summer.

A final passage will be made through the canal system of New York state and down the Intra-Coastal Waterway to the sunnier climes of the Caribbean.

The owner of Tradition, Guy de Puyjalon of Morrisburg, is a former high school teacher, now retired, and president of an executive relocation firm. He has spent every summer sailing the schooner since he bought her in 1979.

The two-week voyages for youngsters start June 21 and the cruises will set out from Crysler Park Marina near Upper Canada Village. The boat travels to ports along the St. Lawrence as far as the Thousand Islands and Lake Ontario.

Mr. de Puyjalon said he feels that operating Tradition II as a training ship contributes to expanding the horizons of young people, providing opportunities for character development through voyaging under sail.

Sailing cadets aboard Tradition II learn seamanship in all its aspects as well as navigation and sailing skills, boat handling, and radiotelephone procedures in a scheduled teaching program.

The most important element, according to de Puyjalon, "is that they have fun while they're learning -- and they do."

A typical two-week cruise includes accommodation aboard ship, shipboard meals, appropriate seamanship skills including ship maintenance, safety, anchoring, rescue, provisioning, galley, courtesy and mooring.

Sail training involves the theory of sail; sail handling; basic navigation skills (charts, dead reckoning RDF operation, night sailing, heavy weather sailing); Seaway navigation and seamanship (locking, collision avoidance); restricted area sailing in the Thousand Islands; deep-water sailing in Lake Ontario.

Instruction in radio procedures includes preparation for licence examination.

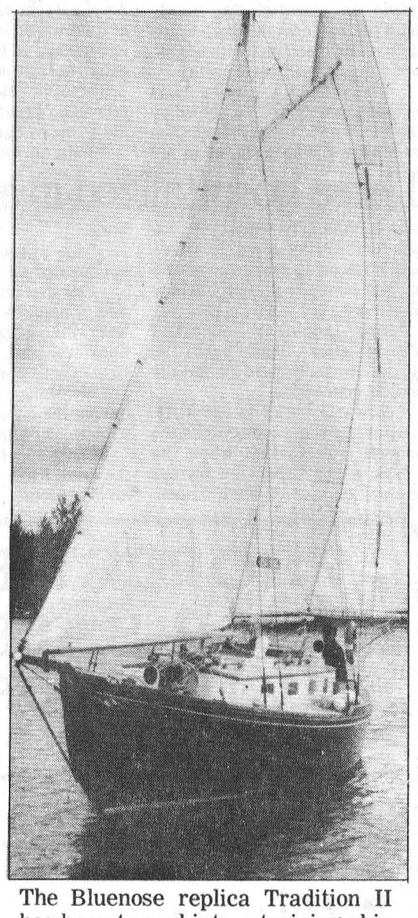
The fee for the two weeks is $400 and boys must be between 13 and 16. Cadets can indicate when they apply which session they prefer. There will be five to choose from, June 21 to July 4; July 7 to July 20; July 26 to August 8; August 10 to August 23; and August 25 to September 6.

Tradition II's 37 foot hull is a faithful replica of the original Bluenose. She was built in Nova Scotia in 1975 of pine over oak frames by the Benjamin Heisler family which built dozens of traditional wooden sailing vessels. The masts are of black spruce and the bowsprit of Nova Scotia maple.

The interior is pine and mahogany, and tradition is maintained to the point where lighting is by oil lamps and heating by a small wood and charcoal cast iron stove. A significant aspect in which Tradition II differs from its larger parent is that it does have an engine, ship-to-shore radio, and modern navigational devices.

A non-profit firm called Sail St. Lawrence Corporation is the parent body for this venture, registered with both the Canadian and American Sail Training Associations. Mr. de Puyjalon is a former vice-president of both the Canadian Yachting Association and the Quebec Sailing Federation.

Sail St. Lawrence can be contacted through P.O. Box 1180, Morrisburg, Ontario, K0C 1X0.



The Bluenose replica Tradition II has been turned into a training ship for young sailors between 13 and 16, and will be cruising Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence Islands this summer.

Spring Showcase success

WINCHESTER — A large crowd was on hand for the Grenville-Dundas Ayrshire Club's 25th anniversary Spring Showcase sale, Mon., April 14.

A number of new records were set at the sale, held at Fawcett's Sale Barn in Winchester.

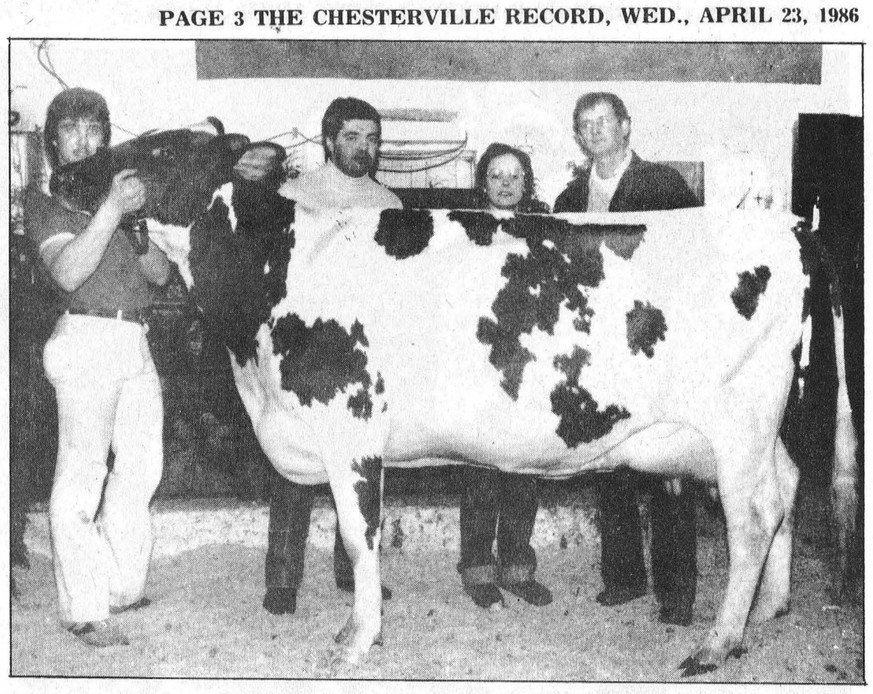
The highest-selling animal, setting a new record high for the sale, was Ash Avenue Bruin's Panda, selling for $4,750. The outstanding four-year-old was consigned by Gregg and Joan MacGillivray of Vankleek Hill and purchased by Ferme de Ste-Victoire, of Ste-Victoire Richelieu, Que. Panda was fresh and milking well and is expected to be on exhibit at the famous Quebec Spring Show at Victoriaville in May.

Second highest-selling animal and second-highest in the past 25 years was De Brae Flashy Bernice, V.G., at $3,600. The five-year-old was newly fresh, and was voted Queen of the Sale by the crowd in attendance. She was consigned by Jack T. Lumley of Picton, Ont., and purchased by Carl Foland of Schenectady, N.Y., who plans to exhibit the cow at the New York State Fair later this year.

Highest selling calf, again setting a record high, was Memory Lane Jay, selling for $2,300. The animal was consigned by R. Roy Simmons of Finch and purchased by Brian Copeland and Dennis Keyser of Jefferson, N.Y.

A total of 40 head of cattle changed hands in the sale for an average price of $1,300, also a new record high.

Organizers report the sale was well supported by local breeders as well as American visitors. Five head went for export with the remaining cattle sold going to Ontario or Quebec.



Ash Avenue Bruin's Panda 9P sold for $4,750 at the Grenville-Dundas Ayrshire Club's sale April 18. At right, Joan and Greg MacGuillivray of Vankleek Hill, consignors, Jacques Petoquin, purchaser, from Sainte Victoire de Sorel, Quebec, and leadsman, Brian Carscadden.

Newington UCW thankoffering

(Special) - Seventeen members attended the Newington UCW at the home of Mrs. Ellis Fickes when worship service was delivered by Mrs. Chas. Tait while programme was in charge of Mrs. Elinor Fleiler.

Mrs. Lydia Pettit presiding over the business items also gave a run-down report on the recent Presbyterial meeting at Spencerville which nine members of Newington unit attended. Tentative plans were made for the autumn thankoffering meeting and announcement was made of the presentation of song by the are men's choir at Newington Church on the evening of May 4. Miss Kathy Raymond of Cornwall will be guest soloist.

In worship we were reminded that God in His wisdom has the power to distinguish what we can endure and instead of removing the thorn from our flesh. He gives us the power of tolerance. He teaches us the glorious ability to see good things in every situation and to conquer evil with good.

Program content was equally challenging yet interesting and enjoyable. A quiz on Bible characters was mind refreshing and information.

Mrs. Jean Shaver expressed courtesies to the hostess and her assistant, Mrs. Edwin Waldroff.

Fundraising begun by Lions for Finchview

FINCH (Staff) - Finchview Villa needs an elevator. The newly built seniors' complex here needs a finishing touch and with $40,000 the elevator will be a reality.

The complex, which was named recently, will be helped by the Finch and District Lions Club which has pledged $10,000 in aid of the project. Club president Archie Byers said several forms of fundraising by the club will be undertaken in the near future to raise the $10,000. These major projects include a live Wintario television broadcast and a Ronnie Prophet dance and concert.

With the elevator site chosen just inside the lobby, manager Derla Loynachan said the elevator would be easy to maintain once it is installed. She said the reason for adding it after the building was completed had to do with finances. "The province won't subsidize elevators," she said.

Other groups too, have assisted in making the complex a pleasant place in which to live. A handcrafted clock was presented to the common room, along with candle sconces for the mantel above the fireplace.

These were gifts by three local groups, the Berwick Women's Institute, the Berwick Recreation Association and the hall board of the Berwick community centre.

Three hospitalized in accident

LONG SAULT (Staff) - An accident Friday night in Osnabruck Township sent three people in the hospital with minor injuries.

The accident occurred shortly after 10pm near the corner of county road 12 and the second concession.

Edward Cook, 18, of RR2, Lunenburg was eastbound on the second concession when he struck a car driven by Carson Haney, 31, also of RR2, Lunenburg.

The Haney vehicle was northbound on the county road.

The drivers of both vehicles and Chantelle Morin, 17, of Cornwall, a passenger in the Cook vehicle,, were taken to Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

Mr. Haney was charged with having the care and control of a vehicle while impaired.

Constable Iain MacCleod of the Long Sault OPP detachment investigated.

Average Township tax bill to be hiked by $12

BERWICK (Staff) - Finch Township has approved a 1986 budget of about $1.75 million but is still waiting for separate school levies to determine the final bill to taxpayers.

The municipal share of the tax bill will total $204,557, about $10,300 more than last year.

To the average residential or farm ratepayer paying taxes on a property assessed at $5,000, the budget will mean an increase of $11.67 in the municipal portion.

For commercial ratepayers, municipal taxes will increase about $13.73 on an average assessment.

But the township has yet to receive a levy from the separate school board. It has anticipated that public and separate elementary and high school boards will levy $430,000, up 6 per cent from last year.

The counties are also expected to increase their levy, from $105,092 to $112,000.

But at a council meeting Monday night, clerk-treasurer Arnott Empey said the roads budget may be affected by the amount of supplementary funding approved.

This year, the township must spend $384,000 before it qualifies for 100 per cent subsidy on its roads work.

But to spend that much money, the township is counting on receiving a share of $220,000 it has requested in supplementary funds for a new tandem truck and bridge work on St. Luke's Road east of Finch village.

Last year, the township was eligible for 100 per cent subsidy after spending only $334,000.

On the expenditure side of the budget, the township was able to cut $9,000 in legal fees, incurred fighting the Payne River municipal drain project, and a donation to Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

It will also deposit only $25,000 in to reserves, down from $65,500 last year.

"We're still going to be in good financial shape," Reeve Ralph MacKenzie said.

But it is faced with the purchase of a $5,000 emergency van for the Crysler fire department, $10,710 in additional road work ineligible for provincial subsidies, and an additional $9,500 for municipal insurance.

At Monday's meeting, council decided to renew its insurance policy through the Rural Ontario Municipalities Association (ROMA) for the second consecutive year at a cost of $15,842.

Council turned down a competing policy of $16,974 from Frank Cowan Company Ltd.

The ROMA package was more than double last year's cost. But council felt fortunate it had escaped the severe hikes experienced by other municipalities and other public and private groups seeking liability insurance.

The ROMA policy offers $10 million coverage in the event of a liability claim, while the Cowan offer went only as high as $7 million.

The ROMA policy also offered full replacement value on township road equipment. Cowan proposed only set values per piece of machinery.

"I think you get a lot more coverage for $1,000 less," councillor Floyd Dingwall said of the ROMA offer.

This year, the township proposes to spend $130,000 on administration, insurance, salaries and legal and auditing services.

It also estimates fire protection, livestock damage compensation, the drainage superintendent, dog control and at just under $50,000, almost $12,000 more than last year.

Garbage collection and disposal remains constant at $22,000.

Other major expenditures in the budget include $25,000 for the construction and maintenance of municipal drains; $10,000 for street lighting, and $10,000 for the major revision of the zoning bylaw.

WDMH auxiliary meets

Door prizes: Lois Cronin, Chesterville; Ruth Craig and Ruby Conlin, Metcalfe; Marjorie Blaine (medical records) Gertrude Willard and Mrs. Fred Harper, Winchester.

An added feature was the display and sale of surplus night wear from the Gift Shoppe.

VILLAGE OF CHESTERVILLE

HERITAGE DESIGNATION

In the matter of the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. 1980, C. 337;

And in the matter of the lands and premises at the following municipal address in the Village of Chesterville, in the Province of Ontario.

NOTICE OF PASSING OF BY-LAW

Take notice that the Municipality of the Village of Chesterville has passed by-law # 13-86 to designate the property known municipally as 86 King Street as a property of historical and architectural value or interest under the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. 1980, C. 337.

REASONS FOR THE DESIGNATION

Built in 1904 for Doctor George Ellis, the house at 86 King Street is of architectural and historical significance. Architecturally, it is a fine example of a "compound house", i.e. a fully developed Victorian house, very picturesque and with very irregular features. Its features include an octogonal turret, three difference styles of bay windows, fish-scale detailing, denticulated cornices, and two very large brackets at the front.

The building is of historic significance because it is a remarkably well preserved example of a country doctor's residence, complete with surgery room, waiting room and patient's entranceway. It also served as the residence for one of Chesterville's early doctors, from 1904 to 1916.

Dated at Chesterville, this first day of April, 1986.

Ontario Hydro officials quizzed on compensation for transmission line

FINCH (Staff) - Ontario Hydro says it will provide fair compensation to Eastern Ontario landowners whose property will be crossed by a high voltage transmission line in the next five years.

About 15 Stormont and Dundas landowners turned out last week to question corporation officials about compensation for immediate and long-term damages caused by construction of a 500 kilovolt transmission line from Cornwall to Ottawa.

At a meeting sponsored by the Stormont Federation of Agriculture, project engineer Brian Leonard said construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in 1889, with 1991 the projected in-servce date.

However, the removal of the existing 115 kilovolt line and construction of the new transmission line will span at least two years.

"So people cropping land could have two years of interruption," a property owner commented.

From the construction of any roads needed to access property to the stringing of conductors, Mr. Leonard said, "The normal time on this tends to be in the order of three years."

Landowners' quizzed the engineer and two real estate division employees about concerns ranging from damage to tile drainage to possible injury to livestock to tree removal.

Gary Hunt, of the corporation's real estate branch said Hydro is now researching local land sales to come up with compensation offers.

Quoting a Hydro pamphlet, he said offers will be based on the market value of the land in a transaction between a willing seller and a willing buyer.

"But we're not willing sellers, are we" one landowners noted. "I mean, we're being made to sell."

But Mr. Hunt said Hydro policies offered other forms of compensation to landowners, such as payment of independent appraisals and legal fees and increasing amounts for each tower on one's land.

"In addition to paying for the rights we have taken, we have to look at any injurious effect to the remainder of your land."

As an example, he said heavy construction machinery could compact the soil so greatly that crops may not return to normal yields for two or three years. Farmers could seek compensation for this lost revenue.

Citing tile drainage works, Mr. Leonard said, "You don't always know what damage you might have caused until years down the road."

The new transmission line will be a second for some Stormont landowners.

Although the existing 115 kilovolt line will be removed along most of the route, it will remain in service south of Lunenburg.

Mr. Leonard said Hydro will try to minimize the inconvenience of the line to farmers.

Where a tower must be constructed on class 1, 2, 3 or 4 land, he said Hydro will erect a narrow-base tower to lessen the loss of prime farmland.

But single shaft towers are about 60 per cent more expensive than conventional four-legged towers, which cost about $50,000.

To save itself money, Mr. Leonard said Hydro would try to avoid the narrow base towers by placing conventional towers on fence lines where possible.

The new towers will be both higher and closer together than existing ones.

New towers between 130 and 165 feet high will replace towers about 90 feet in height.

Because the voltage will be higher, he said the new lines must clear the ground by at least 40 feet.

When the original line went through, he said towers were built at intervals of 1,000 feet but were sometimes indiscriminately placed in fields.

Distance between the new line's towers has been shortened to 850 feet on average, although they could be as far apart as 980 feet or as close as 760 feet.

While farmers may have more towers on their land, they would probably be less inconvenient, he said.

In a tentative schedule, Mr. Leonard said Hydro agents and line location technicians will approach landowners this summer for permission to enter their land and begin survey work.

Landowners will be approached with offers after the survey is completed early next year.

In mid-1987, line technicians will return to finalize tower locations.

Farm labor pool seeking applicants

(Staff) - The Chesterville office of the Stormont-Dundas farm labor pool has made its seasonal pitch for potential employees.

"It's an ongoing thing, from now until the spring planting is done, the haying is done, and the fall is wound up. We're just anticipating a large demand for people at this time of the year, which is normal," manager Floyd Bradford said Monday.

The labor pool is looking for applicants to fill permanent and part-time positions.

He said the office has already received calls from dairy farmers looking for relief milkers to fill in while they're attending weekend weddings.

He said Expo '86 in Vancouver is proving to be a popular attraction this year, judging by the number of phone calls requesting help while the farm family visits British Columbia.

Last year, the office filled 1,600 jobs. For university and high school students, farm work is a chance to pick up much needed summer cash.

Mr. Bradford chuckled that the physical exertion of farm work for a couple of months can also prepare a student of farm work for a couple of months can also prepare a student for school sports when he returns to studies in September.

Rates of pay usually range between $4 and $6 per hour. "We can't set the wages, we're strictly referral. We're not a placement agency," Mr. Bradford said.

But for an experienced person filling a vacancy for only a few days and not assured of constant work, the office would suggest at least $4 per hour.

He said there are "very few that are getting under $5 per hour."

Mr. Bradford said the pool has placed teenagers as young as 14. "It we think they can handle it...It's just a plain case of ability and capability."

Young workers are usually placed on farms where they'll learn how to do heavy work without hurting themselves.

Mr. Bradford said this arrangement usually works to the advantage of both parties, the young person gaining experience and the employer training someone knows will be able to handle that work and more the following year.

Mr. Bradford said the pool needs young workers to fill the vacancies left by seasoned part-timers who graduate or go into another line of work.

He said local farmers have come to rely on the office as a place to find that extra pair of hands.

If a dairy farmer plans to go away, Mr. Bradford said the office can suggest a relief milker, who will visit the farm to learn how the chores are done at that particular operation.

He said the office has built up a trust with Stormont and Dundas farmers. "They know we are finding the best possible people."

DANGER OF WRONG PRICING

Since human nature is predictable, there is a better than ever chance that you'll put the wrong selling price on your home if you arrive at it yourself.

Yoy may price it far above its fair market value because of sentimental attachment, expenditures you have made, or by heeding a well-meaning friend's advice. A home remaining on the market for months due to over-pricing, frequently becomes a "White Elephant". It eventually sells for a much lower figure than it would have brought originally - had it been priced realistically.

On the other hand, you might under-price it because of unfamiliarity with the local market. This would be financial folly. Your safest bet is to list your home with a Realtor who will help you price it correctly from the start and sell it for the best profit.

Publicity may kill controversial bike path plan

TORONTO (Staff) - Bad publicity may scuttle a proposal to convert an abandoned railbed running through Stormont County into a bicycle and hiking path.

Bell Canada is now "reconsidering" the sale of the 80-kilometre former New York Central line from Cornwall to Ottawa, company district real estate manager Paul Fortin said last week.

He said he's "fed up" with the controversy the project has aroused since it was proposed by the Cornwall and Ingleside-Osnabruck Rotary clubs earlier this year.

Initially, he said, the company had approved selling the land for what it thought would be a worthwhile community project.

Opposition has come from the Stormont Federation of Agriculture, which says the land should be returned to landowners abutting the property.

But Fortin said the return of the land isn't possible. Bell bought the land to bury cables, he said, and plowing could damage them.

The cables were a factor in Bell's reluctance to immediately sell the land for the bike path because construction and maintenance could damage them.

When this concern is coupled with public protest, he said Bell doesn't need the headache. "I'm not a masochist," he said.

Farmers along the railbed fear a bike path could threaten access to their fields and attract rowdy tourists, litter and motorized vehicles.

They worry that policing would be inadequate to prevent abuse.

The Rotary clubs saw the project as a means to revitalize the local economy.

The concept for a bike path here was modelled on a Wisconsin path converted from an abandoned railbed. In 1974, that 32-mile Wisconsin trail generated 6.5 per cent of the annual income for 75 businesses in five small communities along its route.

But Fortin has heard no public comments in support of the project.

"It's the usual situation. The people who are against it are making a lot more noise than the people who are for it."

Annual Rotary bike-a-thon

INGLESIDE (Staff) - Camp Kagama, like many recreational camps for youngsters throughout the province, has been told it has to upgrade its standards. With a new code issued by the health department the camp needs funds to expand and improve conditions.

Ingleside Rotary Club has pledged help in two ways. Fully 25 per cent of the proceeds from the May 10 bike-a-thon will be donated to the camp. As well members have volunteered their labor to help implement the improvements to the site and the cabins. Materials will be purchased with the money raised by the biking event.

Publicity director for Rotary Pat English said last week because so many camping sessions have been scheduled the Rotarians may not be able to get on site for the renovations until later this year, perhaps after the camping season.

Fifty years old this year Camp Kagama was founded in 1936 by Rev. Narcisse McLaren, Rev. Harry Hamilton and Rev. Charlie Dawes. Birthday celebrations for the camp will be held Saturday, June 28 at 2pm.

Board to receive funding

CORNWALL (Staff) - The province has funded the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry county school board for two renovation projects valued at $805,704. Funded by the Ministry of Education, the capital projects will begin in 1987.

As well, the SD&G Separate School Board has received a $50,000 grant for renovations to St. Joseph School.

The county board funds will be used for a boiler and roof renovations to East Front Public School and renovations to Ecole Secondaire La Citadelle Phase I.

Each board submitted its capital forecast to the ministry in the fall of 1985, representing its priorities at that time. Some adjustments to the projects listed may be necessary, in consultation with the ministry to meet current needs and priorities, said education minister Sean Conway last week in making the announcement of the funding.

Making a wise decision

In opposing the formation of a third school board in the United Counties, trustees Eugene Legault and Sheila Tremblay have taken a firm and courageous stand and one which may prove none too popular with other separate school board members.

A motion to debate the establishment of a French language shcool board in SD&G will be debated May 20. Meanwhile plans go ahead for the formation by the provincial education ministry of a French language board for Ottawa Carleton.

While in the past such boards were not possible regulations now allow for French language boards in Ontario. The idea has been debated locally for several years but until recently the issue was a non-starter.

It would seem the population of the United Counties simply isn't large enough to support a third school board. Separate school supporters currently paying taxes for the separate board are the residents who would be approached to support a French language school board.

A further argument against splitting representation further is the vacuum which would be left for English speaking Catholic school supporters. With the tax base eroded this sector of the public would be hard pressed by school board levies. It stands to reason, of course, that the largest segment of the separate school board supporters in SD&G is French speaking.

Trustees will have to wrestle with their consciences on this one and an important issue has to be addressed here in the most sensible way possible.

A campaign in the air

By-elections are often an accurate barometer to measure the current state of the weather, politically speaking.

The recent victory of the Ontairo Liberals in York East is just one more indicator Premier David Peterson and his fledgling government may call an election in the near future.

The social contract with the New Democrat Party has showed signs of cracks appearing lately and the Liberals would be glad to rid themselves of their obligations to the NDP. A clear mandate from the voters would do the trick.

The polls show the Liberals could win if an election were held today and the temptation to go to the voters must be very strong.

The premier was in the neighborhood here in the east last Tuesday. On Monday he breezed into Ottawa, travelled to St. Albert, then Cornwall and on to Kingston. Education minister Sean Conway has also visited Eastern Ontario and the provincial attorney general also made a whistle stop in the Cornwall area.

A cynic would almost think these gentlemen were campaigning.

And maybe they are.

by Wyn Thompson

"Winter's done, and April's in the skies.
Earth look up with laughter in your eyes."
-Charles G.D. Roberts 1896

As Roberts says it's not a month to be solemn and diligent, this lovely April. It's a month for spreading a blanket on hillside and looking at the sky, for smelling flowers and listening to birdsong.

Why then, a friend asks, does it begin with All Fool's Day, a twenty-four hour season of siliness and crazy jokes? I guess it is because children who have been cooped up and bent over grubby, uninspiring school work need to kick off their snowboots and jackets, to frolic about and play jokes on one another.

Although its origin is unknown, All Fool's Day is an ancient celebration, because I have read that it is mentioned in an old English book, published in 1760.

An American friend and ardent gardener with whom I spent a few days recently said that her favorite holiday was the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, which falls on the 13th of April.

"Why?" I asked.

"For him, April was a month of urgent business with the earth," she laughed," you farmer certainly can relate to that," she added.

I agreed wholeheartedly.

She continued, "He thought of seeds and plants all year, as all good gardeners and farmers do. And much of his correspondence with friends all over the world had to do with the exchange of seeds...one might even say it took precedence over affairs of state.

I often read his Garden Book at the library. It covers the years between 1766 and 1817, and I read it and reread it with the same immense pleasure that I felt when I read it the first time. He was an exceptional gardener - adventuresome, eager to try all kinds of things.

You can have a fine time reading of the accomplishments of Mr. Jefferson, one of our more imaginative and innovative presidents. Bear with me a minute and I'll find a most interesting paragraph I copied from the book at the library the day before you arrived."

She marched off, stopping an instant to tweak off a few dead azalea blooms. She was soon back. "I wish I could put my hand on things so quickly, Carrie," the Farmer congratulated her, "you must have an excellent filing system."

"Only for one subject," she laughed.

"Mr. Jefferson wrote this after he was supposedly retired from public life although he continued to advise and consult with Madison and Monroe in their terms as president."

"My mornings are devoted to correspondence," he wrote in 1810, sixteen years before his death." From breakfast to dinner I am in my shops, my garden, or on horseback among the farms; from dinner to dark, I give to society and recreation with my neighbours and friends; and from candlelight to early bedtime I read...I talk of plows and harrows, of seeding and harvesting, with neighbors, and of politics, too, if they choose."

Home now, I received a letter from her in the morning mail. She recalled the joy she and Jefferson found in April, as well as many other Americans.

"I am reminded too, as I write this, that April has sad connotations from some of us," she continued, "for we lost dear ones when we entered the 1914-18 was on April 6th. Co-incidentally, the beginning of the Spanish-American War was also in this month, April 21, 1898. And now Libya..."

There are many things to celebrate and do in April, but I could wish to everyone one small portion of time each day in which to explore a green hill, a creek bank, or a violet-flowered forest carpet.

It is the time to explore the bushes in your area. There is a little stream I visit each April.

The journey it makes is a delight - laughing over the smooth rocks, swirling around grassy islands, leaping and falling a few feet. It is one pretty place, there is a tree growing just right to offer shade and an old stump which offers a broad and substantial seat for any explorer passing that way.

In April, everywhere spring pushes to clothe the tired old earth with life and beauty.

It began in the Carolinas where the dogwoods were glorious. The azaleas were at their blatant, showy best.

In Pennsylvania and New York countrysides, spring appeared quiet, almost muted, as it did at home when we drove up our drive. But the evidence was there, none the less.

Violets are everywhere this year, as are the cowslips, and the urge to pick them must spring anew year in April. I know better, but the other day I tried to bring home a little of the stream-bank with me.

I happened to be wearing an ancient straw hat of the Farmer's, which, lined with a bit of moss, made a fine container, and I had a little knife of my father's in my pocket.

Naturally, I took up a few violets, a cowslip or two, a little fern, and a stand of moss for a damp dish garden. That worked well.

Maybe what we love most about April is its passing liveliness, beyond storing and keeping and prolonging.

06 From the Record, Thurs., April 26, 1906

The annual meeting of the Chesterville Lawn Tennis club was held on Monday afternoon in A.M. Fulton's office.

Prospects were never brighter than this year for the success of tennis. The club have arranged for two good courts opposite Mr. F. Shirkey's, and expect to be stronger numerically and is playing ability than ever before.

The commissioners of Stormont county met at Finch Saturday. The people of Osnabruck having carried a local option by law, no licenses were granted in that township; J.W. Richard was granted a license at Crysler, and J. Quenville was given three months to close his business. T. Hines of Moulinette was also given three months' extension to wind up business.

Nearly 7,000 children in Ontario helped by Easter Seals

The Editor:

Every day of the year thousands of physically disabled children in Ontario are fighting to live life to its fullest. And each day of the Year The Easter Seal Society is there to help them win their fight.

More than 6,800 children across the province count on Easter Seal support to help them overcome what can be incredible odds, and move closer to realizing their ultimate level of ability. Whether support takes the form of the provision of a wheelchair, artificial limb, transportation to treatment centres, a memorable camping holiday, the benefits of extensive research programs, or a home visit by an Easter Seal Nurse, the Society remains dedicated to helping and present members have sacrificed hours of determined effort to help physically disabled children. We know this exceptional record is one which all of the members take pride in sharing.

special children in need -- a privilege we have enjoyed since our inception in 1922.

The wide scope of Easter Seal services would not be possible if not for the generosity of individuals and businesses who care about the quality of life available to Easter Seal children. This would also be impossible if not for the tremendous volunteer commitment of our 235 affiliated Easter Seal Service Clubs who spearhead local fund raising activities, and administer Easter Seal funds on behalf of children in their communities.

The Rotary Club of Chesterville has been an active partner in this important work since 1948. Throughout this time many past

On behalf of The Easter Seal Society, our heartfelt thanks to the entire community of Chesterville for backing thousands of young fighters served by Easter Seals. Your gifts to the 1986 Easter Seal Campaign will go a long way helping disabled children go a long way.

St. Bernard student tops in science fair

FINCH (Staff) - A tennis ball cannon has catapulted 12-year-old Tanya Lortie to success.

The grade 7 St. Bernard student won the applied science category at the April 12 United Counties Science Fair and placed third overall with her exhibit of a home-made, small scale cannon.

Her first place finish was won against competition from both elementary and high school students. The two previous winners of the award were secondary school students.

Her win was also a triumph for St. Bernard's, which was competing in the fair for the first time.

Science teacher Pat McCourt was proud of the students' success and plans to stage a second in-school science fair next year in preparation for the S.D. and G. event.

Grade 6 students Lori Ralko and Erin Drummond won an award of merit for their exhibit on sight, "eye to eye".

Lori said the hardest part of preparing for the fair, held at St. Lawrence College in Cornwall, was waiting for the results.

St. Bernard also sent three more exhibits from grade 8 students Chris Helmer, grade 6 student Angie Acres and a joint project from grade 7 students Vicki Kearns and Jo Anne Hedge.

For Tanya Lortie, the fair could mean the start of something big.

Not only does she plan to enter an exhibit next year, she hopes to make medical science a career "for cures and stuff".

Lori Ralko, left, and Tanya Lortie returned from the United Counties Fair with prizes for St. Bernard's. Tanya placed first in the applied science category and third overall. Lori and partner Erin Drummond were awarded a certificate of merit for their project on sight.

North Dundas computer whiz team sweeps counties, progresses to regional contest

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - A computer team from North Dundas District High School (NDDHS) won the first annual United Counties school board computer programming competetion recently.

NDDHS team members Rick Rodney, Paul Spencer, Robert Wu and Clinton Young finished the competiton with a score of 344 points, over 200 points ahead of the team which placed second.

Six other high schools from Cornwall, Iroquois, Avonmore, Alexandria and Chesterville competed in the three-hour competetion held at NDDHS.

Chris Bowen, a computer studies teacher at NDDHS and the contest organizer, says the NDDHS team will now go on to compete this Saturday in Waterloo against 28 other schools representing their boards.

The top team from Saturday's competition will then go to Toronto on May 2 to compete in the Educational Computing Consortium of Ontario (ECCO) contest, to compete in the provincial finals.

Mr. Bowen says the problems students were expected to complete in this competition were of varying degrees of difficulty and designed to challenge their ability to handle computer problems.

"Local competitions provide very good practice for students who later go on to compete at the provincial level," said Mr. Bowen, who is also the coach of the NDDHS team.

"Mr. Bowen brought a team from NDDHS to the ECCO competition last year, but decided a local contest would better prepare the team going to Waterloo this year.

A computer team consists of a maximum of four members, each a full-time student of the board being represented. A maximum of two members can be senior students in Grades 12 and 13, but at least one member must be a junior in Grade nine or 10, said Mr. Bowen.

The coaches must make sure all the rules of team make-up are followed and prepare the group for the competitions.

Participants in this competetion had four in-house problems to work out and each team could send in solutions as often as they wanted to. However, each incorrect program subtracted points from the team's overall score.

Teams also received bonus points for completing the programs correctly in less time than was provided.

Reunion to honor music department's anniversary

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - It'll be music, music, music May 28 when the 20th anniversary of the establishment of the music department at North Dundas District High School is celebrated.

Department head Norm St. Louis said last week every band member from the past 20 years will be invited to the reunion and concert scheduled to take place at Winchester arena.

Started in 1966, the band has gone on to win many prizes and accolades over the years.

With 300 people expected at the reunion and the general public invited to the concert where six bands will perform, a great deal of planning has to be done, said Mr. St. Louis.

"The band members are scattered all over Canada," he said.

On hand for the entertainment will be bands from Glengarry District High School, Rothwell-Osnabruck, Tagwi, Seaway, NDDHS and the Winchester Stage Band.

The concert will be held at 8pm and tickets for the event go on sale this week.

The reception for former band members will commmence at 6:30pm.

Eight municipalities consider joint waste disposal study

Ontario Ministry of the Environment agrees to pick up half the total cost of long-term study, estimated at $80,000

MOOSE CREEK (Staff) - Yet another group of local municipalities is considering a joint waste disposal study.

Last week, eight municipalities, including Finch Township and village, met with Ministry of the Environment officials to discuss joining in a study to determine the area's long-term waste management needs and options.

Joseph Burnham, project engineer with the municipal waste disposal unit of the ministry's waste management branch in Toronto, said the province will pick up half the costs of any joint study.

But any municipality deciding to conduct its own study when proposing to expand its existing site or open a new one must pay the full cost -- at a minimum of $75,000, Mr. Burnham said.

Municipal representatives attending the information session last week were noncommital, but they agreed to discuss the proposal with the rest of their councils and return to a May 16 meeting.

Should the eight municipalities at the meeting -- the villages of Finch, Maxville and St. Isidore de Prescott and the townships of Finch, Roxborough, Charlottenburgh, South Plantagenet and Kenyon -- agree to a study, Mr. Burnham said it would probably cost about $80,000. The cost would be divided among municipalities on the basis of population, at a per capita cost of about $2.50.

He said a study may recommend that one large site be established, with transfer stations throughout the area. Several sites may also be suggested, he said.

The study will fulfill the requirements of the Environmental Assessment Act but municipalities must still finance the detailed site engineering necessary before approval of a site.

Burnham said the province is discussing providing funds for the scientific study but no action has yet been taken.

In the past, he said, disposing of municipalities' garbage has been relatively cheap and easy. The ministry has regulated private waste disposal facilities more rigidly than municipal landfill sites.

Within the next two years, he predicted the province will enact revised regulations concerning the operation and opening of landfill sites, including requiring hydrogeological studies, operators on site, cover provisions and operating, closing and post-closure monitoring plans.

Although municipalities are not obligated to implement any recommendations after a study's completion, he said failure to do so would probably leave a municipality in "bumblebees up to your armpits."

But he doubted a municipality would ignore a study's conclusions.

"This is your study, this is your master plan. This is not the ministry's plan. This is something you're going to want to implement."

Cost should not discourage municipalities from undertaking a study, he said, because a study will be necessary in the future anyway.

The Eganville area is among four eastern Ontario studies now underway. (Winchester Township and the villages of Winchester and Chesterville have agreed to participate in a study, but funding has not yet been requested.)

Burnham said 35 to 40 per cent of property taxes in the Eganville area are in arrears and the study has meant an increase of 9 to 12 mills on its tax base. But the alternative to a joint study would be more expensive.

Roxborough reeve John McIntyre said the township would be considering the joint study proposal carefully.

The township doesn't have a landfill site and rents a dump from a private individual.

The immediacy of the need for new or expanded waste disposal sites varies scross the area.

In Charlottenburgh, one of the township's two landfills has not been in use since September. Township clerk-treasurer Marcel Lapierre described the township's waste disposal problem as "pertinent" and "pressing."

But St. Isidore de Prescott landfill, on the other hand, has another 20 years before it will be filled to capacity.

The village of Maxville has spent about $10,000 on studies to expand its landfill. It's been using Kenyon Township's dump since January.

PLANNING ACT, 1983
NOTICE OF THE PASSING OF A ZONING BY-LAW BY THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF ROXBOROUGH

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Roxborough passed By-law # 5/86 on the 15th day of April, 1986 under Section 34 of The Planning Act, 1983.

AND TAKE NOTICE that any person or agency may appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board in respect of the By-law, by filing with the Clerk of the Corporation of the Township of Roxborough not later than the 20th day of May, 1986 a notice of appeal setting out the objection to the By-law and the reasons in support of the objection.

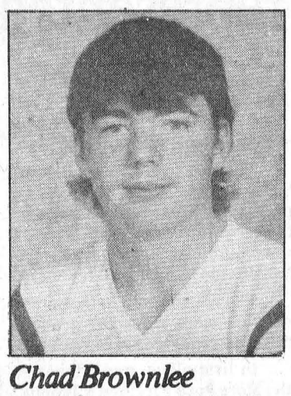
McRae inspiration for young players

FINCH (Staff) - Ken McRae has sparked a 15-year-old Finch hockey player's drive to play in the OHL.

Chad Brownlee is a second year veteran to the Ottawa Selects, a minor bantam AAA team. This summer the Selects, (a name that explains the team (selected exceptional players throughout the Ottawa Valley), is going to be participating in a 10-day tournament in Vancouver B.C.

Seventeen-year-old McRae, also a Finch resident, has just completed his first season of OHL (Ontario Hockey League) hockey for the Sudbury Wolves and is ranked eleventh overall in the NHL draft this coming summer.

The Selects are the only team from Ontario participating in the tournament. There are seven other teams: two from U.S.A., one from Victoria, B.C., one from Vancouver, B.C., one from Winnipeg, and one from Calgary.



Chad Brownlee

The tournament organizers are trying to make the 10-day tournament, which starts July 17, one of the biggest possible. The advantage of the tournament for the players will be the exposure. There will be scouts out to see the tournament.

The tournament will be held concurrently with Expo '86 and if the players wish, they will receive a chance to go to the world's fair for three days. They will also be given a minimum of five games of hockey.

Each player is expected to raise a portion of the money needed for the trip.

M.V.P. and top scorer of the tournament each will receive a $1000 scholarship to any college in Canada.

This past winter Brownlee played with a major AA bantam team in Cornwall, four games a week. Like McRae, Brownlee said that playing hockey didn't interfer with his school work. He has a 79.3 grade average at Tagwi Secondary School in Grade 9.

Last year Brownlee went for a try-out for the Ottawa Selects with another player, Jason Flanagan, an Avonmore resident and both made the team. This year Brownlee is playing on the team but Flanagan isn't.

"Kenneth changed my thinking about hockey a lot," said Brownlee. "I would not mind doing as well (as McRae). I'm hoping."

Brownlee will be playing right-wing in the Vancouver tournament, although he said, "I usually play center."

With the scouts that will be present at the tournament Brownlee said, "I want to play my best and I think I'm good enough that they'll notice me."

Brownlee feels the Ottawa Selects is a good team on which to get some recognition and said that there was central scouts at some of the games last year.

A hot NHL prospect

Finch's McRae ranked 11th for draft

FINCH (Staff) - Despite the recognition Ken McRae, a 17-year-old Finch resident, has received since he began playing in the OHL nearly a year ago he remains modest about his achievements.

The 1985-86 season was a stellar year for McRae.

He was designated as 11th all-round NHL(National Hockey League) draft choice after one season of OHL with the Sudbury Wolves. McRae also collected a Rookie of the Year award and scoring the most points of the rookies on his team.

McRae's goal at the first of the season was to score 25 goals. He reached his goal and added 40 assists, for a total of 65 points in the regular season.
for a total of 65 points in the regular season.

Although McRae spent 137 minutes in the penalty box he never missed a complete match. McRae likes the physical part of the match and said, "at first I had to get used to hard hitting," but he now feels it's a part of the game that he excels in. "A team needs someone that can handle the hitting when you bring the puck down the ice, and I'm larger than most (6'1")."

McRae was early designated as twelfth draft choice but late in the season they moved his ranking up to eleventh. McRae felt that he moved up because he became more used to the OHL hockey style, a faster skating and harder hitting game.

The draft will be on June 21 in which McRae could be drafted by an NHL hockey team and then possibly signed. "I will go to the Junior training camp then to the NHL training camp if I'm signed," said McRae. "I'll probably then go back to the Sudbury Wolves unless I make the NHL team, which I doubt."

McRae has adjusted well to the fast-paced life of an OHL hockey player which includes several three-day road trips and home games plus mixing in the usual work load of high school.

"I'm doing pretty good in school," said McRae, "hockey isn't interfering with my work, you just have to work a little harder to stay caught up."

"Living in a small town really helps," said McRae, "You have a lot of people supporting you," said McRae.

Holmes clicks for tourney win

FINCH (Staff) - Morewood's Dave Holmes knocked in two goals, to defeat D&F Foam of Finch 3-1 for the "A" division championship in the Rush City Raiders Men's Broomball tournament held here on the weekend.

The Osnabruck Bush Bandits captured the "B" division trophy after a hard-fought double-overtime sudden-death 1-0 win over the Avonmore Animals to take home $200 in prize money. The "B" runners up received $140, the "A" winners, $300 and the runners-up, $190.

Morewood Shell earned their way into the "A" division final after blanking Dunvegan 4-0 in their opening match of the tournament. In their second game Morewood defeated MacDonell's Inn 3-0 to earn a semi-final position against Crysler. Morewood won that contest 3-1.

The final match, Morewood's Jeff Vanderveen replied for both assists on Holmes' goals to win the "A" final match 3-1.

Paul Peterson scored the opening goal of the match for Morewood at 6:13 in the first period on a pass from Frank Bols.

Adding to Morewood's lead was Holmes as he replied for his first goal of the match at 9:21 in the second period to give his team a 2-0 lead over D&F Foam. D&F Foam's Henry Pynenburg rallied with a goal one minute later on a pass set up by Lambert Joldersma to narrow Morewood's lead to 2-1.

With 4:20 left in the match Morewood's Holmes scored again to increase the teams' lead to 3-1 to defeat D&F Foam for the "A" final championship.

The Bush Bandits made it into the "B" final after losing their opening game to the Sullivan's 2-1 but came back with a 3-0 win over Monkland to advance into the semi-finals the hosts of the tournament, the Rush City Raiders, 2-0 to advance to the final against the Avonmore Animals.

In double-overtime, the Bush Bandit's Barton Heagle scored the only goal of the game to win 1-0 with 2 seconds left to go before the second overtime period was over.

The goal was scored with no goalie and only one defenceman back to try to stop the shot on net that gave the Bush Bandits their "B" championship win.

Minor hockey meeting rescheduled for May 7 because of poor turnout

(Staff) - Another unsuccessful minor hockey meeting for Chesterville, what's new?

On April 16 the Chesterville and District Minor Hockey Association held a meeting in which seven turned out, three executives and four parents.

The purpose of the meeting was to elect a new executive for the association for the 1986-87 season.

Elected for treasurer was Bev Gilles and Wendy Larose will be the equipment manager. Positions still needed to be filled are: president, vice-president and secretary.

Another meeting has been scheduled for May 7, 1986 at the Chesterville Community Hall at 8pm. The purpose of the meeting will be to elect an executive and hopefully form a committee to study a partial amalgamation with the Winchester Minor Hockey Association. Organizers stress this must be discussed now and not in the fall when the hockey season is about to start. A committee would have to determine if this is feasible and would be beneficial to both associations.
