HENRY'S Shorthand School Ottawa, Ont.

No School in Canada offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. Henry's leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by more than 600 pupils who have, since January, 1913, left other Ottawa schools to come to it.

Therefore, it is not surprising that business men, in advertising for stenographers, should specially say, "Graduates of Henry's School preferred."

Barclay---Weegar

St. Andrew's manse was the scene of a quiet wedding Monday evening when Miss Gladys B. Weegar, younger daughter of Mrs. Archie Black became the bride of Orlin J. Barkley, son of Mrs. John M. Casselman, Morrisburg, Rev. A. H. Sproule officiating. They were attended by Miss Florence Cramer, of Chesterville and Mr. Orval Barkley, of South Mountain. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left by motor for Quebec City.

Smiths Falls Boy Rescued By Fish Line

Bernard Genge, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Genge, Smiths Falls, had a narrow escape from drowning Monday when he slipped and fell from a pier near the dam and was saved only by the prompt action of anothed youngster, David Miskelly, 12, son of Mrs. F. W. Miskelly.

The two boys were fishing on the dam and young Miskelly turned to his companion after some time to find Young Genge's foot had been caught in his fishing line and by means of the line, David Miskelly was able to bring him to the surface and take him from the water.

Passersby rendered first aid and later medical assistance was secured, the youngster had swallowed a quantity of water and had evidently been beneath the surface for some time but recovered within a few hours and apparently escaped little the worse for his experience.

Mrs John Murphy Rescued From Burning Home

Last Friday morning about four o'clock, Mrs. John Murphy, of Church street, was rescued in the nick of time from a second storey window when flames and smoke had cut off her escape from her residence, by her nephew, Ranald Curran. Mr. Curran, returning from a dance in the Music Hall between three and four, found the house full of smoke and flames breaking out near the stairway leading from the lower part of the hall. He could not reach Mrs. Murphy's room from inside the building, but aroused her to the danger she was in and, with the assistance of Angus Merkley, took her down a ladder from the east window over the kitchen.

The cause of the outbreak is not definitely known, but the flames appeared to start near the centre of the building on the second floor and worked their way up through the partition to the attic and broke through the roof. The firemen soon had two streams of water playing, but it was with considerable difficulty that the seat of the blaze was reached. The upper storey and the attic were the most seriously damaged with the roof practically burned away, while very great damage was done to the rest of the building through water and smoke.

With some difficulty in getting the alarm sounded from the condensery, the news was carried by a fleet-footed young lady, when Miss Minnie Merkly flew along the pavements in her stocking feet from one side of the town to the other to have all assistance possible summoned.

The Murphy home is in the section of the town which had lacked fire protection all these years, until through unemployment relief work this winter water mains were laid and hydrants installed and through the use of which damage to the property was reduced to a minimum, and also likely prevented the loss of Howard McMillan's house close by, as well as out buildings.

Casselman Resident Loses Residence and Store

When fire broke out in a two-storey frame dwelling and store at Casselman early Tuesday morning, considerable damage was done before the outbreak was extinguished, one hour later. The store, owned by Joseph Gour, with the family dwelling on the second floor, was burnt to the ground, the total loss being $4,000, which is covered by insurance.

When the fire was first reported Mrs. Gour and her two small children were asleep upstairs, but on hearing the barking of their dog Mrs. Gour realized that something was wrong and noticed a crowd gathered outside. She was informed that her store was ablaze and immediately rushed her children to safety. Mr. Gour and another child were in Ottawa at the time of the fire.

Finch Township Cuts Expense

The Finch Township Council met in Berwick last week and made a drastic cut in all salaries of Township officials, cutting their own pay from $4.00 to $3.60 per day, and also reduced all other officials, teams, foremen and labourers ten per cent in their pay.

This is quite a contrast to the County Councillors who a few months ago raised their own salary from $5.00 to $8.00 per day. This move will meet with the approval of the tax payers in general.—Contri.

Mrs. S. Hunter Passes; Aged Finch Resident

An old and highly respected resident of the Township of Finch, in the person of Mrs. Silas Hunter, at the age of ninety years, five months, and twenty days, passed away at her residence two miles east of Finch village on Thursday morning, May 7th. Her husband predeceased her fourteen years ago.

A grown-up family, most of whom were at her bedside when the end came, mourn the loss of a loving mother. She leaves also a number of grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren, having been for some years the head of the fifth generation.

Always of a cheerful and loving nature, she endeared herself to all who came in contact with her throughout her long life which was spent entirely within a radius of a few miles of her late home. Charity to the luckless wanderer was a characteristic most predominant in her beautiful nature, always active and in full possession of all her faculties until just two weeks before her demise.

The beautiful flowers which adorned her casket consisted of a wreath from the family at home, a spray from Mrs. C. S. Johnstone and family, Crysler; wreaths from Mrs. Felix Barkley and family, Vars; Mrs. Scott, Winchester, and one from the neighbours, also a bouquet of cut flowers from Miss Smirle, R. N., Crysler, and and Mrs. Ida Hunter, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

The funeral service, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Roberts, was held at her late residence, a large cortege of friends and neighbours following the remains to the cemetery south of Finch where interment was made.

The pall bearers were W. Hamilton, S. Kittle, C. S. Johnstone, H. J. Curran, J. Bush, and K. Cameron.

Mrs. John Pickering, Riceville

Mrs. Pickering, who passed away at Riceville, in Prescott County, on Thursday, May 7th, will be better known to many people by her maiden name, Maggie Beattie. Her parents who lived near Lakefield, Que., at the time of her birth nearly 78 years ago, a few years later moved to Ontario and settled on a farm near Chesterville owned at present by Mr. Geo. Beattie. Here the late Mrs. Pickering grew to young womanhood and married about fifty-five years ago, going to live at Riceville. Forty-four years ago she was left a widow with four small children, all of whom grew up to manhood and womanhood. A few years ago the two eldest boys, James and Wilburn, passed away, they had been recording steward and Sunday School superintendent, respectively, of Riceville Church. The two surviving children are Mrs. Mildred Franklin, who tenderly cared for her mother in her declining years, and Mr. Robert Pickering, B. A., a teacher in the Technical and Commercial School at Hamilton, which position he has filled for nine years.

On Saturday afternoon the last tribute of respect was paid the deceased when a large number attended her funeral service held in Riceville United Church and conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. Gankrodger, who spoke from these words of Paul: "This mortal shall put on immortality." Reference was made to the contribution made to the community by Mrs. Pickering through her family. A duet was sung, entitled "Beautiful Hands, Beckoning Hands." The choir sang "Face to Face." Among other floral tributes was a wreath from the staff of the Hamilton Technical School. Interment was made in the cemetery at Franklin's Corners.

Mrs. Pickering is also survived by two brothers, Mr. D. Beattie, of Winchester, and Mr. Robert Beattie, of Toronto; also two sisters, Mrs. Marlin, of Sawyerville, Que., and Mrs. M. A. McConnell of Vancouver.

Among those attending the funeral from a distance, were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McConnell, Mr. Wm. McConnell and Mrs. J. W. Smith, of Morewood; Mr. D. Beattie, Mrs. Lawrence Walker, Mrs. Edgar Summers, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Earle, of Winchester.

Dr.: "Let me see your tongue, please."

Patient: "Oh, doctor, no tongue can tell you how bad I feel."

The Brute: "My dear, don't you really talk too much sometimes?"

The Bride: "I admit that I did once, and I did not say much either."

The Brute: "What was that?"

The Bride: "When I said 'Yes' to you."

About 75 per cent of the auxiliaries raised their allocations, and the average donations per membe were $4.25.

The reports from the various departments were all encouraging. The secretary, Mrs. J. Ault, reported 44 auxiliaries, with a total membership of 1,564, consisting of 1,280 annual and 284 life members. Bales of goods valued at $791 were sent to various places for distribution to the needy. An average of 63 per cent of the membership subscribed to the official organ, the Missionary Monthly.

The ladies of Merrickville church served both lunch and tea in the hall.

Merchant Pays $290 For Parcel Worth $20

E. I. Schneiderman, proprietor of a Brockville store, listened too sympathetically to the story of two strangers who wanted to negotiate a loan, for which they would leave a suit case containing "security to the value of $800.' ' Schneiderman "fell" to the extent of $290 in cash, and the strangers departed, stating they would return at four o'clock. Later Schneiderman became nervous, and opened the suit case, to find that the "security" amounted to some old clothing worth perhaps $20. He told his story to the police, but could give no description of the men, other than one was a tall and slim Pole and the other a short Jew.

10% REDUCTION for two years driving without accident.

15% REDUCTION for three years driving without accident.

20% REDUCTION for four years driving without accident.

Discount applicable to Public Liability, Property Damage and Collision Premiums.

Human Life Is In Your Hands

Our merit rating policy is offered with a sincere desire to encourage careful driving and to foster a keen regard for life and property. Remember, it's the man at the wheel that counts — in his hands lies the safety of children, pedestrians and passengers.

The need for safety is imperative. Life and property are being sacrificed unnecessarily by careless and thoughtless drivers. Do your part. Help in the crusade for saner and safer driving. Talk, think and practise safety.

The SAFE DRIVER Comes Into His Own

Our merit rating policy rewards every safe and sane driver for his care, courtesy and common sense. He is no longer classed with reckless motorists. Instead, his premium rates are adjusted in accordance with his personal record of careful driving.

Under the New Financial Responsibility Law, no matter how careful you may be, you need the complete protection of our Automobile Policy.

CARE

1. Watch children—Slow down!—Sound horn!
2. Look out for pedestrians near street cars.
3. Read and observe all warning signs, especially at railway crossings.
4. Do not stop or park on highway, especially on curves or near the crest of hill.
5. Keep your car in good mechanical condition, especially brakes, steering, tires, lights and horn. Repair immediately even slight defects. Have your car inspected at least twice a year.

COURTESY

1. Do not dawdle along middle of road. Give all faster moving traffic right of way.
2. Do not speed up when overtaken by faster moving traffic.
3. Do not cut in closely ahead of the car you have just passed.
4. Be considerate of all others on the highways. Don't be mean or obstinate.
5. Be considerate of your passengers. In the event of a crash, they invariably receive more serious injuries than the driver.

COMMON SENSE

1. Drive at speeds in keeping with safety of others and with your experience as a driver—never fast in crowded traffic or on curves or bad roads.
2. Keep on the right side of the road except when passing.
3. Never pass on blind curves or when nearing crest of hill. Always be sure there is ample time and space.
4. Obey all traffic signals; stop at through streets and highways; go through all intersections slowly and only when way is clear.
5. Give clear signals before turning or stopping in traffic.

MOTHER

Mother's Day was fittingly observed in the churches of town Sunday last with special services in which the children took prominent parts, and with their teaching still in mind the following selection may not be out of place:

I THINK that every mother wants to be a good mother. There is some strange clutch that baby fingers take on our hearts as they flutter aimlessly about—some inexplicable echo that answers the cry of the new voice—some deep honest humility making us aware of the tremendous responsibility we are bearing. And it all sums up in the resolve to be a good mother.

Mothers have to be good—how else can they teach their children the right thing? And the only point that really matters is the welfare of those children. So in the first few days after that great experience of motherhood dawns upon a woman's life, she thinks long, deep thoughts about herself in relation to her child.

"Now,' she thinks, "at last I can understand my mother."

But she is not justified, yet, in saying that. She has many an hour of pain and grief and despair to live through, before she plumbs the depths and scales the heights. First she has to think of the physical well-being of her child, and arrange as best she may to take care of his little body so that he may be sound and strong and happy in his health.

She must watch, also, the opening of his mind and soul, and be always ready, at need, to lead him aright. Oh, a mother has so much to consider! No wonder she fails, again and again—and pays with anguish of soul by seeing her child suffer for her failures!

It takes courage, this business of being a mother. Now and then she has to set her face like flint and say "No!" and hold to it, though every throb of her warm and loving heart urges her to yield to the whims of her child. She has to look far ahead, because her decisions are not merely for the present—they are for the future, and for one who is nearer to her than her own life.

She needs a gay sort of courage, because the spasmodic, big kind is well for those critical moments that are really not in her line. It does very well for those critical moments that come at long intervals—but for the common tests and trials of everyday life she must have a smile, and a snatch of song, and a bit of make-believe to cover the drab spots and the hard places, and to colour the bareness of the deserts we all have to cross.

This is the rare sort of courage—yet how richly does it bring its reward! For the mother who can muster a whimsy of some sort when despair is at her heart, can hold her children to her so that neither time nor distance, nor life nor death can take them from each other. When fires are low and the house grows cold, she laughs and says, "What does it matter? We have each other. Come, let us play Arctic explorers."

When there is only one egg left in the basket, and not a great deal of anything else in the house to eat, naturally she is the one who must have that egg. To this she agrees, for she knows well the happiness there is in giving—and she is glad to have her dear ones know it for her. But what a game she makes over it! Every one must taste her egg. She takes a generous top off it—and that must go to the small child to her right. She fears it is rather soft for her liking—so the child on her left must finish it.

Half a century later, a man will pause and remember with a tenderness of heart, that merry meal—and know, at last, the meaning of courage.

When there is no work to be had, no money to be had, and it seems as if everything has failed, she somehow forces her lips to a little song. She knows it will cheer the children! She does not realize how much that simple, brave effort does accomplish in fighting the gloomy spectres that forever haunt us when misfortune has begun to make us afraid of being afraid. Surely there is some special richness in life to the children of a singing mother!

Then there is the mother who has the gift of silence. We hear about the things we should tell our children and the advice we should give them—but what about the silences we owe them? Times when they do silly tricks, and make themselves—and us! ridiculous; times when they do what is wrong, and know it, and are afraid to own up, yet long, terribly, to own up and get the tangle straightened out; times when life frightens them to the core, and they feel the presence of the yellow streak, and almost, in panic, do the one thing they must never do; times when life allures them, fires their pulses, dazzles and bewilders them—and again they hang on the edge of ruinous folly; times without end when they need, not words, but silence that is more eloquent than words, and the long straight level look from eyes of love and understanding that somehow will clear their course for them, and tell them there is a way out of every predicament—and that for them there is no choice but to take the path of honour.

Mothers have to be so much! No wonder we fail—oh, no wonder!

But somewhere within our souls we shape, and hold, a sanctuary, something of ourselves no misfortune or despair can touch. We must have this refuge, this tiny spot where we may renew our serenity, take fresh hold on Humanity with one hand, and on Infinity with the other, so that through us may flow to our children all that we can gather of strength and soundness and purity. Stumbling, far from perfect as we know ourselves to be, yet there is a feeling that all will be well. We do not have to carry this responsibiity unaided. . . .

I like to think of the mother who says "Good-bye"—and smiles. No tears. Just that loyal, proud smile. Even the Dark Angel has to stand back a moment while she, on the very verge of death, gathers her failing forces to send back her little brave smile to her loved ones. And then, she goes first, happy, perhaps, to think that it will be easier for the others, when their turn comes, for they will find her waiting for them.

Farmers, Attention !

When Farmers tried Co-Operative Marketing, they struck snags.

Each fellow had ideas of his own as to how it should be done. No one knew for sure.

They often picked for a manager a fellow who couldn't manage his own affairs.

The stuff they had to sell was as many kinds as pies at a picnic. It didn't sell so well.

Dealers in Farm stuff didn't like Co-Operative Buying and Selling. They tried to bust it; they often succeeded.

Buying and Selling Co-Operatively sometimes didn't pay any better than the old way; that didn't help much.

But many farmers kept on trying their Co-Operative ways, sometimes failed, at times got along well. They kept on and found they didn't know much after all.

But they learned; learned alot. They are still learning. Everybody has to learn. Do you know anybody who hasn't had to learn?

Egg Market Said To Be At Bottom

Opinion was expressed in Montreal at the week end that the egg market at last has reached bottom. As evidence, the proponents of this belief pointed out that on Friday and Saturday a firmer tone had deveoped on top grade eggs. Whereas in midweek fresh extras in carlots sold as low as 18c per dozen, there were no quotations at this level at the week's close. The general price for fresh extras on Saturday was 19c per dozen, either for Ontario or prairie eggs. Depending on the quantity of extras in a mixed car some extras may have been bought at a minimum of 18½c per dozen, but 19c appeared the general quotation. Firsts and seconds were unchanged and steady at 16c–17c and 14c–15c per dozen, respectively. British Columbia eggs commanded a premium of 1c per dozen. Receipts of eggs at Montreal showed another increase last week, and added to the easy trend to prices during most of the week. It was felt that receipts are now at about the peak of the season.

Active in New Government Loan

The Financial Times, Montreal.—H. C. Monk and Company has been in business for many years and has specialized in Victory Bonds and other Government issues, Mr. Monk personally being connected prominently with the well remembered War Loan financing of '17, '18, '19. They have participated with the large national and international houses in nearly all the important Provincial, Municipal, and Corporation issues for many years. Being in Ottawa they have paid particular attention to issues having an Ottawa and district interest and bonds of the Municipalities of Ottawa, Hull, Carleton County, Pembroke, Renfrew, Arnprior, Smiths Falls, Carleton Place, Almonte, Perth, etc., etc., have always found a ready market through this firm.

In addition, H. C. Monk and Company has been prominently identified with the underwriting or across-Canada distribution of such popular issues as the E. B. Eddy Company, Grant-Holden-Graham, Beach Foundry, Victoria Realty, and Booth Buildings Bonds, which are probably the most attractive corporation issues traded in, in the Ottawa territory.

H. C. Monk and Company is a partnership consisting of Messrs. H. C. Monk, John Graham, and Reginald D. Steers. Mr. Monk received his early financial training in the Bank of Montreal and with two or three other financial houses before forming his firm. Mr. Graham began in the old Bank of Ottawa at an early age under well known figures, Sir George Burn and D. M. Finnie, and then started with H. C. Monk and Company the day it commenced business. Mr. Steers came in a year or so later, after spending some time with the C. P. R. and other leading concerns in Montreal and Ottawa.

Funeral of H. M. Beach Held at Iroquois

Iroquois, May 10.—Many friends, both in Iroquois and out of town, paid tribute to Herbert Mahlon Beach at his funeral which was held Saturday afternoon from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Allen McInnes, Iroquois. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Knowles, of the Iroquois United Church, and interment was in the Maple Ridge cemetery, Winchester.

Mr. Beach was well known in Ottawa, through his connection with the Beach Motors Ltd., and his passing was the occasion of wide regret. The chief mourners were his widow, formerly Laura Purdy; a son, George Beach, of Hamilton; two daughters, Mrs. E. Keith Davidson, of Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa, and Miss Florence, at home; and two sisters, Mrs. William Gillispie, of Toronto, and Mrs. McInnes, of Iroquois. Four other sisters, Miss Eleanor Beach, Mrs. G. Moody, and Mrs. George Kerr, of Miami, Florida, and Mrs. R. H. Knox, of Yorkton, Sask., also mourn his passing.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received by the bereaved family in token of the high regard in which Mr. Beach was held.

HUSTLING FOR BUSINESS IN HARD TIMES

DEPRESSION has no terrors for the town of Fergus. On the contrary, its citizens set an example which might well be followed by others in much smaller places. When business does not come to them they go out to look for it. Instances of this enterprise are given in the last issue of the News-Record. Probably the most remarkable is that of a chicken hatchery. Egg prices have dropped to the lowest point in years, and as a result, many farmers are going out of the chicken business in digust. Not so with this chicken hatcher.

"With an largely increased capacity, he had far more chicks to sell than last year," says the News-Record. "He had made a further expenditure for blood testing and for building up the quality of his flock. To get rid of his chicks, he had to make a choice between cutting the price and selling at a loss, or advertising and hustling. He chose the latter course, and results have justified his choice. So far this week we learn that he has shipped over 15,000 chicks, and not at cut prices, either. He is running his incubators to capacity, sending out catalogues which stress the quality of his fluock just as fast as the News-Record can supply them from its job department, and trying out all kinds of new selling ideas. The results benefit not only himself and his staff of men at the hatchery, but the express companies are doing a big business, the printing office is busy, the paper wholesalers are getting weekly orders for more paper, the farmers are selling eggs by the thousand at a higher price than they would get elsewhere, and are improving their flocks at the same time."

Some of these chicks travelled to the Maritime Provinces, some to Quebec, and some as far west as Swift Current, Saskatchewan. As the News-Record says, this is just another example of hustling for business and getting it instead of bewailing hard times.

Lawyer: "And just how bad do you want this divorce, Mose?"

Mose: "It only cost me a string of fish to git married, suh, but, Ah'd give a whale to git rid of her."

"Do you think you could eat another piece of cake, Tommy?"

"I think I could, auntie, if I stood up."

MR. FARMER!
A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Your Trucks, Tractors, Wagons, Implements and other Farm Equipment represent a big investment!

You would need a great many bushels of Wheat or other Farm Produce to pay for the cost of replacement or repairs!

If you could lengthen their period of usefulness by two or three, or four years, the benefit to you in dollars and cents would be very great. Wouldn't it?

You can reduce your yearly cost! You can increase the productiveness of your implements! You can preserve your investment by painting your implements with—

Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD

Truck & Tractor - Paint -

For the small sum of about $4.00 you can completely paint a wagon two coats, and thereby add at least two years to its life.

Lowe Brothers' Truck and Tractor Paint, which is specially made for the purpose, comes in six bright colors and Aluminum. It is very economical and can save you hundreds of dollars.

Why not preserve your assets now?

One Pint of Lowe Brothers Paint will go as far, as One Quart of Cheap and Inferior Paint. . . .

HERE'S A PLAN

PERTH EXPOSITOR.—The Northern Tribune suggests that the Dominion Government hold a state lottery to provide funds for the immediate construction of the trans-Canada highway. It suggests that Parliament should at once discuss the principle in order that it may be quickly decided, permitting the sale of tickets to be commenced early this summer, through local post offices. If this were done, the Tribune says work would be provided for many thousands of unemployed from coast to coast, and literally, millions of tickets would be bought by enthusiasts who not only wish to help the unemployed in some practical manner, but ardently desire a national highway.

Her Father: "You are going to marry that insignificant little fellow, Percy! Why, you used to say you would never marry a man less than six feet tall."

Daughter: "Oh, I know, pa. But I decided to take off twenty per cent for cash."
