WORLD PREMIERE OF DIONNE PICTURE AT LOCAL THEATRE

An event of great interest to movie-goers occurred in Morrisburg last week when the latest picture featuring the Dionne Quintuplets, "Five of a Kind" was presented, in its world premiere at the Cameo Theatre. It was an unusual quirk in the film distribution agency which sent the five famous babies to Morrisburg, several days before their show was scheduled to open in New York City. Although the picture, on the whole has received mixed criticism from some critics, its real entertainment value cannot be overemphasized. The quints are no longer 'camera shy', and their millions of fans all over the world, will get a real thrill out of their latest picture.

Five of a Kind is released by 20th Century-fox, the running time being 85 minutes.

CHARGE PAIR WITH .. BREAKING OF WINDOWS

Lloyd Bilow, 17, and a boy juvenilewhose name was withheld, appeared in court at Winchester Wednesday morning before Magistrate John McCormick, charged with being illegally in possession of sling shots, of damaging the high school and public school properties. Bilow and his companion were arrestel following an extensive search for a gang of youths implicated in the smashing of many panes of glass in the public and the high schools at Winchester on Saturday last.

Without being asked to plead, Bilow was remanded to the county jail at Cornwall, while the other youth was left in charge of F.S. Nugent, superintendant of the Children's Aid Society for Dundas, Stormont, and Glengarry counties.

The two will appear for trial in Winchester court next Wednesday, Bilow before Magistrate McCormick and his companion were responsible F. McKinley of Ottawa.

When questioned, the boy whose name is withheld, admitted that he nad hisocmpanion were responsible for all the damage. Bilow denied any connection with the afair.

The boys were represented by T. K. Allen, of Kemptville, while council for the municipalities who are pressing the charges is W.J. Cass, K.C., of Winchester. Mr. Allen applied for bail on behalf of Bilow but it was refused. Mr. Cass objected on the grounds that Bilow had a bad record and had been in trouble about a year ago.

Constable Herbert Helmer and John Sader arrested the boy Tuesday afternoon. Bilow was arrested by Provincial Officer Frank Rose and Constable Helmer Wednesday morning.

Synopsis

Detective Dan Colwell of the Graber-Vael private detective agency is assigned the job of shadowing lawyer Arthur McDonald whose wife fears gangster enemies are plotting to murder him. McDonald is murdered in spite of Colwell's watchfulness. Dan is hot on their trail and suspects a sinister plot. . . .

CHAPTER V

Explosion

He felt a slight tremor. It slid along the floor and shocked his ankles just a little. Chance was, no one else in the building particularly noticed it. He was not even sure he heard an explosion. It was neatly, beautifully done.

As a red light flashed overhead, Colwell lounged again to the elbow of the corridor. The car delayed its arrival by a long halt at the floor above. The door of McDonald's office opened and Quillen came out. He carried a square package done in brown manila papare and corded, a package roughly six or eight inches by five by eight. The faint pungency of the explosive they had used to crack the hinges and lock of McDonald's safe wafted to Colwell's keen nostrils, smelling like a disinfectant. The outside office window was open. The suite would be fresh as ever when the girl returned from the pharmacy.

Quillen's furtive eyes found the corridor vacant. He stood motionless, his back half-turned to Colwell. When the elevator at last reached the floor Dan heard the operator and Quillen talk.

"Say Jack, want to earn a buck? Take this package down to the newsstand fellow in the lobby, see? Ask him to hold it for a Mr. Sweeney. Sweeney — get the name? He'll call for it in a few minutes. He doesn't know just where I am and I got a conference on—haven't time to wait down there for him myself. You got it straight—Sweeney?"

"Sure, boss. I getcha: leave it at the newsstand for Sweeney. Thanks!"

The boy accepted the package by its cord. Colwell pictured the lad's happiness at so easily earning a dollar. The cage door clanged shut and Quillen turned away. The car and the package were gone.

The Package Gone

Dan waited. This time the McDonald suite door was left ajar as it had been when the men first entered. There was a hum of talk between them, and as Colwell finally walked for a red down-light he saw Bradshaw—a temporary name, of course—stooping in the inner office. The safe was closed as if it had not been tampered with. Dan went down in the next elevator.

He reached the street through a haberdashery but walked back into the lobby. This was necessary to effect a proper entrance. He stepped near the newsstand and seemed to scan all persons who came off elevators. He kept an expectant, somewhat irritated expression on his face. As a matter of fact, he was exceedingly apprehensive lest Bradshaw surprise him.

Quillen, of course, must wait up there for the office girl's return. He would be "feeling better." Protesting, he would accept a powder and a glass of water, rest awhile, and finally, when McDonald still failed to arrive because of course he was stretched out on a morgue slab, Lefty would tell the girl he could wait no longer. His friend Bradshaw had been unable to wait even as long as Quillen.

Dan stepped to the newsstand. "You don't know a man named Quillen in the building, do you? I'm expecting to meet him and wonder if he's in or out. Thought you might have noticed him pass."

"Mr. Sweeney"

The old fellow peered over thick glasses. "No, mister, I don't know any Quillen. Sorry."

"Well, he was to bring a package here. Some samples. I've—"

"Oh, you Sweeney?"

Colwell smiled and nodded. "Yes Did he leave the samples with you, by chance?"

The grey haired chap ducked out of sight. He came up with the manila package which he laid atop a pile of magazines. "There you are, mister. Elevator boy told me to hold it for Mr. Sweeney and Quillen—Irish, hey? I'm Irish myself, name of McNamara."

"I'm obliged for your trouble. When he comes along just tell him Sweeney got the package all right. Thanks." Dan seized it and hurried out. Going through the doorway he cast a backward glance that found Bradshaw. The man stepped from an elevator wearing a Cheshire cat look of complacency and satisfaction.

He would have a sad awakening when he asked the newsstand chap about that package.

Dan hurried down the street aware that he must quickly get rid of this burden. It was worth —thirty thousand, probably, and it was too hot to carry around. Thirty thousand. He was walking on air.

There was a cigar store on the near corner and he turned in there, heading straight for the telephone booth. He dropped his nickel. "Central 0576."

"Hello. Irita please." He waited a moment. "Irita? Dan again. Say, I've got a test shipment. That's what it must be, and I'll bet a hat McDonald deliberately forgot to mention it. He did?" Colwell grinned and nodded. "Lefty caught on somehow. He killed Mac to get it. Tell you later. Anyhow, I got it now. Good snow comes in small packages, eh? Yes. Send someone to the cigar store corner of Alton and Market right away. This thing is burning my fingers. So long!"

He hung up but loitered a moment in the booth pretending to look up a number. Then he stepped out and purchased a package of cigarettes. He smoked and chatted awhile with the clerk until a Western Union boy entered. Dan took the lad outside, put a few sharp questions, surrendered the package, and walked away.

He felt exultant at the coup. It was a worthwhile capture of narcotics, loss of which would give Lefty Quillen and his pal a severe headache!

The Police Arrive

Grinning happily, he yielded to the impulse to walk back to the Lawyers and Doctors Building. It would be good sport to see Quillen's face, and Bradshaw's. Probably they would be having plenty of altercations, calling each other loars and double-crossers and dirty sneaks.

He crossed the alley and walked on. Two thickset men brushed past him with the air of knowing where they were headed and being in a hurry. Colwell recognized two city plainclothes men, Harry Deane and Joe Harper. He realized they were on their way to the office of Arthur McDonald on a routine checkup. The body had been identified, then.

A sympathetic cloud crossed his face at thought of Miss Jennings, the office girl. The poor kid was soon to get a heavy blow, news of her employer's murder. It would mean the office closed and her job gone.

English Epicure Is Sad About Our Food—Says His Wife Could "Show Us How"

W. Boddy, English restaurateur and epicure from Minehead, Somerset, England, has threatened to have his wife show Canadian hotel chefs "how to cook" as he expressed disappointment with Canadian food.

The food seemed progressively better as he crossed from east to west, said Mr. Boddy, who claimed to come from "a land of beautiful cream, beautiful milk, beautiful vegetables, beautiful steaks and beautiful women," but it was none too good.

"I don't know what you do to your vegetables," he said, "but they have an unhealthy brown color. The only conclusion I can reach is that you don't know how to cook them."

And as for steaks: "You see you don't know how to make the gravy. My wife could show you how."

Women Deadliest Bombing Pilots

A bombing competition held at Colombo recently showed women bombing pilots to be much more accurate than men.

At Ratmalana Aerodrome the word "Colombo" was set out on the ground, the middle "O" in the word being the target. This letter—a circle with a radius of fifty feet—had to be bombed with 1-lb. packets of flour from a height of 500 feet.

There were nineteen competitors, five of them women, and when the results were tabulated the women came out with a much better average than the men.

TUCK A SURPRISE IN THE LUNCH BOX

Intrigue a Child's Interest and Appetite

By DOROTHY HIGGINS

Children look forward to lunch time when they know that hidden in their lunch box will be something to surprise them. It's really very easy to keep lunches interesting and different. Here are some timely suggestions:

MARITIME SANDWICHES

8 Canadian Cardines
1 hard-cooked egg
Salt
Pepper
Salad Dressing

Mash the sardines, add the hard-cooked egg, chopped, season, and moisten with salad dressing. Spread on whole wheat bread, cut diagonally in quarters, and wrap in waxed paper. (It is unnecessary to butter these sandwiches, the salad dressing keeps them moist.

Fish, as you know, is an excellent source of Vitamin A, which promotes growth and enables the body to resist disease, and also contains Vitamin D, which controls bone formation. It is important that children have a good supply of Vitamin D during their growing years, and only in fish has Vitamin D been found in anything but small quantities to date.

Another delicious surprise is the

FRAZER SQUARES

½ Cup flaked Canadian salmon
3 Sweet pickles, chopped
Salad dressing

Mix the salmon and chopped pickles, and blend to a smooth paste with the salad dressing. Spread on white bread, cut in quarters and place a sliver of pickle on each quarter for a garnish.

Tiny screw top jars may be filled with apple sauce, rice pudding, or prepared chocolate pudding for dessert, and a few cookies individually wrapped in wax paper please children. If the vacuum bottle contains soup, include crackers in small envelopes, and once or twice a week include a piece of candy, a cornucopia of raisins, or a few salted nuts. Besides milk, tomato or pineapple juice may be included as beverages, if the lunch box is large enough. These may be put in screw top bottles.

Muffs Galore In Mode For Winter

NEW YORK.—Those who follow the dictates of fashion will not have cold finger-tips this winter. There are muffs galore. They come in every shape; they are as round as a barrel, flat as a pancake, or in two sections like an hourglass. The latter are tied through the middle with velvet bows. Separate bows of velvet mounted on gold or silver metal are made to clip on muffs or coat.

Wedding Finery

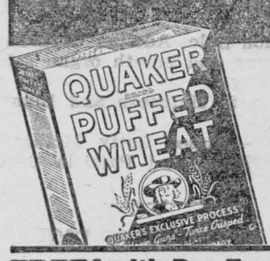

Instead of confetti they threw a smoke bomb in the path of the bride as she left St. Barnabas', Gillingham, England. A guard of honor wore gas-masks, steel helmets, and held aloft bomb-scoops and rakes to form a wedding arch.

Tokio, Japan, will ban all neon and electric advertising signs.

SHE COULD NEITHER WALK NOR SLEEP

Arms and Feet Swollen with Rheumatism

This woman suffered for many years. Pain sapped her strength until she lost hope of recovery. Many remedies were tried, but nothing broke the grip of her crippling rheumatism. At last her husband persuaded her to try Kruschen Salts:—

"My arms and feet were swollen with rheumatism," she writes. "I could not walk nor get regular sleep, and nothing did me any lasting good. I was so hopeless of ever getting better, I lost my good nature entirely, Then my husband persuaded me to try Kruschen Salts. After two weeks I began to feel better: I persevered, and in six weeks, I was doing housework. Later, I was able to go for a walk. Now I am free from pain and I feel grand."—(Mrs.) F.W.

Rheumatism is commonly caused by deposits of uric acid crystals, which lodge in the muscles and joints. Kruschen helps to break up these deposits of troubling crystals and to convert them into a harmless solution, which is removed through the natural channel—the kidneys.

LESSON VI
HONORING OUR PARENTS
Exodus 20: 12; Luke 2: 46-52; John 19: 26, 27; Ephesians 6: 1-4

Golden Text

Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee.—Exodus 20: 12.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time.—The Decalogue was given 1498 B.C.; our Lord was in the temple talking with the doctors during the passover early in April, A.D. 8; his crucifixion took place exactly twenty-two years later, Friday, April 7, A.D. 30; the epistle to the Ephesians was written A.D. 64.

Place.—The Decalogue was given from Mount Sinai; the scene from our Lord's boyhood took place in the temple at Jerusalem; the crucifixion of our Lord occurred outside of the city, probably a little way toward the north; the epistle to the Ephesians was addressed to the church at Ephesus, the greatest city of the province of Asia of Paul's day, on the coast of the Aegean Sea.

1. The command to honor our parents, Ex. 20: 12. 12. Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee.

Of all human relationships that between parents and children is considered the most important and, as we shall see later, the most fundamental. Duty to parents stands directly next to duty to God and before all other duties to other people..

Foundation of Society

Three elements stand out: respect, obedience, affection.

However far afield society may develop itself as it grows away from its base, it must continue true to the end of time that the family is the ocial unit; and that the principles of social order — authority in the ruler, subordination in the governed—look back for ever to the home as their birthplace and their nursery.

The training of the years of obedience will affect all the choice of subsequent years; but beyond the period of control there must come that of individual responsibility.

46. And it came to pass, after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

47. And all that heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers.

Conscious of His Mission

48. And when they saw him, they were astonished; and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I sought thee sorrowing. 49. And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must be in my Father's house? 50. And they understood not the saying which he spake unto them. These are the first words uttered by the Lord Jesus of which we have any record in the New Testament. It shows a consciousness, even in the boy Jesus, of a divine mission, of being the Son of God. There is also here revealed a life-purpose.

51. And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth; and he was subject unto them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart. 52. And Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men. The particular part of this passage which applies to our lesson is the statement found in verse 51 that Jesus returned and lived at Nazareth in subjection to the discipline and authority of Joseph and his mother. The perfect response of the Boy to the will of God meant for him natural correspondence to ordinary conditions. Even though he had communion with God more intimate, more uninterrupted, than his parents ever could have had, Jesus throughout his boyhood was perfectly obedient to what we call the Fifth Commandment.

Solicitude For His Mother

John 19: 26, 27. 26. When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold, thy son! 27. Then saith he to the disciple, Behold, thy mother! And from that hour the disciple took her unto his own home. From the pulpit of his cross Jesus preaches to all ages a sermon on the Fifth Commandment. That he spoke to his mother would in itself bring infinite comfort to her heart; but he did more than that; he made provision for her.

Eph. 6: 1-4. 1. Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. 2. Honor thy father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise), 3. that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth. 4. And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but nurture them in the chastening and admonition of the Lord. The Christian religion penetrates into every part of human life.

This Corn Was Grown Without Benefit of Soil

For the first time corn is being grown commercially, two crops a year, winter and summer, without soil. The plants are fed by chemicals placed about the roots and reach a height of 12 to 14 feet. This method was begun in the 17th century and has been found to give better control over the plants. For the past three years the Ohio Agricultural Experimental station has been experimenting with using this method to produce corn commercially.

EACH LISTENER A CRITIC

Andre Kostelanetz believes that every radio listener should be a critic instead of an indifferent patron who takes radio for granted. The maestro reveals that artists welcome criticism, whether brickbats or bouquets, so long as it is constructive. He thinks it would be an excellent idea if some means were found to enclose in the same envelope with the monthly gas or electric bill a questionnaire for listeners to tabulate their radio likes and dislikes.

EX-CONSTABLE

W. Don Fast, ex-constable of the Canadian Mounties, who supplies data for the Saturday night "Johnny Presents" dramas over CBS still has many friends on the force who come to his aid whenever he feels material is running low.

LOOK-ALIKES

Doris Rhodes, the CBS singer and Ethel Merman, another song star are look-alikes. Each is mistaken for the other on numerous occasions, although they have never met.

GIFT FOR BETTY LOU

Betty Lou may soon have a little friend. Listeners have been whiting to Tommy Riggs suggesting a suitable companion for lonesome Betty Lou. The candidates thus far include the Dionne Quintuplets, Charlie McCarthy, a panda, Mickey Mouse, Snow White, Donald Duck and a baby brother. Mr. Riggs, who is heard with his imaginary creation on NBC's Quaker Party broadcast, is seriously considering giving Betty a unique gift, probably at Christmas time.

STILL "MIGHTY MONARCH"

Majestic radio advancements for 1939 contribute largely to the new conveniences which simplify tuning in short-wave stations by devoting a separate channel (9½" wide) for each of the short-wave channels. This added feature plus Push-Button "Electromatic" Tuning distinguishes Majestic, "The Mighty Monarch of the Air," as outstanding radio value this season.

Farms Are Called The Best Market

Increase in Rural Buying Power Urged by Head of Ontario Agricultural College

Industrial Ontario's greatest untouched market lies in front of its doorstep, but governments and business men must co-operate in increasing the farmer's present limited buying power by seeing that he got a fair return for his products, Dr. George Irving Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, told the Toronto Electric Club last week.

He said there were 100,000 Ontario farms with crippled productive powers because farmers could not afford hired help and had no access to electricity—the only other means of running their farms. If power lines were extended into many rural areas, farmers could substitute electricity for manpower, using pumps, washing machines and many other devices.

"I believe the great opportunity in years to come lies out in the country. Our electric program has just started.

Never So Lovely

Each leaf may fall as it will,
Resigned and stoical and still,
Fritter away, be free,
Once part of the pride of a tree.

Quiet now at your side,
One who is stripped of pride
Thinks as the still leaves fall
You are loveliest giving all.

Auto Deaths Are Compared To War

Safety Depends On Rising Up Of Citizens says Minister Of Highways

If thought of death and suffering by innocent victims, which must inevitably come if war occurred, stayed the hands of those who a few weeks ago threatened to precipitate world conflict, then realization of the toll of life and limb taken on the highways of Ontario should curb the mad selfishness of careless car drivers, who caused motor accidents. Hon. T. B. McQuesten, minister of highways, stated in an address to the Hamilton Kiwanis Club.

Curb Mad Selfishness

The agony of a child whose body has been shattered by the impact of a car is not less heartrending than cries of an infant crushed by the explosion of a bomb, he said.

"Safety depends upon the rising up of citizens to demand that something be done to curb the slaughter which is occurring on our highways every day," continued the speaker. "Unless this kind of support is given an administration, its efforts can be of little value. Hope for the future is in voluntary efforts."

Security of Home Is Modern Need

Because Homes Are Cradles Of People Who Can Make Our World a Better Place To Live In, Declares Woman Author.

The world must be made a better place to live in and only from the homes can those come who are to make it a better place, suggested Cornelia Stratton Parker, author and lecturer, who addressed the Montreal Women's Club.

"Where Shall We Go?"

Mrs. Parker discussed difficulties of modern home-making. There was not the same feeling of permanence and security in the apartment or house separated only by walls from its neighbors, as there had been when homes had their gardens and places for the children to play. Social life for young or old was more of a problem in the modern home with its restricted space. Instead of young people thinking of home as the background of their social life the question now was "Where shall we go?"

Greatest Need In History

The need of real homes is greater than ever before in the world's history, declared Mrs. Parker, but it was being torn in every direction, as the world was outside. One of the most important effects of the home should be psychological security, which depended not on things but on persons, and the emotional bond binding parents and their children together.

The production of commercial salt in Canada during the first six months of 1938 totalled 119,026 tons compared with 112,405 tons in the corresponding period in 1937.

When The Hunted Chases a Hunter

* * * *

When wild game stalks the hunter that's news. And in the case of Albert O'Dell, of Delburne, Alberta, it revealed rare judgment in the pinches.

O'Dell started out in approved nimrod fashion. He did the stalking. He crept stealthily toward what appeared to be a big Canada goose perched on a grain stook near Delburne. Then the intended victim had his turn, for the "goose" was a skunk.

The hunter backed away. The skunk stepped from his perch and followed. The hunter turned, broke into a run. So did the skunk. The hunter glanced backward, saw he was losing ground. In desperation he whirled, and fired both barrels.

They Walked Home Mere 300 Miles

If you were a hiker and attempted to walk from Saskatchewan to Alberta you'd find it a long way. And you'd find it still longer if you had to coax sheep to walk it too.

That's what two shepherds had to do, driving a flock of sheep right across the prairies. They were hired by sheepfarmer T. Jsrman, who bought the sheep and found the cost of railway transport so high that he decided the only thing to do was to walk the sheep home—300 miles away!

Manufacturing establishments in the Prairie Provinces of Canada numbered 2,610 in 1936, and had a gross value of production of $247,707,022.

Ontario People Sloppy Speakers

"As a province we are slovenly speakers," Roy Fenwick, director of music in Ontario schools, told the High School Home and School Club at Burlington, when he pointed out the benefit of teaching music for the development of the speaking voice. Teaching by radio was still doubtful, he said, as there were not sufficient radio programs during school hours and not sufficient radios in schools to warrant providing the programs.

Music in education was for the two-fold purpose of raising the level of appreciation and to discover and encourage talent.

TWO BARNS AND CONTENTS ARE TOTALLY DESTROYED

Two barns belonging to Lloyd Froats in the 7th concession of Williamsburg were totally destroyed by fire on Friday afternoon, together with their contents, entailing a loss estimated at $3,000, with no insurance.

The fire was discovered by Froats as he emerged from his home a short distance away which was saved by a fortunate change in the wind. The 12 year old son of Mr. Froats, Rae, liberated two horses in the barn and turned them out to safety. A hen house and 200 hens were moved to safety by neighbours assisting in the fighting of the fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. Men were engaged in reshingling the barn during the day.

CLIFFORD LEBLANC IS IDENTIFIED AS HOLDUP MAN

Detained under suspicion, Clifford Leblanc, 24-year-old Cornwall youth was identified in a line-up of transients at the police station as being the lone armed robber who held up and robbed proprietors of drug stores in Cornwall and Brockville within the past two weeks. Leblanc is facing a charge of robbery while armed and appeared in police court Monday for remand.

Police would not divulge their reasons for suspecting Leblanc of committing the robberies, but they did reveal that they took him into custody Sunday. The young man was found sleeping in his home, when a squad of five police surrounded the residence. Leblanc offered no resistance.

In all no less than nine people are said to have identified Leblanc. They included the proprietors of the two stores victimized and others who saw Leblanc in the vicinity of the stores.

Rev. W. P. Wornell, Head Dundas-Grenville Presbytery

The final meeting of the Dundas-Grenville Presbytery for 1938 was held on Friday last in Elma United church. Rev. R.R. Nicholson, newly inducted minister at Kemptville, conducted the opening devotions. He was assisted by Rev. W.P. Wornell of Kemptville. Rev. G.A. Beatty of Hallville and Rev. H. Fresque of Maynard were introduced to the Presbytery. On motion by Rev. W.R. Johnston of South Mountain the agenda was adopted.

Owing to Rev. Donald Morrison, chairman of the presbytery, having moved to Avonmore in Glengarry Presbytery it was found necessary to elect a new chairman, Rev. W.P. Wornell of Spencerville was the unanimous choice. Rev. R.S. Smith of Elma was elected ministerial representative on the conference settlement committee. Rev. E.C. Lacey of Brinston reported 28 ministers and 32 laymen on the presbytery roll

The treasurer's report was presented by W.S.L. Merrill of Morrisburg showing a substantial balance.

Luncheon was served in the church hall at noon. Rev. R.R. Nicholson and J.D. Steward were luncheon speakers.

Reports Presented

At 1.30 p.m. Rev. H. Fresque assisted by Rev. D.M. Cobourn of Prescott conducted the afternoon opening devotions. W.S.L. Merrill and Rev. E.C. Lacey, commissioners to the general council held in Toronto in September, presented reports. The secretary gave notice of motion from the Laymen's Association re pastoral relations.

Rev. A.W. Seaton, of Shanly, supported by Rev. E.C. Lacy, Mr. Allen and Mr. Hyndman of Hallville recommended the induction of Rev. G.A Beatty at Hallville. Reports for the pensions committee (were presented by Rev. A.W. Seaton; church property committee, Rev. D.M. Cobourn; candidates, by Rev. Charles Adey of Williamsburg in which the names of Donald Toppin, Gordon Wilson, Charles Hutton, Nathaniel T. Holmes, Edward Holmes, Gordon Whitehorn, and Edward MacRae were presented to presbytery; Christian education, Rev. R. Douglas Smith, who was assisted by Rev. Wm Lister of Dundela, Mrs. W.S. Atchison of Winchester, and Rev. R. C. Tait of Chesterville; missionary and maintenance, Rev. John Macaskill of Morewood; foreign missions, Rev. S.T. Burman of Inkerman; social service, Rev. R.S. Smith of Elma, and home missions, Rev. H. G. Steers of Oxford Mills. Rev. Wm. Lister reported for the courtesy committee.

W.M.S. Executive.

Morning and afternoon sessions were also held by the presbytery W.M.S. under the presidency of Mrs. George Carlyle of Reid's Mills. The evening session was for the Y.P.U. at which Charles Christie of Mountain presided. Mrs. Earl Brown of Ventnor led in prayer and Miss Mabel Whitley of Spencerville, president of the Y.P.U. of the Dundas-Grenville presbytery gave an address. Rev. W.P Wornell introduced Rev. G.G.D. Kilpatrick. B.A., D.D. principal of the United Theological College at Montreal, who addressed the large gathering of young people from the various unions in the presbytery.

MISS JEAN WADDELL

The many friends of Rev. and Mrs John A. Waddel learned with regret on Monday of the death of their younger daughter, Miss Lillian Jean Waddell, at their home, Wellington St., Ottawa, on Sunday October 30 She was in her 26th year and had been in ill health for about four weeks.

Miss Waddell was born in Kingston and received part of her education in the public school there. When her father received a call to the Winchester United church in 1923, she took took up residence with her family there, and completed her education in the Winchester public and high schools.

In 1932 when the family moved to Ottawa, where Mr. Waddell took over the pastorate of Western United church, the deceased accompanied her parents. She associated herself with the work of the various church organizations and took keen interest in young people's work. Her many friends in Winchester learned of her untimely death with sincere regret.

The late Miss Waddell is survived by her parents, and one sister, Miss Mabel F. Waddell also of Ottawa.

The funeral was held at the family residence Wednesday at 10.00 a.m. Interment in Kingston.

SCHWERDFEGER—STATA

Chalmers United church Parsonage at Finch was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when Mabel Anna, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stata of Williamsburg, became the bride of Mr. David Ernest Schwerdfeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Schwerdfeger of Finch. Rev. H.M. Beach performed the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in royal blue satinback bubble crepe with cut velvet and she wore a royal blue felt hat with accesories to match.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Aura Hutt, sister of the bride. The best man was Jonas Schwerdfeger, brother of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple left by motor for Montreal and other eastern points. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Schwerdfeger will reside in the Melvin Settlement.

On the return on Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schwerdfeger from their honeymoon trip, a large crowd of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farren Beckstead to receive them. The evening was pleasantly spent in visiting. A prettily decorated basket of gifts was drawn in by Master Allen Scott and Elaine Christie dressed as bride and groom and little Helen Hutt presented the bride with a beautiful bride book, while Mrs. Sherman Christie read an adress.

PRESENTATION

About one hundred friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mrs. Alice McGinn, Dixon's Corners Thursday evening, in honor of her [illegible]ck and fiance, Miss Myrtle Hastie of Edmonton, Alta. After a social time was enjoyed Mrs. Aubrey Harkness read the following address Dear Pat:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that your friends gather here tonight to congratulate you on your approaching marriage. You have been as one of us all your days. Although you were absent from this community for some years, you were not forgotten. Your quiet, reserved genial disposition won you many many friends.

To you Myrtle, we welcome with all endearments. We know that you have chosen a trustworthy husband.

We trust you will both be long spared to each other and that a large measure of good health may be your portion and that whatever the tasks which fall to your lot, they will prosper in your hands. We are glad that you are still going to reside among us and to continue to take an active part in all that pertains to the welfare of the community. We therefore ask you to accept this gift as a token of the best wishes of Your friends and Neighbours.

Mrs. Denver McGinn and Mrs. David Countryman then presented an electric floor lamp and an end table, after which a dainty lunch was served. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

CLAUDE C. LARABEE

Iroquois and community mourn the death of Claude C. Larabee, which occurred on Wednesday, October 26, in his 50th year. Mr. Larabee was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Larabee, of Matilda Township. Deceased had been a farmer in Matilda township his entire life. He was a member of Iroquois United church, and a conservative in politics.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon from the family residence. Rev. Thomas Knowles conducted the service. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robertson rendered a vocal duet. Interment was in the United church cemetery, Point Iroquois. Acting as pallbearers were Charles H. Shaver, S.K. McIntosh, Samuel Collison, Elmer English, Thomas Millward and Arthur Stacey.

Surviving besides his widow, formerly Viena Simzer of South Mountain, are his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Larabee, six daughters, Mrs. Collie Stringer of Bancroft; Gladys of Iroquois; Mrs. John Cutler of South Mountain; Mrs. Russell Canning and Mrs. Arthur Cornell of Morrisburg, and Beverly at home, two sons, William of Matilda township, and Cecil at home.

CORNWALL TOWNSHIP POLICE ARE REINSTATED

Cornwall township authorities have decided to drop a proposed investigation into alleged maladministration of the township police department, it was revealed this week. Chief of Police Wilfred Bertrand, who was under suspension by council since October 17, was reinstated, and Constable William Malyon, under suspension by Chief Bertrand since October 3rd, was also reinstated. Both members of the force returned to their jobs today, but authorities decided not to reimburse them for loss of pay during the suspension, and issued the warning that "one more act of misconduct will immediate discharge."

Complaints against the police were never divulged by council as members discussed the matter in committee on two occasions early in the month and decided on a thorough investigation. Complaints were said to have been based on misconduct of the members of the force while on duty.

An appeal to the Ontario commissioned of police to conduct the inquiry was refused and council secured legal advice on the matter before dropping the investigation. The reasons for reinstating the suspended police and omitting the investigation were "that most of the charges are petty and should not be the subject matter of an investigation; any of the charges that are worth while investigating are denied and there is no corroborative evidence of their veracity; and the necessary cost to the taxpayer could not possibly be commensurate with the good, if any, which might come from the holding of an investigation."

OVER 2000 TEACHERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Canada should have power to amend her own constitution, in the opinion of Con. J.H. Putman. Dr. Putman, chief inspector of Ottawa public schools for 27 years. told the Regional Educational Conference at a general session on Friday last that only then would the Dominion have reached nationhood.

Suggesting that it was a simple way out of "our constitutional impasse," Dr. Putman said that if power to amend the British North America was given to the federal government by the Imperial parliament provincial rights would be safeguarded by requiring the consent of two-thirds of the provincial legislatures.

Largest Conference.

Dr. Putman's address concluded the sessions of probably the largest provincial educational conference ever to be held in Ottawa, if not in Canada. Dr. G.G. McNab, president of the Ontario Educational Association, who was chairman of the general session, said the elementary teachers section attendance alone was larger than any gathering he had ever seen at O.E.A. meetings in Toronto. Upwards of 2,000 teachers attended the conference, over 1,000 being present at the general session.

The Way Out

"It seems to me that the way out of our constitutional impasse, if it be an impasse, is not really difficult, observed Dr. Putman. We must have power to amend our own constitution Without this power we lack the essential mark of nationhood. Why should not the Parliament of Canada petition the Imperial Parliament for a single amendment giving the Parliament of Canada full and unlimited power to alter the B.N.A. subject only to a reasonable protection of provincial rights.

"It is unreasonable to suggest that every province of Canada must consent before an amendment be made. To take an extreme illustration, ought Prince Edward Island with only 88,000 people frustrate the will of 11 millions?

"I would be quite willing that the Parliament of Canada should amend subject only to the approval of the legislature of Quebec which has an inalienable right to safeguard certain guaranteed privileges. But Ontario as the other dominant partner in Confederation would never consent to such an arrangement.

"Therefore I suggest that the B.N.A. Act be amended to give the Parliament of Canada [illegible] to amend its own constitution, subject to an affirmative vote of two thirds of the provincial legislatures, of which Ontario and Quebec must be two; one of the three maratime provinces, a third; one province west of Ontario a fourth, and the remaining two to be any other two provinces.

"It is inconceivable that any one of the Maratime provinces would not safeguard the rights of all three, and it would seem highly improbable that any one province west of Ontario would not adequately protect the protect the provincial rights of all west of Ontario."

To Read Debates

Dr. Putman gave a history of the development of the Canadian constitution and told the teachers they would be well repaid to spend their leisure time for a year reading the debates in the parliaments of the Canadas prior to Confederation. They would really learn something about Canada and her problems and see that statesman of those days, as we their successors, were motivated by a love of country.

Canada, he said, was suffering from "growing pains." Wise as were the Fathers of Confederation they could not visualize a time when commerce would be moving by air. The "clothing" of pre-Confederation time was hampering the movement of today. Canada now would have to do her own tailoring.

Dr. Putman said he had "contempt for the little men" who were not willing to change the constitution to changing conditions. In forming the constitution, the statesmen of the day showed the British genius for compromise. The B.N.A. had survived 70 years by compromise, and if it were to protect our children it would only be by compromise.

Outlines Changes.

In opening the meeting, Dr. McNab said that in early days on this continent, education was for the classes and not for the masses. He outlined the changes which had occurred in the concept of education so that now there were classes in the schools for both the brilliant and backward pupils, auxiliary classes for the mechanically minded; medical inspection; agriculture, household science and manual training introduced into the curriculum; and visual and audial aids such as motion pictures, lantern slides and the radio being utilized.

Isolation and aloofness of higher education had been broken down. The universities were now carrying education to the public. The lower schools were also trying to bring the culture and discipline of education to a more vital and closer contact with every phase of national life. In Ontario, special railway cars carried education to isolated families, and in addition, lessons were being sent out to 2,200 individual children.

The old educational system served its day and needs because it was a simple system designed for a simpler life than today. Had education kept pace with the rapid changes in modern life? Well, he was of the opinion that if the child acquired an inquiring mind and a deep sense of moral values in the school, then the child was prepared to meet with all emergencies in adult life no matter how fast the world would change.

Sounds Warning

Praising the contribution of progressive educators to the modern system of education, Dr. M.A. Cameron of the Ontario College of Education, Toronto, warned against "taking over all the tenents of educational radicals." He analyzed many of the educational phrases of the day and showed they were not always true or tru only within limitations.

Progressives, he said, had focused attention on the child when the schools were tending to become too formal and "bookish." The depression had brought about a social consciousness in Canada of which one result was willingness of education authorities to consider more progressive education. This, he thought, "was a return to sanity."

Emphasis was now being placed on activity of the child. But he would not be greatly surprised to find that much activity was "childish waste of time." Activity of mind was just as important as physical activity.

It was being said that education should fit the needs of the child. But who should determine those needs? They must continue to be determined by adults because the child did not always know what his needs were. It was said that education was life, but it was also a preparation for life, because the school must turn out an adult who would be accepted by society.

"The problem is not to make the school 'child-centred' but to keep the child from becoming self-centred."

Robert Andrew of Ottawa led in community singing.

At the luncheon, chairmen of the sectional meetings presented brief summaries of their morning programs. G.S. Ketiladze of the Ottawa Technical school gave an exhibition of sleight-of-hand. Dr. McGregor Easson, chief inspector of public schools, presided.

WILLIAMSBURG

The W.M.S. of the Williamsburg United church held their Thank Offering Service on Sunday evening with the pastor, Rev. C.A. Adey, presiding. Mrs. Rev. A.W. Seaton of Shanly was guest speaker. The junior choir of Winchester United church under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston, Miss Sybil Edney, violinist and Mrs. Percy Durant, soloist took part inthe service.

Mrs. Claude Casselman was a visitor last week with her sister, Mrs. Stanley of Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Armstrong and family moved last week from near Russell and have taken up residence in this neighbourhood. Mr. Armstrong is employed with Mr. Roblin in Williamsburg.

The Y.P.L. of Williamsburg United church entertained the Y.P.U. of Elma United church with a Hallowe'en Masquerade party in the S.S. Hall on Tuesday evening. About 50 were present. The judges were the Misses Rose Hill and Olive McIntosh.. Prizes were awarded to Jean Beckstead Gladys McIntosh, Allan Hawkshaw, and Ray Merkley. A program of games, contests and singing and a scavanger hunt over the village was enjoyed.

Friends of Bill McIntosh of Unity, Sask., will be interested to know that he is employed as one of the wireless operators in the New Trans Canada Airway Service. He is at present located in Red Deer, Alta., Bill is well known in these parts, having spent last summer in Williamsburg with his uncle, L. Clifford Casselman.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Casselman, Mrs. R.C. Casselman and Donald Casselman, were visitors last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Seeley and family at Rowena.

Miss Ruth Colquhhoun of Morrisburg was a visitor on Tuesday evening of this week with Miss Betty L. McIntosh.

Friends of Ross Merkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Merkley will be pleased to learn that he has returned to resume his studies at the Morrisburg Collegiate, after being confined to his home for a couple of weeks with a deep cut on his knee which he sustained when he fell on a broken bottle while playing ball with other boys, in a field adjoining the Morrisburg Collegiate school grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Henderson and baby spent Monday afternoon in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barnes and children of Chateaugay, N.Y., were visitors on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Strader McIntosh and family.

The many friends of Mrs. Grant McIntosh were sorry to learn of her serious injuries which she sustained when she was dragged by a cow in the stable at her farm home. Mrs. McIntosh had finished milking and left the cow loose from the stanchion when one of it's hoofs caught in her sweater. Before she could unbutton her sweater, the cow dragged her quite a distance in the stable. She was very badly bruised about her arm, shoulder and hip and has been confined to her bed where she is under the doctor's care. All hope for a speedy recovery.

The devotional and social meeting of the League of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, was held in Sunday school room Friday evening in the form of a Hallowe'en party. Fifty members present with nearly everyone wearing a costume. Much excitement was aroused first with a candy hunt with lights all extinguished. Then drilling exercises were taken part in during the judging of costumes. The prizes for best ladies costume was awarded Miss Francis McFarland who represented "Ma Perkins." Dale Beckstead best gentleman's costume, "A dwarf." Ralph McIntosh was awarded the prize for the funniest costume. After distribution of prizes, games and contests were indulged in for a period. Then the meeting came to order and Rev. C.R. Cronmiller conducted a short study from the Life Service Book.

Although very brief, there was no reason why each one would not return home with the thought in mind along with many that were very impressive that there is a work for each one of us to do. Even the weakest girders have their place in the building of a strong bridge and strong girders misplaced often are the cause of trouble.

After the meeting was closed with prayer, lunch was served by a committee in charge.

JUST ONE OF THOSE ACCIDENTS

A girl playing badminton at one of our local club games was struck in the eye with a bird. She was wearing rimless glasses. The glass was shattered into pieces.

A local doctor was present and upon examination it was found that only small cuts around the eye had resulted. The eye was not injured.

Good fortune was hers that day, but the folowing day she promptly ordered a pair of shatter-proof glasses and wears them constantly, and she has an insurance certificate for $5000.00 in her possession.

Take no chances with your eyesight.

Says Dutchman Invented Golf

Harvard Professor Insists That The Scotch Learned The Game From Holland

Scotland is due for a severe shock when they learn over there that the grand and bonnie game of golf is not Scotch at all, but Dutch. The discovery has just been made, strangely enough, by a group of Harvard Professors of Government.

Played In Sixteenth Century

Conducting a research into international law, they turned to the life of Hugo Grotius, or Huig van Groot, as he was known in his own country, the great Renaissance authority on jurisprudence. In one volume they found an engraving from a painting of Grotius as a youth, showing him holding a golf club quite similar to those now in use. As Grotius was born in 1583 the game must have been well established in Holland by the time he reached manhood.

Further research revealed that golf was played on the ice in the Netherlands as early as 1600. Holes were chipped in the frozen surface of the inland waterways which must have presented a smooth if chilly surface.

Sailors Introduced It

The game is believed to have been introduced into Scotland by two Scottish sailors who learned it while their boat was frozen in Dutch waters. It is said on strictly unreliable authority that their families have been using the same ball ever since.

VICTIMS OF PEACE

The trouble with modern international agreements is that they create such terrific refugee problems among the hapless victims of peace.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

DON'T LOOK NOW!

PLOWING MATCHES

Probably none but the country boy or girl would call plowing a sport, but there are thousands in this banner province of Ontario who consider it one of the finest, and discover in it a thrill not to be found in any other competition.—Guelph Mercury.

DEADLY CROSSINGS

Level crossings are taking a terrible toll of lives and the people are beginning to ask where and when it is going to stop. The abolition of grade crossings is the only positive cure of the evil. Gates, bells, wig-wags and other devices may be considered mere makeshifts of a temporary character.—Chatham News.

FARM BUYING POWER

It is obvious to any thinking person that even the present standard of living cannot be maintained in rural Canada if some readjustment is not made to establish parity and equalize the buying power of all social and industrial groups. A pre-war revenue will not sustain the farm family when they buy on a market that has been forced skyward by debt, ever growing taxation, increasing wage scales, extravagance and waste.—Farmer's Advocate.

MAKE IT THREE-SIDED

In a world that has suffered a good deal from the operation of the policy of self-sufficiency much is hoped from the proposed trade agreement between Britain, Canada, and the United States, which, now that America is recovering her spending power, promises better things for British exporters. But it will need more than an Anglo-American trade agreement to recompense Britain for markets lost elsewhere, and there is a strong case to be developed for a better distribution of trade between the Mother Country and the Dominions.—Glasgow Herald.

ONTARIO BIRD DOGS COMPETE IN FIELD

Annual Fall Field Trials Held At Niagara-on-the-Lake Test Skill of Dogs at Hunting

Bird dog enthusiasts from many sections of Ontario enjoyed two glorious days' sport on October 15th and 16th, when the Ontario Bird Dog Association held its annual Fall Field Trials at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Some 35 fine setters and pointers competed for honors, including a number of entries from the United States.

These trials, held Spring and Fall, enable the bird dog owners who boast the skill of their dogs in the hunting field to test them in competition. The dogs are judged on hunting ability, diligence in working the field, speed and style, and on their steadiness in handling birds when located.

Ontario Championships

The Ontario Championship, premier event of the meet, was won by Chestnut Jos, an English setter bitch, owned by Rod Fields, and handled by Ed. McCoy of Hamilton. Drus Ghost, an Eng.ish setter dog, owned and handled by G. G. Vincent, Port Nelson, was runner-up.

At the annual meeting of the association, Lt.-Col. W. H. Singer, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, was re-elected President, and G. W. Boag, Woodstock, was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. Vice-Presidents elected were: Dr. C. A. Temple, Toronto; G. G. Vincent, Port Nelson; D. T. Barnes, Woodstock; W. D. Elliott, Owen Sound, and Judge F. M. Costello, Goderich. The following were elected to the executive: Wallace Brown, Toronto; Mrs. U. Burroughs, London; Edward McCoy, Hamilton; Gordon M. Harkness, of Toronto; A. Grossart, Toronto; Mrs. William Barnes, London and Wallace Findlay, Toronto.

Air Mail Service Launched In West

Scheduled airmail service between Winnipeg and Vancouver is a reality following six months of experimental operation.

When two huge, all-metal Lockheed 14 airplanes of Trans-Canada Airlines landed last week at Stevenson Field, Winnipeg, and at Vancouver civic airport they had successfully carried 3,500 pieces of mail over 1,500 miles of mountains and prairie.

Five Prairie Cities Linked

Planes will span the Winnipeg-Vancouver stretch daily.

Linked in the new chain are five prairie cities, in addition to Regina and Lethbridge. A feeder-line service connects Lethbridge and Edmonton while Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Prince Albert and North Battleford—all Saskatchewan cities—are hooked up with Regina by a feeder-line.

PERISHABLE GOODS: Several European nations (we could name them) and others not so European are armed to the teeth, loaded up with tanks and guns and explosives. Yes, explosives. They don't last very long, we're told. If they're kept, they deteriorate and soon become duds. It follows therefore that the nations who are well supplied with explosives would appreciate being able to get them used up, pretty soon. Sinister thought!

THE TABLE GROANED: We feel very strongly on the subject of fowl suppers. Conjure up a picture: frosty clear night with November stars in the sky; jolly crowds coming together laughing and talking; mingled odors of roast chicken and pies and coffee and cakes rising from the church shed, then the great moment when the "first table" is called in to sit before — a feast for the gods! Conjure up such a picture and we swoon with excess of something — can you tell us what?

OUR REAL FRONTIER: Sir Alfred Morine, K.C., former Minister of Justice in the Newfoundland Government, told an audience in Toronto last week that Canada's first line of defence against air invasion is Newfoundland. Should a German or Italian navy escape to sea and capture Newfoundland, the island would be provided with a base from which planes could control the St. Lawrence, Halifax, Canada's export and import trade — perfect headquarters for bombing Montreal and cities further inland, he said. In conclusion he advocated doing something concrete to protect ourselves against any such eventuality.

GUN CONTRACT: The Bren.. Gun Probe has caused more than a mild flurry in Canadian political circles. Wondering what it was all about, we were grateful when the Ottawa Journal pointed out in black and white just what it is that the Royal Commission investigating the case was appointed to discover. Five points: 1, Is the Bren gun contract a good contract from the standpoint of the national treasury and the national interest? 2, Was it necessary to place this contract without tenders with the John Inglis Company? 3, Did the British Government insist on the Canadian Government working with Major Hahn of the John Inglis Company? 4, Were the financial operations of the Inglis Company in line with the Government policy in connection with contracts for national armament? 5, Did the Minister of National Defence present the facts of the gun contract to the House of Commons accurately and completely?

The purpose of the contract was ostensibly to provide a weapon of national armament at a reasonable, non-profiteering cost in the quickest possible time.

CHEST COLDS

Here's Quick Relief from Their DISTRESS!

Rub soothing, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat.

Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant" containing old-fashioned cold remedies, oil of mustard, and other valuable ingredients, in a clean white ointment.

That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes, helpful in quickly relieving local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Made in Canada, in three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. All druggists, 40¢ each.

THE WEEK'S QUESTION: What six Danubian-Balkan nations of Europe have, during the past couple of years, been tied more and more closely into the economic orbit of Nazi Germany? Answer: Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey, who have been reducing their purchases from Western Europe and the United States to buy more goods from Germany.

More Building Permits Issued

An increase of $166,601 or 2.3 per cent. was shown in building permits issued in 58 cities in Canada in September compared with the same month last year, the figures being $5,278,381 against $5,-111,780, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Value of building authorized for the first nine months of 1938 was $43,104,172, slightly exceeding the aggregate of $42,960,983 for the same period in 1937 and being decidedly higher than in the first nine months in any other year since 1931.

J. W. Gillespie, of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind told a service club in Amherst, N.S., there were 9,400 people registered with the institute. The institute was doing its utmost to make all these people self-supporting.

WONDERLAND OF OZ

By L. Frank Baum

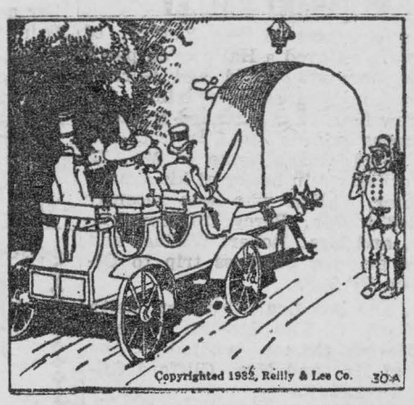

Later Ozma called Dorothy and said: "I have marked out a plan of the trip that you and your aunt and uncle will take. Everything will be ready for you to start tomorrow morning. Take your time, dear, and be gone as long as you wish. By the time you return I shall have found some occupation for your Uncle Henry and Aunt Em that will keep them from being restless and dissatisfied.

Dorothy thanked her good friend and kissed her gratefully, then she ran to tell the joyful news to Uncle Henry and Aunt Em. They were both excited and pleased at the prospect of seeing more of this delightful land in which they now lived. Uncle Henry and Aunt Em spent the rest of the day in preparing for the journey, while Dorothy arranged for the other Oz people who were to accompany them.

The Wonderful Wizard of Oz was the first person she asked to join the party for Dorothy felt that his magic powder might come in handy on the journey. Ozma had told her to take Omby Amby, who was the Captain General of her army. Once Omby Amby had been a private soldier, the only private in the army, but as there never was any fighting to do, Ozma say no need of a private, so she made him the highest officer of them all.

Next morning after breakfast everything was ready for their departure. There was an open wagon with three seats for the passengers and the wagon was drawn by the famous Wooden Saw-Horse which Ozma had brought to life with a magic powder. In the front seat of the wagon sat Dorothy and the Wizard. Uncle Henry and Aunt Em sat on the next seat and the Captain General of the army in the back. Both Toto and Billina were also with the party.

Canton Falls Before Victorious Japanese Drive

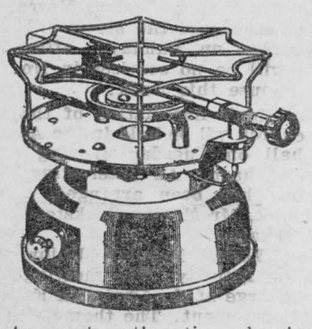

Successfully capturing Canton, South China's metropolis, Japanese forces continued their victorious drive on Hankow, as thousands of refugees fled from the burning ruins of Canton. Hundreds of thousands had fled the doomed city before the Japanese, on the march for more than a week, gained their objective. Here you see Canton's waterfront as it will never be again.

New Type Stove Is One-Burner

Highly Popular In Foreign Lands, It Is Now Ready for Canadian Use.

At last, engineers have perfected a one-burner portable stove with most of the advantages of larger ones. It is the only one-burner stove with so many distinctive advantages.

This new stove lights instantly, without preheating, on the "instant gas from gasoline" principle. Heat can be easily regulated to high, medium or low. A safety shut-off valve keeps fuel from spilling and eliminates the need of repumping every time the stove is lighted.

An automatic tip cleaning needle is built in. The "life-time" burner is wind-proof, silent and operates without throwing off fuel odor. It is the same type of burner used on expensive instant gas ranges. An extra large, straight generator is easy to clean and replace. A triple nickel-plated brass fount is rust-proof, tested for 200 lbs. pressure and is unusually safe.

Lights Instantly

While this stove, known as the Coleman Speed-Master, has been used and proved efficient in foreign lands, it is manufactured by a Canadian company—The Coleman Lamp and Stove Company. They released it for foreigners before Canadians in order to test out and improve its construction.

Housewives, campers, doctors, restaurant operators, plumbers, garagemen and all others who have need of a one-burner stove will find the Speed-Master available in the stores of all Coleman dealers.

Ottawa Boosts Dams Program

Gardiner Announces More Projects for Aid of Prairie Farmers Facing Shortage of Water

REGINA.—Extension of the prairie farm rehabilitation program of building community dams and dugouts has been authorized by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture. It now will involve an expenditure of about $100,000, providing fall work for between 3,500 and 4,000 farmers.

180 Projects Under Way

Mr. Gardiner's decision brought the projects up to 180, largely in Saskatchewan, with 28 scheduled for Alberta's special areas and about six for southwestern Manitoba.

The program, which speeds construction this year of projects that normally might not be built until 1939 or even later, is twofold in purpose. First, the community dams and dugouts will be built in areas where water shortage is a definite problem, and second, the construction program will take the form of work and wages project for hard-hit farmers.

HAVE YOU HEARD

Try this on your wife. Our bet is, however, she will like a present better: Mr. Timson came home one evening to find his wife visibly displeased.

Wife—"Do you realize, John, that you have forgotten that this is my anniversary?"

Husband—"Of course, I've forgotten. There really isn't anything about you to remind me that you're a day older than you were a year ago—or even ten years ago."

Time flies when you consider how recently you bought the children's shoes which now need new half soles. But it goes on crutches if you think how long it takes to get back that $10 you lent with the promise that it would be repaid next week.

Angry Father—"I don't know what to do about your telling untruths. When I was your age I never told a lie."

Little Son—"How old were you when you started, please, dad?"

The teacher was giving the youngsters a mental drill.

Teacher — "Now, Bobby, tell me which month has 28 days in it."

Bobby — (who had forgotten, after a moment, had the answer.)—"They all have!"

Did he mean this?

Solicitor—"Did you present the bill to your client?"

Collector—"Yes."

Solicitor — "And what did he say?"

Collector—"He told me to go to the devil."

Solicitor—"And what did you do?"

Collector—"I came to see you."

An old German was on the witness stand. "And now, sir, describe to the jury just how the stairs run in that house," requested the lawyer.

The old man scratched his head for a minute. "You want to know how the stairs run?"

"Yes, if you please, how the stairs run."

"Vell, ven I am oopstairs dey run down, and ven I am downstairs dey run oop."

A salesman was dismissed because of a lack of courtesy to customers. A month later the Sales Manager spotted him walking about in a police uniform.

"I see you've joined the force, Jones," said the Sales Manager.

"Yes," replied Jones. "This is the job I've been looking for all my life. On this job the customer is always wrong."

SCIENCE FOR THE CITIZEN

By Lancelot Hogben

In Lancelot Hogben's astounding new book, "Science For the itizen," the vast field of science and what it means to man is arranged into a dynamic pattern that should be wholly understandable to almost everyone.

Mr. Hogben is, as you know, the peppery, learned and prolific author of "Mathematics for the Million," that most popular of all literary numbers games. "Science for the Citizen" is the second of his "primers for the age of plenty." It is far and away the most valuable as well as the most interesting geography of science that has come this way in a long time.

But Mr. Hogben not only illuminates a huge field; he accomplishes his main purpose, which is to urge you to see that science has got far enough to offer an age of plenty now—if science is used for the citizen, not against him.

"Science for the Citizen" . . . Toronto: Thos. Nelson & Sons, 91 Wellington St. W. . . . $3.75.

RADIUM IN SEA MUD

There is radium in the waters of the sea and ten times as much of it in the mud at the bottom as in the water, the American Journal of Science reports.

The amount of ocean radium is probably vast, but so diffused that it has no effect on human beings.

TOOTH DECAY CAUSE FOUND

The isolation of a streptococcus believed to be the principal cause of tooth decay and the discovery that it is nurtured by an element in cereal foods which could be eliminated by a change in the processing was reported last week to the First District Dental Society of the States of New York.

BRAIN SWITCHBOARD

A switchboard in the brain which relays messages from the eye to the rest of the body has been discovered.

This new-found centre of brain activity was located in studies of diseased areas inside the brain.

The telephone central of the human body is in the mid-brain. It co-ordinates messages received through the optic nerve to the actual brain cells of sight.

SPEEDS HEALING OF WOUNDS

Oxygen loosely locked up in grain of white powder is reported as a new treatment for healing wounds rapidly.

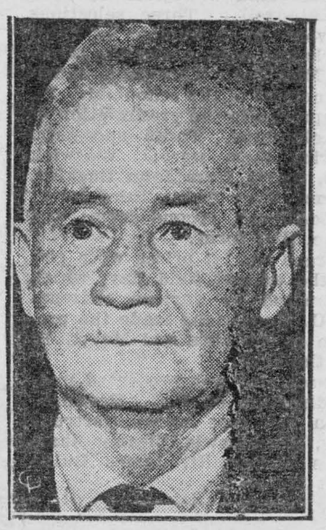

Oxygen is supposed to owe its healing power in wounds to its ability to drive out the kind of bacteria which live without oxygen.

The obstacle to using oxygen has been its quick evaporation from the wound. The powder is a new product of chemistry, zinc peroxide.

PULPWOOD INTO GLASS

The future of Northern Ontario's pulpwood industry may lie in the new plastic discoveries of the past few years. One type of glass made from pulpwood permits 30 to 40 per cent. more light to pass through it than ordinary glass, with the added advantage that it is virtually unbreakable and impervious to varying weather conditions.

Fortune In Ivory

There is a fortune in old teeth, provided the teeth are pure ivory, like those of elephants, hippopotami, walruses, narwhals, sperm whales and animals of the wild boar class.

The teeth and tusks of such animals come under the heading of ivory, which is designated as a very dense substance with pores close and compact, filled with a gelatinous substance that facilitates high polish and makes it easy to work.

POULTRY RAISER CONQUERS "ROUP"

Praises Minard's Liniment As Remedy for Roup or Bronchial Flu

Read in this letter from G. Minvielle, Fort Garry, how he checked Roup (Bronchial Flu) when it broke out among his young hens. "After trying other remedies and obtaining no results whatever," writes Mr. Minvielle, "I tried Minard's Liniment, five to six drops on the tongue and sometimes more, depending on the birds. I am positive that it helped me out a lot." Minard's Liniment is a tried and proven remedy for sprains, burns, bruises and skin diseases, as well as for Bronchial and Rheumatic trouble. Somewhere in Brockville there is a citizen who over the week end may have hunted high and low in his or her home for a glass eye without success. It has been located, and is at present in one of the town's cleaning plants undamaged after passing through the dry cleaning machine. It was apparently missed in the methodical search such as is conducted by the proprietors of these plants when clothes are sent for cleaning. After a number of suits had been cleaned, the eye was found in the bottom of the machine.

The funeral was held at the family residence Wednesday afternoon when the service was conducted by Rev. C.A. Adey of Williamsburg. Interment following in thecemetery at Elma.

WOMAN PAINFULLY HURT WHEN KICKED BY A COW

Kicked by a cow while milking on Saturday evening, Mrs. Carl Wells of Aultsville suffered severe cuts and bruises and shock. She is resting comfortably at her home, west of Aultsville, and is under the care of Dr. Edwin Brown.

Mrs. Wells was formerly Miss Edith Halpenny, principal of Aultsville Pubic school, and was married to Carl Wells last August. She was engaged in milking, Saturday evening, when the cow she was milking became frihtened and kicked her, causing her to fall beneath another cow. The frightened animal stamped about, inflicting severe cuts and bruises about Mrs. Wells' legs, arms and face before Mr. Wells, attracted by his wife's screams, arrived to remove her from beneath the distracted cow. Mrs. Wells will be confined to her bed for some time, but her condition is not serious.

WINCHESTER PLANS MADE TO CONDUCT POPPY DRIVE

At a special meeting of Post No. 108 of the Canadian Legion, held in the Winchester club rooms Wednesday night, final arrangements were made fo rthe Poppy Day campaign to be conducted throughout the district on Saturday of this week. The president, F. Erle Helmer, was in the chair.

As the Winchester branch of the legion has jurisdiction over Chesterville, Williamsburg, South Mountain, Mountain Station, Inkerman, Vernon, Metcalfe and Russell, the sale of poppies will be conducted in these centers by girls appointed by the Winchester committee, who will also arrange for the campaign in Winchester.

The funds derived from the sale of poppies will be used for assistance of needy war veterans in the district. The committee is composed of Alva Alexander, Ernest R. Summers, Nelson H. Dixon, Marian Dunlop and Willis Harper.

Plans were also made to hold the annual Armistice Day church parade on Sunday, November 13. The veterans will fall-in at the legion hall and parade to the Wesleyan Methodist church, where a special service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. D.W. Summers, at 7.30 p.m. During the service appropriate readings will be given by Leroy Strader and F. Erle Helmer, while the last Post will be sounded by Trumpeter Arnod Hogaboam.

Iroquois High School held its annual "parent's night" Friday evening last. The parents were received by the high school staff, Mr. F.C. Beaupre, Miss Nancy Burleigh, Miss H. Goodfriend, Miss Helen Latourell and Mr. G.D. Flett.

An enjoyable program was given by the third form students.

Gordon Jones, president of the literary society, was chairman. Several selections were given by the school orchestra, under the direction of Graham Lindsay. An illustrated lecture on England was given by Miss Helen Latourell. Three selections were given by a number of third form girls and boys, under the direction of Miss Jean Thompson, musical instructress of the school. Mr. F. C. Beaupre made the presentation of the scholarships. Those successful in securing them were: Warwick Knowles, fourth form; John Buckley, fifth form; Mary Bullis, third form; Janet McAllister, second form; and Mary Ace, first form.

Numerous special prizes were given for the annual field day, which were donated by various citizens. Miss H.C. Goodfriend made the presentation to the girls and Mr. G.D. Flett to the boys.

A one-act play was presented under the direction of F.C. Beaupre. Those in the cast were: Gertrude Kennedy, Mona Lewis, Eleanor Sharra, Doris McDermitt, James Bullis and Jack Fetterly.

BRINSTON MISSION BAND HOLDS ANNUAL JAMBOREE

The recreation room and parlors of Brinston United church were the scene of a Hallowe'en party Saturday evening last, when the Mission Band held their annual jamboree. The parlor was decorated with orange and black Chinese lanterns and pumpkin faces.

Mrs. Charles Hanson, Mrs. Arthur Pitt and Mrs. P. Bigford judged the grand parade which was led by Rev. E.C. Lacey and Mrs. Ralph Ennis. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Gilson Strader, Gordon Cooper, Fraser Lacey, Roger Payne and Lorne Strader.

The games were under the guidance of Miss Stella Ennis, and prizes were awarded to the winners. Twenty four children sat down to supper, the tables being seasonably decorated. Miss Phyllis Hamilton was in charge of the serving while Mr. Lacey led the children in singing grace.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. NETTIE STRADER

Mrs. Nettie Strader who for the past eleven years had conducted a grocery store at Point Iroquois, left on Saturday afternoon last to take up residence at Cornwall with her son, Angus B. Strader, and Mrs. Strader.

Although bedridden through rheumatism, Mrs. Strader managed to conduct her little store with the help of attendants and did considerable business with the residents of Point Iroquois. She had become a very familiar figure and was known to residents of Iroquois as "Grandma" or "Nettie." She greatly endeared herself to the people who always stayed to have a few minutes visit with her after making their purchases.

Before her departure the residents of Point Iroquois presented her with a pair of flannellette blankets and an electric heating pad, together with the following address.

Dear Mrs. Strader:

It is with heavy and sad hearts that we bid farewell to one who has been with us for the past eleven years.

We will miss you, how much we could not find words to express. To the most of us our memories of Grandma Strader and Nettie will be pleasant.

On behalf of all your friends on the old Iroquois Point, we would like you to take with you these little remembrances and every day in your new abode picture anew all the old faces of your former home.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

At the morning service next Sunday, Rev. R.D. Smith will preach upon the theme: "The Evidence of Living Religion—Prayer."

This is the second of a series of three sermons upon this subject, the first being on Worship. In the evening he will continue with the sermons upon Old Testament characters dealing with Moses . There is rich meaning in the story of the lives of these men and in Moses we see a man who was commissioned with a gigantic task. In these days when the world is filled with great things to be done we need to find the secret of the life of such a one as Moses.

On account of the services at the monument on Sunday afternoon there will be no services in No. 10 Schoolhouse this week.

The Men's Association of the United church will be held in the Assembly hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock sharp. An interesting programme has been arranged. The President, Mr Morley Beckstead will be in charge.

The Young People's Union will meet on Monday. The meeting will be in charge of the Christian Fellowship Department. The theme will be "World Peace."

Next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the C.G.I.T. Trail Ranger and Tuxis Groups will meet together The worship Service will be in charge of the girls and the first chapter of the Mission Study Book " Calling All Canada" will be presented.

On Wednesday evening at 8.15 a meeting will be held in the Ladies' Parlour to plan for the series of meetings for the following week in connection with the "Quarter Million Fellowship Crusade." All are invited.

CELEBRATE 50th ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Becksted, esteemed residents of Williamsburg, on Sunday October 30th, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, which they quietly observed at their home.

While there was no actual celebration of the happy event of 50 years ago, due to the recent serious illness of Mrs. Beckstead, many of their friends came and went during the day to offer congratulations and felicitations, and many greeting cards as well as tokens of flowers and others gifts were received by the bride and groom of 50 years ago.

On Tuesday, October 30 1888, Emma Catherine Strader, eldest daughter of the late John Strader and his wife, Mary Reddick, of Matilda Township, became the bride of James Duncan Beckstead, son of the late George M. Beckstead and his wife Margaret McMillan of Williamsburg township, the ceremony being performed by the late W.B. Reynolds, pastor of Dundela Methodist church at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Elizabeth Strader (Now Mrs. John Adams of Brinston) was [illegible] sisters bridesmaid and the groo[illegible] man was Frank Foster of Mount Forest.

Of this union, there is a family of two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Seekings at home and Mrs. S.C. Merkley of Toronto, who were both with their parents on this happy occasion. There are seven grandchildren. Following the wedding ceremony and the sumptuous wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents, the happy couple enjoyed a honeymoon trip going with a horse and buggy to the home of the groom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead have resided in Williamsburg village practically all of their lives. Their many friends here and elsewhere join in extending sincere good wishes to the esteemed couple, that they may be spared for years to enjoy health and happiness.
