HOGS BRING BIG PROFITS

The urgent and imperative demand for hogs has opened up a ready and profitable market for every farmer who will raise them.

Each hog you raise will bring a handsome profit quickly—the more hogs the greater your income.

Increase your herd now while prices are high. To do this you may need a loan; if so, consult our local manager; he will help you out.

One Wounded: One Dead of Wounds

There are never big doings in France by the Canadians that are not reflected in Chesterville and vicinity when the casualties are counted. The tell-tale telegrams are now coming through from the last big operations. Yesterday morning Mrs. Ford Harper was advised that her husband had been wounded by gunshot in the ankle, and Mr. Rance Hess was advised that his son Howard Hess had died of wounds on August 13th. Pte Harper was almost the first Chesterville boy to sign up with the 154-th Battalion and received his initial training in Chesterville. Pte Hess was a member of the 156th Battalion and trained at Merrickville before going to Barrifield Camp.

Child Hit By Auto.

Late last Thursday afternoon it fell to perhaps the most careful autoist to come to Chesterville to strike a child with his car. Mr. Wm Bouck of Morewood was passing slowly along main street, when Walden Beckstead, son of Mr. J. A. Beckstead, trundelling a hoop darted out from behind another car directly in front of Mr. Bouck's car and was hit and knocked under the car which passed over him without any serious injury. The accident was unavoidable on Mr. Bouck's part and no blame attached to him for striking the little lad who is up and about again.

Death of Mr. Thos. Moffat

On Sunday morning Aug. 18th, at 4 o'clock there passed away another pioneer of the west end of the Melvin Settlement in the person of Mr. Thomas Moffatt, who had reached the age of 79 years and one month. He was born and spent all his life on the homestead where he died.

Those left to mourn their loss are his loving wife, an only son, Walter who resides at home and a daughter, Mrs. Albert Edgerton of Winchester. There is also a sister, Miss Jane Moffat who lived with her brother always, and a brother Mr. James Moffat of Morewood.

The deceased bore patiently his suffering from that dread disease cancer. He kept up and tried to help on the farm until a few weeks before his death. He was always a kind, considerate husband, and father, and a neighbour who was respected and looked up to by all, being of a quiet disposition. The funeral was held on Tuesday at 1 p. m. at the residence, conducted by the pastor Rev. Mr. Glassford.

To the family and all the loved ones is extended the deepest sympathey of this community.

For Better Roads.

The sub-committee of the road committee of the counties council met in Cornwall last Thursday and decided to call a special meeting of the whole council for Tuesday of this week at 1 p. m., to consider the advisability of authorizing the sub-committee to expend in addition to the counties' appropriation for good roads, the anticipated grant from the Ontario Government subsidy for such purposes for this year, which is estimated at approximately $40,000. If the council accedes to the wishes of the sub-committee the good roads system of these three counties will be advanced considerably beyond the original work contemplated. The question of joining the Eastern Ontario Good Roads' Association recently formed at Ottawa and the sending of delegates to the meeting to be held at the Capital during Ottawa fair week will also come up at the council meeting.

Proceedure for Cleaning and Disinfecting Milking Machines

Just before beginning to milk, suck a pail of clean water, either hot or cold, through the teat cups. Otherwise traces of disinfectant may be carried into the milk.

Immediately after each miiking prepare three pails. Fill Pail 1, with clean cold water. Pail 2, with hot salt soda water, and Pail 3 with clean hot water. While the teat cups are still attached to the machine immerse in these pails successively, at the same time sucking the water through them. Then take the teat cups and stanchion hose and either suspend them or immerse in the solution in the large crock. Care should be taken when putting the tubes into the solution to make sure that all air bubbles are out of the tubes and that they are entirely immesed. Three times a week the rubber teat cups should be taken apart and thoroughly cleaned. No disinfecting solution will take the place of cleaning.

Latter Part of Month to be Cool.

Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent August 15 to 19, warm wave 14 to 18, cool wave 17 to 21. This will complete the great August hot wave and the hot winds that will visit parts of the principal corn and cotton sections. Following this thunder showers are expected that will cool the atmosphere.

Next warm waves will reach Vancouver about August 20 and 24 and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. They will cross crest of Rockies by close of August 21 and 25, plains section 22 and 26, meridian 90, great lakes and Ohio-Tennessee valleys 23 and 27, eastern sections 24 and 28, reaching vicinity of Newfoundland about Aug. 25 and 29. Storm waves will follow about one day behind warm waves and cool waves about one day behind storm waves.

Thunder storms are expected with this storm followed by a cool wave with unusually low temperatures. A frost wave will follow this and frosts during the five days centering on August 29 in sections where frosts sometimes occur late in August. Unusually cool weather is expected from August 28 to September 12 and then another hot wave August 13 to 25. Some of the greatest storms of recent years are expected from September 15 to 30.

At the time of this writing—August 3—the government reports and also the best private reports indicate that the corn and cotton crops have been seriously damaged by the drouth predicted in these bulletins. The hope of those who do not study weather forecasts is that rains will soon relieve the great drouth.

Cropweather changes about every five or six months. The present cropweather period came in near June 15. The change is usually very little the first month as it was from June 15 to July 15. For the second month, as from July 15 to August 15, the change usually doubles and so on to the end of the period, the greatest extremes coming in the fifth month and if decreasing the great drouth in the fifth month.

Sometimes the cropweather period covers five months, sometimes six. The short weather periods cover five days, sometimes six and more rarely seven. The third crop weather period runs close to 14 days. These are the three weather periods. Then we have longer periods that range from 6 to 15 years.

Dragged to Death.

Death came in a most horrible manner, on Saturday afternoon, to Russel Shepherd, aged 11 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Shepherd, of Algonquin. The boy, with a young team attached to a steel rake was engaged raking hay in a field where his father, grandfather and uncle a short distance away, were also at work in the hay harvest. Suddenly Mr. Shepherd noticed the team driven by his son was trotting rapidly and the boy was off the seat and hanging in the rake frame. The team presently made a rush for the barn, quite a distance away, and over a rough roadway and was also seen by men on an adjoining farm and by the boy's mother. When the team reached the barnyard where they stopped, both wheels and teeth were torn from the rake with the boy entrapped in the dragging axle and frame. The boy's neck, legs and and arms were broken while his head face and body presented a gruesome appearance.

A benevolent old gentleman was stopped by a tramp who asked for money to get a night's lodging.

"Well, look here, my man," the old gentleman said, "what would you say if I offered you work?"

"Bless yer life, sir," came the reply, "I wouldn't mind a bit. I can take a joke same as most people!

Winchester Townsnip Council.

The regular meeting of Winchester Township Council was held at Morewood on Aug. 5th, pursuant to adjournment, members all being present.

The usual grant of $25.00 was voted to the Rural School Fair.

A letter from Mr. Humphries accountant of the Education Department, Toronto, was read and the following Resolution based thereon carried unamimously.

Resolved that after due consideration of Mr. Humphries re the question of our further liability to the Winchester High School Board. We are still of the opinion that the Township has spent more than its just share of the cost of maintaining the Winchester High School. We are also satisfied with the action so far taken by our solicitor and would appoint our Deputy Reeve to go into the whole matter with the solicitor and if they decide that a satisfactory comprise can be arrived at, at less cost to the Township than by litigation we agree to abide by their decision even though we adhere to our original opinion as to the justice of the claim.

The Rougher the Better.

The attitude of the American soldier who said: "The Germans have asked for a rough time and by Heaven, we are here to see that they get it," is the attituds that all concerned should have towards Germany till the war is over. The rougher the Germans, in the army or out of it, are treated the sooner the war will be over. Rough, treatment, their own medicine, is the only thing that will make them have senses, and it will do that. The Americans who put aside their own business to go three or four thousand miles to see that the Germans are beaten are not likely to handle the murdering Hun any too gently. They'll let them have war in their own way.

The Chinese Way.

The men of the Chinese labor companie in France have their own way of doing things, none of which appears to surprise the westerner more than the easy camaraderie to be observed in the matter of money. Visiting a shop, several of them together, if some article is too expensive for one purse the buyer will, without hesitation, plunge his fingers into that of his neighbor and take what he needs. The owner of the purse makes no recriminations, does not think of doing so. Surely the trenches of France and Flanders are a wonderful school for manners in which East and West come to sympathize with the other fellow's point of view.

Another Battle Won for Dairymen

FOR months we have been experimenting—investigating—testing—fighting, to find a way to make the Empire Milking Machine, already the unquestioned leader, still more efficient for the dairy farmer.

THE BATTLE IS WON.

We have given the milking machine a new heart—the pulsator is the heart of the milking machine—and the result of our experiment, the new Empire Super-Simple Pulsator, is the most wonderful development since the invention of the Empire—the competent milking machine.

To be successful a milking machine must have a perfectly acting pulsator to cause the alternating action of suction and massage on the teats (to imitate the calf's "suck and squeeze") to occur with absolute regularity; and to make the change from suction to massage and back again instantaneous.

The Empire Super-Simple Pulsator, the pulsator without a piston, does that and more. It really is Super-Simple—so simple that it can be taken apart and put together again in less than two minutes. It has but five moving parts; nothing to wear out or "get out of gear." It cannot lose vacuum, so its action is perfect.

It places the Empire Milking Machine immeasurably in advance of all competition. Your cows should be milked by an Empire Milking Machine with the new Super-Simple Pulsator. It will milk them more rapidly than ever—it will solve your labor problem—it will increase milk production at a decreased cost; it will transform milking from drudgery into a pleasant chore.

Our factory is overtaxed by the increased demand for Empire Milking Machines, so go to your dealer at once, see the new Super-Simple Pulsator and tell him to order your Empire outfit without delay; or write for Catalog.

Canadians Set Terrible Pace, States Anzac.

London, August 18.—The greatest of Canada's triumphs in the last offensive is only being realized as the wounded men are returning and tell the story. At Taplow two hundred arrived who had been wounded in the first two days. They were as cheerful as if returning on leave rather than suffering from wounds. In the party were men from the infantry, tanks, artillery and cavalry. They were all in the highest spirits at having made such a wonderfuf record in the rapidity of an advance. One French-Canadian was joyful at fooling the Germans, who admitted that they had no knowledge of the presence of the Canadians in that sector. When the story can be told how the Germans were deceived as to the whereabouts of the famous Canadian corps, it will reveal the excellent method of those who formulated the plans. The advance was so rapid that the men had little opportunity of viewing the surroundings. "We went over, horse, foot and artillery," said Driver Aspinwall, of the Canadian artillery. "At one time I could see going forward practically every arm of service. While going forward with the guns one of my comrades yelled, 'Here comes the cavalry,' and there swept by us the Fort Garry Horse, the Strathconas, and the Dragoons. I saw them charge through the machine-gun nests. They are wonderful fellows, and here is one in the next cot to me."

With a slight wound received in the charge was one of those who had ridden round Cambria and led the attack in the recent fighting. "Cambrai was a swell ride", he said, "but it was soon over. In this fight we were at it for a long time". Among the wounded men almost invariably they wished the people to know the bravery of their officers. "They all said 'Come on', declared George Choquettee, of Ottawa. "Our colonel is the youngest in command of a Canadian battalion. He led us a merry dance. When held up at any time he came round asking how we were, sharing his cigarettes, and encouraging us. He comes from London, Ontario and he is some colonel".

Among the most interesting wounded were French-Canadians of two battalions. Private Roy, Point St. Charles, told of a famous French Canadian battalion temporarily held up by machine-gun nests in the woods. "Our colonel yelled 'Double.'" This soldier laughed while telling the story. "We doubled and while some were knocked out the Boche lost all. Our brigadier was wounded and our colonel took command of the brigade and the major led us. I got mine when we had gone about six miles, but I would take two more like this if I could have gone the twelve miles."

"This is the Bonne Entente" said a Toronto soldier. "Here is a Toronto Orangeman in a Quebec cot. The cot had been presented from Sorel. "Those French Canucks are good fighters. We put on the greatest show on earth. The going was too fast to observe much, but that didn't matter as long as we were going. It was fine to see the team-work of our tanks, infantry, aviators, artillery and cavalry, and I might also say the same of the transport. Sorry I couldn't go farther, but that's all in the game."

Sergt. T. Hawkes, D. C. M., Golden, B. C., was a tank scout and he directed the movements of his tanks against machine-gun nests. "The German bullets rattled on our tank like rain on a tin roof." he said. "We simply ran over machine guns and crushed them. When the Huns ran down in their dugouts we kept our tanks turning and tramping on until we crushed the dugouts, and if that failed one of the infantry boys dropped a bomb. The whippets are the big tanks' cavalry. It was great fun to see a whippet chasing the Germans. I was two days at this game and then a shell hit my tank. It didn't entirely put the old tank out of business, but they sent me here for repairs."

One of Sergt. Hawkes' brothers went down in a submarine, another is back in Canada with shell shock, and a third, who came over with the first division, has never been hit or sick.

An Austrailian officer arrived here today and told of the work of the Canadians. "We were ordered to go over at eight and our objective was six miles away. When we reached the objective we were to consolidate if the resistance was too stiff, but we were to be prepared to go on if required. We reached our objective, but the troops on the left were held up by machine guns in the woods. We were consolidating when an aviator dropped a flag containing this message: 'Canadian infantry and cavalry pushing on. You keep going.' We helpedt he troops on our left clean up the machine guns and then pushed on. Your fellows et a terrific pace. Everybody in France pays a tribute to your wonderful work and especially your cavalry."

Our losses are still less than the number of prisoners taken and Canada's booty in German field artillery and machine guns is enormous. It is conceded by veterans that this is the greatest Canadian victory during the war.

All That Can be Grown or Saved Will be Needed.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—The Canada Food Board today issued the following statement:

"Recent announcements that the Food situation overseas has been relieved by the special efforts of Canada and the United States are being interpreted in some quarters as indicating that special food production and conservation efforts no longer are necessary.

"All optimistic reports relative to the easing of our allies, food position are based on the assumption that the utmost effort to maintain and to increase production, and also to conserve food, will be continued on this continent as well as o erseas.

"Fortunately, there has been an unusually large grain crop in the United States, leaving a surplus over present consumption which, with the available surplus from Canada, and with continued conservation in both countries, should meet our allies' import requirements from North America this year. The large supply of feed for livestock which also seems assured in the United States will be reflected in increased production of pork and to a less extent of beef also.

"Hopeful though recent developments in the food situation have been, it will not be safe until enormous wheat reserves have been accumulated on both sides of the Atlantic, and such reserves are not yet in sight. A comparative crop failure on this continent next year would, in the absence of hold-over reserves, make our allies, position almost as desperate as it was last winter.

"Canadians cannot afford to relax in food production or food conservation because all that can be grown or saved will be needed. Nothing could be more dangerrous than to assume that our position is yet safe. The Food Board wishes to emphasize especially the necessity for the utmost effort to save this year's harvest from waste or loss. The responsibility resting upon city and town men to see that the farmers have sufficient help to bring in the crops is still pressing, and must not be ignored".

Home-Made Fly Dope for Use on Horses.

The horse-fly season being upon us, and the horses are in need of every chance to maintain their condition in view of the heavy work before them in finishing up the harvest and Fall plowing. Fly nets are a good protection against the pest, but are expensive and likely to be injured in farm work, therefore if a satisfactory spray can be found to fill the purpose of the net it would be well to use it. The following receipt for fly dope for horses is given by Professor Dean, of Kansas Agricultural College: Two quarts of crude fish oil, one pint of crude carbolic acid, one ounce of pennyroyal, eight ounces of oil of tar, and one and one-half quarts of kerosene. This mixture should be put on with a spray. It is not sticky and will not injure the hair or skin if used properly one gallon of it will be sufficient for two teams for almost an entire season. When the flies are troublesome apply a little of the repellent by means of a hand sprayer in the morning, again at noon, and it is well to make another application at night.

Circumstantial Evidence.

"Hello, Tims, said Jones. "I saw your wife this morning. By Jove? that new coat of hers must have cost a pot of money. You're doing especially well at present?"

"No, not exactly," replied Tims, moodily. "Fact is, she got it by accident."

"By accident!" exclaimed Jones, "How's that?"

"Well, old fellow it was this way, I got home rather late the other night. The hall was very dark, but I could just distinguish a figure standing by the chair. I slipped up to her, put my arm around her waist and whispered 'Mary give me a kis'."

"But—but", stammered Jones, "I thought yonr wife's name was Kate!"

"It is," murmured Tim; "that's how she got the coat."

Shocking News.

Fancy dresses were decidedly in her line, and her life ambition was to keep up the deception of youthful appearance.

"Elizabeth" she called "did you get the flowers that I am to wear in my hair to-night?"

"Yes, mum." was the reply, "but—"

"But what?"

"I've mislaid the hair, mum!"

"Hello, Sam. in uniform, eh? I thought yon were working."

"I was, sah, but dey decided I was in one o' dem non-sensical occupations."

It is Not Economy to Pay Less! Is it Wise to Pay More?

Usefulness, in ratio to cost, establishes the value of this car far and away ahead of others.

It is essentially a utility car!

Every part of its chassis is built of the quality of materials that provides for extraordinary service.

It is a work-car; a car you can depend upon for faithful, continuous service at all times, under all conditions.

Look at the spacious interior—the inviting, deeply upholstered seats—the ample leg-room—the nicety of every detail.

The motor is 32 horsepower; the wheelbase 106 inches. There are rear cantilever springs and large tires; non-skid rear.

There is the Auto-Lite system, the highest quality electric starting and lighting—the same kind as used on highest priced cars.

There is the vacuum system fuel feed of finest type.

Consider the complete equipment of this Model 90. Nothing is omitted.

Let us demonstrate—ride in this car and you will understand why there is such a demand for it from people who realize that—

It is not necessary to pay more—and it is uneconomical to pay less.

It's None Too Soon To Order

Your Fall and Winter Suit.
We suggest this for more than one reason, both for your benefit and our own.
We have the goods just in which were bought many months ago.
We will sell them eventually but would sooner sell them right off the reel than to hold for the higher price we will have to get later on.
If you want the choice of the new stock and the saving of nice bit of money you can have it right now and be rigged out for the cooler weather that is not so very far away.

We are well stocked in Shoes and Furnishings for your present needs and will be pleased to show you.

Quebec's Labor Problem

L'Evenement gives the reason why labor is comparatively scarce in the Province of Quebec, quoting from a letter received quite lately from the proprietor of a sawmill situated in a parish located in the district of Quebec. "I am" says the correspondent, "the proprietor of a sawmill, with a flour mill attached and I could employ ten men in my mills if I could obtain them. I have however, but five, and find myself unable to obtain a single one more. I cannot say, however, that the war is the cause of this scarcity of man-power. It is exactly the contrary which has happened. The men formely employed are now in the woods, and have been their since the beginning of summer, where they are of no use either to industry, to the farmers, or I may add, to the army. If the military authorities had come to me I would have endeavored as much as it was in my power to keep these men with me, or at least to secure an extension for the summer months. I would not certainly have lost them all, but I did not get chance. It was, in fact, as if they were all dead, and they are sure enough dead as far as work on the farm or in the mills is concerned." The correspondent also adds: "Why' then, does not, the Government take the necessary measures to get these young men out of the woods, where they are hiding by hundreds, and while they are living the life of Indians their parents are working like slaves?" This, therefore, concludes L'Evenement, is why there is a scarcity of man-power in the province.

Air Mail Service Again Successful.

The second aerial mail test between Toronto and Ottawa has proved very satisfactory results, the return trip from Ottawa to Toronto having been made by Lieut. Tremper Longman on Saturday in five hours and 35 minutes. Lieut. Longman left the Capital at 6.50 in the morn- and arrived in the city with his mailbag at 12 22, thus rounding out the complete trip from Toronto to Ottawa and return, and showing that the airplane is much faster for this work than the regular train service. Lieut. Longman went somewhat out of his way to land at Deseronto, extending his trip to something like 260 miles and stretching out the time of his fight by over an hour. The mailbag included a number of letters which were specially prepared as greetings from Ottawa to Toronto business men. Among the letters was one received by Mr A. F. Ponton, secretary of the Aero Club, from the Deputy Postmaster, which letter was delivered to him at 1.25, which cuts off several hours from the regular delivery of Ottawa mail.

Good Roads Increase Value of Property.

In the state of Indiana, the average selling price of land has been increased about $6.48 per acre by improved roads. The Indiana farmers estimate that improvement of all roads would increase average land values $9.00 per acre. They estimate, also, the average annual loss due to poor roads at 76 cents per acre, which, capitalized at 6 per cent. represents a depreciation of $12.67 per acre. Another enquiry carried on by the Office of Roads Inquiry at Washington, shows that the increase in land values due to good roads ranges from $5 00 to $20.00 per acre. Nothing can show better than roads are. One of the first things the prospective purchaser of a farm wants to know about a district is the distance from the railway station and the character of the road from station to the farm. Some branches of agriculture are much more dependent upon good highways than others. The man who is engaged exclusively in the raising of cattle which can be driven for long distances to a shipping station, is in a measure independent of the condition of the roads. The grower of corn and any other crops which can be stored for a time without deterioration, can manage to get along, even though the road to his shipping point be impassable at times. He is greatly hampered, however, by the necessity of doing his hauling in good weather regardless of market conditions and of whether or not his farm operations are seriously retarded by the absence of himself and his team. For the dairy farmer, the fruit and vegetable grower, and for the producer of perishable commodities of all kinds, ability to get his products to market at all seasons of the year and in all kinds of weather is undoubtedly indispensible to success for all kinds of general farming therefore a good, country highway is essential to the most profitable operation of the farm and to any considerable development of agriculture at a distance from a market town or shipping station.

Other advantages it confers are better school facilities for the children, better rural free delivery services, greater attractions for pleasure seekers and touring clubs, better attendance at country churches and an improved social life on the farm and in villages. Primarily, the benefits of good country highways go to the farmer, but less directly they go to the merchants and manufacturers by giving them wider markets for their goods and by decreasing the cost of distribution. In road improvement lies one of the greatest opportunities for general advancement, and Farmers' Association, Good Roads Committees Automobile Associations and others can do much to further this work.

Don't Forget The stamps

There is a growing tendency among issuers of cheques to neglect to attach the necessary war stamp. This is ascribed to carelessness and forgetfulness in equal proportions. It would be well for those fortunate enough to possess a bank account and who make it a habit of paying their bills by cheque to again remind themselves that the war stamp is imperative. The law is explicit in the matter and a fine of somewhere around $100 is the reminder that the courts are empowered to hand out. The acceptance of a cheque without the stamp also comes under the same order. If the individual would keep this in mind, business houses would be relieved of considerable worry and loss of time in bringing it to his or her attention. "Don't Forget the Stamp" is a good slogan to rehearse.

Modern Locomotives

The number of puffs which a locomotive gives in a given distance is governed entirely by the size of its driving wheels. For every turn of the wheels it gives four separate puffs. Therefore, if the circumference of the driving wheels is 20 feet—which is about the average—and the train is going at 50 miles an hour, we get 880 puffs a minute.

The cough or puff is due to the abrupt emmission of waste steam from the smoke-stack. When there are more than 18 puffs a second the human ear cannot distinguish them separately.

A locomotive engine is such a common object that one rarely considers how wonderful a machine it actually is. We think a great deal of a motor car that does 10,000 miles a year and lasts five years. An ordinary locomotive's work is 20,000 miles a year, and its life is 20 years.

There was an engine on the Great Northern which completed 4,000,000 miles in 31 years before it was scrapped.

A train traveling at 60 miles an hour can be stopped within 120 yards. But enough power is lost in so doing to carry the train nearly 15 miles over a level surface.

A modern engine is so perfectly constructed that it does not lose more than three weeks out of a year in the repairing shop.

Adventures in Air.

With the British Army in France, August 19—Two remarkable stories of air fighting came to light today. In one a British pilot dropped a bomb on an enemy machine in the air. The missle broke off a wing of the German Air machine and then exploded on the ground. In the other flight the observer of a two seater-machine climbed out on the wing and stopped with his glove a puncture made in the gasoline tank by an anti-aircraft gun. The machine side slipped during the operation, but the observer remained out on the wing until the ground was almost reached. Then he climbed back into the machine, which landed safely.

Burroughs—"I know a man who looks so much like you that one could hardly tell you apart."

Lenders—"You haven't paid him that fiver I lent you three mouths ago, have you?"

"Was it a quite wedding?"

"Of course. You didn't expect they would quarrel right before the parson, did you?

Those Dakota Farms.

"Speaking of farming" said the visitor from the West; "we have some farms out in Dakota that are quite sizeable. I've seen a man on one of our big farms start out in the spring and plow a straight furrow till fall. Then he harvested back."

"Wonderful" said the listener.

"On our Dakota farms,' he went on, "it is the usual thing to send young married couples out to milk the cows. Their children return with the milk."

Ears Keep Growing.

An odd thing about ears is that throughout one's lifetime they continue to grow bigger. The ears of a girl, admired perhaps for their small size, are fairly large by the time she has reached middle age. In old age they may be larger. In any company of people one may notice that it is the elders that have the big ears. In the very old they are overgrown.

300,000 Men Brave the U-Boat for Us

¶ The men of the Merchant Marine have given loyal service—yes, and their lives—ungrudgingly and unflinchingly. They deserve the utmost we can do for them!

¶ The tragedy is that this splendid body of men is not recognized by governments, no provision is made for the relief of dependents—no separation allowance—no pension?

¶ It is left to public subscription to care for the widows and orphans. It is vital work our seamen are doing—for without the supplies and munitions carried by the Merchant Marine it would be impossible to keep our armies in the field.

No Government Allowance for their Dependents

¶ 300,000 seamen of the Merchant Marine "carry on" in spite of the U-Boat and the floating mine. 15,000 have made their last voyage.

¶ One hundred and seventy-six merchant ships have been sunk since the war began, without leaving trace of ship, cargo or crew.

¶ All this is in the Allies' cause—it is for us! Isn't it the very least we can do, to take care of the widows and orphans, who otherwise will nurse their grief in poverty? Sooner or later governments may make provision for this vital service, but until such time comes we have an unquestionable duty.

Fabulous Field Fruits.

Raspberries and blueberries have been most abundant this season—not only that but also of good quality. The former fruit especially has beaten previous records for bountifulness. One person who returned from the fields of glory reported to the C. C. that she needed only put her pail beneath a rosy bush, give it a shake with the same gusto that you would the neck of an irritative urchin, and lo, the vessel overflowed its boundaries. In spite of all this super-production the prices soared in place of sank, and you paid sweetly for your purchases. It has become a habit, a disease, a plague, to charge altitudinal sums for all things and you are being asked $3 for a pail of blueberries with as much assurance as used to accompany its sale at one dollar. The demoniacal spirit of aggressivness, which goes on and on and on, and up and up and up must somehow be exorcised or we shall all perish.—Carleton Place C. C.

22 Towns Set Free by Dive of Canadians

Ottawa, August 19—The following despatch was received by the Director of Public Information from Sir Edward Kemp, Minister of the Overseas Forces;

The capture of prisoners by the Canadian Corps in recent operations is now reported to be 10,000, in addition to 150 guns, and machiue guns which are now estimated in the thousands.

The territory re-taken in the advance of the Canadian Corps, representing an initial frontage of 7,500 yards, finishing up on a frontage of 10,000 yards and penetrating to a depth of 20,000 yards includes 22 towns, some of which are of considerable size. The proportions of this success will be better understood when it is remembered that in the battle of the Ypres salient last year, commencing on July 21 and continuing over four months, the total advance did not exceed six miles.

The facts connected with the entire operation constitute one of the most glorious pages of the history of the Canadian army overseas. They reflect not only the gallantry and devotion of all ranks but are a tribute as well to the efficient staff work and organization.

The maximum secrecy marked the move of the corps to the attacking front. Many of our batteries were so close to the enemy trenches that not a single shot could be fired before the battle began. Despite this the infantry declare they never followed a more perfect barrage.

The dash with which every division entered the attack and carried on day after day is illustrated in this observation from the Canadian Corps commander, Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Currie, who states:

"Canada has been thrilled many times by the record of the deeds in the field of battle by her sons, but never before have our battles given so much cause for pride in the fine fighting of our men. They were simply irrepressible. one of the tanks which accompanied us in the fight and was re-christened the 'A. 1 Dominion' went into action with a piper of an infantry battalion playing for all he was worth."

"Madam, I see you advertise table board."

"I do."

"But why specify table board? What other kind of board is there?"

"Stable board. You ain't the first jackass has been along.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A letter written 50 years ago for the Morrisburg Courier by the late Patrick Jordan, whose nom-de-plume will be remembered as "Timothy Terrence O'Mulligan" The copy from which this is taken, was sold by Miss Farlinger of Morrisburg for the Red Cross Society.

The various athletic games were kept up at intervals. Our young friends Messrs. Gordon and Smith from Williamsburg took first prizes. About five o'clock in the afternoon the terribles made their appearance, accompanied by their faithful allies, the Indians, (the Algonquin braves). This certainly was the most attractive and interesting sight of the day; they were gaily attired in various grotesque and antiquated costumes (the masks being purchased in Montreal by our enterprising and generons friend, Mr. Gillespie). They marched through the streets in military way headed by their gallant captain on horseback, equipped in grand armour his long and flowing beard, looked venerable and frightful reminding us of "Blue Beard" his large helmet and protuberant nose created quite a sensation. Some timid maidens on the first appearance of the terribles and the Indians, held on to their Mamma's apron strings for protection, while others of more masculine intrepedity fainted, but fell fortunately into the arms of their sweethearts. Some old ladies nervously adjusted their spectacles while some patriotic old Irishmen whose organs of combatiness predominated at the time shook their black thorns threatening to drive the outlandish Finegans into the Nation, when the Captain assured them they were not Finegans but good subjects, tranquility was restored.

A controversy arose among some claiming the origin and investigation of the various costumes. An old enthusiastic Scotchman claimed the dress worn by our gallant captain to be similar to that worn by the chieftains at Bannockburn and also worn by brave Wallace and that the sword resembled the Claymore in Dumbarton Castle and that Donald of the Isles was the same, and also Douglas when he fought the Saracens in Spain. An old Englishman claimed Johnny Bull wore it at the battle of Hastings, at the time of the Norman Conquest. A patriotic old Dutchman claimed it was worn by Herman when he expelled the Romans from Germany and established the independence of "Faderland" and that the flying Dutchman wore the same when he undertook his aerial expedition. Now I am willing our friends should claim the distinguished honour but being versed in the antiquaties of my native land I think this costume must be similar to that worn by the celebrated Brian Borombo the Irish King when he defeated the Danes in twenty-five battles and expelled them from his native land and who distinguished himself with such renowned valor at the battle of Clontaif where several Princes were found killed in their armour. I think your antiquarians who read your interesting paper will coincide with my views. In the annals of fame our record is there. We had great warriors in ancient and modern times, distinguished celebrites. And if the Teraibles should imitate their examples and follow their footsteps they will be able to annihilate Fenianism or any other ism with as much facility as Joshua demolished the walls of Jerico or Samson destroved the Philistines. The terribles returned to barracks after a fatiguing march. They gave three lusty cheers for Judge Jarvis who was at the hotel.

He returned the compliment by giving a nice speech complimenting them for their loyalty and fine military appearance coming from an old Warrior it was received with great enthusiasm. The concert in the evening was a brilliant success the crowd could not gain admittance in the Town Hall and consequently had to retire out doors. The minstrels preformed in admirable style surpassing in many instances old veterans on the stage. Several songs, patriotic, comic and sentimental were sung and several interesting speeches were delivered while the admirers of Terpsichore were entertained by a grand display of the light fantastic toe. All the actors deserve great credit. There was also a grand display of fireworks. The crowd dispersed about one o'clock in the morning highly gratified with the proceedings which reflected great credit on the enterprize, energy and patriotism of our inhabitants and the unanimity in which all co-operated to make the day interesting.

The proceedings terminated with cheers for the Queen, Dominion, Terribles, Minstrels, Indians, &c. I retired to repose under the shades of Somnus in great ecstacy, singing rule Britannia and the following to the tune of 'Old Hundred', in my own patriotic style, solilequizing on the fun and jollification of the day.

"Britannia needs no bulwarks,
No towers along the steep,
Her march is on the mountain waves,
Her home is on the deep".

Your old friend,
TIMOTHY TERENCE O'MULLIGAN.
