The sweet life

The first ever maple syrup social held locally was a sweet success last week at Dunbar Community Hall where 250 meals were served by Tricia Barkley and her helpers. Husband Brian conducted tours to the bush two miles away and the event went extremely well under sunny skies. The Barkleys were encouraged by customers delighting in the maple-with-everything menu to try the idea again next season. From baked maple cheesecake to maple coated popcorn, the food was scrumptious, accompanied by local apple cider from Smyth's Orchard in Dundela. Julie Anne Dean, 2, of Chesterville, was a well-fed patron. She enjoyed her lunch in the company of mom and dad, Nancy and Mike Dean, and big brother Gordon.

Election fever grabs SD&G

By Alvah Hanrahan
Record News Editor

Jobs, jobs and more jobs will be the major eastern Ontario issue in the forthcoming election campaign, according to area politicians. With premier Frank Miller's Monday announcement of the date everyone has been waiting for local party political machinery is switching into gear for the run for power.

In addition to the perennial problem of jobs creation in the united counties other issues like youth unemployment in particular, various agricultural issues concerns like tile drainage and issues affecting the dairy plants in the riding could also take the forefront when candidates and their handlers set out to meet the people.

With the Conservatives traditionally in control in Stormont-Dundas and Glengarry local Tories say the 47-year old incumbent, Noble Villeneuve, should have no trouble holding onto his seat. Mr. Villeneuve, a professional real estate appraiser and beef farmer, is a rookie MP who won the seat after the death of longtime incumbent Osie Villeneuve (no relation).

In the December 1983 by-election Mr. Villeneuve passed his nearest rival for the seat, Williamsburg township reeve Johnny Whitteker, by approximately 4,000 votes. The NDP's Rudi Derstroff, a Chesterville village councillor, carried the flag for the NDP, taking third place in the race.

NDP riding president Trevor Tolley said just before press time his executive will meet later this week to map out strategy.

"We were ready in the fall for the elction," Mr. Tolley commented.

"We're happy to see an election announced after all this 'will it or won't it' business." He added, "the Tories see this and others in eastern Ontario as safe ridings and rather take them for granted."

"But there are special needs here, especially a need to create employment for young people. Some people don't have jobs at all and there is continuing poverty."

He indicated the new premier rejected a suggestion made some time ago by Cornwall MPP George Samis who has repeatedly called for creation of a separate cabinet portfolio for eastern Ontario.

Local Liberals, unlike their NDP and Tory counterparts who prepared for an election expected last fall, have not fielded a candidate for SD&G. Late Monday afternoon, Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough, 55, confirmed he would seek his party's nomination.

Riding president John Corbett told The Record yesterday before going to press he would act quickly to ensure SD&G Liberals organized themselves for the current campaign.

Mr. Corbett said the nominating meeting to name a candidate would be held sometime between April 9 and April 13, "as soon as Toronto can send a chairman to preside over the meeting according to the rules."

Contemplating the Liberal candidate's chances in the forthcoming race he said "I think they're quite good."

"It's time for a change."

Heading the Liberal campaign will be the riding president.

In the Tory camp an executive meeting held only hours after the election announcement showed Basil Dawley would head Noble Villeneuve's campaign. The veteran campaign organizer is currently working on strategy for the weeks ahead. A revamped executive includes county chairpersons Ewart Simms, Dundas; Garnet Robertson, Stormont; and Gerard Smits, Glengarry.

Chesterville deputy reeve Jim Cook, who is the Tory riding association secretary, told The Record "I think everyone's pleased he's (premier Miller) called it and we're in it."

Mr. Cook, who is chief financial officer for the local Tory campaign, said the economic picture facing local PC's is about the same as last fall -- with roughly $10,000 in the kitty. The Tory campaign will be registered with the Committee on Election Contributions and Expenses so organizers can concentrate on eliciting campaign contributions.

Regarding his candidate's showing May 2 Mr. Cook commented "Noble has worked awfully hard and I expect he'll do as well or even a little better than last time."

Education an election issue: teachers

CORNWALL (Staff) - A political action committee of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry teachers is calling the first round of its battle to make education an election issue a success.

The committee, representing both public and separate school board teachers through seven teacher affiliate associations, met for three hours Sunday with provincial Conservative candidates Noble Villeneuve and Luc Guindon to privately discuss issues ranging from quality of education to collective bargaining rights.

The meeting was the first of a series planned between the committee and candidates running in SD&G and Cornwall Township during the provincial election. The committee also plans to cap off the meetings with two all-candidates debates dealing specifically with education.

During a press conference following Sunday's meeting, committee chairman John Milnes said the session was a success as a starting block to creating better communication between politicians and teachers.

"We have to have a starting point and I believe this is the starting point," said Milne. "We have discussed five or six areas with the candidates and I think we have given them some new thoughts regarding education."

Issues discussed included special education under Bill 82, curriculum changes their implementation, collective bargaining rights, superannuation, quality of education and funding.

SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve called the meeting "a most positive one" and agreed with committee members that "there has been, in the last several years, a lack of communication between the political arm and the teachers' federation."

Although lack of funding was a key issue during the talks, Villeneuve said it was clear money is not the only problem. "Even if there was an unlimited source of money there would still be problems," he said.

Luc Guindon, Conservative candidate for Cornwall Township, said the meeting was a learning experience. "I came here to listen and learn and I learned a lot," he said, adding that he "also got an earful".

Mr. Milnes said it was difficult to judge how close the candidates and the teachers were in their views but added the meeting's success could be judged by the fact that they ran out of discussion time on all six topics.

Although the committee is hoping to get a good idea of where particular candidates stand on education, Mr. Milnes said no pressure will be put on teachers to vote a particular way.

The committee was formed in January as a way of giving teachers direct input into the politics of education and is part of a network of committees across the province under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Teachers' Federation.

Crossing to close

(Staff) - The CPR railway crossing in the Chesterville area will be blocked while work is carried out on the eastbound track from mileage 78.2 to 103.5 on the Winchester subdivision between Finch and Bedell.

The work will commence April 16 and CPR officials calculate an advance of approximately one and a half miles per day. The project is expected to be completed by May 4.

A spokesman for the CPR said the rail changeout machine (RCO) will replace new railway ties for old.

"It's like changing the oil in your car," the CPR spokesman said. "It depends on traffic how often the ties have to be changed."

Because Chesterville is situated on a main line the work has to be done more often than a main minor railway route.

According to the CPR every effort will be made by the railway to ensure traffic is controlled. It is practice to liase with the police and fire departments, E.P. Jolicoeur, an Ottawa spokesman said.

In addition to the regular flow of traffic special vehicles like ambulances, school buses and fire department trucks have to be either re-routed or accommodated by CPR officials on site.

The CPR crew will be working 10 hours a day, six days a week. There will be no work done of Fridays.

The project of supplying new rails for the 25.3 mile length from Chesterville to Bedell is an estimated $6.6 million. Another project, tying in with the rail change is the replacement of a total 30,720 new ties along the CPR track from Vaudreuil, Quebec on the western outskirts of Montreal to Bedell. The cost of the ties will be approximately $1.4 million.

County road stays, council decides

(Staff) - Winchester township council, responding to public pressure at a community meeting Monday night, has moved to retain county status for the Melvin Settlement road. Deafening applause in the hall followed the decision.

A well attended meeting at Morewood Community Centre was the forum for debate among members of the community and Winchester township council. As well, county engineer Don MacDonald was on hand to present a discussion paper describing a possible scenario for switching the status of roads in the township.

When several area residents, particularly those people residing along county road three, argued strongly for retention of the road's status and for major maintenance and repair along its length, council members welcomed all discussion.

Reeve Gerald Holmes predicted the counties road department would probably be able to start actual reconstruction by 1987.

"There is pre-engineering being done on the road right now," Mr. Holmes said, "and then it has to be re-engineered by the land surveyor. This will take the better part of a year."

Mr. Holmes professed himself satisfied with the outcome of the public meeting although his idea to transfer the county road to the Boyne Road had not come to fruition.

"It was an exercise in democracy," commented Mr. Holmes just before press time, "and I think we did it the right way. I always said public opinion would weigh heavy in the matter."

With the Melvin Settlement Road to retain its status it is now costed for resurfacing. The road has a structural rating of five out of 20 and falls in the category needing reconstruction as soon as money becomes available from the province and the initial work can be done.

The condition of the road was summed up in one word by reeve Holmes: "bad."

Estimated cost of the repairs is $2.36 million in 1984 dollars. What must be done to bring the road up to standard involves widening the right of way, ditching, cross culverts, scarifying and regarding, minor cuts and fills, additional granulars and repaving. Within the limits of Winchester village the road requires .9 kilometers of resurfacing at a total cost of approximately $60,000.

Reeve Holmes said his council "will do its best to encourage new construction and to put pressure on the roads committee and the engineer.

The young winner of a transistor radio competed with poster entries from all over the Ottawa Valley. An Arnprior fair entry submitted by Bev Humphries was the first place winner. The company is again providing nine prizes for youngsters' posters in 1985.

In addition a vision care program will be included in the benefit area as well as improvement to dental care and long-term disability arrangements.

Suds swillers say settlement super

(Staff) - Canada, you make good beer.

That's what area beer drinkers were saying this week as word spread that Canadian suds were on their way with the lifting of a month-long lockout of Ontario brewery workers.

For beer drinkers the drought had been a forced lesson in international taste tests as bars scrambled to find replacements for the regular brews.

"Thank God it (the lockout) is over. I'm sick of drinking American beer," said one beer drinker at the Chesterville Hotel Monday night. "You don't know what you're missing until it's gone. I'll tell you, it sure seemed longer than month."

Most bars and outlets said they expected to have their regular deliveries before the end of the week with some already stocked by press time.

Despite the month-long taste testing session, customers and sellers agreed the imports put up a weak challenge to the tavern reign of Canadian beer.

"The customers were smiling when I set the regular beer down on the counter," said Berwick Hotel bartender Greg Ouderkirk, who was serving Canadian beer on Tuesday. "They didn't care much for the imported beer. They were calling it mineral water and soap suds."

Mr. Ouderkirk said the hotel was one of the lucky ones, selling out its supply of imported beer Saturday. Others, he said, would probably have a hard time getting rid of their stock.

At the Chesterville Hotel, manager Glenn Orr wasn't worried about leftover American beer. The lockout had forced the hotel to run on shorter hours and lay off one part-time worker. With a delivery of Canadian beer expected today or tomorrow, things were getting back to normal.

"It's good news, there's no doubt about it," he said. "It lasted a long time and I'm glad it's over."

1985 banner year for tourism in EO

MORRISBURG (Staff) - With the bicentennial in Ontario last year boosting the number of tourists in the area, officials of the Seaway Valley Tourist Council (SVTC) were expecting business to taper off this season. But at the monthly council meeting here last week executive manager Terri Lalonde announced figures of tourist inquiries that indicate the area could be in for a banner year.

"We were really surprised," said Ms. Lalonde. "The figures for January and February show inquiries are up 2.4 per cent over 1984. We're just doing March now and it should be about double (the phone calls) of last year.

"Last year was the bicentennial so we weren't expecting any more tourists this year. We would have settled for the same number. But it looks like those interested in the bicentennial are coming back or they liked what they saw and passed the word along. It's really started something."

Though total numbers of tourists were down in Canada last year, the SVTC area, covering Grenville, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties, registered an increase of 10 per cent. Backed by those figures, the council is planning to increase promotion this year and hopes to bring in more members with a "concentrated drive" this spring.

Tourism to expand in EO this summer

"We're aiming for an increase of 30 per cent, said Ms. Lalonde. "And I think we can do it with a concentrated drive during the month of May."

The council now counts 100 members "who get more than their money's worth," she said. Working with a total budget of $80,000 this year, Ms. Lalonde said most of the money not spent on administrative costs, goes toward promotion.

Through municipal contributions and membership fees, SVTC will be raising about $60,000 for the cause this year, with provincial and federal government funding to fill out the budget. To date the council has been assured most of the government money, which is reserved for tourist council wages, and all but one municipality's contribution.

Last week the United Counties pledged $18,755, an increase of four per cent over 1984. The contributions average 34.6 cents per capita from the different areas. Cornwall will add $16,000 while the town of Prescott has come up with $1,590. Grenville County was expected to contribute more than $7,000 at its council meeting this week.

With money matters falling into place, the tourist council is gearing for the main attraction, summer. To promote the area, 12 TV programs have been packaged and will appear on Cable 11 Cornwall beginning this week. The half-hour shows highlight a variety of events along the Seaway including the Glengarry Highland Games, Prescott Loyalist Days, Iroquois horse and cutter tournament, Prehistoric World and Lancaster fishing derbies.

"I do the interviewing for the programs," said Ms. Lalonde, "but it's the people who put on the events that make it. We try to keep it interesting, not just the interview but action as well."

The Highland Games will be aired this week on Thursday at 8pm. A mixture of programs will then run every Monday at 6pm and Thursday at 8pm through the summer months. Lalonde estimates the show will reach 60,000 viewers.

In other business at the meeting, several directors objected to a $200 donation SVTC had approved for an international conference on festivals to be held at the Cornwall Civic Complex in October. The three-day event will be sponsored by St. Lawrence College and could draw more than 250 people.

Because the tourist council operates with municipal funds, members argued it shouldn't be supporting private groups. Others stated the donation was a token, enabling the college to receive more substantial grants from government, and the local conference could only benefit business in the area.

President Jim Irving said the SVTC coffers aren't normally open to private groups, but in this case the positive effects would be worth $200.

Lalonde added that she hoped the budget would allow for a contribution to the Upper Canada Playhouse this year. SVTC donated $200 in 1984.

The Seaway Valley Tourist Council is heading into a new year with expectations high. Statistics from last year's bicentennial festivals show the area attracted 10 per cent more tourists than in 1983 and inquiries so far this year promise another good season. Heading the council in 1985 are: left to right, second vice-president, John Cleary; executive manager, Terri Lalonde; marketing chairman, Bernie Kennedy; first vice-president, Freda Eaton; president, Jim Irving.

Top musician hits high note

(Staff) - Tim McNab doesn't like to blow his own horn. But when the 17-year-old North Dundas District High School student blows the music department's French horn, people listen.

Mr. McNab was recently chosen as the most outstanding high school musician in SD&G during the annual Tri-County Youth Band Workshop at North Dundas.

And to prove that great musicians don't always have great egos, the Morewood Grade 13 student also picked up the Most Congenial Player award as the musician who kept things harmonious while the bands weren't playing.

Not bad for a student who has never taken formal music lessons outside of school, generally never practices more than half an hour a day and got into the high school band as a French horn player because nobody else wanted to play it.

His success, in face, surprises even him. Since joining the school band in Grade 10 as a rookie on the French horn (he had played the baritone and trumpet in public school), Mr. McNab has been an annual member of the Tri-County Youth Band, the all-star team of SD&G school bands.

"I've been kind of surprised," he admits. "But I think we've got a good band at this school and that helps a lot. The music is challenging here and that help you grow."

The electric bass guitar player for the school's jazz band, and a part-time player of instruments that range from piano to drums, Mr. McNab got involved with music in Grade 6 with the traditional introductin to the recorder.

From there he moved on to baritone and trumpet before landing the role of French horn player in the North Dundas band. It was a case of circumstances," over skill, admitted Mr. McNab.

"I didn't even have to audition," he says. "The French horn is a fairly difficult instrument and they couldn't find anyone to play it."

Since then, there has been no question that the looping wind instrument and Mr. McNab were made for each other.

Talking with the musician, it is clearn that the major reason for his success is that he has fun playing his instruments.

Mr. McNab, who is hoping to study engineering at the University of Waterloo this fall, agrees.

"I've always enjoyed music," he says. To relax "I'm taking seven courses this year and

"Ive always enjoyed music," he says. "I'm taking seven courses this year and music gives me a chance to relax. I know a lot of people who have three spares a day. I don't treat music as a spare but it does give me that chance to relax."

"I may not continue music as a mainline thing in university but I want to keep it at least as a hobby. A lot of people are thinking of academics all the time but there are other things in life besides marks."

On his selections to the tri-county band and this year's award, Mr. McNab says he feels honored and proud.

"The youth band is pretty high profile with the best people in the three counties," he says. "Nothing against our band, but you really notice the difference in the music. Sometimes in a school band there are people who are jut looking for the easy credit. People in the youth band are there because they want to be.

"It's a good social and learning experience."

Assessing his own talents, Mr. McNab downplays the idea that he has any special gifts.

"Ive always believe that if you work hard enough at anything you can do it. There are some people who have gifts but a lot of it is just hard work. Whether it's music or algebra, it's just a matter of putting your mind to it."

Tim McNab of North Dundas District High School was voted the most outstanding musician at the Youth Band '85 workshop held at the school earlier this month. McNab's music teacher and workshop director Norm St. Louis presented him with a trophy for his work on the French horn. McNab, 17, was also voted the most congenial person at the five-day event, which brought together students from 10 high schools in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Workshop music to NDDHS

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - A high note for North Dundas District High School was reached last week when Tim McNab, a grade thirteen student, was named outstanding musician of the recent Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry music workshop held here recently.

The seventeen-year-old French horn player is a Morewood resident. He plans to enrol in a civil engineering course at Waterloo University after completing his last few months of high school studies. A band member for five years, Tim has also participated in the Tri-County Band for the past four seasons.

The workshop, organized by NDDHS music director Norm St. Louis, brought together the most promising musicians in the county school board jurisdiction for three days of continuous music, both practice and performances for the students and members of the public.

Also named as an award recipient was Joanne Cadieux, Vanier Secondary School, who was the outstanding brass player. Honorable mention in this category went to another North Dundas student, Willie McGregor.

Outstanding woodwind player of the session was Renee Laforge, Seaway District High School, with honorable mention going to Joanne Glaude of Alexandria's Glengarry District High School.

Playing bass or tuba, the outstanding musician on those instruments was Lisa MacKinnon, also from Glengarry District High School. Honorable mention in this class went to Nynke Hoedemann. In the percussion class outstanding player was Lisa Croxall of Vanier Secondary School.

Declining enrolment still problem for SD&G Board of Education

CORNWALL (Staff) - Predicting several challenges for the county school board in 1985, education director Rosaire Leger said last week declining enrolment would continue to be a problem in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. In his annual report Mr. Leger predicted other problem areas would be financial restraint, expanding programs and increased demands for delivery of services within the county system.

Mr. Rosaire acknowledged his board had to roll back budgets last year and solve several economic problems.

In outlining the board's goals for the next year, the report listed programming like special education, French as a second language and computer education. Mr. Leger pointed out progress had been made in values education, professional development, and alternative education. He added the board's alternative school located in Cornwall was the beacon for this type of program in Ontario.

Another section of the report dealt with the county board's response to expanded Catholic education in the province. Mr. Leger pointed out his board had co-operated with the local separate board in presenting a joint brief to the Planning and Implementation Committee in Ottawa in January.

Village workers offered pension

(Staff) - Chesterville village employees have been offered a benefit package by the town as part of recent wage negotiations. Council has agreed to enrol in the Ontario Municipal Employees Registered Retirement pension plan (OMERS) all those workers who choose this elective. The town will match the employees' contribution of five and a half per cent of earnings.

Reeve Carl Ward said "up to this point there has been no retirement plan but over the last two or three rounds of negotiation there has been some suggestion of a retirement plan."

The reeve indicated the OMERS plan "had the most appeal to it. It's a matching, voluntary plan and each employee makes up his or her mind to join or not."

Although employees in most other municipal jurisdictions in Ontario are committed to a plan deputy reeve Jim Cook said such a plan "was not introduced earlier because of restraint. We wouldn't have been able to give them any kind of increase."

At one time the restraint package bound us to five per cent," he added.

Councillor Rudi Derstroff pointed out the plan is backed by the security of the provincial government. He said although two readings of the by-law have been presented in open council the members are awaiting the third reading pending the customary "sober second thought."

The main highlights of the OMERS plan include pension benefits based on the annual average of the highest five years before retirement. As well, a normal pension is payable for life from age 65. Should employees wish to retire earlier there is a graduated scheme of payments. OMERS guarantees continued accumulation of credited service should the employee become completely disabled or the alternative of a disability pension.

The plan is completely portable between employers who participate in OMERS. Past service benefits are provided under a supplementary agreement between the employer and OMERS and pensions under payment are increased each year based on the difference between seven per cent and the earnings rate of the fund.

A representative from the plan travelled to the village from Toronto last Wedneday to explain to the employees what they might expect from membership in the pension scheme.

Separate board to review affirmative action

CORNWALL (Staff) - A task force to review affirmative action practice will be established by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board. The task force's mandate will be to promote actions relative to affirmative action within the board.

A report compiled by the board's administrators concludes that to reveal any discriminatory practices against women in the board the task force will need to evaluate the attitudes of both male and female employees. As well, the board will seek to determine the attitudes of supervisors toward female employees and the attitudes of women toward themselves.

Once this preliminary study has been completed the board will then determine corrective strategies and implement them. "This stage will be the longest and most difficult," the report says. "It should prove to be the most gratifying for the task force should see its objectives becoming realities."

As well the task force will develop a system to review the progress of the actions to be taken. The board will hire the services of experts in the field from time to time, the report said.

Cheese theft wrapped up

WINCHESTER (Staff) - A former Ault Foods employee, Gregory Hillis, 30, was found guilty in Winchester provincial court last Friday of a theft over $200.

The Morewood area resident, who was arrested January 30, was charged with theft by the Ontario Provincial Police. Mr. Hillis was found to have removed $1000 worth of cheese from the Ault Foods plant here.

None of the cheese was ever recovered, said a police spokesman. The spokesman added the cheese was taken over a period of time. Acting on information received the police built their case and obtained a conviction following a guilty plea by Mr. Hillis.

He received a one-year suspended sentence with probation.

The police have not closed the case yet and investigation is continuing.

Drugs: education is best prevention

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - Most parents would agree that raising a child is enough trouble without having to worry that he or she might get involved with drugs or alcohol. Just as many believe that fate could never befall their offspring.

But North Dundas District High School teacher Carl Ward has been a student of substance abuse for the past few years and has been working to raise awareness of the problems while continuing to keep abreast of any developments in areas of cause and treatment. He is chairman of substance abuse for the Seaway Valley District Health Council and was asked to speak to parents at NDDHS last week.

For Mr. Ward there is no question that a problem exists, both in the number of abusers and knowledge of reasons why. Armed with examples, statistics and a film depicting the near-ruin of a 15-year-old addict, Ward spoke to a crowd of more than 50 parents about the roots of addiction and the possibility of reform.

"I guess the main reason for the seminar was to let the parents have a little better insight into the nature of the disease," said Ward. "The type of information has been out for a while where we say, 'Once we educate them, they'll stop.' But it didn't work the way it was expected or intended. In general I think the students are well aware of what's available and what the effects are."

Part of the "new thinking" is to find out what causes youth to turn to drugs and alcohol and fill the void, which the substances now do, with something else. Ward said 85 per cent of adolescent addictions can be traced to factors within the family. Parents co-operating in the treatment is then crucial, he said.

Of the factors contributing to abuse, family atmosphere tops the list. Only 15 per cent of addiction cases result from peer pressure and availability of substances. But family settings can vary greatly and each individual brings with him character traits, some of which are common to the "addictive personality," said Ward.

He cites low frustrations tolerance and self esteem along with a feeling of dependence as traits common to potential addicts. Add to these some failures in today's pressure-filled society and the person will be looking for a way out.

"A large number of these young people are under a lot of pressure from their parents and have pressure to be successful in school. They need pressure and they want to do well," said Ward.

But then things can go wrong. A young man can't seem to find a date like his friends and doesn't make the football team. He thinks something must be wrong with him and begins to feel bad.

Mr. Ward said some young people can cope with the letdowns - if they have their emotional, intellectual, physical and social skills developed.

If not, they become victims of the "feelings disease. It's only natural that if you feel bad all the time, you would love to escape. If for once in your life you could feel good, that would be nice," said Ward.

From that point, Mr. Ward describes the addiction process as a cycle. The person perceives a need for escape, believes there exists "a substance with magical powers," and seeks it out until his behaviour gets out of control. Ward adds that the potential abuser needs an excuse to get into a habit and someone to rescue him. The excuse might come in the form of another letdown and the rescuer could be a "vendor of good feelings," said Mr. Ward. Drug dealers will always be there to "console" and "everyone has the right to feel good."

Those who have dealt with addiction before know that the completed addiction triangle includes a victim. Whether the addict is a parent or child, the family is uprooted. Mr. Ward's main message at the meeting came through as he outlined the atmosphere of different family settings and what the effects can be. Four examples ranged from extremes of hostility and strictness to love and permissiveness.

The least desirable setting is one of open and constant hostility. Ward said statistics show a good number of heroin addicts come from homes so shattered the strongest outlet available is used to escape.

In an environment of strictness, the young grow up feeling they can't be trusted by parents and begin to live up to their billing. Mr. Ward said marijuana, alcohol and cocaine are the likely routes for escape.

On the opposite end of the spectrum is the permissive home. Ward said parents taking the "modern" approach, leaving children to do as they wish, could be making a big mistake. Young people need some rules and begin to feel they aren't worth caring about if no guidelines are set. From this group graduate youth subject to truancy, shoplifting, sexual promiscuity and experimentation with alcohol and marijuana.

The ideal setting is one of love, caring and dialogue, Mr. Ward said spirituality is "bankrupt in today's society" and it is that the young need most. The knowledge that they are needed, listened to and cared for; that life has meaning purpose and an end, is all important.

But a loving atmosphere is not fool-proof, said Mr. Ward. About 15 per cent of the children from this type of environment will still be involved with drugs and alcohol. Love can be expressed in the wrong way.

"Sometimes parents don't demonstrate love in the right way," he said. "They'll reward children with hugs and kisses after they've done something the parents approve of. But that teaches that love is on performance. It's very important that love is expressed for no reason at all."

Mr. Ward cites the example of a young girl who has grown to expect love upon performance. Out on a date she links her sexual performance with love and has trouble saying 'no.'

Though the problems stem from the home, Mr. Ward said a major obstacle is getting those affected to admit there is something wrong and agree to treatment. To deal with the situation he has spearheaded substance-abuse policy in the high schools of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. With staff, parents and students better informed, he hopes to deal with the problem in its early stages.

"Usually a person who has the disease hits a low before he can get help. But the new thinking is that we can intervene before he gets down and out. If we get the co-operation, we can solve a whole lot of heartache for the individual and his family. That's what we're trying to do."

A three-part program has been initiated at the schools and involves the identification of the student affected, establishment of parent support groups, and treatment. When a student is identified as having a problem, he is approached by staff and asked to visit a hospital for assessment. From there an agency determines what treatment would best suit the person: some in the early stages of addiction might attend an outpatient clinic and others might be treated for a few weeks at any of several clinics in Ottawa, Cornwall or the United States.

"(The program) is going well," said Mr. Ward. "The objective is to help the student do something about the problem. We're there to help and it isn't punitive in any way."

A recent survey by the Addiction Research Foundation indicates the problem of addiction is not going away. Ward said past concern of parents over marijuana use led to a decline in 1981, but that in turn led to an increase in alcohol and heavier-drug use.

"At least people now know that something is being done, that we're not just sitting still. It is a pretty serious problem."

IN MEMORIAM

PROVOST — In memory of a dear sister Lila who passed away March 29, 1984.
The heavenly gate stood open
One year ago to-day.
With goodbyes unspoken,
She was quickly taken away.
She would not wish for sorrow,
She would not wish for tears.
But just to be remembered,
By us throughout the years.
Ever remembered by,

McINTYRE — In loving memory of a dear husband Allen, who passed away March 29, 1984.
You bade no one a last farewell
Nor even said goodbye.

But you did not go alone,
For part of me went with you,
The day God called you home.
Lovingly remembered, Irene.

CARRUTHERS — In loving memory of a dear daughter, Lisa Marie, who passed away March 30, 1979.
When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If she only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartache
Our smiles hide all the while.
Ever loved by,
Mom and Dad,

Rotary

By C.A. Graham

Another fine meal was enjoyed followed by a sing-song led by Leon with Joanne Saunders at the piano.

President Jan conducted the business period. Carl Ward reported that a student from North Dundas had been selected for the "Rotary Adventure in Citizenship". Students from across Canada are billeted in the homes of Ottawa Rotarians for a few days while they learn more about Canada's capital and government.

Rotarian Leon introduced the speaker of the evening, Rotarian Jim Cummings, who heads the Nestle plant at Chesterville.

Jim has had wide experience in the food processing industry and has been active in organizations concerned with food processing. He came to Chesterville from a Libby's plant in Puerto Rico. His talk concerned the "Ontario Centre for Farm Machinery and Food Processing Technology." The centre was set up under the sponsorship of the Ontario Government BILD program and is a crown corporation. Its purpose is to up-grade food processing and farm machinery for more efficient production and better quality control. Skilled engineering and scientific service is supplied when needed.

There are 154 farm machinery manufacturers in Ontario many of which are small with little research or development capability.

Consumers are changing from preserved and canned food products to fresher food. New processes are being developed to keep food in a state of freshness but Canada and the United States are behind in developing new technology. Japan leads the world in modern food processing.

Jim is on the board of directors of the centre which also supplies technical advice and suggestions regarding funding for such industries.

Rotarian Stan Vanden Bosch thanked the speaker but did not present him with the usual jar of Nescafe. Instead, he will be given a Rotary Directory which lists all the Rotary clubs of the world the time and place of their weekly meetings. Our Nestle members will find it useful should they visit other Rotary clubs around the world.

Textile workers are recalled

LONG SAULT (Staff) - Textile workers have been recalled to the Dominion Textile plant here. A total of 25 previously laid-off employees were called back to work having been off since February 10.

A spokesman for the plant said the original layoffs occurred in the winding and spinning areas. However, because of new bookings the recall was made. A further 35 workers have yet to receive the signal to return to work. Long Sault Yarns division of Dominion Textile employs a total 250 people at peak capacity including 30 office employees.

Surplus could mean tax breaks

CORNWALL (Staff) - A large budget surplus in the county school board's budget could mean a tax break for public school supporters this year.

With $566,391 in the coffers, the board's auditors, Geo. Welch and Company and Dunwoody and Company, told trustees last week during presentation of the board's 1984 balance sheet.

The average taxpayer in the united counties could expect the surplus to represent about 4 mills or $20. Last year the tax rate was increased by that amount.

The 1985 budget is due to be drafted in April and at that time the trustees will decide how to use this surplus.

On the secondary school side the board also showed a large reserve of $38,832 for last year.

The board credited the public school amount to changes in the 1984 estimated budget of $20.7 million. As well, the board was able to collect more commercial taxes than in the past because of improved economic conditions locally. Also bolstering the surplus were the board's overestimated expenditures for plant operation and transportation. This amounted to $200,000.

Ault Island author addresses Ingleside WI

INGLESIDE (Special) - Ingleside WI was privileged to have as guest speaker for their March meeting Mrs. Frances Marin.

Mrs. Marin holds degrees in history and education from Edinburgh and Queen's universities. She was co-author of the History of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties from 1945-1978.

Frances gave an interesting account of her experiences as a teacher for one year in the island of Fogo situated in the Atlantic off the N.E. coast of Newfoundland. The island is 10 by 5 miles in area and has approximately 1200 people. It is rough, rugged and cold. At that time primitive living conditions existed but have since improved. All their supplies come in by ferry.

School supplies were few and books were written far beyond the children's comprehension.

Mrs. Marin was introduced by Mrs. Grace Grant and thanked by Mrs. Jean Shaver who presented a gift in token of our appreciation.

Following the president's welcome; the Ode and Collect, the roll call was answered by each of the 18 members and 1 visitor, giving her maiden name and the county from which her ancestors came.

Our cheer lady, Mrs. Kay Flegg gave a very humorous reading from "One for Sorrow and One for Joy" written by Mary Cook.

Mrs. Margaret Leete, our district director brought a splendid report advising us the district annual will be held May 21, at Cornwall Centre; bazaar items should not total over $20; that family studies should be taught in all schools; a curator's meeting will be held in Winchester April 10 from 10am to 3pm; the $5000 raised from the sale of our cook books, be invested and the interest be given to worthy college students.

Mary Nugent read an item on "Courage" and reminded us the April meeting will be the annual and all reports are due. It will be a dinner meeting April 24 at 6pm at the Bierstube. She also asked us to patronize the 4-H bake sale at Home Hardware April 24 at 9am.

Hostesses Mrs. Sandy Crites and Mrs. Jean Shaver served a dainty lunch.

Blueberry pie time for 4-H bakers

By Julie van Wylick

(Special) - Chesterville's Baking Buddies met early Saturday morning for their second meeting. Tina Everts opened the meeting at 10am followed by the 4-H pledge.

Jane Hoople then proceeded by asking everyone what they hoped to learn in this project and how each one rated her tea biscuits made at home. Mrs Hoople and Mrs. Larmour took over the meeting by discussing what kinds of pastry and pies we were going to make. The club split up to prepare four different kinds of dough; lard, shortening, butter and oil. After this Sandra, Wendy and Tina made a blueberry pie which was baked with the different doughs.

Each member then took out her chart to rate the different kinds of pastries. Everyone had her own opinion about the best, but everyone did agree on the fact that the blueberry pie was very good. Drinks and seconds of pie were provided. Tina adjourned the meeting.

Drill with the International® "Soybean Special"

The key to faster emergence is this IH dual rib press wheel.

SPECIAL
ONE ONLY
5100 grain drill
16x7, single disk plain, grass, broom attachment
$5,200 cash

While some drills control planting depth in 10" and 12" rows, the 5100 "Soybean Special" controls depth in 6" rows. Which means you can expect yields up to 25% higher by planting with this drill.

Outstanding accuracy begins with IH feed cups that deliver seed uniformly. Dual rib press wheels then compact the soil around the seed, and gently "pat" the top to prevent air holes. Result: Uniform germination and emergence, a start toward higher yields.

Area guides unveil new logo

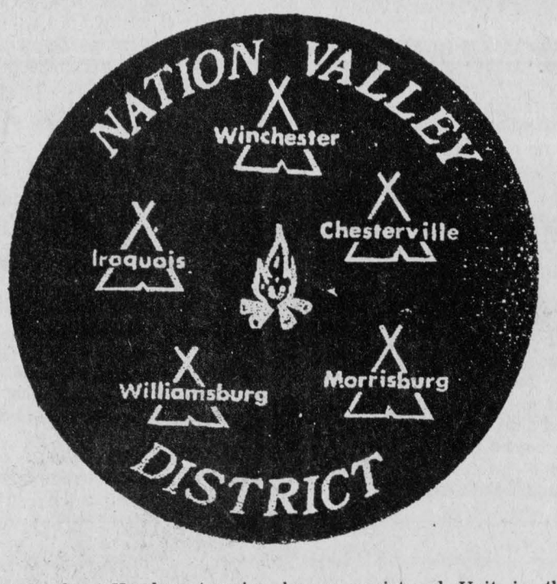
(Staff) - Area guides in the Nation Valley have been awarded their own logo in this anniversary year of 75 years of guiding in Canada.

To mark the celebration area leaders have been researching the history of the local groups.

The geography of the Nation Valley area includes communities in Dundas county, Winchester, Chesterville, Williamsburg, Morrisburg and Iroquois. In 1985 there are 14 local units including brownies, guides, pathfinders and rangers led by 38 volunteer leaders. The brownies number 130, with 99 guides, 25 pathfinders and three rangers.

Nation Valley district was once called Iroquois Lake district. The change in boundaries and name ocurred in sometime in the 70's. Then as now it continues to serve as a support system for the many volunteer leaders as well as an information link with the various levels. The district council holds six or seven meetings a year rotating the meeting place in each of the communities represented.

The girls benefit by being part of a larger organization in that the district usually holds one large rally-type day when the entire membership get together.



Records at Headquarters in Toronto show that the earliest unit registered was a guide company in Winchester in 1919. Miss Mary Empey was captain. There seems to be a gap in the records until 1971 although there probably was a guide company during some of those years.

Chesterville, second oldest known registered Unit in the district, shows leaders registered as early as 1926 followed by Morrisburg and Williamsburg in 1940 and Iroquois in 1959.

Newest unit in the district is the Morrisburg pathfinders who celebrated their second birthday in February.

The longest continuous record of registration is the Morrisburg brownie pack. It was registered in 1952 as a Salvation Army unit.

At one time Morrisburg and Iroquois had enough girls to form two brownie packs in their communities. This lasted for about 3 years in each case.

Units in all communities are active and thriving because of committed adult leadership and a strong district council. There is excellent training and support for leaders. Units are camping together, visiting each other and planning exciting things together such as a trip to Maple Leaf Gardens in March where they will attend a rally in celebration of Canada's 75 years in the guiding movement.

In the last four years both leaders and girls have applied for international trips. Efforts were rewarded two years ago when a Winchester pathfinder was accepted to be part of the Ontario adventure trip to one of the international guiding centres in Mexico (Our Cabana). Her anticipation of the trip was a shared experience as were her presentations to adults and girls after her trip. She opened the World of Guiding for all in the district.

Guide fair evaluated

WILLIAMSBURG (Special) - An evaluation of the International Fair held Mar. 3 in the Winchester Community Centre was circulated at last week's Nation Valley district guide meeting. Discussion followed with positive comments about all aspects of the Fair. All guiders felt that the objectives set out to do something special for the 75th anniversary to create an awareness of guiding in the county were fulfilled.

All units have registered for the division fun day to be held at Kemptville on Sunday, May 5. This is the first time all guiding persons in the Grendunlee Division will be getting together and it is expected there may be as many as 700 in attendance.

Brownies, guides and pathfinders from Winchester, pathfinders from Morrisburg, and guides and pathfinders from Chesterville will represent the district in Toronto this weekend. A special opportunity has been presented to the pathfinders from Winchester and Morrisburg. They will be amongst 800 girls who will lead the singing in an opening campfire at the rally. Chesterville will be hosted by Sheppard Division Guides. A visit to Casa Loma is part of their itinerary.

Cookie convenor Heather Whitteker distributed cookie sales aids to each community and announced that cookies will be sold the last full week of April.

A busy Spring and Summer schedule includes the District Brownie Camp at Kagama, Morrison Island, June 7, 8 and 9, a district Guide and Pathfinder Camp running concurrently, but on different sites also at Morrison Island on June 21, 22 and 23, but and a mini pathfinder camp to be held at the end of May. Six pathfinders from the district are also invited to help Prescott district host girl scouts from Pennsylvania. This event takes place June 21, 22 and 23 at the Lion's Den, Highway 16 near Spencerville. Winchester Brownies will be camping at Rideau Hill site in May.

Plans are underway for the entire district to participate in the 75th guiding celebration parade scheduled for June 2 in Ottawa. Deputy District Commissioner, Janie Buter, reported the route is two miles long beginning at Lansdowne Park and ending at Cartier Square. The girls will be addressed by Governor General Sauve on the steps of Parliament Hill. Cost of bus transportation and other details are yet to be finalized.

Three pathfinders, Caitlin Wells of Chesterville, Laura Rosenquist of Morrisburg, and Lezley Humphries of Winchester, have been selected to attend one of Ontario's heritage festival camps. All three girls will be going to Camp Ma-Kee-Wa, a camp located north of Toronto near Palgrave, June 30 to July 6.

A patrol leaders training is planned for early October in either Winchester or Chesterville.

Activities in all units since January centred on preparations for the international fair booths, Thinking Day activities, church parades and service work related to the Easter Seal campaign.

The Editor's Notebook

by Alvah Hanrahan

Early warning post

When a package sent poste haste by Priority Post from the Queen's Park ministry of government services arrived on our desk Monday morning at 9:30 we knew something was up.

A press kit colored in the bluest of Tory blue heralded a program called Enterprise Ontario. In some quarters this undertaking is known as "son of BILD." BILD, if you remember, was a similar program unleashed by the provs just prior to the early spring election held March 18, 1981.

The real give-away to Mr. Miller's election intentions, of course, as we see it, was the freebie we received by the courier. Sure enough, a few short hours later, the announcement was made and it was official. We are in an election mode until the polls close on May 2.

Well, of course, we knew all along the signs were right. Just when all those new ministers at Queen's Park were beginning to cotton on to the intricacies of their portfolios Premier Frank Miller pulls the plug and suddenly everyone is campaigning.

In the days prior to the announcement a stream of goodies came forth from Toronto designed to please just about everyone -- renters, parents and small business to name a few. We must not forget the beer drinkers, either. Appartently the Tories plan to clear that little mess up forthwith. Another popular measure should be the news that Ontario Hydro plans to up its rates this year by a modest 3.6 per cent.

The universe is unfolding as it should.

Here at The Record we're anticipating the round of political meetings and visits from high profile out-of-towners that make the life of a reporter extra interesting.

Ontario voters have seen little of their new premier in his role as the province's head of government. Maybe we'll have the opportunity to know him better during the course of the next weeks.

Off the Record

Everywhere in the national press one reads a great deal of analysis speculating upon the direction to be taken by the new leader of all the Russias. Indeed, it is virtually impossible to escape this sort of news story and commentary at this time.

We therefore thought it incumbent upon us to compile our own thoughts on the matter, The Record never being a news voice to be outdone.

It seems at the outset that Mr. Gorbachev could very well aim at implementing some highly radical and liberal reforms in his country. This is probably indicated by the fact the British press thought he was the greatest foreign visitor they have seen in donkey's years. The British media were also impressed by Mr. Gorbachev's wife and her up-to-date wardrobe. Besides, the national press is wont to point out, Mr. Gorbachev is young, only 54.

It is our opinion that Mr. Gorbachev could possibly pursue the road to reform.

On the other hand, he could well follow another route. He could entrench the hard-line posture maintained by all soviet leaders toward the west since V.I. Lenin took over from the Czar. The reason for this is that Mr. Gorbachev is the protegee of one Yuri Andropov, former head of the KGB. And everyone knows you don't accede to that particular job by being a boy scout.

There you have it, reform on the one hand or hard line on the other. Either of these roads is likely to be followed by the new, young Mr. Gorbachev. Remember you read it here first.

Public input needed

Like many other Ontario communities Chesterville will in the near future boast a standards by-law. While a trend towards the introduction of such laws currently exists in the province there is a simpler, more pragmatic reason for going this route and the village council is showing initiative and leadership in preparing the steps.

The fact is that traditional funds for rural and urban municipalities are drying up at an alarmingly rapid pace. To obtain funding councils have to explore other avenues for help and this is what the Chesterville council is doing. So, too, are other municipal units in the area.

One major source for tapping is the Ontario Neighborhood Improvement Program (ONIP). To squeeze any available cash out of the Queen's Park mandarins local politicians are prepared to acquiesce with the rules of this program. Consequently, we need a standards by-law to qualify for money. To overlook this source of money would do a disservice to the community.

Whether or not the by-law is understood by taxpayers depends to some extent on the council's efforts to publicise the route being investigated and at some time in the future a public meeting to discuss a proposed standards by-law might not be a bad idea.

Wayne "Woody" LaPrade glances through his last edition of The Chesterville Record, following a 25-year career with the local newspaper, the last nine of them as advertising manager. Woody leaves The Record staff to devote full time to his photography business. Significance of the "30" on his shoes comes from newspaper parlance where "30" means "the end". It's the end of his 25-year career with The Record but the start of a new business career for "Woody". Record Photo - Riley

Give it your best shot, Woody!

We said a fond farewell last week to Wayne "Woody" LaPrade who has spent the past 25 years at The Record as a printer, as co-owner, as photographer and for the past nine years as advertising manager, and Mr. Everything.

"Woody" leave The Record to devote full time to his photography business which he started as a sideline a few years ago. His skills as a photographer have gained him acclaim not only in the Chesterville area, but throughout Eastern Ontario, and we are sure his fame and success will continue to grow in the years to come.

It was 25 years ago, in 1960, that Woody joined the staff of The Record to learn his trade as a printer and pressman under the tubelage of publisher and owner Keith Graham. In 1969 Mr. Graham sold The Record and its commercial printing business to Blake Feeley and Woody. In 1976 they sold the publishing section of The Record to St. Lawrence Printing Company Limited with Blake Feeley taking over as sole shareholder of the commercial printing business (Eastern Ontario Graphics Ltd.) and Woody joined the new publishers as advertising manager of The Record.

Over the past nine years the words advertising and "Woody" LaPrade have become synonomous in Dundas and neighbouring counties as his skills as a salesman combined with his artistic ability in layout and design have been an asset to The Record's many advertisers. In addition, much of the credit for the start and the success of the United Counties AgriNews is attributed to Woody's skills and energies as its advertising manager.

It will be a while before the voices at the other end of the telephone at The Record stop asking for Woody, but we know there are many voices out there who will be asking for Woody the photographer even to a greater degree than they are today.

We know the community joins us in wishing Woody LaPrade success in his own photography business, and we thank him for the 25 years he has devoted to The Chesterville Record and to the community.

Veteran advertising staffer Donna Rushford will be the senior advertising person for The Record and AgriNews, and she will be assisted by newcomer Shelley Marshall of Cornwall, a graduate of the school of graphic design at St. Lawrence College.

Every sign points to the fact that spring is here to stay, hard though it may be to believe. Yesterday Ralph Loucks brought into this office a bouquet of freshly picked dandelions gathered at his home that morning. Wednesday afternoon boys of the village took their first plunge of the season in the Nation at Hughes Bay.

Last evening at 6:25 smoke rolling out of a store room at the rear of the Kearns three story block on Main Street had every indication of a serious blaze. Leo Gallagher from a window in his apartment on the second floor of the Kearns block noticed a heavy curl of smoke coming from the back part of the building and turned in an alarm.

The Farmer's Wife

by Wyn Thompson

"Did ya know Canadians are a dull, boring lot?" Sam asked as he came through the kitchen door.

"How come?" I replied, as I put the kettle on to boil before Sam reminded me that he always enjoyed a cup of tea brewed by someone else.

"Was just readin' last night that some fella said it and more'n that he blames our loss in tourist trade to that very fact too," he continued, warming to his subject.

"That's silly," I replied. "I expect that it's attributable to the fact that so many people are unemployed and those that aren't are getting as much mileage out of their money as possible, so are opting to holiday where they can get the best currency exchange... besides, who in their right minds would come to Canada, particularly eastern Ontario, in March?"

"You may be right," he conceded.

"Sam, are you ill?" I enquired, "I've never known you to concede so easily."

"Naw, I ain't ill," he replied.

"Besides, Sam, maybe they have a point. "One can't be very bright and stimulating when one has to live through eight months of cold and ice, followed by a couple of months of slightly moderating temperatures, plus one month of sunny, hot summer weather if you're lucky, before being plunged downward again toward the winter season of ice and cold," I waxed eloquent.

"Can't argue with that...the missus sent me over to borrow some allspice...have ya got any?" he continued.

"Believe I do, Sam." I searched the spice shelves. "Not many people use it today. I only use it for a special molasses spice bread I make. Oh, here it is!"

I poured some into an empty jar and Sam swung off across the fields. No doubt he'd been after the missus to make him some special dish he'd taken a fance to, special dish he'd taken a fancy to, magazine. Baking was not one of the missus's favorite hobbies although she set an ample board three times a day. Her interests lay in plants and gardening and fine needlework. A fascinating character, in her own right, and one which never failed to buoy your spirits with her lively and most interesting views, served with a cup of fine tea and a currant scone.

After Sam and his allspice departed, I went for apples. Lady accompanied me. We slithered carefully out over the concession road to the orchard owners.

"An early spring?" I said.

"Oh, I don't know," he replied, "but it's nice to see the snowbanks cut down."

"Right," I agreed.

"As long as it doesn't get carried away and bare the fields and start the growth too soon," he continued, "for we're bound to get cold days and frosty nights yet," he concluded.

We slithered back over the concession road and home. Irish bounded down the lane to meet me, then bounced ahead of us until we stopped at the garage door. "Puddle-wonderful weather," she beamed.

"I describe the weather a little differently," I told the Farmer over lunch. "As far as I am concerned, it's wet fur and muddy paw weather."

And still it rained. And still, day after day, the raindrops beat upon our sodden roof. Night after night the Farmer and I lay in bed listening to the whisper of rain-water against our windowpane.

Morning after morning we looked to the east to find no sun at all, to see a dawn that was no dawn at all but a sullen changing of the blackness of night to the grey of another day.

"Wretched weather," I said to a friend.

"Oh yes," she replied, "but we have to get through this every year to get to spring."

What a wonderfully positive attitude!

So on this day of wind and rain, I decided to poke around the attic. An attic is a beautiful and saddening place for everything is there that you don't know what to do with, and yet you feel is too good to throw away.

And I am a hoarder. I admit it. A room has to get to the stage that I can hardly get through it before I am disposed to think of throwing anything out. And then what I usually do is move it to another place or store it in the attic.

Now I have not inherited this trait from my mother for she goes on the assumption that if she didn't need such and such a thing for a year, she probably never will.

I look at some bits and pieces of old furniture. I look at them lovingly and think I can't give them away because if you give something away, it has to be in perfect condition.

I sit down with two old boot boxes of very old photographs on my knee. They are people I do not know but they must be our relatives or else why would I have them? I spend a couple of hours wondering who this one and that one is. In the end, I pack them all carefully back in the boxes.

A voice yells, "Anyone home?" I recognize my daughter-in-law's voice as I clamber down from the attic. I tell her that I have spent an afternoon sorting out things in the attic.

"I just came in to ask you if you'd be interested in having a lawn sale this spring, as we have so many things we have to dispose of and yet they are too good to take to the dump," she finished brightly.

Now where have I heard that line before? I did not express my thoughts on the subject but simply straightened my shoulders and said in a good firm voice," I most certainly am interested in having a lawn sale so let us co-operate in this venture. It will be twice the fun."

She agreed and left after sharing a coffee with me. Is that ever the best idea of '85, I decided for my daughter-in-law is no procrastinater. With her spearheading this adventure it will surely get done.

Spring is on the way and the time of yard sales is at hand, I merrily hum.

Dam heaters on blink

BERWICK (Staff) - The Chesterville dam's gain heaters, used for only two weeks a year during the spring break-up are starting to fail on a regular basis, according to officials of the South Nation Conservation Authority.

The heaters, embedded into each of the gains in the dam are shorting out as a result of water and ice on top of the dam, general manager Jim Windsor said at last week's meeting of the SNRCA executive.

The heaters have cost the authority $2000 to repair so far this season. There are 48 on every one of the dam's five bays.

"We've tried sealing them with silicone but the concrete of the dam expands and contracts at a different rate from the metal," Mr. Windsor explained. Executive member Larry Grey commented "it seems to me this has been a problem since the dam was built." Mr. Windsor noted that "this year we want to build up the base with concrete so water doesn't get into the heaters."

There are two of these heaters in each gain. A gain is the u-shaped space the logs fit into.

In other business at the regular March meeting members were told the provincial and federal governments are winding down several of their summer employment program. However, the Experience program run by the province will allow the authority eight or ten students over the summer months. The program ends this season. The Canada Works program ends in April and Ontario Youth will be completed in the fall of 1985. The authority is considering hiring help under the Challenge '85 program in which the government pays two-thirds of the students' wages. Dr. Larry Grey of Winchester was elected to head the finance and personnel committee of the authority. He held the post in 1984 also.

North Dundas News

By Caren Wu
and Dani Gryspeerdt

It's elusive - the feverishness has crept in somehow. Perhaps it's a lull, a certain restlessness that has become apparent? The instant uproar at the sound of glass in the cafeteria, initiated of course by the mature senior students, the sudden emergence of sweat suits, and neon wardrobes, and the always-interesting and never-boring appearance of more lovebirds in paradise - all are evident. Could it be? Well, yes! it's spring, of course.

Last Wednesday, the student body was hit with a computer match-up quiz. Part a money-making venture, part out and out curiosity, a questionnaire, set up by the student council, was sent out to be answered by all students. Put through a computer, it would produce a list for each student denoting ten other students, hopefully of the opposite gender, who would theoretically be perfect matches for him or her.

Still reeling from the shock, some students opted to pull their names from the lists for personal reasons while others eagerly and vindictively filled out questionnaires for absentees. No student is compelled to buy their results, but as this type of curiosity is rampant, the prospects look good. As an incentive any student showing up with someone on their list at the next dance will get a discount. So till then, vive la difference!

On the topic of computers, Mr. Bowen, one of our resident computer science teachers, has enlisted a team of four students to enter the Ecoo Program contest held in Toronto this weekend. These computer junkies will compete against other school boards in problem-solving and, hoepfully, will graduate to the Ontario finals. In any case, we hope they have a wild time, and we wish them computing luck!!

As the Easter weekend approaches and the promise of chocolate bunnies is eagerly awaited, there is a unanimous dread among Mr. Chiarot's grade 11 English students who must have their Canadian literature essays submitted by that time. Senior students' hearts bleed to the tune of violins for them as they observe them frantically scramble for words while the younger grades, among all the hype, have come to know fear. Of course, as in years gone by, Mr. Chiarot has again been predicting 70 degree F weather for the long weekend and will undoubtedly be making his yearly pilgrimage to his cottage.

Last week saw an unprecedented birthday celebration in honour of Bach. It was his 300th birthday and the music department was ecstatic. Initiated by a morning announcement from Mr. St. Louis, NDDHS, music teacher, his music classes' revelry included playing Bach's music and eating birthday cake. Who says classical music can't be fun?

Yes, friends, spring is finally here.

BERWICK (Special) - The 4th meeting of the Berwick Baking Buffs was held at the home of Barbara Ann Glaude March 11.

The members split into groups with three making apple chiffon cake, three making peanut butter cupcakes and two working on an experiment.

The cake and cupcakes both turned out well. The cake was eaten immediately and the cupcakes were saved for the 5th meeting when we will be decorating them.

The 5th meeting of the Berwick Baking Buffs was held at the home of Barbara Ann Glaude March 14.

Members discussed the bake sale and decided it would be held at 1:30 March 30 at the Berwick Community Hall. It was then decided the sale would be open to the WI at 1pm.

We then decorated the peanut butter cupcakes from meeting 4. Everyone was pleased with the end results. The meeting was adjourned.

Seniors hear crime prevention talk

LUNENBURG (Special) - About 45 members of the Happy Seniors Club No. 621 of Lunenburg and Newington met in the C.E. Centre, March 7 at noon for a casserole and salad lunch which was greatly enjoyed.

The business conducted by president Fred Burtoft and assisted by secretary Mildred Hillis, started with "O' Canada", with Wilhemina Cleary at the piano.

Minutes were read and approved, roll call was read and responded to. Thank you letters were read. An invitation from Northfield Seniors was received for March 20. It was accepted, weather permitting.

The lunch committee reminded those who were to help for April meeting. "God save the Queen" closed the business.

The programme committee of Mrs. Elva Nugent, Jean McLean and Gladys McLean then took over. Mrs. Nugent introduced Cpl. Bernie Gadbois of Long Sault Provincial Police who spoke and showed a film on crime prevention for seniors and answered questions. This was greatly appreciated with a show of hands.

Mrs. Colleen McLean was introduced by Mrs. Gladys McLean. She spoke on ceramics and had a terrific show of these on hand, which everyone enjoyed.

Dundas farmers recognized

Several local farmers were honored last week at a meeting of the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association. Association chairman Keith Smith (left) presents Stanley Vanden Bosch (centre), a cash crop farmer in Chesterville, and Bill Hardy, an Inkerman seed producer, with plaques in recognition of their good soil management. Not present at the meeting, but also receiving plaques, are Martin Verberg of Iroquois and Ray Como of Winchester.

Technology worth the price

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Buying a radio and a rain gauge are one of the best investments a farmer in this region could make, said University of Guelph agri-climatology manager Brad Schneller at the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association meeting last week.

Mr. Schneller said local radio stations are doing their best in relaying weather reports, but the service doesn't meet standards of other areas and a farmer could help himself by getting into the weather business. The need for more immediate reports becomes evident when farmers in an area look out their windows and see the weather forecast for them isn't happening.

Eastern Ontario farmers now rely on two morning reports from Montreal while counterparts in Southern Ontario have the benefit of afternoon updates. To help bridge the gap, Mr. Schneller urged farmers in this area to buy radios to pick up a frequency from a weather station at Camp Fortune near Ottawa. Reports are continuous and can be heard with a special crystal-controlled received. Reception is dependable within an 80-kilometer radius and Schneller said future plans will include several more repeater stations to cover the entire area.

Radios for the station, which operates on a frequence of 162.40 megahertz cost about $75.

With improved reports, farmers will have better insight into the continuous elements in nature, but the discontinuous also play a large role and require monitoring as well. Though there is always a certain temperature level, it isn't always raining. Daily decisions to be made on the farm can be more accurate if the weather data are collected on the farm, not at weather stations miles away.

Mr. Schneller hopes to get local farmer interested in measuring rainfall so officals will have accurate recordings from every area in the province. Bob Humphries (Dundas agricultural representative) said rain gauges will soon be available at the Ministry of Agriculture office in Winchester for about $5.

The site selected for the gauge can make the difference between a useless instrument and a valuable one. Wind can cause the greatest amount of error in rain-gauge readings so it is recommended the gauge be placed where obstructing objects are numerous, though not too close to the gauge.

For practical purposes, the gauge should be placed in a location which is accessible to the farmer; near a path or roadway used daily in trips to the barn. Attached to a small post, the gauge should sit about one metre above the ground, high enough to avoid splashing and low enough that it isn't affected by wind.

For consistent readings, the farmer should record any changes in precipitation once a day. For the months of April through October, observations should be recorded between 5pm and 8pm, or early each morning if more practical.

In addition to amount of rainfall, the weatherman should record type of shower (light, moderate or heavy) and whether the rain affected work that day. Factors such as hail, heavy winds and crop conditions can also be recorded, making the report more complete.

At month's end, a copy of the totals can be submitted to the local OMAF office.

Mr. Schneller closed by stating the records of weather make a good companion to the financial and production records a farmer must keep. Once a habit is developed, the daily observations become easy and provide solid facts to replace memory.

Veterinary Club elects executive

WINCHESTER (Special) - The first meeting of the Dundas Veterinary Club was held Tuesday, March 19 at the OMAF boardroom in Winchester. The executive for 1985 is as follows: president, Steven Schneckenburger, vice-president, Mike Farlinger; secretary, Heather Thom; press reporter, Carol Johnson.

This years' topic will be Respiratory Diseases: members will study the normal cow and various ailments.

Need better weather reports

MOUNTAIN (Staff) - For local dairy farmer Dave Bryan, modern technology has been worth the price.

Since he installed a complete system of computerized feeding and milking management at his farm on Highway 43 two months ago, Mr. Bryan says he has saved himself and his family an hour's extra work every day at milking time.

He is quick to counter the argument that computer technology is too costly for many farmers.

"It seems to me that for everything that is modern and seems to work well for the dairy farmer, price seems to be the criterion," he said. "We're into the day of the computer whether we like it or not."

Bryan and his wife Carol hosted about 300 visitors at an open house last Wednesday. Visitors included Dr. Jack McAllister of the Ottawa Experimental Farm, and a number of non-farmers who were interested in the uses of computers on the farm.

"There was a great amount of interest," Mr. Bryan said. "I was glad to see all segments of the industry here."

The computerized system is a complete dairy management tool, which closely monitors both feeding and milking.

There are six milk meters located in the milking parlor which measure the daily milk production of each cow. The meters also detach the milker from the cow when a predetermined flow rate has been reached, in order to prevent over-milking.

Data from the meters if fed directly into a computer. The computer produces a readout after each milking listing every cows production and noting any deviation from her average production. These changes alert the farmer to the onset of heat or an illness or other problem.

The milking system goes hand in hand with a computerized feed monitoring system.

Special tags are used to identify each cow by number at one of three feeding stalls. The computer records the amount an individual cow has eaten in a given day and the composition of the cow's feed, which varies according to the level of milk production. The rations are dispensed automatically in small portions throughout the day.

"The whole advantage of a system like this is you can customize the feed for each one," Mr. Bryan said.

The computer can also produce a list of cows which have eaten less than a certain percentage of their allotment for the day, he added.

"This is an excellent management tool in that with the two of them (milking and feeding systems) you can tell right away when there's a problem with any cow," Mr. Bryan said.

The ability to measure the milk production of any cow automatically takes the place of the old method of physically weighing the milk in the pail.

According to Mr. Bryan, the accuracy of the milk meters in such that in four milkings the total output recorded by the computer was within 10 to 15 pounds of the amount actually contained in the bulk tank -- which has a capacity of 9,400 pounds.

Mr. Bryan, who has been farming for 17 years, milks an average of 75 to 80 cows daily. The milk meters, which automatically detach when a preset milk flow rate has been reached, have saved him over an hour a day in wasted milking time. The savings will translate to 400 hours or more per year, he said.

Eliminating the problem of over-milking will have other benefits as well. "In the long term, I'm sure that's going to mean better udder health."

The system he uses was produced by the Dairy Equipment Co. of Madison, Wis. The components are sold by Boumatic Milking Systems, through Dundas Agri-Systems of Brinston.

Jr. Flyers advance to league finals

Flyers' players celebrate after defeating the Russell Lions 3-2 Tuesday to take a 3-1 game lead in the Jr. C semi-final series. The Flyers went on to clinch a berth in the finals Friday with a 5-4 victory. The Flyers will meet the winner of the St. Isidore-Embrun matchup.
Record Photo - Riley

RUSSELL (Staff) - Defenceman Carl Bartholemew came through with two goals and an assist on Friday night to lead the Chesterville Junior C Flyers to a 5-4 win over Russell Lions and to give the Chesterville team the semi final playoff series four games to one.

Friday night's game in Russell was almost a case of a large number of fans journeying to Russell to watch a fight and were then pleasantly surprised when a hockey game broke out in the second and third periods.

Russell took a 2-0 lead in a fight-filled first period that saw Michel Houle of Russell pick up two game misconducts, one for picking up a five minute major for spearing and one for a five minute major for fighting.

Chesterville's Rene Boulanger joined Houle in the dressing room for the rest of the game when he picked up a fighting major and the automatic game misconduct. The referee called 16 penalties in the first period with the host team getting nine of them.

Mick Michaud opened the scoring for Russel with less than three minutes gone in the first period when he beat Grant Groves on a hard shot, unassisted.

Ray Vidal teamed up with Kevin O'Reilly on a power play with just 34 seconds left in the first period to give Russell a 2-0 edge going into the dressing room.

With Boulanger banned for the game in the first period, Chesterville was left with only four defencemen to finish the game, but according to coach Mike Armstrong his blueline corps, led by Carl Bartholenew, rose to the occasion.

Bartholemew started the Flyers on their comeback with five minutes left in the second period when he trapped a Russell clearing pass at the point and blasted a slap shot past Rob Somojllo from just inside the blueline.

Three minutes later, with just 2:42 left in the period, Mark Guy evened the score at 2-2 when he took a pass just inside the blueline from Vince Cousineau and Dale Simms, and caught the corner of the net on a long, low slap shot.

With just 26 seconds left in the period Guy got his second goal of the game to give the Flyers the lead, 3-2, for the first time in the game. The goal came on a power play with Terry Barkley and Vince Cousineau digging the puck out from behind the net and feeding it to Guy who scored on a low shot to the corner during the goal-mouth scramble.

Bartholemew gave the Flyers a 4-2 edge with less than two minutes gone in the third period when he took a relay back on the point from Sean O'Connor and Kevin Moore and scored on a slap shot while the Russell goalie was screened.

Richard Corlyon got Russell back in the game with about 10 minutes left to play when he combined with Chris Laviolette and Bill Bakker to set the score at 4-3.

What was eventually the winning goal, came off the stick of Carl Bartholemew after he took a pass at the point from Sean O'Connor. His blistering drive from the point hit Terry Barkley and bounced into the net, with Barkley getting credit for the goal.

With the score at 5-3, and facing elimination from the semi final playoff round, Russell coach Moe Robinson pulled his goalie with 1:54 left in the game, in favour of an extra attacker.

Chesterville, however, forced a face-off in the Russell end and Samojllo had to go back into the net. He followed the play out of his end zone, however, and skated to the bench as the puck went over the Flyer blueline.

With the extra attacker, Russell was able to score and move the score to 5-4, with just 1:20 left on the clock. The goal was notched by Mick Michaud, his second of the game, when he snapped a shot past Grant Groves in the Chesterville net after being fed the puck from along the boards by Jeff McDougall and Bob Goodman.

The Chesterville defence and forecheckers were able to keep the Russell attack stifled in the centre ice area for the final minute of the game and preserve the 5-4 win.

Speaking over the din coming from the Flyers' dressing room as the players celebrated the team's first-ever semi final series win, coach Mike Armstrong stated with a smile on his face..."we're obviously happy"...

"The players," he said, "gave 110 per cent the entire series and in this game they gave all they had."

He pointed out that the team's hard work had given them two of their wins on Russell's ice, and noted that Russell ended the season tied in points with Embrun for the league lead.

He also had words of praise for his defencemen, especially Carl Bartholemew, who scored two goals and set up the winner in the final game of the series.

"The defence had to pick up extra ice time in the second and third periods after Rene's misconduct," he said, "and they took up the challenge and won."

The Flyers will meet the winners of the Embrun-St. Isidore semi final round for the league championship.

Wait for winners of 72-Eagle series

(Staff) - The Chesterville Flyers, after eliminating Russell Lions in their semi final round, await the winner of the Embrun-St. Isidore series, for the league championship.

The winner of this series will be decided tonight (Wednesday) in Embrun. The league winning Embrun 72's lead this best of seven series 7-5 on the strength of three wins and a tie.

As of last Wednesday St. Isidore led the series 2-1, but Embrun came through last Wednesday night in St. Isidore with an 8-1 win to tie the series, and then on their home ice on Friday night they downed the Eagles 5-1.

St. Isidore battled Embrun to a 3-3 tie on Sunday in St. Isidore to set the stage for the final game tonight. If Embrun wins, they win the series at the end of regulation time. If St. Isidore wins, the teams will play overtime until a game and series winner is declared.

If Embrun wins the series they will have home ice advantage over Chesterville and action will probably get underway Friday night, with the second game slated for Chesterville next Tuesday. If St. Isidore wins Chesterville will have home ice advantage for the final series which will likely get underway at the Chesterville Arena next Tuesday night.

Go for the gold!

Sr. volleyball crown for Tagwi

KEMPTVILLE (Staff) - Tagwi Senior and Junior Girls Volleyball teams proved to both themselves and a highly emotional crowd, that they could capture the A Schools' EOSSA tournament at North Grenville District High School in Kemptville, last Wednesday and Thursday.

There were six teams in both the Senior and Junior Round-Robin Tournament. These were divided into three teams for a Pool A and a Pool B. The teams that came up with the most victories went on to the semi-finals, and then to the finals.

Early Wedneday, the Tagwi Jrs. were off to a slow start in the first game, to narrowly lose to Rideau 15-11 and 18-16. In the second match of the day the team came alive, comfortably putting away Bayridge 15-9 and 15-8. This win advanced Tagwi to the semifinals in Pool B against Vankleek Hill with a 15-8 and 15-9 decision.

Coach Joseph Stelmach felt the victory was due to, "the fine offensive and defensive play of Gaby David, Kim Benoit, Leslie Phillips, Tracy Buchanan and the power spiking of Verna Schwartz, Judy Bender and Heidi Hollingdrake."

With Tagwi Jrs. maintaining their strength with excellent defensive play and spiking attack, they edged Rideau to a 16-14 and 15-13 to clinch the EOSSA title.

Tagwi Seniors began the tournament on Thursday, with an easy 15-2 and 15-7 victory over Sharbot Lake. In the second game the girls had to give an extra effort to defeat Bayridge, winning, 15-7 and losing a close second match 16-14, then sealing the win 15-6 to match up with Carleton Place in the semifinals.

The Srs., having difficulty pulling their form together in the first match, allowed Carleton Place to capture a 15-10 win. The desire of the Sr. girls was evident in the second game, blanking their opponents 15-0. In the third they etched their way into the finals with a match score of 15-13.

The situation threatened to errupt again as it did in the semifinal match, the team losing in the first game 15-9 to Casselman. The Srs. were obviously not affected by the loss with Kelly Conroy and Tracy Hollingdrake blocking and spiking anything that came their way. And with the help of teammates Kelly Campbell, Cindy Schwartz, Sandy Phillips and Vivian Franklin setting up they made the needed come back with a 15-8 win in the second game. With a game each Tagwi was on the ropes. However the Srs. proved to be the superior team winning the game to capture the EOSSA title, as tears of happiness were shed.

While the action seemed to be all on the court, Coach Diane Law and her assistants were busy off the court as well. Statistics of the opposing players weaknesses and strengths were being recorded to aid Tagwi's team in setting up ideal offensive plays.

Said Coach Law, "it helps the girls to key in quickly on where and how the ball is to be placed, being busy on the performance of my own girls we are able to collaborate our information and form a strong team both offensively and defensively."

Coach Law believes that while it's important to be your best physically it is equally important to maintain themselves academically. These girls have proven to be both.

The Seniors will now represent our area at the OFSSA "A" Senior Championship at Kapuskasing District High School, March 28, 29, 30 in which the team has an opportunity to win either a gold, silver or bronze medal.

Winchester Oldtimers take Chesterville hockey tourney

(Staff) - Winchester blanked Chesterville 2-0 in the A series final and Metcalfe swamped Dunbar 8-1 in the B series final to take the two trophies at the Chesterville Oldtimers hockey tournament here on Saturday.

To get to the final round Chesterville took a 5-2 decision over Dunbar in the opening game of the tournament, and then outscored Spencerville 5-1 to reach the championship game.

Winchester's route to the championship saw them blank Metcalfe 3-0 and edge Harvex of Kemptville 3-2 before meeting Chesterville.

In the B series games Dunbar drubbed Berwick 10-4 and Metcalfe scraped by Osgoode 2-1 in order to get to the finals.

The opening game of the tournament saw the Chesterville Oldtimers build up a 5-0 lead in the first three periods before Dunbar scored two goals late in the third period in the 5-2 win. Sharing the scoring for Chesterville were Mike Coyle, Les Holmes, Rick Cormier, Rick Barkley and Doug Cheney. Dunbar's goals were by B. Hallam and J. Bailey.

Rip Lannin led the Chesterville attack in their second game against Spencerville when he notched two goals in the 5-1 victory. After a scoreless first period Chesterville got goals from Rip Lannin and Rae Imrie for a 2-0 second period lead. Spencerville closed it to 2-1 early in the third period, but then the host team came back with three goals late in the period by Rick Cormier, Lannin and Rick Barkley.

In the final game against Winchester, a 2-0 loss, Winchester got a second period, unassisted goal from Reg Hyndman and an empty net goal from Owen Shortt with just 20 seconds left in the game for the victory.

In the quarter round draw in the consolation series, Dunbar got three goals from J. Bailey and two each from K. Cooper, B. Gunnell, and C. McBain to lead them to a 10-4 win over Berwick. Tallying for Berwick were Winston Dingwall with a brace and Len O'Donohue and Ron Dingwall with one each.

Nestle puts up tough battle but lose IHL semi to Hydro

(Staff) - Hydro set the stage for the final-best-of-five series to decide the Winchester and District Industrial Hockey League championship on Monday night when they eliminated Nestle in the semi finals to earn the right to play off against Winchester Cheese.

With the series tied at one game each going into the deciding game on Monday night, Hydro came on strong with three overtime goals to drop Nestle 7-4.

Nestle showed surprising strength in post-season play. They won the first game of the series 5-1, then lost 4-2, and battled on even terms with Hydro for three periods in the final game.

In fact, the local team built up a four goal lead in the first period to give the league-leading Hydro squad a scare, but didn't have the legs to hold on for the victory.

Pat Kelly opened the first period scoring spree for Nestle with 11:22 gone in the period when he connected on a play set up by Wayne Dillabough and John Elgar. With 7:35 left in the period Pat Imrie combined on a play with Doug Shay to widen the lead to 2-0.

Dan Clement, with the first of his two goals of the game, widened the lead to 3-0, beating goalie Kevin Baldwin on a play engineered by Dave Cross and Reg Beckstead. His second goal came with just six seconds left in the period when he intercepted an errant Hydro pass and walked in on Baldwin to score, unassisted.

Nestle's 4-0 lead held until midway through the second period when Terry Kittner finally got a shot past Dan Hogaboam in the Chesterville net. He was set up on the play by Dean McIntosh and Lee Taillefer.

Hydro found their legs in the third period and started pecking away at the Nestle lead. The score was narrowed to 4-2 at 9:27 with Rudy Grisel getting the goal, and then Peter McIntosh put Hydro to within striking distance with just 3:24 left in regulation time when he scored, unassisted, to make it 4-3.

The Nestle squad fought hard to hold on to their 4-3 lead in the final two minutes, but with just 10 seconds left in regulation time Dean McIntosh became the series hero when he scored in a goal mouth scramble after the puck had been fed to him from Terry Kittner and Keith McRoberts.

The 4-4 score held for the first 11 minutes of overtime when Dave Tait broke the deadlock and scored what proved to be the winning goal. He was set up on the play by Dean McIntosh, who also assisted on the goal that made it 6-4, scored by Pete McIntosh with just 2:28 left in the game. Rod Bowman got Hydro's final goal of the game making it 7-4 at the 46 second mark when he scored into an empty Nestle net.

Dunbar Panthers win broomball title

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Dunbar Panthers clinched the Winchester Broomball League championship on Sunday night with a 1-0 win over Finch to give them the best-of-three championship round two games to none.

Dunbar won the opening game of the playoffs last Sunday night 2-1.

In Sunday night's action the Panthers got a goal from Frank Heerkins with 10:42 left in the first period and then hung on for the 1-0 win. Assisting on Heerkins goal was linemate Garry Gallinger.

Finch had plenty of chances to even the score in Sunday night's tilt as they had seven powerplay opportunities, but couldn't get the ball through the Dunbar defence or past goalie Wayne Pitt. Game officials assessed the Panthers nine penalties and Finch drew three in the playoff game.

Dunbar Panthers claimed the 1984-85 Winchester and District Broomball League championship Sunday night in Winchester nipping the former champs from Finch 1-0. The Panthers also finished first during the regular season winning 19 of their 20 games. Guy's unassisted goal gives Flyers narrow victory last Tuesday

(Staff) - John Guy scored an unassisted goal with three minutes left in the final period to give the Chesterville Junior Flyers a 3-1 lead which they narrowly held onto to down Russell Lions 3-2 here last Tuesday night and increase their semi final playoff lead to 3-1.

After Guy scored what proved to be the winning goal, Russell brought the score to 3-2 with just 1:59 left in the period and had the Flyers on the ropes in the final 30 seconds of the game when they gained a one-man advantage after having the Flyers penalized for an illegal stick.

Russell took the lead in the first period on a goal by Bill Bakker with Chris Laviolette collecting the assist, while Steve Craig was serving a minor penalty for the Flyers for holding.

Mark Guy evened the score at 1-1 two minutes later with only three minutes left in the period when he finished off a scoring play from Kevin Moore and Darren Kelly.

Both teams played a rough, tight-checking second period and kept each other off the scoreboard but not out of the penalty box. The Flyers collected six penalties, including a fighting major and a misconduct to Rene Boulanger, while the Lions had four second period penalties with Nolan Dalman receiving a fighting major and a misconduct for the altercations with Boulanger.

The teams settled down to hockey in the third period, however, with the teams being called for only three minor penalties each. The situation threatened to errupt again at the final whistle when Michel Houle was called for cross checking, but officials were able to keep the combatants separated.

Terry Barkley put the Flyers ahead 2-1 with 8:12 gone in the final period when he combined with winger John Guy and defenceman Vince Cousineau for the goal. The winner was scored with 3:29 left in the game by John Guy.

Bill Bakker scored his second goal of the game for Russell with Chris Laviolette picking up his second assist of the game, when the Lions narrowed the score to 3-2 with less than two minutes left on the clock.

The referees called 23 penalties in the rough contest with the Flyers picking up 13 of them.

Grant Groves, who had a hot game for the Flyers in Chesterville last Tuesday night after he replaced Greg Van Dellan in the nets at the end of the first period, got the nod to start Tuesday night's contest from coach Mike Armstrong, and turned in a strong performance.

Bantam B's win eastern section title

(Staff) - After squeaking by Winchester Bantams 2-1 in Chesterville on Friday night, the Chesterville Bantam B Flyers took control of the second game in Winchester on Monday night right from the opening face-off and scored a 5-2 victory to win the eastern section of the UCMHL.

They will now meet the winner of the western division, possible Brockville, to decide the overall district championship.

In the first game of the best-of-three series, Rod Casselman put Winchester in the lead midway through the first period when he steered a shot behind Steven Conley on a pass from Kevin Ball. This ended the Bantam Hawks scoring for the evening, however.

Joey Barkley evened the score at 1-1 with six minutes left in the first period, scoring on a play set up by David Grose. Both teams went scoreless until the final two minutes of the second period when John Mackler finished off a play started by Ross Giles and Mike Desormeaux for the winning goal.

The teams battled on even terms in the final period with Mike Swerdfeger in the Winchester goal and Steven Conley in the Flyers' nets turning in solid performances.

The Flyers took command of the second game in Winchester on Monday night fight from the outset and had a 3-0 lead before Winchester got onto the scoreboard.

Joey Barkley opened the scoring for Chesterville at 10:19 of the first period. Getting assists on the play were Bobby VanDelst and Kerry Irven. Two minutes later Ross Giles opened the lead to 2-0 when he scored on a play set up by Mike Desormeaux.

VanDelst made it 3-0 with 13:33 left in the second period when he took a clearing pass from goalie Steven Conley and went in alone to beat Mike Swerdfeger in the Winchester goal.

Winchester finally got on the score board with 6:53 left in the second period with Raymond Sherrer whipping in a pass from Todd Smith and Dennis Ouellette.

John Mackler got this one back for Chesterville with 6:47 left in the final period when he was set up by a pass from Shawn Beckstead.

With just 1:14 left in the game Winchester narrowed the score to 4-2 when Shawn Frame took a pass from David Hobson and beat Conley with a hard drive.

With just 47 seconds left in the game, and with Winchester trying to get back into the game, John Mackler took a holding penalty, giving the Flyers a man advantage. Winchester pulled their goalie to have a two-man advantage, but his backfired when Mike Desormeaux stole a Winchester pass and fed the puck ahead to Ross Giles who dumped it into the empty net for his second goal of the game and for the 5-2 victory.

Novices win Finch tourney

FINCH (Staff) - In the Novice Tournament held on Saturday, Jason Desormeaux opened the scoring halfway in the first period with two unassisted goals, giving Chesterville the early lead, for a 4-2 victory in the A Final against Finch.

Chesterville met Rockland in the first game of the tournament and doubled their score for a 4-2 victory. Rockland opened the scoring at the 4:39 mark in the first period. Then with less than a minute left on the clock Desormeaux scored unassisted by his team mates to even the scoring race 1-1.

Snapping the tie for Chesterville was Jamie Holmes, scoring early in the second period on a play set up by Ryan Wells. Then with a combined effort Rockland collected another goal tying up the match with two goals each.

Wasting no time, Chesterville regained the lead as Holmes provided the offensive punch and Wells notched a goal to break the 2-2 tie. Wells was on the move again in the third period and extended Chesterville's lead, making it 4-2, unanswered by Rockland.

In Chesterville's second game Desormeaux struck the decisive blow to edge Maxville to a 4-3 victory.

Chesterville got off to a good start in the game receiving three goals by the 4:58 mark in the first period. The first goal, scored a third of the way into the first period, was scored unassisted by Holmes. Then another unassisted goal came off the stick of Craig Beckstead leaving the score at 2-0. Desormeaux powered the Flyer's to a first period 3-0 lead with an assist from Clayton Bowman.

In the second period Maxville exploded, tying up the match with less than a minute in the period.

Desormeaux didn't let his team mates down as Alan Lynch set up the winning goal for the Flyers, and Desormeaux stopped it in.

Desormeaux opened the scoring in the first period of the A final game against Finch, with two unassisted goals halfway in the first frame. Finch then were on the comeback trail with a goal late in the first and another single early in the second period. Chesterville's Holmes passed the puck to Bowman for a goal in the last seconds of the second frame to snap the 2-2 tie. Extending the lead was Wells to secure the A Divison Tournament Championship for the Flyers in a 4-2 victory over Finch.

Atoms oust Hawks to win Eastern Div.

(Staff) - Chesterville Atom C captain, Keith Armstrong, led the attack with an eight goal explosion in the two-game playoff series against Winchester, giving the Chesterville team the Eastern Division Championship. The Flyers won the series with 6-3 and 8-1 victories.

Armstrong turned on the red light five times for Chesterville with two goals being unassisted. Desormeaux extended the lead with two goals and two assists and Shawn Steinburg added a single. Berwick ladies take lead

FINCH (Staff) - Berwick edged Finch 1-0 in the first game of the best of seven final series in Finch on Monday night.

On a power play goal Berwick took advantage of the short handed Finch team as Gale Smith set up the shot with less than a minute left on the clock in the second period. Joyce Vanier blasted in the screened goal. Despite the efforts of Finch, Berwick managed to keep their one goal lead. The series will resume in Finch Thurs., March 28 at 7:30pm.

PeeWees wind-up season

(Staff) - Chesterville PeeWee B Flyers finished a busy and successful hockey season under coaches Dale Marcellus and Bernie Harper last week with two playoff losses to a powerful Metcalfe team, which has gone through the season so far undefeated.

The Chesterville boys suffered 7-0 and 6-1 defeats last Thursday and Friday in their best of three, home and home series, for the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League eastern championship.

The 7-0 loss came last Thursday in Metcalfe and the 6-1 defeat came Friday night in Chesterville. Scoring the Flyers' lone goal in the series was Todd Marcellus with the assist coming on the play from David Harper.

Blues stretch lead with overtime win

(Staff) - Pat Imrie scored at 4:12 in sudden-death overtime to lift Blue to a 3-2 victory over Red Army in Chesterville Town League Hockey Monday night. Standings after the second game of the final series are now in favor for Blue, leading Red Army three points to one.

In the first game of the series Pat Moran gave Blue the early lead scoring two goals at the half-way mark of the first period. Dean Williams and Wally Vandekemp initiated the first goal as Moran pumped it in for Blue. Then another came off Moran's stick as Kerry Rowe set up the shot for the goal.

With an early 2-0 lead the over-confident Blue relaxed as Red Army returned the favor in the second period.

Early in the period Doug Nugent was on the offensive move setting up the play for a goal by Terry Kittner. Coming from behind to tie up the match with a goal was Red Army' Nugent on the attack again with a combined assist from team mate Lee Neilson and Dave Arnold.

No goals were scored in over time, leaving the game a draw with a point each in the series.

In the second game of the series played on Monday night there over time played again, but Blue's Pat Imrie sealed the win with a sudden-death overtime goal.

Blue opened the scoring with a goal late in the first period coming from Dean Williams with a shot in the net, assisted by Rod Bowman and Moran.

Red Army's Paul Wallace received a pass from Jim Tuttle and matched Blues goal at 2:40 left on the clock in the second frame.

Then it switched back to Blue in the second period as Greg Beckstead penetrated the puck past the goalie, making it 2-1 after the second frame.

Garry Beckstead evened the score for Red Army at 12:54 in the final period with a pass from linemate, Curtis McMillan.

Then in the nail-biting sudden-death over time the Blues edged the Red Army as Greg Beckstead and Lyle Servage got their act together from a pass to Imrie, who plugged in the winning goal.

Game three is on Wed., March 27 at Chesterville Arena. Game time is 7:30pm.
