ANNUAL MEETING, WILLIAMSBURG W. I.

The annual meeting of the Williamsburg branch of the Women's Institute, was held at the home of Mrs. Claude Casselman last week, with nine enthusiastic members in attendance. Mrs. Casselman occupied the chair, and several items of business were discussed. It was decided that the Institute would again look after the cemetery, and Mr. Stuart was re-appointed as caretaker. Mrs. Locke and Mrs. Axworhy were appointed to see Mr. Harvey McIntosh of Dundela, and to purchase from him sufficient trees to put around the grounds.

A program committee was appointed to look after the year's programs. It was decided to make the meetings more of a social nature, and a stipulation was made that only sandwiches and one kind of cake be served. The members will meet each month, so that no connecting link in the year's activities will be broken.

The president gave her report for the year, which proved interesting and beneficial to all.

The secretary's report was read, also that of the treasurer, and substantial balance was shown on hand. The other reports were well given and kindly received. Mrs. Trickey had once again most ably taken care of all the sick by sending cards during their illness.

The following were the officers elected for the year:
President—Mrs. Claude Casselman.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Ed. Casselman.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. M.W. Locke.
Secretary—Mrs. Jas. Macdonald.
Treasurer—Mrs. Jerry O'Brien.
Directors—Mrs. M. Whitteker, Miss Drake and Mrs. M.W. Locke.
Sick Committee—Mrs. M.O. Trickey and Mrs. J. Marcellus.
Cemetery Committee—Miss Violet Trickey and Mrs. Ed. Axworthy.

A vote of thanks was tendered the officers for their work during the year. Mrs. Jas. Macdonald and Miss iolet Trickey were appointed delegates to the district convention.

Mrs. Claude Casselman served a dainty lunch, which was greatly appreciated.

MR. EDWARD MARSHALL

A veteran of the Fenian Raid in 1867, and an aged and highly respected citizen of Morrisburg, in the person of Mr. Edward Marshall, died at his home on Thursday, May 9th, after having been confined to his bed for three months.

Mr. Marshall was born in St. Eustache, Que., on January 4th, 1850 and spent the early part of his life in his native town. When about 21 years of age, he moved to Gallingertown, where he successfully tilled the soil until about 23 years ago, when, after having accumulated considerable wealth, he retired in Morrisburg.

In 1880 he was united in marriage to Miss Hester Anne McNairn, of Gallingertown, who survives, with three sons, William of Detroit, Clare of Renfrew, and Pringle of Smiths Falls; and three daughters, Mrs. Fred Richards and Mrs. Ernest Harvey, both of Sexsmith, Alta., and Mrs. S.A. Henry, of Norbury, Sask. Mrs. W.A. Edwards, of Aultsville, another daughter, predeceased him on March 4, 1923. Mr. Marshall is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Andrew Kirk, of Three Hills, Alta.

During the years he spent at Gallingertown, Mr. Marshall served as an elder of Colquhoun Presbyterian Church, and for over 20 years has held the office of elder in Knox Church here.

The funeral was held at his late residence on Sunday, May 12th, at 1.30 p.m., service being conducted by Rev. J. Burkholder, assisted by the choir of Knox Church. Two favorite hymns, "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus", were rendered. The remains were placed in the vault in Mount Pleasant cemetery, to await interment.

The pall bearers, members of the Session of Knox Church, were as follows: Dr. Wm. Meikle, Messrs Matt. Beckstead, Geo. McIntyre, Robert Merkley and Walter Thom. Mr. Robt. Greer, also a member of the Session, was unable to act as pall bearer owing to illness, and his place was taken by Mr. Geo. Meikle.

The floral offerings included: Pillow from the family; Sprays: Mr. and Mrs. G.P. Marshall Mrs. J.J. McDonald of Smiths Falls, W.A. Edwards and family, Aultsville, a spray from neighbours, including Miss E. Gillespie, Mrs. E. MacLean, Mrs. H. Winstanley and Mrs N.M. Stuart; wreaths: Session of Knox Presbyterian Church, Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Church.

Among those from out of town in attendance at the funeral were: Mr. W.A. Edwards and family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McNairn, Mr. and Mrs. William Neill, Mr. and Mrs. M. Countryman, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gallinger, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards, all of Gallingertown; G.P. Marshall, Smiths Falls; Clare Marshall, Renfrew; Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall and family, Detroit.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Edward Marshall and family acknowledge with grateful appreciation the kind expressions of sympathy in their recent bereavement.

POPULAR TEACHER ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

(Napanee Beaver)

The citizens of Napanee heard with regret, last week, of the impending removal from the town of Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Eplettt and their family. Mr. Epplett has recently received the appointment to the principalship of the Morrisburgh Collegiate Institute, and will assume his new position at the beginning of the fall term.

Mr. Epplett has been mathematics specialist at the Napanee Collegiate for seven years. He came to the town from Iroquois, where he had held a similar position in the High School at that place. He is a graduate of Western University at London, Ont., which he attended after graduating from the school in his home town, St. Mary's. The school to which Mr. Epplett is going has just recently been erected. It is modern in every detail, and has a staff of six teachers.

The removal of the Epplett family means a distinct loss to the town of Napanee. They will be missed in many circles. Since its organization, some years ago, Mr. Epplet, who is member of Rotary, has been leader of the Napanee Boys' Band, which is one of the most worth-while projects of the Napanee Rotary Club. The success of the band is largely due to the musical ability and untiring efforts of the leader. Just recently the band, numbering twenty-six pieces, gave a recital in Trinity Church, which demonstrated the skill not only of the band as an ensemble but of individual members. Mr. Epplett's influence in athletics in the school is well known. He has shown a practical interest in the development of clean sport and sportmanship, which has done much for the boys with whom he came in contact. Along with his outside interests, he has a splendid record of achievement in his department in the school.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Epplett have been prominent members of St. Andrews United Church, where they have held responsible positions. Both have been members of the choir and Mrs. Epplett's splendid ability as a soloist has been well demonstrated in her many appearances on the concert platforms.

The citizens of the town, while regretting the removal of the family, look upon Mr. Epplett's appointment to this new position as a well deserved promotion.

MR. A. G. F. DREW

(Springfield, Mass., Republican)

Albert G.F. Drew, 93, of 52 Willard Ave., died at his home on Wednesday, May 8th. He was born at Duxbury, Vt., but had lived in this city for the past seven years. For 19 years he had been employed as a collector of customs for the Canadian government at Morrisburg, Ont. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Jennie Stacy Drew, and two daughters, Miss Mary and Miss Bessie Drew, all of this city. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery at Burlington, Vt.

MORRISBURG DRIVING CLUB

The first annual meeting of the Morrisburg Driving Club was held at the offices of the Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce, on Thursday May 16th, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Jonnie Zeron moved, and Mr. F.H. Vanallen seconded, that Mr. George D. Howith take the chair.

Mr. Howith then took the chair.

Election of Officers, 1935.

Moved by Mr. Jonnie Zeron, and seconded by Mr. F.H. Vanallen, that the following officers be elected for this season:

Honourary Patrons—The Honourable Mr. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier of Ontario; the Mayor of Morrisburg, Mr. Arthur Flynn; Dr. M.W. Locke of Williamsburg, Ont.; Mr. Charles Marselis and Mr. Charles Turner.

Honourary Vice-Patrons — Messrs Charles S. Colquhoun, David Henderson and C.C. Stubbs.

Honourary President and Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. George D. Howith.

Honourary Vice-President — W.A. McGannon.

Race Secretary—Mr. Ray Coligan.

Starter—L.D. Sheldon.

(Carried unanimously).

It was then moved and seconded that Mr. F.H. Vanallen and Mr. Jonnie Zeron be the Committee in charge of the track. It was moved by Mr. J. Zeron and seconded by Mr. F.H. Vanallen, that the Honourary Officers be in no way personally liable, and that the committee in charge of the Race Track will assume the full responsibility as to any liabilities.

It was moved by Mr. J. Zeron and seconded by Mr. F.H. Vanallen, that

a. The Spring Meet take place on June 3rd;

b. That the Honourary President and Secretary-Treasurer appoint Mr. Sheldon, of Gouverneur, N.Y., to act as Official Starter.

c. Should any surplus be left in the treasury after paying the purses and prizes, that it be held over in trust to cover purses and prizes for the Fall Meet, and that any amount over and above the purses and prizes be spent on improvements for the race track and its buildings.

(Carried unanimously).

The meeting then adjourned, and those present subscribed to the above minutes as members of the Morrisburg Driving Club: (Signed) J.W. Connors, A. McLatchie, J.O. Zeron, F.H. Vanallen, W.A. McGannon, Herb. Merkley, George D. Howith.

ARTHUR FLYNN Morrisburg, Ont

THE TUDOR HOUSE

By MRS. STANLEY WRENCH

(Author of "Sing for the Moon," Strange Lovers," etc).

"Well, if they sacked men, there must have been a reason," pursued Florrie. "What was wrong?"

"They got the wind up properly over that other car coming along, and tried to cut down expenses. However, thank goodness that's over. Multi-Motors is going strong again, and when the Chief comes back all this trouble will have died down."

"But everybody say's he's lost money. Didn't he speculate in the City? Weren't those stories true about his gambling, too?"

"Maybe they were true, and perhaps when he's back we shall find a tight hand again."

Back To Life

A Red Admiral flew from the clump of Michaelmas daisies to the tall sunflowers that heavily bowed, then back again to the mauve and purple blossoms, and Michael Borde pushed his invalid chair a little farther along the bricked path. Sunshine was good, his thin hands were no longer shaking as a month before, when for the first time he had propelled himself along here, looking wistfully down the Vale of the Red Horse. That month had been a busy one for him, too, for as soon as he found brain and body fit enough he had insisted upon seeing solicitors as well as works manager, and little by little began to lay fingers again on the pulse of his business.

It was extraordinary, too, how contact with working organisation acted as a tonic. Although crippled for some time to come unable to be moved, except on this same level, he found himself growing stronger every day, and if his doctors had allowed, would have occupied himself for longer time than he could now give to details dealing with organisation and output.

He watched the Red Admiral and sighed, counting up the months before he dare hope to be up and about again. Although both doctors were reassuring, they were firm upon that one thing, and for some time he must be content to stay here.

Turning now, hearing the sound of footsteps, he smiled faintly. Accustomed to Lily Eden's surveillance; accustomed, too, to her changed demeanour, he yet remained puzzled over many things. That he had been rescued by Daphne after his accident, he knew, that she was away in London he also knew, but exactly what position her step-mother occupied in this household he could not discover. To all his questionings Mrs. Eden shook her head and smiled.

"Ask no more questions, young man, and you'll hear no lies," she told him. "I suppose in her own good time Daphne will be back here."

"In her own good time. His heart sank, remembering the look in Daphnes eyes the day of his accident, remembering his own misery and heartache, the blundering mess into which he had been propelled by what he knew now was lack of judgment. Multi-Motors had been saved, but it would be by the skin of his teeth, as he termed it, that he could manage to get through this winter; those losses had been more heavy than he had realised, and consultations with his solicitors had determined him at last to do what they had urged from the start of their visits here.

He must part with Werburge Lucy. The house of his dreams would be his no more. Well, every man must pay for his folly. That afternoon the final settlement had been made.

"Fortunately, Mr. Borde, we can find a purchaser for it at once," said the senior partier. "That will release a sum which will enable you to tide over this very difficult period."

He was remembering this now as Mrs. Eden reached his side, a little flushed, a little excited looking. He wished fretfully she would not put stuff on her cheeks. Who cared whether she made up or not? Still, she was kind, and he was grateful for her kindness now. A feeling of loneliness ate into him. He would go no further. A minute ago he had meant to push his chair to the end of the brick path, from whence he could look down at the Tudor House.

"There's a visitor asking for you," she said, "I thought I'd run out and prepare you."

He was about to reply that he wanted no visitor, but something in her excited eyes gave him a clue, and his heart began to beat a little faster. It must be Daphne. Well, he was in her house, and he would remember gratefully she had taken him in. Perhaps she had stayed away because of him all this time. He must remember to be grateful for that, too. Curious to find his heart beating so fast.

"Who is it?" he asked quietly.

"I'll leave her to announce herself," she said coquettishly, and hurrying back, and although he heard other footsteps, Michael Borde did not turn his head. Instead he pushed his chair a few paces forward, and through the opening in the trees he could catch a glimpse of the twisted chimneys of the Tudor House in the valley.

A minute later she stood beside him.

"Michael," she said quietly. "I've come to ask you to forgive me."

He stared, turned, saw her eyes, and the unexpectedness of her words, coupled with the look in her face, took him unawares. Forgetting everything, he held out his hands, for a minute it seemed as though time stood still, as though all bitterness and heartache had never been, as though he and she had stepped back to a green garden, and life was as it had been when she had laid her hands in his and he had known what a woman's surrender and a man's longing meant.

NOVELTIES IN THE NEWS

By GAEL RENFREW in the Toronto Mail and Empire

Not so long since only newspapers recognized the value of novelty. It has taken the depression to make the business man enlist it as his main money-maker. Thus, on the basis of something bizarre in entertainment a recently opened restaurant in New York is meeting with phenomenal success. It is staging its "show" in the ceiling instead of on the floor!

Nightly, beginning at nine o'clock, a daring young girl, on a series of flying trapezes does her stunts fifty-four feet above the heads of the fascinated patrons.

And the reader's anxious enquiry is answered even before it is asked. There is a strong net to catch the flying figure should she miss her grasp. Besides, her turns are done principally over a cleared space high above the centre of the huge room. The restaurant, by the way, has taken its name from this vaudeville attraction. The building was formerly a millionaire's stable, hence its height, and the bare brick walls are something of a novelty after so much modernistic art elsewhere.

Another famous restaurant which has succeeded well enough to form a chain attracts the customers who like to see their dinner cook over enormous open fireplaces. The idea of gatering before a roaring hearth while the chicken is done to a turn is not only chummy, but a welcome change from the secrecy of hotel kitchens.

And there's the beauty parlor that is said to be serving cocktails to its customers while they submit to shampoos and permanents. Of course, no compulsion is practised on those who don't indulge. Ginger ale is on hand for the teetotalers!

New York is treated to the sight of a doll's house that is famous on two important counts: (1) It belongs to the actress, Colleen Moore, (2) it is valued at $435,000.

Manhattan Island is really being given a preview of this remarkable architectural feature, which is scheduled to tour the world. From the small fee charged to view it, Miss Moore hopes to build up a fund for the support of various crippled children's homes.

The doll's house is really a castle which Colleen has spent more than nine years in furnishing. It is 14 feet high, stands 9 feet square on its base and is set on a precipice. A study in costliness and perfection, it boasts such possessions as a gold pipe organ, pictures by celebrated artists, the rarest of woods and bronzes on a miniature scale, and diamond-studded electric light bulbs no bigger than wheat grains. It is presided over by a fairy princess who dances, sings, and curtsies.

"Man's enslavement to the most relentless master-passion, selfishness, envy, hatred, and revenge—is conquered only by a mighty struggle. Every hour of delay makes the struggle more severe."—Mary Baker Eddy.

WHAT DOES Your HANDWRITING REVEAL?

All Rights Reserved

Geoffrey St. Clair
Graphologist

A very interesting question comes to me in the mail, and because it is of considerable bearing on the possibilities of character reading from handwriting, I am dealing with it in this article.

My correspondent says: "If writing is so characteristic of the individual, why do the schools insist that the pupils imitate a copybook pattern? . . . I myself was an excellent copybook writer, but as soon as I was not forced to write in that way, I stopped and wrote in any old way. I must add that most of my friends who were also excellent copybook stylists at school, now write no better than I do".

It will be obvious that educational authorities cannot take every angle of things into their consideration. Their task, in regard to writing, is to teach the rudiments of it, and for this reason, they have to adopt a standard style. It is manifestly impracticable to attempt to teach hundreds of pupils to take but a single school, and yet allow them all to use their own systems.

It is the same with teaching people to write as it is in all other branches of learning. We must go from the simple to the complex.

The real essence of this question, however, lies in the confession of the correspondent. She admits that in spite of being an excellent copybook writer, once she was away from the arbitrary influence of that system, she reverted, probably gradually, to an individual style of writing. In other words, she gradually began to express her own individuality and character. This confession goes to the very heart of the value of Graphology.

Graphologists maintain, and prove the truth of their claims by the accurate character delineations they make, that handwriting is the hallmark of the individual's character; that people write in a certain way because their characters and natures are of a certain type, and they possess certain definite characteristics.

In spite of various systems and styles of writing, we all ultimately express our own individual style and in doing so, present a picture of our characters. It is because of this that a character reading of yourself from your handwriting can be so definitely helpful to you.

Would YOU like to have YOUR character analysed from YOUR handwriting? This well-known Graphologist can help you as he has helped so many others. And he may be able to help you to know your friends better. Send specimens of the handwriting you wish to be analysed, stating birthdate in each case. Send 10c coin for each specimen, and enclose with a 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Geoffrey St. Clair, Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. W., Toronto, Ont. All letters are confidential and will be answered as quickly as possible.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HOME AND SURROUNDINGS

The season approaches when every home-owner in Simcoe and the surrounding villages of Norfolk County should be giving thought to the beautification of his premises and thus to the improvement in appearance of his community. While horticultural work has enjoyed a tremendous boom in Norfolk in the last few years, there remains plenty of room for further development. Every unimproved or unplanted home can be made more attractive by the judicious use of trees, shrubs, flowers and well-kept grass. The old saying that a home is not a home until it is planted very well emphasizes the necessity and wisdom of planting.

Further, the progressiveness and thrift of a commodity or a municipality are often reflected in its appearance and the best advertising that any community can do is to present a pleasing, inviting appearance to the world — an appearance of prosperity and industry, reflected by well-planted and well-kept public and private gounds.

We are influenced to a greater extent than we realize by our surroundings. Childen are particularly sensitive in this regard. Surely a home in and around which flowers are grown is a better place to bring up children than a home where no attention whatever is paid to these friends of the plant kingdom. As the twig is bent the tree is inclined, is an old saying and very applicable in connection with the training of children. If children are taught to love flowers and to become familiar with them, their hearts will be filled with love for these things which leave less room in their hearts and minds for the things that hurt and destroy.

The objection is frequently heard that gardens and flowers cost too much or that they take too much time. The truth is that it is not so much a matter of money or time as it is of desire and disposition. If we are disposed to have gardens and flowers and really desire to have attractive home surroundings, we will have them no matter how busy we may be. Information as to suitable varieties for planting may be obtained from your local Horticultural Society or from the Ontario Agricultural College. The cost in any event need be only trifling and the amount spent on the nursery stock necessary to improve the average home will be found one of the finest investments that can be made. It will pay great dividends in satisfaction and will increase the value of your home.

Your individual efforts in making your home more attractive will improve your street and thus have a part in beautifying your community. Incidentally you will have helped to make a more beautiful Canada.—The Norfolk Observer.

ADD THESE TO YOUR KITCHEN FILES

Chicken Fricassee with Noodles

Three to 3½-lbs hen, flour, hot-boiled noodles, 3 quarts of boiling water, salt and pepper, shortening.

Method: Dress, clean and cut the chicken at joints in pieces ready to serve. Roll in flour, salt, and pepper, brown lightly in little shortening in a waterless cooker. Cover with the boiling water, simmer until tender, about 3 hours. Add more water if necessary to keep chicken covered. Thicken the gravy with flour and water paste. Place the hot noodles in centre of platter. Surround with the pieces of chicken, pour the rich chicken gravy over all.

Celery Fritters

One cup celery, chopped fine, 1 1-3 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2-3 cup milk.

Method: Mix and sift dry ingredients, beat egg, add milk and stir into first mixture. Add celery and drop by spoonfuls into deep, hot fat. Serve with tomato or celery sauce, or on the platter with the fricasseed chicken.

Apple Butter Puff Pie

Two egg yolks, beaten; 1 cup spicy apple butter, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons flour, marshmallows for top, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup chopped raw prunes, 2-3 cup scalded milk, 2 egg whites, beaten stiff; baked pie shell.

Method: Combine egg yolks, apple butter, lemon juice, flour, salt and prunes, add milk, stirring constantly, and cook over hot water until thick and smooth. Fold beaten egg whites into cooked mixture. Pour filling into a baked pie shell, place a ring of marshmallows, set close together around outer edge of pie, and one also in centre. Bake till marshmallows are browned, or brown them under broiler flame.

Curried Lamb
(with Rice Ring)

Two pounds lean lamb flank, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, 2 small onions, sliced, 1 teaspoon vinegar.

Method; Cut meat into small pieces. Mix flour, curry powder and salt and sprinkle over meat. Heat shortening, add onions and meat and cook until meat is browned. Cover with boiling water and add vinegar. Cover and cook for one hour. Serve in rice ring.

Baked Fish With Peanuts

Three tablespoons shortening, 3 tablespoons flour, salt, pepper, cayenne, 3 cups hot milk, 1½ cups flaked salmon, 1¼ cups peanuts, 3 hard-cooked eggs, fine biscuit crumbs.

Method: Blend shortening with flour, add salt, pepper and a few grains of cayenne. Stir in hot milk; cook over hot water. When thickened stir in the salmon, finely chopped peanuts and minced eggs. Turn into baking dish, cover with crumbs and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees Fahr.) for 15 or 20 minutes.

Tomato and Horse-Radish Sandwich

⅛ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup grated horse-radish. Sprinkle tomato slices with salt. Spread slices of bread with the mayonnaise mixture and place a tomato slice between.

Glazed Carrots

Carrots sliced ½ inch thick, Sugar, Butter, Salt and Pepper.

Method: Use Winter carrots, wash, scrape and cut them into ½-inch-thick slices. Boil till tender in unsalted water, drain and place in baking dish containing enough butter to cover the bottom. Sprinkle the carrots lightly with salt and pepper, and thickly with granulated sugar. Bake until glazed and brown, basting occasionally. In place of using sugar, the cooked carrots may be dipped in syrup before baking. Serve with crisply fried sausage.

Peppermint Stick Candy Cake

1 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup ground peppermint stick candy, 1 cup milk, 3 cups cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 6 egg whites.

Method: Grind peppermint stick candies through finest cutter in meat chopper. Cream shortening, add sugar and peppermint stick candy gradually, beating well. Add sifted and mixed dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with the milk, beating after each addition. Add flavoring and beat the cake batter hard for 3 minutes. Then add stiffly beaten egg whites, folding them in. Bake in 3 layers in moderate 375 degrees F. oven about 35 minutes. Fill with chocolate filling and frost with chocolate peppermint frosting.

Chocolate Filling

4 egg yolks, 3 cups sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ lb. chocolate, 2 teaspoons vanilla.

Method: Melt chocolate over hot water. Beat yolks until thick, add sugar, milk and butter, cook over flame and for 1 minute after it begins to boil. Add the chocolate and beat until the filling holds its shape. Add vanilla when nearly cool. This filling will keep soft indefinitely.

Nots: Use only half the recipe for this cake, because there is a separate frosting for it.

Chocolate Peppermint Frosting

2 cups confectioner's sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoon butter, few drops oil of peppermint, 8 tablespoons cream, 1 square bitter chocolate.

Method: Mix all together except the chocolate, and spread on the cake. Melt the bitter chocolate and spread on top of the white layer.

Salad Bulbs

Soak large prunes (3 to a serving)) and cook in a vinegar spice solution. Carefully remove stones, from the top, and refill with a mixture of cream cheese, nuts and mayonnaise. Stand up 3 prunes and hold together with a wide ring of green pepper. Stick slices of pickle into cheese to resemble "shoots" of a plant.

Lettuce Cream

Take 4 oz. of young and tender inner leaves of lettuce, break them into small pieces, place in sufficient boiling rainwater to cover, and leave until cold. Now pound to a pulp, and squeeze through fine muslin. To each tablespoonful of the liquid add 1 oz. lanoline and two teaspoons pure olive oil. Beat well for about five minutes in a bowl left standing in hot water, then pour into pomade pots.

Use a little of this cream each morning and evening after washing in water nicely warm, but not hot, followed by a thorough drying on a soft towel.

COLOR CONTRAST

Contrast in color, texture and taste is the keynote of a successful dinner.

Here's a dinner that, properly done, is as good to look at as it is to eat. It is composed of broiled baby flounder with lemon butter, buttered string beans and Long Branch potatoes, rhubarb shortcake.

In case you don't find baby flounder in your market choose any firm white fleshed fish. Even the small pan-fish found in fresh water will do.

Clean fish and wipe as dry as possible. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place in a well oiled broiler. Broil on flesh side first Then turn and broil on skin side just long enough to make the skin brown and crisp. When the flesh flakes easily the fish is done. To remove from broiler, loosen on one side, turn and loosen on the other and slip from broiler to hot serving plate. Serve with lemon butter.

Lemon Butter

Four tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Cream butter and slowly beat in lemon juice.

Long Branch Potatoes

Five cold boiled potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, ½ cup thin cream, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper.

Cut potatoes in very fine dice, not much coarser than for hash. Put into a shallow sauce pan, add cream and cook very slowly until nearly all the liquid is absorbed. Add butter, salt and pepper and parsley and put in a hot oven until slightly brown on top. Or you may slide the sauce pan under the broiling flame until bubbly and brown on top. Or transfer the potatoes to a baking dish when the butter and seasonings are added, brown the top and serve from the baking dish.

The rhubarb shortcake makes up the carbohydrate count.

Rhubarb Shortcake

One small bunch rhubarb, 1 cup sugar, 1½ cups flour, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup milk (about), 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Stew rhubarb in water to cover and when tender add 3-4 cup sugar and remove from fire. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and remaining sugar. Rub in butter and cut in milk to make a soft dough. Knead lightly on a floured molding board. Divide in halves. Roll one-half in a sheet to fit a small pie pan not more than seven inches in diameter. Spread with softened butter and cover with remaining half inch which has been rolled in a sheet to fit. Bake twenty minutes in a hot oven (400 degreesF.). When ready to serve, split and fill with half the rhubarb sauce. Cover with remaining sauce.

CHEESE DISHES

Bake Cheese and Bread

½ small loaf bread, ½ lb. cooking cheese, ½ teaspoon salt; ½ teaspoon paprika, butter as needed, 2 eggs, 1½ cups milk.

Cut bread as slices, spread with butter, pile one above another and cut in squares, cut cheese in thin slices. Put squares of bread and slices of cheese in baking dish in alternate layers, sprinkling each layer with salt and paprika. Beat eggs, add milk, mix and pour over bread and cheese. Bake very slowly until firm in the centre. Serve hot.

Eggs with Cheese

6 eggs, 6 tablespoons grated cheese, 6 teaspoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika.

Butter 6 ramekins and drop whole egg in each, add salt, paprika, a teaspoon of butter and cover with tablespoon of cheese. Place ramekins in pan of hot water (½ inch deep) and bake till eggs are set. Place under flame and brown quickly.

Fish and Cheese Timbales

1½ cups cold cooked haddock or halibut, chopped fine, 2 cups cream sauce, 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce, ½ cup soup stock, 3-4 cup grated cheese.

Make thick cream sauce, add worcestershire sauce and soup stock, mix with fish, place on stove and heat. Fill in well buttered ramekins or timbale forms. Sprinkle plentifully with grated cheese and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven in pan half filled with warm water. Serves 9.

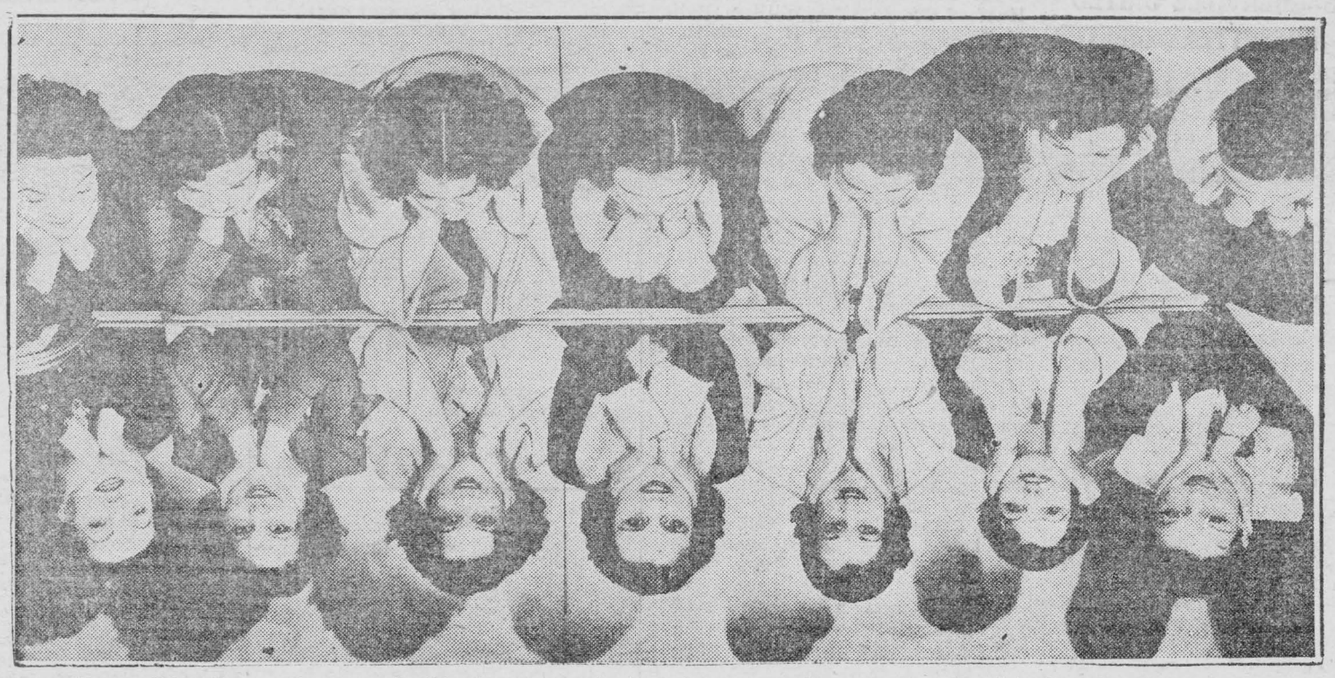

Cheese Straws

2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup flour, 3 tablespoons bread crumbs, pinch cayenne, ¼ cup strong grated cheese, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 egg.

Cream butter, add dry ingredients and mix all together with egg. Roll thin, cut in long narrow strips and bake in quick, hot oven.

The white car markers have had their last days on the highway for this year.

In Deep Reflection Over Those Fickle Men

The tradition that gentlemen prefer blondes was upset when these pretty brunettes, employed in Los Angeles film studio, were chosen from among 50 blondes and 25 brunettes as most pleasing to the masculine eye.

Sunday School Lesson

BAPTISM—Matthew 3 : 13-17; 28 : 19, 20; Acts 2 : 38, 41; 8: 26-39; Romans 6 : 1-14.

Matthew 28 : 19, 20; Acts 8 : 26-39.

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.
—Matthew 28 : 19.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

TIME AND PLACE—The baptism of Jesus occurred in January, A.D. 27, at the Jordan River, but definite location is not known. The Great Commission was given by the Lord in the late spring of A.D. 30, in Galilee. For the second chapter of Acts and the Epistle to the Romans, see the lesson for May 5.

"Go ye therefore." This declaration of the risen Lord has been aptly called, The Great Commission, and was given to the eleven disciples, on a mountain in Galilee, at the last of Christ's appearances but one, shortly before his ascension to glory. "And make disciples." The Greek word translated disciple means first a learner or pupil, in contrast to a teacher (Matt. 10 : 24), and then an adherent, one who is identified with a certain leader or school, and who adopts a corresponding line of conduct (Mark 2 : 18; John 9 : 28; 8 : 31; Luke 14 : 26, 27, 33).—"Of all the nation." Christ is the Saviour of the world; there is no other name whereby men can be saved; there is no man, and hence no nation of people, whose deepest need is not salvation from sin. "Baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit." Baptism follows belief: it is a public confession on the part of the one baptized of having accepted Christ as Saviour from sin.

"Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you." There is no and before the word teaching, so that baptizing and teaching is a continuous process. "And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Here, it well might seem, the consciousness of authority reaches its climax. No mere man, being in possession of his reason and judgment, would have dared to utter these words.

"But an angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying." Philip was one of the seven original deacons of the Jerusalem Church (Acts 6 : 5), called elsewhere Philip the evangelist (Acts 21 : 8). "Arise, and go toward the south unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza." The famous Philistine city, remembered because of Samson's exploits there (Judges 16; cw. Jer. 47 : 5; Amos 1 :6. 7; etc.), mentioned only here in the New Testament. "The same is desert." Whether these words were spoken by the angel, or added by Luke, and whether the phrase refers to the road or to the city cannot be determined.

"And he arose and went." "And behold, a man of Ethiopia." Ethiopia, like Cush in the O. T., is a general name given to the country which is now called Nubia and Abyssinia. "A eunuch of great authority under Candace, queen of the Ethiopians." It appears from various ancient authorities that this was a name always borne by the queen-mother of the Ethiopians. "Who was over all her treasure." "Who had come to Jerusalem to worship." He was a proselyte of the Jewish faith.

"And he was returning and sitting in his chariot, and was reading the prophet Isiah." Greek literature had spread to the kingdom of Meroe as early as the third century B.C.: there is therefore nothing improbable in the Septuagint translation, which this Ethiopian was found reading, having penetrated thither by the same channels.

"And the Spirit said unto Philip." Nothing inconsistent with the previous statement that an angel had spoken to him. There was no reason why the angel should accompany Philip, or reappear to him, whilst the inward guidance of the Spirit would be always present, as our Lord had promised. "Go near, and join thyself to this chariot." It expresses perfectly the relationship that should, whenever possible, prevail in all of our personal work.

"And Philip ran to him, and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet." He was, of course, reading aloud. "And said, Understandest thou what thou readest?" How many people read the Scriptures, but do not understand them!

"And he said, How can I, except some one shall guide me?" The idea that all people can fully comprehend the meaning of the Scriptures without the help of Spirit-taught instructors is here emphatically denied. "And he besought Philip to come up and sit with him." The word denotes both the humility and the earnestness of the eunuch.

"Now the passage of the scripture which he was reading was this." The words quoted are from the Septuagint translation of Isaiah 53 : 7, 8. The Ethiopian eunuch will be summoned forward with his Isaiah in his hand at the last day to witness against us all for the books we buy and read, and for the way we murder time, both at home and on our holidays, as well as on our long journeys. "He was led as a sheep to the slaughter; and as a lamb before his shearer is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth: In his humiliation his judgment was taken away: His generation who shall declare? For his life is taken from the earth." Was it the eunuch's own serious instincts that led him to the fifty-third of Isaiah? Or had he heard that profound and perplexing chapter disputed over by Stephen and Saul in one of the synagogues of Jerusalem?

"And the unuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the prophet this? of himself, or of some other?" And this is the great question today regarding this passage, among Jewish people.

"And Philip opened his mouth, and beginning from this scripture, preached unto him Jesus." What a tragedy if Philip had not known the meaning of this passage, or doubted its Messianic significance!

"And as they went on the way, they came unto a certain water." It is said to be near a place named Bethsur. "And the eunuch saith, Behold, here is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized?" From this we must infer that Philip had not only been showing the eunuch the meaning of salvation in Christ, but had also informed him concerning the rite of baptism.

"And he commanded the chariot to stand still." "And they both went down into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him." Baptism here was certainly by immersion; it followed instruction; it was after the man had accepted Christ as his Saviour; it was performed by a duly appointed member of the Church; it was performed immediately upon the man's desiring it.

"And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip; and the eunuch saw him no more, for he went on his way rejoicing." Cf. 1 Kings 18 : 12; Ezek. 8 : 12, 14; 8 : 3. Rejoicing that he had not put off coming to the passover altogether. Rejoicing also that he had not talked about the sights of Jerusalem all the way to Gaza, but had read all the way in the prophet Isaiah.

THE ZYAT KISS—Who Is She?

DUNDAS--GRENVILLE UNITED PRESBYTERY MEETING

The Dundas-Grenville Presbytery met in the Shanly United Church in three sessions on Friday, with every charge in the presbytery being well represented with ministers and laymen, it being the last meeting before the Montreal-Ottawa Conference to be held in June at Montreal.

Rev. H.L. Morrison of Kemptville, chairman of the presbytery, presided throughout the sessions, with Rev. G.H. Smith, of Morewood, as secretary. The devotional exercises at the morning session were in charge of Rev. W.W. Jones of Cardinal. Rev. Dr. Munroe, of Montreal, secretary of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference, Rev. DeWitt Scott, chairman of the settlement committee of the conference, and Rev. Atcheson, of Winchester, were voted in as members of thte presbytery for the day.

Numerous business items were enthusiastically discussed and dealt with in the usual manner. Rev. Atcheson, of Winchester, formerly from the Manitoba Conference, will be inducted in the pastoral charge of Winchester following the customary procedure. Letters were read and discussed from Dr. Frank Langford, concerning the Theological College at Montreal; from Hon. George Challies and the secretary to Premier Hepburn, regarding the public schools of Ontario. Announcement was made of the celebration of the tenth anniversary of church union to be held in June throughout Canada. The Morrisburg United Church asked for the consideration of the resignation of Dr. MacRae, after a pastorate of six years, and of the call to Rev. Douglas Smith to that church. Dr. MacRae asked for a year's rest, and to still be a member of the conference.

Rev. DeWitt Scott, of Montreal, addressed the gathering, asking for the co-operation of all concerned. The members of the nominating committee appointed, included Rev. W. R. Johnston of South Mountain, Rev. T. Knowles of Iroquois, Rev. Donald Morrison of Hallville, and Mr. D.G. Hutt of Chesterville.

The members of the standing committees met in conference, and were as follows: Home missions, Rev. Donald Morrison, Rev. Chas. Adey of Williamsburg, Rev. L.M. Somerville of Heckston; laymen, Wm Polley of Easton's Corners, J.E. Lawrence of Spencerville, Byron Allen of Hallville; Missionary and Maintenance: Rev. H.L. Morrison, Rev. D. Morrison; Rev. D.N. Coburn of Prescott; laymen, W.S. Johnston of Prescott, R.J. Ellis of Iroquois and E.H. Adams of Shanly; Evangelism and Social Service, Revs. A.W. Seaton of Shanly, R.W. Armstrong of Merrickville, R.C. McConnell of Inkerman, S.T. Burman, Dundela; laymen, S. Brown of Heckston, A. Nash of Morrisburg, D.G. Hutt of Chesterville, Mahlon Beckstead of Winchester Springs; Christian education, Revs. E. Lacey of Brinston, R.C. Tait of Chesterville, C.C. Gilbert of Maynard, K. Woodwark of Elma; laymen, C. Norval of Williamsburg, A.B. Allison of Morewood, George Brown of Augusta and Oscar Wallace of Winchester; foreign missions, Revs. T. Knowles of Iroquois, W.W. Jones of Cardinal, S. Rowe of Easton's Corners, G. Dustin of North Augusta; laymen, R.J. Ellis of Iroquois, D.G. Hutt, K. Whaley of Merrickville; pension fund, Revs. D.N. Coburn, W.R. Johnston, H.G. Steers of Bishops Mills; laymen, H. Locke of Matilda, A. Weir of Bishop's Mills, H. Adams of Cardinal; obituary notices, Revs. C. Adey, W.W. Jones; law and legislation, Revs. Lacey, G.W. Dustin of North Augusta, G.H. Smith; laymen, E.E. Smith, W.W. Patterson of Kemptville, A.M. Parkinson of Kemptville; church property, Rev. W.R. Johnston; laymen, Morley Earl of Prescott, and J. Garlough of Williamsburg; candidates, Revs. W.R.Johnston, McRae, T. Knowles and Armstrong; laymen, E. Gilroy of South Mountain, Ezra Thorpe and Floyd Shaver of Matilda, Alex Brown and Henry Murphy of Oxford Mills; conference committees, Revs. W.P. Wornell of Spencerville, T. Knowles of Iroquois; alternates, Rev. H.L. Morrison, Messrs D.G. Hutt and N.W. Beach of Winchester.

At the close of the committee meetings, dinner was served in the dining hall by the members of the Women's Association of the church, after which Dr. Wm. Munroe addressed the presbytery. Sunday, June 9 will be a day of commemoration, and on June 10th a broadcast by radio will be made from the Maple Leaf Gardens at Toronto by Rev. T. Albert Moore. An objective of $250,000 for the June thank-offering is planned, the share for the Montreal-Ottawa Conference being $42,000, and the Dundas-Grenville Presbytery, $1,800.

Following Dr. Munroe's address, the Lay Association met in conference. The devotional period was conducted by Rev. H.L. Morrison. An address by Rev. C. Adey on the subject, "Browning the Poet and his Theology," was greatly appreciated.

Rev. Knowles reported for the settlement committee that the resignation of Dr. MacRae was accepted, and also granted a year's holiday. The call to Rev. D. Smith of Montreal to Morrisburg was approved. Dr. MacRae, reporting for candidates stated that Wesley Hutton, of Merrickville, who had applied for recommendation to the ministry, had been approved.

Rev. Adey, reporting on obituaries, read the life story of the late Harper Coates, born in Prescott, who died in Japan after 40 years of service as a missionary.

The report of the nominating committee was as follows: laymen delegates to the conference: G.M. Brown of Augusta, Albert Greer of Bishop's Mills, Hugh Adams of Cardinal, Esrom Hanes of Shanly, R.J. Ellis of Iroquois, Morley Earl and W.S. Johnston of Prescott; F.D. Hutt of Chesterville, William Polley of Easton's Corners; E.E. Smith of Hallville; Robt. Kirker of Heckston; F.G. Futton, Inkerman; Chas. Pelton, Kemptville; Floyd Shaver, Matilda; Leslie Pitt, Matilda South; Kenneth Whaley, Merrickville; W.J. Stewart, Morewood; A.E. Nash, Morrisburg; G.B. Bennett, Henry Murphy, Oxford Mills; Chas. Patton, South Mountain; J.E. Lawrence, Spencerville; Oscar Wallace, Winchester; Mahlon Beckstead, Winchester Springs; C.W. Norval, of Williamsburg; alternates, Kenneth Guy of Inkerman, N.W. Beach of Winchester, Morley Earl of Prescott, Percy Allison of Morrisburg, Bernard Holmes and Percy Webb, Shanly.

The presbytery's representatives on conference committees were read by Rev. W.R. Johnston and include: Revs. Adey, W.P. Wornell, A.W. Seaton, W.W. Jones, Donald Morrison, W. Somerville, H.L. Morrison, R.C. McConnell, D.N. Coburn, R.W. Armstrong, E.C. Lacey, Messrs D.G. Hutt, John Anderson, Chas. Patton, Byron Allen. Rev. T. Knowles, Iroquois, was chosen as representative on the settlement committee for 1934-35; Rev. R.W .Armstrong was chosen for 1935-36, with Rev. S. Rowe as ministerial altetrnate, D.G. Hutt as lay representative, and N. W. Beach as alternate.

The next presbytery will be held at Williamsburg.

The evening session featured addresses delivered by Rev. Sidney Rowe and Rev. R.W. Armstrong, and Rev. A.W. Seaton. Others assisting in the service included Rev. C.C. Gilbert and Rev. K. Woodwark. The members of the Shanly choir took part in the service.

MATILDA JUNIOR FARMERS' ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of Matilda Junior Farmers' Association was held on May 7th at the home of Ralph Ennis. The President, Douglas Hanson, occupied the chair.

It was decided to postpone the lecture on "Economics" by Mr. Coke, until later in the year.

John McGinn gave a very interesting paper on "The Control of Moisture". He pointed out that there were different kinds of moisture, that which is in the air, or atmospheric, and that which is in the soil. The latter is divided into two parts, that which forms a film round the soil particles and that which is free. He told how each of these affected plant growth, and gave the various means of controlling the moisture in the soil. The members then took part in a discussion of the topic and many interesting experiences in regard to this subject were revealed.

A vote of thanks to Ralph Ennis for the use of his home was moved and seconded, and the meeting was then adjourned.

200 inches or more must be reserved at time of making contract in order to earn the 20c per inch rate, and no rebate will be allowed the advertiser, should more than 200 inches be taken out within one year, without having been reserved by contract.

Should the advertiser fail to take out the number of inches contracted for, the amount of space used will be charged at the regular card rate in force at the time of making contract.

Lost, Found, To Let, Wanted, Articles for Sale, etc., 5 lines and less, first insertion, 50c; each subsequent insertion, 35c.

Government, Legal and Municipal Notices, By-Laws, Election Readers, etc., 15c per line for the first insertion; 10c per line for each subsequent insertion; 12 lines to the inch.

Advertisements ordered for insertion without instruction will be published until instructions are received to discontinue same.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary that may appear in any contract, cuts left in our possession more than 30 days after date of insertion, will be destroyed.

SAY GORDON CHOICE IF BENNETT RETIRES

Should illness force Prime Minister R.B. Bennett to relinquish the premiership, Hon. W.A. Gordon, minister of labor, would be favored as his successor, said Dr. M.J. Maloney, South Renfrew, and Dr. D.J. Cotnam, North Renfrew, at Winnipeg, yesterday. They believe the Dominion general elections will be held in September or October.

STYLE CHANGE

The girl who used to spend a lot of time in front of the glass making sure her hat was on straight now spends the same amount of time making sure it isn't. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

MENTALLY ILL.

There is decided merit in the proposal of the Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, the provincial Minister of Health, that the word "insane" shall be deleted from Ontario's statutes wherever it may occur and be replaced by the phrase "mentally ill and defective." We have made much progress from that dim period in which individuals suffering from mental illness were considered to be in such a hopeless state that they were confined in virtual prisons and set apart from the world for the remainder of their days.—Brockville Recorder.

ISLAND STEPPING STONES

Soon every little island in the ocean is going to find itself important and it is certain that, with aviation developing as it is, places which in the past have not even been spots on the map will become centres of interest. Here, for instance, is the case of the Wake Islands, away out in the Pacific Ocean. These are three small islets, with a total area of not more than 2,600 acres, yet they are to be a point of call on the proposed U.S.-China air route, plans for which are now well under way with Pan-American Airways and the United States Government co-operating. —Sault Star.

BRITAIN'S PROGRESS

The soundness of the basis on which British recovery has been built is shown more clearly than ever in Neville Chamberlain's budget for the coming year. The average Briton's standard of living has steadily improved. The cost of living last year was substantially below the level of 1931, when the National Government came into power. Industrial production rose 12 per cent. last year; exports increased $145,000,000.—Winnipeg Tribune.

"THE STAGGERING TOTAL"

Any attempt to establish the absolute total of direct and indirect victims of the war in the whole world, Professor Hersch of the University of Geneva sums up, "is doomed to failure," in the first place "because we lack reliable data for the backward countries." But, he adds, "even with these gaps we arrive at the following approximate estimates" of deaths directly and indirectly attributable to the world War:

	Military	Civil
Europe	12,637,000	12,219,000
America	170,000	1,500,000
Asia	69,000	13,700,000
Africa	99,000	900,000
Oceania	76,000	60,000
	13,055,000	28,379,000

Which gives the staggering total of "early 42 million people destroyed" —a number actually greater than the population of France, England and Wales, and four times as great as the total population of the Dominion of Canada.—Halifax Herald,

A SPECULATION.

The population of the United States in 1800 was 5,308,000, less than half the population of Canada today. Even in 1820 it did not exceed 9,636,000, or 1,500,000 less than the number of people who live in this Dominion now. The rate of increase, however, was consistently greater than that of Canada, owing to the heavy immigration which continued until drastic restricive regulations were imposed fifteen or twenty years ago. When economic conditions have improved it may be predicted that Canada's population will increase at a greater rate than at any other time in her history and may reach 20,000,000 within the next two decades. —Victoria Times.

ORGANIZED CHILDHOOD

The school child of twenty years ago knew little or nothing of airplanes or radio or automobiles, but today these are a part of his life. Child life is also organized today as never before with Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, camps, clubs, choirs and athletic teams. The process of relating education to this more socialised existence is in itself a problem of importance.—London Free Press.

PARADOX ON THE FARM.

Although the Washington Government has taken unprecedented steps in the last two years to reduce farm production, an odd turn of events has resulted in a substantial increase in the number of farmers. Census bureau officials estimate that at least half a million new farms have sprung up in the United States during the depression. For the most part, it is believed that this is due to the return to rural areas of city folk whose jobs vanished when factories shut down. Over a period of many years the American farm population steadily declined. It is surprising enough to find this trend reversed, over a five-year stretch; but to try to understand just how this reversal fits in with reducing farm production is quite a task.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

EXPENSIVE AND SLOW

It has been estimated that it costs $25,000 to kill one man in modern war. Worse than that, the grandson foots the bill for the man his grandfather killed.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

Mrs. William Russell of Mitchell, celebrated her 101st birthday on March 25. So unusual is such an event that it comes under the heading of remarkable.

Like a good many others to whom length of years has been measured in increasing degree, Mrs. Russell had something to say about the secret of a long life. It had nothing to do with diet, but it was merely that getting up early in the morning was the place wherein the secret rested.

And Mrs. Russell means four o'clock in the morning when she says "early."—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

FIXING THE BLAME

A medical man recently opined that heredity is a factor in headaches.

It seems our ancestors are blamed for a lot of things these days. We had believed that many modern headaches resulted from irregular hours, and sometimes excessive eating or drinking. There must still be a variety of causes to produce the effect, depending upon the individual factor, of course; but what a final excuse a man may offer hereafter—that an ancestor is responsible for his "morning after" feeling. —Border Cities Star.

LURE OF THE UNKNOWN.

This is a time of year when a spirit of restlessness takes hold of many of us. We feel a desire and an urge to break away from our accustomed tasks and occupations, to go wandering in search of change, and sights that are new or different.

It is, perhaps, the modern symptom of the wanderlust to which mankind in past ages was able to give rein in the mass. Wanderlust is wonderulst; longing for the unknown things to be seen at the end of strange waters. Individuals of all ages and all generations have known it—have felt it dragging them from the beaten tracks to trails that lead into uncharted regions. Some never return. Some return in rags, weary and broken, with scars to prove their adventures. A few return in fine raiment, enriched, with stirring tales of good things found and evidence that bears them out. Wanderlust takes many forms.

Sometimes it gets into the feet and pulls its victims along strange paths towards wondrous places, new lands, unexplored wastes. Sometimes it gets into the mind and leads towards strange theories and after strange objectives, some of them real, some chimerical, some good, some bad. Sometimes the lure of the unknown draws toward strange political, moral, social, economic or metaphysical "isms"—some of which prove sound and safe, but some unsound and deadly dangerous. Many wanderers perish on their journeys along strange mental lines.. Others return, sadder and wiser.

Whatever directions the wanderlust takes individuals, it would be a dull world without it. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

THE EMPIRE

AGES OF MAN

The age in which he does not know anything and doesn't know he doesn't know anything. The age in which he doesn't know anything but thinks he knows it all. The age in which he is convinced that his father is a dumbell. The age in which he comes to find out he doesn't know it all. The age in which he discovers that his father is possessed of normal good sense. The age in which he discovers that he really knows very little. The age in which he discovers his father was possessed of more sense than he has. The age in which he has a son who thinks he is a dumbbell.—London Opinion.

THE POPULAR BRITISH POST OFFICE.

By an energetic campaign of advertising by the systematic study of the public needs, by the drastic cheapening of the services, the Post Office has been transformed, almost overnight, from a semi-obsolete bureaucratic machine into an enterprise charged full with vitality. Sir Kingsley Wood deserves the gratitude of the country for this far-sighted and courageous achievement. — London Morning Post.

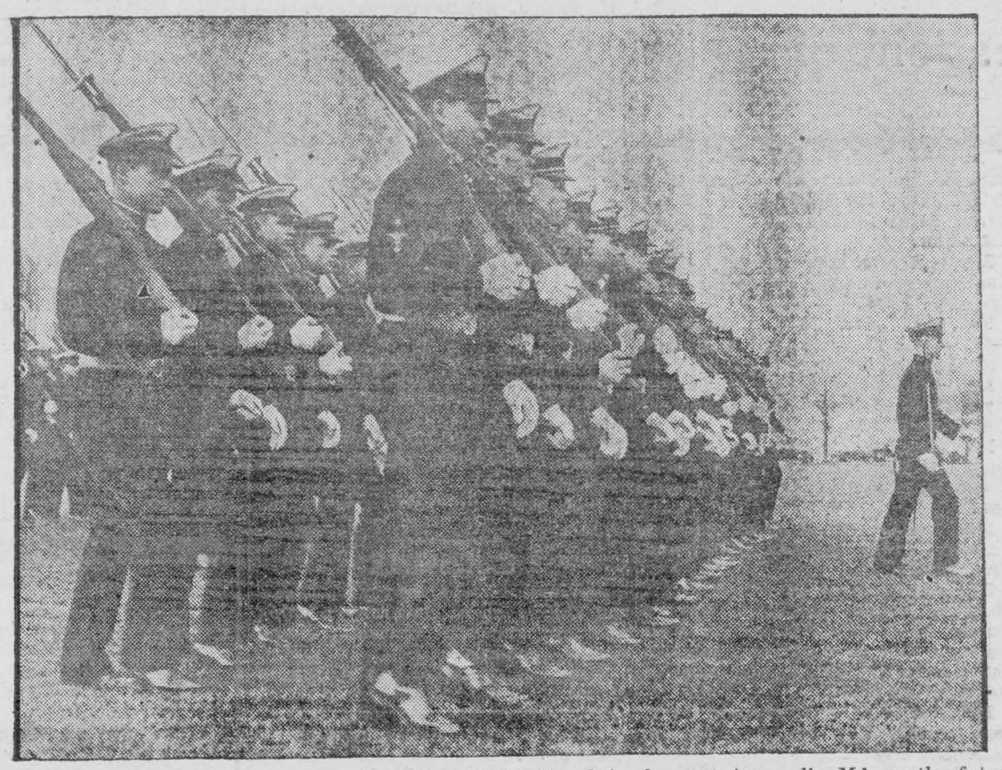

BRIGHTER TRAINS.

Yesterday the chairman of the Southern Railway did a little electrifying himself. Waiting-rooms, he said, would be made into places where anyone could enjoy the waiting. Though here and there travel by rail has been much more cheerful lately, the general standard remains so low that to most train travellers these sentiments will seem revolutionary. And in truth nothing short of a revolution is wanted. The advantages of travel by train are in danger of being buried in a doleful wilderness of ugly dark termini, old-fashioned stations and Victorian carriages.—London Daily Herald.

PUBLIC HEALTH IN S.A.

The great obstacle to the general adoption of more hygenic measures everywhere appears to be the reluctance of the community, and also of Provincial and local authorities, to pay for them. The provision of pure water, and of adequate sanitary facilities, costs money, and many people do not yet seem to realize that it would be money well spent. Many local authorities, on the other hand, have not got the money to spend, and for that reason it has been suggested to the Provincial Finance Commission that the whole organization of the Public Health Services, as well as the financial provisions of the Public Health Act, need revision and readjustment. The position has been lucidly reviewed by the Secretary for Public Health, and the remedy has been evident for many years past. The present time provides an excellent opportunity for initiating the reforms that alone can make satisfactory provision for a healthy South Africa in the future.—Johannesburg Times.

DECLARE GLANDS SUPPLY 'DRIVE'

Piladelphia, April 30. — From 300 of the dead, medical science has its answer to-day to one of its major mysteries, whether human personality is just a matter of glands.

The answer is no — the glands do not make personality, but they are its powerhouse. They leave unexplained why one person is a genius, another a pauper, but for whatever talents man possesesc they furnish the "drive."

Dr. Walter Freeman, of the Blackburn Laboratory, St. Elizabeth Hospital, and George Washington University, Washington, reported to the Americn College of Physicians that they explain the drive which makes a scientist spend 50 years studying a mouse, or the power of the orator who sways millons.

THE ENDOCRINE

This answer was found in measuring and weighing the endocrine, or internal secretion glands, of 300 persons who died at St. Elizabeth Hospital. They had been long time patients, their personalities in life carefully recorded.

It is true, Dr. Freeman said, that numerous personality tendencies were seen which appeared to be associated with whether one or another of these glands was extra large or extra small.

He added: "Two important functions, as far as the personality is concerned, may be safely granted to the endocrine system. These are emotional stability and energy and drive. The irritability and emotional instability seen in hyper thyroidism, in hyper insulinism, in hyper parathyroidism and in certain other endocrinopathies, are relieved by restoring the normal endocrine balance.

"The energy drive is augmented to a greater or less degree by correcting any deficiency of the pituitary, thyroid, adrenals or gonads.

"Nevertheless as far as determining whether an individual shall be proud, sensitive, suspicious paranoid individual; or a timid, shut-in, dreamy-schizoid person; a boisterous, jolly, hailfellow well-met cycloid; or a moody pedantic, egocentric epileptoid individual, the endocrine glands would seem to have little say in the matter."

HEAT FOR SINUS DISEASE

Warmth Is Supplied by Water Run Through Tubes in Nostrils

There probably never was a time when heat was not regarded as a means of alleviating pain. Just what occurs when a hot-water bag is applied to a lame back or an aching ear is still obscure; physicians talk of stimulating the circulation, of doing something to cells that is still the subject of speculation. The plain fact is that heat often aids nature in achieving her own ends.

Much of what constitutes modern physiotherapy depends on the application of heat by electrical apparatus. When a physician invokes diathermy he sends through afflicted tissues and organs a current which has the proper characteristics and which, as it encounters internal resistance, generates heat. More recently short-wave therapy has come to the fore—a treatment in which waves shorter than those used in radio penetrate the body without the use of anything that touches the skin. Extraordinary results have been achieved in killing the bacteria of some virulent diseases in this way. The hot-water bottle, the electric lamp and the radiator that emits infra-red rays have no such power.

Because there is so much guesswork about these heat treatments. Dr. William Bierman has actually sunk thermocouples in the flesh and thus measured the relative effect of powerful incadescent and infra-red lamps. Contrary to the prevailing view, he found that heat from the electric lamp penetrates more deeply than heat from the infra-red radiator. What happens when a diathermal current or short-waves penetrate tissue no one knows exactly. It is impossible to measure temperatures in electrically heated tissues because the measuring apparatus itself is affected.

All this is of moment in considering the work that Dr. I. Daniel Shorell of New York describes in American Medicine. He is a specialist in the treatment of diseases of the ear, nose and throat, and sinuses attract his attention. Like others in his field he recognizes the benefits of heat treatment. Also he sees that the heat radiated by lamps and sources of infra-red rays cannot penetrate far into the sinuses. After much experimenting, he has devised an improvement which deserves the consideration of physicians who specialize in the treatment of diseases of the ear, throat and nose. His modification makes it possible to apply heat not only to the region of the bones and tissues affected, but to control it automatically.

In the treatment of sinus disease, tubes of purest rubber are inserted into the nostril as far as the hard palate. Each tube is divided lengthwise by a partition, and each branches from a main tube leading to a compression and suction pump. The business of the pumps is to drive hot water through the system of tubes in a ceaseless flow. An electric heater keeps the water automatically at the right temperature. Valves control the pressure, which varies from one to three pounds. What we have is something like the hot-water circulatory system by which houses are sometimes heated. The rubber tubes are simply heat radiators controlled by a thermostat.

It is astonishing how much heat local tissues and bones can stand. At first the temperature is only 112 degrees F., but every ninety seconds it is raised one degree. Usually 128 degrees can be endured without discomfort. Patients lie on their backs and let the hot water circulate separated from the mucous membrane only by a thin wall of rubber. A treatment lasts from fifteen to twenty minutes. The sinuses, which lie near the mucous membrance of the nose, are benefited, as they usually are when subjected to heat treatment. In this case the benefit is especially marked. Undoubtedly some heat is conducted through the adjacent bone.

HEAT TREATMENT RECORDS

What actually happens is not clear in any method of heat treatment. But before-and-after X-ray pictures of 170 cases of sinus disease treated by this dry heat, hot water method show sometimes a complete disappearance of telltale shadow, sometimes partial clarification and only rarely no improvement at all.

In his article in American Medicine, Dr. Shorell refers to the improvement of hearing in cases of chronic catarrhal deafness that follows this treatment of the sinuses. The reason may possibly be given by Dr. M. M. Collum in a paper which he read before the American Medical Association and which is published in its Journal. Cullom presents statistical and pathological evidence of an association of sinus disease and infection of the middle ear. "I have the feeling that, owing to the position of the sinuses at the top of the respiratory tract, they are a menace to all lower-lying structures," he ventures. Drainage from infected sinuses contaminates everything it reaches.

The conclusion is drawn that ear infections, which may result in acute or chronic catarrhal deafness, may be treated by way of the sinuses with good results. Dr. Cullom is apparently in favor of operations of some sort. Dr. Shorell relies on his modified heat treatment and presents his case records to support his stand.

Your Non-Stop Endurance Test

No man has ever constructed such a marvelous, complicated piece of machinery as nature has put inside of his body. No watch is more delicately adjusted — each part dependent on the other.

Quite unknown to you, most of the time that amazing machine of yours is making its own repairs. Minor adjustments are automatically made. Sometimes, though, outside help is needed — help from a competent man or a surgeon.

Machines that have been run a long time without inspection, especially those more than forty years old, deserve to have a thorough inspection at least once a year. Give that machine of yours an opportunity to continue faithful service. Find out if it needs repairing or tuning up.

Beating Disease

Mule spinners' cancer which has for generations been the dread of Lancashire cotton spinners has at last been conquered. Its cause has been traced to the spinner's contact with certain lubricating oils as he leans over his machine, and an effective preventive consists of smearing over the exposed parts of the body with lanolin and olive oil before and after work. During the last few years thousands of experiments have been conducted by Dr. Twort,, head of the Cancer Research Department at Manchester University, and his brother, Mr. J. M. Twort, of the Manchester Cancer Committee, with a view to discovering lubricating oils which may safely be used on the spinning machines, and the evidence to date points the finger of suspicion at the heavy-oil engines as the greatest offenders.

To be cussed seems to be the natural state of man. Even the rural mail carrier is more cussed for the single trip he misses on a stormy day than he is blessed for all the trips he makes right on time.

British Farmers In Tithe Protest

More than 100 farmers, protesting against the tithe collections, "Queen Anne's bounty," burned effigies of the Archbishop of Canterbury in clerical garb and Queen Anne, during a demonstration at Ashford, Kent, England. The protest was staged after lack of bidding had prevented the auction of nine dairy cows seized in an effort to collect more than $300 in tithe arrears for the Ecclestiastical Commissioners. The above photo shows the effigies being carried to the scene of the bon fire.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So bad was his rheumatism that his friends declared he would never work again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong. Read what he says:—

"I am seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not brush my hair nor wash myself. People said I should never work any more. I am working harder than a young man to-day. Thanks, many thanks, to Kruschen Salts. I take them in my tea, and I have recommended them to many. I could not get in or out of bed myself, nor sit up. But see me work now—12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salts have done it."—G. J.

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines, and thereby check the further accumulation not only of uric acid, but of other body poisons which undermine the health.

Quebec's Motor Accidents in 1934

The annual report concerning automobile accidents in the province of Quebec during 1934, together with comparative figures for 1932 and 1933, was published last month.

The report shows that 7,030 automobile accidents, in which 254 persons lost their lives, and 5,056 were injured, occurred in the province during the year, this being a substantial increase over figures for 1933, when 6,118 accidents were reported, 228 people killed, and 4,162 injured.

Speeding was responsible for 3,344 of the year's accidents, with carelessness of pedestrians with cause of another 1,865 mishaps. Negligence on the part of drivers and chauffeurs caused 4,484 accidents, while the official list shows that carelessness on the part of the operator of a vehicle other than a motor vehicle resulted in 698 accidents during the year Drunkenness caused 236 accidents, and defective brakes another 622.

Operators of horse-drawn and other vehicles, however, showed more care, since the number of accidents caused through their negligence was smaller than in 1933, and 50 percent. lower than in 1932.

Four thousand and fifty-eight accidents in which persons were killed or injured were reported during the year, 13 collisions being reported between automobile and horse-drawn vehicles, with loss of life in each case, and 166 being reported where people were injured. There were 348 such collisions in all. Autoists crashed into trains 40 times during the year, into 231 tramways, and into a total of 3,444 other autos in all. — Quebec Tourist Bulletin.

'DEADLY' GAS FOR FLIERS

Carbon Dioxide Valuable For Breathing In High Altitudes

The researches of Professor Yandell Henderson on the part that carbon dioxide plays in breathing are now classic. At first he shocked physicians by telling them that pure oxygen tends to retard respiration, but that when a little deadly carbon dioxide is added the asphyxiated are quickly brought back to consciousness. Now his methods of resuscitation are used in most hospitals.

In the British scientific weekly Nature Professor Henderson, collaborating with Drs. Samuel B. Childs Jr. and Hannibal Hamlin, pursues his inquiries further. This time mountain climbing is the subject of study for the reason that tourists who ascend high mountains in trains and automobiles or rely on their own legs are often overcome by what is called "mountain sickness," a form of asphyxia attributed to lack of oxygen.

Last year Childs and Hamlin spent a few days on Pike's Peak (14,100 feet) and experimented on themselves, three acclimated hotel employes and thirty tourists who were more or less affected by mountain sickness. Childs and Hamlin and the three hotel employes breathed measured amounts of carbon dioxide supplied by cylinders slung by a strap over one shoulder. When fifty liters of air were breathed a minute the carbon dioxide was diluted to 2 per cent.; with twenty liters a second the dilution was 5 per cent.

The effects observed were not large, "but on the whole the evidence indicates that the exertion was made with somewhat less strain on the heart and respiration." Excessive loss of carbon dioxide was prevented and the utilization of the available oxygen aided.

The tourists did not wear the apparatus, but they were permitted to inhale carbon dioxide. Those who suffered from dizziness, nausea, blue lips, cramps and twitching were distinctly benefited.

The effects are even better when there has been no physical exertion. Hence it is suggested by Henderson and his co-workers that airplane passengers who travel at altitudes of 14,00 feet might well breathe carbon dioxide. Not much of the gas need be carried along — because so little is required.

All May Help

Want your home town to go ahead? Then take hold and do a little pulling ahead yourself! Want your home town business to keep your home people well employed? Then give that business your full support by buying your supplies at home.

Want your business to grow? Then talk about it. Write about it. Advertise it. And this applies not only to those who own or operate a business, but also to those who are employed by that business. More interest in your work, more business, more employment for yourself and others at better wages. All may help.—Exchange.

More packages of bees were imported to Canada in 1934 than formerly, in spite of 60 per cent. increase in prices over the previous year. Many of these bees were to replace losses from the previous winter, and their purchase indicates that more interest is being taken generally in honey production, although the crops of honey had been light.

Great New Factory

Industrial Britain.

One of the most important developments known to Lancashire for many years — and an indication of the faith of one of the world's largest concerns in the industrial future of Lancashire — is the announcement that Messrs. Courtaulds, Ltd., are to built a huge rayon factory at Preston.

Messrs. Courtauld, six years ago, acquired about 340 acres of land at Ribbleton, near Preston, and it is on part of this site that the new factory is to be built. It is expected that the works, which will be the firm's larges single "unit" in Britain and will embody many new features, will be completed in about eighteen months' time.

Work will be found for about 2,000 workpeople at the start, increasing to 3,000 as the factory gets into full production. The firm expect to add at least 30 percent. to their production of viscose yarn with the new factory.

Snakes Don't Like Erin's Dampness

Dublin.—A new reason has been assigned for the absence of snakes from Ireland. It's the weather!

Popular legend has it that they were all banished by Saint Patrick, the national apostle, 1,500 years ago. The more material view that snakes dislike Ireland's wet weather was taken by M. Farrington, lecturing at a meeting of the Geographical Society of Ireland here.

He said Ireland boasted of a species of toad common to county Kerry but had nothing like the common English toad. England was first occupied by certain fauna which were slow of movement, also Ireland at a later stage, but as the land sank and the sea arose and cut off the British Isles from the rest of Europe, separating Ireland from England, there was less time for the fauna to move from the mainland, he said.
also had no snakes, although South America was a comparatively snaky region. The reason for the absence of the reptiles was undoubtedly due, he said, to wet weather in both parts of the world.

"If we find ourselves unreasonable it is reason that leads us to that discovery."—Havelock Ellis.

Latin Held Need In Professions

Toronto.—While Latin may be dropped as a compulsory matriculation subject, as suggested by Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education, there appears little likelihood of it being eliminated as an entrance requirement at Osgoode Hall and the faculty of medicine.

J. D. Falconbridge, K.C., dean of the Law School, pointed out that apart from the mental discipline in the study of Latin, much legal phraseology was couched in Latin, and that a working knowledge of the language was therefore essential to law students.

Similarly Dr. E. Stanley Ryerson, secretary and assistant dean of the faculty of medicine, University of Toronto, said that the use of Latin for medical terms and materials made it essential that medical students should have studied the subject.

Queen's Will Make Latin Optional In Arts Course

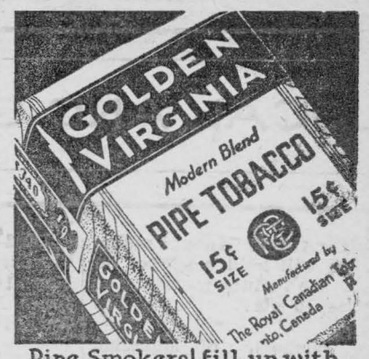

Kingston.—Latin will no longer be a compulsory subject on the curriculum of the arts faculty at Queen's University, except for students taking certain honor courses, starting with the 1935-36 academic year. The classical language is still compulsory for entrance requirements, although it has been indicated by Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education, that even this may be made optional.

Under the new curriculum at Queen's, Latin 1 is made optional with mathematics 1 for all students registered in a pass arts course.

Birth Rate Is Lower, Deaths, Marriages Up

Ottawa.—A decline of 1½ per cent. was shown in the number of births registered in 70 cities and towns with a population of 10,000 or more, when they numbered 6,755 in March, against 6,855 in the same eau of Statistics reported recently. Deaths numbered 4,309, against 4,298 in March, 1934, and marriages showed a 15 per cent. increase with 1,910, compared with 1,658 in the same month last year.

During the three months ended March births were 19,414, deaths 12,805, and marriages 5,815, against 19,610 births, 11,966 deaths and 5,614 marriages during the same period of 1934, showing a decrease of 1 per cent. in births, an increase of 7 per cent. in deaths and an increase of 3½ per cent. in marriages.

The choir of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, have been practising diligently for the past number of weeks on the operetta, "The Governor's Daughter," which they plan to present on Saturday evening, May 18th, at 8 o'clock in the basement of their church. Many residents will recall the operetta, "The Magic Ruby," staged by the choir a few years ago. The Governor's Daughter exceeds in many respects The Magic Ruby.

Died—At his late residence, 42 Florence St., Ottawa, on Wednesday May 15th, 1935, John Alexander Jones, M.D., formerly of Kemptville, Ont. He was in his 81st year.

MISSING GIRLS FOUND HIKING NEAR IROQUOIS

With only 9 cents, Helen Page, aged 14, and Sirkka Bockhoude, 13, both of Toronto, ran away from their homes Thursday night, and started to trek to Halifax.

An American tourist driving on the highway near Iroquois, had his radio going, and picked up a broadcast from the Toronto police, describing the missing girls. The tourist travelled only a few miles until he saw the girls "thumbing" their way along the highway. He offered them a ride, and on getting them into his car, drove to Iroquois police station, and handed the girls over to constable Gregory.

Toronto police were notified, and on Saturday night, the parents of the mising girls left by motor for Iroquois, to bring them home.

Mrs. Page said she was fearful her daughter would get a bad cold sleeping out of doors Thursday night. She had no coat or hat. The mother said relatives lived in Halifax, and her daughter had persuaded the other girl to run away with her.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Thursday night, the girls told their parents they were going down to the corner. When they did not return home late at night, a search was made, and it was found they had been seen at the Kingston road city limits on Friday morning.

W. M. S. MEETING

The regular meeting of United Church W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Bourette, on May 9th, with the president, Miss Jane Smith, in the chair. Two verses of Hymn No. 81 were sung, and Miss Smith read Matt. 5th Chap., verses 1 to 15. Prayer was then offered by the President. Miss Smith thanked Miss L. VanAllen for her services during the winter, in the absence of the president.

Mrs. Geo. Clark read the report of tthe Dundas-Grenville Presbyterial, aftter which Miss Etta Moore read the devotional leaflet. A hymn, "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations", was sung. Miss Luella VanAllen gave the ninth chapter of "Builders of the Indian Church".

"God Save Our King" was sung, and the meeting closed with the benediction.

The hostess then passed lovely home-made candy.

Other officers elected were: Past president, Mrs. James Faulds, Cornwall; vice-presidents, Mrs. W.H. Sutherland and Mrs. C. Morgan; recording secretary, Mrs. W.C. Beattie; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J.A. Reid; treasurer, Mrs. F.A. Johnson.

Cornwall, Ont., was selected as the venue for the next convention to be held in 1937.

MONTHLY MEETING, S.S. CLASS

The monthly meeting of the Eusebeia Class of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Nash, Thursday evening, May 9th. The meeting opened by the use of the class hymn, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds". Scripture lesson was given by Mrs. Harry Duvall, followed with prayer, by Mrs. Nash. Plans were made for the Mothers' Day service, which the class was holding on Sunday, also plans for a picnic in June. The life history of Edgar Guest, and poem, "Mother", were read by Miss Isa Nelson, and a chapter of the study book by Miss Eleanor Broder. Games and contests followed, which were enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The committee in charge of the meeting were: Mrs. Harry Duvall, Mrs. Lee Tuttle, Miss Eleanor Broder and Miss Isa Nelson.

P.S. INSPECTOR MEETS SCHOOL BOARDS

The meetings called by Mr. W.J. Stewart, Public Schol Inspector, for the purpose of discussing the apportionment of grants, the amendments to the Public Schools Act and other matters pertaining to educational progress in the County of Dundas and the Township of South Gower, have been very well attended. Three of the meetings have already been held. On Monday, about sixty were in attendance at North Mountain Consolidated School; on Tuesday evening, approximately the same number attended the meeting at Winchester, and the meeting at Williamsburg on Wednesday night had a still larger attendance.

Mr. Stewart outlined the basis on which the General Legislative Grants are apportioned, also how grants in special subjects such as domestic science, manual training and agriculture are apportioned. He explained that this year, for the first time, there is a fixed grant in agriculture where the teacher carries on this subject satisfactorily throughout the school year. In the final analysis, the local cost of this subject to Boards is not very heavy. The same may be said of manual training and domestic science.

Each secretary present at the meetings was given a sheet showing how the Legislative Grant for 1935 is apportioned; instructions were also given by which a board may estimate approximately the amount of the grant for next year, computed on the present basis of apportionment.

The numerous questions asked by those present showed that the various boards are keenly interested in the matter of educational progress, and wish to have definite first-hand knowledge on all matters pertaining to the welfare of their respective schools.

At the close of the meetings, the Inspector paid tribute to the people of the inspectorate for the manner in which they have maintained educational services in an unimpaired manner throughout a trying period; have, in the majority of cases dealt fairly with the teachers; and have co-operated with him in whatever was of real educational value in the community. He asked for a continuance of the splendid support accorded him during the past five years.

MAGICIAN ENTERTAINS

Clarence W. Hodge of Farnwood, N.J., a magician and mentalist who is stopping at the Cardinal House while attending Dr. Locke's clinic, gave a magical performance of Oriental, European and Occidental mysteries on ladies' night of our local Masonic Lodge. Last Wednesday evening, he entertained Mrs. Cardinal's friends and house guests. Mr. Hodge's mystic art program showed the careful background of physchology and the understanding of human reactions. He has covered the domain of prestidigitation during his 40 years of experience and both audiences enjoyed his seemingly impossible experiments, which were entertaining and mystifying.
