New brooms in council working well

Fire chief caught in swirl of economy

Chesterville council started the year with an economical point of view on the one hand and a fairly generous smile in some other cases. By the time midnight came around village government affairs had been dealt with but water system and hydro had not been touched. The reeve and councillors will be at it again tonight to get everything underway. In the process of setting salaries and fees some pinching is evident. The village at the moment is threatened with a resignation from fire chief John Hehir. A loud rumble of discontent is also coming from the body of volunteers who make up the village brigade.

The new village government was sworn to office Monday morning at 11 a.m. in the clerk's office. Reeve James Brannen headed the list with councillors Allison, Coons, Lauzon and Kelly on hand.

The first appointment was that ofrehiring village clerk Lorne Marcellus on a monthly basis at the same figure of $133.33 per month. Meetings will be held the first Monday of each month, at 7.30 p.m. A second meeting each month is being considered to keep abreast of the utility business. No final decision was taken on the matter. Remuneration for councillors and the reeve was discussed. It was suggested the old rate of $12 for each meeting would be adequate. Discussion on the matter opened the possibility of each councillor receiving a lump sum of $350 per year as allowed by the Municipal Act. A decision is to be reached at a later meeting.

Silas Curran was complimented on the good job he is doing in collecting garbage. Some discussion was held regarding a third pick-up in the business section during the week. The matter was left open pending some investigation.

Mrs Duart MacLean was rehired as assistant clerk at an increase of 25 cents an hour. She was guaranteed at least 20 hours per week at $1.75, making a total minimum increase of something over $250.

Police chief Leonard Shane demonstrated a policeman's lot is not a happy one. He had on hand two outside offers for his services, both over $3,000 more than he is now receiving in salary. Both offers would be 8-hour day positions.

Village council felt his position was strong when he noted he had to do better financially to stay in the village. It was felt the takeover by the Ontario Provincial Police was still many years away, especially when so many small municipalities are dropping the system after a trial period.

The police chief was offered a new salary of $6,000 and a car allowance of $2,000. His salary has been $4,500 and a car allowance of $2,400. It was felt that a car could be rented for less than the $2,000 and that possibility is to be explored. No decision was reached as Mr Shane had to do some serious thinking.

Fire chief John Hehir met the sudden economy wave of council. That body felt it could not afford to pay him his asking increase of $9. per month. Councillor Lauzon noted that the town of Alexandria paid only $350 a year to their chief and it was a much larger municipality. Chief Hehir suggested his devotion to duty should mean a bit more pay, especially as he tried to be on hand to answer calls when his men were away on holidays or out of town. Council remained adamant in its decision to not increase the chief's retainer. So he put on his hat and left with a rather final "Goodbye."

(As we go to press, we learn the fire chief has submitted his written resignation to village council unless council wishes to reopen discussion of his retainer. His resignation will become effective in one month if it is accepted. The chief has many faithful members in the department and they are up in arms over the matter and promise a modest rearguard action of their own.)

Members of council voted themselves the sum of $100 each to attend the annual convention of Association of Rural Municipalities in Toronto next month. This will include the clerk.

Chesterville Library Board members for the year will be James Moonie, Joe Pringle, Mrs Richard Chambers and Mrs Archie MacDonald. The annual grant to the library will be $800 of which sum $300 will come back as rent.

Ronald Lynch was appointed to be the town's representative on North Dundas District High School Board and the reeve was named to the South Nation Conservation Authority. Reeve Brannen is also welfare officer for the village.

A sum of $60,000 was marked as the borrowing limit for 1968 and the reeve and clerk were

Honor Chesterville farmer at Soil and Crop meeting

The newly renamed Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, formerly Kemptville Agricultural School, was host to several hundred members of the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association for a two-day conference.

Alfred Beaudette of Northfield, president of the Eastern Ontario SCIA and an executive director of the provincial association, was chairman for part of the program. He presented the Harris McNish award, emblematic of excellence in farming, to Angus Smith of Chesterville.

The program featured an optimistic outlook on the future, Dale Miller, Stormont agricultural representative, said recently. Everitt Biggs, Ontario deputy minister of agriculture, said that the population of Eastern Ontario should increase by a third by 1980, and that of Montreal by two thirds. Such an increase would call for thousands of additional dairy cattle and similar increases in production. Even the propspect of substitute dairy products could be partially countered by growing such crops as soybeans in this area.

The several hundred farmers from Eastern Ontario were addressed by Aubrey Livingstone of Brampton, typical of the larger farm operators in the province with 1,200 acres and 200 dairy cattle, and by Roy Brubaker of Waterloo, who farms 75 acres.

Each speaker outlined his methods and farm practices. The program also featured reports on technical advances in farming, especially as applied to local conditions according to experiments carried out at Kemptville.

CRUMBS
Graham's Loaf

We have been battened down for the past few days at the Castle. What with the thermometer hitting bottom in the neighbourhood of 30-below with a breeze, it has been a chore to keep ahead of the cold. There is a promise of a slight warming, but only up to an underside view of the zero mark. Great weather for Eskimos and hibernating groundhogs. Hardly condusive to shirtsleeves on the patio for the less tough rest of Canadians.

We wandered forth the other morning clad in our usual attire hoping to prove we were just as tough as when we loped into old CHS breathing steam, hatless and happy after a quick romp up the river. We made it to the post office and found the edges were considerably more sensitive to the weather. Any time now we will join the throng who sport ear muffs and a satisfied look. The time is past when we intend to suffer for the sake of suffering. Besides we just might become a member of the swollen ear brigade. We understand some badges of that order are to be seen on King Street after a bout with a contrary car and 20-below weather.

Some forty years ago we were ushered into the tribe of fast-frozen ears. Instead of skiing to school, we were ordered to ride the milk sleigh. It was too cold to ski. When we realized frost had set in, we found the left fan stiff and crackly. Of course, it thawed in time and with all the usual pain. The freezing had made a mess of things though. That ear swelled, popped and dripped for some three weeks. It finally settled down into a permanent lump but only after all the hide scuffed off. For a while this Crumb resembled a young spike-horn buck losing his velvet.

One of the winter chores was cutting ice on the breast of the mighty Nation river. It ran through the back of the farm and in those days ice was necessary when milk was shipped to Montreal to cool it for the long trip. Usually the season went along without mishap until the day the English hired man slipped and fell into the open cut. The temperature was well below zero and he was nearly a mile from home. He made it on the run although by the time he reached the woodshed he had acquired a sleek new ice roughbox. He was quickly stripped of the frozen gear and doused with hot water. A cup of hot tea and a shot of Miss Pinkham's special specific made a new man of him. He never did catch cold from the dunking but his normal effusion of small boils cleared up like magic for about a month. One could wonder about that. The Pinkham medicine certainly helped a lot of ailing and thirsty people, but it was not usually imbibed for boils. It must have been the sauna bath in the Nation at 10-below.

We usually find that this column is a great weather changer. If it is too dry and we lament, before the family journal is in the mails it is pouring. If there is too much rain, we only mention it once and lo! the sun shines. Perhaps we can do something about the cold snap through these columns. It will save considerable fuel, if our magic works.

History has a way of repeating itself. But gossip has history beat to a frazzle.

Chesterville S. S. Board holds first '68 meeting

The first meeting of the combined Roman Catholic Separate School Board, Chesterville - Winchester Township, was held in the school on January 2, 1967

The officers for the coming year are: chairman, Leonard Masterson; vice chairman, Euclid Forgues; board members, Ben Wouters, Henry Hoogeveen, Jas. Sommerville, Gerry Brugmans. Eric MacMillan was rehired as secretary-treasurer beginning his 10th year in that position.

Leonard Shane was re-appointed truant officer and Mrs Elaine Chambers and Mrs Eleanor MacDonald on the Chesterville Library Board.

Mr Leonard Moriarty is the board's representative on the North Dundas District High School Board.

O.P.P. Report

The first week of this new year went by with few incidents in Dundas County. For the first time in five years, New Year's Eve was free of accidents and other types of occurrences.

During the week O.P.P. officers patrolled 10,664 miles of highway and secondary roads in 720 duty hours. As a result, 33 traffic charges were laid and 56 warnings issued.

Five property damage accidents and one personal injury accident were reported and investigated. One person, Harold Armstrong, age 16, RR3, Winchester, suffered minor injury in the only accident occurring on New Year's Day. Two thefts, both in Iroquois, are presently being investiigated. Officers answered 15 other calls, ncluding two offences against the Liquor Statutes.

In January, 1967, a list of statistics for accidents in Dundas County in 1966 was included in the Weekly Report. A footnote added that "It seems a pity to think this list will be even higher next year." Well, here is a list of statistics for 1967 and it is higher.

	1967	1966
Personal Injury Accidents	88	61
Fatal Accidents	10	5
Property Damage Accidents	348	342
Persons Killed	15	6
Persons Injured	178	106

In an effort to prevent these statistics from getting this high the members of Morrisburg anl Winchester O.P.P. detachments built up another list of statistics. In 1967 officers in Dundas County patrolled more than half a million miles of highway and secondary roads. Total number of hocrs on duty was approximately 37,350 hours. Total number of traffic charges laid was 2,500. Traffic warnings issued totalled 1,969. The figures in this list are also higher than last year and will continue to grow until the number of accidents decrease. Do your part, too! Drive safely. Cut down the statistics in 1968!

Early marriages are a traffic safety factor, says the Ontario Safety League. Single men under 25 who drive their own cars cause 50 percent more accidents than married men under 25.

Wmsbg. Township council holds inaugural meeting

The initial meeting of the Municipal Council of the Township of Williamsburg was held on January 6th, 1968, in the IOOF hall at Williamsburg, Ont., with the following members receiving the necessary oath of office: reeve J. C. Whitteker; deputy reeve, Hugh McMillan and councillors, Edward Hanson, Hubert Casselman and D. H. Kyle.

The meeting was opened by the invocation by the Rev. J. D. Pereboom of the Christian Reformed Church. Mr Whitteker welcomed the members to the first two year term of office and expressed the hope that the past co-operation of council would continue in the future.

Permission was granted to Dalton Saddlemire to sell certain lands in lot 30, concession 3 for residential purposes.

It was the decision of council that due to increased interest rates for municipal borrowing that effective on Dec. 15th, 1968 all 168 taxes not paid by this date would be subject to a 3% penalty and effective Jan. 1st, 1969 the interest rate on all tax arrears would be two-thirds of 1% per month or fraction of a month.

The clerk was instructed to join the Association of Rural Municipalities and the Ontario Good Roads Association. A by-law was passed appointing the Township officials for the year 1968.

It was decided that again the collection of dog tax would remain the same as in 1967 with all tax to be paid to the clerk by the 1st day of June, 1968. It was also pointed out that dog tags may be obtained at the clerk's office at any time after Jan. 6th, 1968.

Council did then adjourn.

Cattle and hogs die in barn fire at Gallingertown

Fire at the farm of John Bozak, which broke out about 2.30 a.m. Sunday, destroyed a barn as well as causing the death of 24 cows, 42 pigs and two horses.

The farm is situated on lot 36, Concession 4, Gallingertown. Provincial police said the first intimation of the blaze came when Mr Bozak was awakened by the flames shning through the window.

Police said that by the time the fire was noticed it had gained a good hold and attempts to save the cattle, pigs and horses were futile.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr and Mrs Clifford Robinson wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna Robinson, to Mr John Alguire, son of Mrs Kenneth Alguire of Newington. The marriage will take place in St. Bernard's Church, Finch, on July 13 at 4 p.m.

North Stormont Junior Hockey League opens 1968 season with double-header

The North Stormont Junior Hockey League opened its 1968 season with a double-header played in the Finch Community Centre on Friday, January 5th.

In the opener, defending champion Osnabruck Centre blanked Finch 6 - 0. The teams appeared evenly matched as they battled through a scoreless first period and part way in the second frame. At the 6.15 minute spot the Osnabruck Centre cloudburst commenced as Larry Swerdfeger fired one which glanced off a Finch players knee to land behind a surprised Ron MacLeod in the Finch net. Bernie Adams picked up a pass from Swerdfeger and Don Collins and netted the second goal as the clock read 8.02. Finch was unable to cope with the fired up Centre team and the third and fourth goals came from Bernie Disotell at the 10.50 and 14.05 minute marks. Dave Bancroft slid in the last counter of the period for a count of 5 to 0. Finch revived during the rest period and held the Centre to one goal at the 2.45 mark as Don Collins netted a pass from Roy Zeran.

Minor penalties were evenly split with each team picking up three.

In the night-iap Avonmore used their usual passing pattern and persistence to get an early lead over Berwick and earn a 7 to 4 victory.

Bob Grant sank the first goal for Avonmore on a pass from Reid McIntyre, after one minute, followed by Billy Park's goal at the 9.50 spot on a hand off from Don Poirier. Norman Morrison tipped in his first goal of the evening with Murray MacMillan earning the assist. Steve O'Donohue put Berwick on the score board unassisted as the session ended with the score Avonmore 3 to Berwick's 1.

Dean McIntyre scored for Avonmore on a solo effort after two minutes of the middle frame and brother Reid blasted one in on a pass from Dean at the 6 minute mark. Bob Grant got his second tally as the clock said eleven minutes and O'Donohue made it 6 to 2 three minutes later.

With the final frame just two minutes old O'Donohue combined with brothers Bryan and Leonard to get his hat trick and scored again at 7.30 from Leonard. Norman Morrison rounded off the evening by netting his second goal alone to make the Board read Avonmore 7 - Berwick 4.

The winners had four minor penalties and Berwick three. The calibre of the hockey served up by all teams was deserving of the fans support. Don't miss the next games.

Mr, Mrs J. O'Shaughnessy mark 68th anniversary

Three great - grandchildren were added to the family tree. They were: Neil James O'Shaughnessy, Brockville; Shawn Terry Dafoe, Ingleside; and a great grand-daughter born January 3rd, Kristy Ann Salmon of Brantford.

Their relatives and many friends wish them well in the coming years.

Chesterville council members were sworn to office this past Monday morning. They are shown here during their evening meeting that went on until midnight. All members are new to the job with the exception of the reeve who served in the late Forties and early Fifties. Subsidies needed in Canada's dairy industry?

Subsidies were paid this year by the Canadian Dairy Commission to 146,248 producers of manufacturing cream and milk, compared with 165,000 producers last year. According to the Kingston Whig-Standard, Mr Greene did not give the Government all the credit for this reduction but said that problems within the industry were slowly correcting themselves.

The main problem is rapid change in the industry, according to the Minister. Dairy producers have not kept up with improvements in technique and many farms are too small and out of date. A survey of manufacturing milk and cream producers in 1966 showed that only 54 per cent of them were using milking machines.

The Government has recently made it known that from April 1, 1968, farmers who do not come up to quotas which have been set for them in 1967, will not receive the subsidy in 1968. About 97,000 farmers are reported to be under the minimum. But there is a lot of backing and filling going on, with talk of "compensatory payments" for those who find themselves in this position. It appears certain that the Government will not remove the subsidy without making some other payment, fearing that suc h action would lead to a wholesale bankrupting of smaller farmers.

Short of a wholesale rationalization of the farming of dairy products there seems no way out of subsidies. And, in view of the human element in this equation, such wholesale action will not be taken until, as Mr Greene has admitted, a rural poverty program and plans for retraining and relocation are ready to go into effect.

Tax-collecting

The further one goes back in history, the clearer it becomes that the world's oldest profession is tax-collecting, followed closely by bureaucracy and undertaking. "Tax collectors lurked everywhere," writes an expert on Assyriology in a new book, describing life some 43 centuries ago. "Bureaucrats bustled about, their open palms following citizens to the grave, and the petty official who brought the dead to the cemetery had to be paid off with seven pitchers of beer and 420 loaves of bread." How familiar it all seems, except that today's bureaucrats and tax men do their demanding on paper and the undertakers will take only dollars and use limousines for transport.

Nor is excessive government spending anything new, points out the Kitchener - Waterloo Record. King Solomon splurged so much on magnificent palaces and on homes and shrines for his many wives that he bankrupted ancient Israel.

Penny is a cent

Language purists have been upset for a long time by the American choice of the word "penny" when they should say "cent."

The penny, of course, does not exist in the United States money system. The Montreal Gazette says that it is British and, at the original value of the pound, it was worth two cents.

The purists needn't worry any longer. The latest devaluation of the pound has cut its trading worth to an even half of what it was before 1949. So the British penny is now worth just one cent. Interchanging the terms doesn't really matter.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I take exception to your statement that the way to cure a child of biting is to bite him back. That two-year-old who bit his father was trying to communicate with him.

Child development experts know that two-year-olds do not have large vocabularies and often they bite, pinch and hit to express themselves. This does not mean that they are angry. It merely means they want attention. These primitive methods of attention-getting disappear as the child matures.

Nursery school and kindergarten teachers understand this about young children and they act accordingly. It would be good if parents and advice columnists understood it, too.—Miss K.S.

Dear K.S.. I checked with five authorities. Number One said: "An adult should never punish a child by causing him physical discomfort."

Number Two said: "A youngster who bites is best cured by showing him that a bite is painful and if he inflicts pain on others he will receive the same treatment in return."

Number Four said: "A two-year-old should not be bitten. He should receive a sound spanking."

Number Five said: "Each child is different. I am in favour of whatever gets results. If a child who bites fails to respond to a scolding, a bite in return could get the message across very effectively."

So, Miss K. S. now you have five expert opinions from which to choose. And this supports a theory of mine — for every theory there is a counter-theory. Be my guest.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for "Mad at You" — the woman who complained about her sloppy husband because from the day she married the bum he managed to drop his clothes in the hamper wrong-side out.

Please tell the lady that her sad story gets me right here. From the day I married, my husband has managed to drop his clothes on the floor. Also the lovely shoeshine kit I bought him for his birthday has made shining his shoes much easier. For me that is.

It is virtually impossible for a wife to train a husband to be meticulous about putting things where they belong if his mother let him get away with murder in his growing-up years. I made up my mind when I married that I would not nag about trifles, and believe me, this is a trifle.

My husband is wonderful in so many meaningful ways that I count my blessings and keep my mouth shut about the trivialities.

Ann, please come up with a slogan to help women like "Mad at You." They need a little homespun philosophy to lean on. — No Complaints from Here.

Dear No Complaints: Thanks for yor mature approach to a common problem. Here's the slogan you asked for: "Don't swear at the small stuff, girls."

Confidential to Born to The Wrong Generation: Sorry about that, but I can't imagine a more useless gripe. Wouldn't you rather have been born late in your mother's life than not at all?

USEFUL ENERGY SOURCE FOUND IN WHEAT BRAN

Wheat bran, a by-product of the wheat milling industry, can be improved in feeding value if it is steam pelleted before being offred to the feed industry. Experiments conducted by the Poultry Department, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, found that the energy value of bran was considerably improved when the products were steam pelleted.

Large quantittes of wheat bran and shorts are available but due to their low nutritive value in relation to cereal grains, they have been used only to a limited extent in commercial poultry and swine rations. Along with their relatively low nutritive value, wheat by-products have been found hard to handle because of their bulky nature and flow characteristics. Steam pelleting can overcome some of these problems.

In the tests, two methods of pelleting were tried. Steam pelletting of wheat bran was found to be superior to dry pelleting in the growth and feed efficiency experiments with poultry. The available energy was increased by about 33 prcent whn it was steam pelleted.

These results indicate that this feed ingredient could find a more important place in the commercial feeding of poultry and swine. Further tests are continuing.

A TALL TALE

Nenry Shilton, 50, thought doctors at a Yorkshire, Eng., hospital would not believe his explanation of how he lost his national health hearing aid — he hardly believed it himself.

An emu picked it off Shilton's ear and swallowed it at a zoo. Health officials didn't turn a hair, they just gave him a new one. "We hear a lot of very odd tales here," said one.

POINSETTIA NOW IN MANY SHADES

Through careful hybridization, over the past decade, the traditional red poinsettia has acquired a number of exciting new shades. A complete range of pastel pinks, vivid cherry reds through dark blood reds and many shades of white and cream are now on the market. As a pleasant novelty this year, try one of the new shades, you will be impressed with their unique color and size.

Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food warn that poinsettia plants may develop yellow on the lower leaves if they are not properly watered. With this plant, over-watering is the most common occurrence. Always allow the surface soil to become dry to the touch before applying additional water. Never allow the base of the pot to sit in water for an extended period of time! Another cause of yellowing and dropping of leaves is excessive room temperature. This plant should be kept at about 65 degrees F and not allowed to stand in any draughts as it is extremely susceptible to temperature fluctuations.

A general lightening of the dark green coloration of this plant is a symptom of nitrogen deficiency. For best results, feed the poinsettia with a complete liquid fertilizer such as 20-20-20 at the rate of one tablespoon per gallon of water every two weeks.

DEVIL'S TONGUE IS A UNIQUE HOUSE PLANT

The Hydrosme Rivieri, often called Devil's Tongue or Snake Palm, in a native of Africa and Aria and makes an exeremely interesting and unique house plant. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food tell us that the care of this plant is quite similar to that of the Amaryllis.

The bulb is usually planted during its winter rest period and kept at a temperature of 50 to 60 degrees F until it starts into growth. A good soil mixture for this plant consists of one part good loam, one part peat moss, and one part sharp sand. Plant in a fairly large pot. Use about an inch of crushed gravel in the bottom for adequate drainage.

This plant attains a height of 3 to 4 feet. Its huge calla-like inflorescence appears in late winter or in spring prior to the foliage. The flower is upwards of a foot in length and about six inches across, and is predominantly greyish purple in color. At maturity, it emits a rather obnoxious carrion odor and should be removed when this is first noted.

The bloom is followed by a single, immense, much-divided, umbrella like leaf. During the summer it may be placed outdoors, either planted in the open ground or buried to the rim in a tub of soil, cinders or sand. It requires plenty of water, partial shade, and liberal feeding with diluted liquid fertilizers through-out its season of growth. Be sure an' bring it in well in advance o frocst as this plant is quite susceptible to damage.

WHAT NEXT?

Bill Capenor's new chore as caretaker in the National Coal Board office is watering a carpet. The makers said the carpet should be watered daily for three months to make it bed down properly and Capenor, of Coleorton, Eng., says: it's one of the funniest jobs I ever had to do. It's the manufacturer's idea, not ours. Most people think it's rather a joke."

Evening Unit—

Trinity United Church Wom. hold January meeting

On January 2nd, 1968, Mrs A. Gillard opened the meeting of Evening Unit of the U. C. W. of Trinity United Church by extending New Year's greetings.

After the singing of "Standing at the Portal of the Opening Year", Mrs Gillard read poetry and a prayer on this theme. She then thanked Mrs A. Graham for entertaining the meeting in her home. Mrs G. Droppo and Mrs L. McMillan were commended for their efforts in decorating the church interior for the Christmas season. The roll and minutes were read by Mrs H. Belsher. It was noted that in place of the usual Spring bazaar, the U. C. W. would hold a bake sale and tea. Donations to the money shower were received.

Mrs C. Merkley led the group in worship with a hymn and scripture, read in unison. Mrs A. Graham read Helen Hayes version of "My Faith in Prayer."

Many beautiful slides were shown by Mrs D. Hitsman, of a trip she had taken through Banf, Lake Louise, the ice fields and on to Vancouver. Her accompanying narration was surpassed only by her adeptness in photography. When thanking Mrs Hitsman, Mrs Gillard mentioned that the scenerey viewing must have brought pleasant memories to some, and a desire to many, to see western Canada.

Before the meeting came to a close, a delicious lunch was served by the executive.

BANK TEACHES HOUSEWIVES

Sweden's first woman banker and her institution, Svenska Handelsbanken, provide a series of one-day household economy courses to help make housewives' chores a little easier — and gain new customers for the bank.

As guests of Elsa Nygren's bank, one of the biggest in Scaninavia, several hundred women attending the courses spend one day in luxury.

Talks are arranged for them on a wide range of subjects. They are given lunch in a first-class hotel or restaurant and a gift of Swedish glass, pottery or other handicraft work.

They get home hints on how to save time, trouble and money, and make their homes more comfortable.

Some of their worst problems appear to vanish as they listen to suggestions on how they can balance their budgets, shop more wisely and provide appetizing family meals with food they can afford to buy.

There are tips on legal problems which crop up in connection with home-buying and family life, and part of the day is given to the question of choosing, buying and taking care of clothes.

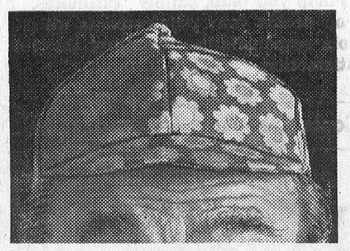
Who thinks up new wrinkles for getting rid of old ones, in slacks and sheets and fabrics of all kinds?



Nothing is perfect. This fact has helped Dominion Textile become a leader in the Canadian textile industry. Because it means there must be ways to improve almost every fabric. Dominion Textile is constantly searching for these ways.

And finding quite a few of them. Slacks that keep the press in and the creases out. Sheets you never have to iron.

New and better techniques, new and better ways of doing things, new and better fabrics. From Tex-Made, the fabric people.

The Day My Goose Was Cooked

By Dave Mackie,

RR2, Edwards, Ontario

A few weeks back the cook took sick
And had to be admitted.
I had to take on all the jobs,
At least, the few for which I was fitted.

The jobs which I was best at
Were very, very few;
But I could wash the dishes
And make a pot of stew.

We didn't get up early,
As we went to bed quite late,
So we really had to hustle
As the bus came sharp at eight.

Then I would bundle Junior up
To Granma's for the day,
Then to the barn to finish the chores—
I had only fed the hay.

Now rnning to the barn
I must do the chores at once,
As my brother-in-law and his man
Were dropping in for lunch.

What would I cook for dinner,
I had no deer or moose,
But looking through the freezer
I spied a big fat goose.

Says I, I'll mix up some dressing
And stuff him very hard;
I'll put it in the roast pan
And soak it well with lard.

Then I put in some water,
Some butter, then some salt;
The poor old goose was floating
But it wasn't all his fault.

The morning it was going on
I was araid to look,
So I turned the burners to the top—
That wasn't in the book.

Then running to the stable
To see if all was well,
Then back to the house once more
I smelt a greasy smell.

Then opening up the door
I had a funny feeling,
The flames were in the roast pan
They went right to the ceiling.

The poor old goose was all dried up
And burn't right to a crunch;
I threw the pan and goose outside
And put toast on for lunch.

Just a warning to you young guys
Who are still on the loose:
Better plug the toaster in
And never mind the goose.

THE BIBLE TODAY..

Plans to expand Bible translation and distribution programs were developed during the annual meeting of the Advisory Council of the American Bible Society.

Dr. Eugene Nida, executive secretary for translations, told the council that "in no other place has there been such a growth in the Christian church" as in Africa. The problems in Africa are accentuated by the fact that many sects have splintered off from the main bodies of the Church. Consequently there are some "4,000 African churches which carry the name of Christ."

Many competent African churchmen are eager to serve on translation committees. "Nearly half the membership of the translation committees is made up of Africans," said Dr. Nida. The Bible or portions are available in 400 of the 800 languages spoken in Africa; so that the Scriptures are within reach of "about 70% of the population."

Bible translations in 70 different languages throughout the world are going forward with some "measure of co-operation" between Roman Catholics, and the predominantly Protestant Bible Socities. Catholics in all 20 language areas of the Congo have proposed co-operative translation efforts. A new Arabic Bible now being planned will involve co-operation of the Orthodox Churches as well as Catholics and Protestants. Catholic leaders dealing with eight languages in the Philippines have asked to co-operate with the Bible Society in translations there.

Scout News

By the Regional Director

In order to start the New Year off to a good start I thought it would be a good idea to re-cap some of our forthcoming programs and proposals.

Of course in January there is to be our regular District Executive Meeting, with time, place and date to be announced, this is to be followed up with a District Staff Meeting to discuss some of our programming for the coming year along with our CAN-AM Scout Exchange with Easton, Pennsyvania, more details will be forthcoming as they are available. We still plan on having that St. John's Ambulance course starting sometime in January. No word has yet been received from the Scouters on those who would be interested in attending this course. We plan on having both a Sr. and a Jr. level coures.

February is to be headed off with a Basic Pack Scouters Course in Brockville District, all those interested in taking this course are asked to contact the District Commisioner, Howard Countryman for further details. This is expected to be followed by a Basic Troop Scouters Course. Do not forget that Scout Week is rapidly approuching us, and groups are requested to be thinking about their window displays and activities to commemorate this week. Our Scouter's Dinner Dance i still scheduled at the Cardinal Legion for Feb., 24, this is open to all registered Scouters, we are hoping for ag ood turnout for this event. The Fire Cheif from Dupont of Canada, Mr Eric Monk has agreed to run a short Fire Provention Course for each group this is to be ably assisted by H. Countryman, you are asked to cseck with your Executive who attends the District meetings for more information on this item.

It has been proposed to have a SNOW-ARAMA at Prescott Community centre sometime in March, let us hear some of your pros and cons on this event, give it some thought, talk it over in your group and see what they think. That list of boys who were to go to the Ontario Jamboree at Kelso Conservation Park has been falling behind badly. We have still 9 names yet to come in. Those groups who have not yet registered your boys are asked to advise the District commissioner if it is your intention to send your quota, or is it to be left to some other group who is anxious to send more than one.

We have been advised by our Feild Executive that all boys and leaders registered before December 31, 1967 are entitled to wear the Centennial flash as long as tsey are members of the Boy Scouts of Canada. You are advised to get those orders in while they still are available. You are advised that the new Ontario Scout Emblem is now available as an embroidered badge, the badge has the same design as before, featuring the trillium.

Scouters and Group Committees are asked to remember that funds are available in the District to send one Troop Scouter and One Pack Scouter to Blue Springs on a part 2 of their Wood Badge Course provinding that they have their Part 1 completed.

We have been recently advised that the Scouters Course in Wanakena, N.Y., has been called off this year.

I was looking through some old copies of my Scout Leader Magazines lately and I came across a little poem, thought I would just pass it along for what it is worth:

If a child lives with criticism,
He learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility,
He learns to fight.
If a child lives with ridicule,
He learns to be shy.

If a child lives with tolerance,
He learns to be patient.
If a child lives with encouragement, He learns to be confident.
If a child lives with praise, He learns to appreciate.

If a child lives with fairness,
He learns to have faith.
If a child lives with approval,
He learns to like himself.

If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, He learns to find love in the world.

PEOPLE STILL STICK WITH CHEWING GUM

Bubblegum is bigger than ever —so what's new from the company that invented it?

Nothing and everything. Bubble gum wa created by an employee of the Frank H. Fleer Corp. at its Philadelphia plant 39 years ago. It still sells for a cent, but today it is only the centrepiece of a $40,000,000 industry of old gimmicks.

Bubble gum alone grosses about $25,000,000 annually in the United States, with Fleer still dominant in a field that has three other major competitors. Its plant makes 4,000,000 pieces daily, enough to cover 15 miles if laid end-to-end.

Now there is gum with tattoos, gum with stickers, gum with cartoons, gum with trading cards, and many, many items with no gum at all — all aimed at the kid trade.

"That's who we're after every day, every month, all the time," said Donald D. Peck, vice president and general manager.

Fleer in the last year began turning out items like Razzles, a pressed gum; Back Slapper Stickers, Stupid Cards, Button Factory, Underdog, Heads 'n Tails, The Mighty Heroes and Milton the Monster.

"You have to turn yourself into a kid and have the excitement of a kid when you figure out some crazy things," says Fleer's chief product creator. "Then you have to turn yourself around and make sure the item will be good business.

The life of a novelty is about 60 days in a given market. If the novelty catches on, it can last about a year throughout the country.

Bubble gum was the creation of Walter E. Diemer, now executive vice-president in charge of foreign sales.
