Remodelling planned in hall council clears Sept. business

All members of Chesterville council were on hand for the September meeting held in the clerk's office Tuesday evening. The reeve, Carl Merkley, presided.

Hydro business was light. Discussion centred around a proposed new system of rating the cost of electricity to users. The local committee felt the new system did not offer too many advantages over the present system. A resolution to that effect was forwarded to the accounting department of Ontario Hydro.

Problems arise when the clerk-treasurer is not notified of the arrival of new tenants or the departure of old tenants in rented premises. The committee noted that an advertisement should be placed in the "Record" calling attention to the necessity of making a $10 deposit as a meter charge when a new service starts.

Chesterville council shuddered when it received notice of a jump of 100% in auditing costs. The local government felt it was a rather heavy increase and decided to resent the sudden raid on the municipal budget. The clerk was instructed to forward the council attitude to the auditors and make them a counter offer.

Interim subsidy for $6,000 was sent to the Department of Highways for approval. This has to do with repair and maintenance of village thoroughfares.

Community hall auditorium came under the scrutiny of council. There remains some repair and decorating to be done before the Fall season gets underway. A storage area is planned for the 300 chairs of the hall at the back of the room.

Regret was expressed that caretaker Robert Ouderkirk will not be able to look after his work due to illness. Council instructed the hall committee to interview applicants and hire one on a monthly basis. The hall caretaker receives $50 per month.

The following accounts were passed and paid:

CRUMBS
from
Graham's Loaf

A sudden hush fell on this emporium of sweat and tears Wednesday. Hizzoner took off for the West along with the co-publisher; they boarded the west-bound CPR "Dominion" from Ottawa and that is the last we will see of them until the 21st. Such a relief!

One of the nice things about the boss's holidays, is that he has all the work done before he goes away. Take for example this next few days, and you will see what we mean. Facing this "B" and that "B" is a small matter of 1,400 pounds of paper cut to a sheet half the size of a bridge table. That stuff has to be fed through the old Kelly press and receive an imprint, the direct work of "B's" fingers on the Intertype. Two sides that is. Give or take a few thousand, the machinery will stamp sixty thousand sheets. By the time "B" worries himself sick over the printing, the spray and the ink, we will have the folder panting in anticipation.

The Great White Father said as he left: "The folder won't give you any trouble. Just work away at it." So we have three-quarters of a ton of fine paper to worry with. The big piles of paper must go through the folder twice; that's another 120 thousand times added to the first 60 thousand. That should be enough but it isn't. The word was, we would have to get the folded pieces mailed at once, and when the bull whip cracks, naturally we cringe and do what our own Chesterville Legree says.

Up to now we have fooled with the paper until 180 thousand pieces have been handled. Now comes the real interesting part. Each of those pieces must receive an address, stamped in a particular place, so even the post office employees can read it. As a result Joe Blow living at Heart's Content, Newfoundland, and Jane White, address Salmon River, Vancouver Island, are supposed to receive our effort at the same time. By now the total handle has risen to 240 thousand and we are apt to wonder why we ever started to work at this peculiar trade at all.

As usual the work will get done, even though the boss is out on the town lapping up various samples of hospitality and lying vigorously with other members of the weekly newspaper trade. As far as the slaves of this shop can understand, he spends most of his time doing just that on these junkets east and west. He has promised though, to take us with him some time. After another twenty years that is, when we will be so broken and bent, the pleasure of a holiday will be a dream.

As this sad story is being written here in the back shop, the mail truck pulled up. The man says he has five thousand pounds of magazines aboard, addressed to the "Record" and what in the suffering —— will he do with them. Now that's a neat little problem, and no boss here to cope. Looks as if the "B's", the redhead and the lady at the keyboard will have a busy time!

Township council meets at Williamsburg

Winchester Township council met September 3 in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Williamsburg, with all members present.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to petition the Department of Highways for the interim statutory grant on roads and bridges. The clerk was instructed to notify the township engineer, L. P. Stidwell, to make a complete report on the drainage in Williamsburg Village with his recommendations for a better drainage system.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders on the construction of the Dawley drain. The clerk was also authorized to advertise for tenders for the construction of two culverts in the township.

The clerk was instructed to request the Department of Highways for another entrance on No. 2 Highway at Riverside Heights.

The following orders and accounts were paid: Roads and bridges, 8,228.49; pound keeper's awards, $150; relief, $163; Public School Board, $5,000; salaries, $353.33; drains, $443.07; grants, $150; $150; miscellaneous, $12.10.

Rare blooms

Miss Laura Moffat, Morewood, has a fine, large night blooming cereus. The big plant is a little more prolific than most though. It has burst into bloom with no less than six flowers in the past 14 months; usually the plants bloom every few years. It is all ready to bloom again, with a big bud threatening to open any night now.

Per capita consumption of tea in Britain is almost 10 pounds a year, the highest rate in the world.

Chesterville Fair was the best yet last week. A big crowd, fine weather, tremendous numbers of cattle and horses and good exhibits made the record crowd go home home satisfied. So many worthwhile subjects popped up in front of the Record camera, it was hard to choose. At the top is a general view of the cattle pens looking west. Just below are a group of earnest 4-H'ers lining up for the judges. The lower picture was taken at Chesterville and District Safety Council display. It proved very popular with movies and tests. Murray Rowe, Safety Promotion Officer for this area, is at the right with Mrs S. O'Connor and Mrs G. Lannin. The lady under the awning left for the West just after the camera snapped. —Record Photos.

At Morewood-

Presbyterian W.M.S. observes 70th anniversary

Members of Morewood Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society celebrated their 70th anniversary on Thursday evening, September 1, in the hall.

Miss Lill Feeley presided over a very large gathering when members of the Auxiliaries from Morrisburg, Winchester, Chesterville, Winchester Springs, Dunbar, Finch, Crysler, Vernon and Morewood United Church societies were guests.

Devotions were taken by Mrs D. Runions and Mrs Ross Nurse. Guests were welcomed by Mrs Dalton Baker, among whom were Dr A. Nimmo, retiring moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church and a former pastor, and Mrs Nimmo.

Mrs D. Wooldridge read a very concise and well prepared account of the work accomplished by the Society since it was organized 70 years ago.

Mrs C. A. MacGregor introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs A. Nimmo. She had accompanied her husband on a tour of the mission fields in Japan and Formosa where their daughter and son-in-law, Rev George and Mrs Malcolm, were stationed.

She showed pictures taken of their entire tour with the accompanying travelogue giving a wonderful insight into the lives and customs of the Formosan and Japanese people, as well as views of missions and churches.

While the offering was received by Mrs R. Stewart, Mrs Wm. Steen, Mrs W. C. Hunter and Miss L. Thompson, the ladies of the church choir sang special music with Miss Laura Hunter at the piano.

Mrs W. C. McQuaig thanked the speakers and those who had assisted in making the evening so enjoyable.

The program was arrangd by Mrs W. C. Hunter, Mrs Allen Smirle and Mrs T. W. Moffat.

Dr A. Nimmo spoke briefly, telling some of his interesting experiences on the mission field, and closed the meeting with prayer.

A social hour followed, when refreshments were served, giving everyone an opportunity to meet Dr and Mrs Nimmo.

Mrs Calvin Gallinger marks 90th birthday

Mrs Bert Weegar entertained a number of friends and neighbours on Monday, September 5, in honour of the 90th birthday of her mother, Mrs Calvin Gallinger.

Mrs Gallinger received a number of gifts and cards of congratulations.

Tea was served in rooms decorated with baskets of flowers. A birthday cake centred the tastefully arranged table. Serving tea was Mrs B. Weegar, assisted by Mrs Donald Weegar.

Mrs Gallinger was delighted to have with her an old high school friend, Mrs A. L. McLean, and daughters, Mrs McMillan and Mrs Crawford, of Finch.

Wearing a gown of black crepe and lace and a corsage of roses, she mingled with her guests, visiting with all.

In the evening members of the immediate family were present, Mr and Mrs Oliver Gallinger, Ingleside, Mrs E. R. Styles, Mr and Mrs Robert Stephenson and family, Brinston.

Stuart was born in Chesterville 24 years ago to Mr and Mrs Bert Fawcett (nee Mildred Duval). He lived here all his life and is survived by his parents and one brother, Brent.

The funeral took place from his home to Trinity United Church where service was conducted on Tuesday, September 6, by the Rev E. B. Bugden at 2 p.m. Interment followed in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Jas. Moran, Claude McPhail, Harry Greer, Denzil English, Doug Fawcett and Terry Fawcett.

Mr K leads an invasion

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, it now is officially announced, will head his country's delegation at the United Nations General Assembly session to open in New York September 20. In addition, it is expected that the heads of satellite states will head their delegations, states the Christian Science Monitor.

This clearly means that the Communist hierarchy of the Soviet Union is planning a major diplomatic and propaganda move of some kind in which Mr Khrushchev seeks to speak from a world platform and with as imposing a claque as he can muster.

The United States and the West should be prepared for a possible major offensive either on the advertised topic of disarmament or on Berlin or Africa or some extraneous subject. There is no reason why any such attack should take the West off balance. Washington should be preparing initiatives to be taken before the Assembly opens.

If the Soviet bloc means to talk about arms reduction it should first be called on to explain why it peremptorily broke up the ten-nation conference at Geneva. Mr Khrushchev also should be asked why the Soviet Union makes the UN mission more difficult in the Congo and why its fliers shot down an RB-47 plane over international waters.

If the Soviet Government has substantive proposals to advance looking toward a safer and more orderly world, President Eisenhower has indicated these will be seriously considered notwithstanding Mr Khrushchev's abusive performance toward him in Paris last May.

The Assembly delegates should weigh carefully whatever the Soviet Premier has to say to appraise whether it seeks to advance peace or whether it strikes a melodramatic pose for peace to advance the purposes of communism.

SOEST, West Germany—Two months of summer holidays—what to do with the youngsters?

The Canadian Army's NATO force is solving the problem in much the same manner as communities back home—supervised recreation. But the children of our fighting men have an added advantage in this area of Westphalia, they and their mothers can take tours to places of historic and shopping interest, or to the famous Wuppertal Zoo.

The three communities of Werl, Hemer and Soest have similar programs for their youngsters. As we drove into the Soest Permanent Married Quarters we saw a group of lads in a game of baseball, so we decided to stop right there.

The Canadian Army brought professional directors to West Germany at the beginning of July, and in a few days, with the co-operation of the "Mayors" and committees, full programs were in full swing in each of the communities.

At Soest, we met Capt. H. R. Ryan, director of intramural athletics and recreation for men at McGill University, and Lieut. Norman Higgs, physical education director of Chippewa Secondary School, North Bay, who are directing the Brigade Headquarters program.

They have a group of teenagers engaged by the community committee headed by Major Jack Baillie, "Mayor" of the Soest community. Five of them are on duty each day. Providing excellent leadership are "Pat" Elliott, Bob Long, Gloria Dann, Judy Clark, Cheryl Bramwell, Barbara Campbell, Penny Provin, Bob Hanna, Doug Crookes, Denis Bult-Francis, John McKibbin, Beverley Campbell, Camille LeGros, Sandra Rayner, Sandy Weeks, Patricia Watson, Brian Bellefontaine and Karla Williams.

The junior program takes in girls up to nine years, and boys to seven—over that the boys are apt to look on the games as "sissy" affairs, and so are sent on to the senior groups.

The juniors participate in singing and low organization games, arts and crafts; they have a story-telling period and a free play period. Seniors have a wide variety of activity with the main focus on high organization games like baseball and softball, touch football, a Canadian version of cricket, volleyball, deck tennis and track and field. A field day for track and field for boys and girls was held July 29. Classes were set by height, not age. Leagues were also organized for softball, volleyball and football.

While the playgrounds were well attended, the highlight of the summer program is swimming. The program parallels the Red Cross system, including two classes for beginners, intermediate and advanced.

An innovation for adults was the course in physical recreation for married women — "fitness through participation."

Four tours may be chosen by mothers and children from the 14 offered. A system of reservations ensures a fair distribution. Tours leave by bus from the Maple Leaf service store at 10 a.m. and arrive back at 5 p.m.

Tours include visits to Altena Castle; Bad Driburg, well-known spa; Furstenburg, sightseeing and china; Hagen, Hohensyberg castle; Detmold, Hermann Monument; sightseeing and shopping at Essen, Dortmund and Munster; the zoo and famous monorail at Wuppertal; the Sauerland trip includes Winterberg and other sightseeing excursions; sightseeing at Munsterland and Tecklenburg. Two of the most popular tours will be repeated at the end of the season.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

Boris Zaiteff, one of the outstanding Russian writers of today writes of the new translation in modern Russian of the four Gospels, in these words, "On my desk lies a small black-bound book, with a gold cross on the cover, and above it, also in gold, "The Gospel." This is a new translation of the four Gospels from the Greek, published by The British and Foreign Bible Society. The translation is by Bishop Cassian, assisted by a commission made up of Prof. Kartasheff, V. N. Rayevsky, Prof. A. P. Wassilieff, N. A. Koulomzine and others.

For five years every Friday members of the commission sat for four or five hours reading the text over and over again, comparing, discussing, sometimes so carried away that tempers were almost lost.

"Once we disputed half an hour over the commas in one verse of Matthew. It also happened that, having decided upon one turn of phrase, two years later we changed it, only to return after two years to the earlier. text. And now five years' labour has taken the form of 234 small pages—the four Gospels."

So came into being the first "private" (not specifically commissioned and authorized by the Synod of the Orthodox Church) unofficial translation in the Russian language.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

by Lillian Allison

On Monday morning the new CBC women's commentator began by saying something like this: Today is the first Monday in September. This is the day we move back to town from the cottage and settle down for the fall round of work, meetings, church activities, clubs, etc., that have been dormant during the summer. This is the day we wash and iron, look for clothes, books and so on to get the children off to school. We attend to the garden and begin to get ready for winter. We fertilize the lawn and plant the bulbs for spring flowering. That is probably why they call it Labour Day.

Well I didn't do quite all those jobs on Labour Day but I did manage a few of them. The washing, for example. It's a good thing we women take an optimistic outlook on washday. I do, I know. Forty-five Mondays out of the year I tell myself that I haven't much to wash this week and so it won't take long. When I finish I have the usual line and a half or more. And that for two of us. I often wonder how women with families of five or six manage to get anything done during the week except the washing.

After the washing I checked the garden. We were having sweet corn for dinner—our second, and alas our final feed of home-grown corn for the season. Saturday night we had six ears about four inches long. Monday I found five for our dinner. I had almost to get down on my knees to pick it. Some of it isn't more than two feet high.

The cucumbers dried up nicely too about a month ago. I wondered if the recent rain will revive them. The vines weren't exactly dead. The beans had some fresh blossoms again. There should be enough green ones for another meal soon. One early cabbage had burst, I noticed, even though it wasn't any larger than my two fists.

The onions and summer savory which were harvested a while ago were quite satisfactory, but there have been a lot of rotten tomatoes. Maybe the moisture will perk them up again. The potatoes are past saving. They're dead as wood. We'll probably have a bagful. We didn't plant quite that many fortunately. They're so good I wish they'd last all winter. They are dry and floury and delicious and white as cottage cheese.

After dinner I undertook another project. I washed two rayon dresses in solvent. That is a gasoline-like product available from the oil companies but not nearly so explosive as gasoline. I used it outdoors anyway to be safe.

Now I don't recommend it for cleaning stained or spotted dresses—better let the cleaners tackle them—but for clothes that are merely greasy from summer perspiration it works well.

I used about a gallon—half in each of two refrigerator dishes. I washed the light-coloured dress first by kneading it up and down in one dish then rinsing it in the other and did the same with the second one. A little squeeze-out didn't hurt but real wringing would have made too many wrinkles. I hung them on wooden hangers to drip dry. Later I pressed them on the wrong side with the steam iron at low heat. It takes time for the odour to vanish but it does.

Being Scotch I carefully poured the dirty solvent into another can. (I use it to clean the hardwood floors. I just pour a little on the floor, spread it over a three-foot area, scrub off any spots with fine steel wool, wipe it all off with a soft cloth and wax. It works like a charm and is much better for hardwood than water.)

Since it was such a lovely, sunny day on Monday it was possible to return the sheets and pillow cases to the bed, the towels to the drawers without ironing. It's not just because they smell so good that I like to omit the ironing. It's because I prefer to avoid any work that I possibly can.

Needing another excuse to stay outside I got the big pan that fits the bathroom window and filled it with ground for the winter petunias. It's about 2½'x1½' and four inches deep. I set out ten tiny petunias that have been struggling to live all summer. Even in the south window they won't bloom until February when the days get longer. But from then until the tulips are ready in May I'll have pink flowers for bouquets.

When I was at the job I set out a new rabbit's foot fern and gave the old one a pedicure. That completes the house plants, I think, unless I can steal some pink geranium slips somewhere. I'd like to have some to put outdoors next spring. They have to be pink to match our shutters.

That plus writing this column and doing the ironing completed Monday. It was Labour Day all right.

In the 2.25 class Meadow Sam, owned and driven by A. MacIntosh, Inkerman, placed first in a field of eight. The time of both heats was 2.13.

In the free-for-all, Bunters Vic, owned by Ivan Merkley, of Chesterville, and driven by Roy Adams, Brinston, received the blanket, donated by Cam Thompson, for doing the mile in 2.12 4-5. Five other horses were entered in the race.

March's Shows provided an excellent midway and did a rushing business throughout the day.

Two interesting exhibits, one by the Department of Highways, and the other provided by Chesterville Safety Council, assisted by the Ontario Department of Transport, aroused much interest. The latter exhibit was in charge of Mrs Sarsfield O'Connor and Mrs Eric Casselman, both of Chesterville.

Tuesdays program was given over to the boys and girls. There was a series of sports events with generous cash prizes being awarded to the winners.

An outstanding exhibit of farm machinery and equipment was on the grounds. Wednesday night there was a dance in the Community Hall, music being supplied by Russ Hay's Orchestra.

Following is a summary of the livestock judging on Wednesday:

LANNIN'S "Home Centre"

Seasonal Reminders:

You can save DOLLARS and add much to your comfort during the colder months by following these suggestions:

Install a storm sash on every window in the heated area of your home.

Install a storm or combination door on every door opening exposed to the elements. These doors should include a bottom sweep to prevent cold, snow and rain from coming in and also prevent the bottom of the door from collecting ice and sticking.

Weatherstrip all outside doors at top and sides and install a flexible threshold under the door.

Install a door canopy over exterior door openings to shed snow, rain and ice from doors and stoops.

Caulk with grey caulking compound around door and window frames.

If your attic is now insulated check to ensure that you have adequate ventilation. Inadequate ventilation above the insulation robs efficiency, and added louvres will correct this.

If your attic is not insulated you should consider this a must. More heat is lost through uninsulated attics than all outside walls.

A kitchen ventilating fan dispels unpleasant cooking odours and helps freshen air throughout the whole building without opening outside doors during cold weather.

Come in today and discuss your WINTER PROBLEMS. WE CAN HELP YOU.

Miss Gwen MacIntosh honoured at shower

The Orange Hall, Finch, was filled to capacity on Friday evening when Miss Gwen MacIntosh was guest of honour at a miscellaneous shower. Miss MacIntosh is to be married September 10.

Before the bride-elect arrived, the guests were entertained with piano music by Miss Jean MacMillan.

Miss MacIntosh was escorted to the front of the hall by Mrs Myles Nephew who pinned a corsage of red roses on her. Mrs Earl Bicks played the bridal chorus. Miss Jean MacMillan pinned corsages on Miss Donalda MacIntosh and Mrs Bud Lang who assisted the bride-elect in opening her gifts.

Miss Jean MacMillan read an address of good wishes and then presented Miss MacIntosh with many beautiful and useful gifts. She thanked her many friends for the lovely gifts.

Mrs John Rupert and Mrs Dalton MacMillan made a hat out of the bows and ribbons and Miss MacIntosh wore this for the evening.

Miss Lois Hutt entertained with two accordian solos. Maxine and Darlene Parenteau and Brenda Waldroff sang two selections, accompanied by Mrs Earl Bicks. Pamela Rutley sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs Geo. Rupert. Janie McDougall and Carolyn Ouderkirk played a piano duet. While the ladies were preparing the lunch, Mrs Earl Bicks played several selections.

Lunch was served by Mrs George Rupert, Mrs Ellery MacMillan, Mrs Lindsay Hutt, Mrs John Rupert, Miss Jean MacMillan, Mrs Dalton Rupert, Mrs Myles Nephew and Miss Margaret MacIntosh.

A bride's book, beautifully made by Miss Donalda MacIntosh, was signed by everyone present.

All Saints' Church at Northallerton, England, dates from the 12th century.

LESSER OF TWO EVILS

After asking his father if people who were sick had to go to school and learning they did not, a 5-year-old Dallas, Texas, boy announced he had a headache and refused a proffered aspirin. The reason: "That would cure me."

The top and bottom steps of basement stairs should be painted white so they can be seen easily.

Mr Harold was very stubborn. Mrs Harold was disgusted with him.

She said, "You never take good advice."

Mr Harold replied, "Darned good thing for you I don't or you'd still be an old maid."

A floorwalker tired of his job, gave it up and joined the police force. Several months later a friend asked him how he liked being a policeman.

"Well," he replied, "the pay and hours are only fair, but one thing I like—the customer is always wrong."

EVERYBODY EATS- TRY THESE!

By Helen Graham

PICKLING TIME IS HERE AGAIN

HOME-MADE PICKLES are still best in my estimation. A good many jams, jellies and marmalades on sale in our stores measure up fairly well when placed beside the home-made ones. Of course they are more expensive and so are store pickles and relishes. But I have yet to eat boughten pickles and relishes that are half as good as the home-made varieties.

Curry Pickles

3 lbs. cucumbers
3 cups vinegar
2/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup light corn syrup
½ tsp. curry powder
2 tbsps. mustard seed
½ tsp. powdered alum

Cut cucumbers in chunks. Combine remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling. Add cucumbers. Return to boil. Do not boil. Quickly pack one hot, sterilized jar at a time. Fill to ⅛" from top. Be sure vinegar solution covers the vegetables. Seal each jar at once. Yield: 4 pints.

Mustard Pickles

3 lbs. small pickling cucumbers
4 cups vinegar
½ cup prepared mustard
½ cup salt
3 1/3 cups sugar

Wash cucumbers. Combine vinegar, mustard, salt and sugar. Heat to boiling. Add cucumbers and heat to boiling. Quickly pack one hot, sterilized jar at a time. Fill to ⅛" from top. Be sure vinegar solution covers the vegetables. Seal each jar at once. Yield: 7 pints.

Shirley Sauce

24 peeled tomatoes
4 chopped onions
4 green peppers, chopped
3½ tsps. salt
2 tsps. mustard seed
1 tsp. celery seed.
2 cups brown sugar
3 cups vinegar

Blend all ingredients in saucepan. Boil till desired consistency. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Dutch Tomato Relish

30 medium tomatoes
Vinegar to cover
6¾ cups white sugar
2 tbsps. whole cloves

Peel tomatoes and cover with vinegar. Let stand over night. Drain and add sugar and cloves tied in a cheesecloth bag. Simmer until thickened, about 30 or 40 minutes, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Remove bag of cloves. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.
