DUNBAR BOY RECEIVES FATAL INJURIES

Last Saturday afternoon about 2.15, Elburn Barkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Barkley of Dunbar, while working on the farm of Mr. Ernest Shane, on the Bethune Bush road, about 4 miles south of Chesterville, was so severely injured that he passed away within a very few minutes.

The boy, who was employed by Mr. Delbert Dillabough, was with him and other neighbors assisting at silo filling at Ernest Shane's. He had just come from the field with a load of corn to the outter, and had left his load to assist Peter Hevean handle the corn from the latter's wagon when the pipe above the blower leading to the silo became plugged. Deb. Dillabough, who owns the cutter, and was feeding the stalks into it, left his work and had just removed the pipe above the blower and had not seen the boy near him, when the latter apparently thrust a stick into the wheel carrying the knives, with the result that the wheel burst, the fragments striking Barkley, throwing him ten feet away. A portion of one knife struck him under the right arm, almost severing it, his left arm was broken and there was an ugly bruise almost directly under the heart. He died before a doctor arrived. It was no part of Barkley's work to be where he was, and it is said that he had been twice warned the same morning to keep away from the cutter. The pipes had been clogged earlier in the day, and the stoppage removed with the use of a corn stalk by Mr. Dillabough, who would have used the same method to again clear it without incurring danger to himself or the machine.

Dr. P. McLaughlin, coroner, of Winchester, was notified and after investigation decided to leave the matter of an inquest with the Attorney General to whom he would make his report.

The funeral of the victim was very largely attended at Dunbar Monday afternoon when the greatest sympathy was expressed for the bereaved parents and friends.———Chesterville Record.

WOMENS INSTITUTE ACTIVE IN THE WEST

The Nelson, B. C., Daily News contains a photograph and report on the work of Mrs. H. H. Pitts, who, through her activities in Institute work, has become recognized as one of the leading women workers in Western Canada.

Mrs. Pitts is a daughter of Mr. M. W. Stubbs of Nelson, B.C., who by the way, is at present spending a few months with his brother, Mr. Joseph Stubbs, Morrisburg, and other relatives and friends in the East. She is also a sister of Mrs. Grace Loucks of Morewood.

The "Daily News" says:

"Kootenay is distinguished by its splendid women's organizations. Outstanding among these are the womens institutes and Nelson city may boast of the largest one in the province. It bespeaks the motto "For home and country" more than any other individual body. Under the capable and harmonious leadership of Mrs. H. H. Pitts, these splendid women take an active interest in the welfare of the city and district.

"The institute has sent two teams of girls to the Vancouver exhibition for the home economic judging competitions each year since inauguration. This pleasant and educational trip was made possible by the cooperation of the Womens Institute of Kootenay district and the exhibition association.

"A pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent at Terrace on Saturday afternoon when a special meeting of the Womens Institute was called to meet Mrs. Pitts of Nelson, judge of domestic and fancy work at the fair and provincial treasurer of the institute. Mrs. Hall presided over the meeting which was attended by about forty ladies. Mrs. Pitts gave a very interesting talk on institute work and offered many helpful suggestions for work locally. She highly commended the local institute on the splendid record made in the short time since organizing, and urged the ladies to continue in the work, stressing the necessity of some definite work and aim in view to keep up interest and live up to the ideals of the institute.

Following the serving of afternoon tea, Mrs. Pitts gave some interesting demonstrations of flower making with wools and silks and described a number of interesting ways of keeping the members busy both at home and in the meeting."

MET UNTIMELY DEATH

Mr. Archie Edgar, a repair man on the Cornwall plant department staff of the Bell Telephone Company met an untimely death on Second St. West, Cornwall, at about 11.45 a.m. on Tuesday, when he fell off a pole to the ground below, a distance of about twenty-five feet, and broke his neck when he landed on his head in a ditch alongside the road. The young man was alone at the time and had gone up the pole to test a trouble line. Dr. Hamilton, when called, deemed an inquest unnecessary, death being of a purely accidental nature.

The body was prepared for burial and was removed to the home of deceased at Lancaster in the evening.

MRS. ARTHUR MASON

On Wednesday Oct. 3rd, at 8.20 p.m., there passed away at her home Morrisburg, a most respected citizen, in the person of Mrs. Arthur Mason. Although her death did not come unexpectedly, it came as quite a shock to those who are left to mourn her loss. Mrs Mason, who had been a great sufferer for some time, bore her suffering very patiently, never complaining. Mrs. Mason before her marriage was Sarah A. Casselman, of Williamsburg, being born in the year 1877. She was united in marriage to Arthur Mason in 1916. Mr. and Mrs. Mason moved from Massena here in the year 1920. Since that time they have spent most of their married life in Morrisburg. Mrs. Mason was a kind neighbour, always willing to lend a helping hand to those in need, and liked by all who came in contact with her. Mrs. Mason's passing is mourned by a large circle of friends.

She is survived by her sorrowing husband, three brothers, Martin, of Parishville, N. Y., Cephrenus, of Iroquois, Charles, of Vancouver, B. C.; two sisters, Mrs. Geo. Fetterly of Chases Mills, N. Y., Mrs. Ida Butterfield of Utica, N. Y., and a number of nieces and nephews.

The pall-bearers were Messrs Roy Schell, James Link, Sam Swerdfeger, Ross Swerdfeger, Archie Crowder, Murray Styles.

The funeral was held from St. James Church on Friday afternoon, at 1.30 p.m. A very inspiring and comforting sermon was preached by her pastor, Rev. Carson, taking his text from 1 Corinthians, 15th Chapter and last verse. Interment was made in Fairview Cemetery.

She seemed so good, so kind and true,
To our admiring eyes,
We never dreamed this glorious fruit
Was ripening for the skies.
And when the death shock came,
So swift, so sure, so true,
The hearts which held her here,
Were almost broke in two.
And as we tread the thorny ways,
Which her dear feet have trod,
We always will feel her presence near,
Leading us up to God.
Let Faith glance upward to the home
Where we shall never part,
Where she awaits with loving care
To see her loved ones come,
And one by one we cross the flood,
And reach our heavenly home.

DAN BARRY'S DAUGHTER

by MAX BRAND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Finding the lifeless bodies of his two partners at their gold-mining camp, Harry Gloster flees southward, knowing that he will be accused of the crime. On the way Gloster saves the life of a stranger, Lee Haines, from the murderous hands of a scoundrel by the name of Joe Macarthur.

Gloster is jailed after getting into a figt with several men over a girl, Lee Haines and Joan Barry, daughter of a famous rider of the old plains, assist Gloster to escape. Haines is shot down. Joan, several nights later, disappears on the back of the "Captain," Haines huge stallion. Gloster retraces his steps to Joan's cabin and is confronted by Buck Daniels, Joan's guardian; they finally call a truce, however. Now Joe Macarthur comes to the mountain camp of a bandit gang with a scheme to rob the Wickson Bank. After much argument he is made a member of the gang.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"But there's only one way, partners," he said, "that Macarthur can fit in with the scheme of things. He can't play number two. Haines was a cleverer and bigger man than any I've ever met. Joe couldn't even play second to him. If Joe is back with us, I say that he's got to be first. He gets what Haines got: two shares in every deal we push through. He gets what Haines got: our obedience whenever he gives an order. How does that sound to you?"

It caused an argument, but only a brief one. In ten minutes, from being a candidate with dubious probability of being elected, the big fellow was installed as chief, had received the grip of every one of the other five, and had their solemn promise to follow his orders as if he were a general and they privates in an army.

He lost no time in taking up his duties. At the table where the poker game had been interrupted by his arrival, he sat down and planned for them the robbery of the Wickson Bank. With little piles of gold pieces he checked off the positions of the houses along the main street. With a greater pile he indicated the bank itself.

Then he told them what he had done. It was the old story. He had known of the cashier's need for money. He had approached the man diplomatically, and in a single interview he had gained what he wanted—the combination of the safe, the promise that the watchman should be discharged on the day of the robbery, and that a new one should not be hired in his place, and in return for this delivery of his honor, Samuel Carney had received in exchange a promise that he should have fifteen per cent. of the profits, and those profits promised to be large. A full hundred thousand dollars in cash should be gained from the safe of the bank.

Such figures made the gang sit up. They glanced at one another with bright eyes and then openly complimented their new commander. He proceeded with the details. There was a stretch of thirty miles between them and the town of Wickson, but the trail was entirely, or almost entirely downhill. They could cover that distance easily in four or four and a half hours.

Therefore they would leave the camp at midnight and arrive in the heart of the little valley in the dark of the early morning, that dead time of the night when men sleep most soundly. After that it would be a simple thing to do their work. There was not even the need of "soup" to blow the safe. They had the combination and could simply "talk to it" and have the door to the safe open.

There was nothing, in fact, which required more than one man for the job except that there might be an accident—a chance passer—and in that case there might be a call for guns that would shoot straight, and several of them, for the farmers of the Wickson Valley were of a fighting strain.

It was at the conclusion of this talk that they first heard the singing. It

"Climb down and stay a while."

came with echoes through the narrow gorge which opened into the hollow, and it was silver thin and high:

"Que iva la rumba;
Qe viva, que viva placer;
Que vivan las ninas, chulitas, banitas
Y guapas que saben querer."

Lew Cambridge was the first to reach the door.

"By the Great Horn Spoon!" he cried, for he was somewhat old-fashioned in his oaths. "It's a girl riding the Captain, and she's coming into the hollow!"

CHAPTER XXV.

THE MIGHT OF INNOCENCE.

They poured outdoors, the four giants, the bespectacled student, and pudgy Guiness. Beyond the little stream they saw the black stallion; he was neighing to one of his old companions which was staked out in the pasture.

On the back of the Captain was a girl whose wide-brimmed hat was pushed back from a face that made their hearts jump. She waved gaily to them and sang out: "Is Harry Gloster here?"

There was no answer for a moment. In fact, not one of them could speak until Macarthur muttered: "Let me talk to her! This Gloster is worth somewhere between ten and fifteen thousand to the gent that turns him over to the law. And if she's looking for him, you can lay to it that he's looking for her!"

So saying, he stepped out in front of the others and approached her, sweeping off his hat.

"Harry's away just now," he said, "but he'll be back! Climb down and stay a while."

She slipped from the saddle.

"Keep that black demon away from me!" Macarthur pleaded. "He nearly took my head off once."

She regarded him with surprise, then stripped the saddle and bridle from him, patted his sleek neck and waved him away to go frolic with the other horses in the pasture.

"What did you do to him?" asked Macarthur, still gaping at her.

"I gave him his own way," she said. "That was all there was to it!"

The others had drawn near by this time, and it appeared to Joan that she had never seen or heard of such men except Lee Haines. Haines, who was wise and strong enough to defy Sim Hargess and the whole town and liberate a prisoner from the jail single handed, was dead, but in all of these men, saving two, she could see qualities just as strong.

There stood four men, shoulder to shoulder, who seemed capable of breaking through a dozen ordinary people. And as for Guiness and Dud Rainey, she changed her mind about their inefficiency as she came nearer and was introduced to them one by one For Guiness, in spite of his good natured round face, had an eye as straight and cold as the eye of a bird, and about the lips of Dud Rainey there lingered a faint smile which, mild as his features were, gave a hint of quiet, limitless cruelty.

It was Fatty Guiness who suggested that she might be hungry. In an instant they were all busy. Some were cutting wood. Some were preparing food. All the old cabin was filled with bustle, half of which was the frantic effort to make the big room seem more presentable when Macarthur should bring the girl there.

In the meantime, fragments of the conversation between the chief and Joan were repeated, and the work of slicing bacon or brewing coffee, or sweeping out with a heavy pine bough, or kicking soiled clothes and tattered garments into an obscure corner, all ceased while the report was listened to which the last man to bring in wood or water had heard as he went past the couple.

"Macarthur is gone," was the first bulletin. "He's sitting there with a fool smile on his face. He looks like a six-year-old born without no brains. And he can't keep his eyes off'n the girl.

"'How long can you be staying here to wait for Harry?" said Joe. 'Till sometime this afternoon?'

"'Or longer than that,' says she. 'I'm in no hurry. It's so beautiful up here, I could stay a month and be happy.'

"Joe looks as if she'd tapped him between the eyes with a monkey wrench.

"'A month?' he croaks. 'Ain't your folks going to miss you a little bit before that time comes along?'

"'My father and mother are dead,' says she. 'There's only Buck Daniels to miss me. But then, you know, I had to leave him sometime. And why shouldn't it be now?'"

It was Lew Cambridge who repeated this choice bit of talk which he had overheard to and from the pond to carry water, straining, to catch the syllables, ears which had been nicely trained in the greatest of all schools for hearing—burglary! His report was greeted with a murmur of the profoundest interest.

"You heard that, boys?" asked big Babe Cooney, his warrior face growing pale with emotion. "You heard that talk? She ain't had a mother and father to look after her. She don't know nothing about the dangers of the world. And now, damn my soul if she don't come up here and right in among us like a bird flying in out of a storm—but no harm ain't going to come to her! No harm ain't going to come to her!"

It was Sliver Martin who brought the next tidings.

"My God, boys," he groaned, "listen to what I heard! Macarthur was pumpin' her as fast as he could work.

"'You and Gloster been engaged quite a while?' he says.

"'Engaged?' says she. 'Oh, no!'

"'But ain't you come clear up here to see Harry?' says Macarthur.

"'Yes. Why shouldn't I?' says she."

"You think she loves him?" asked the mild voice of Dud Rainey.

"Listen to old four-eyes!" sneered Lew Cambride, who had a natural antipathy for the quiet voice and the careful diction of the little man. "Look at the old owl that sees everything by night and can't see nothing when the sun is shining on it for him. Why did she come up here if she ain't in love with him? You talk ridiculouser than hell, Dud!"

The Fireplace

The tiles of a fireplace, though small items in themselves, can easily ruin the appearance of a fireplace, even of a whole room if all other details are perfect. Builders of houses are proverbially prone to think that the same color means the same tone; they give you green tiles or blue, becaus your room or paint is green or blue, but it just happens to be the wrong green or blue, what pain for watching eyes? People moving into new houses should insist upon supervising such details themselves. Builders are generally willing to meet them and let them choose their own patterns. It is even worth while to pay a little more and buy your tiles—some of them are so beautiful—from firms which specialize in them. Get a few odd ones if you do. They make lovely teapot stands.

London Caterers to Buy Their Own Jungle

London—Six private companies and their directors, connected with the great British catering firm of J. Lyons & Co., Ltd., have been registered here to acquire landed property in the Protectorate of Nyasaland and elsewhere for the purpose of growing, manufacturing, and dealing in tropical produce, including rubber, fruit and vegetables.

The new companies have all a small nominal capital, the biggest being £2000, but the venture is regarded as a step in the direction of the reduction of the middlemen's charges between jungle and city restaurant.

WHITE STAR LINE CANADIAN SERVICE

Air Advertising Merits Still Is Mooted Question

Commission Receives Many Complaints From Radio Listeners on Long Talks

Washington. — Whether the radio station owner, who uses his microphone to sing the praises of merchandise he is selling, serves the public interest still is a moot question with the Federal Radio Commission.

The commission from time to time has received numerous complaints from listeners who disapprove of long talks extrolling the virtues of a particular brand of overalls, seeds, household utensils and other wares for sale by the broadcaster.

Some time ago the Iowa Press Association petitioned the commission to prohibit direct selling over the radio. The newspapermen contended that the regulation limiting the number of stations resulted in giving the merchant with a radio outfit an unfair advantage over his competitors.

The view of the commission on this question is given in a report outlining its attitude on the principles of public service.

"Where the station is used for the broadcasting of a considerable amount of what is called direct advertising, including the quoting of merchandise prices, the advertising is usually offensive to the public," the commission says. "Advertising should be only incidental to some real service rendered to the public and not the main object of a program.

"The commission realizes that in some communities, particularly in Iowa, there seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of such advertising on the part of the listening public. At least, the broadcasters in that state have succeeded in making an impressive showing before the commission when the matter has come up. The commission is willing to concede that in some localities the quoting of direct merchandise drives may serve as a sort of local market and a service may thus be rendered. That such is not the case generally, however, the commission knows from thousands of letters which it has had from all over the country complaining of such practice."

Why Hurricanes?

Wind's Destructive Blast is Caused by Pumping Force of Central Swirl

Washington. — The birthplace of West Indian hurricanes, such as that which has just devastated Porto Rico and how and where they blow, are the subjects of a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographical Society.

"Most of the so-called West Indian hurricanes come into existence over the warm seas, somewhere between the West Indies and the coast of Africa," says the bulletin.

"They are probably gentle little eddies of air at first, but gather momentum owing to differences in temperature and air pressure, until they become gigantic whirls sucking air toward their central vortices like gargantuan vacuum cleaners.

"The observer in the path of a hurricane can hardly believe that these destructive winds are swirls. He sees the effects of, and feels a straight blast of air moving at great speed, overturning ships, trees and buildings. If he watches long enough he will see this destructive blast almost completely reverse its direction. These winds are created by the pumping force of the central swirl; and while the centre itself may be moving across the country at the leisurely rate of eight or ten miles an hour the winds rushing inward from all directions to disappear up the 'spout' reach terrific speed. The usual maximum speed is 100 miles an hour. The fact that the hurricane at San Juan blew at a rate of 132 and perhaps 150 miles an hour stamps this storm as of extraordinary violence."

Bee Travels 3,500 Miles From America by Mail

Colonel Lammon on opening, at the Crystal Palace, London, on Sept. 5, the sixth annual exhibition of bees and honey organized by the Kent and Surrey Beekeepers' Association, London, drew attention to Lady Margaret of Modena, a queen bee which had arrived the day before, alive and well, after making the unprecedented journey of 3,500 miles by post from America in fourteen days.

Colonel Lammon suggested that as soon as communication by air was regularly established between Europe and America it would greatly improve the breeding of bees, as it would form a means of rapid transit of queen bees with little danger to their lives.

At the exhibition there had been placed on view over three tons of honey for competition; also bees-wax, vinegar and other liquids and solids made from honey or with the aid of it. It was claimed by the exhibitors that as a food honey takes a leading place, seven ounces of honey being equal to twelve ounces of beefsteak.

Disarmament and Industry

London Sunday Times (Cons.): While the victorious nations of the war have been expending huge sums on the upkeep and development of military, naval and air forces, Germany, deprived by the terms of peace of the right or necessity to do so, has been free to divert the whole of the money and enterprise that would have gone on armaments to the development of her industry and commerce. The result is that she is today—ten years after the war ended—a thriving nation, able at least to hold her own with any other in Europe. Here is a lesson that must not be lost. In proportion to its extent, disarmament will set free for work of constructive development funds now locked up in weapons of destruction.

Story of Roman Occupation Recalled at Scots Ceremony

Memorial Unveiled on Site of Fort and Camp of Trimontium, Regarded as Largest Permanent Stronghold of Kind in Britain

Edinburgh.—A memorial stone was unveiled recently at Newstead, near Melrose, to mark the site of the Roman fort and camp Trimontium, the largest permanent stronghold of its kind which has been found in Great Britain. The camp was established by Agricola about 80 A.D., and Newstead village is said to be the oldest inhabited village in Scotland. The surrounding country is pastorally beautiful, the Tweed winding past on the north, while to the south are the Eidon Hills.

The memorial-stands in an alcove on the south side of the road between Melrose and Earlston and about a mile and a half east of Melrose. The Earl of Home presided at the opening ceremony and Dr. James Curle superintended the excavations, which were carried out by the Society of Antiquaries between 1905 and 1910, and is the author of that monumental book. "A Roman Frontier Post and Its People."

Trace Outline of Fort

After removing the Union Jack, with which the stone was draped, Dr. Curle said that when they began to dig there in 1905 the fields had been furrowed by the plow for centuries. There was nothing to suggest, even to the trained observer, that the ground had ever been the scene of military occupation, or that there stood there a Roman fort of unusually large dimensions. All they knew of the site was that there lingered about it the tradition of coins and of altars found and of a pit discovered where now the railway runs.

When the digging came to a close in 1910 the site had responded to their somewhat imperfect questioning and had revealed to them not a little of its secret. They were able to trace the outline of the fort, its lines of ditches, its enclosing walls; to plan its central headquarters building, flanked by storehouses, its long line of barracks, the baths which stood outside the walls, and the annexes occupied perhaps by traders, by veterans or by Caledonians held in subjection. They were able in a measure to reconstruct Trimontium, the site to which the soldiers marching from the south were guided by the triple peaks of Eildon.

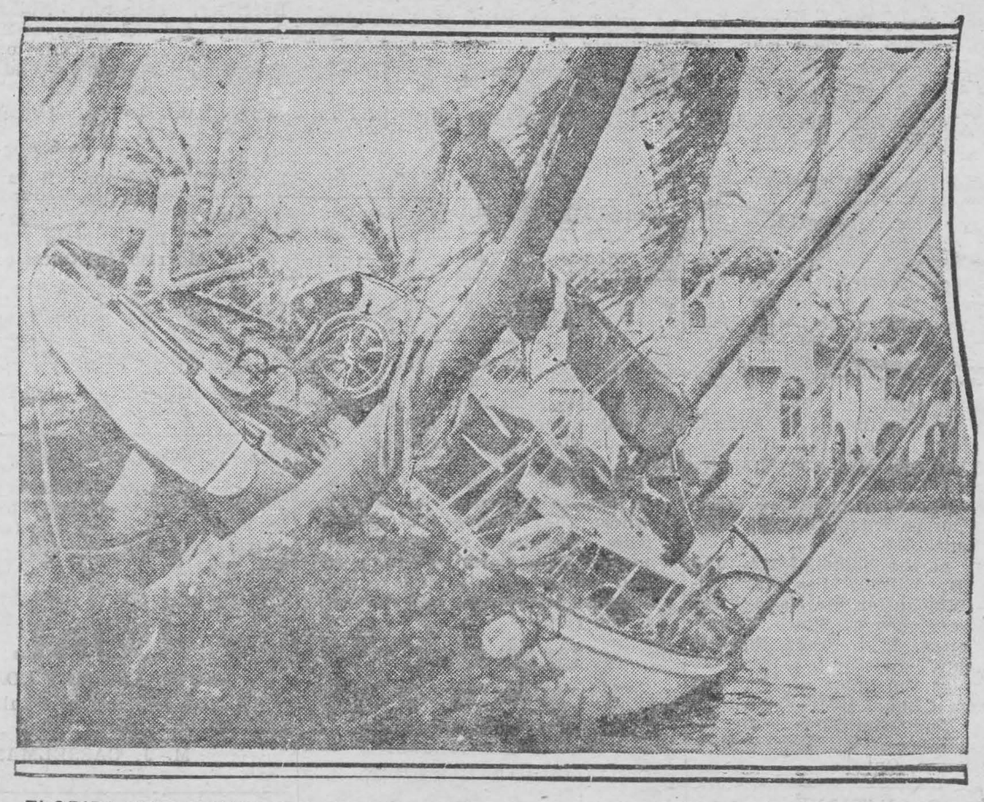

The plan of a Roman fort was somewhat stereotyped, and not a few sites exhibited parallels to the planning of Newstead, but he thought it could fairly be claimed that no site in Britain had brought them more clearly into touch with the men who formed its garrison, or had suggested more clearly the tragic happenings which more than once brought its occupation to a close.

Tribute to Dr. Curle

The monument which he had had the honor to unveil reproduced, in form at least, the altar which Gaius Arrius Domitianus, the centurion of the Twentieth Legion, dedicated there to Jupiter on these fields some 1800 years ago.

Dr. George Macdonald, in paying a striking tribute to the remarkable work of Dr. Curle, said that through his admirable researches they had been able to recover the outlines of Trimontium's trouble life. About 100 years separated its first foundation from its final abandonment. In the interval it suffered many vicissitudes. When Trimontium was evacuated for the last time it was because the Caledonians had made good their claim to independence. The stone, however, was not a war memorial in the ordinary sense of the term. The events to which it related had long passed into the domain of history. The monument was historical and it was historical in two distinct ways. In the first place the spot it marked played a conspicuous part in the Roman endeavor to subjugate their country. In the second, the exploration of that spot formed a notable landmark in the study of Roman Britain.

Gatineau Power Paugan Plant Start Monday

International Paper Subsidiary to Deliver 80,000 H.P. to Ontario Hydro-Electric

One of the continent's largest hydro-electric power plants commenced operations Monday when the Paugan, Quebec, station of the Gatineau Power Co., a subsidiary of International Power Co., started delivery of 80,000 horsepower of electric energy to the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario. A 220,----volt transmission line will carry the power 260 miles, from which point it will be distributed by the commission in the Toronto area to supplement the power now supplied from Niagara Falls.

Opening of the Paugan plant, with an initial installation of 204,000 horse power, marks the completion of the first stage in the development of the power resources of the Gatineau River by the Gatineau Power Company.

There are two other power houses on the river which have been in operation a year, which have a capacity of 232,000 horse power installed and in process of installation, making a total of 436,000 horse power for the three plants.

Has Storage Reservoir

Above them the company has constructed a dam, which creates one of the largest artificial storage reservoirs in the world. The dam backs the river up a distance of thirty miles, submerging nine falls and rapids and creating a maximum head of 140 feet. Including bulkheads, the main dam is 917 feet long and its maximum height is 150 feet. The east suice dam has a length of 570 feet, including bulkheads, and its maximum height is fifty feet.

Twenty-six miles below Paugan is the new Chelsea hydro-electric plant of Gatieau Power Co., and a mile below Chelsea, the Farmers station has been in operation for a year. With the operation of the three developments combined into a single system, Gattineau Power Co. is utilizing to the best advantage the total fall in the Batineau River for a distance of sixty-two miles from its mouth and is developing about two-thirds of the available head on the whole river. All the remaining head which can be developed economically is controlled by the company.

Smuts Discusses Succession Issue

Says Country Would Not Be Safe Without Fleet

Cape Town, South Africa—Speaking to an audience which was predominantly of Dutch origin, Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, leader of the Opposition in the Assembly, was vigorously applauded in a memorable speech on the secession question.

General Smuts at one point in his address declared: "If we were not within the Empire we would have to search for other friends. We would have to go to America or France or some other big country to protect us because we are not safe. One warship could bring us to our knees. But to-day we are not cornered in a kraal, but we are in a friendly circle with a powerful British fleet to help us if any injustice is planned toward us.

"We need not spend millions on a fleet," Gen. Smuts continued, "but can concentrate on projects of development so necessary to a young country. The British Empire is not a bond tying us, but is a helping hand.

"There is a great deal of talk about sovereign independence, but not of independence within the Empire. No mention is made of the fact, according to the report of the Imperial conference, that the Empire is a commonwealth for mutual help and support. In one sense we are free to do as we like. Our independence is there but it is independence within a friendly circle.

"We are friends, helping one another, remaining true to each other in days of danger. If South Africa can be neutral, England can be neutral also ad then the commonwealth is worth nothing. The doctrine of neutrality is not in the interests of South Africa. Other nations will not acknowledge our neurality if we allow the British fleet to leave Simonstown."

Hungary Offering Prizes For the Largest Families

Budapest—A department for large families has been created in pursuance with the Government's scheme of increasing the population.

Gold medals, certificates and gifts of money will be given to the mothers of the largest Hungarian families. Admiral Horthy has accepted the Honorary Chairmanship of the movement.

A prize was awarded to a peasant woman, the mother of twenty-seven children. Lectures on birth control are strictly prohibited and Government emissaries will tour the rural districts lecturing on the benefits of increased births. Hungary expects in this way to make up the loss in population of which she has been deprived under the Treaty of Trianon.

Generosity and Sportmanship

The outcome of the Wrigley Canadian National Exhibition swim was a keen disappointment to Canadians. Lake Ontario took a hand in the contest and defeated every one of the two hundred swimming gladiators who entered the contest.

The $35,00 prize money, according to the rules that governed the contest, was left in the hands of the donors—the Wm. Wrigley, Jr., Company and the Canadian National Exhibition.

These two great organizations gave a demonstration of generosity and sportsmanship rarely seen on this old earth in deciding to divide up the money among the fourteen who swam the furthest and made the best time. Each of them received $2,500.00.

No group of individuals living can please everyone, and naturally both among the contestants and the public many were loud in their protestaions of the manner in which the $35,000 was divided. Apparently they entirely overlooked the fact that every dollar given was a gift, as none of the contestants had completed the swim. We believe, therefore, we are expressing the views of the public generally when we sate the dividing of the purse was a wonderful demonstration of generosity and sportsmanship.

It did not end here, for along came Mr. Allan Ross, of the Wrigley Company, with a further demonstration of generosity and sportsmanship "that will make the world sit up and take notice." Mr. Ross and the Wrigley Company augmented the gifts of four of the contestants by giving them $2,000 each and one of them $1,000. Hats off and three rousing cheers for Mr. Ross and the Wrigley Company!

No wonder Canadians are proud of their country, their citizens, and the business institutions of Canada. "The Labor Leader" joins with Canadians generally in congratulations for this remarkable demonstration of generosity and sportsmanship and challenge any other country to "show us" where they can equal it.—Toronto Labor Leader.

Rural Britain to Be Preserved From Vandals

Beautiful Landscapes to Be Under Protection of Local Committees

London.—It is proposed to establish a Devon and Cornwall branch of the Council for the Preservation of Rural England, of which Lord Crawford is president, and Prof. Patrick Abercrombie, the Liverpool regional planner, the honorary secretary. Lord Astor, who has for so long been closely associated with the town of Plymouth, is taking an interest in the movement. Already on parts of the coast, as, for example, at Duporth, disorderly development is ruining beautiful landscapes. In some cases ugly hotels have been erected, disfiguring the profile of the coast, where the essential part of the natural charm is its remoteness.

The threatened spoiling of Dartmoor and South Devonshire is, of course, the result of the masses of English people being able to move out so easily and cheaply from the town into the country. But the very ease of the this mass movement increases the value of the natural beauties of the countryside and makes it the more imperative to take action, so as to keep certain areas free from buildings.

Already valuable work on these lines is being carried out by the Thames Valley Branch, of which Lord Astor is chairman, and in East Kent by a committee initiated by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The first step is always to make a survey of an area and to prepare an outline scheme of development. In this general plan are clearly marked possible new roads and land that should be kept open. The committee for Cornwall and Devon, when it is formed, will also no doubt pay special attention to old bridges, the preservation of the character of old highways and of ancient buildings. Advertisements and petrol filling stations are also to be controlled.

If peace and reason are good things in the international field, it is absurd to pretend that there is not exact parallel in the industrial field. —J. H. Thomas.

From Laborer to Landowner in One Season

Harvesters Pool Savings and Buy Quarter Section Farm in Manitoba—Chums From Durham, England, Work Their Way Up—Family of One and Sweetheart of the Other Will Come to Canada.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Two British harvesters who came to Canada six weeks ago have adopted the Dominion as their home and will remain in Western Canada as farm owners, having bought a section of land with the proceeds earned while working in the harvest fields.

The men are Jack Wilson and Fred Wells, both of Durham, England. They accomplished the jump from harvest hand to farm owner by pooling their money earned while harvesting and buying a quarter section of land from the farmer for whom Wilson had worked. The men had $225 apiece, and the sum needed to procure the land was $450. They immediately gave their wages to the farmer and now Wilson is leaving for England to bring back his family and Wells' sweetheart, and will settle down in Canada to become Canadian citizens.

Another British harvested, Thomas Hamilton, who is returning home after working in the harvest fields of the West, plans to return in the spring to work as a regular farm hand and to ultimately become 'a Western farmer on his own."

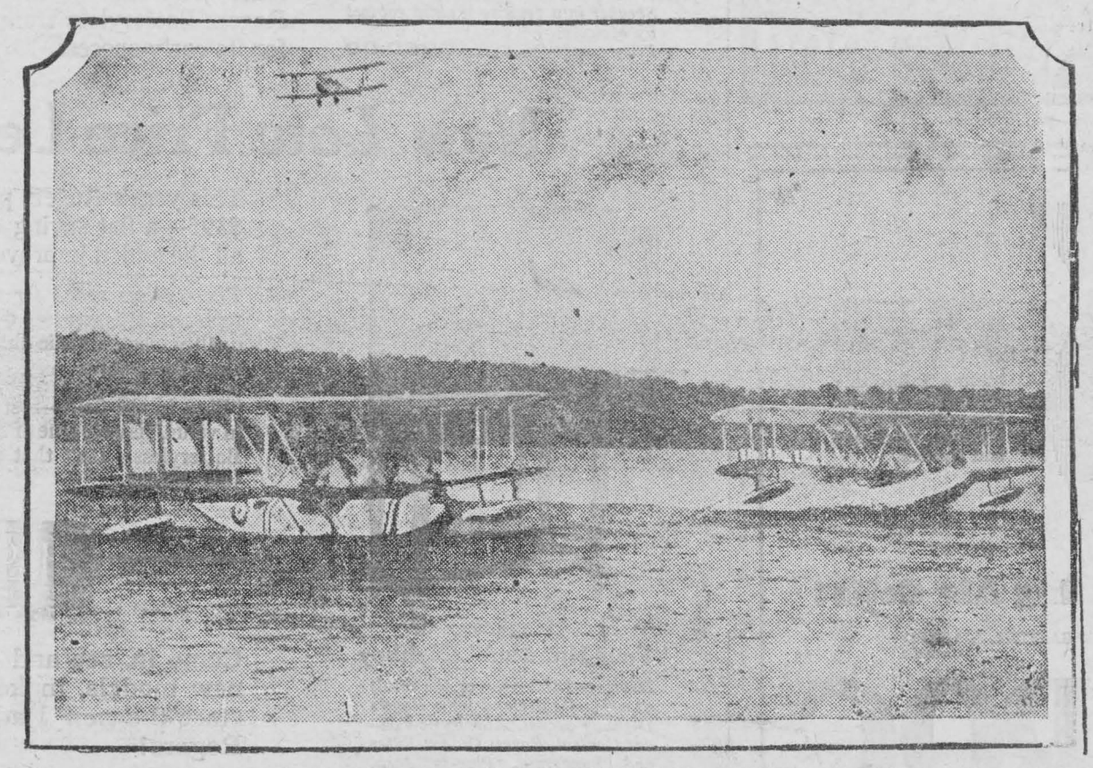

"Treat the farmer right and he'll treat you right," declared Hamilton who also stated that he was much surprised when the farmer he worked for drove him thirty miles to a dance."

Uneasy Lies Head of New King

Plot is Discovered and the New King Zogu is Barricaded in Palace

ELEVEN EXECUTIONS

Vienna, Oct. 1.—King Zogu, recently elected monarch of the Albanians, is closely guarded in his palace at Tirana, while trusted Albanian and Italian police agents are trying to round up plotters against the new regime, say uncensored dispatches which have just leaked over the border of the mountain kingdom.

The dispatches describe the country as being in a state of alarm, which in some places approaches terror. They state that eleven persons were executed yesterday at Durazzo, and that 200 others were arrested there at the command of Zogu himself. The executions are said to have taken place in the market space of the dilapidated sea port, which is only 25 miles west of the capital.

The movement against the throne is reported to be widespread. The fact that it has reached Durazzo is taken as confirmation of this because the entire situation is said to be an outgrowth of an uprising which started a few weeks ago in the mountains of Northern Albania. That uprising had its birth in the murder of one of the most conspicuous of the mountain chieftains, who was found dead in bed. His followers attributed the assassination to men hired by the new king, and they declared a blood feud against the monarch.

REFUSE TO ACCEPT ZOGU

A full regiment was sent into the northern mountains, but reports have it that two divisions of troops have now been mobilized because a majority of the northern Albanians refuse to accept Zogu as king. Most of the northerners are Roman Catholic Christians, while Zogu is a Mohammedan. Thus far nothing has come through to indicate that the Greek Orthodox Christians in Southern Albania have a mind to join their co-religionists of the north, but some observers here are predicting the possibility of rebellious outbreaks in that region also.

Because of the turbulent conditions of the country, it is stated that his coronation probably will be postponed indefinitely.

Commission Will Return to India

Greatest Unanimity Exists Among Members, Says Chairman

London—Sir John Simon, in a speech at a luncheon at the Aldwych Club, referred to the work of his commission which leaves for India for its second visit. The commission was appointed by the British Government to study conditions in India with a view to recommending to what further extent self-rule can be granted. The commission spent three months in India last spring.

Sir John emphasized the immense responsibilities of the British Parliament to the peoples of India. Despite the initial boycott, eight of the nine provinces had decided to co-operate with the commission. The ninth had not yet finally decided its attitude.

The Central Indian committee chosen partly by he Council of States and partly nominated from the Central Legislature of India by the Viceroy, expected to accompany the commission through the provinces on the forthcoming visit, Sir John continued.

The Speaker said about five hundred memoranda have been received by the commission from all sorts of bodies in India and elsewhere, giving their views on the existing Indian constitution.

The greatest unanimity existed within the commission, Sir John emphasized.

Hawaii Sets Wolrd's Record For Per Capita Use of Sugar

Canning of Hawaiian pineapple continues to require the greatest proportionate amount of sugar used anywhere in the world, according to the ninth annual edition of Farr & Co.'s manual of sugar companies. With a population of 330,000, Hawaii last year consumed 33,000 tons of sugar, or 200.4 pounds per capita. With a world population of 1,680,090,000, consumption of sugar totalled 24,139,200 tons.

The United States, with its 118,600,000 inhabitants, last year consumed 5,885,500 tons of sugar, the largest amount taken by any one country, an average per capita consumption of 112.21 pounds. China, with a population of 400,000,000, used only 790,000 tons of sugar, a per capita consumption of 4.19 pounds for the year.

Rogers (BATTERYLESS) Radio

Completely Shatter all Previous Standards of

PERFECTION—PERFORMANCE—PRICE

Now on Sale

An achievement only made possible by four years of exclusive concentration on Batteryless production for Canada only.

Now on Sale

Rogers
"Four-Twenty" Table Model

A development of the famous Rogers Model "Two-Twenty". Single Tuning Knob operates Illuminated Drum Dial. Automatic Voltage Control, Rogers Output Filter, Phonograph "Plug-in" Jack. Genuine Walnut cabinet by Malcolm. Price complete (except Loud Speaker). $165.00

Rogers
"Four Hundred" Console

Same radio equipment as the Rogers "Four-Twenty" shown above, combined with the Rogers Symphony Speaker in a genuine Walnut cabinet by Malcolm.
Price complete..... $260.00

TO express the almost sensational advantages of these new Rogers-Batteryless Sets in terms as conservative as seems proper yet as emphatic and enthusiastic as is justified by the actual facts, is a difficult problem. Nothing to equal these marvellous values and remarkably low prices was thought possible. Here are a few of the features that you will find in the new Rogers-Batteryless Radio Models this season, at prices $60 to $110 less than last year:

1. New Illuminated Drum Dial
—for increased visibility, greater ease and speed in tuning-in stations. Wavelengths clearly shown.

2. Non-Slip Tuning Control
—gear drive with no possibility of slip or back lash, positive tuning action, finer tuning control.

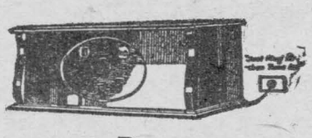

3. Automatic Voltage Control
—which maintains uniform voltage on the tubes, no matter what fluctuations may occur in the electric current. An exclusive Rogers-Batteryless feature.

4. Rogers Output Filter in All Models
—provides greater clarity and fidelity of tonal reproduction. Improves the tone quality of any loud speaker.

5. Phonograph "Plug-In" Jack
—in conjunction with the electrical pick-up unit this makes any old phonograph equal to the best and highest-priced phonograph of today.

6. Increased Selectivity without Tonal Loss
—by means of improved Shielding and the new Rogers A/C Power Tube.

And—please bear in mind—that these are all new features in addition to the basic features built into the Rogers-Batteryless from the beginning and responsible for its early success.

Rogers
"Four-Eighty" Table Model

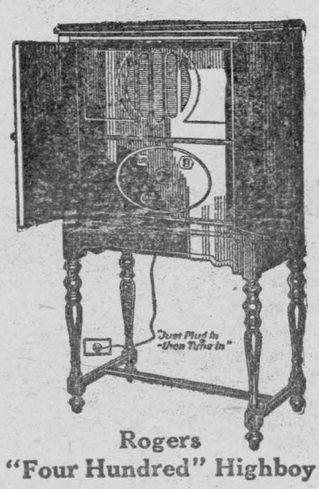

A new Rogers- Batteryless Model designed for those who want the utmost in Radio reception. An extremely sensitive and selective Radio Frequency amplifier. Single dial tuning with illuminated dial. Automatic Voltage Control, Rogers Output Filter and Phonograph "Plug-in" Jack. Price complete (except Loud Speaker)
$275.00

Two hundred radio dealers placed orders for $750,000 worth of these new 1929 Rogers-Batteryless Sets at first sight.

These first orders for Rogers-Batteryless Sets equal more than the total year's business of most electric radios.

Advance wholesale sales of this magnitude can only indicate one thing—a tremendous public demand for Rogers-Batteryless Sets this Fall.

New Low Price Level—$60 to $110 Less

Rogers
"Four Hundred" Highboy

Developed this year as the result of a definite demand for a Rogers Highboy Model. Automatic Voltage Control, Rogers Output Filter and Phonograph "Plug-in" Jack. Genuine Walnut Cabinet. Price complete..... $250.00

Also furnished in a Phonograph Combination Highboy to reproduce the new type records.
Price complete..... $325.00

This year's Rogers prices range from $165 to $395—a flat saving of from $60 to $110 plus all the added improvements.

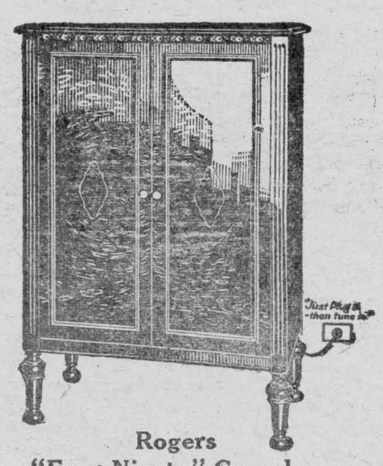

These prices speak for themselves. We believe they represent the greatest dollar for dollar value in high-quality electric radio that has ever been offered to the Canadian public.

"First in the field—first in proven performance—first in value," is only true of one electric radio—the Rogers-Batteryless. Isn't that the kind of radio you want in your home?

We regret to learn that Dr. J. S. Dickey of Newington is in Cornwall General Hospital, where he underwent an operation of the throat, and hope he will soon be on the way to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs J. C Payne of Brinston spent Tuesday of this week with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Becksted at the Temperance House.

The Womens Missionary Society of the United Church, Williamsburg, will hold a Rally Service in the church on Sunday evening, October 14th.

Miss Ella B. Whitteker arrived on Monday evening to spend a few months with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Whitteker, after completing the season on the S. S. Hamoine of Collingwood.

The rural school fair held last Thursday on the school grounds was a decided success. A large crowd of people and many exhibits were the main attractions which went to make the fair a success. A heavy downpour of rain came down in the afternoon and put a damper on the sports for a while. The children took a keen interest in the exhibits and sports, and the different schools were well trained in the drills by their respective teachers. We extend congratulations to Master Sam Telford for taking first prize in public speaking and Master Willie Warren (both of Williamsburg), for taking first prize in the mouth organ contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Empey and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Empey and family, Mrs. Mayme Shannette, Miss Ruby and Hugh Shannette spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ora McIntosh.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Mizener and daughter Alyce of Farnham, Que., are spending a few days at Edgar McIntosh's.

Little Miss Nancy Garlough entertained a number of little girls at her birthday party Friday, at the home of her uncle, Mr. Peter Barkley.

Mr. Merrill Loucks and friend Miss Jean Falkner of Morewood spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Loucks.

Mr. and Mrs. Strader McIntosh are spending a few days in Oshawa and Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donevan of Oshawa spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McIntosh.

GRANTLEY

Contractors are busy putting up a new barn for Mr. Wm. Fader.

Mrs. Milton Carr and children spent Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Wells, Aultsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Merkley of Dunbar spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs Jas. Wallace.

Messrs Floyd and Percy Carr of Lisbon, called on friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kittle and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carr and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hanson, Brinston.

The community was shocked to hear of the accident of Mr. Rob. Waldroff, of Sandtown. Falling through the poles to barn floor, he was badly injured, and was removed to the Cornwall Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Beckstead, Mrs. Mike Beckstead spent Wednesday with the latter's daughter, Mrs. Jas. Wallace.

Sunday School Lesson

October 14. Lesson II—Spiritual Gifts.—I Cor. 12: 4-7, 31, 13: 1-8, 13. Golden Text—Now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.—Cor. 13: 13.

INTRODUCTION—From the 12th to the 14th chapter Paul gives his teaching on spiritual gifts among modern interpreters. The Greeks were on contentious people. He emphasizes the truth that the purpose of all these gifts is that those who possess them may use them for the whole church. THE HYMN OF LOVE, 13: 1-13.

This chapter has been called "the greatest, strongest, deepest thing Paul ever wrote," and in order to get the connection one must read it along with the last verse of chapter 12, which is a kind of bridge. Paul was glad to think that the converts in Corinth have received these manifold gifts from the Spirit, and he would strongly urge every one to desire these gifts and to develop what he may have. But even the greatest of these gifts is not to be compared with the graces of the Christian character, of which the leading one is love. The more excellent way of 12: 31 is the way of chapter 13, the way of love.

(a) The Central Place of Love, 1-3.

V. 1. By "tongues" here Paul likely means the ecstatic utterances which these Christians at Corinth were prizing so highly: but it may also include articulate as well as inarticulate language. With love these gifts are not able to win any great blessing, and are like a clanging cymbal, a mere noise. If one is cultivating eloquence merely for its own sake as an accomplishment, that can have no religious value.

V. 2. This verse may refer to intellectual gifts, and to the faith which is able to make outward demonstration. Some one has said that here we have "the intellect of the philosopher joined to the inspiration of the seer." But without love even these great endowments do not give that character which is the real standard of value.

V. 3. Acts of benevolence and of self-denial, even though these are of an excessive nature, do not bring any blessing from God unless they are mingled with love. Thus love is shown to be the one essential factor in the religious character.

(b) The Qualities of Love are Now given, 4-7.

Most of these are described in a negative form, and in his description Paul is evidently keeping in mind the defects which he sees to exist in this church.

V. 4. Love is gentle and long-suffering. It exercises a merciful delay in inflicting merited punishment. It has the grace of kindness. Love is no braggart, does not make any ostentious display, neither is it proud, blowing its own trumpet and making arrogant display.

V. 5. Love has a feeling of propriety, nor does it fly into a rage on every slight cause of provocation. Some of the heathen writings had said that one should never be displeased over anything, even wrong-doing, but Paul would not go that far. He knew there was a place for just indignation. Love also takes no account of evil, which may mean, either, "doth not entertain evil thoughts," or, "doth not suspect evil in others." Love puts the best construction on the actions of others.

V. 6. Love is happy. The gladness of the early church was one of the most attractive features, Acts 2: 46. Jesus came that his joy might be in us. A great poet has a line, "happy as a lover." Here joy is found because the cause of truth is prevailing.

V. 7. Four stages in love are mentioned. (1) Love bears the burdens of others, hiding their faults. (2) It believes the best of others. (3) If faith hesitates then hope still remains. (4) When all else fails, then love will patiently endure.

(c) The Abiding Nature of Love, 8-13.

V. 8. Paul selects three of the gifts, prophecy, tongues, knowledge, to show that these are not eternal. In v. 2 he said that these gifts were of no value without love. Now he says that even with love they have merely a temporary place. Love is the only one of these that abides.

V. 13. In this verse the word "now" is not temporal, as if Paul meant to say that now faith and hope could abide, but that hereafter love would be the only force to remain. "Now" here means "and so." These are the three abiding graces, faith, hope, charity: and even among the graces love has first place. Why love is the greatest, Paul does not say, but we may remind ourselves that God is love.

Here, therefore, we bring the subject to a conclusion. All gifts are to be cultivated: let no Christian despise them. Every accomplishment, every intellectual faculty that can adorn and grace human nature, should be cultivated and polished to its highest capability. Yet these are not the things that bring us nearer God. "If we love one another, God dwelleth in us and his love is perfected in us."

Hilltop Home

We never dreamed such loveliness could be,
As where our garden overlooks the sea,
With rolling moors around,
And the tall gum trees droning harp-string sound.

Such cradling heaven, such tides of crystal air
Opening the perfumed cups of roses fair,
Such wealth of wings
Of singing birds and little gauzy things!

Each dawn unrolls the broad horizon's blue
Across the glassy paddocks grey with dew,
While gladdened eyes
Drop from the changeful wonder of the skies.

Down, down to where the many colored phlox,
Round steeples of rosetted hollyhocks,
Laughs at our feet.
And every homely, friendly flower is sweet!

Distress in Scotland

Edinburgh Scotsman: The report of the Board of Agriculture on the farming acreage in Scotland as at June last makes melancholy reading. . . . If this department of industry were the only one which is decadent, the optimist might seek a reason and a remedy with some certainty, but there are other vital industries which are equally depressed. The coal, iron and steel trades are notable examples, and to crown existing poor trade in these and other quarters, there are other gloomy reminders. The pick of Scotsmen are leaving the country to seek work elsewhere, and the Irish "invasion' proceeds unchecked.

The Canadian Wheat Pool

C. R. Fay in the Nation and Athenaeum (London): The Pool, now five years old, has not defied the laws of supply and demand, nor has it brought millennium. Nevertheless, it is an epochal step towards the rationalization of Agriculture. While it gains nothing from the hyperbolae of suspicion or praise which it has received in some quarters, it rejoices to have riveted the attention of this continent by reason of its momentous effect on the morale of the Canadian West. Where in 1923 groups of farmers all over the prairies were talking revolution, debt adjustment, or moratorium, now they are talking pool.

ATTENTION, FELLOWS!

Here are some rules laid down that will aid bachelors of all descriptions in selecting partners for life:

1 Choose one that is neater and cleaner than you are.

2 Choose one that doesn't consider you merely a meal ticket.

3 Choose one who cannot find the last word without a dictionary.

4 Choose one who is not acquainted with first-love affairs that might spoil yours.

5 Do not expect too much. Do not look for perfection. Remember that perfect ones have taken wings and can be found only among the angels.

The Lunch That Goes to School

It Needs to Nourish Active, Growing Bodies and be Well Packed

By PAULINA RAVEN MORSE

(Master Farm Homemaker)
In Michigan Farmer

The school bell is ringing, calling an army of children to school. The majority of children living in rural communities is obliged to carry lunch. To some this will be a new experience this year and if the children are to maintain good health and physical vigor throughout the year, the mother must give care and thought to the planning of the school lunch. The children often walk long distances to school, eat hurried breakfasts and cold lunches, and rush out to play. Is it any wonder they fall prey to colds and disease?

The teacher should supervise the noon luncheon period the same as any class. This period affords an excellent opportunity to bring out little points in table etiquette. A supply of plain white paper napkins to serve as lunch cloths should be kept on hand at the school.

The receptacle in which the lunch is to be packed is always one of the first consideration. Many children enjoy carrying the gaily colored tin boxes. At our house, we like them better because the cover is fastened to the box, allows for ventilation, and the lunch may be packed in them more compactly. They are more sanitary than the pasteboard or fibre boxes for they can be washed and scalded. The thermos lunch kits are very good, if one can afford them, as they permit the carrying of a hot drink of milk.

Between Two Slices of Bread

The sandwich is one of the most desirable foods for the lunch box. There are many kinds which can be prepared from white bread, graham bread, whole wheat bread, and nut bread with different fillings. I often prepare:

Meats chopped fine and moistened with cream, gravy, or salad dressing.

Dried fruits such as figs, raisins, dates, and prunes chopped fine and cooked to paste. Lemon juice may be added for flavor.

Preserved fruits, as jams, jellies, fruit butters, marmalades and conserves.

Nuts chopped fine mixed with salad dressing, cream cheese or honey added to the dried fruit pastes.

Eggs scrambled with crisp bacon, or hard boiled eggs chopped fine and mixed with salad dressing.

dressing, honey, or some of the fruit marmalades as orange marmalade.

Cheese paste for sandwiches can be easily made by putting cheese through the food chopper and adding cream and softened butter until the cheese is of creamy consistency. Then add nuts, chopped olives, or pimentoes. The amount of cream and butter used will depend upon the dryness of the cheese. Be sure to cream together well. Cottage cheese makes very good sandwich filling when used with brown bread.

Vegetable sandwiches are not satisfactory because they become stale soon after they are made.

The bread for sandwiches should be at least twenty-four hours old. Both sides of the sandwich should be buttered, as butter keeps the filling from soaking the bread and gives needed fat content to the lunch.

There Must be Fruit

Fruit is one of the most valuable foods of the lunch box. It may be fresh, dried or canned. If canned, it should be packed in a jar with a screw cover. Fresh tomatoes at this time of year are a pleasing addition to the lunch. Have the fruit as attractive as possible when the lunch is packed. It may be well to add extra fruit for recess time, especially apples.

Cakes and cookies provide the dessert part of the lunch. Sponge cake, chocolate cakes, plain butter cakes, molasses cakes, and drop cookies made from oatmeal and graham flours, containing nuts and raisins, are always acceptable. Some of the cake batter may be baked in patty tins or patty paper cups. The cakes present a daintier appearance and will keep moist longer. Nuts, dried fruit, cocoanut, chocolate, or sugar sprinkled on top of the cake before it is baked make a change.

Cup custard, junket, jello, fruit salad, rice pudding, tapioco pudding, cottage cheese, or baked beans may be packed in glass jars and added to the lunch in season. I try to have a surprise in the lunch box several times during the week in the way of sweet chocolate, dates, figs, raisins, chocolated coated raisins, nuts, animal cookies or special fruit. If the lunch is not eaten, the surpirse is omitted for a time.

The individual likes and dislikes of the child must be taken into consideration when packing the lunch box, for we cannot expect the child to eat at school what he or she will not eat at home. All food should be neatly wrapped in wax paper before packing, then packed in the order in which the food will be eaten. If at times there are empty spaces, fill them with crushed paper to prevent food from shaking about.

The psychological effect upon the child who carries a well-packed lunch is interesting to note. He is not ashamed of the contents of his box and does not try to cover it up so others will not see what he has for lunch. A child is quick to note whether his lunch compares favorably with the other children's.

Here are a few of the favorite recipes used in packing lunches for my children:

Sponge Cake

Two eggs, 1 cup cugar, 1 cup floor, 1½ tsp. baking powder, ½ cup hot milk, 1 tsp. melted butter, ½ tsp. flavoring, ½ tsp. salt.

Beat eggs until light, add sugar and baking powder together three times, add to first mixture, add hot milk, beat; then add melted butter and flavoring. Is suitable for cup, layer, or sheet cake.

Raised Brown Bread

Five cups boiling water, 2 cups rolled oats, 3 tbs. shortening, 1 tbs. salt, 1 cake of compressed yeast, ¼ cup lukewarm water, 2 cups graham flour, 1 cup molasses, ½ box seedless raisins, bread flour.

Pour the boiling water over the rolled oats and add the shortening and salt. Stir thoroughly and let stands until lukewarm. Then add the cake of yeast dissolved in the lukewarm water. Add graham flour, molasses, raisins, and enough bread flour to knead into a stiff dough. Knead thoroughly and let raise over night. Put into loaves and let rise until light. Bake in a hot oven for ten minutes, decrease heat to moderate and bake for forty-five to fifty minutes. This makes four large loaves.

Drop Brown Sugar Cakes

Two cups brown sugar, 1 cup shortening, 3 eggs, 6 tbs. sweet milk, 1 cup dried fruit, 2 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. soda, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 4 cups flour.

Cream butter, add sugar, then eggs well beaten. Mix and sift other dry ingredients. Add alternately to first mixture with milk. When partially added, add fruit which can be raisins, currants, or dates cut into small pieces. Drop from teaspoon on greased and floured pans. Bake in a hot oven. A half date, raisin, a bit of jelly, or nut meat may be placed on the top of each cookie. Makes four dozen.

Spice Cake

One cup sugar, ½ cup shortening, 1 egg, 1 cup sour milk, ¼ cup molasses, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. cloves, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. soda, 2 cups flour.

Follow directions for making butter cakes.

Chocolate Cake

Two cups brown sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 2½ cups flour, ½ cup shortening, 2 ozs. chocolate, 2 eggs, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 tsp. salt.

Follow directions for making butter cokes. Makes a large loaf, a layer cake, or good for cup cakes.

Henry Ford sent John O. Rockefeller a Ford Sedan as a birthday remembrance. Gosh, and Henry overlooked us on our birthday.

Turn Your Farm Into a Palace

You can make your home a palace by establishing an atmosphere of comradeship and understanding.

A 1928 model homemaker must be a many-sided, highly talented, thoroughly trained executive. It is not enough for her to be a skilled specialist in one particular branch of home economics or business admnistration but, like the juggler in the circus, she must contrive to keep three or four different tasks in operation at the same time. The glory is, this woman actually delivers the goods without a single order missing.

She is achieving through the assistance of her husband that standard of having her home "economically sound, mechanically convenient, physically healthful, morally wholesome, artistically satisfying, mentally stimulating, socially responsible, spiritually inspiring, and founded upon mutual affection and respect.' Women have been made economically, industrially and politically free. The test of a Real Home is the type of people who come out of it. When you have been away from a home a few days at some convention, on a vacation or at the fair, do you get a real thrill out of getting back home? If you do, you have a real home, a place where there is joy in labor, a place that draws you to it at any season. If you see only the acres, and the toil and you return with disgust to the toil, there is something wrong somewhere. Maybe you have not put enough of yourself into the home part into the living, to make it attractive. Maybe you have had your face so close to the grind of daily toil you cannot see the beauties of nature, the sunsets, the cloud pictures, the rolling panorama of beauty around you.

Maybe there is something wrong with your attitude toward everything in general which has poisoned your attitude toward your own home. You pass this way but once. Live your life, and do not slave to hoard up for a generation that may not stay on the place after you leave it. Heroic sacrifices sound well but do not get recorded upon the tombstones. If you would have your children live better than you have lived, set them the example now.

Be Careful With Baby's First Bath

Extreme care should be taken when the time comes to give the baby its first real bath. Cornelia Browne, D.C., N.D., writing in "Physical Culture Magazine" for September advises the mother on the properway to avoid trouble.

"A mother through lack of understanding may be the cause, by faulty and injudicious handling, or producing in her little one, a fear of water that may follow the child throughout its life," says this authority. "A child who screams when it is put into the tub is undergoing a shock to its nervous system, and unless it is a very robust child it may not be able to regain this lost nerve force and therefore may suffer from a lowered nerve vitality all its life.

"Be sure that the room is 70 degrees F. when you bathe the baby, and that the water is 98 to 100 degrees for an infant. You may gradually lower the temperature to about 90 degree when he is a year old.

"A good castile soap is usually recommended. but once in a while a baby's skin will rebel against any soap. In that case, or for prickly heat or any simple skin eruption, the bran bath is most efficacious. Make a thin muslin bag eight inches square and fill with wheat bran. Let it soak in the bath for ten or fifteen minutes and squeeze it until the water is turbid or milky. During the warm evenings when baby is fretful, try one of these bran baths before the evening feeding.

"Be careful how you lift him from the tub," warns Miss Browne. "Children have been paralyzed for life by improper lifting. Never pick him up by his arms. This applies not only to an infant but also to all small children."

FINANCIAL NEWS

MOND NICKEL.

A despatch from Sudbury states that the Mond Nickel Co.'s smelter at Coniston is at present handling 2,000 tons of ore per day. This exceeds the original estimated capacity by 500 tons. The matte output is said to represent two-and-one-half million pounds of copper and the same amount of nickel each month. This is in addition to appreciable precious metals values.

AMULET AND NORANDA STATEMENTS.

Erratic movements in Amulet and Noranda followed the publication of official statements regarding latest develoments at the mines and immediate plans.

Noranda's report was two-sided. Aggressive expansion plans reflected the confidence of the management in the future of the enterprise, but the indication that narrower and lower grade ore lay below the 1,000-ft. level and the "H" ore body was not so good. It appears characteristic of the Quebec area that ore lenses are alternately rich and lean as they go down.

Amulet report appeared favorable from the two main standpoints. Installations for production will go forward immediately, while developments since the annual report was published from ore viewpoint have been favorable.

RED LAKE STRIKE.

We announce further particulars of a sensational new strike at Red Lake which is said to be the most spectacular of the district. The find consists of a dome of quartz, 700 by 350 feet, which raises approximately 60 feet above the level of the lake. Three distinct veins are contained in this showing and these have been traced for lengths of 700 to 900 feet. Samples of this ore shown in Toronto are the most spectacular since the days of the old Croesus.

MURPHY MINES

The No. 2 shaft at the Murphy property, which is being sunk on the No. 5 vein which was found on the recently acquired claims, is now down 30 feet, on its way to 100 feet. The workings are said to be still in commercial ore and that values are improving. This vein is known to be at least 40 feet wide but its entire width will be determined by a crosscut at the 100-foot level.

McINTYRE.

The future of McIntyre-Porcupine Mines is alluring according to the staff correspondent of the Wall Street Journal after a visit to Porcupine.

McIntyre Porcupine has the continuation of whatever ore bodies form on the top side of the main intrusion at depth. With a shaft 4,125 feet deep sunk and equipped for developing new ore-areas at depth, and with one of its veins shown to be carrying good ore on the 3,875 foot level, the outlook for McIntyre is excellent and not improbably within another year the property will be building a new mill with larger capacity than the present. On the whole, with much ore left in its older or western ore-area, the outlook at McIntyre is quite encouraging.

McIntyre has kept its development and prospecting of outlying possibilities well ahead of stoping so as to avoid exhaustion of the possibilities of one main ore-area before a new one has been found, and its prospecting begun. A dividend of $2.20 per share is expected this year.

NEW RECORDS AHEAD FOR FORD OF CANADA

Ford, Ont.—August production of Ford Motors Co. of Canada, totaled 13,045 cars, an average of 541 cars a day for the 24 working days of the month. In August, 1927, the Ford plant was not operating, and the other Canadian motor companies turned out a total of 12,526 cars, or less than the Ford total for August this year.

Cars sales in Ontario during June and July give the new Ford 1,000 cars majority over its nearest competitor. "Present schedules indicate we will continue to exceed our former peak production throughout the balance of the year," says W. R. Campbell, vice-president and treasurer.

A danger sign can't talk. But it's not so dumb as the fellow who disregards it.

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant or babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

LEONARD EAR OIL

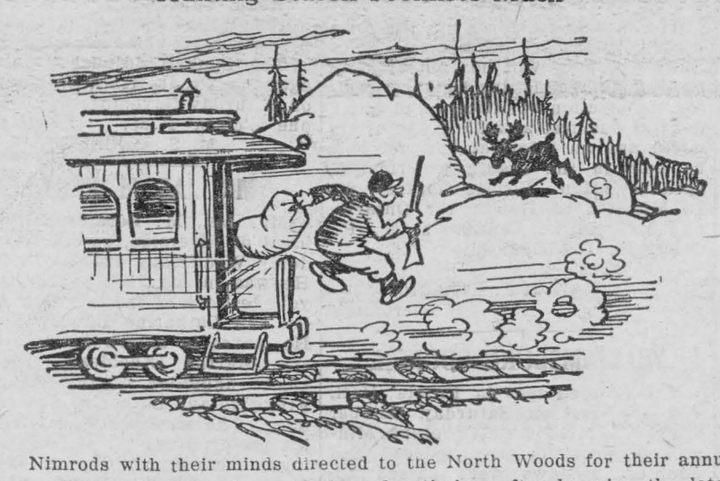

Improves Hearing, Relieves Head Noises

Nine out of ten cases of DEAFNESS and HEAD NOISES are caused by catarrhal mucus (matter) in the Eustachian Tubes, which connects the nose and the ears. Leonard Ear Oil removes the MUCUS, OPENS UP THE TUBE and THE OTHER AIR PASSAGES OF THE HEAD, and the result is improved Hearing and relief from Head Noises. It is not put in the ears, but is "INSERTED IN THE NOSTRILS" and "RUBBED in BACK OF THE EARS" and special instructions by a noted Ear Specialist in each package for different kinds of Deafness and Head Noises tell you exactly how to take care of your own case. Leonard Ear Oil is not an experiment but has had a very large and constantly growing sale since 1907, and every year it has relieved thousands of people of their Ear Troubles. No matter how long you have been deaf, nor how deaf you are, or what caused your deafness, or how many things you have already tried which have failed to relieve you, Leonard Ear Oil has relieved many such cases as your own. Why not you? The price is $1.25. Leonard Ear Oil is for sale at Druggists, or direct postpaid upon receipt of price.

Hunting Season Promises Much

Nimrods with their minds directed to the North Woods for their annual hunt will find occasion for a display of optimism after learning the latest reports made by guides and outfitters who have gone into the hunting districts they control for the purpose of determining the number and distribution of game it contains. Ontario and Quebec both hold out strong inducements. In the region of Metagama there is an excellent supply of moose, as well as in the hunting grounds near Rideout. Kipawa reports plenty of deer and moose, especially in the Sasseganaga region. Long inland water routes from Angliers, Que., provide unusual opportunities for those interested in calling or still hunting.

Appearances Count

Now Helen is a girl who wonders why men don't like her, and yet who seems to think they should gravitate towards her without any attraction whatever.

I don't mean that men dislike her—I am taking Helen as being representative of many—I just mean that somehow she doesn't get her company sought for for dinners, dances and suchlike frivolous affairs.

But her appearance! Well, Helen might tell you that she wanted a man to love her for herself alone, but these days there has got to be something to attract a man's interest—a nice manner, good looks, smartness—before it is riveted by a praiseworthy character.

It is "too much fag" for Helen to have her hair curled. Yes, she knows she is fat, but she is meant to be that way. It is "too much fag" to have a cold-water rub-down every day, but, she can spare time to simmer for hours each night in a hot bath; it's another "fag" to drink a glass of lemon-water each night before turning out the light, yet she makes a practice always of drinking a glass of hot milk. She can't be bothered to alter such a small item—yet it's a large one—measured in terms of avoirdupois.

One day I took brother Bill to see Helen, and, because Helen knew he was engaged and therefore ineligible, she was most indifferently dressed, and hardly bothered to be polite. And Bill, who had vaguely promised me to "see what he could do," for her in the matter of dance-partners, promptly cried off, and told me he couldn't "inflict that" on any of his pals.

But what can you do? These girls have it firmly fixed in their own minds that somehow, sometime, Fate will send them the man she is reserving for them, and so they delude themselves that appearance doesn't count.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS IN THE HOME

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she always keeps a supply on hand, for the first trial convinces her there is nothing to equal them in keeping children well. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers and making teething easier. Concerning them, Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Dumas, Que., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and am never without them in the house. They have always given the greatest satisfaction and I can gladly recommend them to all mothers of little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Using Detached Grapes

One of the best ways to utilize detached grapes that are often found loose in the bottom of a grape basket is to serve them as one does olives, radishes and other relishes. They may be set in a bed of chopped ice in a small glass dish or occupy one of the divisions of an assorted relish dish. If the grapes are large and handsome, and of varied colors, this novel way of using them is sure to attract attention and admiration from one's guests who see it for the first time. Such a dish is as suited to the breakfast table as to any other meal, and, though it does not take the place of the regular morning fruit course, it provides an attractive addition to it. At a luncheon or dinner these dishes may occupy the corners of the table, and the contents are picked up casually and eaten as one would salted nuts or olives. The colored glass dishes so much in vogue now are especially lovely for serving grapes in this way, or in small clippings from a large cluster. Pale green grapes in pink or orchid glass make a good combination of color; rich purple grapes in pink or orchid glass make a good combination of color; rich purple grapes are delightful in a dish of light green.

WEAK AND NERVOUS

A Condition Always Due to Thin, Watery Blood.

Thin blood and weak nerves generally are found together. Red blooded people seldom complain of nervousness. The reason is that the blood feeds the nerves and keeps them toned up to do the work nature intended. When the blood is thin and weak it fails in this important function and nervous troubles follow. The following case will interest those who need a tonic for the blood and nerves. Mrs. D. Veno, Union Spuare, N.S., says:—"With a feeling of gratitude I write to tell you what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me. I had become badly run down, and reached the stage when I could not do my housework. I was not only weak, but my nerves seemed completely shattered. The least noise would startle me and I was subject to nervous headaches. Worse still, I could not sleep at night. Perhaps I would get an hour or two sleep, and then lie awake for the rest of the night. I had reached a stage when I actually feared I would lose my mind. Up to the time I decided to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, nothing I had taken seemed to do me any good. I got a few boxes of these and soon there was no doubt they were the medicine to help me. As I continued the use of the pills I gradually grew stronger, ate better and could sleep at night, and now I am as well and strong as a woman could wish to be. I hope some other weak, nervous person will be benefitted by my experience."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OWL LAFFS

BY O.W.L.

(ON WITH LAUGHTER)

AN ERROR

An Ontario farmer purchased a purebred pig from a raiser of fancy hogs. The pig and bill arrived the same day. Next day the dissatisfied farmer wrote to the hog raiser as follows:

"Dear Sir: Both pig and bill arrived safely. Judging from their comparative size, you made an error in shipping. You should have sent the bill by express and the pig by mail."

First Mother: "Did your boy win many prizes at college?"

Second Mother (proudly): "He was presented with bath towels by forty different hotels."

The Hollanders have offered to sell three rare narcissus bulbs to the United States for $700. It really is refreshing to see money go for something besides prize fights and motor-cars—but then the offer has not been accepted.

Mistress: "Let me see! What's your name?"

New Help: "Minnie, mum."

Mistress: "Well, Minimum, if you'll only do the maximum of work, we'll get along nicely."

Life grows harder and harder. Now that poker profits have been ruled to be taxable, a fellow has to be mighty careful how he lies about his winnings.

BETWEEN THE LINES

Of course, you've heard the following joke? Well, then, in that case we'll just leave a blank space, and save time and ink by not publishing it:

The modern kitchenette has every built-in necessity except a cabinet for indigestion tablets.

Riblet: "When can I expect the return of the golf club I loaned you?"

Shasberger: "Always, my boy, always."

Darling: "Mamma, I have a surprise for you."

Mother: "Ye ling; what is it?"

Darling: "I've swallowed a nail."

THESE SUPERSANE DAYS

I pity so the modern kid
Who don't do what we used to did.
The parents know so doggoned much
Of what they should and shouldn't touch,
The little beggars have no fun
In doin' what we used to done.
Their parents, to a gnat's heel, know
Just what will make them thrive and grow;
They treat their little Jane and Ralphy
Like they was turnips or alfalfy!
They aren't allowed to nose around
To see what knick-knacks might be found
In cooky jar or Kelvinator—
A pretzel or a cold pertator.
But they are nourished a la science
With every new approved appliance.
They have their doses fixed by measure
And do not get to eat for pleasure!
Some quite grow up, for goodness sake,
And never know the belly ache!
Not knowing that, how can they know
Its aftermath's effulgent glow—
The sweetest thing one knows for certain
Is stomach ache that's just hurtin'.

Saving for a rainy day is a dry subjest for the spendthrift.

Maybe the old cow crossed the road to get a better view of high-priced feed.

Children should be scenery and not heard.

The Right Word

Dr. Doddridge, the hymn writer, was one day walking, his heart very desolate within him. But, passing a cottage door, he happened at that moment to hear a child reading aloud the text, "As thy days, so shall thy strength be."

The cheering effect on his mind, he says, was indescribable. It was like life from the dead.

Much is often done by a word.

Indigestion

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

On Sunday morning in St. Pauls Presbyterian church, Winchester, a brass tablet placed at the entrance of the vestry in memory of Rev. R. J M. Glassford, who was pastor of St. Pauls Church from 1918 to 1925, and Mrs. Glassford, his wife, was unveiled. Rev. Hugh Cameron of Ottawa, was the preacher on the occasion, and he paid high tribute to the splendid work as a christian minister by his friend for many years, the late Mr. Glassford. The unveiling was by Mrs. William Gardner, honorary president of the Ladies' Aid, and one of the oldest members of the congregation. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. Rev. G. C. Graham, the pastor, presided.

When Rev. J. H. Miller and Mrs. Miller, Kemptville, motored to their summer cottage at Iroquois Point on Monday afternoon, in company with Mr. and Mrs. H. Bustard, they were surprised to find the door open and two suitcases of new clothes. Mr. Miller and Mr. Bustard went to the village to inform the constable and the two women remained at the cottage. While there a young man entered the cottage. His name is Cecil Southworth. The women surrounded him, persuaded him to remain their guest until their husbands returned with the constable. when they handed him over to the officer. Provincial Police Jakeman, upon investigating the case, discovered that the store of Jarvis and Shaver, of Aultsville, had been broken into on two occasions and robbed. The goods found in the cottage at Iroquois, which, it is alleged, were stolen by Southworth, were identified as goods from the store at Aultsville.

A sectional meeting of the W. M. S. was held in Knox Presbyterian Church, Morrisburg, Tuesday afternoon and evening, Oct. 2nd, 1928. Mrs. Wm. Johnston, Vice-president of Winchester, presided. Morewood, Dunbar, Winchester, Chesterville, Winchester Springs were well represented. Mrs. Burkholder extended a very kindly welcome to all. The afternoon devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Younge, Miss Grace Irving, Mrs. M. Gibson and Mrs. Johnston. An excellent paper on Stewardship was given by Miss Feeley of Morewood, and a splendid condensed report of the Council meeting held at Vancouver by Mrs. J. A. Riddell of Pittston. A vocal duet by Mrs. Goodfellow, Morrisburg and Mrs. Smith, Winchester. The evening meeting was in charge of Rev. J. Burkholder. Rev. Dr. D. MacOdrum gave a very inspirational and instructive address of the splendid work being carried on in the several missions in foreign fields, saying that the greatest need was leaders, men and women who will give themselves to this great work. Rev. Mr. Graham of Winchester gave a short address on the missionary spirit of the church, also brought greetings from the several churches in the Presbytery. The choir furnished excellent music, which closed a meeting of inspiration and helpfulness.
