Hundreds of Stormont Dundas residents join Montreal unity rally

Say "no" for a united Canada

Pictured are passengers and the bus driver of Delaney Bus 601, at Friday's Montreal unity rally. They were one of 12 bus loads invited by MP Bob Kilger to participate among thousands of other Canadians in sending a "No" message to Quebec separation. Approximately 600 Stormont Dundas residents went by bus to Montreal, joined by many others in car and vans. The "no" side squeaked through the Quebec referendum Monday, by a narrow lead of 1.2 per cent: No at 50.6 per cent, and Yes at 49.4 per cent.

CORNWALL—They came from Williamsburg, Elma, Iroquois, Williamstown, Chesterville and Cornwall. They came in busloads, by car and by van to express their devotion to a united Canada, and their feelings of opposition to Quebec separation.

Approximately 600 people left by bus last Friday, responding to MP Bob Kilger's invitation to join Friday's unity rally in Montreal.

They joined tens of thousands of other Canadians from as far east as the Maritimes, west as British Columbia and the north and united in a mass rally at Canada Place in downtown Montreal.

Passengers in Bus 601, Delaney Bus Lines included former Montreal and present Iroquois residents Frank and Maureen Welsh. The couple heard about the bus rides by television and rose early Friday, to be sure to catch a ride from Cornwall Civic Complex.

"We're going to Montreal today because it's just a short four years ago today we left Montreal and moved to Eastern Ontario. We have lots and lots of friends down there who are voting "no", Frank said.

"We're going to support them and see if we can get other people to vote no," he added.

In addition, Frank and Maureen had one big reason for joining the "No" rally. Their youngest son was born on Montreal Island, lived there all his life, and is enrolled in his last year at Concordia University. They want to see him graduate from a Canadian university.

Carrie-Anne Plummer, a Williamsburg resident and Grade 11 North Dundas High School student, spent the entire evening Thursday making a patriotic costume, and was also up early Friday. Sporting a maple leaf on a white cap, red jacket, she had painted "Quebec" up one leg and "Canada" down the other.

Carrie's emotional attachment to Quebec includes friends and acquaintances who are Quebec residents, visits to an aunt's cottage in the Gatineau. "It's very important to me that they stay there because I plan living there when I grow up," she said.

"I think this rally we're going to in Montreal is great. I think it's the best thing that can happen to Canada. It's going to go down in the history books. I know that for sure and I'm glad to be part of it," she stated.

"It's very important to me that Quebec does stay together with Canada," she added.

One of the highlights of the trip was responding to mini-rallies at Highway 401 overpasses, as busloads cheered and waved at fellow patriots who had draped the Canadian and Quebec flags on the bridges.

Between a sea of waving flags, participants could barely see but could certainly hear Labor Minister Lucienne Robillard, "No" side leaders Daniel Johnson and Jean Charest, and Prime Minister Jean Chretien. The crowd responded in good humor to the exhortations of organizers, shouting "No, No"

Lazarus House has transfer payment slashed

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

SOUTH MOUNTAIN—It did not come as a complete surprise when The House of Lazarus Matilda Resource Center had word of a funding cut from the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

On October 2, Ottawa area manager Pierre Lalonde wrote on behalf of the Ministry to the Seaway Valley Presbytery, United Church of Canada, to announce the Community Neighborhood Support Services Program would no longer be continued as of December 31 this year.

The Matilda Resource Center has been funded in part by the United Church of Canada Mission and Service Fund, in part by MCSS and by donations. The Center acts as a food bank for area needy, second hand clothing store, and also offers counselling services.

In the letter, Lalonde thanked the Center for its contribution to the community, but noted "government's need to reduce its spending will present new challenges to our notions of community responsibility and accountability."

Chair of the Board of Directors, Rev. Fred Milnes said the funding cut represented all of the government funding, or approximately 40 of their entire budget.

""I personally wasn't surprised at the cut back because we could see it coming. We all realize it's tough times, but if we work together, things will turn out for the good," Milnes said.

The Board held an emergency meeting to determine a policy and decided to meet the challenge in part by cutting paid staff hours, the open hours at the Center and rely more on volunteers. Two staff members volunteered to cut a number of their paid hours and casual help was cut.

The hours the Center is open have been reduced Monday to Friday, from 8.00 a.m. to 9.00 a.m. until noon. On the last Saturday of the month, volunteer help will be used to assist the staff member on duty.

"We'll also have to look at other sources of funding," Milnes said.

"We hope to reach to the community to a broader base of support from churches and community if we are to continue with the support of Lazarus House. I know everyone is pinched, but if the center is involved in the community, it's up to the community to see it goes," he said.

"In this sense, I feel the cut backs give us opportunities to work together to meet the community needs. We expected others to be there to help us. If you feel the service is important, maybe you should find the resources in the community to keep it going."

Board member Sandy Weagant, said: "The community will have to be more generous to us, and come up with more food. If it is not there, the clients will suffer even more."

Weagant added the ongoing support from the community was wonderful. There was an exceptional response to the Lions food drive in Morrisburg , and recently a wagon load of squash was brought in from Kemptville.

"The neighboring communities have helped. This center serves the surrounding areas not just South Mountain and Matilda," she said.

Weagant stressed the need to rely more on volunteer help, reinforcing the aim of the board "that people work for themselves."

No longer will the Center be able to provide people experiencing crises a one-time donation on a pay-back basis from the emergency fund. Also, over the past year, the Center bought $2,000 in food with donations, but now donations for clothing would have to be used to assist with salaries.

Weagant added that if the client population takes more interest in the Center, it improves both the facility and the clients morale.

Weagant pointed out another way for people to be helpful. Clothes which are not in topnotch condition for resale, may be put in separate bag and labeled recycle for pick-up by the clothing recycler.

Director of the Center, Shirley Nichol-Scott said clients have already been offering to help keep the place neat, on their own behalf and for others. "Everyone's very cooperative. It's as if they consider it their place, and many want to volunteer their time. I already see a difference with the people. We have to join together to keep it open.""

Nichol Scott said that despite the funding cuts, counselling programs of Crisis Intervention and the "Survivor of Abuse Restored Program" which she has been leading will not be cut. In addition, the Center will attempt to continue to provide transportation assistance for people to meet appointments.

Christmas Exchange Hot Line opens soon

SOUTH DUNDAS — The South Dundas Christmas Exchange Hot Line will be accepting requests for a food basket starting Monday, November 6 from those in need.

Eligible persons are asked to phone in the names of family members by December 1st at the latest to receive a basket and toy for your child.

Persons who qualify include those on a Social Assistance program, recently unemployed and awaiting cheques, or those who are experiencing a serious financial crisis this season.

The South Dundas Community Exchange, which has been operating for the past six years, collects and distributes food donated from various sources in South Dundas including churches, clubs, schools, special concerts and events, industries and businesses.

Perishable food such as ham, eggs, bread, milk, potatoes, carrots and fruit are purchased in bulk from local grocery stores and provide a Christmas Day meal.

Included in the hamper is one toy per child up to the age of three, collected by "Angel Trees".

The South Dundas Christmas Exchange distributed 185 family baskets last Christmas thanks to the generosity of the community and the efforts of many volunteers.

Nick Lee promoted by J&J

Travelling the road to success

STEPHANIE WOLFE
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — He will be travelling on a continual basis and working long hours, but Odonto Corporation president Nick Lee is up for the challenge.

Lee was recently promoted by Johnson and Johnson to Executive Director of Oral Care North America.

As he wishes to remain in Morrisburg, Lee will commute regularly to Johnson and Johnson's Personal Product Company headquarters in Skillman, New Jersey while remaining President and General Manager of Odonto.

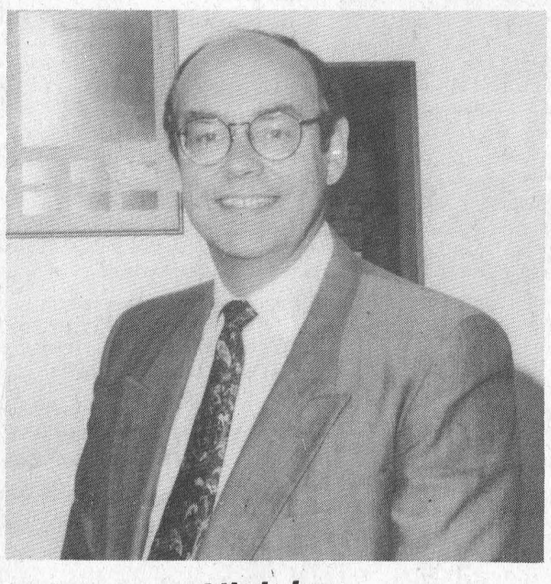
"The position will be a challenge," Lee said. "The plant in the U.S. is significantly larger and I'll be working with many different cultures.

"Some days, I will be travelling six hours between New Jersey and Morrisburg, but I refuse to leave Morrisburg. It's a beautiful area to settle down in."

Odonto Corporation is owned by Johnson and Johnson and has been manufacturing toothbrushes and dental floss in Morrisburg since 1917.

Lee started working at Odonto in 1980, when it sold products only in Canada, and has since expanded its market to 45 countries world-wide.

Lee says Odonto is responsible for Johnson and Johnson's jump from third place overall in the business market in Canada to first place, in the past three years.



Nick Lee

As a result, Lee believes he was promoted to Executive Director because Johnson and Johnson is anxious to see similar success — including Odonto's production of low cost and innovative products — in the United States.

As Executive Director, Lee will be responsible for three Oral Care plants word-wide, including one in Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Germany as well as Odonto.

"The background Odonto has given me will be transferred to other businesses to make them as successful," Lee said.

"I will report to a President. I'll be a small fish in a bigger pond rather than a big fish in a small pond."

There's no doubt that Lee — also Chairman of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, member of the hospital's foundation board and Director of Morrisburg's Chamber of Commerce — will be busy.

Aside from travelling regularly between Morrisburg and New Jersey, he'll be visiting the three other plants about once a month.

"I suspect I'll have to cut back in my involvement in the community if I'm not in town," Lee said.

"But I have a great belief in family values and will spend time at home when I can."

Richard Hannan has been appointed Director of Operations and Sales at Odonto, taking over the bulk of the operations so that Lee can focus his energy on his new responsibilities.

Hannan worked at Johnson and Johnson in Montreal for 24 years in Customer Service, Operations Management and Marketing. He is currently the Product Director on Reach (toothbrushes) and Dental Floss.

Morrisburg businesses hit by thieves

MORRISBURG—Three break and enters occurred at three separate businesses in Morrisburg sometime over night October 28 and 29, which were investigated by the Morrisburg OPP.

Impact Sports, a sporting goods store located in the shopping plaza, was entered by culprits who smashed in the front glass door. Once inside, the following property was stolen: Umbro winter jackets, winter gloves, ball caps, NHL and other pro series sports wear. Items were valued at approximately $3,000.

Also during this time period, thieves gained entry to Video Ventures, also through the front door, where a Super Nintendo video game, a Genesis Sega, a Citizen VCR were stolen, along with 57 various video games, and $100 in cash. Total value of the stolen property was listed at $6,080.

The Village Bakery and Deli was also broken into as the front door lock had been pried. Cash and Nevada tickets valued at $1,201.47 were stolen.

Caravan Park residents summoned to court

STEPHANIE WOLFE
Leader Staff

BRINSTON—Six Caravan Park residents made a desperate plea to Matilda Council at a regular council meeting last Wednesday.

Charged by the Eastern Ontario Health Unit for operating illegal sewage systems, residents urged council to help them in their long-standing battle against the developer of their mobile home park.

Residents claim that developer John McHale, who bought the property in 1989, built their units without permission from the Ministry of Environment, and now they are suffering the consequences.

Residents are being summoned to Morrisburg's provincial court on November 27.

"We are being told that the facilities are illegal and we are not suppose to be there," resident Carole Plante told council.

"We are looking for help more than anything. Nobody has given us an answer about anything."

To complicate matters further, the official plan amendment for the mobile park — the second phase of McHale's two step development project — has yet to be approved by the Ontario Municipal Environment Board.

Yet residents have been living in the park for more than a year, and were only charged last month.

"We were only partly aware of the situation before they were charged," Sylvain Diotte, program coordinator for the Eastern Ontario Health Unit said.

"The development proceeded without approval. Since they are the owners, they have to be charged."

McHale, a former Ottawa based entrepreneur, built Phase One or "Caravan Camp," shortly after he bought the property six years ago.

Located off Highway 2 between Morrisburg and Iroquois, Phase One was designed for tents and portable trailers, Phase Two for year-round permanent trailer sites.

There are presently nine trailers on the Phase Two, "Caravan Park", site.

At the council meeting, residents said they were not aware of the problems before they bought their homes.

Reeve Charles Barkley was sympathetic to their problem.

"It's nobody's fault except the developer," he said. "He told us he had it approved.

He told us everything was 100 per cent."

It appears residents will have a long struggle before anything is solved.

The Ministry of Environment and Energy has yet to approve an agreement between McHale and the township which stipulates a communal ownership of the water and sewage system. It also states that the township will be ultimately responsible if the developer does not fix any problems.

Victor Castro, a planner with the Ministry, says the agreement is being examined to ensure it meets required standards, and expects a decision shortly.

Council asked residents to sign a petition at the meeting, requesting council's help. Reeve Barkley assured them calls would be made to the Eastern Ontario Health Unit and the developer on their behalf.

McHale could not be reached for comment.

Stampville Senior's Centre

In other news, renovations to the old Stampville Public School were discussed at the meeting.

A group of seniors were present to examine council's proposed renovations to the new site, which will include a senior's centre and storage space for council's use.

Council plans to finalize the $86,544 proposal as soon as possible.

and "Canada, Canada" on cue.

Few negative incidents resulted from the mass rally, although it was reported one or two people passed out, were carried out of the crowd and had to be revived by attendants.

And while the "Yes" side did not officially join, they got their message out via helicopter. "Welcome to our new partners" answered the federal message "Stay in Canada" and "Fort fiers" (Very proud,) trailing across the sky.

Later, as the bus drove home, participants relaxed feeling that no matter what the outcome of the referendum, they had participated in a job well done.

In summary a passenger said: "If there's a message to give Quebec, it's stay in Canada. We love you, we need you and you need us."

Finally, an attempted break and enter occurred sometime over night October 28 at the Red and White Store in Iroquois. The culprit(s) smashed the glass between the main doors but left without gaining entry to the establishment.

SD & G should develop its own community initiatives

MORRISBURG—The community of SD & G should look to itself for initiatives, the new director for the Community Development Corporation told a gathering of business persons last Thursday.

"We can do it ourselves," Jay Woollven explained to the South Dundas Business Appreciation meeting.

The Community Development Program represents the amalgamation of two bodies, Community Futures and the Business Development Center.

Community Futures assisted in community development projects, such as Le Village Project, in beautifying a French section of old Cornwall and Cooper Marsh, an environmental project in the Lancaster area.

The other organization was the Business Development Center, an organization providing counselling to existing businesses or to those who want to start new enterprises. The Center also administers self employment assistance programs to help unemployed people who want to start their own businesses rather than find jobs.

The Center helps them for a year with assistance to develop business plans to get their business off the ground. In addition, it has an investment and loans fund to fund corporations or individuals starting businesses who otherwise can't get funds from other sources.

"We're the bank of last resort," Woolven said.

In the last eight years, the Center has invested in 150 different corporations and created 1,086 jobs. And a total of $4.5 million has been invested in the SD & G economy.

The Center influences the microeconomics of the area through loans and counselling, and macroeconomics through community development, Woolven said.

Two years ago, Community Futures took the lead in applying to provincial and federal goverments for funding a project to create a community vision for SD & G and the City of Cornwall.

Known as the SPARTA project, the vision dealt with cultural, social and economic sectors of the community. Through community forums, it included the input of residents from a multitude of organizations, businesses and individuals. A total of 82 recommendations were included in the bilingual report touted as a "grass roots initiative."

"We are the agency which received the report and are charged with facilitating, monitoring and reporting on the implementation of this report by the community," Woollven said.

Most recommendations are doable, and don't require a lot of money," Woolven added. Each recommendation has a rationale as to why it should be done, a start date, a suggestion as to which group should carry out the recomendation, and a suggested outcome. Reports are available at each township office.

Fastest growing sector

Mark Kulick, Business Self-Help Consultant from the Small Business Self-Help office in Cornwall described trends in small business, the fastest growing sector in Ontario. In fact this is the only growing sector, and a very important one as new small business provides 44 per cent of employment in the province.

A total of 98 per cent of all businesses in the province are classified small, and each year, there are 80-100,00 start-ups.

While there are many beginnings there are also a great number of failures, as half go out of business in the first three years. "It's very important to give these people the information it takes to improve this percentage," Kulick said.

To assist, the business office offers loans and advice. During the last five years, the office helped with $3.8 million in loans for establishing new businesses in the area.

A successful seminar was held in Morrisburg recently. Attended by 20 interested persons, the seminar featured advice by Blakely accountants, legal advice by McInnis, McEwen and Horner, and financial tips from Bank of Montreal personnel.

In addition to holding seminars throughout the area, the Self-Help office offers consultations in Alexandria and Chesterville, and will offer the same service from the South Dundas Economic Commission office i Morrisburg. Starting in November, this free service is by appointment only.

The evening also featured appreciation of new businesses and an Employer's Information Fair.

New business owners received certificates of appreciation from Stormont Dundas MP Bob Kllger as follows. In Morrisburg The Subway (manager Jennifer McNairn); Seaway Dry Cleaners (Richard and Patricia Beattie); Pier 31 (Vicki Boivin, Valerie St. John); Sports Bar (Nick Theodosiou); Impact Sports (Bill Morrow); Gregor's Place (Jim and Linda Logie); Esthetics by Becky (Becky Pena).

New owners from Williamsburg were recognized: Picadilly Press (Lori MacDonald, Brent Boyd); Canadian Tire (Craig Salkeld). In Iroquois: Little Rikki's (Rick Weber); Crawford's Meat Shop (Les and Joanne Crawford).

In Dixons Corners: Yesterday's Boutique (Barb Watson): Hainsville General Store (Carl and Tammy Thomas).

Kilger presented retiring commissioners with certificates of appreciation Bev Sabourin (Matillda Council); Karen Gorrell (Morrisburg business Thom Realty); Jacques Asselin (Iroquois business Asselin Real Estate).

One referendum may lead to another

If one thing is certain, it is the continuity of change. And one message that came through loud and clear in Monday's Quebec referendum on separation, was that the Canadian constitution must change.

During the last referendum 15 years ago, the proposal for separation was defeated in a 60-40 vote. But this time, at the final tally, the no vote stood at 50.6 per cent to 49.6 per cent for sovereignty, with a difference of 1.2 per cent.

One lesson learned is the trend towards sovereignty has continued, from the Bloc Quebecois winning enough seats in the last federal election to become the official opposition, followed by the Parti Quebecois win in the Quebec provincial election. If there is no change in the Constitution, indications are that the next time, the sovereigntists will win. The increasingly narrow vote shows that the status quo will not work.

It can also no longer be said that the majority of French Quebecers do not favor sovereignty, judging from statistics showing that almost 60 per cent voted yes. Only an additional two per cent would have put the yes side over the top.

Quebecers have made the decision to stay in Canada for now. Leader of the No campaign Daniel Johnson proposed the recognition of Quebec as a distinct society during the last two weeks of the campaign and Prime Minister Jean Chretien has admitted this may be a necessary change. Since the premiers of other provinces may join in the pressure for decentralization, perhaps a renewal of federalism with more autonomy for all provinces should be on the constitutional agenda.

As leader of the Yes Campaign Lucien Bouchard stated, perhaps another referendum is not too far away. As Mr. Bouchard has promised, "the sovereigntist cause has not been uprooted. Ottawa can't do whatever it wants. Quebec will watch vigilantly every step towards change."

With the pressure from the Western provinces towards decentralization, the next referendum may not be a simple repeat of the separation question for Quebec, but a national referendum on the constitution as it affects all provinces, and the recognition of a distinct society for Quebec.

There may be a sense of deja vue as Canadians look back to the defeated Meech Lake agreement and Charlottetown accord. But the rejection of these proposals by Canadians may be reversed in the future, as they contemplate the recent narrow victory for federalism. Could the outpouring of Canadians affection for Quebec, demonstrated in the huge rally in Montreal Friday, be translated into a willingness to compromise?

To enter once again into a constitutional discussion may not be at the top of most Canadians agenda. But we almost saw the demise of one of the greatest democracies in the world, one which is touted as the best in the world to live in.

We almost lost it. Canadians must be willing to work very hard to bring about the necessary change. We haven't lived in harmony with Quebec for the last two centuries, to have come this far, to throw it all away.

It may require work to bring about the necessary change, but surely Canada is worth it. We have been given another chance, to work within federation to continue building our country along democratic principles, in peace, tolerance and harmony.

Calling the government to task

The Mike Harris government is facing a challenge to live up to the philosophy of the Common Sense Revolution. Cornwall MPP John Cleary has called on the Progressive Conservative government to allow private sector investment to operate Raisin River and Charlottenburgh Parks for next summer.

Cleary asked Economic Development, Trade and Tourism Minister William Saunderson what his government was doing to promote tourism partnerships and private sector enterprise, "so that people who want to operate those parks may do so this coming summer?"

The Minister appeared to be unaware of the parks closures in Eastern Ontario, responding "I would like to investigate a bit further into this situation and I will report back to him at a later date."

Cleary reminded the government of the Common Sense Revolution's reference, "Many of the things that government does can be done cheaper, faster and better if the private sector is involved."

He pointed out the revenue the government would collect from a lease deal, plus benefits to businesses in Eastern Ontario if the parks are open. "It's a win-win situation." Adding the parks have been closed too long, he said "residents are not going to take "no" for an answer, and asked Saunderson when he projected the parks being opened "to boost the local economy and job opportunities."

Following Question Period, Cleary expressed surprise that Minister Saunderson did not seem to be informed of the parks closures, stating "I intend to continue to hound this government to follow up on the Common Sense Revolution's promise of partnerships with the private sector."

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles

1985

On October 30th, the Leader reported that Osnabruck Township deputy reeve Gordon Ross withdrew from the municipal election because he was feeling a little battle-worn from his previous three year term.

Councillor Peter Zeran (the township's only councillor at the time) was acclaimed deputy reeve.

Ross told a Leader reporter, "I think we have a lot of good, smart people running this time.

If it looked like there wouldn't have been enough people, I would have run," he said.

* SDG MPP Noble Villeneuve was disappointed by the provincial government's decision to allocate $60 million for special road renovations to the municipalities.

"It's a mere drop in the bucket of what's really needed," Villeneuve told the Leader.

"We won't see this spent in Eastern Ontario."

The $29 billion spending package — the Liberal's first in more than 40 years — affected consumers, who had to pay more for booze, gasoline and cigarettes.

A tank of gas cost about 30 cents more and a large pack of cigarettes, a penny more.

* A $25,000 start-up grant was given to the town of Winchester for a battered women's centre.

* The Red Cross reassured potential blood donors that they faced no chance of coming in contact with the deadly AIDS virus.

1975

SDG MPP Osie Villeneuve was "resting comfortably" at the Women's College Hospital in Toronto after suffering a heart attack during the week.

*The Seaway dancers were formed earlier in the summer under the direction of Gayle Robertson.

Before the group formed, the dancers performed individually in competitive highland dancing throughout the area.

1965

A headline in the November issue stated, "Record Building Boom in Morrisburg," referring to more than a quarter of a million dollar boom in housing in the town.

$274,000 value in building permits had been issued by clerk Lloyd Barkley.

* At Brinston's Allied Food Market, boneless beef stew was 59 cents a pound and Nescafe instant coffee was $1.39 a 10-ounce jar.

The November 11 issue reported that local and Ontario Provincial Police were still searching for what was thought to be an organized band of theives, following several robberies in the district.

A well-known Morrisburg taxi driver, Elmer Janack, received a call to go to the second concession of Williamsburg. At a bed in the road, he noticed some fence rails blocking his path and when he got out to remove them, he was slugged from behind, viciously beaten and robbed of $200.

* A map showing the location of the new Canadian National Railways station in Morrisburg was presented to members of the Morrisburg and Williamsburg Planning Board and the Village Council.

* At the Dominion, lettuce was 29 cents for two heads and bright's choice peaches in 15 ounce tins were selling for 18 cents each.

1945

The November 2nd issue reported a Brinston women was accidently wounded when a sawed-off .22 calibre rifle she was loading to fire at a hawk, discharged into her left side.

Mrs. Percy Keck, 31, was in critical condition at the Brockville General Hospital.

* John A. McMartin, son of Mrs. John L. McMartin of Morrisburg, was appointed business manager of the Welland County General Hospital.

* Hon. W. G. Webster, Ontario Liquor Commissioner, said the rationing of liquor and wine in Ontario would probably be wiped out by early 1946.

* Before a large crowd of 500 spectators at the Intramural Track Meet of Queen's University, Bob Loucks of Science '47, won the individual honors for his second consecutive year.

Loucks, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.R. Loucks of Williamsburg, took a first in the broad jump, second in the high jump and 100 yard dash and third in the 220.

* Air Force headquarters announced the award of a Bar to the Distinguished Flying cross of Squadron Leader Herbert Lindsay Coons of Morrisburg. Coons was the son of Mrs. M.A. Epplett of Kingston.

The award was for "bravery and devotion to duty of the highest order."

The first award, of the Distinguished Flying Cross, was made to Coons, then a flying officer, while attached to a Sunderland Squadron flying out of Sierra Leonne, Africa.

The award at that time was for extremely cool and efficient navigation while under fire on numerous occasions.

1935

The November 1st issue reported that municipal councillor A.M. Jarvis was prepared to propose a resolution in regard to the building of a new Community Hall for Morrisburg.

The lease on the present town hall was about to expire and many believed Morrisburg needed a new town hall, as it was the only town in the area which had no public building to hold meetings.

* China Seas, starring Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Berry, was playing at the Picadilly Theatre in Williamsburg. The Cameo Theatre in Morrisburg was showing Katherine Hepburn in Alice Adams.

Headlines in the October 30 issue stated, "King Government Goes Down — Casselman Elected by 2700 Majority."

The Canadian General Election had come to an end with Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, as head of the largest group in the next House of Commons.

Unofficial figures showed the Conservatives at 118, Liberals 97, Progressives 20, Independents two, labor two and doubfuls six for a 245 seat total.

If Meighen were to capture every one of the six doubful seats, he would have a majority of one.

Under the circumstances, there was much wonderment as to the course Premier King would adopt.

Would he resign in favor of Meighen or would he endeavor to continue in office with the assistance of progressive and independent votes?

When the parliament was dissolved, the Liberals had 117 seats, Conservatives 49 and Progressives 61.

Mr. A.C. Casselman, Conservative Candidate for Grenville-Dundas, was elected with a 2700 majority.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

As the Fall Session of the Federal Parliament resumes, and the Quebec referendum forces all of us to focus on what it means to be a Canadian, a fresh threat to the essential nature of Canadian Citizenship looms on the not-too-distant horizon.

This is the ill-conceived project by a few bureaucrats in the Ministry of Citizenship and Immigration, who are determined to strip the Queen from the Oath taken by our new fellow Canadians. They propose to replace it with a "poetic" declaration asserting some vague loyalty to the land and the Constitution.

The Monarchist League of Canada believes that the Crown is the capacious, neutral tent under which all Canadians can unite, and that the proposed new Oath would deny our history, create legal problems in the present, and suggest an American-style republic in our future.

We all need to be informed in order to speak to our MP's about this issue. Accordingly, the League has prepared a Position Paper which contains a series of questions and answers about the importance of the Oath of Citizenship. Members of the public, teachers, community groups and all concerned for the nation's future are invited to request one or more copies of this Paper at no cost by writing to The Monarchist League of Canada, PO Box 1057, Oakville, Ontario L6J 5E9. A stamped, self-addressed envelope would be appreciated but is not necessary.

Yours sincerely,
John L. Aimers,
Dominion Chairman

Dear Editor - Last Tuesday afternoon I noticed that a large branch of our maple tree had come down and part of it rested precariously on the Hydro powerline which feeds electricity into our home.

I notified the local Hydro office and promptly, early the next morning before 8 a.m., a Hydro crew appeared with their marvelous machine which enables two people to be lifted up high into the air.

Within half and hour, they had taken the branch from the wire, cut it off, and removed a number of other dead branches. Then they removed all the wood, put it on a truck and brought it to the dump.

That's what I call service!

Thank you Hydro.Morrisburg may rightly be very proud of you.

KURT POLAK.

Becky Pena starts beautiful business adventure

STEPHANIE WOLFE
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — If her esthetics salon is any indication, Becky Pena is bound for success.

In a comfortable size room in her parents' home, 20-year-old Pena has created a cosy atmosphere for her new business adventure — "Esthetics By Becky".

The walls are adorned with skin and aromatherapy charts and a private partition enhanced with pink roses separates a reclining chair and manicure table from a large wooden cabinet filled with beauty products from around the world.

Pena started her business a month ago, when Evelyn Wharry, an esthetician in Morrisburg for many years, decided to move to London and agreed to refer her clients to Pena.

"I'm very confident she can do the work," Wharry said. "She's well-trained, educated, and very interested.

"I'm sure she'll do well."

A recent graduate of Pebec, a private esthetics school in London, Pena has been interested in the field for many years.

She was a regular client of Wharry's for three years before she decided to start her own business.

Upon graduation, Pena applied for a loan with the provincial government's New Ventures program and was granted $10,000 to start up her new business.

"I'm trying to make it into full-time work," Pena said.

"I'll give it a year and get a job as an esthetician elsewhere during the day and do this at night if I have to."

In the past month, Pena has treated clients from Morrisburg, Iroquois, South Mountain and Williamsburg.

She offers facials, manicures, pedicures, wax depilation, body treatment (including an epidermal peeling and non-therapeutic massage), make-up applications and aromatherapy.

Pena uses some 'top of the line' products from Germany designed for skin care and make-up.

Pena is offering a special 15 per cent reduction on a manicure and pedicure package this month.

For more information, call Becky Pena at 543-2137.

Christian song writer to visit Morrisburg

MORRISBURG—One of England's leading Christian song writers, Roger Jones, is touring Canada in November.

Roger is an internationally known composer of contemporary Christian music. He has written many musicals and several collections of worship songs.

Roger has become a Christian through Billy Graham and the Christian Endeavour movement at his local Baptist Church. He trained as a musician at the Birmingham School of Music, and was school principal prior to devoting his full time to the Christian Music Ministry.

As a licensed lay reader at Christ Church in Birmingham, England, Roger is also a regular broadcaster on radio and television.

Roger's Canadian tour will cover major cities from Vancouver to Montreal. Morrisburg residents are privileged to have him extend his time in Ottawa to include a stop over here.

On Monday November 13th, St. James Anglican Church will host a ecumenical evening entitled "Ways to Praise."

If you enjoy Christian music, then this evening is for you. The programme for this evening will include Psalms, Hymns and songs from his album entitled "Precious and Honored." The evening starts at 8.00 p.m. and although there is no charge for the evening, contributions in support of his ministry will be appreciated.

Poppy blitz kicks off
Morrisburg residents volunteered Saturday for the door to door poppy campaign. Fire fighters made their way along the streets as did the Cubs and Beavers, like young James Jones, 5, of Morrisburg. Audrey Henophy pins on his volunteer button.

ROYAL CANADIAN LEGION BRANCH #48 MORRISBURG, ONTARIO

NEWSLETTER

Veteran's Week will start on November 4th and will end with our Remembrance Day Service to be held on Saturday the 11th of November. Morrisburg Branch 48 passed a resolution shortly after the end of Armistice Day designating Nov. 11th as a legal Holiday and declared that Morrisburg would always observe the 11th as the day to remember those who had died in service of their country. Some other branches will be holding their service of remembrance on the 4th as they have adopted to go with the first Sunday before the 11th. Br. 48 begins its day of Remembrance with a brief ceremony at the Chrysler Battle Field Memorials at 9 a.m. Wreathes will be laid in the Canadian and British Courts of Honour to commemorate the battle near there on the 11th of November 1811 when British and Canadian forces defeated an American army descending the St. Lawrence River to attack Montreal. At 10:30 a.m. in the Legion Hall on Colin St., we will begin our memorial service and at the conclusion of this service wreathes will be placed at the Monument and the Waterfront Memorial. If you know that the monument is the Cenotaph in front of the civic building, you are truly a citizen of Morrisburg.

On the 10th of November a few Veterans will join with the pupils and staff of Morrisburg Public School as they observe Remembrance Day.

As this will be the last of the 50th year celebrations to commemorate the end of the 2nd World War and the founding of the United Nations, we will also be honoring those Canadians who have taken part in peace keeping missions around the world. It is hoped that those who have taken part on these missions will attend so they can be recognized by their fellow citizens. The annual village Poppy blitz took place last Saturday and was a success due to the efforts of volunteers.

The seniors meet for cards every Tuesday at 1:30. On the 2nd Tuesday we have a short business meeting and at this meeting on the 14th of Nov., Doris Ward will be selling tickets for the seniors' Christmas dinner. This will be your last chance to get tickets as we have to let the caterers know how many will be attending.

I do not know who is responsible for the flowers around the Monument (Cenotaph) but they are to be commended on a job well done. The flowers have never been as nice as they were this last year.

Those who took advantage of our Octoberfest celebrations last Saturday had a fine night out. Frank Oak, our chef, and his helpers turned out a great assortment of German food which was enjoyed by all; and afterwards the crowd was entertained by Dayton and Eric.

Watch The Leader coming events column for the start of our Sunday sports events which will include Dart Steak Shoots, Euchre and Cribbage Tournaments. These should start in mid-November.

Seaway Valley Lifestyle Program continues to battle health care costs

INGLESIDE—The Seaway Valley Lifestyle Program continues to take the offensive in combatting health care costs.

Rather than waiting for warning signs of lifestyle related diseases such as heart disease, high blood pressure and Type 11 diabetes, something is being done about it now.

Since April, participants have lost weight, reduced their blood cholesterol, lowered their medication for high blood pressure and found a new lease on their lives, even returning to school.

Organizers proudly announce the arrival of Dr. Hans Diehl Dr. Health Science, Master of Public Health. Dr. Diehl is a Cardiovascular Epidemiologist who has successfully produced the International Coronary Health Improvement Program known as CHIP.

Dr. Diehl is taking a break from his 550 CHIP participants presently enrolled in a dynamic, four-week program at Borgess Health Alliance in Kalamazoo, Michigan. He will speak at St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church in Ingleside on Saturday, November 4 at 7 p.m. addressing the topic of "What is New in Heart Disease."

Valley Writers' Guild meets Nov. 12

SPENCERVILLE—Have you ever secretly aspired to become the next Orson Welles, Quentin Taratino, Atom Egoyan, or even Ed Wood?

Or perhaps you're simply an avid film buff who wonders how great screenwriters master their craft. Here's your chance to find out all about writing movies at the upcoming Valley Writers' Guild meeting on November 12. The Guild is fortunate to have as guest speaker Tom Shoebridge, who for several years has been the coordinator of the Summer Institute of Film and Television, which takes place every spring in Ottawa.

He was co-editor of the book, Best Canadian Screenplays, and himself author of a screenplay, Hounds of Notre Dame. He also teaches communication, film and scriptwriting at Algonquin College.

Don't miss what is certain to be a stimulating afternoon. Who knows? Perhaps as a result, Kemptville will be the birthplace of the great Canadian screenplay.

The Valley Writers Guild is a boon to local authors from all over the Ottawa Valley. Both published and beginning writers meet once a month, usually the first, or second Sunday, at 2 p.m. at St. John's United Church, Kemptville, to hear illustrious and interesting guest writers of various genres give usually amusing, sometimes poignant, always inspiring accounts of their experiences as writers.

The Guild also offers several annual writing contests and plays an active role in the annual Ottawa Book Festival. Annual membership is $30/single $45/family. Visitors are more than welcome and pay $4 at the door.

For more information about the Valley Writers' Guild, please contact chairperson 613-658-5245.

Ask A Master Gardener

Question: are there any advantages to fertilizing my lawn in late fall?

Answer (By Pearl Paradis): Yes. Research shows that in Ontario, a "Late Fall Dormant Nitrogen Application" has certain advantages.

The three more important advantages are that roots get better spring development, grass recovers better from mid-summer drought.

Other advantages are: 1) increased winter hardiness and improved recovery from winter diseases; 2) earlier spring growth with more green blades and stems, but less succulent growth, which is more susceptible to diseases; 3) a decrease in midsummer weed invasion, particularly annual weeds; 4) some reduction in total yearly nitrogen requirements.

The fertilizer is applied after vertical shoot growth has ceased, but early enough for roots to take up nitrogen.

In this dormant application, use 30 to 40 per cent of the total yearly nitrogen required; delay the spring application until early June and use less in this application than the late summer application.

Example Annual Fertilizer Plan - Area 11 metres squared

Desired amount of Nitrogen - 0.5 kg per 100 metres squared
Fertilizer analysis 20-5-10 (nitrogen, phosphorous, potassium)
amount of fertilizer required per application - 2.5 kg number of applications - 3 X 2.5 kg = 7.5 kg

1st application	2kg	in early June
2nd application	2.5kg	in early September
3rd application	3kg	in early November

Apply when grass is thoroughly dry to allow granules to fall to the soil, following with a good watering (about 20 minutes) to wash any particles from leaf blades.

Lions gain first point in win column

MORRISBURG—Perhaps, they are now getting closer to the the top of the hump.

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions recorded their first win of the season in Athens Sunday night in Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League action with a 5-3 upset.

Athens, who like Morrisburg, is struggling at the bottom of the Rideau Division, plucked away with two goals in the third period, but couldn't turn up much of an effort against a hot Troy Sayeau in the crease for the Lions.

"They got that all-important first win," said coach John Morrow.

"We did a bit of juggling up front, and it seemed to work for the better."

The Lions dropped their game against Westport here Friday night, 8-5.

"We let one get away from us Friday, but they fought back to win Sunday night."

Both James Barnes and Chad White had two goals each for the Lions Friday, and a single shot came from Tim Waldroff.

Jason Harper notched a hat trick of assists, and Jeremy Gowsell had two.

The Lions held a 5-4 advantage after the second period, but Wesport came up with four unanswered goals in the final period to post the win.

Rob Coon, Aaron Lewis and Pete Cunningham had two goals each for the Rideaus.

In their win on Sunday, the Lions were at Athens where they came up with most of their scoring in the second period to post the 5-3 win.

White and Nick Dixon had two goals each. Chad Dugay had one goal and two helpers.

At the end of the first period, the score was deadlocked at one each with Dixon doing the Lions' scoring.

Karl Herbison replied for Athens.

In the second, Morrisburg went ahead by a 5-1 count, with Dugay (2), White and Dixon giving them the advantage.

Jon Saunders picked up two assists, as did Geoff Hare. White, Jeff Hyndman and Travis Froats also had one helper each.

It wasn't until the third period that Athens came up with two goals to close the gape. Rob McMillan and Andrew Drummond were the goal-scorers.

Troy Sayeau picked up his first win of the season in the crease.

Friday, the Lions host Winchester at 8:30 p.m., and Saturday, they travel to Williamstown to meet the Rebels.

Kyoshi John Therien visits Ingleside Karate Club

LAURIE DAY
Leader Staff

INGLESIDE—He's a master of the game.

His passion is mirrored by the spark in his eyes.

He says it best: "I eat this, I breathe this, I sleep this."

Kyoshi John Therien, 46 of Ottawa, made a guest appearance at the Ingleside Karate Club (IKC) on Thursday to teach a Self Defense Seminar.

Participating in the two-hour session were members of the Ingleside Karate Club as well as black belts, and others, from clubs in the area.

Therien, a seventh degree black belt, is a 33-year veteran of Can-Ryu Jiu-Jitsu, and is an Instructor to the Masters.

He founded the Therien Jiu-Jitsu Dojo 28 years ago, in Vanier, Ontario, (there are now four dojos and nine clubs in the area) and has licensed 275 black belts—including Jean-Yves Theriault, pro kickboxer champion since 1980.

Because of his achievements in the martial art world, last year Therien was honored with Kickboxing's "Man of the Decade" award from the Professional Karate Association.

"It didn't sink in for a while," he said prior to his seminar Thursday night. "There are so many great people all over the world, and to be recognized as one of them is truly an honor."

down seminars in South America. Next month he's off to England.

However, he says he'd like to slow down a bit and concentrate on teaching.

"I would like to be able to pass what I learned down to the little ones. If I can rub a little bit of the magic off then it would be worth it."

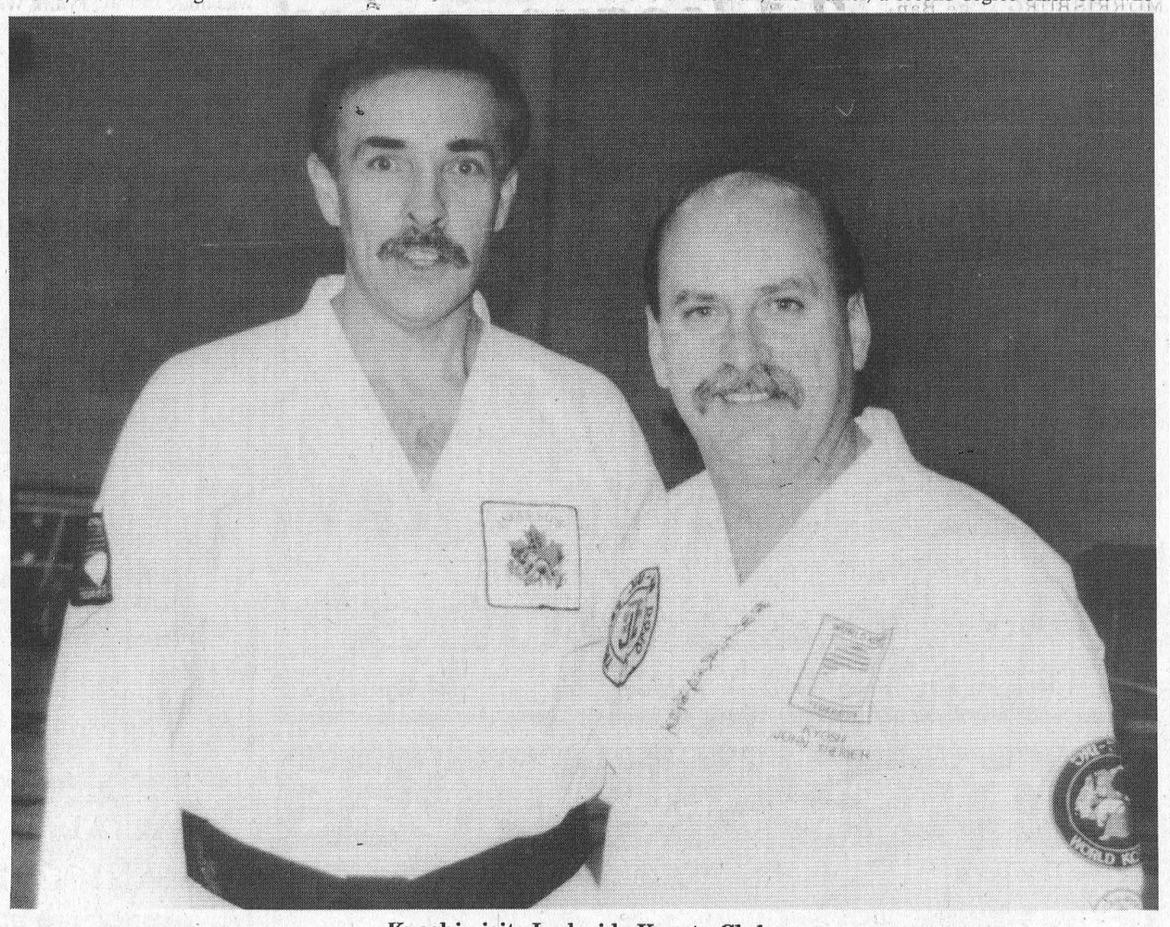
Therien has been taught his martial art by eighth degree black belt Professor George Sylvain, whom he's been with for 33 years. He also learns from Richard Morris, a ninth degree black belt he has been learning from since 1976.

Therien also has a background in communications which extends to writing for specialty magazines in both Canada (Canadian Connection) and the United States (Inside Karate) for the past 10 years. As well, he's affiliated with TSS Promotions as both the president and founder.

Commentaries are other specialties as he was an analyst for kickboxing fights on CTV, CBC, TVSQ, USA Cable, KSPN and Cable TV in several cities.

Therien is also the president of the World Kubudo Federation, the largest Martial Arts organization in North America.

John is married to wife Chris, and they have two sons: Marc, who is a musician, and Daniel, a second degree black belt who



Kyoshi visits Ingleside Karate Club

Kyoshi John Therien (right) was at the Ingleside Karate Club last week for a Self Defense Seminar. He is joined by black belt and instructor at the club, Jim Riddell.

"I've been very fortunate in my lifetime, and if I had it to do over again, I would do it exactly the same."

The Man of the Decade plaque reads: "Therien's vision, character, determination, teaching skills, management, inspiration, charm, wit, perseverance and tenacity also guided the sport and fabulous career of Jean-Yves Theriault to professional heights admired by organizers and managers the world over."

Theriault will be fighting for the last time on December 1st in Montreal, said Therien. He'll be retiring after this fight which will be aired on pay-per-view.

Theriault has been with Therien since 1972, first as a Jiu-Jitsu student, then as a tournament fighter and finally as a pro kickboxer. He has been a champion of this martial art for the past 15 years.

During that time, Kyoshi became a good friend to Theriault, as well as a counsellor and manager.

They travelled together around the world, and Theriault stated that Therien influenced him strongly on the business side of professional fighting and with his guidance, helped him to become one of the most successful fighters in the sport.

Therien travels extensively around the world, teaching and learning his martial art. He is in constant demand as one of the best world-wide instructors and confessed that he had to turn teaches alongside his father two nights a week. "I'm very proud of my family," he says.

And so is his wife who was quoted in an article which appeared in Action Martial Arts last year. "Not only is John well liked, but he is also a devoted, thoughtful husband, and a lovable father of two sons. He has tremendous energy and has always drawn people to him."

Those at the Ingleside Karate Club agree: "I just can't say enough about the man," says Jim Riddell, black belt, Chief Instructor, Pressure Point Control Tactics Instructor, and NCCP Coach at the IKC. "He has done so much for martial arts since he introduced Karate and Kickboxing to Canada."

"I met John at a seminar he was instructing about six years ago, and we've kept in touch. I extended an invitation to him to come out and do this Self Defense seminar and he said he'd be more than happy to come out."

It's not the first time that a celebrity has visited the Karate Club in Ingleside. Last year, Theriault made a pit stop there as well.

Riddell says he's going to try to have special celebrity appearances annually.

The Ingleside Karate Club meets weekly on Wednesday nights from 7-9 p.m. If you would like more information on the club, give Jim a call at (613) 448-2590.

Just Another Day

...or two

Laurie Day

Oh woah is me. I was in Smiths Falls Saturday to catch one of my best buddies at a craft show. She said she was going to have her own little corner of the world, showing off her beautiful watercolors and to top that off, she was going to be selling her book which was just published. Writers call them book signings.

Just imagine my disappointment when she was a day late. OK, I was a day early. The craft show wasn't until Sunday! Nuts.

Let me tell you about her book...although I am beginning to wonder if she really did get published or if she's yanking my leg.

Her name is Maxine Brown-Neathway. The book is aimed at children, and is entitled, Tummy Talks, A Small Lesson In Food. Max has done all the illustrations in the book, and at $6.95 this soft-covered hot little number is a steal! Great Christmas idea folks.

I should have been her PR girl. (We have been friends since the dawning of time.)

Since Max is from Carleton Place, the book is available at stores in the Ottawa Valley.

This is the part where I began to get doubtful.

Lar and I trek through the Smiths Falls County Fair Mall Saturday—through a hoard of young children squealing to the antics of a mall magician—and traipsed through the bookstore. What? You've never heard of Maxine Brown-Neathway? What do you mean you don't have any books by this new local author of children's stories? (This is a first of four books in a series, actually.)

"Well," the nice girl at the bookstore spits past a sucker stick. "If she was having a book signing, we should have her book for sale here at the store."

So where is it?

"It should be here along with our other local authors," she says.

Nope.

After all that, we continue to snake our way out the back entrance of the mall, but not before stopping at a crafty looking store to see where this Craft Show is supposed to be happening.

"Oh, there are several around tomorrow," said the nice lady behind the counter. "None today...they're all tomorrow."

Nuts, I say again...nuts.

My Sweet Baby is going to attempt to help a buddy put a roof on this weekend. The only trouble is, his buddy is all afraid Lar will end up with two broken legs like the last guy who attempted this feat and fell two storeys. Little do the boys know, that "Spiderman" is Larry's middle name.

I shouldn't say that. It might jinx him. Actually, Larry has been doing those high-wire acts since Dad helped him with the ladder when we eloped. Ha!

So never fear boys. The roof, and the aerial shall be fixed up by Sunday—that is if y'all don't get side-tracked in the process. Then you can move your pots from the floors, Al, and take the coat hanger from the outlet behind the television.

I thought I had learned my lesson, but no, I still manage to get myself into trouble in the off season—that's the season that's opposite to summer. It seems that's the only time when I do something stupid and lock myself out of the house or the car—or both.

Well this morning, it was the car. I was all ready to come to work, when I loaded up my arms and attempted to get out the front door of the house. This was when I realized my keys weren't dangling from my teeth, as I fought to get past my dog with computer, coffee and lunch in hands.

So I dropped everything, and searched in vain for the keys. They were in the car, but not where I could see them, so I wasn't 100 per cent positive they were in there.

Well, I called Larry in a panic a few minutes later, and it was a good thing he was done for the day—hey, it pays to get up before the birds, and get your work done for the day. I should try that some time...na—and he was on his way home.

I wasn't really in that bad of a predicament, as I had the computer at home, so I just did a few hours work there. Perhaps it was a blessing in disguise.

While on assignment last week, I took the pre-trek through the trail through the woods at the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary. This little jaunt through the woods was to prepare the public school runners who were participating in the second annual cross country meet.

It's a good thing I had the ol' Nike airs on. And it was even better that I had been in training for the past year and a half. That was quite a hike. No wonder the little dudes were huffing and puffing for their inhalers.

That's something else. I can't believe how many kids have asthma anymore. While at the Karate Club last week, one little lad had to take a time out to catch his breath. He sits down beside me and he's gasping away. I'm freaking out here cuz I know how it feels.

"Hey, buddy, you need my Ventolin?"

"No I'll be alright," he wheezes.

I felt like giving him a puff anyway, but he suffered a bit and then went out to his father's truck for his own puffer.

Jeez!

Then on Friday, while hiking along the trail, another guy and his pals are visiting behind me and one says, "I hope I don't need my inhaler. It's in the van."

I never go anywhere without mine, just for instances like that. You just never know when you're going to need it. I cannot imagine not being without it. It's like my credit cards. Yikes.

Mother always told me to try and get along without it. Most of the time I don't need it, but as soon as I don't have it in my pocket, I panic, and then...wheeze...cough...spit...help.

Anyway, I kind of got off track there a bit. Back the Karate club.

Jim, the instructor, is a Tubie participant. You know...the great Tubie Race that takes place every year in Morrisburg and has been ongoing for the past 25 years.

Well, Jim and his crew, were last year's champs—Rick Groves (another Karate Club member, actually that's what the whole crew does to cross-train...I'm not kidding. These guys and gals are serious contenders)is the captain of the team.

So, Jim tells me Thursday that they do a few self defense courses and the proceeds go towards Tubie Weekend. Great idea. He also let me in on a few secrets, but I promised not to divulge that information. Especially some of the Tubie party antics...something about a keg of beer...that's all I'm sayin'.

Anyway, Kyoshi John is one awesome fellow. Club members presented him with a plaque for teaching the self defense seminar. He even tried to coax me into heading out for wing night with a bunch of the club members.

Would have been a blast but sometimes, ya just gotta do what no one ever expects!

Musical goaltenders can't help Kings

OTTAWA—Playing musical goal tenders couldn't help the Minor Atom Rideau St. Lawrence Kings in Ottawa Tuesday two weeks ago, as they dropped a 9-6 decision to the first placed team.

Both Michael Robillard and Ricky vanRavenhorst could not keep the home team out of their net.

After the first period, the Kings trailed 3-0—out went Robillard, in came vanRavenhorst who started the second frame but was yanked after Ottawa got by him on two early counts—back went Robillard.

Bryn Johnson was the first to score for the Kings with Rob Waddell and Brandon Byrd claiming assists in the second period.

The Kings got number two as Waddell and Matt Ward helped out on Clay McFadden's shot.

Ottawa padded their lead with two more getting by Robillard—out he went again to be replaced by vanRavenhorst.

Waddell, McFadden and Neil Baker scored the team's final three markers with assists going to McFadden, Jeff Coleman, Lucas Donovan.

South Ottawa scored their final goal on vanRavenhorst for the 9-6 final.

"This game gave the dubious honors of the orange pile-on jerseys for both the King goal tenders," said PR parent, Debbie Robillard.

Neil Baker and Johnson were each hit with a two-minute body contact charge.

On Saturday, the Kings were in Nepean where they pulled out 6-4 victory over the last-placed Raiders.

VanRavenhorst played the entire game in the crease to claim the win.

McFadden led the scoring with a pair of goals—both coming on breakaways.

Ward, Byrd, Waddell, and Chris Jackson had single goals in the win, while assists went to Byrd and Dingwall.

Bryn Johnson and Phillip Kerneghan each served a minor for tripping, while Shawn Workman picked up a two-minute roughing charge.

On Thursday, the Kings hosted the Ottawa West team in Athens.

Michael Robillard gave a stellar performance between the pipes, "looking more like his old man every day," said Debbie Robillard, the PR rep for the team. Robillard posted the 3-0 shutout win with goals coming from Brandon Byrd, Robbie Waddell and Shawn Workman.

Assists in the came were recorded by Cole Dingwall, Jeff Coleman, Cole Dingwall, and McFadden (2).

Saturday, the Kings were in Spencerville to host the Seaway Valley where they suffered a 7-4 loss.

Chris Jackson scored the Kings first goal which didn't come until the second period. Byrd and Ward were awarded the helpers.

In the third, the Kings came bard hard and scored three quick ones. McFadden had his hand on a pair. Waddell and Johnson assisted.

Ward scored number four for the Kings with assists from Jackson and Byrd.

The Kings had their chance at revenge in Maxville against Seaway Valley where they battled to a three-all deadlock.

Ward drew first blood early in the game with assists from Byrd and Coleman.

Johnson gave the Kings their second goal in the middle period with help from McFadden and Neil Baker.

Jackson gave the Kings a 3-0 lead with assists from Workman and Ward.

The Kings were unable to hold their lead as they Seaway Valley got by Robillard on three counts in the third period to knot the score.

Harry Brown and all those who remembered me in their prayers, and Dr. Coolican for the excellent care and kindness received. All this has been greatly appreciated by both Alice and me.

IN MEMORIAM

TRICKEY–In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Arden, who passed away Nov. 6, 1975.
In a quiet country graveyard,
Where the gentle breezes blow,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
Whom we lost a time ago.
Your resting place we visit often,
And put flowers on with care,
But no one knows the heartache,
When we turn and leave you there.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps one to forget,
But time has only proven,
How much we love and miss you yet.
–Sadly missed and forever loved, Marjorie, Ann and Russel 44p

MPS NEWS

BY LIZZY LAURIN
PUBLIC SCHOOL
CORRESPONDENT

MORRISBURG—There isn't really anything going on this week. Yesterday was the Tower of Terror and the Halloween parties.

Last year, the haunted house was pretty scary. I hope everyone got enough Halloween candy last night.

Mr. Leightizer's computer crashed last week and he lost his appointment calendar. I wonder what he's going to do now. Looks like we're on our own.

Joke Time

Two reasons I don't have my homework.

1. E.T. took it home.
2. I made a paper airplane out of it and it got hijacked.

4-H meet

SOUTH MOUNTAIN—The first meting of the South Mountain 4-H Power of Produce baking club was held October 28.

Everyone received their books and also two sheets were filled out and then discussed.

We split up into three groups and made cranberry streusel coffee cake, tomato brushetta and restuffed potato skins. When everything was cooking, we elected our officers.

Our president is Leslie Weagant; vice president, Amanda Lewin; secretary, Virgina Sahl and press reporter, Paula Weagant.

It was a tough decision, but we finally decided on a name of "Fruit Freaks".

Our next meeting is November 11th at 2 p.m. If anyone is interested in joining this 4-H club, phone Sandra Weagant at (613) 989-2823.
