Some union leaders take their motto from a match box: "Strike anywhere."

Weather for sure

Winter weather has been all one would want if it needed to be proved we had weather to talk about.

Snow has been a problem since Christmas, and is rapidly becoming more so. Between eight and ten inches of the white stuff tumbled down on our already burdened drifts Monday and Tuesday. Light and soft, it is just lying to be shifted by the merest zephyr.

Cold has been on hand too and Sunday night found the temperature the coldest yet for these parts. A break in our electric service pointed up the cold Sunday night. At midnight when power was restored after a 2-hour shutdown, the temperature stood at a mean 32 below zero. Someone told this reporter it was not too bad, because it was "dry cold."

"Dry" or "wet," it was still no weather to set a hen!

Result of truck-train collision at C.P.R. crossing

The level crossing at the CPR tracks in Chesterville nearly claimed another life last week. Wm. "Bill" Barber and a freight car met and the resulting collision sent Bill to the hospital with considerable injury and wrecked the truck. The truck was hauled off the tracks and ended up a heap in the yard of Lannin's Garage.—Record Photo.

Township council holds regular meeting

The regular meeting of Winchester Township council was held in the township building, on Highway 43, on Monday, February 2, at 10.30 a.m., with all members present. A. E. Smith was in the chair.

The minutes of the last regular meeting and special meetings were adopted as read by the clerk, and signed by the reeve.

A representative of Lakeland Gas Co. made application to council to grant a franchise to run a pipeline into the Village of Winchester, and a representative of Consumers Gas Co. made a similar request. Council decided to deal with these at a future meeting.

The reeve and clerk were instructed to consult the manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in regard to the debentures held by the township and to try and dispose of them to the best advantage.

The clerk was instructed to order a culvert for Henderson Creek where it crosses the Development Road, subject to the approval of the district engineer of municipal roads.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders for a power grader, subject to the approval of the district engineer of municipal roads.

The following accounts were passed and paid: Snow plowing and repairs, $8,325.44; township building, $6,135.28; foxes, $55; fire expense, $260; hospital account, $58.50; relief and charity, $633.38; printing and advertising, $154.28; Municipal World, subscriptions, $24; personal services, $72.43; total, $15,718.72.

Council adjourned to meet at the township building on Monday, March 2, at 10.30 a.m.

Wm. Barber injured in train-truck accident

Early Friday morning, shortly past midnight, Wm. "Bill Barber was injured at the level crossing here in town. His truck was struck by a freight shunting in the yards. The farm truck was carried over a hundred feet up the track with the impact.

Bill had come to town to pick up his hired man. It is presumed he did not notice the backing freight cars until the flying freight caught him.

He was taken to Winchester hospital. Considerable injury was suffered which included cuts and bruises and shock. The truck was nearly demolished.

Post office rumours make interesting gossip

One of the favourite guessing games around Chesterville is the state of affairs regarding our hoped-for new post office. Now that the church lot is out of the way, other rumours have taken first place in conversation.

The Howard Fulton lot on Queen Street east of Main is the latest centre of attention. This particular site evidently has come under the eye of the proper department because an enquiry has been received at the clerk's office about a building permit. It has been muted aloud that a 33x35-ft. building is in prospect.

The Record discussed the matter at length this week with Howard Fulton. He stated emphatically no deal has been completed with the Department of Public Works. He did admit discussions have taken place and a price has been placed on the lot and house where Walter Whittaker now resides. He also noted out loud that it would be nice to be able to say he received all the money rumour said he had. His asking price is quite a lot lower, and is only in the asking stage.

From here, it looks as if this winter will be famous for snow and the year we got a new post office.

Local branch of Red Cross Society holds annual Eric Casselman elected president for coming year

The use of loan cupboard equipment and assistance given through the social welfare department seemed to justify the continuing of a branch of the Red Cross Society in Chesterville. Attendance at the annual meeting on Friday evening was small but enthusiasm and interest on the part of those present were sufficient to carry on for another term.

Reports were received from the treasurer, conveners of social welfare, loan cupboard and cod liver oil distribution.

Discussion took place on some immediate social welfare work which is required in the Red Cross area, and plans were made for the annual campaign for funds to be held during March.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Leonard Moran for having served the Society as president for the past two years.

Officers for the coming year were eletced as follows: Past president, Leonard Moran; president, Eric Casselman; vice president, Mrs John Sutherland; secretary, Mrs D. M. McElheran; treasurer, Miss Helen Hughson; auditor, Miss Gladys Marcellus.

Convener of social welfare, Mrs O. L. King; committee, Mrs Thos. Moran, Mrs Eric Casselman, Mrs G. Lannin, Mrs Arthur Steinburg, Mrs Geo. Merkley, Mrs John Sutherland, Lloyd Merkley, Leonard Moran; convener of cod liver oil, Mrs G. Lannin; campaign convener, Eric Casselman.

A list of canvassers for each district of the Red Cross area will be published in the near future.

Hear interesting report at meeting of Cancer Society

A meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society, Chesterville branch, was held in the library February 2. The minutes were read and approved.

Mrs J. C. Fulton read the treasurer's report. Mrs Brownlee reported for the welfare committee. Four baskets of fruit had been taken to patients at Christmas. Mr D. Feeley and Mrs Fawcett expressed, through the welfare committee, their sincere thanks for the help they had received from the Society.

Donations of cotton had been received from Berwick and Morewood.

Frank Cox, campaign chairman, gave a splendid report on the convention he had attended in Hamilton recently. He brought to the meeting the latest theories considered by research to be the probable causes of cancer. Campaign

Town & area homes burned

Fire on John Street ruins Helmer house

Lockie Helmer's house on John Street caught fire Tuesday afternoon, seemingly around the chimney, and before it could be controlled the upstairs was nearly gutted. Smoke and water damage was extensive.

The fire brigade had a rough time all through the fire. The flames were flipping back and forth in the attic and proved most elusive. While neighbours and firemen emptied the lower floor of household goods, others fought the flames in the attic and on the roof.

In the midst of the fire the pumper got a slug of muck from river water in the main screen and had to be shut down for cleaning. The lowered pressure from the village mains barely kept the fire in check and it took considerable time to get all hoses back to full pressure when the pump was again in operation.

Hard work on the part of the crew finally got the stubborn fire under control but not before extensive damage had been done.

Neighbours proved most helpful in taking care of the furnishings that were saved and looking after the family until arrangements could be made.

Fire destroys Miles Casselman home

Damage was estimated at $5,000 when a large frame home belonging to Miles Casselman, one-and-one-half miles southwest of Morewood, burned to the ground Wednesday night last.

Mr Casselman and his family were in Chesterville when the fire broke out about 10 p.m. Neighbours summoned Chesterville Fire Brigade under Fire Chief John Hehir but the residence was a mass of flames when firemen arrived and the family lost all possessions.

Efforts to contain the flames were hampered by lack of water. The family well was located in a woodshed attached to the house and flames prevented firemen from reaching it.

It was the second time in 12 years that fire raced through a Casselman dwelling. Tragedy struck in the earlier blaze, claiming the lives of three children. No one was injured in last week's fire.

The family has taken up temporary residence with friends.

Cause of the fire is not known. Only a small amount of insurance was carried.

FINCH TWP. REEVE HEADS ONT. COUNCIL

Kenzie MacGillivray, reeve of Finch township, was unanimously elected president of the Ontario Agricultural Council to succeed Reeve Chas. Long, Shannonville.

Reeve D. C. Johnston, Grafton, was elected first vice president and Reeve Harold Duncan of Lanark second vice president.

Russell township rejects hospital grant

Although Russell township voters Monday rejected a $7,500 grant to Winchester and District Memorial Hospital, plans for a $483,490 addition have not been affected.

With substantial opposition to the grant in Embrun offsetting a favourable vote in the western section of the township, the grant was rejected 280 to 244. Mr Carkner said a public subscription campaign will likely be launched among hospital supporters in the township.

Russell was the first township served by the hospital which has refused a grant for construction of the addition. It is needed because of shortage of accommodation in the 32-bed institution built 11 years ago.

Hospital records trace much of the overcrowding to the high birth rate in the area served by the hospital. Last week 164 persons were on a waiting list seeking admission.

Contributions received

The disastrous fire that levelled the Myles Casselman home last week destroyed everything the family owned, and in order to relieve their distress a canvass has been organized. J. V. Fetterly and Art Koelwyn have beein receiving contributions and they report a most heartening response. By Tuesday of this week, nearly $1,500 had been received and the canvass still continues. Anyone who has been missed and wishes to contribute can do so by getting in touch with either of the two gentlemen named above, or attend the dance sponsored by Chesterville Legion Saturday night and make their contribution there.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

Those trading stamps

A person can get trading stamps here and in other towns nearly every time he makes a purchase. The sticky little teasers are hoarded and licked and sought after as if they were pure gold. And the end products of saving the stamps are some very respectable premiums, the pictures of which shine from fancy catalogues.

We think it is about time to get out of the stamp business. This attitude is apt to result in a nasty bunch of letters to the editor, but we are not actually trying to run anyone's business but our own. The reason we would like to see the end of trading stamps is simple. We think the average store does a first class job of merchandising today and when stamps are added to the usual bargains, it is merely gilding the lily.

Retailers of gas, groceries or goodies have to be on the ball to stay in business in today's rat-race. They have to give quality merchandise at a competitive price or soon go under. They have to package and display every item as if it was the only one on the shelf or in the shop. Cans of oil have the fanciest labels in town next to a bottle of beer and tomatoes shudder to think they can appear naked in public.

All these merchandising gimmicks are added to the price a shopper pays for the product. It is not so, necessarily, that the public demands frills, but there they are. Stamps come under this gimmick class and their cost must be added in somewhere along the merchandising line. If it does not appear as a tiny markup, then the value becomes a chargeable business expense with a questionable advertising value for the money spent.

Stamps are a useless addition to an already good advertising job done by today's stores. And even though the publisher of the "Record" makes a few dollars each year on special ad programs for the stamp agencies—and the above few lines will assuredly end that phase of income—we still think the trading stamp program is a piece of foolishness.

Conventions is fun

A couple of times a year, or oftener if we could get away with it, we load the willing family aboard the noon train and head slowly into the west towards Toronto. Eleven thousand and eighty-one telephone poles and eight hours later Union Station looms as an immovable barrier to the faithful puffer and we are decanted for the weekend, buoyed up with anticipation but bent slightly from the 33-mile-an-hour ride.

We have little use for Toronto, but then probably Toronto has even less use for us. The cars are driven by even worse drivers than we have in Chesterville, buses burp out the stinkiest gases, and every other person must have had to clear his throat.

The OWNA convention was fine. Reg. Workman was a credit to the Winchester Press in his modest manner and speech when he accepted the Clarke award. The boys turned out the top paper in 1,500 population class for the second time in a row. The Province of Ontario speech was given by a familiar figure to our readers and the Hon. F. M. Cass made the head table shine with Eastern Ontario talent.

The trip home was made easier after a side visit to the boat show. We drooled our way from punts to yachts and patted many sleek, lovely hulls. Only our wife restrained us from patting some of the lovely salesladies. A fitting arrival back home was due the engine-driver of our train. He let us down in the deep snow, bags, family and all, just a mere quarter-mile, or so it seemed from the station, then whipped away with a flirt of the lantern as we cussed a fresh track in the white stuff. We have such trials when we travel, one would be led to believe we come from a small town.

We do, and it's lovely to get home.

LEGISLATURE REPORT

Hon. Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.
Grenville-Dundas

The second week of this Session provided some very interesting debates for the Members, the press and those in the galleries. Liberal Leader Wintermeyer, in a three-hour, well prepared speech, set forth his views and those of his party on the policies of the present Government and some of his plans and party program.

It was a long awaited declaration of official opposition policy which did little to enlighten many of his listeners. Previously, Mr Wintermeyer had made a statement with respect to his ownership of stock in Northern Ontario Gas Company Limited. As usual, the Provincial CCF Leader, in his official speech as leader of his party, spent a good deal of his time and many words on personal attacks on Mr Wintermeyer and on members of the Conservative party in connection with the Northern Ontario Gas Company Stock.

Premier Frost contributed his expected speech on the state of provincial affairs and set forth in detail the accomplishments of his government, which are many, and of which the latest is the new province-wide Hospital Plan.

There was announcement by Transport Minister Yaremko that enforcement of the new points system for drivers had been postponed until March 31 next. This further period during which the system will be tried out without penalties to the drivers convicted in Court, should give all of us the opportunity to become familiar with the new system and to be able to observe its rules and regulations when enforcement starts.

The organization of the House was completed and Members began the steady round of morning meetings of standing committees and afternoon sessions of the Legislature. Among the sessional appointments made was that of D. H. Morrow, M.P.P. for Ottawa West, as Assistant Government Whip. Don is a Dundas boy and has been a prominent Conservative Member for many years and your Member was very pleased at this well merited recognition given a boyhood friend.

Delegations on the doorstep of many Ministers, particularly that of the Minister of Highways, have become numerous and insistent. Now that the Members are in Toronto regularly, the Ministers find it hard to gain time for ordinary office routine.

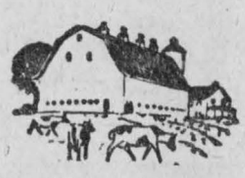
FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



By Lillian Allison

Anybody would know that February is not the proper time to take a trip—especially a motor trip. But proper or not I've been elected to go to Guelph this week. Our Dundas Agricultural Representative is taking three women and one man from the county to a Farm Safety conference there. It is a two-day affair with one day to drive up and probably another to drive home and likely two more to recover.

Now I don't know much about what is to take place. Perhaps nobody does. This, I believe, is the first meeting of its kind ever to be held in Ontario. It is sponsored jointly by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Department of Transport. The objectives according to the program are to bring a group of farm people together to focus attention on the extreme urgency of the farm accident program, to mobilize public support for farm accident prevention activities and to encourage organized rural groups to develop farm safety programs.

These aims are quite high-sounding statements but I do hope we can reach their objectives. The farm accident problem is a serious one.

"What can be done about it?" a farm woman said on the telephone the other day when I told her about the conference. I hope I can answer that question when I come home.

One thing that is being done this summer is a farm accident survey. Here in Dundas county the Federation of Agriculture is undertaking it. People are being chosen in each area to report all accidents that result in two hours' loss of work or $25 damage. After a year's survey there should be statistics available on what causes the most accidents on our farms.

I would guess that the survey will find the causes to be carelessness, machinery and animals—in that order.

I'm sure I don't know why farm people should be so careless but they are. Perhaps they think they never have time to take time. Perhaps after all the years they have spent gambling on crops and livestock they don't hesitate to take a chance when they themselves are concerned.

I wish I had counted the tractors and farm equipment that have passed our door after dark without lights. Now imagine anyone taking a chance on driving on a highway without lights. I held my breath not long ago and watched two cars that would meet at about the exact spot where a tractor was cruising along in the dark.

Farmers have a careless habit of jumping on and off moving machinery. They take the risk and use some tool or machine that needs to be repaired—an ax that is loose on its handle, a hayfork rope that is frayed and worn. They climb into barns and silos on ladders with broken rungs or climb up with no ladder at all. They take chances when they're working in the bush cutting wood. They trust animals — especially bulls — and simply ask for trouble.

And I think the top prize for carelessness goes to the farmer who lets children ride on the tractor or other machinery or trusts children with high-powered tractors which they are not capable of controlling.

Of course there are legitimate accidents on the farms. There are times when the utmost care and caution are practised yet an accident occurs. These are difficult to avoid.

Now I don't know exactly what a Farm Safety conference can accomplish. As the saying goes, "Accidents will happen." But if we could only make farmers accident conscious. If we could make them see as potential accidents boards and junk that are left lying around, unlighted tractors, holes that weren't filled in, poor well platforms and a thousand other things, perhaps we could do something to lower the awful accident rate that is ours.

Letter to the Editor

February 9, 1959.

The Editor,
Chesterville Record.
Dear Sir:

This year's fund-raising campaign conducted by The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada has exceeded all our hopes. Thanks to the efforts of our many voluntary workers and the publicity you have so generously afforded us, we have raised close to $300,000.

We can now press on with an expanded program of research. It will be a long and difficult task, but only through research can we solve the riddle of muscular dystrophy.

Without your help the task would be doubly difficult. Let me thank you again on behalf of the many unfortunate victims of this disease in our country.

Yours truly,
Gus Ryder
Honorary Campaign Chairman.

Your Member Reports ...

—By Mrs Jean Casselman
M.P. for Grenville-Dundas

Mrs Jean Casselman

Having an inborn love of the democratic process and abhorrence of tyranny over the individual and his thinking, I find the inner workings of our government a delight.

In my previous knowledge of politics, I had never found anything to shake my faith in our system of government. I am proud and happy to report that the deeper I go into politics the more faith I have in democracy.

Everyone acknowledges the difficulties of forming Federal policies to satisfy and suit all sections of a country so varied in geography, in climate, in interests.

The daily news sometimes plays up differences of opinion. They are usually dramatic and entertaining. What is not always obvious is the basic interest of every Member of Parliament in Canada as a whole.

In spite of 8.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m. days, a large group of us voluntarily chose to add to our crowded schedules because we believe that industrial peace is fundamental, not only to our economic success, but to our very existence as a nation. Opinions were expressed from one district which might hurt another district, sometimes in violent expression, not wasting time in diplomacy. The reassuring fact is, that everyone at these meetings likes this way of solving problems. However much an opinion itself is disliked, we like the freedom that allows its expression. It was an honest effort of a group of Canadians to understand one another.

There is great and tremendous effort displayed in representing the problems and desires of any one district, but there is equally great patience with individual personalities and a sincere desire to understand the problems of others and reach a reasonable compromise. To me, this is government working as it should at a federal level, and a training full of hope for international peace.

Little man you've had a busy day

This little spaceman is just back from a trip to Mars (out in the backyard) . . . and now his leader is packing him off to bed.

While he was away, she washed the floor . . . the dishes . . . several large piles of clothes . . . and still there was plenty of hot water for this spaceman's bath. Reason? Because she has a modern automatic electric water heater with abundant storage capacity and quick recovery when more hot water is needed. Heating water electrically is safe, clean, modern and costs just a few cents a day on special Hydro flat rates.

You get more out of life when you get the most out of electricity.

Household Hints by Anne Allan:
Launder small rubber-backed rugs in your washer, then tumble dry in an electric dryer set at low temperature.
