Here Is Something

We wish to call to your particular attention, as it is important to you. You know the Bank pays you 3 per cent. on the money you save and deposit with them. We pay you 3 per cent. on the money you spend with us. By giving you with every cash purchase a coupon for the amount of your purchase, which entitles you to a rebate of 3 per cent. of your purchases. For instance, suppose you bought one gallon of gasoline for your car paying cash 33c. The 3 per cent coupon would actually save you one cent per gallon on a further supply of gas or anything else. It is not worth while buying your supplies from us and saving 3 per cent? It will surprise you what a tidy amount it will save you.

MORRISBURG WILL HAVE BEST FERRY ON ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

While preparing the Spring Schedule of the local Ferry this week, Captain Walter McGannon of the Morrisburg & Waddington Ferry Co., Limited, announced that a new boat, with a capacity of 40 cars and 400 passengers, was in the course of construction, to take care of the traffic at this point. The boat, which is being built by the famous Ingle Ship-building Firm, of Toronto, at a cost of approximately $50,000, will be of steel construction, equipped with a Diesel Oil Engine, which is yearly finding increased favor for use in high-speed marine propulsion, and will have a speed of fourteen miles per hour.

The finest, best equipped and most efficient Ferry Boat on the St. Lawrence will ply between Morrisburg and Waddington on or about June 15th. Her carrying capacity of 40 cars and 400 passengers will afford ample room for the movement of all cars going on or off the boat at one time without delay, danger of accidents, or damage to cars.

The Morrisburg & Waddington Ferry Co., Ltd., feel confident that the new boat will "speak for herself", and command the moral support of all classes. It is expected, that the efficient service, as soon as introduced, will prove a drawing card to the heavy traffic of Canadian and American tourists who will pass through Morrisburg during the Summer months.

The Village of Morrisburg, which financially contributes a very small percentage to the running expenses of a ferry at this point, is indebted to the Ferry Company (holders, and defenders of the franchise) for placing at its doors what was recently declared to be one of the biggest assets the village could have, and of which the village would have been deprived, had not the request—"Cancel the franchise", which fell from the lips of an opponent recently, met with the reflective reasoning of a wise tribunal at Ottawa.

We bespeak success for the new Ferry Boat, and it is hoped that "Jack the Ripper" will become a loyal and worthy supporter of the new venture, for upon him much depends, to make the success sufficiently remunerative to warrant the large investment.

The Steamer Eloise will resume operation next week, and continue until its successor arrives. The following is the Spring schedule:—

8.00 a.m.	9.30 a.m.
10.30 a.m.	11.30 a.m.
1.30 p.m.	2.30 p.m.

COUNCIL MEETING

Monday, May 3rd.
Moved by Mr. Hilliard and Mr. Challies, that after hearing what was said by the Collector and each of the parties, that the Council decide as follows:

1—That Herbert Clark be charged for a house service, but no lawn service.

2—That the charge made by the Inspector against John Weston for three years' service of tap in barn be rebated, and that he pay for lawn service for two years.

3—That John Casselman be charged for a hot water heater, and note be taken of the fact that he has no bath or toilet.

4—That Abram Empey be charged for house service and sprinkler.

Messrs. Hilliard and Marsh, that having received a petition for early closing of shops from a large majority of shop keepers, and it appearing desirable that such a by-law should be passed.

And whereas the Council under the act has power of its own motion the right to pass such a by-law without a petition.

Therefore be it resolved that such a by-law be passed under the authority conferred upon the Council and that the preparation of such by-law be referred to the village solicitor with instructions as to any exceptions be given him by the Reeve.

Messrs. Hilliard and Coir—That the matter of purchasing a Stren be referred to the Reeve and Mr. Challies with power to buy.

Messrs. Hilliard and Coir, that Mr. Marsh be authorized to buy a Road Grader.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held at the Clerk's Office on Thursday May 6th.

Messrs. Hilliard and Marsh, that the Reeve and Clerk be and they are hereby authorized to sign, and the Clerk to affix the corporate seal to the petition to the Honorable G. S. Henry, requesting the Highway Department to construct and maintain that portion of Main street being between Augusta St., and the Gravel Road.

Messrs. Challies and Coir, that the Municipal Council appreciate the assistance of Aaron Sweet, M.P.P. in regard to the Provincial Highway and wish to tender him thanks for same and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Sweet.

Messrs. Hilliard and Marsh, that bylaw No. 483 to regulate closing of shops be read a first, second and third time, passed, signed and sealed in open council this 6th day of May 1926, and that notice be published in The Leader.

WILL REPAIR MAIN ROAD AS SOON AS WORKING CONDITIONS PERMIT

Mr. Smith, Divisional Engineer of Toronto, and Mr. Robbins, Resident Engineer, of Brockville, accompanied by Mr. A. Sweet, M.P.P. of Winchester, by appointment with the Reeve and Council, were in Morrisburg on Thursday looking over that portion of our Main street from Augusta Street to the Gravel Road, and as a result, the Department will build the central 20 feet of the road just as soon as working conditions permit, which will be about the first of June. Eighty per cent of the entire cost will be paid by the Department, and 20 per cent by the County. The Village of Morrisburg will be responsible for the drainage only.

At a special meeting of the Council on Thursday afternoon, a resolution thanking Mr. Sweet for his efforts in bringing this matter before the Department was unanimously carried.

The following communication from the Department, in reply to the Reeve's request for immediate attention to the matter, explains the agreement between the Department and the Municipality:

Arthur Flynn, Esq.,
Reeve, Morrisburg.

"Dear Sir.—I have your favor of April 24th. The Department will be responsible for 80 per cent. of the cost of the central 20 feet. The balance, 20 per cent. would be charged against the county and the municipality would only be responsible for their share of this 20 per cent. as part of the county agreement.

The standard agreement to which you refer has not been prepared, nor is it anticipated that there will be a standard agreement as the section through each municipality would require to be considered as a separate unit.

"I will advise our Engineering Department to look over the section which you state requires such early consideration. At this time, type of road can be given consideration, and other arrangements dealing with extra width and other services which might be required will also be given attention.

We certainly hope that this matter may be arranged in a manner entirely satisfactory to yourself.

Deputy Minister.

MR. CYRUS LAPIERRE

Mr. Cyrus Lapierre, aged 75 years died at his home in Morrisburg, Friday, April 30th, after an illness of about sixteen months, having been confined to his room since February last.

MYERS—FOWLER

(Ottawa Journal)

Unusually pretty was the house wedding on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Fowler, 448 Riverdale Avenue, Ottawa South, of their eldest daughter, Marion Kathryn, to George Denfield Myers, youngest son of the late G. E. Myers and Mrs. Myers of Morrisburg, Rev. G. I. Campbell officiated. Mr. Ormie Kerr played the wedding music and Miss Muriel Berryman sang sweetly, "I Love Thee."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her cousin, Miss Millicent Aust, and Mr. Ross Moore of Morrisburg, was best man.

The bride was prettily gowned in poudre blue georgette over satin. The bridesmaid was in yellow georgette.

Mrs. G. B. Fowler, mother of the bride, was in black canton crepe with brocade satin, and Mrs. G. E. Myers, mother of the groom, was in black flat crepe.

After the ceremony a buffet supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Myers left for Toronto and Winnipeg Man. They will reside in Lachine on their return.

LEADING CHARACTERS IN THE STORY.

Richard Viner, a young man of leisure living with his aunt in London, one night while taking a walk, comes upon the dead body of Joseph Ashton, an apparently wealthy resident of the neighborhood.

Dr. Cortelyou, whose residence is nearby, says Ashton had been stabbed through the heart.

Miss Wickham, Ashton's ward, knows nothing about Ashton save that he had been a great friend of her father's before the latter's death.

Mrs. Killenhall is Miss Wickham's chaperon-companion.

Langton Hyde, an old schoolmate of Viner's seen running from the scene of the crime, is arrested while trying to pawn Ashton's ring. He explains that hunger drove him to snatch it up from where it lay beside the body of Ashton, whom he took to be intoxicated. He tells of meeting a man swathed to the ears in a white muffer, coming from the place where the body lay. Viner, convinced of Hyde's innocence, engaged the services of his own solicitor, Felpham, to represent Hyde.

Mr. Pawle, Ashton's solicitor, is also convinced of Hyde's innocence.

Inspector Drifflord is inclined to ridicule Viner's faith in Hyde.

Miss Penkridge, Viner's sharp-witted aunt, has many valuable suggestions.

Mr. Stephens and

Mr. Fosdick, two Australian friends of Ashton's, testify that Ashton had confessed himself to be in possession of a secret which would startle English society when revealed.

Mrs. Summers explains that for several reasons she believes Ashton was Lord Marketstoke who disappeared from home years ago.

CHAPTER X.

THE PARISH REGISTER.

Mr. Pawle, after a glance at Viner which seemed to be full of many meanings, bent forward in his chair and laid a hand on the old landlady's arm.

"Now, have you said as much as that to anybody before?" he asked, eyeing her significantly. "Have you mentioned it to your neighbors, for instance, or to any one in the town?"

"No, sir!" declared Mrs. Summers promptly. "Not to a soul!"

"Well, ma'am, we're much obliged to you," said the old solicitor. "Now take my advice and keep to your very excellent plan of saying nothing. To-morrow morning we will just have a look into certain things, and see if we can discover anything. Viner!" Pawle went on, when the old landlady had left them alone, "what do you think of this extraordinary story?"

"You think it probable that a man who is heir to an English earldom could disappear like that, for so many years, and then reappear?" asked Viner.

"I won't discuss the probability," answered Mr. Pawle, "but that it's possible I should steadily affirm."

"I don't understand much about the legal aspect of this," said Viner. "Supposing Ashton to be the long-lost Lord Marketstoke—could he have established a claim such as you speak of?"

"To be sure!" answered Mr. Pawle. "Had he been able to prove that he was the real Simon pure, he would have stepped into title and estates at once. Didn't the old lady say that the seventh Earl died intestate? Very well—the holders since his time, that is to say, Charles, who, his brother's death being presumed, became eighth Earl, and his son, the present holder, would have had to account for everything since the day of the seventh Earl's death. When the seventh Earl died, his elder son, Lord Marketstoke, ipso facto, stepped into his shoes, and if he were, or is, still alive, he's in them still."

"A queer business altogether!" commented Viner.

"But now here's another matter," continued Pawle. "If Ashton really was the missing Lord Marketstoke, who is this girl whom he put forward as his ward, to whom he's left his considerable fortune, and about whom nobody knows anything?"

"Has this anything to do with it?" asked Viner. "Does it come into things?"

"In certain events, it would come into it pretty strongly! I'll tell you why, later on. Now I'm for bed—and first thing after breakfast in the morning, Viner, we'll go to work."

Breakfast over next morning, Mr. Pawle conducted Viner across the square to the old-four-square churchyard and for half an hour walked him around the ancient gravestones.

"I am looking," announced Mr. Pawle, "to see if I can find any tombstones or monuments in this churchyard bearing the name Ashton. There isn't one! I take it from that significant fact that Ashton didn't come down here to visit the graves of his kindred. But now come into the church."

In the church Viner began to examine the Cave-Gray monuments, and suddenly he turned to his companion.

"Look here!" he said. "There are Cave-Grays commemorated here from 1570 until 1820. No end of 'em—men and women. And now, see—there's a certain Christian name—a woman's name—which occurs over and over again. It's evidently been a favorite family name of women for three hundred years at least. Avie!"

"Yes," Pawle answered, "I see it—several times, as you say. Avie! Yes?"

"Miss Wickham's Christian name is Avie," said Viner.

Mr. Pawle started.

"Very strange!" he exclaimed. "Viner—we'll go next and have a look at the parish registers. But look here! Not a word to parson or clerk about our business! We merely wish to make a search for a certain legal purpose, eh?"

Three hours later, Viner, heartily weary of turning over old registers full of crabbed writing, was glad when Mr. Pawle closed the one on which he was engaged and intimated that he had seen all he wanted.

"We've established two facts, anyway," remarked Mr. Pawle. "One—that there have never been any folk of the name of Ashton in this town; the other, that the name Avie was a favorite one amongst the women of the Cave-Gray family. And there's just another little fact which I discovered: In turning up the records of the Cave-Gray family, I found that Stephen John Cave-Gray, sixth Earl of Ellingham, married one Georgina Wickham. Now, is that another coincidence? There you get the two names in combination—Avie Wickham. That particular Countess of Ellingham would, of course, be the grandmother of the Lord Marketstoke who disappeared. Did he think of her maiden name, Wickham, when he wanted a new one for himself? Possibly! Are Marketstoke and Wickham and Ashton all one and the same man?"

Another surprise awaited them when they walked into Mr. Pawle's office in Bedford Row at four o'clock that afternoon. A card lay on the old lawyer's blotting-pad, and after glancing at it, he passed it to Viner.

"Now, who on earth is Mr. Armitstead Ashton Armitstead, of Rouen-dale House, Rawtenstall? Who left this?" he went on, as a clerk entered the room with some letters.

"The gentleman is here now, sir," replied the clerk.

"Bring him in," commanded Mr. Pawle. He made a grimace at Viner as the clerk disappeared. "What are we going to hear next?"

CHAPTER XI.

WHAT HAPPENED IN PARIS.

Mr. Armitstead lost no time in stating his business.

"I have come on the matter of the Ashton murder," he said. "I met John Ashton in Paris some weeks ago. We were at the Hotel Bristol together and after introducing ourselves to each other we got talking, and he told me that he had emigrated to Australia when he was young, and that he was going back to England for the first time. He must, he said, have been completely forgotten in his native place by this time."

"Did he tell you what his native place was, Mr. Armitstead?" asked Mr. Pawle.

"Yes," replied Mr. Armitstead. "He did—Blackburn. He left it as a very young man."

"Ashtons of Blackburn?" exclaimed Pawle. "We must go into that. Do you know anything more?"

"I can tell you one thing more," Armitstead said. "You will remember that Hyde, said before the Coroner that as he turned into Lonsdale Passage he saw coming out of it a tall man in black clothes who was swathed to the very eyes in a big white muffer?"

"Yes!" said Mr. Pawle. "Well?"

"I saw such a man with Ashton in Paris," answered Mr. Armitstead. "I was sitting outside a restaurant on the Rue Royale about a quarter to eleven when I saw Ashton and the man I am speaking of pass along the pavement. What made me particularly notice the man was the fact that although it was an unusually warm night, he was closely muffled in a big white silk handkerchief. It was swathed about his throat, his chin, his mouth; it reached, in fact, right up to his eyes."

"Would you know the man if you saw him again?" asked Viner.

"I should most certainly know him if I saw him dressed and muffled in the same way," asserted Mr. Armitstead. "And I believe I could recognize him from his eyes. They were unusually dark, full and brilliant—his glance would best be described as flashing. And I should say, from my impression of his dress, that he was a foreigner—probably an Italian."

"Now that you've told us what you have, Mr. Armitstead," said Pawle, "you must see his solicitor and offer to give evidence when Hyde's brought up again; it will be of the greatest help. There's no doubt, to me, at any rate, that the man Hyde saw leaving the scene of the murder is the man you saw with Ashton in Paris . . . What is it?" he asked, as his clerk came into the room with a card which he laid before his employer. "Here's another man who wants to tell me something about the Ashton case!" he exclaimed, turning to the two companions. "Mr. Jan Van Hoeren, Diamond Merchant, to see me." To the clerk he said, "Bring Mr. Van Hoeren this way."

Mr. Van Hoeren entered and deposited his plump figure in a convenient chair.

"One thing there is we don't see in them newspapers, Mr. Pawle," he began in strongly nasal accents. "We don't see nothing in them papers that we expected to see, and to-day two or three of us, we lunch together, and Haas, he says: 'Them lawyer men,' he says, 'they want information. You go and give it to 'em.' So!"

"Well—what is it?" demanded Mr. Pawle.

Mr. Van Hoeren leaned forward and looked from one face to another.

"Ashton," he said, "was carrying a big diamond about—in his pocket-book!"

Mr. Armitstead let a slight exclamation escape his lips. Mr. Pawle leaned forward. "Extremely valuable?" he asked.

The diamond merchant shrugged his shoulders.

"Oh, well!" he answered. "Fifty or sixty thousand pounds it was worth—yes!"

AN INTERNAL BATH DAILY RECOMMENDED

A prominent physician made the remark recently that if people were half as particular in regard to internal cleanliness as they are about external appearance three quarters of our ordinary ailments would be eliminated. This medical man said people did not stop to think of the importance of keeping the system just as clean as one is careful to keep hands, face and body. The result is that the intestinal tract becomes clogged and waste material which should leave the body daily stays there for an indefinite period doing a harm few people realize. So many ills are traceable to these clogging poisons! An internal bath sounds novel, but it is much easier to take than any other kind! A spoonful of Sal Lithofores before breakfast (or any other meal), dissolved in a glass of tepid water acts as a gentle cleanser of the bowels—provides a soothing internal bath that rids the body of dangerous toxic poisons and gives one that feeling of freshness, vigor and well-being. A further advantage of the internal bath lies in the fact that a healthy body ensures an alert and active mind which makes for greater efficiency and happiness in one's daily work.

THE ONE-PIECE FROCK WITH FLARED SILHOUETTE.

Somewhat reverting to the Moyaen-Age, long-waisted line is the silhouette pictured in this frock with its circular skirt and long full sleeves of plain flat crepe, and its upper portion in a lovely flowered crepe. This model is cut with kimono-shoulders and opens far enough down the front to slip on over the head easily. The collar is convertible and can be worn high or low. The diagram pictures the simple design of No. 1053, which is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 bust requires 4½ yards 39-inch for dress all of one material; or 2½ yards 39-inch figured, and 2 yards plain material as illustrated. Price 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10c the copy.

Music An Old British Art.

The idea that it is a recent development that children should take so much interest in music is true only because for something like a hundred years musical ability had gone down not only in England, but in other countries as well. Shakespeare's saying about the man that hath no music in his soul was simply a reflection of the general opinion of his day, while the old Italians had a proverb "The man whom God does not love is the man who does not love music." Centuries earlier than this the man who became the earliest English poet, Caedmon, although only a swineherd, was ashamed to be amongst company, and not to be able to play and sing as did every other member of the party. Although there were professional musicians, called minstrels, or bards, everybody was supposed to be able to sing and play a solo lute-music which he or she had probably not seen or heard before. To-day many even who call themselves musicians are not able to do this!

Tommy's Troubles.

On his way home from school, Tommy looked sad and worried.

"Dear me!" exclaimed a sympathetic old lady, "whatever is troubling you, my little man?"

"Dyspepsia and rheumatism," replied Tommy.

"Oh, surely not," said the old lady; "how can that be?"

"Teacher caned me 'cause I couldn't spell them," answered Tommy dismally.

Bring Home Up to Date.

One of the many charms of home owning is the freedom with which you can approach any new idea. Many a chance to improve appearance and enhance values comes to the one who purchases an old house. Closets are turned into cupboards, pantries into breakfast alcoves and wasteful attics into extra bedrooms.

Enamelled pans can be thoroughly cleaned by scouring with crushed eggshells and soapy water.

Whitening or ammonia in the water is preferable to soap for cleaning windows or paint.

The Ampulla.

Beginning with the ancient Hebrews, in fact a thing common among all old peoples, a bellied urn was called the Ampulla and was used to hold the sacred oils used for christenings and coronations. It was said to have been brought to France in 496 by a dove for use at the coronations. It was used until the French Revolution, when the soldiers cleaned their boots with the oil and made away with the Ampulla. A similar article now in London Tower is made of ten ounces of the purest gold.

The Third Man.

When the school boys of New Zealand were asked to vote on the most important men now alive, they began by choosing King George and the Prince of Wales. That was an understandable expression of their British patriotism; but who, do you think, stood third on their list? Not President Coolidge nor Premier Baldwin nor Signor Mussolini nor Marshal Foch nor M. Briand nor any of the great public characters. It was Henry Ford. When we consider how the present age values mechanical progress, business organization and commercial success, the choice was not an unnatural one. Of a civilization so much more mobile than any earlier one, Mr. Ford is an excellent representative.

CHAPTER XII.

THE GRAY MARE INN.

"What!" Pawle exclaimed. "You mean to tell me that Ashton was walking about London with a diamond worth fifty thousand pounds in his pocket? God bless me—he was probably murdered for that stone! But how did you get to know Mr. Ashton and to hear of this diamond? Did he come to you?"

"Called on me at my office," answered Mr. Van Hoeren laconically. "Pulled out the diamond and asked me what I thought it was worth."

"Well, I'm much obliged to you, Mr. Van Hoeren."

"Not at all," said the diamond merchant. "Me and the other boys, we think you ought to know about that diamond, see?"

He went away, and presently Viner left.

He went home and dined with his aunt and their two guests, Hyde's sisters, whom he found somewhat less discouraged. After dinner he strolled around to Number Seven. He found Miss Wickham and Mrs. Killenham, in company with a little man whom Viner at once recognized as a well-known tradesman of Westbourne Grove—a florist and fruiterer named Barleyfield.

"Oh, Mr. Viner!" said Miss Wickham. "Mr. Barleyfield came to tell us that he could give some information about Mr. Ashton!"

Viner looked inquiringly at the florist.

"Mr. Viner," Barleyfield said, "I'll tell you what it is—I'm told, sir, that nobody knows nothing about what the deceased gentleman used to do with himself of an evening—as a rule. Just so. Well, I can tell you where he very often spent an hour or two of an evening."

"Yes—where?" asked Viner.

"At the Gray Mare Inn, sir," answered Barleyfield promptly. "It's a real old-fashioned place, between Westbourne Grove and Notting Hill. I've seen him there a great deal, sir, for I usually turn in there for half an hour or so myself, of an evening."

"He no doubt conversed with the people he met there?" suggested Viner.

"He was a friendly, sociable man, sir," said Barleyfield. "Yes, he was fond of a talk. But there was one man there that he seemed to associate with—an elderly, superior gentleman whose name I don't know, though I'm familiar enough with his appearance. Him and Mr. Ashton I've often seen sitting in a particular corner, smoking their cigars, and talking together. And—if it's of any importance—I saw them talking like that, at the Gray Mare, the very evening that—that Mr. Ashton died, Mr. Viner."

"What time was that?" asked Viner.

"About the usual time, sir—nine-thirty or so," replied Barleyfield. "I generally look in about that time—nine-thirty to ten."

"Did you leave them talking there?" inquired Viner.

"They were there when I left, sir, at a quarter past ten," answered Barleyfield. "Talking in their usual corner."

CHAPTER XIV.

Next morning Viner and Pawle searched for whatever might be discovered among Ashton's effects. Both men saw at once that Ashton had been one of those men who have no habit of locking up things. Upon examination, his desk yielded next to nothing. One drawer contained a cash-box, a checkbook, a pass-book. But documents there were next to none.

"This is distinctly disappointing," remarked Mr. Pawle when he and Viner returned to the little room. "I never knew a man who left such small evidence behind him."

He looked around the room, as if suspicious that Ashton might have hidden papers in the stuffing of the sofa or the easy-chair.

"I wonder if there's anything in that," he said suddenly. "It looks like a receptacle of some sort."

Viner turned and saw the old lawyer pointing to a curious Japanese cabinet—an affair of some eighteen inches in height and twelve in depth. He lifted it down to the desk, giving it a slight shake.

"It took it for a cigar cabinet," he remarked. "How does it open? Have you a key that will fit it?"

But upon examination there was no keyhole, and nothing to show how the door was opened.

"I see what this is," said Viner, after looking closely over the cabinet, back, front and sides. "It opens by a trick—a secret."

It took him ten minutes to find out the secret. Then there was a sharp click, and the panelled front flew open.

"There is something!" exclaimed Mr. Pawle. "Papers!"

He drew out a bundle of papers, folded in a strong sheet of cartridge-paper and sealed back and front. He cut the ribbons beneath the seals, and presently revealed a number of letters, old and yellow, in a woman's handwriting. After a hasty glance, he turned to Viner with an exclamation.

"Viner!" he said, "here is indeed a find! These are letters written by the Countess of Ellingham to her son, Lord Marketstoke, when he was a schoolboy at Eton!"

Viner looked over Mr. Pawle's shoulder at the letters.

"Which Countess of Ellingham, and which Lord Marketstoke?" he asked. "There have been—must have been—several during the last century."

"The Lord Marketstoke I mean is the one who disappeared," answered Mr. Pawle. "Look at these dates! We know that if he were living, he would now be a man of sixty-one or so; therefore, he'd be at school about forty-five years ago. Now, look here, compare these dates—they run through two or three years; they were all of forty-three to forty-six years since."

"How came they into Ashton's possession, I wonder?" asked Viner. "It's all of a piece!" exclaimed Mr. Pawle. "Viner, there's no doubt whatever—in my mind—that either Ashton was Lord Marketstoke or that he knew the man who was!"

"In my opinion," said Viner, quietly, "Wickham was the missing Lord of Marketstoke!"

"By George!" Pawle exclaimed in a wondering voice. "It may be—possibly is! Look here!—if Wickham was really Lord Marketstoke, and that girl across the hall is his daughter, she's probably Countess of Ellingham, in her own right!"

"Shall you tell her?" asked Viner.

"No," said Mr. Pawle, "not at present. You see, Viner, there isn't a paper or a document of any description extant which refers to her. Yet Wickham must have given Ashton papers to prove his and her identity—must! Where are they?"

"Do you know what I think?" said Viner. "I think that Ashton carried those papers on him, and that he was murdered for the possession of them!"

Mr. Pawle nodded, and put the packet of letters in his pocket.

"I shouldn't be surprised," he answered. "But we're not going to say a word to this young lady, at present—that's settled. I want to ask her some questions—come along."

He led the way across the hall to the dining-room, where they found Miss Wickham.

"My dear, did Ashton ever tell you whether your father left you any money?" the old lawyer asked.

Miss Wickham looked surprised.

"Oh, yes!" she answered. "I thought you'd know that. When Mr. Ashton fetched me away from school and brought me here, he told me that he had twelve thousand pounds of mine which my father had left me, and he handed it over to me then and there, and took me to the London and Universal Bank, where I opened an account with it."

New shoes don't squeak any more and little boys and girls marching to the platform in the assembly-room to recite don't get the laughs they used to.

ECLIPSE FASHIONS

TWO MATERIALS ARE SMARTER THAN ONE.

Printed crepe, in large floral designs, is fashionably combined with plain material in this interpretation of a smart afternoon frock. The circular panels in the skirt fall in graceful ripples from the low waistline, which is accentuated by a swathed girdle drawn into a round buckle at the centre front. A tie collar fastens above the V-shaped neck, and there are rows of shirring at the shoulders where the back comes over to meet the front. Long full sleeves are gathered into flaring cuffs at the wrists. No. 1306 is for misses and small women, and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years, or (34, 36 and 38 inches bust only). Size 18 years (36 bust) requires 4 1/4 yards 29-inch for dress all of one material; or 1 1/2 yards 39-inch plain, and 2 1/4 yards figured material for dress as illustrated. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dress-maker. Price of the book 10c the copy.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS.

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 20c in stamps or coin (coin preferred); wrap it carefully for each number and address your order to Pattern Dept., Wilson Publishing Co., 73 West Adelaide St., Toronto. Patterns sent by return mail.

Minard's Liniment for Burns.

The Scrapegoat.

During the war, especially, many a man was removed from office or from a high command more as the victim of a policy than for any sin or omission of his own. He was said to be a "scrapegoat," because he was, more or less, suffering for faults that were by no means all his own.

This passage, from the Bible, illustrates the present use of the term "scrapegoat": "Aaron shall cast lots upon the two goats; one lot for the Lord, and the other lot for the scapegoat, and Aaron shall bring the goat upon which the Lord's lot fell, and offer him for a sin offering. But the goat on which the lot fell to be the scapegoat shall be presented alive before the Lord, to make an atonement with him, and to let him go for a scapegoat into the wilderness. . . . And Aaron shall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confess over him all the iniquities of the Children of Israel . . . putting them upon the head of the goat, and shall send him away by the hand of a goat man into the wilderness: And the goat shall bear upon him all their iniquities unto a land not inhabited: and he shall let go the goat in the wilderness."

Thus, through three thousand years or more, has this pitiful picture of the scapegoat come to us, to be used to-day as the symbol for a man who is the victim, more or less innocent, of other people's mistakes and errors.

The Mouth Organ as a Physical Stimulant.

Apart from all effects it may produce upon the pulmonary organs, the mouth organ has in many instances proved a splendid mental tonic. While discussing mouth organs with a friend recently, the conversation turned to army days. My friend mentioned an incident which occurred in France while a company of wearied troops were on a forced march. It was necessary to reach a certain place before day break, but the company was still a number of miles away from its destination when it became evident that the majority of the men were physically tired out. Steps began to drag, and it seemed that the party would never reach their objective at the time ordered.

Suddenly, when everybody was ready to drop, the old familiar tune of "Tipperary" broke the night's silence. One after another heads went up, dragging feet stepped out in time to the music, and the whole company moved forward like a new man. The music kept up mile after mile, and the soldiers' feet kept up with it.

In spite of exhaustion, the company arrived at its scheduled destination with every man marching. The day had been saved and the glory went to the man who had suddenly remembered that in the bottom of his kit bag was the only musical instrument in the company.

I suppose it's hardly necessary for me to say that that instrument was a mouth organ.—S. T. Leonards.

How They Used It.

"That luminous paint is a splendid invention."

"What do you use it for?"

"We paint baby's face so that we can give him a drink in the night without lighting the gas."

Justice and truth are absolutely essential to the highest friendship; we respect a friend all the more because he is just and true, even when he hurts our pride and mortifies us most.—O. S. Marden.

The W.M.S. of the United Church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Bailey's Tuesday afternoon. There were a large number in attendance and a well prepared program by the president, Mrs. Cecil McIntosh.

The Orange Hall was the scene of a pleasing event on Tuesday evening when the L. O. F. B. A. No. 463 celebrated the 4th anniversary of the organization. Mrs. R. Hess, W. M., took charge of the program prepared by the committee which consisted of several community song selections; also readings by Miss Grey and solos by Mr. Archie Bailey, which were repeatedly encoered. An interesting feature was the presentation to Mrs. A. Hess of an Honorary Member's certificate by the Worthy Mistress; a Past Mistress' Certificate to Mrs. A. Holmes and a P.M. Jewel and Certificate to Mrs. Lorne McIntosh who had held office for the three preceding years. Each responded in a few words thanking the members for their kind thoughtfulness. Regret was expressed that illness and the condition of the roads prevented the attendance of many members, also the County Master who had been invited for the occasion. The tables which were arranged in the form of a cross were prettily decorated in red cross and an artistically decorated birthday cake with its four tiny lighted candles made a very attractive centre piece which was cut dry by the W.M. and passed little souvenirs being extracted from it by several. After justice had been done to the excellent dinner provided a modelling contest was conducted by Miss Fennell in which each one was provided with a stick of gum, toothpicks and a calling card, with instructions to model some sort of animal. Many wonderfully constructed specimens of fish, worms, bugs and even a goat were submitted for inspection. The prize being won by Miss W. Ball for a mud turtle. Everyone expressed the thought of a very happy evening spent and best wishes for the continued success of the L.O.B.A.

The Newest Discovery in Interior Finishes

A Brushing Lacquer

Pyro-Lac

Dries In 30 Minutes

Never since the advent of Ready-Mixed Paints has such a wonderful finish as Pyro-Lac been produced. Drying in half an hour to a beautiful, almost indestructible semi-gloss finish, Pyro-Lac is the answer to all the interior decorating problems of the busy housewife.

No need to turn your house upside down when you redecorate this spring; no need to wait for twenty-four to forty-eight hours between coats—if you use Pyro-Lac. Do over your floors and walk on them in an hour or two—refinish your Furniture with Pyro-Lac after lunch and use it at dinner the same evening.

PYRO-LAC FOR FLOORS

Pyro-Lac will withstand far more abuse than an ordinary varnish or floor enamel. Moreover, you can finish your floor and use it within an hour or two.

Slate Gray, Sandalwood, Golden Yellow and Stone Gray are colors particularly suited for floors.

PYRO-LAC FOR WOODWORK

Owing to its rapid drying, its surprising durability and the beauty of its coloring, make Pyro-Lac particularly desirable for use on Woodwork.

Where a satin or eggshell gloss finish is desired, Pyro-Lac is unsurpassed. Moreover, Pyro-Lac may be rubbed and polished like a varnish or enamel.

Features of PYRO-LAC

Pyro-Lac dries in 30 minutes. Any amateur following directions can use Pyro-Lac. Pyro-Lac will outwear most Paints or Varnishes. Pyro-Lac's Semi-Gloss improves with wear and scrubbing. Pyro-Lac levels out to a beautiful uniform surface. Pyro-Lac comes in 14 bright, attractive colors.

PYRO-LAC FOR FURNITURE

Breakfast Room—Kitchen—Porch or Den Furniture and other pieces can be beautifully and permanently finished within an hour with Pyro-Lac.

Pyro-Lac cannot be marred by boiling water and hot dishes and in this is far superior to most enamels.

PYRO-LAC FOR TOYS

For refinishing and brightening up Toys, Glass, Pottery, etc., Pyro-Lac will be found one of the greatest conveniences about the home or shop.

Its fast drying enables one to do in a couple of hours what it formerly required two or three days to do.

FIVE MILLION WORKERS INVOLVED IN GENERAL STRIKE ORDERED IN BRITAIN

London, May 3.—A general strike of British labor has been called for midnight to-night in support of the coal miners.

For the first time in history the most powerfully organized groups of workers in the world have challenged the Government, which has retaliated by moving troops and warships, and issuing a Royal proclamation of a national emergency. This in effect suspends normal civil liberties.

A group of 200 men constituting the General Council of the Trade Union Congress ordered the general strike after executives of all the great trade unions took the unprecedented step of delegating full powers to the Council. Later detailed orders were issued to labor throughout the country to quit.

There remains little hope of averting the struggle which serious Englishmen believe may hold more peril for British institutions than the Great War itself. It is a struggle wholly unlike the general strikes that have broken out on the Continent, because here British labor is prepared to fight solidly behind its leaders.

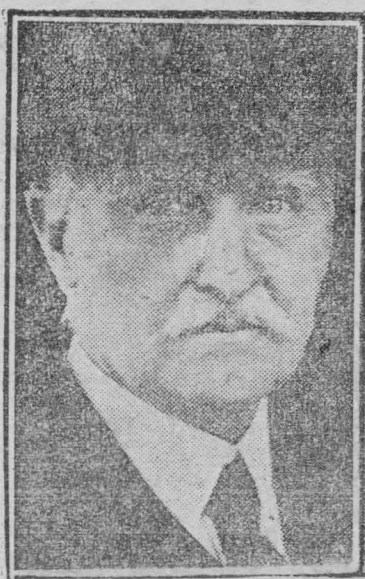

Peace negotiations were in progress to-night at Number 10 Downing St.,

Premier Baldwin's official residence, between the rival parties.

On one side was Mr. Baldwin and his Cabinet. On the other the thirty-two members of Labor's "Council of Action," more accurately the General Council of the Trades Union Congress. The mere fact that this meeting was held was generally considered to be a sign that a settlement was possible, involving the coal miners. The attempt to reduce mine wages is responsible for the threatened general walk-out.

The Downing Street conference followed a day of Cabinet meetings, the coming and going of Lord Chancellor Cave between King George at Windsor and the Cabinet headquarters, and the continuous session of the Council of Action at Labor's centre in Ecclestone Square.

The Council of Action which has called a general strike of 5,000,000 workers for to-morrow midnight, and the Cabinet were trying to find a formula which would permit resumption of negotiations between the miners and the coal owners. At a late hour to-night, however, it was announced that the negotiations had failed.

The British ambassador to Washington, who spoke in Toronto at the luncheon of the combined Canadian, Rotarian and Empire Clubs and was present at a social function of the Women's Canadian Club. He declares that his Canadian experiences have given him great confidence in the future of the country.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED AND A THIRD INJURED

Farmhouse at Cass Bridge, Near Winchester, Scene of Tragic Fatality.

Ottawa, May 2.—Two children are dead and another is not expected to live as the result of a fire on Saturday at the farmhouse of William Summers at Cass Bridge, near Winchester, Ont., 35 miles from Ottawa. The dead are: Albert McKee, aged 4 years, son of Hugh McKee, a neighbor of Summers, and Herbert Summers, aged 3 years, son of the owner of the house. William Summers, Jr., aged 2 years, is in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers and Mrs. McKee went to Ottawa on Saturday, leaving Mr. McKee in charge of the children. He was chopping wood in the yard, having left the children in the kitchen with the door open. The door was closed either by the wind or the little ones, and the first warning McKee had of the tragedy was when a passer-by on the road shouted to him that the kitchen was on fire. Rushing in, he found the room filled with flames and dense smoke, the fire evidently having started from the cooking stove. Groping around in the smoke, he found the three little forms stretched on the floor unconscious, and carried them out.

They were affected by the smoke and their flesh practically cooked by the intense heat. A remarkable feature is that their clothing, while scorched, had not taken fire. Two of the children died a few hours later without regaining consciousness. The fire was got under control with the destruction of the kitchen only.

Boys Locked In by Parents Perish When Home Burns

A despatch from Kamsack, Sask., says:—Two boys, aged 4 and 10 years, the sons of Wasyly Zeleny, perished from suffocation during a fire in the Zeleny farmhouse, near Pelley, Sask., according to information received here. Coroner A. J. Leach, who investigated, found that death was due to suffocation, "pre-disposed by neglect on the part of the parents." The children had been locked in the house while the parents were at work in the fields.

STERLING EXCHANGE ADVANCES TOWARD GOLD PARITY ON NEW YORK MARKET

A despatch from New York says:—The return to sterling exchange to within striking distance of gold parity Thursday accompanied the continued flow of funds from New York to London, resulting from the current disparity in bank rates between the two centres. The cable rate on the currency advanced to $4.86 1/2-16, while the demand rate ruled close to $4.86 1/4, as compared with the accepted parity of $4.86 5/8.

Since the New York Federal Reserve Bank last week reduced its re-

CONQUEROR OF FALLS KILLED BY ORANGE PEEL

"Bobby" Leach, Who Went Over Niagara in Barrel, Dies from Trivial Cause.

A despatch from London says:—A despatch to The Evening News from Christchurch, New Zealand, says that "Bobby" Leach, who went over Niagara Falls in a steel barrel in 1911, is dead from injuries received when he slipped on a piece of orange peel in the street.

Leach broke a leg, which was found necessary to amputate.

"Bobby" Leach, a Canadian, achieved world-wide notoriety through his feat at Niagara Falls. He was the second person to go over the Falls and live, the first being Mrs. Anne Edson Taylor, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who made the trip in a barrel, Oct. 24, 1901.

Leach's trip was made July 25, 1911. He was severely battered and bruised in the drop of 158 feet over the Horseshoe Falls, but his injuries were only superficial. He was 49 years old when he performed the feat.

A despatch from Niagara Falls, Ont., says:—The death of Bobby Leach, intrepid Falls thrill-seeker, removes one of the most picturesque figures from the Niagara district. Besides going over the Falls in a barrel on July 25th, 1911, Leach many times defied death in sensational stunts with the Falls as a background.

He successfully negotiated the Whirlpool Rapids in a barrel, dropped with a parachute from the upper arch bridge over the Gorge and from an aeroplane over the Falls, and performed many other similar feats of daring.

Leach's last bid for notoriety here was late last fall when he attempted to swim the lower river just below the Falls. He failed when he tried to recover his false teeth, which fell out.

Bust of Lord Durham Presented to the Dominion

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Speaker Lemieux in the House of Commons announced that a bust of Lord Durham had been received by the Government as a gift from Mr. St. Lo Strachey of London, England.

Premier King, speaking on behalf of the Government, said that the generous gift was most deeply appreciated. He requested Mr. Strachey to extend thanks to Mr. Speaker. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, on behalf of the Opposition, also extended thanks to Mr. Strachey.

$14,750,000 in Gold Shipped to Canada in Month

A despatch from New York says:—The Canadian Bank of Commerce shipped $2,000,000 of gold to Canada on Thursday, and the New York Trust Company forwarded $1,500,000. This $3,500,000 movement of yellow metal northward brings total gold shipments to the Dominion to $14,750,000 in the last month. This movement may continue until all the $66,000,000 gold sent from Canada earlier in the year finds its way back.

Boy Loses Sight of Eye By Stick Thrown by Chum

FOUR PERSONS DROWNED WHEN SQUALL UPSETS BOAT IN RICHELIEU RIVER

Montreal, Que., May 2.—Four persons, Max Epstein, 25; Mitchell Astoroff, 25; an unidentified woman and a child, also unknown, were drowned in the Richelieu River early this evening when their boat was overturned in a squall near the old Fort Chambly.

The party was on a fishing trip when the tragedy occurred.

Striking with the near velocity of a tornado, the wind swept down on the fort soon after four o'clock this afternoon and caught the seven rowboats which were on the Richelieu River in this vicinity at the time in a wild squall. The occupants of six of the boats withstood the tempest by anchoring and then lying flat in the bottom of their crafts, but the unfortunate party after dropping anchor attempted to make the shore.

Epstein at the oars could be seen by a crowd which gathered at the fort, to be struggling with a mighty stroke to bring the boat into land. Dragging the anchor, he had succeeded in pulling the boat to within 60 feet of the shore when the woman suddenly jumped to her feet and capsized the light craft.

Epstein managed to drag himself onto the overturned boat but in an attempt to pull one of his companions to safety beside him, he lost his balance and went down with the other three.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSS $40,712,172 IN YEAR

Equals $4.39 Per Capita as Compared With 83 Cents in England.

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Canada's fire loss for the year 1925 was $40,712,172, according to figures provided in his report by J. Grove Smith, Dominion fire commissioner and hon. secretary-treasurer of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals, which held its annual meeting here.

There were 31,757 fires during the year, the largest of which was that in the lumber yards at Hawkesbury, the loss of which is officially placed at $1,400,000.

"In Great Britain," said Mr. Grove Smith during the course of his report, "there is a fire loss of 83 cents per capita. This and the increase by $700,000 over the previous year caused the widest concern in the Old Country, and yet in Canada the $40,000,000 annual loss, or $4.39 per capita of the population, still appears to cause very little concern."

The cost of fire protection to the municipalities, Grove Smith stated, was $25,103,246. What the total cost to the public of Canada was $102,453,816. During the year 374 deaths were caused by fire and 1,713 severe injuries.

Maypole Planted in Ice at Aylmer

Aylmer, Que., May 2.—Half an hour before the ice started moving out of Aylmer Bay, in the Ottawa River, here Saturday afternoon, about 500 residents completed honoring the advent of May by planting a Maypole on the ice. This ceremony, which was inaugurated 45 years ago by the late Moses Holt, a United Empire Loyalist and old pioneer of the town, was conducted by his son, Alfred Holt. The latter planted a 12-foot cedar pole, crowned with the Union Jack, on the ice, about two hundred feet from the end of the Aylmer Wharf, while the crowd on shore cheered and sang patriotic songs. Soon after the ice started moving.

Manitoba Seeding is Finished.

A despatch from Winnipeg says:—Wheat seeding is finished in Manitoba and over one-half in Saskatchewan; many fields, however, in the Southern sections must be reseeded as a result of the wind damage. Through Southern Manitoba this season farmers have almost wholly resorted to durum, abandoning the hard varieties of red rye and Marquis because the latter does not resist rust as well as durum.

British Unemployed Drop Lowest in Several Years

A despatch from London says:—For the first time in several years the number of unemployed in Great Britain has dropped down below the million mark. The total number of unemployed is now 997,000, which represents a drop of 200,000 during the past year.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS TRUCK

Husband Seriously Injured on Grade Crossing Near Courtland.

A despatch from Tillsonburg, Ont., says:—Mrs. Charles W. Graydon, was instantly killed and her husband seriously injured at noon on Thursday, when the truck in which they were riding was struck by the C.N.R. passenger train at Courtland. Mrs. Graydon was thrown about thirty yards and died immediately, while Mr. Graydon received severe cuts and badly shaken up and it is not known yet whether he sustained internal injuries or not. The truck was demolished.

This crossing, right in the heart of the village, has proven a death trap for several years, as there has been many fatalities on this spot. Apparently Mr. Graydon, who was driving, did not see the train approaching, although there is an alarm bell at the crossing, and the engine caught the truck almost in the centre. The train was brought to a stop in a very few yards as it was stopping at the station a few rods away.

No Coal from Belgium to Break the Strike

Brussels, May 3.—No Belgian coal is expected to cross the North Sea to help break the British coal strike. It is not definitely known what attitude the Belgian miners will take to show their solidarity with the British, but that they will not permit coal shipments to England is reported as practically certain.

What further measures will be adopted is to be decided Thursday.

The International Federation of Miners agreed at a recent congress in Brussels that in case of a strike in England and the Federation must prevent shipments from all ports to England. The Belgians are expected to be the first to act upon it.

Causes of Coal Strike Which Started Industrial Crisis

The British coal miners went on strike when they failed to enforce a demand for the continuation of post-war rates of pay and hours of work after the withdrawal of the Government subsidy on May 1.

The mine owners, deprived of funds from the public Treasury, proposed a reduction in pay of 13.1-3 per cent. and an increase from seven to eight hours in the work-day.

Recent wages, supported by the subsidy, had been 33.1-3 per cent. above pre-war prices.

The miners also sought nationalization of the coal mines, which was opposed by the Royal Commission which investigated the industry.

State of Emergency Proclaimed in Britain

London, May 2.—The following is the text of the Royal proclamation issued yesterday, declaring a state of emergency as the result of the calling of a general strike by the British trade unions:

Whereas, by the Emergency Powers Act of 1920, it is enacted that, if it appears to us that any action has been taken or is immediately threatened by any person or body of persons, of such nature and on so extensive a scale as to be calculated, by interfering with the supply and distribution of food, water, fuel or light, or with the means of locomotion, to deprive the community of the essentials of life, we may by proclamation declare that such a state of emergency exists.

And, whereas, the present, immediate threat of cessation of work in the coal mines does, in our opinion, constitute a state of emergency within the meaning of the said Act.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the said Act, we do, by and with the advice of our Privy Council, hereby declare that a state of emergency exists.

Given at our Court at Buckingham Palace this thirtieth day of April, in the year of our Lord, 1926, and in the sixteenth year of our reign. God Save the King.

Mother Fatally Burned Carries Baby for Mile

A despatch from Saskatoon says:—Carrying a nine-months-old baby in her arms and followed by her two other small children, Mrs. R. Parenteau, aged 30, of the Duck Lake district, ran to her sister's home a mile away, and died a few hours after arrival of burns received in an explosion of kerosene. Seeing the farmhouse burning her husband came in from the field where he was working and, following his wife's trail by the fragments of her burned clothing, reached the house where she had sought refuge.

Sea Lions Mowed Down By Machine Guns

A despatch from Victoria, B.C., says:—Thousands of sea lions and their clumsy pups will be mowed down by machine-gun fire when the Canadian Government starts its annual war on the greatest enemy of the Pacific Coast salmon. Fishery patrol boats will start out to scour the coast for the huge mammals, which congregate in herds in the spring breeding season. As they establish themselves in communities at well-known points, they form an easy mark for expert gunners, and topple over into the sea off their rocky perches in hundreds as a deadly fire is poured at them.

A BLEMISHED SKIN

Cannot be Relieved by Salves and Ointments.

Irritating sores, pimples, eczema, salt rheum and other skin disorders are all signals of distress, telling that your blood is weak or impure. You cannot get rid of eczema and other skin troubles with ointments and outward applications, because the trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banish these troubles because they purify and build up the impoverished blood. This has been proved over and over again. Among those who have thus benefited is Mrs. Chris. F. Hummel, Castor, Alta., who says: "I was troubled with eczema for years and although I tried many remedies I did not find permanent relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Whenever I did a little work my hands pained me greatly, especially my fingers and joints, which were swollen and cracked, so that I could scarcely move them. Finally as the result of a statement I read, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them very long when I found they were helping me. I then got a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone every trace of the trouble had disappeared. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I might have been spared the suffering I endured, and saved the money spent for other treatments that did not relieve me. I hope some other sufferer will benefit by my experience."

If your blood is out of order begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to-day and note their speedy beneficial results. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Song of Hope.

"These Things Shall Be!"

John Addington Symonds was a man of very high ideals. He died in 1893 at the age of fifty-three. He lived much in Italy and is one of the greatest authorities on art, as well as both Italian and English literature.

These things shall be: a loftier race
Than e'er the world hath known shall rise
With flame of freedom in their souls
And light of knowledge in their eyes.

They shall be gentle, brave, and strong
To spill no drop of blood, but dare
All that may plant man's lordship firm
On earth, and fire, and sea, and air.

Nation with nation, land with land,
Unarmed shall live as comrades
free;
In every heart and brain shall throb
The pulse of one fraternity.

Man shall love man with heart as pure
And fervent as the young-eyed joys
Who chant their heavenly psalms before
God's face with undiscordant noise.

New arts shall bloom of loftier mould,
And mightier music thrill the skies,
And every life shall be a song
When all the earth is paradise.

When Thread Gives Out.

When using a sewing machine and the spool of thread of some special color gives out with just a few more inches to be sewed, tie the end of the colored thread onto any other spool of thread, and sew slowly and carefully. With care the knot will pass through all the machine openings except the eye of the needle, so that practically every bit of the thread can be utilized. If ten inches of thread remains and it is tied as soon as it comes off the spool, one can do about five inches more sewing.

Cross Crossings Cautiously.

To avoid that run-down feeling, cross crossings cautiously, urges David Van Schaack, vice-president of the National Safety Council.

What Our Oceans Hide.

Most of us think of islands as pieces of land surrounded by water. So they are; but they are much more than that.

They are, of course, the uncovered summits of vast mountains, whose steep sides slope down to the sea bottom, writes a Member of the American Geographical Society.

We are apt to forget that beneath the swirling surface of the oceans of the world are concealed vast continents very much like those upon which animal life lives and flourishes. Suppose the oceans to have gone dry and that we start out by motor-car from Dieppe to explore the Atlantic.

We should start running smoothly down a gentle hill into a wide, shallow valley—the Channel Valley—and so for miles we should travel parallel with the valleys on the northern side—the cliffs of England, until on our right we should discern the range of mountains which the southern coast of Ireland would present to us.

Then as we travelled westward a marvellous view would spread itself at our feet, for the ground between us would be seen to shelve down into a vast country some four miles below our car.

In four or five hours we should be on the floor of the Atlantic. Stopping the car and looking back we should see vast mountains standing out against the skyline—Mount Ireland and Mount England, and the continent—Mountain Europe.

There is a prevalent notion that the floor of the Atlantic is more or less flat. This is not so.

If we steer our car south we shall soon see on the horizon vast mountains, higher than any we have seen, rising from the undulating country about us.

St. Helena and Ascension, to our vision to-day but little islands, will stand revealed as the tips of vast mountain ranges, so steep as to defy even a modern car and comparable to the vast ranges of the Himalayas.

If we turn and travel north until we reach the northern Atlantic we shall see yet another vast range of mountains—the King Edward VII. range, only recently discovered by oceanographers; and so high that their summits, if a little higher, would have been islands and probably inhabited by the human race!

A MEDICINE THAT ALL MOTHERS PRAISE

Baby's Own Tablets Banish Babyhood and Childhood Ailments.

Mrs. H. Oakes, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets in my home for the past fifteen years and I believe the good health my children enjoy is due entirely to this medicine. The Tablets are helpful at teething time; relieve colds and are always beneficial in the minor ailments of little ones. I have recommended Baby's Own Tablets to other mothers whose experience with them has been as satisfactory as my own."

Baby's Own Tablets do one thing only, but they do it well. They act as a gentle laxative which thoroughly regulates the bowels and sweetens the stomach, thus banishing constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fevers and turn the cross, sickly baby into a well, happy, laughing child.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Home Refrigerator to Make Its Own Ice

A clever invention, by which the ordinary household will be able to have its own refrigerating plant and produce its own ice at a cost of a few pence per day, has just been placed on the London market. A Press representative was shown a handsome white enameled cabinet fitted with shelves like the usual refrigerator. On one side was a tier of small troughs in which block ice could be made.

All the machinery necessary is contained in a small compartment, partly in and partly outside the cabinet. There are no levers, switches, valves or machinery to be watched. One handle starts the necessary flow of water and turns on the heat, which may be raised by electricity, gas or oil, whichever may be most convenient and economical. The cooling apparatus is made of welded steel, containing compounds of liquid and gases hermetically sealed.

The generation of cold is by the evaporation of liquid ammonia, and curiously enough, to the uninitiated, heat is used, to commence with, to raise the strong liquid ammonia in the apparatus. The heat transforms the liquid into gas. This later condenses into liquid again after which hydrogen is introduced to balance the high pressure evaporation. It is this evaporation which causes the generation of intense cold.

The invention is the work of two Swedish students, Platen and Munter, who sold the patent rights to one of their countrymen, who has, in turn, disposed of the American rights for a large sum.

Modern fashions are responsible for the fact that much less sewing cotton is being sold, as both frocks and underwear call for much fewer stitches.

Surnames and Their Origin

KILLMAN.

Variations—Killman, Chilman, Kiehlman. Racial Origin—English, German and Dutch. Source—A given name.

Here is a family name which looks as though it might well have been derived from a word descriptive of an occupation. But it is not.

So far as its English development is concerned, it traces back to the pre-Norman period, and represents one of the old Anglo-Saxon given names which managed to survive the Norman domination that powerful influence which affected nomenclature as well as language and political development.

The Anglo-Saxon form of this given name was "Coelmund," the meaning of which was "ship-protector."

So many English and German names (just as those ending in "er" are common in "man" or "man") are really compounds of the word "man" pounds of the ancient word "were" which also meant a "man" that this sort of ending is one to which the tongue naturally gravitates in pronouncing a given or a family name.

Naturally, as Anglo-Saxon speech emerged finally through the overlay of the Norman tongue, there was a tendency to spell this name as it was pronounced, and it became Killman instead of "Coelmund." The doubled "n" termination, where found, indicates a German development, while the form Kiehlman comes from Holland.

MIDDLETON.

Racial Origin—English. Source—A locality.

Here is a family name, which, as you might suspect, is derived from the name of a place.

The principal question for you, if your name happens to be Middleton, is "which place?" For it so happens that there are places called Middleton in Cumberland, Leicestershire, Staffordshire, Westmoreland and, in fact, virtually every county in England. In the southern part of England alone a study of the map reveals no less than thirty communities bearing this name.

It is not strange, therefore, that the family name of Middleton, indicating that the original bearer came from a place of that name, is a rather widespread one.

Nor is it very difficult to see, in the light of English history, how so many different places came to bear this name. When the Saxons came to England and drove the Britons before them into Wales, Cornwall and Scotland, they came, not in a great united army of conquest, as did the Norman host, but in small bands for the most part, each clan operating separately. It was some hundred years or more before they began to mix with one another to any great extent. It was most natural that nearly every one of these clans should name the central town in the territory in which it settled Middleton.

Bible Foundation of Christian Science Teaching

The lecture on Christian Science given in Massey Music Hall, Toronto, last Sunday afternoon, and radio cast from station C.K.C.L. as advertised in these columns last week, reached a large audience.

The lecturer, Mrs. Nelvia E. Ritchie, C.S., of Sewickley, Pa., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, said in part:

In the Bible we are taught to work, watch, and pray, and Jesus said, "The works that I do shall he do also." To work out the problems of life according to divine law and to be able to prove our way step by step, we must understand not only the law, but the divine Principle from which all real law emanates. Christian Science teaches that the fundamental Principle, the first and only Cause, is God. In the Bible we read, in Genesis, "And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good." Does it not therefore follow that the law governing God's perfect creation must, of necessity, be exact, unfailing good?

Christian Science makes clear to us that God is "the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever." It also makes clear to us the availability of this changeless God who is infinite good, this first Cause who is the maker, sustainer, and ruler of the universe, forever the same, bestowing all good upon His perfect, spiritual creation.

Now the question is, How may we understand man? We need only turn to the Bible to learn the truth about man. In the first chapter of Genesis we read, "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him;" and that God gave man dominion over all things. Reasoning from this true basis will disclose to you, and to all who seek salvation, that everything proceeding from God must be God-like, good, complete, and perfect. The real man, the man of God's creating, must forever manifest all the eternal, spiritual qualities of his Maker, and can never be deprived of this rich inheritance.

Then the natural conclusion from the correct view of man is that he is spiritual, because he is the reflection of his Father, Mother, Spirit. Man is intelligent, because the one Mind, God, is supreme and eternal. Man reflects health, happiness, and harmony, because he is the infinite expression of Soul or substance, which does not sin, suffer, or cause discord of any kind.

Promise.

On a soaked fence-post a little blue-backed bird.
Opening her sweet throat, has stirred
A million music-ripples in the air
That curl and circle everywhere.
They break not shallow at my ear,
But quiver far within. Warm days are near!

—Max Eastman, in "March."

The Floor of the Sea.

The floor is of sand, like the mountain drift;
And the pearl-shells spangle the flinty snow;
From coral-rocks the sea-plants lift
Their bows, where tides nor billows flow;

The water is calm and still below,
For the winds and waves are absent there;

And the sands are bright as the stars that glow
In the motionless fields of upper air

There, with a light and easy motion,
The fan-coral sweeps through the clear deep sea;
And the yellow and scarlet tufts of ocean

Are bending, like corn on the up-land lea.

Then far below in the peaceful sea,
The purple mullet and goldfish rove,
Where the waters murmur tranquilly
Through the bending twigs of the coral-grove.

A Difference.

Little Johnny was just learning to read, and punctuation marks meant very little in his young life. His father was within earshot, and overheard the little chap reading aloud, slowly, "This is a warm doughnut!"—then a pause for breath—"step on it."

On investigation, the sentence proved to be: "This is a worm. Do not step on it."

The happiest people are those who are too busy to notice it.

Keeping Fit! A Matter of Habit!

Good Health Is Within Reach Of All Who Observe This Healthful Habit

There is a very good reason why so many people find themselves subject to listlessness, headaches, biliousness and weakened vitality. They have failed to acquire that healthful habit of regular daily bowel evacuation, with the result that they find themselves victims of constipation.

Modern living conditions tend to decrease the amount of natural lubricant in the intestines, making regular easy elimination of the bowel contents difficult.

Under such circumstances poisons from the waste matter that remains behind, are picked up by the blood and absorbed by the system result—undermining the general health and vitality.

Nujol, the scientific internal lubricant augments nature's lubricant, and makes elimination safe and easy.

Nujol softens the waste matter and permits thorough and regular elimination, without overtaxing the intestinal muscles.

Nujol is not a laxative, and may be taken for any length of time without ill effects. At all druggists.

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot speak too highly of it as I was at the Change of Life and was all run-down and had no appetite. I was very weak and sick, and the pains in my back were so bad I could hardly move. I got very sad at times and thought I had not a friend on earth. I did not care if I lived or died. I was very nervous, too, and did not go out very much. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I did. I am a former's wife, and always worked hard until lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them."—Mrs. EMMA WILSON, 471 Wilson Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Sold by druggists everywhere.

CUTICURA HEALS ECZEMA IN RASH

On Scalp, Later on Limbs. Caused Much Suffering.

"I had eczema which made its appearance on my scalp in a rash. It itched terribly and when I scratched it, blisters broke out. Later the eczema broke out on my limbs, which were badly swollen and very red. It kept me awake at night and caused much pain and suffering. When I washed or went near the hot stove it was very painful. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more and in two or three months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Emma C. Gibson, R. 1, Box 71, Island Pond, Vt., Oct. 26, 1925. Use Cuticura for all toilet purposes. Sample each free by Mail. Address Canadian Depot, "Hoschberg Ltd., Montreal." Price, Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Cuticura Shaving Stick 25c.

CAN YOU?

Often we hear people say: "I believe CHIROPRACTIC would help me, but I can't afford to take adjustments."

Really, isn't it a fact that what you can't afford to do is to stay sick.

Disease, if prolonged, continues to weaken the body until finally you are not able to continue your work and life isn't worth living.
