Prizes For High School Pupils.

The prizes offered by the Women's institute for the two best essays on "Canada in 1812" will be given at the meeting of the institute on Sept. 25th, at the home of Mrs. Soule.

Pupils are requested to send their essays to Mrs. T. Houlehan not later than Sept. 15th.

A Narrow Escape

What might have proved a fatal accident happened at the Methodist Parsonage, Aultsville, when Miss Hanna had a miraculous escape from serious injury through the explosion of a gasoline stove. A lady friend had sufficient presence of mind to tear off the apron worn by Miss Hanna, which caught fire. Miss Hanna received a bad burn on the arm. Only the timely aid of the neighbors, who did heroic work saved the parsonage.

St. Mary's Church Picnic.

The annual picnic and athletic contests, under the auspices of St. Mary's Church, was held here on Monday, Sept. 2nd, (Labor Day) Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large crowd assembled on the grounds. Their presence, under these circumstances, and considering the conditions of the roads after the heavy rains that occurred through the country the past few weeks, was certainly highly appreciated by both the pastor and his congregation.

The event of the day was the baseball game between "Pastimes" of Ottawa, and Smith's Falls. It was a most interesting game and resulted in a victory for Smith's Falls.

The mile race for a silver cup, donated by W. G. Bolster, was won by Harvey Servage, the lucky winner of this cup for three successive years.

Mr. McGibbon of Brockville, won the five mile race and also won a beautiful silver cup, donated by Mr. MacMillan, jeweler, of Ottawa; G. Huxtable of Chesterville, 2nd.

100 yards race won by George Braithwaite of Cryslar, Wright of Chesterville, 2nd.

Hop, step and jump was won by J. Watchorn, Merrickville.

Boys' race -- James Masterson, 1st; R. Servage 2nd.

Other races had to be postponed. The meals served during the day were excellent and the ladies in charge are deserving of much credit.

Dunbar band furnished music during the day.

The day's sports ended by a concert in music hall. The program was most pleasing and those who were present enjoyed a treat.

Those who contributed to the program were: Mrs. Bonnar, Miss Deeks, Prof. Valentine, Ottawa; Dr. Davy, Morrisburg; Mrs. Shiels and Miss Beattie of Chesterville, all of whom were warmly received and heartily encoered by the appreciative audience.

At the conclusion of concert a grand ball was held. Valentine's orchestra furnished the music and a most enjoyable time was spent.

The Redemptioner

A Story of American Colonial Times.

By F. A. MITCHEL

"I won't marry him, and that's all there is about it."

The words were spoken 250 years ago by a lass to her stepmother in a seaport town in England. The family to which she belonged was large and its income small. A rich man stricken in years had taken a fancy to the girl, and in those days children were not expected to refuse to marry one whom their parents provided for them. Anne Yeomans spoke the words with a hot cheek and a flashing eye and at the same time flung herself out of the house and down the street.

"Now, don't you go and do anything foolish," her stepmother called after her, but she paid no attention to the warning, moving on rapidly, as if her only hope to get away from the hated connection was to put space between her and her home.

The town was built on a side hill and overlooked the harbor. A brisk wind was blowing, and below ships at anchor were rocking, the sails of one pointing to windward flapping ready to make sail.

"Whither away, my lass?" came a voice, and the hand of a woman was laid upon her arm.

"I'm running away," cried Anne passionately. "They're going to make me marry an ugly old man that I hate, and I won't."

"And where are you going?" asked the woman.

"How do I know where I'm going since I have no place to go?"

The woman soothed her, won her confidence and finally said to her:

"There's a fine opportunity for such a maid as you to go across the sea to the new country they call Virginia. Once out on the water you will leave your stepmother and the old man they intend to force you to marry, and doubtless among the sturdy young men of Jamestown you will find a husband worthy of you. Why, not long ago a shipload of young women were sent over there, and all were married at once and each to the man of her choice. Do you see that ship down in the harbor? She sails this afternoon for the new country, and if you like you can go on her."

"Alas, I have no money to pay the passage."

"I can arrange that for you. You can go as a redemptioner."

"What's that?" asked the girl.

"You contract to work out your passage money after you get to Virginia. I will pay the amount to the captain of the ship, who will see that you get a good mistress when you reach Jamestown. After you have earned the money that has been spent for your taking over you will be free to do as you like."

"And is the work hard?"

"Not at all. In summer you will have to work but five days a week, and for two months, when the sun is in the highest pitch of his heat, you will be permitted to repose yourself three hours in the day. In winter there is little for the women to do but build fires."

The woman, dominating the girl, was meanwhile leading her on, directing her steps toward a dock. Anne suffering herself to be led without resistance. When they reached the verge of the woman waved to the ship in the offing, and a boat was sent ashore.

"I've a redemptioner for you," said the woman. "Here are 20 guineas for the passage money, and see that the captain returns them with a goodly profit."

Whereupon the men in the boat beckoned Anne to get in with them, and when she drew back two of them got out, and one taking her by each arm, they forced her into the boat, she not being decided whether to go with them willingly. But it was now too late, for she had fallen into the hands of those who were looking out for persons to take to the American colony to sell into bondage.

So Anne was rowed to the ship and placed below deck with others, some of whom had been kidnapped for the same purpose as she. There were also persons who had been sentenced for crime, the penalty having been changed to transportation to Virginia. One of these was a woman who had been sentenced to death for stealing 3s. 6d.

For forty days the little craft which bore this human cargo destined for semislavery breasted the Atlantic's huge billows, finally turning her prow into Chesapeake bay, passing the spot on which now stands Fort Monroe, through Hampton Roads, two centuries later destined to be the scene of the famous fight between the Monitor and Merrimac, which changed the battleships of the world from wood to steel.

TORTURED FROM BABYHOOD

"Fruit-a-lives" Cures Constipation

Miss E. A. GOODALL

EDMONTON, ALTA., Nov. 20th, 1911

"I have been a sufferer since babyhood from that terrible complaint, Constipation. I have been treated by physicians, and have taken every medicine I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I finally concluded that there was no remedy in the world that could cure Constipation."

About this time, I heard about "Fruit-a-lives" and decided to try them. The effect was marvellous.

The first box gave me great relief, and after I had used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well.

"Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine that ever did me any good and I want to say to all who suffer as I did—"Try this fruit medicine and you will find—as I did—a perfect cure!"

(Miss) E. A. GOODALL
"Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit and the only one that will positively and completely cure you of Constipation.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

then moving on up the yellow waters of the James river, she cast anchor opposite the settlement of Jamestown.

A crowd of hungry looking men and women stood on the shore gazing at the newly arrived ship. They looked solitary and the place looked solitary. There were houses making up something that resembled a town, but these looked solitary too. A church had been built, the tower of which is standing today, a lone landmark of the town, its former inhabitants and their sufferings. Much of the Atlantic coast is and was then beautiful. Why these people chose such an unattractive spot on which to make the first American settlement is a mystery. As Anne looked from the ship on the town and on the churchyard it seemed to her that the latter was the more densely populated of the two.

Anne noticed that among those on the shore were very few women. There was a discouraged look on their faces, and one disease seemed to have descended upon them all—nostalgia, or homesickness. But Anne thought of the marriage that was to have been forced upon her in England, and it was enough to overcome any immediate desire to return there.

A gun was fired on the ship, and a hogshead of rum was sent aboard. When all were ready for the sale of the redemptioners the men were shaved and the women dressed in their best gowns, their neatest caps, and all were brought on deck. Since Anne had shipped as a runaway with only the clothes she had on at the time there was no finery to put on her. Since she was but eighteen and comely she did not need to be adorned. When the sale began each prisoner, at being put up to be purchased, told what was his trade.

Anne was bought by a middle aged man, whose benevolent face indicated that he would make a good master. He took her to his home, where she found that he had a wife and children. It was autumn, and most of the young men of the plantations were hunting for the winter supply of meat. One day when Anne was out gathering nuts, on rising from the ground with her apron full of the proceeds of her hunt, there stood before her a young man leaning on a rifle. His breeches and doublet were of buckskin, and his hat was decorated with the tail of a squirrel. Altogether he was a fine specimen of a man, not at all like the sallow, sickly-looking men who were hanging about the town giving way to homesickness.

Richard Furnival had been in Virginia several years and now for the first time since his arrival looked upon a comely young woman. Indeed, to him, separated as he had been from the more delicate type of women—those who came to Virginia were not usually well born or well favored—Anne seemed to him a vision of loveliness.

"How now, pretty maid!" he exclaimed. "When did you come to this benighted land? You were surely not here when I went forth a few weeks ago to replenish my father's larder with venison."

Blushing under his admiring gaze, Anne replied that she had come on a ship which had arrived a fortnight before.

"If you came for a husband, heaven grant that you have not been taken up as yet. I have as many pounds of tobacco as will pay the amount advanced for your passage."

Anne, who was not used to the rapid courtships of the new world, blushed still deeper, but could not refrain from smiling at receiving a proposal of marriage from a man who had just seen her for the first time. She told him that her passage had been advanced by a woman in England and that she had been purchased by a citizen of Jamestown.

"Then will I buy you from that citizen if he will sell and if you will marry me."

"I know not if he will sell," replied Anne, making no reference to the other part of what the young man had said.

"And pray who bought you?"

"A Mr. Andrew Furnival."

"Andrew Furnival! Heaven be praised! He is my father."

They walked on together, the young man insisting on carrying the nuts, so Anne took off her apron and, gathering the corners, banded them to him. She had heard that the eldest son of the family she served was hunting, but did not know till this last remark that this was the man. As soon as they had arrived at the Furnival home and the young man had been welcomed he told her father that he wished to marry his bondswoman. The father made no objection, but Anne, who was well treated and satisfied with her present condition, preferred a wooing. At any rate, she gave no affirmative answer.

But she enjoyed the companionship of Richard Furnival, for when her work was done she walked with him in the wood, starting now and again some animal, which scampered away through the brush and over the dead leaves, or they would sit on the bank of the river watching the swirling yellow waters, looking across at the desolate wilderness opposite, and there was that in the loneliness of the place to force them together. In a strange land with little companionship courtships cannot be long. But it was a period of anxiety for Richard, for Anne was disposed to appear at least to waver, and since there were scores of men who would have given their heads to get her her lover dreaded lest he lose her.

Finally Andrew Furnival decided to leave Jamestown and its miseries, move up Chesapeake bay and join the settlement established by Lord Baltimore. Soon after their arrival there Anne yielded to Richard's persuasions and married him.

While the site of Jamestown is now the bleak, lonely spot it was when the settlers were there, Baltimore is a great city. Steamers moving up or down the James river tie up at the wharf to put off and take on a few passengers, while tourists on the guards look out upon all there is left of the former settlement, the tower of the church in which the first American settlers worshipped. Were it not for the interposition of the United States government the river would by this time have washed away even the site of the historic spot. That misfortune is prevented by a substantial riprap.

"I shall not easily forget my debut. Mr. Charles Wyndham said on one occasion. "We opened at Washington and I appeared as a character who had to declare, 'I am drunk with love and enthusiasm.' Having uttered the first three words, I was seized with stage fright and said no more. This is what I read in a New York paper the next morning: 'A Mr. Wyndham represented a young man from South America. He had better go there himself.'"

"Contentment is better than riches," said the ready made philosopher. "True," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "but my observation is that a man who is rich has a better chance of becoming content than a man who is contented has of becoming rich."—Washington Star.

MURKY GREEN PETROLEUM.

Processes by Which It Is Converted Into Refined Oil.

In its original state petroleum is of a murky green color. It is distilled in pans with great furnaces blazing beneath them, and as the vapors arise from the boiling liquid they are conveyed into pipes surrounded by cold water in which they are condensed.

The first vapors condense into naphtha and those produced by further heating give the burning oil. A very small percentage of the crude oil put into the pans or stills remains in the form of tar, which by another process is converted into paraffin and coke.

After distillation the refined oil is no longer green, but is as transparent as spring water and beautifully tinged with purples and blues. It is not yet ready for use, however, since it must be "washed." The fluid is emptied into a large circular tank in which it is treated with acids, these being poured in and mixed with it by means of powerful pressure from beneath.

When it has been well shaken it is allowed to settle, and the acids then separate from it and sink to the bottom of the tank, taking with them some of the tar that remained in the oil.

The acids are then removed and the oil is washed with salt water. Finally it is bleached, and it is then ready for the market.—Harper's Weekly.

TIGER PROOF HOMES.

Malay Houses, Frail and Flimsy, Sometimes Perch In Tree Tops.

The ordinary Malay house is built on posts from five to seven feet high, but one which I came across was perched high up in a tree. It was the home of a man, his wife and family, and they informed me that it was placed in this unusual situation so as to be out of the way of the numerous tigers which then infested the neighborhood.

As tigers have been known to jump eighteen feet in vertical height somewhere about twenty feet is considered to be the limit of safety. The Malayan house is a frail and flimsy structure of sticks tied together with rattan thatched with palm leaves and walled with plaited bamboo or, as in this case, with the bark of trees.

It is therefore an easy matter for a tiger with its great strength to break into a house and attack the inhabitants. Many instances of this have been recorded in Malaya. In one well known case a whole family were killed except one man, who, climbing up into the roof and thus escaping the notice of the tiger, was a horrified observer of the cruel mauling and ultimate slaughter and devouring of his relatives.—London Strand Magazine.

Life Without Microbes.

Microbes are not indispensable to all life if they are indispensable to any. The question has been definitely settled. A cage completely sterilized at 90 degrees was made and the openings of the cage closely stopped with cotton and protected from the outside by a hermetically closed metallic chamber. Such manipulations as were necessary in opening the cage were made by hands guarded by aseptic rubber cloth. Into such a sterilized cage three hens' eggs were placed after having been externally sterilized. The cage was fitted with a glass pavilion or chicken run, where the chickens could develop during their six weeks' sojourn in the cage. In the cage were sterilized air, pure water, sterilized sand and sterilized feed. The experiment showed that life does not depend upon microbes, but that the vital work of the organism is easy and natural when everything is sterilized.—Harper's.

Relics of Pillories.

Though the pillory has been abolished, there are still to be found in various parts of rural England relics of this old time method of punishment. One of the most complete examples may be seen within a few miles of the metropolitan border. In the picturesque village of Roydon, Essex, not only are the old stocks and whipping post still preserved, but close beside them stands also the wooden "cage" in which the roysterer of bygone days was incarcerated. Is there another such interesting trio of punitive relics to be found elsewhere in England?—London Graphic.

Cause and Effect.

"Uh! I'm afraid the good effects of the canter before breakfast are counteracted by the bad effects of the de-canter after dinner."—London Tatler.

"Sit down!" thundered the speaker. "I have tried vainly to catch your 'aye' several times when it was needed."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"If you don't stop nagging me, Emily, I shall shoot myself this very minute."

"Yes, that's just like you, when you know how nervous I am when I hear a shot."—London Tit-Bits.

READ ABOUT THE 'GREAT INVENTION' THE ECCENTRIC SPROCKET WHEEL

Long spokes give greater tying-power. (See arrow A.) Short spokes give swifter bundle discharge. (See arrow B.) When you take hold of a heavy stone, exert all your strength and it refuses to budge, what do you call for? A long crowbar, of course. Why? Because greater power is obtainable with the long lever. The great invention—the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel (note arrow C)—is built on the principle of the lever. The long spokes (see arrow A) and note how much longer than at arrow B) act as long levers—give greater leverage power.

It works out this way:

On our No. 3 Binder, when the bundle is about to be tied, the chain is pulled over the long spokes, which exert all their great leverage power—fully 162% per cent. more than is obtainable with the ordinary wheel. The grain is compressed far more tightly.

You get a neater, more compact bundle and save considerable TWINE. Easier to pick up. Easier to carry, easier to shock.

Immediately after our Knotter ties the bundle, the chain is pulled over the short spokes (see arrow B) and note difference in length of spoke as compared with arrow A). The shorter spokes greatly increase the speed of the chain. The bundle is given a swifter discharge than with ordinary wheel, and the needle is speedily brought back, out of the way of the downcoming grain, into position for the next sheaf.

The Eccentric Sprocket does this, too—it prevents that "jar" or "jerk" always noticed on other machines when a bundle is being tied and discharged. You will not feel it on the No. 3; neither will your horses be annoyed by it, nor "the life" of the machine be shortened. Frost & Wood No. 3 runs along and does its work without even a suggestion of that "jerk."

Now, you see why every maker would put the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel on his binder if we did not control the patents for Canada. You see why it's wise to invest a post card and get our Binder Booklet so as to become thoroughly posted on the peer of them all—the Frost & Wood No. 3.

You are on the right track when you start investigating our No. 3—the binder that is built by a purely Canadian Company, who thoroughly understands Canadian conditions. We would like you to read a few of the hundreds of testimonials we have received from Canadian farmers, which back up our claims to the letter.

LABOR CELEBRATES

Parades Are Held in Most Canadian Cities.

BAD WEATHER INTERFERES

Processions of Union Men Are Not Quite Up to Expectations in Some of the Centres of Labor Activity Because of the Bad Weather—Montreal Is Away Ahead With Ten Thousand in Line.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Yesterday was a big day in most Canadian cities, and the working-man was very much in the ascendant. Rain interfered with the processions in some places but as a general rule the turnout of union men was well up to the mark and the picnics which took up most of the day were greatly enjoyed. Montreal had hoped for a parade of 30,000 persons but on account of the rain and the muddy streets only 10,000 marched. Ottawa's procession broke all records with four thousand in line.

The Toronto parade from Queen's Park to the Exhibition grounds turned out about 4,000 members of unions to testify to their loyalty to the cause, and they were cheered by probably 100,000 people along the line of march. The procession, while scarcely including one-fourth of the members of local unions, was equal to that of last year. Notwithstanding that the weather was moist and momentarily threatening to become exceedingly wet, the processionists marched unhesitatingly to their destination. Fortunately the rain held off, except for a gentle sprinkling.

Downpour at Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 3.—Under the auspices of the Iron Moulders' Union, the Labor Day celebration here, while considerably dampened by the heavy downpour all morning, proved very successful. The morning events were cancelled, as was the horse race matinee in the afternoon, but the Westinghouse football team and the sports and band concerts in the afternoon and evening were well attended.

Weather Cleared at London.

London, Ont., Sept. 3.—The London trades and labor men paraded to Queen's Park yesterday, where a long program of sports were held. It rained in the morning, threatening to spoil the day, but before noon the sun came out and apart from the heat the weather was delightful.

Big Parade at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—The Labor Day celebration here passed all previous records, attracting no fewer than 4,000 trade unionists, who with their different floats, streamers and uniforms, made a picturesque and brilliant procession. The parade took over half an hour to pass a given point on its route through the heart of the city, and when eventually it lined up in Cartier square at midday an enormous crowd was present to witness the judging.

In the afternoon an excellent program of athletics sports was run off at the south side park before a great crowd.

Gotham's Big Parade.

New York, Sept. 3.—Under grey skies which threatened rain at any moment, more than 30,000 men and women, in floats, in carriages and on foot, passed up Fifth avenue yesterday in New York's annual Labor Day parade. The Woman's Trade Union League and the Woman Workers, affiliated with it, were conspicuous, as were delegations from the striking furriers and the striking cloakmakers.

Before the line got under way union representatives rode up and down seeing that none but union-shod horses were ridden or driven.

Kingston Has Picnic.

Kingston, Sept. 3.—Kingston labor men celebrated the day with a monster picnic at Lake Ontario, where a program of sports were carried out. Two baseball matches and a baby show were special features. There was no parade. The weather was fine, although dark clouds hovered over the city all day.

Berlin Turn-Out Abandoned.

Berlin, Ont., Sept. 3.—Owing to a heavy rainstorm yesterday morning the annual Labor Day parade was not held. The weather cleared at about 11 o'clock and the 29th regimental band paraded to the auditorium, where games of baseball scheduled were cancelled. Most of the ball players are en route to their homes, the Canadian League season being over.

Few Clouds on Labor Horizon.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Labor Day this year, according to the Labor Department, saw fewer strikes throughout industrial Canada than the holiday has witnessed for several years past. The industrial disturbances of July were not evident in August and at the present time there is not an industrial dispute or strike of any great import in the entire country.

The most important, perhaps, in the difference in the Porcupine district which involves a thousand men, an arbitration board, has been appointed, however, and an amicable settlement is looked forward to.

Disastrous Storm In Fruit Belt.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 3.—When the worst electric storm in months broke over the Niagara district Sunday, several barns, outbuildings, and trees were struck by lightning. The telephone, telegraph and electric wires were damaged and fruit also suffered considerably.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, west end, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Aug. 31 were 1600 cattle, 3900 sheep and lambs, 2650 hogs and 700 calves. The offerings on the market this morning for sale were 1000 cattle, 2500 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs and 400 calves.

An easier feeling prevailed in the market for cattle today, and prices, as compared with a week ago, show a decline of 25c per hundred pounds, which was due to the more liberal supplies of common to good stock, but really choice steers were by no means plentiful, and if it had not been for the arrivals of a few good loads of northwest ranch cattle buyers would have had some difficulty in filling their wants with this class, as the quality of the cattle coming from Ontario are only grading from common to medium.

The top prices realized for picked lots of choice steers were $6.75 to $7, and sales of full loads of good cattle were made at $5.25 to $5.50, while other loads of fair stock, with some oxen in them, sold for $5.50 to $5.75 per 100 pounds.

A feature of the small-meat trade was the active demand for lambs from both butchers and packers, and prices advanced 25c per 100 pounds, with sales of Ontario stock at $6 to $6.25. The tone of the market for sheep was also stronger. The tone of the market for hogs continues easy.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $6.75 to $7; do., medium, $4.75 to $5.75; do., common, $3.75 to $4.25; canners, $2.50 to $3; do., choice cows, $4.75 to $5; do., medium, $4.25 to $4.50; do., bulls, $3.50 to $4.50; milkers, choice, each, $60 to $70; do., common and medium, each, $40 to $50; springers, $30 to $35.

Sheep, ewes, $4 to $4.25; bucks and culls, $3.50 to $3.75. Lambs, $5.75 to $6.25. Hogs, f.o.b., $3.25 to $3.50. Calves, $5 to $10.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 2.—Cattle—Receipts, 3500 head; active and 10c to 25c higher; prime steers, $9.50 to $9.85; shipping, $8.50 to $9.35; butchers, $8 to $8.75; heifers, $4.75 to $5; cows, $3 to $5.50; bulls, $4 to $8; stockers and feeders, $4.75 to $5; stock heifers, $4.25 to $4.50; fresh cows and springers, active and $2 to $3 higher, at $35 to $75.

Veals—Receipts, 1000 head; active and steady, $4 to $11.50.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

IN DOUBT.

I've thought about a lot of things,
If they were thus and so.
The more I try to work them out
The less I seem to know.
I almost travel in a ring
And circle round about,
And so I get back to the place
From which I started out.

The more I come to think about
The mystery of life,
To study it in books or to
Discuss it with my wife,
The less I come to think I know
About the how and why
Of man's existence on the earth
And in the by and by.

And often when I sit me down
And try my best to see
Just why my neighbor does a thing
That backward is to me
I cannot get the ins and outs
That actuate his mind.
Because unto my feeble sight
He seems to go it blind.

As to the wiles of politics,
The wherefore and the why,
I cannot solve it in my mind.
No odds how hard I try,
And so I have to give it up
And of the case dispose
By saying sweetly to myself,
"Perhaps somebody knows."

Time, Not Money,
In It.

"You say Lawyer
Jenks has his first case?"

"That's right."

"What kind of case is it?"

"A watch case."

Giving Notice.

"Those fellows who were at the stag
the other night all stayed at a hotel instead of going home."

"Really?"

"They couldn't get home."

"How did they square it with their wives?"

"They didn't have to square it. Their wives rounded them up the next day and polished them off to a fine finish."

Just Like Mattie.

"Mattie has a new position."

"Better pay?"

"No, I think not quite as good as the other was."

"Was the work too hard at the old job?"

"Easier than the new."

"Then why did she quit?"

"She didn't like the way her employer combed his hair."

Slender.

"That's the rich Miss Blinks."

"Mighty thin, isn't she?"

"Yes. Jim is camping on her trail.
Means to marry her and get a fortune."

"Well, she's what I'd call a pretty slim chance for him."

Gauged by Necessity.

"I have to be very regular in my eating."

"Always at the same hour?"

"That is the idea. When do you eat?"

"Whenever I have the price."

He Wondered.

"What have you done?"

"Just killed a politician."

"What do you expect to get for it?"

"I dunno. Is there any reward?"

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Some persons have such great faith in what the morrow will bring them that they are perfectly satisfied to let their debtors wait until that happy time.

The fellow that always looks on the bright side is occasionally found to be color blind.

A fortune hunter is more likely to be enamored of the figure a woman has at the bank than the one that her corsetiere is acquainted with.

Nothing seems to agree with a contrary man except his own egotism.

When all's said and done even your best friends go home and say your case isn't half so bad as it might be and you should have more backbone.

The forethought that saves the day is more often than not the afterthought of the day before.

A Chesterville young man, who was visiting in the States, crossed the St. Lawrence at the upper locks on the 21st., bringing with him into Canada a motor cycle. As he did not appear at the customs office to report upon the matter, Mr. Drew left a day or two later for the village by the Nation and secured the wheel, conveying it to his office here, where it still remains.—Morrisburg Herald.

A Toronto man after seven years experimenting has succeeded in crossing a strawberry with a raspberry. The strawberry bloom was inoculated with the bloom of the other fruit, and to-day he has 200 bushes loaded with a new kind of fruit that has astonished the horticultural experts. The fruit is shaped like an elongated raspberry only about three times as big, and has a delicious flavor. He refused an offer of $1,000 for 100 of the bushes.

FLOODS TAKE 22 LIVES

Cloudbursts Work Havoc in Southern Pennsylvania.

Terrible Storm Which Sweeps Part of Quaker State, Panhandle of Virginia, and a Section of Ohio, Cause Damage at Present Incalculable—Death List May Reach 33.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—At least 22 known to be dead and 11 others believed to have perished are the results of a terrific storm which swept Western and Northern Pennsylvania, the Panhandle district of West Virginia and a section of Eastern Ohio Sunday night and early yesterday. The monetary loss cannot even be estimated at this time.

After a 24-hours' period of excessively hot weather the storm broke Sunday evening. In addition to an extraordinary rainfall, the electrical features were most spectacular. The steady rain caused every stream to leave its banks. Within a short time the water had washed away railroad tracks in many places and sent tons of earth from surrounding hills, making all thoroughfares in the flood zone impassable.

Latest reports give the following table of fatalities: Colliers, W. Va., nine dead. It is estimated that 20 persons met death. Cherry Valley, Pa., six drowned. Burgettstown, Pa., one drowned. Avella, Pa., three drowned. Cannonsburg, Pa., three drowned.

During the night this city experienced the storm. The suburbs suffered severely, cellars being flooded, street cars crippled and wire service prostrated. In a number of Western Pennsylvania points people became panic-stricken. At Newcastle, Pa., congregations were dismissed by ministers when announcements were made that a flood was headed for the town. At Fort City, Pa., a dozen houses were washed from their foundations. Lighting struck a score of houses while McGrath, a suburb, is under three to five feet of water.

Oil derricks were blown down, small streams flooded and scores of persons spent the night in interurban cars while repairs were being made to the tracks.

The Pittsburg baseball club were on one of the trains delayed by the Colliers flood and were not scheduled to reach the city until 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, compelling postponement of the morning game with Chicago.

Train Hurlled Into River.
Camp Douglas, Wis., Sept. 3.—Four persons were killed in the wreck of a passenger train, No. 10, on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad, which plunged into the Lemonweir River, near Camp Douglas yesterday, owing to the washing away of a bridge. Twenty-six persons were injured, six of them seriously.

Every car, including the sleepers, with passengers still in their berths, was hurled into the stream, whose waters augmented by the cloudburst of Sunday night, made it a torrent. Panic-stricken occupants of the sleeping cars, clad only in night clothes, struggled through broken windows to escape. The smoking car was carried down stream, but all its occupants escaped.

The dead are: Engineer Ralph Thompson, Fireman Abraham, mail clerk, name unknown; Baggage man Lee.

British Labor Congress.
London, Sept. 3.—Nearly two million trade unionists were represented by five hundred delegates at the congress which opened yesterday at Newport, Monmouth, and many new and important issues will be raised for the first time.

One of these is the question of syndicalism, as opposed to the more moderate methods hitherto adopted of attaining trade union ends. A resolution is proposed calling for the reaffirmation of syndicalism principles of amalgamation with the national union of dock laborers.

One of the unions in the Transport Workers' Federation will move an amendment expressing approval of the principle of amalgamation where practicable, but repudiating in explicit terms the propaganda for syndicalism. The measure of success or failure attending the syndicalists efforts will be determined by the attitude of the miners, who have not yet declared themselves on this subject.

Kaiser Reviews Big Army.
Berlin, Sept. 3.—Emperor William passed in review yesterday the most powerful army ever gathered in Berlin in time of peace. It is comprised of 60,000 men and composed artillery, cavalry, engineers and auxiliary troops of the Guards and of the Third Army Corps.

The army flying corps took part in the parade for the first time since its formation. Eight aeroplanes and two dirigible balloons under the guidance of officer-aiemen flew at the head of the marching columns as they passed the Emperor. His Majesty stood beneath the solitary poplar in the centre of the great Templehof parade grounds and returned the salute of the troops as they went by.

The circumstances surrounding the case are of a serious nature, it is stated by the officials, though, owing to the fact that no ante-mortem statement was made, there may be difficulty in bringing anyone to justice.

Scottish Explorer Rescued.
Christiania, Norway, Sept. 3.—Dr. William S. Bruce, a noted Scotch explorer, and a companion, who had been exploring Spitzbergen, were rescued by a steamer at Advent Bay, which they had reached after a long and perilous trip. The news of their rescue was received here yesterday.

THE OPEN MOUTH.

Causes That Induce It When We Are Intently Listening.
Why do we open our mouths when intently listening?
There are three causes, entirely independent of one another, but acting in unison, for this action. There is a passageway called the eustachian tube, connecting the back of the throat and the middle ear, the part behind the drum. When intently listening we hold our breath, and this permits sound waves to enter the mouth and reach the eustachian tube, and in this way they reach the drum and re-enforce the sound waves that come through the natural channel, the outer ear.

In concentrated attention the mind is fully engrossed in the one subject, and it loses control over voluntary muscles that are not directly affected by the subject or the process involved in the motor activity that accompanies mental activity. The muscles are relaxed, the lower jaw drops, and this opens the mouth.

The third cause is referable to atavism, or the tendency to return in form or action to an early type. Early man, like the animals, was urged to action by the fundamental instincts, self preservation and race preservation. His two aims were to secure food and avoid or destroy enemies. Like the animals, when his attention was attracted by a sound he placed himself in the attitude for instant defense, attack or securing food. In this attitude his mouth was open to grasp instantly what came in his way. The tendency to open the mouth when intently listening still remains.—New York American.

Old Time Personally Conducted Tour.
The campanile looked down upon the first agencies for conducted tours of which we have record. Five hundred years ago Venice controlled the pilgrim traffic to the Holy Land, and quite a number of firms made a good thing of it. They had their offices in St. Mark's square, with all the apparatus of advertisement boardings, flags and commissionaires. The contract stipulated how much space aboard a ship and what food each pilgrim was to get, and the agents undertook not merely to carry the pilgrim across the sea, but to conduct him personally to Jerusalem and to take over all negotiations with the officials. For the whole journey the charge was 25 to 30 ducats, a third to be paid before starting, a third in Palestine and a third after returning home.—Manchester Guardian.

What kind of a silo will yours be?

Wood—or Concrete?

IF you were to build two silos—one of wood, the other of concrete—side by side, and then could see them as they will look after five years of service, you wouldn't have to think twice to decide which is the best material. In a few years more there wouldn't be much of the original wooden silo left—the repairing you'd have to do would be as troublesome and cost as much as the building of an entirely new one. But the passage of five, ten, fifteen or even twenty years will make no difference to the hard-as-rock wall of the concrete silo.

CONCRETE SILOS LAST FOREVER

WIND, rain, fire and lightning are alike defied by concrete. You need no insurance against its destruction, because it cannot be destroyed. Concrete silos are best for another reason. The concrete keeps the ensilage at an even temperature, so that it "cures" better, and therefore contains more food-value for your stock.

YOU CAN BUILD ONE YOURSELF

NO matter whether you have ever used concrete or not, you can build a concrete silo. ## DEMANDS ARBITRATION

Britain Will Insist on Taking Canal Dispute to Hague.

Official Announcement That the Recent Panama Toll Bill Passed by the U. S. Congress Will Be Protested Under the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty and Full Arbitration Asked Under Root-Bryce Treaty.

London, Sept. 3.—It is officially announced that the British Government will make a formal demand upon the United States Government for arbitration of its claim that the Panama Canal Toll Act, as recently passed by the United States Congress, violates the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Nothing definitely is known here beyond the brief official announcement that the formal demand for arbitration would be made, but it is believed that instructions already are en route to the British Embassy at Washington concerning the situation. The British demand will be made under the arbitration convention of 1908. Great Britain's contention will be that the question at issue does not affect the vital interests, independence or honor of the United States, and that therefore it is clearly within the scope of the 1908 convention, since the matter to be arbitrated is not an act of congress, but an interpretation of Article 3 of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Recent advices from Washington indicate that the United States Government, should it hold firm in its determination not to arbitrate, will take refuge in Article 2 of the Root-Bryce Arbitration treaty of 1908.

That article makes it a prerequisite to actual arbitration that both sides "shall conclude a special agreement defining clearly the matter in dispute," and this must be approved by the Senate. So that if that body takes the same view next winter of the predominant rights of America in the use of the canal, as it did last session, it may prevent arbitration by declining to accept any "special agreement" satisfactory to Great Britain.

Taft Surprised.
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3.—The announcement that Great Britain will appeal to The Hague Tribunal to settle its claim of violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty by the Panama Canal act came as a surprise to President Taft. He had heard reports that such an appeal was contemplated, but was of the opinion that the matter would be taken up in the usual diplomatic way.

The President was not ready last night to make an expression about the appeal to The Hague. He had no official word from the State Department, and did not expect to consider the case until he reaches Washington Wednesday.

TO TREAT US BETTER.
Privy Council Will Give More Time to Canada.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—One direct result of the visit to London of the Canadian ministers will be that the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council will give more time and attention to the consideration of Canadian appeals.

It has been felt for some time that the growing number and importance of Canadian cases, coupled with the recent protests in the Canadian press at the decisions in a number of important Dominion appeals, warranted a somewhat closer knowledge of conditions in this country by members of the judicial committee.

It is understood that the Canadian Minister of Justice while in London had an informal conference with Chancellor Haldane, who expressed every desire to do all that was possible to meet the wishes of the Canadian people.

Mr. Doherty, however, heard nothing of the alleged proposal to appoint a special and permanent Canadian representative on the Imperial board.

Five Killed In Wreck.
North Bay, Sept. 3.—Five dead and ten severely injured was the toll taken by an accident on the Canadian Pacific near Mattawa on Saturday morning, when a work train engaged in ballasting the tracks, while running caboose first, collided with a fast through freight train.

The dead and injured, with the exception of Conductor Thos. Duncan, were all residents of Mattawa. Conductor Duncan was a young, unmarried man, residing with his mother and sister at North Bay.

No blame is attached to the crew of the fast freight, as it was the duty of the men in charge of the work train to give the freight a clear track. The casualty list is:

Dead—Thomas Duncan, conductor of the work train; Thomas O'Keefe, Felix, Chenier, August Desjardines, and Ernest Chenier, laborers.

Injured—Thomas McManus, foreman of work train; Peter Morrison, brakeman; Wm. Roach, fireman; Sigfried Joudoin, Adelard Bertrand, Damas Chenier, Matthew Cyr, Alfred Bangs, Neil McCalpin, Clarence McCalpin.

The injured are all doing well in Mattawa hospital, with every prospect of recovery.

More Pay For Teachers.
St. Catharines, Sept. 3.—Hon. Dr. Pyne was the guest of the public and high school board on Labor Day, when he officially opened the new $40,000 Victoria public school, in the north-eastern section of the city. In the evening he officiated at the opening of the new assembly hall and gymnasium erected at the Collegiate Institute. He spoke to large audiences on both occasions, recalling difficulties which he encountered as a member of the Board of Education at Toronto. He also spoke on the present scarcity of qualified teachers in Ontario, and stated that the movement now on foot would grant them better remuneration in future. Mayor Merritt and the members of the school board also spoke on both occasions.

A PROBLEM IN PICTURES.

And the Peculiar Coincidence by Which It Was Solved.

Some years ago a publishing house was preparing to issue a new edition of the writings of Thoreau, writes Charles S. Olcott in Art and Progress. The head of the house and a member of his staff were in consultation about the method of illustration. It was agreed that the pictures must be true to nature, but how to get them was the problem. Artists who do book illustrating could not be expected to go into the woods and make pictures which would in any way assist the text to reveal nature as Thoreau saw it. Photographs would be admirable, but where was the professional photographer to be found who would undertake to go into Thoreau's country in sunshine and rain, in summer and winter, to catch all the phases of nature which Thoreau recorded in his "Journal?"

While the two men pondered a caller sat in the outer office with a large portfolio under his arm. Five years before he had read Thoreau's "Journal" and had taken up his residence in Concord that he might visit the scenes there described. In all seasons and all kinds of weather he had wandered through the woods and over the fields with his camera. Passionately fond of nature, he was no less devoted to art. To him photography was a pastime. It was not his profession. For the pure love of nature and of art and with no thought of pecuniary gain he had accomplished the very feat which the two business men had thought so difficult, and by a curious coincidence he appeared at the office to exhibit the result of his work at the precise moment when its desirability was being discussed.

BURIED LIVING PERSONS.

Horrible Custom of Japanese Prior to Year 646 A. D.

Prior to the year 646 A. D. the Japanese had one of the most horrible burial customs that can be imagined—that of burying all the immediate friends and retainers of a prince or other person of note in a standing position around the potentate's grave and leaving them in the earth up to their necks to perish of thirst and hunger.

The custom cannot be said to have been general as late as the date given for the Japanese records prove that in the time of the Emperor Suinin (97-30 B. C.) the burial rites of royal personages were so modified as to partially abolish former cruelties. Speaking of a young brother of Suinin, who died and had his retinue buried standing around his grave, the old record says: "For many days they died not, but wept and cried aloud. At last they died. Dogs and crows assembled and ate off their heads. The emperor's compassion was aroused, and he desired to change the manner of burial. When the empress died, soon after, the mikado inquired of his officers if something in the way of a change could not be suggested, and one proposed to make clay figures of men and bury them as substitutes."

That this did not entirely do away with the former custom is proved by an edict issued in the year 646 A. D., the date given first above, which forbade the burial of living persons and provided a penalty for further adherence to the awful rite.—St. Louis Republic.

The 800 marines sent from Philadelphia on board the transport Prairie for service in Nicaragua, arrived at Balboa from Colon Friday afternoon, and camped on the docks there. They transferred their equipment to the cruiser California by tug and lighters Sunday morning.

The California arrived Saturday, but stayed outside the bay, as her captain after consultation with the port and canal zone authorities, decided not to dock the vessel for fear that she might touch bottom.

HARVESTING RESUMED.

Sunny Weather Brings Joy to the Western Farmer.

Winnipeg, Sept. 3.—The weather map of the Canadian prairie west for the week was ideal, almost every district reporting brighter skies and drying winds while on neither Saturday nor Sunday night did the temperature drop below 34. As a consequence, farmers were putting in a busy Labor Day and the whirl of the binder, after practically a week's suspension through dampness, is again heard in every district. Every indication points to the weather as set fair, and if this is maintained during the current week, a tremendous hole will be cut in standing grain.

The difficulty is to find labor sufficient to throw it up into stocks, and with sheaves lying on the fields farmers will be little better off than if the grain was left standing. Practically every available unemployed man in this city has now been drafted out and the Labor Day parade yesterday morning was remarkable for the absence of the usual crowd of idle hangers-on to the skirts of organized labor.

More harvest trains are expected from the east to-day and to-morrow, and these will be rapidly distributed. Owing to high wages and great demand for labor south of the international boundary, the quota of harvesters furnished from there has been disappointingly small.

To Get Men From U. S.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—The Government is endeavoring to get men to harvest the western crops from the United States. The maritime provinces, which in other years supplied armies of harvesters, are not responding as well as expected this year. The same is true of Ontario and Quebec. The immigration authorities are therefore arranging to bring hands from across the border.

Dispensation from the usual regulations governing the Alien Labor Laws are being temporarily brought into force, and special low rates for harvesters are being secured on U. S. railways. It is hoped that in this way sufficient harvest hands can be secured.

Monet Still Fighting.

St. John's, Que., Sept. 3.—Judge Monet has returned from California and intends to raise the Monnoir question once more. He proposes to hold a mass meeting at St. John next Saturday, Sept. 7, and give the conditions of the Monnoir priests' resignation. By a peculiar coincidence the date of the mass meeting is the very day Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal announced for his pastoral visit. His grace stated in his letter that his visit was to do good and not to aid in any strife over past difficulties. #### China Resents Demand.

London, Sept. 3.—Deep resentment is felt in China over the British demand in regard to Tibet. ### THE GOOD OLD SEASON.

THOUGH we may not like its manners, As we have to see it through, How we revel in the summer! It is all that we can do, For it clings about our persons, With our brows it fiercely plays, And, whatever are its failings, Still it stays and stays and stays.

Summer slips along so smoothly In developing its plot; First the days are warm and balmy; All at once they turn up hot. June may jar us just a trifle With the best it can supply, But the season gets to business In the middle of July.

Then the summer quits its fooling As it notices the date, And it gets itself in action At a long and steady gait. Does it turn aside for trifles To the left or to the right? No, my brother and my sister, It is working day and night.

Yes, each moment it is busy, And the work must be a strain, Climbing, climbing every minute That the top it may attain. When it comes to grace the city With its steady, pulsing throb It is not an idle trifler Or a piker on the job.

Careful Hulda.

"I see you have the same maid still." "Yes; she is very good as maids go." "But I thought she was going to marry and leave you."

"Oh, I have managed to put off the evil day."

"How did you do it?" "I got her to reading the newspaper accounts of divorces in the millionaire class, and now she wants to save up enough money for a divorce before she marries."

Knew It Was the Best.

"What school of medicine does your son practice?" "Are there different schools?" "Sure there are." "Then his is the high school."
