United After Many Years.

A most interesting case of a son being restored to his father after a long separation comes from a small village called Halpenny in Lanark county. Some years ago a Mr. Johnston, now of Portland, Ore., lived in West Africa where he was a gold mining contractor. One day in his absence from home his wife and five of his children were murdered. One boy escaped and his father gave him to Bishop Smith who took him to London and educated him. The father later returned to the United States and recently his heart began to yearn for his son. Through Bishop Smith and Secretary Knox, of Washington, the lad now 24 years old, was located at Halpenny, that county. The father lost no time in coming to Canada as soon as he heard of his long lost son and last week he arrived at the farm of Mr. J. F. Halpenny. The latter drove the stranger to the farm where the boy was living and father and son were united after a separation of twenty-four years. The meeting was a most affecting one.

The Late Frank Dence

On Sunday last another bright and promising young life was cut short at Waddington, by the death of Mr. Frank Dence, in his 24th year.

The deceased was born in Morrisburg, being a son of the late Alfred and Mrs Dence, and was educated at the M. C. I. and the Belleville Business College. For the past five years he had been salesman for the Canadian Fairbanks Company at Toronto, but in June was taken with heart hemorrhages, and after receiving treatment there for some time, was brought down here and taken to the residence of his sister, Mrs C. E. Clark, of Waddington, where he lingered until Sunday last, when the vital spark fled. Besides his sister spoken of, he leaves one brother, Harry, of Beach, N. D., to mourn his loss.

The funeral service was conducted at the residence of his sister in Waddington, on Tuesday, and the remains were brought here for interment in Fairview cemetery—Leader.

LIBERAL - CONSERVATIVE MEETING.

A PUBLIC MEETING

Will be held in the

Town Hall, CHESTERVILLE,

—ON—

Monday, September 11

At Eight o'clock in the Evening,
In the interests of the Liberal Conservative Candidate,

MR. ANDREW BRODER.

Mr. Broder will address the meeting on the questions of the day, and it is also expected that MR. GEO. F. JOHNSTON of Montreal, will deliver an address.

All are Cordially Invited.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

G. W. BOGART, Vice-Pres.,
Chesterville.

A labor war is imminent on the Illinois Central owing to the refusal of the railway company to recognize the union.

Ontario Teachers Warned.

Any trustee, teacher, inspector or inspector or officer of the Department of Education of Ontario, who acts as an agent for book concerns or school supply houses will hereafter be penalized severely by the provincial authorities. In the new edition of the regulations just issued by Hon. Dr. Pyne, it is pointed out that a teacher is liable to a fine of $50, a trustee $100, and an inspector $500.

Miss Mabel Sweeney, Soprano, Gold Medalist of Winnipeg Conservatory of music, and Miss Iva Harrison, graduate in elocution, of Ontario Ladies College, at the Music Hall, Tuesday evening Sept. 12th.

Parting Gift to School Principal.

James E. McDonald, who for the past eleven years has been principal of the Cornwall separate schools, is moving to Kingston, where he has secured a similar position. He was given a send off by the separate school ratepayers of Cornwall in the C. M. B. A. Hall, on Monday night, and was presented with a substantial purse and an appropriate address which was read by D. G. McDonell, chairman of the separate school board.

Mr. E. O'Callaghan, ex-warden was in the chair, and congratulatory speeches were made by Rev. Vicar General Corbet, Rev. Corbet McRae, Rev. J. T. McDonell, Dr. Maloney, J. A. Chisholm, Judge O'Reilly, Capt. Malette and J. A. McDougald. Mr. Shea of Athens, is M. McDonald's successor.

Mr. J. B. Harkin is Commissioner of National Parks.

Mr. T. B. Harkin, who for some years has been private secretary to Hon. Frank Oliver, has been appointed commissioner of national parks with headquarters in Ottawa. Heretofore the parks have been under the direction of the forestry department, but a new branch has now been created, and Mr. Harkin will exercise general supervision of it.

The parks and forest reserves are located mainly on the slopes of the Rockies. Mr. J. P. Featherston who for some time has been acting secretary to the minister, is now confirmed in that position.

On Tuesday evening, Sept. 12th the people of Chesterville and vicinity will be given the opportunity of hearing the greatest living exponent of the sweetest musical instrument,—Aptommas is the Paderswiski of the Harp.

M. D. S. Society's Sale.

The M. D. S. Society held a very successful sale on Mrs Soule's lawn on Friday afternoon, Sept. 1st. The lawn and veranda were nicely decorated with flags; a large red one waving from a pole, signifying the sale was in progress.

Light refreshments of lemonade and cake were served. The various tables were a profusion of pretty colors and flowers.

The different tables were presided over by the following.

Fancy work and bags—Nina Merkley, Edith Thompson.

Aprons—Grace Doucett, Nellie Sullivan.

Cakes—Ethel Bogart, Reta Pickering.

Candies—Lottie Merkley, Harriett Whidden.

Lemonade—Hattie Johnson, Pearl Merkley.

Refreshments—Helen Soule, Iva Hamilton.

One of the main attractions to the buyers was that all on sale was made by the young ladies of the Society, and they certainly deserve credit. All the needle work was first class and pretty. The cakes and candy were very tempting and good. It did not take long to dispose of everything at good prices.

The proceeds amounted to fifteen dollars which are to be given to Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

River is Falling and Big Steamers are Endangered.

If the gradual falling of the level of the St. Lawrence river does not cease before the end of the season of navigation, vesselmen say, that big freighters will be in constant danger of grounding as they ply the narrow channels in many places. During the past ten days the river has dropped three inches and wind from the south-east Friday and Saturday caused a further drop, but this was only temporary. Cottagers up the river say that rocks are sticking out of the water that they never saw before.

Giles—McMillan.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 2, when Edwin Ferguson Giles of Montreal and Miss Florence McMillan, formerly of Finch, Ont. but now of Emerson, Man., were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at the parsonage, No. 352 Wardlow Avenue, Winnipeg. Rev. Duncan McRae, also formerly of Finch, but now pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, Win. officiated. The bride was given away by her mother and only members of the family were present. Mr. and Mrs Giles are spending their honey-moon at Deer Lodge and upon their return expect to reside in Winnipeg.

France—Paris—He is a most brilliant artist, and richly merits the title given to him. "The king of harpists," for his command of the instrument is simply marvellous. No one can fully appreciate the tenderness and exquisite melody of the harp without having heard it played by the greatest of its living masters—Galignani.

Confesses to Burglary.

A series of burglaries in Brockville lately has been traced by the police to John Healey and W. Burns, two local characters. The capture of Healey has been effected and he makes a clean breast of his wrong-doing. Most of the booty was secured from persons to whom it was sold for whiskey. Burns is still at large.

Schools Opened.

On account of the new Continuation not being ready for occupancy, the same rooms are being occupied in the Public School, with Mr. W. T. Baker as principal and Miss Mamie Dwyer as assistant.

The Public School opened on Tuesday with a fair attendance, with Miss Pearl Beckstead as principal, and Miss Earl and Miss Lawrence of Thamesville as assistants.

The Separate School opened on Tuesday with the same staff of teachers.

A Running Torch.

Joseph Decosse, lot 24, eighth Concession of Lancaster Township, Glengarry county, lost his barn, house, sheds, and all their contents last week in a most peculiar manner. He was hauling in grain, and with a load passed over ground where had been a small fire some time before. The fire must have been smouldering in the ground, and the wheels carried a spark of hot cinder into the grain. In a few minutes the load of grain was ablaze and the frightened team ran away.

Passing the barn and setting it on fire, they continued their mad career till they jammed the burning load between the house and an adjoining shed. All the buildings were thus burned, along with their entire contents and furniture and household effects, hay, grain, farm implements, pigs, poultry, etc. Mr. Decosse's loss will be heavy, as he had only $800 insurance in the Glengarry Farmers' Mutual.

Bogus Car Tickets.

Winnipeg, September 3.—Charles Warren, an agent of the Metropolitan Life Assurance Company in Winnipeg, was arrested yesterday charged with uttering forged documents in the shape of tickets of the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company, and a search of his house on Vicar street revealed a number of packages of tickets, said to be forgeries, amounting to about $1,200. The company claims that in all about fifteen thousand dollars worth of forgeries have been issued.

Warren was a conductor in the employ of the company until the last strike. He did not return to work when it was settled, but went to England. It is said the forgeries were executed there. The police and company officials say that there are others implicated, one of whom is under surveillance. The accused will not receive his preliminary trial till Tuesday.

Brantford Man Killed by Train.

Brantford, Sept. 3.—Mr. Jas. Keirl, a well-known florist, was struck and instantly killed two miles outside of this city on Friday night by a westbound T., H. & B., train. The accident occurred on the level crossing near the Brantford locks. The victim, who was riding a bicycle, had failed to hear the approach of the train. His body was thrown on the pilot and in that position brought into the city. No inquest will be held.

Mr. W. H. Hubbell has accepted the Liberal nomination for West Hastings.

Mrs Annie M. Brown of North Oxford, a woman of 70 years, committed suicide by taking poison.

MANURE SPREADER!

MR. FARMER!

Are you interested in a Spreader. If so, let us show you the latest and most up-to-date Spreader on the market, equipped with the reversible self-sharpening graded flat tooth which will handle all kinds of material with one-third less power than is used on other spreaders. Read the testimonial of one of our most progressive farmers:

F. W. Merkley, Agent, Chesterville.

Copy of Testimonial.

DUNBAR, ONT., Sept. 24th, 1910.

THE FROST & WOOD COMPANY, LTD.

Gentlemen,—Your agent, Mr. F. W. Merkley, of Chesterville, sold me one of your Kemp Spreaders, 70 bushels capacity, on conditions that it worked satisfactorily. I feel, therefore, that it is my duty to let you know how I found the Spreader to work. I may say we took out 140 loads of manure, some coarse and some fine, and after using it to put out those 140 loads I will freely say that your Spreader is a marvellous piece of machinery. We used one team weighing about 2400 lbs., no more, and they did it easily. I consider the Spreader one of the most up-to-date machines on the market, and I would most cheerfully recommend the Kemp Spreader to anyone who wants a first-class article in every respect, and I furthermore give this testimonial unsolicited, and anyone wanting any further information can call and I will freely give them my opinion on it.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

GEORGE CARLYLE, Con. 8, Lot 35, Dunbar, Ont.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency, or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months, residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn the homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his home stead right and cannot take a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $5.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.

EMBROIDERED GOWN.

A Pretty Study in Blue and White For Afternoon Wear.

EMBROIDERED GOWN.

A handsome gown for afternoon wear is shown here. The tunic of chiffon opens like a coat over an under-ship of gray chiffon over blue silk. The two deep bands below are embroidered, not beaded. The deep collar of soft, lustrous silk is fastened at the side with a smart rosette. The hat is of blue straw adorned with sprays of white hyacinth. The checked parasol of blue and white has a band of plain white with black velvet bands and black velvet dots.

CROSS STITCH.

Some Hints For Making This Simple Yet Effective Embroidery.

Cross stitching may be done on canvas of several different degrees of fineness of mesh, a fact which is full of meaning for the worker who wishes to lessen or increase a pattern without harming the symmetry of the design.

The stitches must, of course, be counted on the material itself and on the printed pattern, but by making due allowance for greater or less coarseness in the canvas the above effects can be obtained.

A blunt pointed rug needle and mercerized cotton, which can be doubled when the pattern demands it, are the best implements to employ.

Of course a great deal of the attractiveness of this work depends upon the color effects, due to the color of the canvas and the thread. In general quaint chintz-like shades are best—dull reds, blues and greens, such as those used for Bulgarian embroidery.

It is easy and charming work for a long summer afternoon on the porch or in the hammock under the trees.

CHIPPENDALE REVIVAL.

Popularity of Last Century Models at English Court Its Excuse.

Chippendale furniture is enjoying quite a revival of favor, together with many other artistic fads of the reign of the Georges. King George V. of England is keenly interested in anything that concerns his predecessors, and Windsor castle, which is the favorite residence of the royal couple, contains some fine specimens of the handiwork of the great craftsman.

AT LAST, A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

"Fruit-a-tives Cured Me" Says Mrs. Baxter.

"I was a helpless cripple from Rheumatism for nearly a year. All down the right side, the pain was dreadful and I could not move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians without help.

I saw "Fruit-a-tives" advertised in "The Telegram" and decided to try them. After I had taken one box, I was much better.

When I had taken three boxes, I could use my arm and the pain was almost gone.

After taking five boxes, I was entirely well again. The cure of my case by "Fruit-a-tives" was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me. "Fruit-a-tives" cured me.

MRS. LIZZIE BAXTER.

4 HOME PLACE, TORONTO, Dec. 15, '09.

In hundreds of other cases, "Fruit-a-tives" has given exactly the same satisfactory results because "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest blood purifying medicine in the world. "Fruit-a-tives" the famous fruit medicine regulates kidneys, liver, bowels and skin, and prevents the accumulation of uric acid, which is the prime cause of Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure every case of Rheumatism, when taken according to directions. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The chair illustrated here is a handsome yet typical specimen of Chippendale style, showing the lightness and grace yet strength of the style. The framework is of mahogany. The square chair seat is upholstered in tapestry.

The reproductions of Chippendale workmanship are so accurate and painstaking that, although most of us cannot afford real old Chippendale furniture, these imitations, especially in the form of chairs, are not beyond the means of most.

Whitening the Skin.

There is nothing better than lemon juice for whitening the skin and making it smooth and soft, but it must never be applied undiluted. It is much too strong.

The best lotion to mix with it when it is to be used on the face is rosewater. To three parts of rosewater add one part of lemon juice and with a soft linen rag dab this all over the face. Then rub it gently into the skin until all the moisture is absorbed.

To obtain the effect you desire you should wash your face thoroughly in tepid water in the morning and then apply some of the lemon juice and rosewater lotion. Instead of using soap and water for cleansing during the day, just wipe your face over with the lotion, which you will find quite effectual in removing all the dust.

At night, before retiring, wash your face thoroughly in hot water which has been softened with toilet oatmeal (or ordinary oatmeal tied up in a muslin bag), dry well and then apply some cold cream. Leave this on your skin for five or ten minutes, then wipe it off gently with a soft rag.

Care of the Lips.

Sometimes girls with good lips spoil their beauty by careless little habits of which they are unaware and no one has been kind enough to tell them. A faulty closure of the mouth will alter the entire expression. It gives a look of heavy vacancy and stupidity and is often due to improper breathing. Biting or gnawing the lips or constantly moistening them with the tongue is a bad habit, due sometimes to excessive nervousness, but often to a desire to make the mouth bright red. Such treatment not only makes the lips thick and colorless, but the delicate muscles become distorted and twisted, or a protruding mouth is the result. A few minutes' study before the mirror will show just how to hold the lips in order to preserve their free, delicate curves.

MRS. W. E. COREY.

The princely hospitality of the William Ellis Coreys is the wonder of Paris, where people seldom wonder at anything.

Since she married the steel king, Mr. Corey, the former prima donna, Miss Mabelle Gilman, has developed into a great social leader in Paris, where her entertainments are attended by royalty. Recently she gave a grand fete at her Chateau de Villegenis, formerly the home of Jerome Bonaparte, king of Westphalia. In order to make her guests comfortable she had the lawns artificially cooled by ice. Among those present were the Grand Duke Boris of Russia, on his way to the coronation; the crown prince of Greece and Grand Duke George of Leuchtenberg. The Grand Duke Boris so far unbent his dignity as to give some specimens of Russian fancy dancing. Mrs. Corey also danced. Since they have lived in Paris the Coreys have given a series of these magnificent and costly entertainments which surpass anything ever seen in that city.

LOVE'S DEBT.

Some Things a Good Daughter Owes Her Mother.

What does a girl "owe" her mother? To manifest an interest in whatever affects or amuses her.

To seek the mother's comfort and pleasure in all things before one's own.

Not to forget, though she may be old and wrinkled, she still loves pretty things.

To make her simple gifts, and be sure that they are appropriate and tasteful.

To remember she is still a girl at heart, so far as delicate little attentions are concerned.

To lift the many burdens from shoulders that have grown stooped, perhaps, in waiting upon her girls and in working for them.

Never by word or deed to signify that the daughter's word and hers differ or that one feels the mother is out of date.

To study her tastes and habits, her likes and dislikes, and cater to them in an unobtrusive way.

To bear patiently with all her peculiarities and infirmities, which, after all, may be the result of a life of care and toil.

To defer to her opinions, even if they do seem antiquated, and not obtrusively to possess the wisdom of one's college education.

To do one's best in keeping the mother youthful in appearance as well as in spirit by overseeing her costume and the little details of her toilet.

Not to shock her by turning into ridicule her religious prejudices if they happen to be at variance with one's own advanced views.

To introduce to her one's friends and enlist her sympathies in one's projects, hopes and plans.

BUNGALOW BOOKSHELF.

A Convenience For the Summer Camp or Cottage.

A bookshelf of this sort, which may be purchased at any department store, is of great convenience for the bachelor's den or for the man who goes camping during the summer. It is equally satisfactory to the housekeeper who is spending a few weeks or months in some scantily furnished room or cottage at the seashore or mountains. The shelf may be used as a china closet, a magazine rack, a book or medicine case. The ends of the lower shelf will just hold a tobacco jar, and the rack underneath may be used for pipes. As these shelves may be taken apart and packed into a small space they may be easily carried in a trunk, and so are available in cases where it is not convenient to take much luggage with one.

RECIPROCITY.

No general Election has ever been called for in the Dominion of Canada on so clear cut and important a question as that which now appeals to the electors of this county.

It is no question of party traditions or ancient prejudices but a question of live issues and material interests affecting every class of the people of our Dominion. Fortunately there is no question of either religion or race involved, for all races among us and all religious bodies are alike concerned in the general welfare of the Dominion.

Some are trying to raise the question of Loyalty, but that is purely for the purpose of exciting party feelings and diverting the minds of the people from the main issue. We may well assume that all parties are equally loyal to the Dominion and to the British Crown. Those who are not so are unworthy of consideration in any case and if there are any traitors among us our best arguments would be wasted on them for they could not be convinced. It is best to assume that there are none. In fact the nearest to a traitor that we know of is the man who sells his vote, and it is to be hoped that there are very few of such.

Again, some say "We are prosperous now and why throw our prosperity away to the United States?"

This is a straight case of begging the question, or, taking for granted the very thing to be proved. Let it be understood, once and for all, that we are aiming at what will not only maintain our prosperity but increase it. The question is one of judgment, as to which is the better course to that end.

However well we are prospering at present, true prosperity means constant improvement: Progress is the only way of true and permanent prosperity. "Let well enough alone" is a doctrine which would paralyze the hand of genius and stop the process of invention at once. In our electric and all mechanical contrivances we try to produce something better each year, or if possible each day, than what we had before. In the practical world a premium is constantly placed on any sort of improvement. And when an improvement is discovered, it is at once adopted without a bit of regret that it displaces what we thought was very good before. True, when the telescope was invented the men who invented it was put to death as a wizard? but that was in the middle ages. We are past that day now. Even old China has ceased to say "Let well enough alone" and is eagerly seeking for the path of progress.

It is then a straight question as to which is best for the prosperity of our country. Let this question be kept free from party, race and religious prejudices: and let him hide his head in shame whom would dare to say that our young Dominion has reached the end of her development and that she is now ready to become fossilised and dead to progress.

Let us drop all narrow and bigoted views in regard to international relations and bear in mind that we are dealing with a people who are of our own stock. We are sprung from the same root. We have the same language. We have the same traditions. We have the same Religion: We have almost the same Natural Resources: and to a great extent the same Industries. Our Ideals and Ambitions closely resemble one another. In fact we are destined to be friendly rivals, though keen competitors with one another.

And yet there are such distinct differences that no one thinks of either absorption nor annexation as questions that come within the range of consideration any more.

Speaking in a practical way, the chief difference between us at the present time is that one country is farther developed than the other. As to Population, and, as to Commercial and Industrial organization, our neighbors to the South of us, are perhaps about half a century ahead of us. But who would say that even now they are ahead of us in regard to Natural resources? Let any man of common sense look at the two countries to-day and say whether it is at all likely that Canada would import from the United States anything in the way of Natural products that would be worth speaking of. On the contrary, is it not plain and natural that such products would be inclined to pass from the country of greatest resources to the country of greatest population? In other words is it not evident that Canada would find a ready market for her surplus of natural products on the side of the line where the larger industrial development has created the larger demand? And yet the adjustment of our supplies with our neighbor will always be a mere secondary item of commerce, for our natural channel of trade will be East and Westward, with the countries of Europe and Asia. In this we shall be friendly but keen rivals in every stage of our development.

How fortunate we are that both we and our neighbors have plenty of splendid all-the-year ports on both the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts and that the line that divides us runs East and West so that we each have a fair chance to deal with the whole world. And we Canadians are rapidly coming to hold our own in this legitimate world wide trade. In the natural order of things, before this century is half out, we shall have a commercial fleet and a volume of trade that will astonish the world. That is if we but live up to our privileges?

On this boundary line running between us, there should be a tariff wall only on such products as should reasonably be taxed. To maintain more than this is to create labor, expense and ill feeling for no good reason.

Industrial products, being more fully developed and better advanced on the South of the line than on the North, should still be taxed. And so should such other articles as are not equitably distributed, but the day is past when two peoples, naturally friendly, and having many interests in common can be kept in mutual suspicion and antagonism by mere political agitation. The day is come when just such an agreement as that now before us is in order as one of the great national and international movements which cannot be reasonably opposed, and can only be delayed by wilful and bigoted resistance.

Let us not therefore lose this opportunity to place ourselves and our country in line with the true march of progress.

DUNBAR.

One by one the old land marks are passing beyond the bonds of time. On Tuesday morning, Aug. 29th, Mr. Cyrus Utman passed to the great beyond, aged 85 years. His wife predeceased him nearly seven years ago. Mr. Utman leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Mrs. William Barkley who lives two miles east of Elma, and Mrs. Martha Miller of Dunbar, also four grand children and two brothers and one sister, viz., Mr. C. Utman of Lowell, Mass. and Mr. Uria Utman of Ottawa, Mrs. Albert Barkley, who lives one mile east of Elma. Mr. Utman has had to keep his bed for the past six months although not suffering much pain. His was a gentle wearing out of life. He had farmed nearly all his life in this section and was a very quiet man, never one to make an enemy, but many friends.

The funeral was held in the Lutheran church here on Thursday morning, where a large gathering of friends and neighbors came to pay their last respects to the departed. His pastor, Rev. Hahan, also Rev. Dennig of Williamsburg, conducted the services. Rev. Dennig preached from second Timothy 4th chapter and 7th verse, and spoke very highly of the departed. The friends who attended from a distance were; Mr. James Utman of Winchester, Mr. Uria Utman of Ottawa, Miss Lucy Barkley of Winchester Springs, Mr. Chas. Reddick and little daughter of Morrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barkley of Bouck's Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Dillabough of Chesterville.

Woman Suicided.

Ingersoll, Ont. Sept. 3--Mrs. Annie M. Brown, 76 years of age, committed suicide in North Oxford on Saturday by swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid. At 12 o'clock she was found unconscious at the side of the road by Waldo Turner of Beachville. She was conveyed to the home of Wm. McGhee, Governor's road, and expired before medical assistance arrived.

Thieves in Custody.

Sunday morning at eight o'clock Chief Burke received a telephone message from Addison that during night the residences of Henry Hollingsworth, proprietor of the Palace cheese factory and James Lee farmer were entered and each ransacked. The message also stated that $50.00, four shirts, pair of boots and rifle had been taken and Mr. Lee's overcoat, bed tick, can of syrup and other articles from the residence of Mr. Hollingsworth.

The Chief and Constable Glazier secured an automobile and after proceeding two miles along the Perth road, apprehended two suspicious looking men making towards Brockville each on a bicycle.

The strangers gave the names of Wm. Dego, aged 25, and Chas. Cranston, age 22, and St. Paul, Minn. as the home of each. When searched the bed tick, syrup, overcoat, boots and other articles, were found on them and they owned up to the robberies. They were brought here, locked up and yesterday morning remanded for one week.

When questioned as to where they secured the bicycles Dego and Cranston said they were purchased by them in Cornwall--Brockville Recorder.

Turned Back at Border.

St. Catharines Ont. Sept. 5--The limit has been reached in cases of discourtesy at the boundary line at Niagara Falls, according to a story of Mrs. Eberhardt, of this city. She is seventy-eight years of age, but is quite capable of getting around and is well dressed. On Sunday evening she took a Grand Trunk train here to visit a sick sister in Buffalo, and at the International Bridge an inspector ordered her off the train and into his office, where she was severely cross-examined. She showed the officer her return ticket as proof that she intended to return, but she was not believed. Suddenly under stress of the ordeal, she swooned away, and instead of caring for Mrs. Eberhardt, she declares that she was locked in the inspector's office all night, and that next morning she was sent back to St. Catharines.

ABOUT MILK FEVER.

Symptoms, Prevention and Cure of This Disease.

Milk fever is invariably confined to the improved and high producing cows. The causes of this disease are due to the high production of milk and to calving, and the symptoms are very easily determined, says Hoard's Dairyman. Usually there is a sudden loss of voluntary movement and dullness and hanging of the head in the stall. When the cow attempts to move her steps are unsteady and she often staggers. She will not notice her calf or her feed. In time she becomes so weak that she falls and is unable to rise. Her head is usually thrown to her side. The animal may become so bad that she will lie on her side with her head extended. The animal becomes numb, and pricking

The general appearance of an Ayrshire as you look at her is striking, being alert and full of life and reserved energy. She is a healthy cow, rarely having ailments of body and udder, and you seldom see an Ayrshire cow but that has four healthy quarters in her udder and gives a uniform quantity of milk from each. She is a very persistent milker, giving a uniform quantity well up toward calving, and many of them are dried off with difficulty. As a dairy cow she is particularly adapted to the production of milk for the milkman and for table use, as her medium size, vigorous appetite and easy keeping qualities make her an economical producer, while her even, uniform production makes her a reliable supply. The Ayrshire cow shown is McAllister's Betty. She has a record of 14,203 pounds of milk and 689 pounds of butter fat as a three-year-old.

the skin with a good sized pin brings no response. The breathing is quicker and becomes more or less violent as the case advances.

Since the discovery of the air treatment for milk fever dairymen are little concerned about this once dreaded disease. It is prudent for any dairyman to have instruments always ready for the purpose of giving the air treatment, which is very simple and can be performed by any one in a few moments.

When it is observed that a cow is suffering from milk fever her teats should be thoroughly washed with soap and water and rinsed, especially the ends, with a solution of coal tar product, such as zenoleum, lysol, etc. A piece of heavy sheeting, which has been placed in a hot oven for a short time, should be placed under the udder. The instrument used for inflating the udder with air should be placed in boiling water for a few minutes. Care should be taken not to place the fingers on the portion of the tube to be inserted in the end of the teat. Infection is likely to follow, unless care is taken to thoroughly sterilize the portion of the instrument that is inserted in the teat and to keep the teats from coming in contact with the bedding or dirt of the stable after they are thoroughly washed and disinfected.

Each quarter of the udder should be inflated with air, and to keep it in the udder small rubber bands or tape may be wound about each teat. As a rule, in an hour or two the animal will recover sufficiently to rise and will have a desire to eat. If she does not the treatment should be repeated in two or three hours.

The air treatment is almost a positive cure for milk fever, but there is danger of infecting the udder unless care is taken to thoroughly sterilize the instrument used for inflating the udder with air and the teats before starting to inflate the udder.

Air Sickness.

Most everybody knows about seasickness, and its kindred woes that come from riding in trains or climbing mountains, but very few know what it is to be airsick, the aviator's ailment. Air sickness, as experienced by aviators, is quite different from ordinary mountain sickness. It is well known that many mountain climbers experience a certain sickness when reaching an elevation of 6,000 feet.

Aviators are affected in a similar way, but much sooner, when they have reached heights of, say, only 3,000 feet to 4,000 feet. The respiration is shortened, the pulse beats quicker, and headache follows. A general feeling of sickness is the result, and the stomach is sometimes upset.

The dangers of high flying, therefore, are immensely increased, as the aviator has not only to manage the equilibrium of his machine and watch the motor, but has also to battle against physiological difficulties which are almost insurmountable. The air sickness reaches its maximum, not when rising, but when descending.

Rest the Milk Maker.

A cow should have at least six weeks vacation between milking periods. If she is milked constantly she will not last long.

THE FARM DOCTOR.

Overheated Horse.—Clip the horse and work him only in the cool of the morning and evening. Do not feed any bulky food at noon, and do not feed corn in summer.

Ringbone.—If a fore foot is involved unnering will be necessary, as other treatment rarely removes the lameness. If it is a hind pastern have it punctured and blistered by a veterinarian and then allow six weeks' rest in stall.

Thrush.—Cut away all loose and underrun horn of the sole and frog and clean out the cleft of the frog. Then pack with calomel once a day, and use oakum or cotton pledgets to keep it in place. Keep the stable floor perfectly clean and dry.

Warts on Teat.—Twist out any wart that has a narrow base. Then stop bleeding by lightly applying a red hot iron. Rub all other warts twice daily with the best cold pressed castor oil, and they will gradually disappear.

DINED WITH HIS DOGS.

An Eccentric English Earl Who Had Some Queer Habits.

Early in the last century there lived in Paris an eccentric English nobleman, Francis Henry Egerton, Earl of Bridgewater, who was as polite as he was queer. His great fortune enabled him to gratify every whim, and some of his performances were the talk of a city where things have to be more than usually bizarre to attract notice.

Egerton was a great reader and, although he had a fine library, frequently borrowed books from his acquaintances. The return of these volumes was always an affair of extraordinary pomp and circumstance. Two stately steeds would be harnessed to an open carriage, upon the seat of which would repose the book, attended by four coachmen, who would solemnly leave the same at the door of its astonished owner.

Egerton's love for dogs was his most prominent characteristic. He possessed any number of them, and frequently his carriage would be seen on the street filled with a yelping pack of thoroughbreds. Although Egerton seldom entertained any of his friends at dinner, he frequently had a dozen or more covers laid and gave an elaborate banquet to his dogs. Egerton's were so well trained that they obeyed to the letter a set of rules for canine table manners laid down by the master.

Egerton was especially particular about his boots and kept several shoemakers busy. He never wore a pair more than once, but did not discard the old ones. These were ranged in rows on shelves, and their owner professed to tell the day of the year by their state of preservation.

The dogs also had boots, and the earl paid as much for them as he did for his own. Every animal was measured and had "lasts" of its four feet made.

An Invisible Uniform.

"Probability of much night fighting in future wars gives added value to the new gray uniform of the German soldiers," says the Army and Navy Journal. "While this attire proved its superior invisibility at the recent manoeuvres during the daytime, it was in the night fighting that its effectiveness was best demonstrated. In daylight men engaged in patrol duty and security service were unseen by the enemy, but those in dark blue in the hostile forces at once drew their fire. Numerous fights took place at night with searchlights, and then it was found that the gray was universally appreciated. Troops wearing the old uniform were clearly visible on the ground, even when lying down, while those in gray were extremely difficult to discover, even when in close order. It is obvious that any color harmonizing with the paleness of artificial night light will be more effective as a shield from detection. It has been estimated that if one of the combatants at Port Arthur during the Manchurian war had had the German type of gray uniform it would have had a decided advantage over its adversary in the continued night fighting that occurred around that fortress."

Scarlet Sage.

A splendid plant for summer bedding which thrives in the full sun is Salvia splendens, or scarlet sage. Plants may be obtained from florists and can be set out now. Plant them in masses or in borders. If the latter there should be a dark background to bring out the full splendor of the scarlet blossoms. The flowers are of a most brilliant red and the foliage of a light green. There are several named varieties which may be procured. The best grow to a height of a foot and a half to two feet at the time of blooming.

EARNINGS AT BISLEY

WHAT A GOOD MARKSMAN CAN WIN AT MEET.

The Promoters In Charge of the Great Imperial Shooting Matches Provide Prizes for Every Sort of Skill In Marksmanship From Mere Beginners to Old Seasoned Experts—Miniature Rifle Competitions.

Fifty years ago the National Rifle Association was founded to encourage rifle shooting amongst volunteers throughout the British Empire. In that year—1860—the number of prizes offered was sixty-seven, the total value of which amounted to £2,238. Last year the total had reached 6,663, valued at no less than £15,502 12s. 5d., an increase which proves the popularity of the N.R.A. meetings.

While, however, the primary object of the N.R.A. was to encourage shooting amongst service men, it has also offered every encouragement to the civilian rifleman. There are some fifty competitions for revolver and rifle shooting open to all comers—ladies as well as gentlemen—with prizes ranging from 10s. to £30 and £40 each. Further still, there are competitions for beginners. There is the Revolver Tyro Competition, for instance, in which, for an entrance fee of 2s., competitors stand a chance of winning cases of revolvers valued at from £6 to £8. In another revolver tyro competition cash prizes to the extent of £30 are offered for the same entrance fee, six shots in each case being allowed, at a distance of 20yds. from a stationary target.

For beginners in rifle-shooting there is the Spectators' Rifle Club's Tyro Competition, in which the first prize is five rifles, and the Handsword Tyro Competition, in which the first prize is a rifle and £20. In the latter competition 100 prizes, valued at £180, are offered, but in each case a competitor must be a member of the Territorials or a member of a rifle club affiliated to the N.R.A. A competitor is regarded as a tyro providing he has not won a prize valued at £2 or upwards at one of the annual prize meetings of the association.

Perhaps one of the most interesting Bisley competitions for civilian members of rifle clubs is that for the Donegal Challenge Cup. Every year the National Rifle Association present to the best shot in every rifle club in the kingdom what is known as the Donegal badge, and it is only winners of these badges who may compete for the Challenge Cup and the 122 other prizes, ranging in value from £1 to £10, and gold and silver badges. The winners are decided on the aggregate points scored at 300 yards and 600 yards, seven shots being allowed at the the first-mentioned distance and ten at the latter. The entrance fee is five shillings.

Altogether there are six special competitions open to miniature rifle shots, one of which—the "Ladies"—is open to the fair sex only. In this competition ten shots are allowed at 50 yards, three souvenir prizes being given by the N.R.A. Of the other competitions for miniature rifles, the most popular are the "Two-Twenty" and the "Hindhead," which prizes ranging from 5s. to £5 are offered, the entrance fee in each case being 1s. The popularity of these competitions may be judged from the fact that last year there were 343 entries for the "Hindhead" and 400 for the "Two-Twenty."

In regard to the service rifle competitions, it is interesting to note that no fewer than 1,195 crack shots entered for the King's Prize last year. The entrance fee is 2s., the prizes, of which there are 400, amounting to £2,220. The lowest prize is £2 and the highest £250, given by His Majesty, and a gold medal.

This competition is open only to Territorials and retired Territorials, but there are several others in which good prizes are offered, and which are open to all comers. The civilian who fancies his skill with the service rifle might, for instance, enter the Stock Exchange competition, which is open to all British subjects, the entrance fee being but 5s. There are 188 prizes to be won in this competition, the lowest being £1 and the highest £20. Nearly 1,300 competitors entered this competition last year, and there were over 1,200 entries for each of The Daily Telegraph and Graphic Cups. In each of these competitions, which are open to all comers, 131 prizes are offered, valued at £350; so that there is plenty of scope for prize winners.

Another excellent competition is the Alexandra, in which £1,000 is divided into 325 prizes. Any man can enter by paying an entrance fee of one guinea, and is allowed seven shots at 200 yards and 600 yards respectively. Many rifleman enter the four competitions—the Alexandra, Daily Graphic, Daily Telegraph and Graphic—in order to try and secure the £250 challenge cup which is offered to the competitor whose respective scores in the four competitions make up the highest aggregate. There are 124 additional prizes offered in what is known as the "All Comers' Aggregate."

Naturally the question arises, does it pay the civilian rifleman of average skill to expend money in entrance fees in these competitions in the hope of winning a pound here and there? It all depends, of course, on the man's skill with the rifle. He must be a bit above the average if he intends to clear his expenses. A skillful shot can not only do this and have an enjoyable time at Bisley, but may return with £15 or £20 in his pocket; for, as has already been pointed out there are close upon 6,000 prizes to be won, and competitions are arranged to suit practically every class of shot.—London Tit-Bits.

Foiled Again.
"You are false!" he hissed. "You are the artificial product of the artificial age. Even your figure is not your own."
"Liar!" she cried triumphantly. "I paid the last instalment on it this morning."
He slunk away.

Real Hades.
The golf bug's soul came back from a little range around Satan's preserve with a smile as wide as the Amazon river. "I say," it exclaimed, "I don't call this much of a hell. They have the finest golf course out there I ever saw in my life."

A droll-looking old soul who was sitting on the safety valve looked up. "But did you see anybody playing on it?" he asked.
"No," the newcomer admitted. "I didn't."
The old-timer chuckled. "That's it," he said. "He won't let anybody play on it."

Price Set on Shah's Head.
The price of $100,000 has been set on the head of Persia's ex-Shah, and one of $25,000 each on the heads of Salared Dowleh and Shua es Sultaneh, the two Kadjar princes who are his principal supporters. Evidently the Persians fully intend that the head of their former ruler shall not rest easy even though it no longer wears a crown.

Eskimo Mourning Customs.
All Eskimos are superstitious about death, and, although they hold festivals in memory of departed friends, they will usually carry a dying person to some abandoned hut, there to drag out his remaining days without food, medicine, water or attendance. After the death of a husband or a wife the survivor cuts the front hair short and fasts for twenty-five days.

Unwise Neglect.
The girl who tans or freckles easily must never neglect her complexion for a single day in summer. Summer freckles are not so bad as the permanent variety, but both can and should be avoided.

It is advisable to go collarless in summer both to give the throat a little freedom from restraint and also to allow the neck to tan, so that the dreadful line between sunburn and white skin is safely avoided.

The present pretty fashion of collarless frocks is a boon to the girl who wishes to develop a well rounded throat. Linen collars will line the neck. Any tight or stiff collar will spoil the contour unless constant massage with a soothing cream is persisted in.

Puffy Eyes.
Puffiness under the eyes is usually caused by late hours or eye strain. Apply the following eye wash to the eyes twice a day: Ten grains borax, one ounce camphor water—not spirits of camphor. An outward application to the skin beneath the eyes will also assist in removing the puffiness. To this mix together twenty grains of tannic acid with one ounce of pure glycerin and paint the skin beneath the lower lid, using a fine camel's hair brush. Accompany this treatment with a course of gentle massage to the skin around the eyes and in a short time all traces of the trouble will have disappeared.

Care of the Feet.
A thing that is most important in care of the feet while traveling is the daily and even twice daily change of stockings. Guides who conduct tramping parties through the woods insist that each tramp shall carry several pairs of fresh stockings, and when a stop is made beside a stream the feet are bathed in the cool water and the stockings changed. It is said that in this way one may walk many more miles.

Lavender Water.
To make lavender water purchase the dried flowers and also a few drops of the essential oil. Steep the flowers in alcohol, keeping the bottle closely corked. In a few weeks pour off the liquid and add more alcohol. The same flowers will make double the quantity. A little essential oil should be added. It is not expensive and makes the water exquisitely fragrant.

For the Eyelashes.
To increase the growth of the eyelashes, making them long and thick, use the following lotion: Sulphate of quinine, five grains; sweet almond oil, one ounce. Mix well. Apply to the extreme edge of the eyelids, using a very fine camel's hair brush and taking care not to get the oil into the eyes.

Eyebrow Tonic.
Formula for an eyebrow tonic: One ounce of vaseline, one-half dram tincture of cantharides and eight drops each of oils of lavender and rosemary. After washing the face smooth the eyebrows carefully with an eyebrow brush upon which a drop of the tonic has been placed.

FEMININE CODE OF HONOR.

Is It a Fact That Men Don't Expect Women to Be Strictly Square?

It cannot be denied, gravely asserts a well-known writer, that the standards of honor maintained by women are just a trifle less keen than those of men. Insulting though it may appear to them, we do not expect or exact from women the same degree of strictness in matters even of common honesty, as from our fellow men. Take, for instance, cards. Any man who is caught playing unfairly, or is even suspected of so doing, is irremediably doomed to social perdition and subjected to the most frightful kind of ostracism.

Yet dishonesty of this character on the part of a pretty woman, or even when the offender is an unattractive old dowager, excites only our mildest astonishment or our good-humored amusement. The only one who shows resentment is the other woman at the table, whose anger and scathing contempt are undisguised and who may be trusted to make the most of the offense.

It would be going a great deal too far to allege that we expect unfair play when we have a woman as partner or as opponent. Still, if we detect her in any sharp practice, we are not precisely surprised, and if the truth were told, do not think much the worse of her for it. No man would ever show himself so lamentably deficient in gallantry as to look for the payment of any bet that a lady had done him the honor to lose to him, and it would be equally bad form for him to suggest the return of cash advances that she had condescended to accept at his hands.

Woman's stories and her statements are usually considered by the sterner sex as infinitely more creditable to her power of picturesque imagination than to her notions of exactitude—the latter not being regarded as her forte—and an impression prevails to the effect that she is even more artistic and deft in the embroidery of facts than in her embroidery of textile fabrics.

Indeed, the only time when we are ready to accord to her unrestricted confidence and belief is when either for the purpose of making us look foolish or with some more serious object of her own in view, she tells us pretty and pleasant things about ourselves.

The women themselves recognize their shortcomings in this respect. Is not one of their favorite and stock phrases when they wish to inspire us with confidence, "You know, in questions of honor, I have the same ideas as a man"; ergo, "I am exempt from the shortcomings of my sex in the matter." And do not they repeatedly express the conviction that this or that piece of meanness "can only have been perpetrated by a woman?"

His Proclamations.

A divorce trial in Paris which was decided a few weeks ago brought to light this remarkable situation: The husband, a bank employe, decided in 1908 to cease speaking to his wife and to make his wishes known by "proclamations" which he fastened to the wall of their living room. The first of them was to the effect that every husband should pay his share of the living expenses, but no more. "I shall pay my half; my wife must pay her share," he wrote. "To prove expense account correct, bills must be shown. I shall take my meals out of the house and when inclined to eat at home shall provide the material and do the cooking." The proclamations also contained lectures on moral questions and threats of punishment. According to the deposition of the wife, the last one read, "Adele, I'm going away." The court gave the woman her freedom.

A Little Too Absentminded.

Jimmy Ryan was very absentminded, and his friends loved to tell stories of his misadventures. You would hear one morning that Ryan had gone home the evening before, walked into the boarding-house next his own under the impression that he was home, had sat down at the table and had not aroused from his abstraction until some one had called his attention to the mistake.

But the best story of all was put over the day after Ryan's wedding. This was an evening affair.

"They drove away from the church," said the narrator, "and over to the new house that had been all fixed up for them. When they got to the door Ryan helps her out tenderly and leads her up to the door and talks to her a minute. Then he shakes hands with her and says, 'Well, good night, Lucy.' 'Good night?' says she inquiringly. 'Yes,' says he, 'I guess it's time I was going home now.' 'Why, Jimmy Ryan, you big it,' she says, 'wake up. You live here now.'"

Shorthand Pioneer.

That the ancients were thoroughly conversant with shorthand is an undisputed fact. It subsequently became a lost art until revived or rediscovered toward the end of the sixteenth century. At this time there lived William Lawrence, who died in 1621 and was buried in the cloister of Westminster Abbey. There the visitor may read his epitaph, which includes the following lines:

Shorthand he wrote; his flower in prime did fade,
And hasty death short hand of him hath made.

Bad Actor But Clever Thief.

Edward Bergeron, of Brockville, was arrested at Cornwall on Friday afternoon by Chief of Police Smyth, on the charge of stealing a travelling bag worth $21, a set of ebony brushes, a suit of clothes, which he was wearing, and various other articles. The Brockville police were notified and Chief Burke came after Bergeron this morning. He had a loaded revolver in his pocket. Chief Burke says that Bergeron, who hails from Montreal, is a bad actor. A watch and a Gillette safety razor outfit, which he sold here, were recovered. The theft was made in a Brockville boarding house, and Bergeron donning the stolen suit, hat and boots, walked out of the door as the Brockville police came in looking for him as he was wanted in Montreal on another charge. They did not recognize him in the stolen clothes.

Mr. Bourassa has come out against reciprocity, and now the platforms of the Conservatives and Nationalists in Quebec are nearly the same.

She Got the Soul.

There was a bashful young man who was invited to a dinner party and was paired with the prettiest woman in the room. His seat at the table was in front of the roast fowl, which he was to carve. And there was also a fried sole in front of him. And he had never done a lick of carving in his life, for he was a bachelor.

But he made the best of the situation by asking the lady at his side what she would have.

"A little of the sole," she replied. He began to cut off a slice of the chicken's breast.

"No, no—the sole," she whispered. Now, where was the soul of a hen? He thought for a minute, and then attacked the wing.

"The sole, the sole!" cried the lady. He looked for the feet, but no soles were left, so he tried a drumstick. But she still shook her head and said, "No, I only want a piece of the sole."

Then did this young man rise in his wrath, stick a fork through the fowl and put it all on the woman's plate. "Take it," he shouted — "take it, body, soul and all!"

Then he helped himself to the fish.

Get Married.

Dr. Jacques Bertillon, the eminent French physician, has reached the conclusion that matrimony is the greatest aid to longevity. This, he says, is established by statistics gleaned from all over the world. A married man or woman has thrice the chance of a good long life as a bachelor or a spinster. In further illustration of this contention the doctor shows that the mortality among widowers is greater than the average among married men. So he recommends them to look out for a new partner—that is, if they are under 60. This is his advice to young men: "Marry; you will do well, even from a selfish standpoint. But watch carefully over your wife's health, as even from this egotistical point of view her loss will be a terrible misfortune, for your life depends in a great measure on hers."

Telephoning In China.

In China when the subscriber rings up exchange the operator may be expected to ask:

"What number does the honorable son of the moon and stars desire?"

"Hohi, two-three."

Silence. Then the exchange resumes: "Will the honorable person graciously forgive the inadequacy of the insignificant service and permit this humble slave of the wire to inform him that the never-to-be-sufficiently-censured line is busy?"

Didn't Have to Ask.

Brown was in a terrible hurry to be at his club. He had been patiently sitting for a considerable time, and then, getting exasperated, he poked the conductor in the ribs with his umbrella, saying, "Hi, conductor, is this bus going on?"

"No, sir!" replied the conductor. "It is standing perfectly still."

Ostrich Dogs.

Collie dogs are used to herd ostriches in South Africa and perform the work with great sagacity. The birds are savage when breeding and will attack any man or animal that interferes with them, but are strangely cowed in the presence of the dogs.
