Barns Burned at Melvin

During an electrical storm on Friday last the barns of Mr. James Shaw were struck by lightning and burned, together with this season's crop of hay, also his implement shed with all his machinery, as well as his hen house, some hens and pigs. It was only by the earnest efforts of the people that the houses of Mr. Shaw and Mr. Wilson were saved as both of them took fire several times. The loss is partly covered by insurance. Barns on the same foundation were struck by lightning and burned seventeen years ago.

Young Man Attempts Suicide

Orvall Duvall of Mariatown, aged 19 years, who had been employed by Miles Marcellus of Dunbar, decamped on Friday last taking with him twenty-three dollars of his employer's money, going to Iroquois where he was arrested by Constable Burnett of Morrisburg on Saturday and taken to Morrisburg where he was locked up. While under detention at Morrisburg he was presented by a friend with a bottle of ice water for drinking purposes. During the night he smashed the bottle using the broken pieces in an attempt to commit suicide inflicting seven gashes in his throat. His wounds were attended to by Dr. Mulloy and are not expected to prove serious. He is now in Cornwall awaiting trial.

George Alex Carlyle

News of the death of George Alex Carlyle came unexpectedly to his many friends in this vicinity on Wednesday afternoon August 11th, when he passed away at his home near Dunbar, at the age of 36 years 6 months. Although not in the best of health for a few months he was able to be about until a few days before his death. Deceased was for many years a faithful member of Presbyterian church and choir. The funeral service was held at the home on Friday, Aug. 13th, at 1.30 being conducted by Rev. C. A. Mullin. Interment was made in the family plot at Williamsburg. He is survived by his father, George M. Carlyle, three sisters Mrs. Harold Johnston, Misses Bessie and Eva and two brothers John and Kenneth all of Dunbar. Among the beautiful flowers was a sheaf from the choir.

Morrisburg Hard Losers

The crowd at the Farmers' Field Day at Finch, yesterday afternoon were introduced to the brand of baseball and sportsmanship evidently prevailing in the bush league where Morrisburg is straining every nerve to reach the top. With every break against the Chesterville Leafs they played the Morrisburg bunch to a standstill when their pitcher Herm Hummel quit cold in the first half of the eighth innings, after Chesterville had scored two runs and had a man on third and second with one man out and McCloskey up. McCloskey had hit every time at bat and was just in position to slam out another and win the game when Hummel hoisted the white flag and quit. Up to the end of the seventh Morrisburg had the Leafs at 3 to 0 although the latter were hitting Hummel much harder than Senecal was being touched up.

The cause of all the trouble was the agreement by Morrisburg not to pitch their professional, Mallen. When Hummel quit this was attempted but disallowed by the sports management resulting in the game being unfinished.

Thirtieth Anniversary of Morewood W.M.S.

On the afternoon of August 5th a most interesting gathering took place on Mrs. Alex Dillabough's lawn to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the W.M.S. Auxiliary Morewood Presbyterian congregation. The lawn was made very comfortable with chairs and tables, and decorated with flowers and flags, while in a central position was hung a banner, inscribed "The World for Christ".

A large number, about 80, were assembled, and took part in the proceedings, which were gracefully conducted by Mrs. R. Rainey, Vice-President of the Society.

After the hymn, "Arm of the Lord, Awake", and the repetition of the Lord's Prayer, Mrs. T. E. Coulthart gave a most helpful, Bible Reading on "Prayer and what we accomplish by it", showing that unless prayer accomplishes something for ourselves or others, it is useless; but emphasizing the fact that what it accomplishes may often not be fully realized till the future life.

Mrs. G. C. Cheney then led in prayer, and after the minutes had been read and approved, a committee was appointed to pack a bale of goods for the North-West, and the offering was received amounting to $23.00.

Little Sadie Stein now came forward and recited a piece entitled "God is counting on you". The next item on the programme was an historical sketch of the Society, entitled "30 years in retrospect" by Mrs. Robert Rainey, one of the few remaining charter members of the Society.

Letters of greeting were read from Mrs. K. A. Gollan, now of Lucknow, Mrs. George Moffatt, Vernon, B. C.; Mrs. Robt. Empey, Winchester; and Mrs. W. Gillespie of Chesterville, which were greatly appreciated by every one.

Members of the Mission Band then sang heartily a helpful hymn "Working together", and Mrs. W. A. Feeley followed with an interesting and instructing paper based on the 4th Chapter of the Study Book on Korea.

The roll call was responded to by "Facts about Korea" and then all joined in singing "Christ for the World", after which Mrs. Jobb spoke a few words and led in a closing prayer.

Just here two little girls in behalf of the Auxiliary presented Mrs. Jobb and Muriel with handsome bouquets. At the conclusion of the program, bountiful refreshments were served the young Mission Band members acting as waiters and a very pleasant social hour was spent.

1890—1920

In August of the year 1890 during the pastorate of Rev. Wm. Shearer, Morewood Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church was organized, with a membership of ten. Mrs. Shearer was the first president, succeeded by Mrs. L. Gloag, who was deeply interested in this work and did much to promote the welfare of this organization.

Mrs. Wm. Ashfield (now of Moose Jaw) was next appointed to fill this office which she did in a very faithful manner for a number of years.

During the latter part of the pastorate of Rev. J. M Kellock, Mrs. Kellock became president.

From the organization up to this time the carrying on of this work was rather a discouraging task, not being educated to the great need, we, as a people were not interested. However the faithful members of the Auxiliary of that day were laying the foundations of an organization that was destined to do a good work in later years. Through the Presbyterian Record and other Missionary literature and the efforts of the different ministers to bring the need of giving to Missions before the people, more interest was awakened which grew little by little until the membership of the W.F.M.S. reached twenty, during the pastorate of Rev. D. Stewart.

Mrs. Roland Shaver was president at this time and although living at a distance, rarely failed to be present at the meetings, ever encouraging with her kindly Christian influence the other officers.

At the beginning of Rev. K. A. Gollan's pastorate, Mrs. Gollan became president and continued in that office for nine years. Under her efficient leadership the Auxiliary reached second place in the Brockville Presbyterial, two years ago. Mrs. Gollan gave of her best to make the meetings interesting and instructive. The Missionary text books were introduced and studied, which has given a better knowledge of conditions in other lands. A Home Helpers Department was established, a Stranger's Secretary and Supply Committee were appointed.

Since the amalgamation of the W.F.M.S. and the W.H.M.S. in 1914, we became an auxiliary of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada working for both home and foreign Missions. Before this for many years bales of clothing were prepared and sent to some Indian school in the Canadian West other women in the congregation giving valuable assistance.

A special thank offering meeting is held every year when every woman is given a chance to contribute.

One meeting in the year is usually made a special one, with a social half hour at the close, these have proved to be both profitable and enjoyable to all who attend.

To help on the Forward Movement campaign, a committee was appointed to visit every home, soliciting either active members or home-helpers, not many active members were secured, but quite a number responded as home helpers giving splendid assistance last year. During these years the membership increased to thirty-three, owing to removals to other parts in the last two years, ten members have left, women whom we looked upon as almost impossible to get along without, some of them having taken first places in the Auxiliary where they have made their homes. Then in February of this year we were called upon to part with our president. Since that time the remaining officers have carried on the work as best they could. Having told you of the decrease in membership. I appeal for more active members. If we are to go forward, some other women in the congregation will have to come to the rescue. We rejoice at this our thirtieth anniversary that we have been enabled through all these years to carry on this work with even a small measure of success. More might have been accomplished but we know that anything that has been done will always have been that much help towards spreading the Gospel and clothing the needy, and has returned many fold in blessings to the workers as a reward for their labor in this sphere of the Master's work.

Hundred Acres in Kent Rented for $2,500 a Year

A transaction in Dover Township illustrates the great value of the land in Kent county. A farmer of the township recently refused $35,000 for his hundred-acre farm, which is situated within ten miles of Chatham. Recently he rented it for a term of five years at $2,500 per annum. It is a clear agricultural proposition, as the farm is not in the oil and gas area.

Luck in Striking Good Water Supply

Messrs. Barrington and Spence, well drillers who drilled a well for the Canada Milk Products Co. in Russell some few weeks ago striking water at a depth of 65 feet which has been tested by several hours continuous pumping without any perceptable decrease in the supply, are now engaged in sinking a second well for the company. A remarkable feature that the previous well drilled by the Bell Co. of Montreal only a few feet distant to a depth of 1,360 feet struck little or no water.—Leader,

Railroad Pronunciation

The conductor and a brakeman on a Montana railroad differ as to the pronunication of the name Eurelia. Passengers are often startled upon arrival at this station to hear the conductor yell; "You're a liar! You're a liar!" Then from the brakeman at the other end comes the cry; "You really are! You really are!"—Boston Transcript.

Clothing Prices Somewhat Lower

The new prices accompanying the recent arrivals of the latest samples and style books from The House of Hobberlin, Toronto, and from the Campbell Co. of Montreal, show a very considerable reduction in many lines.

Along with these are special prices for early orders to be made up now in the slack season.

If you are going to buy a suit this season now is the time to buy it.

You are late enough for the newest patterns and lowest prices, and just in time for a special price on the "keeping-all-hands-busy" early orders.

Will Take Steps to Enforce O.T.A.

Addressing a largely attended U.F.O. picnic in Prince Edward County, Saturday afternoon Premier Drury made an important announcement regarding future enforcemeut of the Ontario Temperance Act. He declared: "In order to meet the situation, which is thrown upon us so suddenly, we are undertaking the reorganization and renovation of the Provincial police force, and, further, we are putting an end to the dual control of the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. out of these two things we expect, in spite of the difficult position, to reasonably enforce the law until the plebiscite is taken".

The Premier traced the course of the temperance question, how the people in Ontario voted when inter-Provincial trade was barred and the conditions which have arisen since the Federal Government lifted at the beginning of this year the order-in-Council which had prevented importation into dry Provinces.

"As long as any citizen may order liquor you have innumerable centres for bootlegging", remarked the Premier.

"Under the present conditions it is almost impossible to have an enforceable law. We do not take hold of it and limit the amount that may be imported because we are by no means sure of our ground. We are by no means sure that it would not be regarded as interference with the rights of inter-Provincial trade and we consider it might be the subject of prolonged litigation. At the time of the last session of the Ontario Legislature we had every reason to believe that the Dominion Government would give the vote on the question in October and that being the case, it was sound public policy to do the best we could with the conditions we found".

Alluding to the change of date announced by Premier Meighen, Hon. Mr. Drury pointed out how unjustifiable the postponement was till next April. The temperance forces, he said, were ready for the question and the existing voters' list was likely to give as fair an expression as a new voters' list.

Two classes would benefit by the deferred vote. The wholesome people and those who would gain by the breaking of the law.

Premier Drury also suggested whether a desire for political advantages might not be behind the move of the Ottawa Government by doing two things; "First perpetuating the condition that the manufacturers and wholesalers desire and out of which they will undoubtedly reap a great deal of profit during the next six months; second, by placing the Ontario Government in a position where it would be very difficult to enforce the law with the hope that non-enforcement would lead to our discredit and the party which is fighting the Farmers' movement would reap political advantage."

Speaker Nelson Parliament, member for the riding, presided. There were about 8,000 people present.

The Child Driver

Anyone who handed a fifteen-year-old girl a loaded revolver and told her to wave it in a crowd would be regarded as viciously and criminally reckless of human life. Yet parents will permit a boy or girl to drive a motor car upon a public highway and think nothing of the fact that they are risking lives right and left, and incidentally violating a law designed to afford protection to users of the public streets.

The Sunday tragedy in New York city spent itself upon the girl driver and her family. But the peril was for every one within striking distance, and the lesson is for everyone owning a car. An automobile is not a simple toy that a child can be trusted with. Its operation calls for muscle, judgment, nerve and experience, which only adults possess—and not all adults by any means. The danger to one's own car and one's family involved in permitting a child to drive is great and immediate. The danger to the public is even greater and just as direct.

A wanton disregard of the law and the rights of the public is involved in every case in which a boy or girl is permitted to drive a motor car,—Carleton Place, C. C.

Dairy Cow is the Most Economical

Here are some interesting figures submitted by State Food Commissioner W. B. Barney, of Iowa, at a meeting of Holstein breeders held at Sheldon, Iowa, not long ago. Mr. Barney produced data to show that for every 100 pounds of digestible matter consumed the dairy cow returned in milk 18 pounds of digestible food solids, while the following returns were made from other sources: Pig dressed, 15.6; calf dressed, 8.1; poultry (eggs) 5.1; poultry dressed, 4.2; lamb dressed, 3.2; steer dressed, 2.8; sheep dressed 2.6.

The above figures leave our friends, the beef men, rather gasping for breath when the returns from beef per 100 pounds of digestible matter is found to be only 2.8 pounds, while through her milk the cow returns 18 pounds. The steer is consumed in the process and the cow goes on.

Mr. Barney was authority for the statement that when we feed 6.8 lbs., of corn to a steer we get in return one pound of beef worth 15 cents. The same or its equivalent given to a dairy cow will produce one pound of butter fat worth 37 cents. These comparisons were made at the market price for that day. Again the steer is sold and the cow is kept to repeat the performance. Of course, there is some difference between the labor cost of producing the pound of butter fat and the pound of meat, but 42 cents is a fair rate for that labor and will leave a reasonable profit besides on a comparative basis.

Old Friends Forgotten

Debts of honor are non-collectible debts. That is why the oldtime gambler referred to his losses at cards as debts of honor which must be paid.

There is, however, another kind of debt which is not collectible, which is a real debt of honor, and which unfortunately, is seldom paid, and that is the debt which many of our foremost men owe to the country. They were born in the country; they were brought up on the farm; they are at the top now very largely because of the start they got near to Nature's heart.

Where they live these men are public-spirited citizens. No worthy cause is ever denied their aid. They endow hospitals, erect libraries, build Y. M. C. A.'s and officer churches.

In the meantime what of the country communities where they were born? The little red schoolhouse at the corners is still what it was in their boyhood days. The roads are just as poor. There is no library. The boys and girls have to fight their way for an education. The church, back of which their forbears sleep, languishes.—Country Gentleman.

Dancing the Only Way to Keep Fit

"There is only one way to keep fit and that is to keep dancing," says Phyllis Bedells, the most famous of British ballet dancers.

"Dancing will cure colds, stave off pneumonia, cure insomnia and depression and do a lot of extraordinary things beyond the reach of Doctors.

"Ten years ago a woman gave up her dancing in her late twenties—that she had had her chances, and if she married she must leave the field open to youth; or if she were still single she was on the shelf.'

"To day she has re-entered the field through the door of the dance and so she has regained her lost youth. For wonderful elasticity, lightness of heart and glowing health are the dancer's portion."

Keeping the Hired Man

Last summer a farmer living east of town had much difficulty in getting a hired man to stay on the job. Man after man would start but after working just a few days would quit. Finally he got up a notice and tacked it up at his front gate, with the result that he got a man who stayed with him until freeze-up. It read as follows:—Hired Man Wanted—Hired girl isa good looker! piano music every evening pie three times a day, three spoons of sugar with every cup of coffee, hamock, feather beds, or leather couches at your option for sleeping, free use of the automobile. Rising hour at 9 a. m., three hours rest at noon, quit work at 5. The boss tends to the horses and feeds the hogs.—Exchange.

Made a Record in Morrisburg

The Leader—A career almost without precedence, is that of Mr. Geo. W: Townsend, who during his sojourn in Morrisburg acted as superintendent of the Canada Tack and Nail Co., resigning this position to go into business for himself, later re-engaging with the same company as manager and shortly afterwards again resigning his position to go into the "Bee Hive" grocery business and eight weeks after opening his doors made an assignment, and disappeared on a Sunday morning, taking his family, with the exception of an infant child, 5 weeks old. This child was lelt in the care of Mrs. Philips by Mrs. Townsend, who stated that she was going to visit her mother to have a rest. Mr. Townsend's sudden departure has caused much regret among the bargin seekers, who had been securing goods at practically cost price, and is undoubtedly much lamented also by the creditors whom we are told, met on Monday of this week.

Waste Paper Pays Vacation Expenses

The enormous demand for paper making materials is causing a drain upon the supply which threatens a very rapid depletion of our forest resources. With all the newsprint mills running to full capacity, some of our Canadian newspapers have had to suspend publication for lack of paper.

The Commission of Conservation has corresponded with paper mills and dealers and will gladly furnish information to any locality respecting the address of the nearest buyer of waste paper.

What the Boy scouts of Brockville have done can be done by others. When they required funds for their summer outing, they undertook a paper-collecting campaign to raise the money.

Mr. A. J. Traill, Scoutmaster, Brockville, states that notices in the local press informed houeeholders that the Boy Scouts would make a house-to-honse canvass for old newspapers and magazines, in order to raise funds for the local branch and requested them to telephone Mr. Traill when the papers were ready for collection.

The collection was made during the Easter holidays. Three senior scouts were sent out with a horse and wagon. The papers were brought to Scout headquarters and the magazines and all smooth paper were separated from the newspapers. They were tied up in neat bundles and weighed, 10 or 12 at a time, on a small platform scale.

As a Toronto waste paper dealer quoted a satisfactory price, it was loaded on a car and shipped, collect freight, to Toronto.

Mr. Traill says: "We shipped 9¾ tons of paper and received a cheque for $325.-44. Expense for twine, notices in press and cartage was $36.85, giving to the Scout treasury net proceeds of $288.59.

"We were 4 days in collecting and tying up paper and magazines, and about 6 hours in loading car. We did not bale any paper; the scrap paper left over we sold to a local junk dealer, receiving $1.00 for it."

One Man's Face Grows 2,800 Miles of Whiskers

A hair consists of a tube made up of minute scales of a material resembling horn about one four-hundredth part of an inch, enclosing a central core of coloring matter.

The hair becomes white when this coloring matter is destroyed, and is replaced by tiny air bubbles. The root is embedded in the skin to a depth of about one-fifth of an inch and is furnished with one or two small glands which supply the natural oil to the hair, and also a small muscle which, by contracting, causes the hair to stand on end during fear and other emotions.

The rate at which hair grows depends upon its age, situation, and the treatment to which it is subjected. The average rate for that on the scalp is half an inch per month, while that on the face when continually shaved, grows one and one fifth inches during the same period.

The number of hairs removed during a complete shave is about 44,000 and during a shaving period of fifty years a man removes about 1,800 miles of hair weighing seventy-five pounds.

It is not generally known that a hair will support a weight of from three to five ounces. It is thus almost as strong as a steel wire of the same diameter. Before breaking, however, considerable stretching occurs, and a hair one foot in length extends, as the weight is gradually increased, to sixteen inches.

Hair also varies in length according to the moisture in the air surrounding it, and in many factories a long hair, delicately suspended, is the essential feature in apparatus for estimating the amount of moisture in gases.—Tit Bits.

Solvency

Take this advice: Don't go in debt. Your solvency's your one best bet. Far better drive a henry car, that breaks a slat at every jar, that backs when you would have it pull, and know it's yours, paid for in full, than journey in a fine Sedan that's bought on the instalment plan. Far better wear a suit of duck on which you've paid the final buck, than go around in brave array while tailors clamor for their pay. Far better in a cabin dwell in some remote, secluded dell, than occupy a gilded hall where bailiffs with their warrants call. There's naught contributes, you will find, more strongly to your peace of mind than being in place to say: "No man can sue for his pay; I owe no kopecks, far or near, my bills are paid, my record clear." I've tried both plans and so I know; all kinds of bills I used to owe, and lawyers chased me through the town and stern collectors ran me down. And life was then a sad affair of walking floors and tearing hair. But now I pay for bed and board, and buy no junk I can't afford, and life is like a pleasant dream, or like a short-cake soaked in cream.—Walt Mason.
