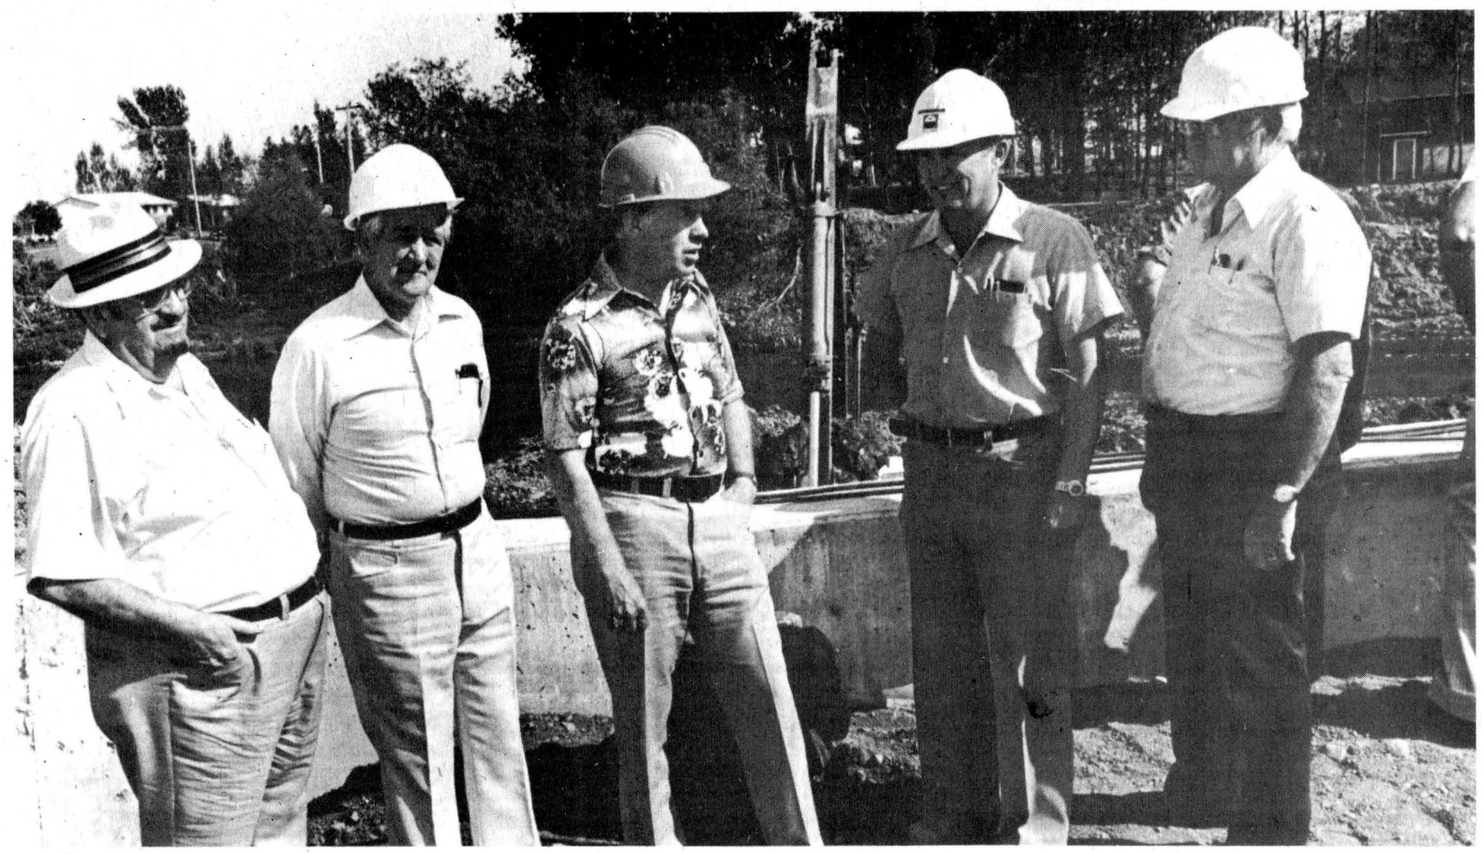
Word this week on South Nation projects



Henri Seguin, of the SNRCA flood control advisory committee, SNRCA chairman Cecil MacNabb, Frank Miller, Minister of Natural Resources, Myles McMillan, project supervisor with MM Dillon, and Ralph McLeod, Looby's Builders (Dublin) Ltd. general supervisor, survey the progress on the Chesterville dam during the minister's visit to Chesterville last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Miller toured the South Nation watercourse with conservation authority officials and said he would be making an announcement on the ministry's plans for the river this week.

(Staff) - Word is expected this week on the form remedial work on the South Nation River will take following last Thursday's tour of the watershed by Minister of Natural Resources, Frank Miller.

Mr. Miller spent Thursday touring the drainage area with Cecil MacNabb, chairman of the South Nation River Conservation Authority, Henri Seguin, a member of the Flood Control Advisory Committee, SNRCA resources manager Ken Musclow and ministry personnel.

He made a flying visit to Chesterville at the end of the tour for a progress check on the $2-million dam here and while in the village told The Record he would make an announcement on remedial work to be done this year "within the next week". The minister also said he would announce at the same time what direction major work on the river would take.

Mr. Miller said Premier William Davis had told cabinet a month ago that the South Nation was to receive top priority among the ministry's plans, "The premier is very, very anxious to get an answer" on the river, the minster said.

A tri-ministerial team, made up of members of the Ministry of Natural Resources, Environment and Agricluture and Food, has been studying the problems of the watershed and methods of overcoming them since last year. MNR has taken the lead in the study and Mr. Miller said last Thursday his tour came at an opportune time as the tri-ministry report will soon be presented to cabinet.

Mr. Miller said he couldn't be specific about the announcement he will be making, other than to say it would include word on channelization of the river and work at Plantagenet, both of which will be carried out in the "near future".

His announcement will also deal with further studies of the South Nation.

The river has been subjected to studies since 1946 and the minister admitted that announcement of a further engineering report is "politically dangerous" at a time when residents of the watershed are demaning action, but he explained that this study will be different from those that went before.

This will be the first time three ministries have participated in such a study to review the overall effects of major drainage work on the river. The minister said all three ministries want to make sure that work to be carried out this year will not be undone when the major scheme goes into effect.

He said the three ministries are concerning themselves not only with lessening the effects of the spring and summer floods, but also with ensuring water quality and the availability of adequate water supplies during the low flow periods.

Mr. Miller said he didn't know what the cost of the project to be recommended in the final report would entail but said figures as high as $100-million have been mentioned.

"We're not hooked on a single figure, but $15-million (most often mentioned as the amount of renovate the watercourse) is very optimistic and $100-million is very pessimistic."

The minister said engineers have come to the realization that the spring flood of the Nation River will never be done away with, but its effects can at least be minimized. Their attention will be turned to this and to eliminating summer flooding, which causes considerable crop damage in the lower areas of the flood plain.

He described the river as "pretty strange" in that the watershed is so flat there are no suitable areas where head points can be built up without flooding the surrounding countryside.

Shortage crippling cheddar industry

(Staff) - Statements made in the Ontario Legislature last week by Agriculture and Food Minister Bill Newman that Ontario faces a severe shortage of milk for cheddar cheese production are being echoed by producers across the province.

In this area, Ault Foods of Winchester, the province's largest cheesemaker, says it faces serious shortages of class 5 and 5A milk and smaller producers are finding themselves in a similar bind at a time when the spring flush usually has plants working at capacity.

Steve Ault, director of administration at the Winchester plant, says in the first 28 days of May his company's supply of milk dropped 22 per cent over the same period last year.

Small producers are in even tighter straits. Lawrence Pelton of Dairyland Foods in Hyndman says the OMMB has projected his Plant Supply Quota will drop by over 50 per cent from last year.

Both plants, Ault's and Dairyland, produce cheddar and specialty cheeses, but like producers across the province are facing the squeeze mainly in cheddar production.

According to Mr. Newman's statement, the problem arises out of the way milk is marketing to producers. Cheddar producers get only what is left over after fluid and specialty processors have filled their needs.

The amount of class 5 and 5A quota available to Ontario milk producers is not sufficient to fill the demand after these two markets have been taken care of, they say.

Under national Milk Supply Management Commission rules, Ontario producers are restricted to 32 per cent of the Market Sharing Quota available in Canada. Quebec producers with a smaller market, are entitled to 49 per cent of national MSQ.

Cheese producers are meeting with OMAF and OMMB officials in Toronto to try to sort out the matter and will meet next week with federal Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan and members of the Canadian Dairy Commission to try to redress the Council acted "totally illegally" on Ingleside water levy - lawyer

INGLESIDE (Staff) - The water levy controversy here reached its high tide this week. Richard Bell PC, QC, counsel for the ratepayers' committee has stated that Osnabruck council acted "totally illegally" in levying the bill.

The statement released Tuesday and verifed by Mr. Bell, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration in the Diefenbaker administration and an expert in municipal law, says the illegality of the water levy would be upheld by any divisional court.

The Ottawa lawyer adds the need to obtain legal counsel was an "unnecessary expense" that ratepayers "should not have been put to".

Ratepayer spokesmen say council may either rectify the situation or face legal action.

But this, says chairman Gary Crites, would only be used as a last resort.

"It's not really our intention to take council to court. They (councillors) know they're wrong," he told The Record Tuesday.

"We want to try the diplomatic approach first and ask them in a polite way".

If that doesn't work "then we'll have to take stronger measures, which may mean going to court".

The committee will meet with council June 5. Following that members have announced their intention to hold another public meeting with residents on the matter.

According to Jim Farrington, manager of the Ottawa field office of the Ministry of Treasury Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs, neither TEIGA nor the Ontario Municipal Board are empowered to intervene. If council doesn't want to change its mind legal action is the only recourse for ratepayers.

Osnabruck Township's legal fees are paid for by public funds.

Mr. Bell told The Record Tuesday he has not been asked to represent the ratepayers at this time, only to give advise.

Osnabruck clerk-treasurer Lloyd Marcellus told The Record Tuesday council will make no decision on the matter until a report on the legality has been given by its own lawyer.

The township lawyer is currently studying a letter from TEIGA which lists several violations of municipal procedure in the levy which is to pay for expansion of the water treatment plant here.

These include setting a flat rate rather than charging ratepayers on the basis of property assessment, approval of the project by motion, not bylaw, and spreading payment over five years without approval of the OMB.

Single family units wre charged a flat $250 rate, but ratepayers were allowed the option of spreading payment over five years with interest.

Mr. Marcellus said about 80 per cent of the ratepayers have paid to date.

Mr. Crites said if the township wants to get payment from the other 20 per cent they will have to go through divisional court anyway.

According to one report given The Record, several of those who did pay added the words "under protest" on their cheques.

Mr. Marcellus said he couldn't say if this was the case because he hadn't checked and the manager of the Ingleside branch of the Bank of Montreal would not confirm one way or the other on grounds of confidentiality.

Ratepayer committee legal liason secretary Frances Bird said the committee's principal motive is to change council's secretive ways.

"Everybody's fed up. Everytime something happens we can't find out from council."

"They just do what they please without asking the people - that's not democracy," she told The Record Monday.

"The same cycle of events is being repeated here. You have to start somewhere and it might as well be here".

She said her committee had been told it was a closed meeting.

According to Mr. Marcellus he had told Mr. Crites he could come June 5, but Mr. Crites said he couldn't wait and asked to come May 18. The clerk-treasurer replied he could do so if he wished, but it was a meeting to discuss the zoning bylaw.

Mrs. Bird said the committee felt "council was just going to drag their feet and hope we fade out of the picture.

"But that's not going to happen - you think they'd smarten up".

Rotary draw winners

(Staff)—Claude Desormeaux, Chesterville, won the $25 first prize in the Chesterville Rotary Club Walkathon draw held at the club meeting Monday night. Denise Scrbic won the $15 second prize and Stephen Molloy won the $10 third prize. To have been eligible, contestants must have had 10 or more sponsors in the club's walkathon. Pledges are now being mailed out to sponsors and if all are returned to the club, about $1,800 will be raised for Rotary's community service work in Chesterville. Monday night Rotarians voted to donate $100 to the trust fund being establihsed to send Rose Hauch of Chesterville to the Commonwealth Games in Edmonton this summer and $50 was donated to the softball team for 9, 10 and 11-year-old girls.

Williamsburg meetings change

(Staff)—Williamsburg Councillor Don Kyle is going to have to find another way of "having fun" on Saturdays. Williamsburg township council is transferring its meeting dates from the first Saturday to the first Tuesday of the month during June, July, August and September. The reason for this is that long holidays fall on the first weekends in July, August and September. When this motion was accepted Councillor Kyle dissented saying "I don't call this work - I call this pleasure".

Bike-a-thon Saturday

(Staff)—The peddles will be turning and the wheels rolling this Saturday as the Winchester Township Snowmobile Club holds its bike-a-thon. Entrants can start the 32-kilometre course between 8am and noon at any of the three checkpoints - Winchester Lions Club Hall, Drop-In Centre in the Chesterville Community Park and the Ninth Concession School house south of Morewood on County Road Seven. Sponsor sheets are still available at the pharmacies and sports shops in Winchester and Chesterville, Morewood Restaurant, Ormond General Store, Levere's Store in Winchester Springs and McMillan's Store in Dunbar. Participants will be eligible for the draw on two high performance professional skate boards or a $10 gift certificate. Free soft drinks will be available at each check point.

Apathy torpedoes bilingual program

CORNWALL (Staff) - Even though it was included among the four schools for which the grade 1 50-50 bilingual program was recommended, it is unlikely Winchester Public School will offer that program next year.

The recommendations were passed 5-3 at last Tuesday's board meeting here, with the stipulation in the event the number of students doesn't warrant the availability of the program at all four schools, either Winchester or Nationview PS be designated as the school for the North Dundas area.

Board officials say Nationview will probably get the nod.

Director of education Rosaire Leger stated the board might have to find a centrally-located school and "it looks as though Nationview will be the one" because of the low response to the program from the Winchester area.

Seventeen Winchester parents and one from Morewood indicated their interest in the 50-50 program. The board would prefer the number to be 20 or more, superintendent of education Jean Comptois told The Record. There was no interst expressed in Chesterville.

Winchester parents do have the option of sending their children to Nationview, 10 miles west at South Mountain, if they want them to take the 50-50 program.

The other two schools where the program will be offered are Central Public and Gladstone,

Tent theatre goes up

Bramalea Canvas workmen put the final section of covering on the Prince of Wales Theatre on Upper Canada Road Saturday. The tent theatre, manufactured by Scythes and Company of Toronto, will house the summer-long run of Ottawa playwright George Blackburn's "A Day to Remember", the story of one of the villages flooded during the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The theatre will open July 1.

both in Cornwall.

Three trustees voted against the program, Lloyd Markell, Finch-Osnabruck, Sesel Wert, Roxborough-Cornwall Township, and Fraser Campbell, Kenyon-Lochiel.

Most vociferous was Mr. Markell who requested the vote be recorded but was turned down on a matter of procedure because he made his request after the first half of the motion had been read.

"This could go on and on and God knows where it's going to stop and who's going to pay for it," he said of expanded French language instruction. "The taxpayers I represent are not prepared to pay for it".

Taking a leaf from Rene Levesque's notebook, Mr. Markell declared, "I think you're going to have to have a referendum on this thing".

Cornwall trustee Sandra Enns interjected saying the public board could lose some of its students to the separate board, which offers 50-50 immersion from kindergarten to grade 8 in Cornwall and Glengarry.

"I'm willing to take that chance because the people I represent won't go to the separate system," replied Mr. Markell.

Total cost of the program for SD&G ratepayers is $35,600 which drops to $22,500 if Winchester isn't included Mr. Comptois told The Record. Provincial grants supply the other 75 per cent of the costs.

Mr. Markell also had a few things to say about people who were collecting names of interested parents. They are "a real pressure group", he charged.

Asked what kind of pressure they were using he replied they were approaching wives who then go to their husbands, creating "domestic quarrels" over the matter.

"They just won't take no for an answer" he said of the alleged "pressure groups"

Mr. Wert as concerned implementation of the 50-50 program could affect the 40-minute French core program in Roxborough schools. He said there had been a very favorable response towards this program and he wouldn't want to see it cut back because the board was increasing emphasis on the 50-50 program.

"No sir, definitely not. The board is not going to go ahead with 50-50 at the expense of the core," said Mr. Comtois in allaying his fears.

As evidence of the board's commitment to the 40-minute programs, 4.7 more teachers have been hired in SD&G Mr. Comtois explained.

Trustee Campbell was concerned about class size.

"We may be weakening this board by offering a group a certain program and another group a different program, and this could lead to real trouble down the road".

Chesterville-Winchester Trustee Lorne Thompson voted in favor and stated, "I would certainly back this program if it is closely monitored".

"There have been some people - quite knowledgable people - who feel the English program will suffer by taking the elite out of the English program and putting them into the bilingual course," he elaborated in an interview with The Record Thursday.

A close watch should be kept to find out "whether or not this will be the case," he stated.

25 years at post office

Mrs. Rita (Marie) Racine joined the select group at the Chesterville post office Friday when she was presented with a plaque for 25 years of service with the department. Mrs. Racine, second from left, is receiving the plaque from area manager Florien Guitard. Looking on are postmaster Stuart Allan and assistant postmaster Wendall Harper, both of whom have been honored for 25 years service with the post office. Mrs. Racine first started at the local post office March 2, 1953.

Crop notes

Don Wilkinson
Corn Harevesting - 1978

This may sound premature to some, but for growers with corn still in the field to be harvested, you can still learn from last year's wet fall.

If you look around, you will see some corn standing better than others. If you take note of the hybrids that stood up well, you may want to plant that hybrid on your late harvested fields next year. Stalk strength is characteristic of a hybrid and varies greatly from hybrid to hybrid.

Hybrid Selection

If we have a long drawn out planting season, remember to switch to shorter season hybrids as the season progresses.

That way, your corn crop stands a better chance of maturing. A long season hybrid planted late doesn't make even good silage.

As well, if we have an early fall frost, long season hybrids may be quite immature.

Corn Herbicides

A relatively new corn herbicide called Primextra recently received registration in Ottawa for incorporation.

It will control annual grasses and broadleaf weeds as it is a mixture of atrazine plus a grass killer.

It should be incorporated about 2 inches deep (discs set to cut 4 inches) which is shallower than Sutan. It does not have to be incorporated immediately as it is not volatile.

Soybeans

Anyone growing soybeans should be sure to treat the seed with dianonlindane - captain seed treatment such as Chipman B3 or DL plus used for corn.

A treatment with Vitaflo DB would also be in order. These should be added to the seed in the drill box.

Seed quality is not good, even on some pedigreed seed due to poor harvesting conditions last fall.

As well, soybean innoculum should be applied at triple the recommended rate to get a good innocualtion. The plant will then produce its own nitrogen.

Corn Herbicides

If you spray atrazine plus oil post emerge to weeds, watch the stage of weed growth.

If annual grasses (eg. crabgrass or foxtail) get past the three-leaf stage, they are difficult to kill.

Shortage

imbalance between Ontario and Quebec milk production.

Ontario farmers have the capacity to fill the province's dairy needs and cheese processors in Ontario have the ability to meet their market demands, if only they could get the milk, Mr. Ault says.

"If you can make it, you can sell it, whether in Ontario, in other provinces, the U.S. or the U.K.," Mr. Ault said Tuesday.

According to his figures, Ontario cheddar production dropped by over 8-million lbs. between 1975 and 1977 and a further decline is expected this year. According to figures for the first quarter of 1978, January production decreased from 4.3-million lbs. in 1977 to 3.8-million lbs. this year, and in March production dropped from 5.5-million lbs. to 4.1-million lbs.

Shortages of Market Sharing Quota are forcing plants to work at less than full capacity, Mr. Ault said. In the case of the Winchester plant, worker morale is being affected because of shift changes and lack of overtime, equipment has had to be shut down and the company's plans to hire 10 students for the summer have gone by the board.

Mr. Pelton told The Record his plant had been operating at about 60 per cent capacity and he is finding it increasingly difficult to keep his staff with the present erratic work schedule.

Asked if he could use Quebec milk to fill his 5 and 5A PSQ, he replied that he would have to "pay through the nose for it" and that the quality isn't as good as Ontario milk.

CLEA approves brucellois program

(Speical) - The Canadian Livestock Exporters Association voted unanimously in support of the Brucellosis Eradiction Program of the Health of Animals Branch of Agriculture Canada at its meeting May 17. In particular the CLEA members supported the focus of attention on organizations involved in the movement and sale of cattle, including members of CLEA itself.

The members of CLEA are exporters and auction companies who handle the majority of dairy breeding cattle exports from Canada. They commented that the market recently has been very strong, that a key element in ensuring future markets is the health of Canadian cattle, and that the present program is an essential ingredient in the solution to the brucellosis problem. "We are very pleased with the success of Health of Animals in limiting the spread of Brucellosis", said Chairman G.M. Clemons, former Secretary-Manager of the Holstein-Freisian Association of Canada "and in the dramatic reduction of the incidence of the disease in Canadian herds".

Dundas WI annual at Winchester

(Special) - The 73rd Annual Meeting of the Dundas District Women's Institutes met in Winchester Wed., May 24. Mrs. Ken Hillis chaired the meeting with Mrs. Grant Beckstead as secretary. Almost 100 women attended both morning and afternoon sessions.

Mrs. Stella Potter welcomed delegates and visitors to Winchester and the usual committees were appointed and opening business transacted.

The President directed her remarks to the theme of the meeting, "Taking a Look at Women's Lib."

She asked what we really thought of the direction this movement had taken in the last few years. Are promiscuity and abortions worthwhile goals for the most pampered women in history - the North American women? They ask reasonably for equal pay but still expect special privileges from dates or husbands. Women who demand divorce in order that they may be free are yet prepared to accept alimoney.

The greater freedom of all, she pointed out, is our freedom to do as we ought and to care not only for our own rights but for those of our husbands and children also.

The reports of the standing committee were read and revealed the numerous activities that have occupied the time of branch members during the past year, many educational, some entertaining, and all of interest to some of them.

As an interlude in the reading of these reports, four Winchester women, Mrs. Nina Woods, Mrs. Edna MacGregor, Mrs. Jessie Fetterly and Mrs. Phoebe MacDonald entertained with a skit entitled 'Needles and Tongues'.

Mrs. John Schultz, Provincial Board Director for the area, discussed the reports very favorably.

Mrs. Stella Potter conducted an 'In Memoriam' tribute to the eight members who had died during the past year.

A luncheon was served by the Winchester W.I. at which Dr. Larry Gray and Mrs. Gray were special guests. Dr. Gray gave a short address of welcome and was thanked by Mrs. Nancy Hyndman who also invited the members to Mountain for the 1979 District Annual Meeting.

The Board's Director's report opened the afternoon session. Mrs. Schultz said the three topics suggested for discussion during the year were Family Life, Nutrition, and Energy, with special emphasis on the family.

Mrs. Schultz reminded everyone of the Ottawa Area Rally to be held at Tagwi High School Sat., June 17. A bring your own lunch affair will feature Mrs. Dianne Harkin as guest speaker. The area convention will be held this year on Oct. 26 and 27 at the Talisman Motor Inn with the Hon. Pauline McGibbon, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario as guest speaker.

Miss Mary Michels, Home Economist, reported on both senior and junior 4-H projects that had been undertaken during the past year, especially the needlepoint project. She also explained the new set up for next year for both groups. Quilting is expected to be a fall project for W.I. members.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Nora Prunner of Riverside Heights entertained with an amusing reading entitled "Then and Now". Mrs. Freda Mellan of Brinston reported on the District Bus trip to Western Ontario to take place in August.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Schultz conducted the election of officers with results as follows:

Past president, Mrs. Ken Hillis, RR1 Crysler, president, Mrs. Clare Nugent, RR1 Morrisburg, 1st vice, Mrs. Lis Lemon, RR2 Williamsburg, 2nd vice, Mrs. Ross Casselman, RR1 Morrisburg, 3rd vice, Mrs. Evelyn Coleman, RR1 Iroquois, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Grant Beckstead, Morrisburg, federal Rep. and delegate, Mrs. Ken Hillis, alternate, Mrs. L. Carr, Morrisburg, district delegate, Mrs. C. Nugent, alternate delegate, Mrs. Guy Strader, Williamsburg, Tweedsmuir history curator, Miss Isobel Forward, Chesterville, public relations, Mrs. F.W. Hyndman, Mountain.

Auditors: Mrs. Ken Beckstead, Morrisburg, Mrs. Clifford Sypes, RR1 Morrisburg, family and consumer affairs, Mrs. Cleland, South Mountain, agriculture and canadian industries, Mrs. Ralph Casselman, RR1 Williamsburg, education and cultural activities, Mrs. Harold Merkley, Chesterville, citizenship and world affairs, Mrs. Gerald Erratt, Morrisburg, resolutions, Mrs. H. Mellan, South Mountain.

Samis bill proposes

Keep Quebec workers out

TORONTO (Staff) - A private member's bill introduced in the legislature Thursday by Cornwall MLA George Samis calls for the establishment of residency requirements for construction workers employed in Eastern Ontario.

The purpose of this bill says Mr. Samis is to protect employment opportunities in Eastern Ontario by establishing the same regulations for Quebec workers in Ontario as apply to Ontario workers seeking employment in Quebec.

Mr. Samis balks at the term "retaliatory" preferring instead to refer to his bid as "parallel legislation".

"I did it reluctantly," he told The Record Friday, "but the fact seems to be that Quebec isn't budging and Ontario isn't pressing them".

Re-iterating a point made in a previously released statement, Mr. Samis said the recent meeting between Premier Davis of Ontario and Levesque of Quebec did nothing to help reach agreement of this matter. What's more, new and more stringent Quebec regulations are scheduled to come into effect July 1.

"That's no longer acceptable - it's garbage. Levesque doesn't give a damn about national unity - he's made that absolutely clear".

"Ontario has to get away from the idea it can't do anything because that might affect national unity".

The bill would not apply to all Ontario, just specially designated areas which include SD&G, Prescott-Russell, Ottawa-Carleton and Renfrew.

Under the stipulations of the bill a "resident" means a person who has lived in Ontario for 12 consecutive months prior to application or one who can submit proof he intends to acquire permanent residence. Anyone applying for employment must obtain a residency certificate from the ministry.

Exceptions would be made in the case of persons who have been employed after April 30, 1977 and before April 30, 1978 in construction for a period of 120 days or more.

Employers violating this act would be subject to a fine of $200 or an amount equal to the wages paid, whichever is more.

Mr. Samis said this type of legislation had been in effect in Quebec for nine years and was supported by three different governments, Union Nationale, Liberal, and Parti Quebecois.

Asked if it was ironic that a member of a self-professed socialist party would introduce this bill, Mr. Samis replied "I am not a socialist - I am an NDP-er".

Asked if the NDP was a socialist party he stated "some call themselves socialists, but I don't".

A. Arthurs new Tagwi principal

AVONMORE (Staff) - Arthur Anderson, vice-principal at Ecole Secondaire Tagwi Secondary School, has been appointed interim principal.

Principal Gilles Metivier will be leaving Tagwi to assume the position of principal of SD&G's Alternative Secondary School.

Mr. Anderson will not be replaced as vice-principal at Tagwi. Instead, an administrative team composed of the principal and two administrative assistants will be formed.

Working along with Mr. Anderson will be Gerald Samson and Lowell Hawkins, currently deans at Tagwi. Mr. Hawkins is a former principal of North Stormont District High School in Finch.

Mr. Samson will be responsible for the supervision of French as a minority language at Tagwi. He will be directly involved with specific programming, supervision of instruction, discipline communication with students and parents and co-ordination of cultural activities.

The Alternative Secondary School where Mr. Metivier is headed is a new project designed to offer greater needs to those potential students who wouldn't be satisfactorily served by traditional educational programs. His appointment is for two years, the same length as Mr. Anderson's principalship at Tagwi.

SD&G County board director of education Rosaire Leger told The Record Thursday this includes dropouts and persons now in the work force.

Although George Vanier Secondary School in Cornwall is "the place where the principal hangs his hat", the alternative school is designed for all SD&G residents.

Instruction will be offered all over the three United Counties wherever there is demand. Teaching doesn't even have to take place in a formal classroom - it may be done in a place of work as well, said Mr. Leger.

"It's a school without walls," he stated. "We can't look at it as 30 students sitting in a school with a teacher".

According to a statement released by the board last week, the objectives of the alternative school are to provide opportunities for students and former students to complete the requirements for a secondary school diploma through a variety of learning situations tailored to individual needs and to help students understand the relationship between formal education and job success.

It is also intended to provide industry with the opportunity to co-operate with the educational system.

Two types of programs are offered. The co-operative work program will allow students to earn credits for both in-school and out-of-school learning. Students must complete 220 hours on the job for one credit and 110 in class for another. They may accumulate a total of three work credits per year for a maximum six out of the 27 required for the diploma.

The alternative program offers different choices of study material and forms of evaluation through individualized courses.

Initially, enrolment in both programs will be limited to grade 11 and 12 students. Each application will be considered on an individual basis and the appropriate recommendations will be sought.

Evaluation will be done co-operatively between staff members, employers and the principal.

Morrisburg OPP says seat belt would have saved woman's life

MORRISBURG (Staff) - Morrisburg OPP say an elderly woman who was killed in a car accident near here last week might be alive today if she had been wearing her seat belt properly.

Rachel Theoret, 77, was pinned underneath the roof of the car driven by Georgette Lefebvre when the driver lost control of the vehicle and rolled it over twice in a ditch between Morrisburg and Iroquois.

According to the police report, the Montreal woman was wearing her lap belt but not her shoulder harness. The lap belt was fastened too loosely and when the car flipped over she was thrown partly out the door.

Const. John Watson, OPP Community Services officer for Dundas, told The Record area drivers can expect increased enforcement of the seat belt legislation.

"We've had the word from the top to crack down on violators."

Since the law was passed in 1976, 216 violators in the Morrisburg area have been charged. And there are going to be a lot more, says Const. Watson.

The fine for violating seat belt legislation is $28.

Const. Watson admits some people may feel seat belt legislation infringes upon their civil liberties, but says they have to realize increased police and medical services all come from the public purse.

In older model cars which have two-piece seat belts, drivers are only required to wear a lap belt. But new models include a shoulder harness, which must be worn.

Special medical certificates may be obtained waiving mandatory buckling in cases of obesity or pregnancy, but drivers shouldn't count on using that as a loophole, he said.

"The doctors are tightening up on issuing certificates", stated Const. Watson.

To be buckled up properly the slack between the body and the harness should be no more than the width of a fist, he added.

English Catholics want own language committee

CORNWALL (Staff) - In the beginning there was FLAC. Now English Catholics want a language committee of their own.

At an in-camera meeting of the SD&G separate school board last Tuesday the English Catholic Ratepayers' Committee proposed the creation of such a committee as a means of opening lines of communication and avoiding future conflict.

""We might have a view that might not be the same as that of the board. Such a committee could diminish conflict and make things easier for everyone," committee chairman Archie MacDougall told The Record Friday.

"Anyone who's been following the situation here has to admit we've got serious concerns. Some trustees now realize we weren't just shooting off our mouths".

SD&G has been the scene of a bitter conflict over language and jurisdiction.

English Catholic ratepayers objected to board proposals for special French language programs for students who weren't fluent in that language operated by the French section fearing these might cut off chances for programs under their own section.

Tempers cooled down after a bilingual program was accepted for the English section in late March.

This committee, said Mr. MacDougall, would "counsel the board" on matters relating to English language instruction.

In this respect there are some similarities between the proposed English committee and the French Language Advisory Committee (FLAC) which oversees French instruction in public secondary schools, but Mr. MacDougall hesitates to draw any further parallels.

The English committee would be set up with parents having a greater say in educational matters, he said. English ratepayers have previously expressed the view teachers play too prominent a role in FLAC.

The separate system, two-thirds of whose supporters are francophones, operates classes from kindergarten to grade 8.

Mr. Renaud says he's open to the suggestion of an English language committee.

"We'd like to see some mechanism by which both sides could be represented," he told The Record Friday.

Mr. Renaud added the matter has been brought to the board's education committee and will probably be discussed at an open board meeting in June.

CPR Bridge to be replaced

AVONMORE (Staff) - CP Rail will be replacing its bridge over the Payne River near here this summer as part of its $43-million province-wide building and reconstruction program.

A CP official told The Record last week that no firm date had been set for the replacement. He said prefabricated spans and concrete piers for the bridge have yet been made and construction cannot begin until these components are ready.

In all, 26 railway bridges will be replaced across Ontario this year. Sixteen of these are in the southern and eastern sections of the province.

CP Rail will also be laying rail along 178 miles of track, replacing ties along 4,300 route miles and installing 22 new bridge decks.

The $43-million the company will be spending this year will bring to $125-million the amount it has spent on track and bridge projects since the spring of 1975.

The closest rail laying to this area is taking place between Carleton Place and Smith Falls. A company offficial said it is now "in advanced stage".

The Payne River bridge replacement, on the company's main line between Montreal and Perth, will not cause service interruptions beyond a "handful of hours", public realtions official Ken Smith said last Wednesday.

CP Rail uses prefabricated bridge components as much as possible to cut interruptions to a minimum, Mr. Smith said. Bridge components complete with ballast, ties and rails, can be lifted into place in a short time, he said.

Work on the bridge replacement over a municipal drain in Monkland resumed last Thursday. Mr. Smith said the work was a carryover from a project begun last fall.

He also said the company has not heard from the Canadian Railway Transport Commission on its request to demolish the station at Chesterville.

CP asked for and received village council approval in February to remove the station, which has stood vacant since the station agent was removed in late 1977. The station has not been used for passenger traffic since January, 1966.

CP requested permission to remove the building, saying it would turn into an eyesore and a focal point of vandalism. Council agreed with the company's position, asking only that the grounds be maintained once the building is removed.

Following the municipal approval, CP made application to the CR Railway Transport Commission for the building's demolition.

Long Sault Auxiliary Inspector Colin Kinnear of Monkland draws a bead on his target as coach Jim McKiver helps him site during Saturday's Eastern Ontario Provincial Police Auxiliary pistol shoot near St. Andrew's. The Long Sault Detachment won the shoot with a score of 1727 of a possible 2,000 points and now advance for the second year in a row to the provincial championship at the Ontario Police College at Aylmer, Ont. Last year they lost at the provincial championships to Woodstock. High score of the day was claimed by Const. Brian McGee of Peterborough with a score of 370 out of 400. Eight detachments took part in the shoot.

Inkerman parents:

Don't send our children to Nationview

CORNWALL (Staff) - Inkerman parents don't want their children attending grades 7 and 8 at Nationview Public School and are pretty adamant about it.

According to a presentation made before the SD&G County School board last Tuesday some plan to make alternate arrangements if they don't get re-instatement of grades 7 & 8 at Inkerman PS.

When asked to elaborate on this point during his oral presentation, Inkerman School Committee secretary, Robert Guy replied, "They just wouldn't send their children to Nationview, they'd just change over to the separate system".

According to a survey conducted at a school committee meeting in Inkerman 60 parents (82.5 per cent) stated they wanted grades 7 and 8 returned to Inkerman.

Grades 7 and 8 classes at Inkerman were discontinued in Sept., 1971.

Among the reasons cited for reinstating senior elementary classes at Inkerman are:

- availability of classroom space because of declining enrolment;
- elimination of any emotional adjustments created by unnecessary change in schools;
- the feeling among parents that small classrooms and homey atmosphere are conductive to learning because it provides for closer teacher pupil contact;
- the village has suffered from the loss of senior students because the school is an intergral part of the village;
- less time spent by children in transportation.

The board has yet to receive a presentation from Nationview parents.

Assistant to the Director of Education John Beveridge told The Record the board expects a report by June 13 and if the written submission is sent earlier the administration may be able to present its own recommendations at that meeting.

Also present was a delegation of parents along Lakeshore Drive west of Flegg Road, RR1 Iroquois, who wished their boundaries changed from the Stampville district to the Iroquois.

The submission has gone to the School Facilities Committee which is scheduled to present their recommendations June 13.

Repair costs too high — Millaire

RUSSELL (Staff) - Russell roads superintendent Lucien Millaire is hoping the summer sun will do what a limited road budget cannot - make township roads passable for vehicles.

Mr. Millaire says 28 of Russell's 126 miles of road need rebuilding, but the cost, which he estimates would be in the area of $2-million, rules out any major overhaul of the township's thoroughfares.

This year Russell's road budget was $400,000, of which the Ministry of Transportation and Communications contributed $140,000.

The ministry has turned down a request from the township for more money, says Mr. Millaire.

Earlier this month milk transporter Maurice Ladouceur complained to Reeve Gaston Patenaude about the poor road conditions which, he says, have been forcing his trucks to travel an extra 100 miles a day to pick up farmers' milk.

Mr. Ladouceur, who operates four trucks in Russell, told The Record Friday he would like to see Russell separated from the Ontario Milk Marketing Board's formula under which milk transporters are paid.

The formula, currently the same for all areas of the province, should be based on regional conditions, said the transporter.

Mr. Ladouceur agreed with the road superintendent that road conditions had improved with the recent spell of good weather.

"The roads are drying up now. The crisis is over," he said.

CNR bypass now officially quashed

CORNWALL (Staff) - United Counties Roads Committee made it official Monday. There will be no bypass around the Dickinson Drive CNR overpass this summer.

The Ingleside overpass is scheduled for closure June 19 so major repairs can be made on the bridge, which is falling apart.

Ingleside businessmen have attempted to get the Counties to approve a bypass around the bridge because, they say, closure of the sole north-south artery leading into the village could cost them 60 per cent of their business.

Two weeks ago Friday United Counties Council deferred decision on this matter, but members were pessimistic because of prohibitive costs and red tape.

United Counties Engineer D.J. McDonald told The Record Monday these two factors signalled the demise of the bypass proposal.

He stated it would take eight to 10 weeks to get the bypass approved through Canadian National Railway channels and then the cost would be $67,000 to $85,000, for the railway portion alone, depending upon whether flagmen or electric signal lights were used.

Construction of the bypass itself has been estimated at $30,000.

Long Sault wins shoot

ST. ANDREW'S (Staff) - For the second year in a row the Long Sault OPP Auxiliary team has claimed the Eastern Ontario Pistol Championship and won the right to compete at the provincial championship at the Ontario Police College in Aylmer, Ont.

Saturday the Long Sault Detachment scored 1,727 of a possible 2,000 points to win out over teams from Ottawa, Peterborough, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston and Whitby.

The Ottawa Detachment, with 1708 points, was runner-up.

Individual high score was posted by Const. Brian McGee of Peterborough with 370 of 400 possible points. Runner-up was Const. Wayne Day of Long Sault with 369 and in third place was Const. Cote of Ottawa with 368.

The Long Sault team was made up of Auxiliary Inspector Colin Kinnear, Corp. Wayne Day and Constables Jim McKiver, Robert Werely and Goerge Howe.

Long Sault region man convicted of hunting violation

CORNWALL (Staff) - A Long Sault area man was fined $250 and had his hunting privileges suspended for a year after being convicted in Justice of the Peace court here last week of hunting and discharging a firearm from a motorized snow vehicle.

Michel Lapointe, Lot 4, Concession 2, Long Sault, was charged by Ministry of Natural Resources officer Barrie Walker Feb. 11 after he had chased a coyote onto the ice on Linner Hoople Creek east of Ingleside and while still on the snowmobile, shot the animal with a 12-guage shotgun.

Justice of the Peace Nora McRae fined him $200 for hunting from a snow machine, $50 for discharging a firearm from a snow machine and lifted his hunting privilieges for a year. He also had his snowmobile seized by the ministry and will not have it given back until he pays a release fee.

Earlier this year, Osnabruck Township council decided to champion Lapointe's case in court but reversed its decision and washed its hands of the matter.

108 grads in Kemptville

KEMPTVILLE (Staff) - One hundred and eight students received their diplomas at the graduation excercises of Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology on the afternoon of Fri., May 26.

KCAT's contingent was part of the record 518 students who graduated from the province's five agricultural colleges last month. Other colleges are situated in Guelph, Centralia, Ridgetown and New Liskeard.

Twenty-two students graduated from KCAT's Food and Fashion program, eight from the new Food Service Supervision course, one from Agricultural Engineering Technology and 77 from Agriculture.

The convocation was a milestone in the history of Kemptville College as it marked the first granting of a diploma in the Food Service Supervision course. Nancy Lynne Alexander of 7 Herrington Court, Ottawa, became the first student to receive a diploma in the course.

Jean-Marc Leclerc, Ottawa, carried off most of the silverware at the awards dinner prior to the convocation. Mr. Leclerc, a graduate of the National Theatre School, was also the agricultural course valedictorian.

He won the Ottawa Journal Award as the graduating student in agriculture with the highest proficiency throughout the course; Fertilizer Institute of Ontario Award for highest marks in soils in final year; Stanley G. Anderson Sheild for highest standing in practical engineering in final year, and the Barr Memorial Scholarship for overall proficiency through four semesters.

Elizabeth McDonnell of St. Andrews West won the Raina Trophy for the student in agriculture graduating with the general highest proficiency and student activities.

John Maloney of Cornwall picked up the United Co-Operatives of Ontario Award for best all-round graduating student in agriculture and the W.B. George Memorial Award as the student who best carried on the traditions of life in residence at KCAT.

Annette Brunsveld of Newington won the Ottawa Journal Award as the graduating student in Food and Fashion with the highest academic proficiency in the third and fourth semesters.

Other award winners were: Lynn Champagne, Ottawa, Kemptville Legion Award; Michel St. Pierre, Russell, Ottawa Journal Award; Joseph Muise, Cherry Valley and John Nyentap, Russell, R.B. Whyte Memorial Scholarships; Glenn Richards, Wooler, Eastern Breeders Inc. Award; Myles England, Pembroke, and Cynthia Shaddock, Belleville; KCAT Alumni Association Award; O.R. Irvine Award, Bart Hall-Beyer, Kemptville, Ottawa Citizen Award; Carol Patterson, Brighton, Kemptville WI Award; Linda Murray, Peterborough, Fashion and Design Award, Kathryn Buskard, Belleville; Food Award, Cheryl Beaupre, and Nutrition Award, Ann Drummond, Brockville.

In his valedictory address, Mr. Leclerc, asked his fellow graduates, "Are we here because something has ended or to celebrate our arrival at the finish line?"

No, he said. Graduates were on the "threshold of a beginning, not an ending".

He said they must "accept the collective responsibility to be each and every one's leader" and the challenge that although they are now in the 20th century, they must think about feeding the 21st century, which is, after all, within our lifetime."

Tagwi students get unscheduled break

AVONMORE (Staff) - Students at ES Tagwi SS got an unexpected holiday Monday afternoon when power at the school went on the blink and everyone was sent home.

A short circuit in one of the electrical panels during the weekend cut power in the kitchen area, causing some food spoilage and making it impossible to cater to students at lunchtime.

"After deliberation and consultation we decided to send the students home at noon," said dean Gerry Samson.

The school's public address system and phone lines were also affected by the short circuit, he said, although lights and the ventilation system remained on, allowing teachers to hold classes in the morning.

School officials are not certain exactly when the short circuit occurred. Mr. Samson said the chief caretaker, Don Roberge, had been inside the school Saturday morning and everything seemed to be working properly. The problem was not discovered until Monday morning.

Electricians soon found the cause of the trouble and Tagwi's 850 students were back in class Tuesday morning.

Admitting error isn't easy, but there comes a time when we're all faced with the situation and how we react to it determines exactly how much courage we have.

At this newspaper we are all well aware of what it means to admit mistakes. Between our editorial staff we write about 45 different stories each week. Every so once in a while a trivial or even major error might creep in - after all we're only human. But then we have to write one of those embarrassing "corrections". No one likes doing this - but it's our duty.

Councils aren't infallible either. And when they make mistakes, they too should be ready to correct themselves.

A good example is the Ingleside water levy. It should by now be apparent to everyone that the water levy is illegal. Two weeks ago the Ministry of Treasury Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs said so. Now a lawyer of Richard Bell's stature deems likewise. Osnabruck council may wait to hear the opinion of their own lawyer, but he'll just say the same thing - council doesn't have a leg to stand on.

Several procedural errors were committed in the implementation of the water levy. Ratepayers were charged a flat rate and not assessed according to property value. People were allowed to spread payment over more than one year - a matter which requires approval by the Ontario Municipal Board. The water treatment plan expansion was approved by motion, not by bylaw.

Nobody wants to see a court battle. Lawyers' fees are high, and any legal battle will bring little benefit but many bills - which will be payed out of public funds.

Nevertheless, one can't fault the ratepayers for going through with it. They have no other option. It's either that or pay an illegal bill.

Ratepayers feel this has been the "straw that broke the camel's back". They feel they've been kept in the dark about municipal matters far too long. Democracy works on the basis of trust and an informed public. Voters elect their officials who make decisions which will best represent their constituents' interests, and who will decide how the taxpayers' money, they have been entrusted with, will be spent.

How can people vote if they don't know what is going on? All information relating to the public interest should be made available to both the public and the press. The only area in which exceptions could be made is in matters of purely personal interest in which unnecessary damage of a personal nature would be done without affecting the public interest.

Admittedly there are some elements of the press, known in the trade as "scandal rags", who would stoop so low as to exploit a personal matter for the sake of selling papers. This is not the case among members of the community press, who know full well what is and what isn't "for the press".

But it isn't my intention nor, as far as I know, that of anyone else involved in this whole water deal, to dwell on past errors. The key is to learn from past mistakes and profit from that knowledge in the future.

The interests of everyone would best be served if council admitted their error and proceeded anew with the water levy - the right way.

After hearing Prime Minister Trudeau's repeated inanities regarding Soviet-Western relations, it's refreshing to see one high-placed Western official "tell it like it is". Zbigniew Brzezinski may not yet be a household word, but he is quickly establishing himself a formidable successor to former U.S. President Richard Nixon's "global cowboy" Henry Kissinger.

The past week witnessed Jimmy Carter's National Security Advisor issue the strongest statements on Soviet international violations in recent years. Not only did the McGill graduate lambaste the Kremlin for its blatant disregard for human rights, its aggression in Africa and elsewhere, but he added the veiled threat that the U.S. and China "have parallel interests".

There is nothing Moscow fears more than a possible Washington-Peking alignment. It's high time the West realized this and used this threat to keep the USSR in line. This doesn't mean an alliance with China. It just means if the USSR doesn't want to stick up to its agreements the West can find other powers who will.

When dealing with the Soviets the West has always had to be on its utmost guard. Let's put them on the highwire for a change.

It was one of those typical days that pop up ever so often in the lives of all humans...where you wish you had stayed in bed.

I was driving to work on Friday of the long May Day weekend and the river had never looked lovelier. The world had never been greener, the flowers never brighter.

It was the beginning of the best outdoor holiday of the year. Time to put the garden in...time to begin mowing the lawns in earnest...time to edge the flower beds...time to open the cottage...time to do just about anything in the outdoors...

And it was pay day!

The whole countryside seemed to be laced with pale yellow, ivory white, and red, red tulips. The sky sang, too, such a deep tranquil blue. Most of the old houses I passed had borders of iris. Nothing is quite so lovely as a bouquet of spring flowers.

Unless it is a bowl heaped with freshly picked strawberries companioned by a small bowl of powdered sugar, I decided right there and then. And soon it will be June...strawberry month. What finer fare for a June night supper.

I thought of Lady to whom I had given a good scolding that very morning for taking apart, feather by feather, my feather duster. Her eyes said it had been so much fun on a spring morning, and why had I left it in such a handy place anyway?

Two seconds after the scolding she was happily jumping all over me as though she had never fragmented a feather duster, had never even thought of such a thing.

I am always surprised at how patient all our dogs have been with us. Over a life-time, we take so many things away from them - sunny little Lady bounces up to catch a huge hunk of suet which has dropped from the bird feeder, for example, and I pounce on her, open her eager mouth and take it right away. She looks wistfully at me, but her tail keeps wagging to show she loves me anyway. No hard feelings.

Dogs forgive you so much - for shutting them up when you go away, for leaving them in the first place, for having various needles stuck in them,(for what, they wonder), for medicine put down their throats, for baths, for burr removing, for many bothersome actions every day. And still they look at us with love.

"Summertime, an' the livin' is easy," crooned someone on the car radio. The traffic was heavy. I stopped to let two oncoming cars pass before I made a left-hand turn onto the street where my office sits. I heard a squeal of brakes, glanced up to the rear view mirror and saw green before I went careening off in many directions. I managed to keep control and avoided a steel pole that loomed in sight.

"Whew...," I said to my knocking knees. A car had stopped and after enquiring as to whether I was all right the driver went off to telephone the police. I had the shakes. I put my head on my knees. Raised it long enough to tell the man who had hit me from such an undignified angle that I thought I was okay.

The police arrived shortly. The shakes had ceased. I looked. I felt like shaking again. My poor car. The bumpers had not meshed. The truck was hardly damaged but my trunk was completely askew, springs broken, and the roof buckled. I began to think about my NEW car, then said, "Oh fiddle, I'm alright...no-one's hurt", and I was very, very thankful.

The policeman said, "Good thing you had that seat belt on and the head rest in place." I nodded. I was beginning to feel as if I maybe had been steam rollered.

At the Medical Centre I was poked, prodded and x-rayed inch by inch. Prescriptions were written. I said to the doctor, "Aspirins will likely do."

"No doubt for the moment," she smiled, as she suggested I get a collar to wear at least for the weekend.

"I intended to set out bedding plants and work about the lawns on the weekend," I stated.

"It would not be...well, absolutely no spading...see how you feel in the morning before you plan your day's schedule," she advised cheerily. "I had my first accident this past year and one is not so peppy the day after."

I nodded, and in my mind made plans to pick up a half dozen flats of flowers on my way home,went back to the office and finished what had to be done.

Prescriptions under my arm, I sat quietly in the truck by Lady and the Farmer as we drove homeward picking up a car at the rental station en route. I thought a couple of times before getting behind the wheel to drive it home. I was sick of cars at the moment, but I had to have wheels to get to work on Tuesday morning.

For a couple of miles I quivered a bit inside but shortly the old confidence returned. I decided I would not take any of the drugs unless I really needed them. People sedate themselves too much, I had heard on the radio just that morning.

Shortly after I got my suit off and made a cup of tea for the Farmer and myself, I began to ache like you wouldn't believe. First my head. Nerves, I decided, and swallowed an aspirin. I sipped my tea. My neck hurt. My left shoulder burned from the seat belt. Don't be such a baby...get up and do something. I got up! I sat down! It felt better that way!

I took one of the pills from each of the prescriptions. A good friend brought me a collar she must use by times and sat awhile. I put the collar on. I took the collar off. Sheryl, Darcy, and Sarah popped in. It was good to see everyone. I finished my tea. They left. I filled the hot water bottle. I put the collar on. It felt good. I stretched out on the couch as the doctor had directed. It did feel good.

I picked up a book I had purchased in Toronto...A Man called Intrepid. I read a bit. My eyes didn't focus very well. I really didn't want to read anyway. The book slid from my hand and I dozed until the Farmer wakened me for bed.

"I get the shakes when I think of it...imagine, I've driven for thirty-five years and never had an accident," I exclaimed as I sipped my coffee.

"Think no more of it," said the Farmer sagely, "it's a once in a lifetime thing. And all's well that ends well."

Just a typical day, as I said, that pops up ever so often in the lives of all humans...where you wish you had stayed in bed. As I eased my poor sore bones into bed, I decided that was probably just where I would stay the next day.

FROM THE RECORD
THURS., MAY 31, 1928

Friday evening a serious accident was very narrowly averted when a motor cyclist who was passing north over the bridge on Main street slipped and fell directly in front of the automobile of Mr. Laurence Doering as the latter was passing off of the bridge. It is believed the cyclist, who is a stranger here, as he tried to turn to the centre of the road at the end of the bridge struck the high planking which had been placed at the centre, his wheel skidding and throwing him to the roadway. Mr. Doering's prompt action in applying the efficient foot and emergency brakes on his Dodge car undoubtedly saved the man's life.

An automatic air controller for cars saves from 25 to 50 per cent of gas. A new invention has been discovered to give a car more air when running fast which works automatically with the speed of the engine. This little machine has been tested a number of times and proved out very successfully, and it will be demonstrated on Main street Saturday night, so you can see for yourself how it works. Scientiests claim there is enough power in a gallon of gas to drive a car six hundred miles if it was properly developed.

The re-opening of St. John the Baptist Anglican church at Iroquois took place on Whit Sunday, the day on which the church comemorates its birthday. For three Sundays the church has been closed and under-going redecoration. The work has been beautifully carried out and the appearance indoors has been remarkably improved by artistic and emblematic treatment, indicating reverent and appropriate conception as well as a high degree of skill and taste. The evening service was conducted by Rev. Archdeacon Carson, M.A., rector of St. James Church, Morrisburg. A number of Anglicans from South Mountain, were in attendance, among them the surpliced choir from the place, who took part in the music of this service.

Behind the Community Hall, Chesterville is to have a new highway bridge that will replace the present structure. This promise was made last Tuesday night at the Party Rally of the Honorable George Challies. The new bridge is much needed in the area but we question the practicality of placing the bridge in line with the highway that will make it cross the river at a diagonal, run behind the Community Hall, and by-pass most of the business establishments on the south side of the river, cut a large slice off the north end of the Post Office block and lastly lead highway traffic through the streets of the town. Something is going to have to be done very quickly to bring Ontario's cheddar cheese production back into balance with demand. Cheddar producers all across the province are complaining that they can't get enough milk to fill their Plant Supply Quota and as a result, cheddar production is dropping drastically. Some say if the situation isn't soon corrected and they are given enough milk to fill their cheese contracts, this province won't have a cheddar cheese industry. The effects of such a development are so wide ranging in agricultural communities such as this that they are too dreadful to contemplate. Processors say they have the markets and can supply them if only they are given enough raw material - milk - to make their product. Farmers also argue that they can supply the milk if only they can get ahold of the quota. The problem is two-fold: first, fluid and specialty cheese processors get the first crack at milk produced across the country, with cheddar producers getting what's left over; secondly, there is the problem that Ontario has only 32 percent of national Market Sharing Quota while this province has the heaviest demand of any in the country for dairy products. Obviously, then, the solution is going to have to come at the national levy, where Market Sharing Quota policies are set. Ontario processors say they don't want to have to go outside the province for their milk. Some say they would just prefer to buy Ontario milk, others say that Quebec milk doesn't match Ontario standards: all agree, however, that the price is too high. In the food industry, where markups are traditionally low, processors say they can't remain competitive if forced to pay an extra $2 per hundredweight for out of province milk.

The Canadian Dairy Commission has been telling producers and processors alike that their export markets have been dropping off and a heavy concentration of effort is needed to regain some of the ground we've lost. Processors are now saying that the shortage of classes 5 and 5A milk are thwarting hopes of increasing export markets by shrivelling up the supply of the cheese that can be sent out of this country. Meetings are being arranged next week in Ottawa for provincial processors and the Ontario Milk Marketing Board to group together with federal Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan and members of the Canadian Dairy Commission to resolve the problem. That is going to be the CDC's chance to come to grips with the dual problem of holding traditional markets and making good on their promises of finding ways to protect our overseas markets. - robbin morris -

In spring, a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love. Except in Chesterville when a young man's fancy turns to that most masculine of occupations: squealing tires. The mugginess of these hot nights is pierced repeatedly by these combustion cavaliers as they put every particle of their ingenuity into jamming their right foot to the floor and making their tires and the pavement squeal for mercy. In their muscle cars, they rend the night and the peacefulness of a Sunday afternoon with their scorching, smoking fires. The hot weather brings them out in force as it reduces the asphalt and their thick radials to the same soft consistency as their addlepated skulls. One should complain about their demented antics if only they weren't so sad. Those whose sole enjoyment in life and whose proof of manhood is to cruise King and Main Streets at three Sunday morning are more to be pitied than castigated except for one sobering thought: if these Epsilon Semi-Morons can get drivers' licenses, is it any wonder that our highways are the killing floors they've become? -robin morris-

Prime Minister Trudeau's announcement at the United Nations last week that Canada would be asking the United States to withdraw its nuclear weapons from Canadian soil as soon as this country takes delivery of its new fighter planes from the U.S. was an exercise in hypocrisy. Mr. Trudeau's statement that Canada was the first country to have a nuclear capability and not to take advantage of it and that it is the first country to ask that nuclear weapons be removed from its territory was likewise misleading. We do not condone the use of nuclear weapons and hope as fervently as any rational person that the final atomic Armaggedon never comes, we do not believe that Mr. Trudeau's grand gesture will achieve anything other than to strengthen the hand of those against whom his country is being defended. The Prime Minister can make these statements and follow them up by demanding that the U.S. remove its tactical weapons from this country but it is an empty gesture for the fact remains that Canada remains under the U.S. nuclear umbrella. It is a moral stance taken by a leader who can well afford the luxury of an excess of ethics. If the Prime Minister's decision had a meaningful effect on the reduction of worldwide nuclear armament, we would welcome it. However, all he has achieved is to crack the edifice of North American defence, just as he did in 1969 when he halved Canada's commitment to western security by reducing our NATO forces in Europe. Our belated attempts at rearmament - with the new fighters, German Leopard tanks, destroyers and long range patrol aircraft - in the face of the Prime Minister's statement are truly an enigma wrapped in a riddle and surrounded by mystery. - robin morris -

by jean jeacle

I'm awfully fond of making statements which begin with the words "When I was young, I never...." I then follow up with such sayings as "refused to eat my vegetables" or "spoke rudely to my mother" or any similar pleasantry which fits the lecture of the hour. Of course, I only make these pronouncements when I know that "grandma" is safely tucked away out of hearing distance, but I usually do believe - for that moment at least - that I am telling no less than the truth. The mind, after all, does not provide perfect recall.

Unfortunately the same cannot be said of a photograph. A picture preserves an image forever and years later can be used as evidence against the veractiy of a memory.

These days I would dearly love to say "When I was young, I never dressed in outlandish, unbecoming costumes" but my old photo album would shreik a denial with each flip of the page. I know I thought I looked just great at the time, but there I am garbed in rolled-up jeans, bobby socks and a plaid shirt looking, indeed, like a demented derelict. There too am I, wearing an ankle length skirt (gathered no less!), an off-the shoulder blouse and a fatuous grin. I look more like the town tart than the street sweetheart! I can scarcely believe that my mother let me out of the house looking like that, but then I realize that I probably snuck out when her back was turned so she couldn't make me come back in and change.

I don't really want to burn the negatives because I may be in need of a good laugh sometime again, but I intend to keep them away from Andrew's eyes - at least until after his upcoming graduation. I am fighting for a jacket-and-tie appearance by him, my firstborn child, and I don't want my argument weakened by snapshots of me at my sartorial worst. This is definitely one of those occasions when I want him to do as I say, not as I did.

BITS AND PIECES

Debbie Barr made her "Adventure In Citizenship" experience come alive as she related events and impressions of her visit to Ottawa to her attentive sponsors, the Ingleside-Osnabruck Rotarians, and their wives at last week's Ladies night meeting.

Lorelei Canough and Katie Hollister will be the last winners of I.O.D.E. prizes for grade seven students. This weekend the members of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire changed the name of their organization to the National Chapter of Canada.

Dialogue Theatre won't be coming to Ingleside with their latest production, so anyone interested in seeing this talented and innovative group's new effort should go to the Capitol Theatre in Cornwall, June 1, 2 or 3 at 8pm. "Help Wanted" is a series of sketches dealing with employment and unemployment.

I notice that the Finch and District Lions Club has reached into "God's Country" for entertainment at their gala on Sat. June 17. I have many happy memories of Mac Beattie and his Melodiers from my salad days in the Ottawa Valley.

The CWL of Our Lady of Grace Parish sponsored a contest for school children during May. The entries were to be poems or banners honouring the month of May. Judging is now over and the winners are Bobby Seguin, Beth Herrington, Louise Seguin and Donna Pilon.

Plans are underway for a township recreation program this summer geared to the 5 to 14-year-old interests. The four local students who will be working on this - under the direction of Joe Duvall - are Susan Somerville, Susan Moore, Debbie Waldroff and Kevin Chaisson.

The Lost Villages Historical Society will be mounting a display of memorabilia in the Brookdale Mall, June 9 and 10. They will also have a booth in the flea market which will be taking place at the same time. If you have any small articles which you wish to sell on consignment, contact David Moss, Donald Stuart, Winnie Murdock or yours truly.

When Mario Tremblay scored the winning goal last Thursday night, some people sighed with relief and others groaned in frustration but they all agreed that it was time for the hockey season to end here "Inside Ingleside".

Dear Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I am a married woman with three children under 10 years of age. I have a fine husband who travels in his business and when he's home he falls asleep on the couch every night after the 10 o'clock news.

Three years ago, when I was having an affair with a bachelor, I became pregnant. I was never sure whether my husband or the bachelor fathered the child. The pregnancy was a big surprise to me because I had had my tubes tied after my third child was born. When I missed a couple of periods I thought I was going into an early change of life.

My doctor examined me, said I had a tumor and not to worry - it might disappear.

After gaining 17 pounds, I went back to the doctor and insisted he reexamine me. Sure enough, I was in my seventh month.

That "tumor" is now two years old and he is a carbon copy of my ex-lover, who married a school teacher six months ago. A person would have to be blind not to see the resemblance. My husband has never said a word to me and neither has anyone else, but I suspect they are just being tactful.

I have a strong inclination to tell the child who his real father is when he starts school. I also want to confess to my husband before someone says something. Please advise me.

— Z-Code In New York

Dear Z: Keep quiet. Many lookalikes are not related. Because of your guilt you are probably exaggerating the resemblance in your mind's eye. Since it is entirely possible that your husband fathered this child, you'd be a fool to make any bizarre announcements. One thing you should surely do, however, is to get another doctor.

Dear Ann: I have a friend. (I'll call him Maximillian.) Max has a dog. (I'll call him Phido.) Phido has fleas. I'll call them Igor, Ramon, Jeremiah, Amos, Valentino, Pancho, Christopher, Gart, Tiny Tim, Kismet, Ardeshir, and Lucinda.

Recently, after Mad and Phido had been to my house for a visit, I found Valentino and Lucinda had stayed behind. When I noticed them they were making love in my Oriental rug which I will call Karambastan.

My question: What shall I call their numerous offspring? Or should I just call an exterminator? And if so - what?

— Love your Column Otherwise Dear Ann Landers

Dear Otherwise: By all means call the exterminator. (He won't care what you call him so long as you pay him.) And while he's there, please ask if he has a highly potent flea powder that will eliminate pests like you.

Dear Ann Landers: When a wife and a husband are in a car together and the wife is driving, what does it mean? I say it means the wife is in the driver's seat - figuratively as well as literally. What do you say? Twenty-five dollars is riding on your answer.

-Winnethka

Dear Win: It could mean (1) The wife likes to drive and the husband doesn't.
(2) He's tired and she isn't.
(3) He's bombed and she's sober.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Pool it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking and Petting - What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New home for Chesterville firm

This building, the former Gulf Station on highway 43 west of Finch, will be the new headquarters for Roads Resurfacing when it completes its move from the building it shares with Queensway Tanklines west of Chesterville. The two companies are going their separate ways with Queensway consolidating its departments at its Ottawa location.

Two local companies relocate

(Staff) - Two local companies, Roads Resurfacing Company and Queensway Tank Lines, which have been sharing administrative and accounting services, will go their separate ways June 1 when Roads Resurfacing Co. opens its new main office on Highway 43, west of Finch.

Both companies had been owned by Mr. M.E. Johnston until 1977, when Mr. Johnston sold Queensway Tank Lines to Hall Corporation Shipping Ltd. Since early this year, the common administrative and accounting services carried out at the companies' complex west of Chesterville have gradually been separated in preparation for the scheduled relocation.

The new offices of Roads Resurfacing Company will be located in the former Gulf Oil service station west of Finch, which was recently purchased and renovated by the company.

Queensway Tank Lines' general office and accounting services will be consolidated at its expanded maintenance and control centre on Industrial Ave. in Ottawa.

According to company treasurer Ross Tuck, six employees have already been reassigned to Ottawa and four more will go when the relocation is completed. Queensway Tank Lines, one of the largest bulk tank transporting companies servicing Eastern Ontario, Western Quebec and the Northern United States, will continue to use the Chesterville complex for equipment servicing.

Senior Band says "thanks"

The Editor:

At this time the North Dundas Senior Band would like to thank all the people who helped make our recent band exchange with Calgary a success.

The help and support was especially appreciated at the brunch and barbecue held May 21. Special thanks go to Mr. and Mrs. Don Durant who donated the meat for the barbecue and also Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rance who donated the dessert and helped to ensure that the barbecue ran smoothly.

Special thanks also to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson LaPrade for the use of the cafeteria and for helping out with the brunch. Many other interested parents gave their time to make the stay of the Calgarians a memorable one.

Through this band exchange, our band members have met new friends and have also come closer together with each other. We cannot thank the parents and teachers enough for this experience.

We would also like to thank the Chesterville Record and the Winchester Press for their coverage of the exchange and any other of the band activities held during the past school year.

Sincerely,

Margaret Wouters,
President

either side of the village, it would seem to be an unhappy choice to have the highway traffic in our town when it has been the policy of the road builders to by-pass towns where possible to make more efficiency.

Accompanied by Mr. Whitlaw of the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Harold Durant, deputy-reeve of the Township of Winchester and chairman of the Reforestation committee of the Three United Counties made a survey of the township last week in an endeavor to sell the idea of starting wood lots on waste land. The results are most encouraging, with 28 out of 30 land owners signing up for tree planting that range anywhere from 5 to 20 acres. Mr. Durant, in discussing the project with The Record, pointed out a few of the many advantages thast will accrue to the farmers who will make use of their waste and sub-marginal land by tree planting. He told the case of a man in Western Ontario who planted 100 acres 20 years ago, went west and forgot about them, returned, and in the last few years has been harvesting a regular $400 an acre from the forest. The Three United Counties are planning to plant more than 2,000,000 trees before 1950. Great things are expected to come from the project.

Last night found the Chesterville contingent out on top in the first game played in the Northern Stormont league series, when they defeated Berwick 10-2 at the local fairgrounds. The winning battery consisted of Casselman and Stewart.

FROM THE RECORD
THURS., JUNE 5, 1958

A week ago Department of Lands and Forests men came to town, picked up some information as to likely spots, and dumped 20,000 muskie fry in the Nation between here and the Crysler dam. H.C. Hummel, past president of Chesterville Fish and Game Association, accompanied the officers. He took them to the Iron Bridge area and farther down to the site of the floating bridge, west of Crysler. The small fish, an inch or so long, were turned loose on their own close to the shore among the weeds. Voracious feeders, they will grow to legal size, 28 inches, in five or six years, if they survive. The naturalists were quite sure the deep pools below the Connaught bridge and on to Crysler would provide ideal areas for muskies to grow.

Chesterville Cubs, led by Cubmaster Mrs. Gordon Lannin and assistant Cubmaster Mrs. Jack Doering, came home with the plate Saturday. Competing against nine other packs, at Cardinal at the annual field day, they scored the highest number of points to win the Verda Kincaid Shield for the year. The meet was held on the race track at Cardinal. For the second year the cubs of the St. Lawrence district have competed for the Kincaid Shield. It was won last year by the Kempville pack. Each pack engages in a series of jumping, races, plank walking, ball throwing, etc., to score for the trophy. Cubs from Chesterville who took part were Billy Moffatt, Billy Smith, Ronnie Doering, Brian Docksteader, Bobby Lajoie, Donnie Campbell, Robert Smith, Dick Fulton, David Butcher, Doug Merkley, Peter Merkley and Garry Droppo. Packs were present from Cardinal, Kemptville, Iroquois, Winchester, two from Morrisburg, three from Prescott, and Chesterville pack.

This week the Nestle dam was placed in position by plant workmen. The familiar red planks took about two days to install. Water started to rise immediately and so did the moss. Long green streamers of the filmy stuff is floating everywhere; it will remain until a good wind sends it to the shores out of sight. The deeper water stops its growth up from the bottom.

Just over 110 bicycles were in the parade which went from the church parking lot, west on Notre Dame St. and north on St. Jean Baptiste St. to the arena. Rev. McLaren pitches, slugs Embrun to first win

EMBRUN (Staff) - Embrun Plumbing 77s got the right bounce of the ball Friday night as they humbled Carlsbad for their first win in three starts in the South Carleton Fastball League.

Pitcher Greg McLaren turned slugger in the contest driving in eight runs as Embrun posted a lopsided 19-3 win, setting a team record for most runs scored in a single game.

McLaren, a rookie, popped a three-run homer in the opening inning and he matched that feat in the third frame. Later in the game, he was responsible for two more runs with an inside-the-park homer.

Francois Bourdeau collected four hits for the winners and Jacques Beaudette had three safeties.

Embrun outhit Carlsbad 20-4 with McLaren getting the mound victory with the safe going to Brian Cochrane who came on in relief in the sixth. J. Johnson was the loser.

McLaren had two strikeouts and Cochrane three.

Embrun is back in action in Metcalfe tonight and in South Gloucester next Tuesday.

Armstrong sole Osnabruck qualifier for provincial meet

OTTAWA (Staff) - Lance Armstrong has accomplished what only two previous Osnabruck District High School athletes have been able to do - qualify for the all-Ontario secondary school track and field championships.

Competing in the Eastern Ontario regional meet at Mooney's Bay Saturday, Armstrong placed third with his personal best effort in the midget boys' javelin event.

Armstrong along with three of North Dundas athletes will form the local contingent at the Ontario championships in Kingston this weekend.

Armstrong tossed the javelin 44.9 metres - a long shot from the winning effort of 47.72 of Steve Arniel of Loyalist Collegiate in Kingston.

North Dundas will be represented at the provincial level by Kathy Workman in two events and Marty Little and Roger Cherton.

Tagwi's Peter Wensink and Valerie Wert each ranked ninth and failed to qualify for the provincials. Wensink was fifth in his senior boys' 200m sprint heat and Wert was competing in the junior girls' 3000m race.

tagwi's track coach Don MacDonald, commenting on their performance, said it was the difference between running all year and just running during the track season.

North Dundas track coach Hugh Conlin had more to be cheery about than MacDonald and Osnabruck's Bob Thompson.

He took four athletes to Mooneys Bay and only midget triple jumper Al Donaldson failed to qualify for the final round.

Kathy Workman will go to the Ontario championships in two events after winning the senior girls' 100m hurdles and finishing the runner-up in the long jump.

Workman had a 14.8 second clocking in the hurdles and she leaped 5.1m in the long jump. The winning distance recorded by Carol Scanlon of Sydenham was 5.28m.

Senior shot putter Marty Little also came up with a personal best effort at 14.10m- good enough for fourth place and a trip to the provincials. Peter Langford of Sir Robert Borden had a record 14.75m put.

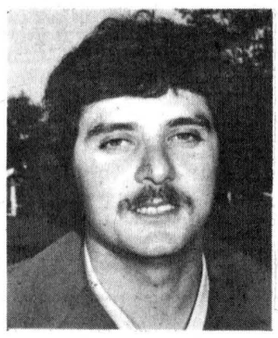
Errors help Pioneers earn first point of year

WILLIAMSBURG (Staff) - Williamsburg Pioneers were slow getting out of the starter's block in their DFL home opener two weeks ago. But, they turned the picture around in their second week of action.

Williamsburg came from behind Thursday to earn a 4-4 tie against the Cardinal Pats and they struck early Friday to double Brockville 6-3.

The three point week moved the Pioneers into third place. In other games during the week, Brockville blasted Domville 10-2 and Maynard 8-2 as Cardinal lost 6-4 to Domville.

Errors cost Cardinal dearly in the eighth inning as Williamsburg rallied for two runs to tie the score.



Roger Morrell
....three for five

Bill Hogaboam
...first HR of year

Cardinal had scored single runs in each of the first and third innings before Williamsburg slugger, Bill Hogaboam, steered a Stan Woods delivery over the right field fence in the top of the fourth. Doug Casselman was on base at the time.

Wayne Jones had given the Pats a 2-0 margin in the third with a solo shot off Wade Roles.

Casselman came on to relieve Roles in the fifth and was immediately touched for a pair of triples and two runs.

In the top of the eighth, Roger Morrell, who went three for five at the plate, got the rally started with a single to left. Casselman followed with a fielder's choice as Morrell went out and Hogaboam trailed hitting safely into a fielder's choice. Roles popped up to Woods for the second out before Gerry Belanger reached base on one of Cardinal's six errors as Casselman scored. Hogaboam evened the score when Cardinal Catcher Larry Patterson overthrew third base.

Morrell collected three safeties to lead Williamsburg as Casselman, Hogaboam, Larry Cooper, Owen Shortt and Russ Casselman each had one safe hit.

Woods yielded eight hits, one walk and struck out seven Pioneers. Roles and Casselman combined to scatter nine hits and two walks in fanning eight Pats.

Friday, Williamsburg turned the bats on early. Brockville scored once in the first and twice in the seventh after falling behind 6-1.

Brockville pitcher Dave Dixie got off to a slow start, walking Paul Beckstead and Roger Morrell. Doug Casselman struck out and Bill Hogaboam scored Beckstead with a sacrifice fly to centre. Morrell scored by stealing home.

With two out in the third inning, Hogaboam singled and scored on Roles' ground rule double down the right field line.

Again with two out in the next frame, Williamsburg rallied. Cooper walked and Beckstead singled to right field. Morrell reached base on an infield error and Cooper scored.

With Doug Casselman at bat, Beckstead scored on a wild pitch and while the Brockville players were fumbling around for the ball Morrell trotted home unscathed.

Roles went the distance for the mound victory, giving up eight hits and striking out six. Dixie yielded five hits and six base on balls in fanning 10 Pioneers.

Rolws also helped himself at the plate with a single and double. Beckstead, Hogaboam and Shortt got the other safeties.

Williamsburg was in Brockville for a return game last night and Maynard will provide the opposition in Williamsburg this Friday night.

Six new entries for minor ball loop

(Staff) - Osnabruck District Minor Softball League will open its 1978 regular season in less than two weeks with four more teams than last year.

Team entries has increased by four to 33 from 29 with six new teams and two other dropping out of competition.

At the organizations recent annual meeting at Osnabruck Centre, Bob Thompson of Ingleside was named president. Raymond Landry of Crysler was selected first vice-president and Esther Johnston of Chesterville was named secretary-treasurer.

The league may even expand further with a strong possiblity of a squirt girls division.

The major change for the coming season has come about in the midget boys' division with Chesterville dropping out and Osnabruck Centre and Riverside Heights entering to join with Berwick, Finch and Newington.

The squirt boys' section has expanded to six teams from four with the inclusion of Finch and Ingleside. They will join Newington, Chesterville, Berwick and Crysler.

The peewee and bantam boys' divisions will each be increased by one entry.

Newington will be the lone new entry in the peewee division to join Ingleside, Crylser and Chesterville.

The bantam division will be increased to seven teams with Finch joining Berwick, Chesterville, Newington, Riverside Heights, Crysler and Ingleside.

The bantam girls' division will be reduced by one team to five with Ingleside disbanding operations. Competing this year will be Chesterville, Osnabruck Centre, Finch, Crysler and Berwick.

There are no changes in the midget girls' section with Chesterville, Osnabruck Centre, Newington, Crysler, Ingleside and Finch all returning.

EOJCHL accepts Crysler entry

ST. ANDREWS WEST (Staff)—For the second straight season, the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League will be expanding.

The league Monday night gave unanimous acceptance to a franchise in Crysler. No nickname or coach has been announced for the team and it will tentatively play home games out of the Casselman arena.

With Crysler joining, the EOJCHL membership has been increased to nine teams along with Embrun, Chesterville, Finch Township, Osnabruck Township, Char-Lan, Alexandria, Maxville and Avonmore.

Formal application for entry to the league was made by Jim Mahoney. Approval of the new franchise must now be authorized by the Ottawa District Hockey association.

If approved the team will have until August 15 to post a $250 league performance bond and the $250 league entry fee with treasurer Dalton Gadbois.

Finch, Chesterville in ladies league

(Staff) - Stormont Ladies Fastball League will operate with seven teams this season - one more than last year with the inclusion of Chesterville and Finch.

Avonmore has disbanded operations this year and the two new teams will join Morrisburg, Crysler, Berwick, Ingleside and Newington.

The regular season started Sunday with Newington visiting Finch and Morrisburg at Ingleside. Monday, Berwick played at Morrisburg, Chesterville at Finch and Crysler at Newington.

The league's two newest member teams - Finch and Chesterville - are comprised primarily of over-age midget girls. Those two teams have waged an on-diamond war for the past few seasons and it should carry on into the ladies circuit.

Each team will play a 12-game regular season before the playoffs start.

Osnabruck Twp. side entered in area loop

INGLESIDE (Staff) - Osnabruck Township Cosmos are the newest entry in the Cornwall and District Soccer Association.

The side, which is administered by Jindra Tupy, Lyle Dingwall and Henry Donkers, will be accepting player registrations from now until the season opener June 19.

The Cosmos want players only keen to play. Players can register by phoning 537-2581, 537-2019 or 537-8122. The side is also searching for a coach.

The side hade had little hopes of gaining entry in the CDSA. Mr. Donkers explained "with continuous prodding from the Osnabruck team and the enthusiasm indicated by its administrators, the league accepted the new team by its administrators, the

The side had little hopes of gaining entry in the CDSA. Mr. Donkers explained "With continuous prodding from the Osnabruck team and the enthusiasm indicated by its administrators, the league accepted the new team using it to replace one member of the eight-team league which indicated a growing lack of cooperation".

The Cosmos will play their home games at the Osnabruck District High School pitch and their opener is at 7pm Mon., June 19.

Mr. Donkers also commented "the team has surpassed many obstacles and there are several more which remain. One which players feel is ridiculous is the fact that although soccer is the fastest growing sport in North America, Osnabruck Township lacks the basic equipment to play the sport. The basic equipment referred to is a suitable set of nets."

"When consideration is placed on building an expensive arena in the area it seems ridiculous that such basic and much less expensive needs as soccer nets have not been met. It appears the time has arrived for the area to spend more attention to soccer".

ND student council elections this week

Marg Wouters

MAPLE RIDGE (Special) - Elections for next year's Student Council executive are being held this week. The nominees are: for president - Tim Billings, Wilma Klein-Swormick, Heather Loucks; vice-president - Ron Porteous, Eileen Rose and Jennifer Sommerville; junior treasurer - Glen Patterson, Doug Rance, and Maureen Steele; secretary - Elaine Beaudette, Mary Jansen and Carolyn Sullivan.

The position of senior treasurer will be taken by Darlene Declare, this year's junior treasurer, as this is a constitutional privilege. Fred Rance will take the position of social convenor by acclamation.

The exchange between our school band and Fairview Band from Calgary was concluded with an assembly last Wednesday morning, Each member of the Fairview Band received a gift package from Ault Foods and Nestle's. Each member will also be sent a N.D.D.H.S. school pennant.

Some of the activities the Fairview Band participated in were a visit to the Parliament Buildings, the Mint, Museum of Science and Technology, War Museum, Sparks Street, local dairy farms, Upper Canada Village, the St. Lawrence Parks, the Iroquois Locks, and Hershey's Chocolate in Smith Falls.

They played three concerts including one at Maple Ridge Senior Elementary School. Members of both bands and parents were treated to a brunch Sunday at N.D.D.H.S. and a barbeque later in the day at the Legion Hall in Chesterville. The band expresses many thanks to anyone who helped in any of the activities.

Four members of our track team advanced to the Regional Track Championships, as a result of their placings in the EOSSA meet in Kingston. Kate Workman placed first in the 100m hurdles and second in the long jump. Marty Little was third in the shot put. Roger Cherton had a third in the 1500m and Al Donaldson placed third in the triple jump.

Students have been following a new schedule for the past two weeks. Instead of having an activity period on both Tuesday and Thursday only one is held now, on Wednesdays. There are two ten minute breaks each day. Late bus nights have been switched from Mondays and Wednesdays to Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The Athletic Association is holding an Awards Night Disco June 9. The dance will be held in the Lions Hall in Winchester. Dress is semi-formal.
