The Morrisburg Leader

LXXXVII, NO. 20. MORRISBURG, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MAY 20th, 1949. $2.00 PER YEAR; SINGLE COPIES, 5c

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE 165th ANNIVERSARY

An event unique in the annals of Protestantism in Canada will be marked on July 3rd and 4th, when St. John's Lutheran Church, Riverside, will mark the 165th anniversary of its founding.

It is the oldest Protestant congregation in what was formerly Upper Canada, and in fact the oldest west of Halifax. St. John's was founded in 1784, by United Empire Loyalists who came to this section from New York State, and whose descendants still comprise the great bulk of the congregation.

Special services will be held on Sunday, July 3rd to mark the 165th anniversary and the speaker will be a former pastor at St. John's, Rev. A. G. Jacobi, of St. Mark's Church, Kitchener. Special music will also mark the important event.

On Monday evening, July 4th, an anniversary dinner will be served, till 8 p.m., after which there will be an informal service in the church. Guest speakers will include, Rev. George Innes of Williamsburg, president of the Lutheran District Conference, Mr. A. C. Casselman, M. P. of Prescott. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend these services and supper.

TRACTOR AND WAGON IN HIGHWAY CRASH

A farm tractor, a wagon and a car were involved in an accident on Highway 31, north of Morrisburg on Tuesday night.

Police said the tractor, with a wagon attached, was going south, driven by Harold Cougler of Williamsburg. Aden McIntosh, also of Williamsburg was sitting on the back of the wagon.

A car also going south, driven by John M. Smith of Burlington, ran into the rear of the wagon, throwing McIntosh off, rendering him unconscious for som time. He suffered abrasions and back injuries.

Smith's car was damaged to the extent of $300. Provincial police from Morrisburg investigated the accident.

MORRISBURG PASTOR IS BEREAVED OF WIFE

Mrs. Grace Dawe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Presley, Second St., Verdun, and wife of Rev. Ernest Dawe, pastor of the Pentecostal Tabernacle here, passed away on Monday, May 16th, at the Royal Edward Hospital, Montreal, Que., She is survived by her parents, in Verdun; her husband and a three-year old son, Ronald.

The body rested at McGillvary Funeral Parlors in Verdun till Thursday, when service was conducted at 3.30 p.m.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Rev. Dawe and son in their bereavement.

SAFEKEEPING FOR VALUABLES

Wills and Personal Valuables May Be Kept in a B of M Safety Deposit Box

Fire and theft are a source of worry to those keeping valuable papers and possessions at home. Some people take certain precautions to guard against these menaces, but omit to safeguard against the danger of forgetfulness.

For memory is a tricky thing. Over the years, matters once in the foreground of the mind are gradually forgotten as those of the moment replace them. So, in the event of fire or disaster, or any other crisis, many families are unable to locate wills, family records and the securities provided for their support. Have you provided for the future security and comfort of your family by placing your valuables in a really safe place, such as a safety deposit box at the bank?

Discussing this matter of forgetfulness with us a few days ago, local Bank of Montreal Manager Charles Wood remarked on the truth of the old proverb, 'Out of sight, out of mind'. "During the war years", he said, "many Morrisburg and Williamsburg residents had to run the risks involved in home-safekeeping, when safety deposit boxes were unobtainable. But it is no longer necessary, for a new supply of boxes was received at the B of M office here a short time ago, and a few are still available for rental."

Mr. Wood pointed out that a B of M safety deposit box provided safekeeping requirements at a very low cost. He added that he would be glad to have those interested drop in at the branch whenever convenient, as he would be only too pleased to help them make safekeeping arrangements best suited to their individual needs.

Ottawa Editor Addresses Local Canadian Club

First meeting of the Morrisburg and District Canadian Club for the year was held in the Club Rooms on Wednesday evening. Special speaker for the occasion was Mr. T. D'Arcy Finn, executive editor of the Ottawa Citizen.

The dinner which was largely attended was catered to by the ladies of Morrisburg United Church, who provided a very fine banquet.

Rev. G. O. Davies said grace and the toast to the King was proposed by R. H. Armstrong, who also introduced the new president, Mr. W. J. Cass of Winchester.

The new president thanked the previous speaker for his remarks and the members for the honour accorded to him in naming him to office; also he expressed appreciation to the ladies of Morrisburg churches for their efforts which had made it possible to hold these club meetings for the past twenty-five years. Two minutes silence was observed in memory of two members who had died during the past year—D. T. Henderson of Morrisburg and Ralph Thompson, Iroquois.

Mr. Cass then introduced the guest speaker, a veteran of 50 years with the Ottawa Citizen, to whom he referred as "The Citizen of the Citizen"

The speaker for the evening also thanked the ladies for the bountiful supper provided, before going on to his subject "Fifty Years of Journalism". He told of his early days at the Ottawa newspaper office as copy boy, and how he had come up thru the ranks to the position which he now holds. Mr. Finn told his audience something of the difficulties of preparing his widely read and widely quoted column "One Over Lightly" in the Citizen, while at the same time trying to fill pressing engagements such as his one with the Canadian Club. The speaker advocated more of goodwill and levity in the world, and in even our diplomatic exchanges. It was impossible, he said to be able to laugh with a man and still be "mad" at him. He thought if the Reds would only learn to smile more, they would be a lot easier to get along with. He had taken things too sriously himself, he said, but was now getting much satisfaction out of writing his "lightly" column to make amends. He said he enjoyed just being alive, getting around, looking at and trying to understand human nature and human relations. He advised the members to try to be happy with little things, to keep in a good humour. Canadians he thought, had many reasons to be happy and should show it.

The meeting closed with the singing of O Canada with Mrs. G. H. Smith as accompanist.

Death of C. A. Loucks

The death occurred of a very highly esteemed resident of Williamsburg Township in the person of Mr. Christian Archibald Loucks at the Civic Hospital, Ottawa on Sunday, May 8, in the early evening, after being a patient there for a few weeks.

Mr. Loucks had been in failing health for some time, but was in a more serious condition during the few weeks preceeding his death.

Mr. Loucks was well known throughout this district, where he had spent the greater part of his life. He was employed as cheesemaker in the Williamsburg factory for a number of years. Later he held the position of clerk in a Winchester Springs general store, where by many kindly acts, he won for himself a host of friends who learned with regret of his death.

In his 81st year, he was born in Williamsburg Township on January 18, 1868, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks, pioneers of this district.

Left to mourn are his wife, the former Miss Susannah Jackson of Nation Valley, whom he married in 1887; one son, Herbert Loucks, of Williamsburg Township, with whom deceased had resided for the past 3 years; one daughter, Mrs. Stanley Thomas of Ottawa; five grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Also surviving are three sisters: Miss Eva Loucks of Morrisburg; Mrs. Andrew Jackson of Iroquois and Mrs. James E. Summers of Speers, Sask.; and one brother George Loucks of Mariatown.

The funeral was held at the home on Tuesday at 1.30, where service was conducted by the Rev. Henry Kielty of Winchester, assisted by Rev. Jas. A. Bain of Newington. The message brought was from Numbers, 23rd Chapter, Verse 10. "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like His".

During the service, Mrs. Sheldon Robinson sang "We'll Never Grow Old" and "The Last Mile of the Way". Burial took place in Maple Ridge cemetery.

The pall bearers were Lyle Thom, Harry Carruthers, Wilfred Carruthers, Harold Pemberton, James Herriman and Cecil Casselman.

Many beautiful floral tributes received testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Friends from a distance attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. H. Jackson, Mr. Archie Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Gordon, all of Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Mrs. Coleman Thomas, all of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Thomas of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jackson of South Mountain.

Don't Miss The Months That Really Pay!

Speed The Day Your Pullets Lay . . .

With "MIRACLE" Growing Mash

Many a farmer nurses his chicks carefully through the first critical weeks . . . then lets them fend for themselves. The result is slow growth and a poorly developed flock. Instead of starting to lay in the fall when the price of eggs is high, they start months later when eggs are cheap. They also tend to be poorer layers than earlier-maturing pullets.

Feeding your pullets "Miracle" Growing Mash is like sowing good seed in good soil. It always pays off... in a better crop... in higher profits.

"Miracle" Growing Mash gives pullets the vital food elements that build growth. It ensures sturdy, large-framed birds with the internal development and stamina needed to withstand heavy laying. Get your flock ready for early production by feeding them "Miracle" Growing Mash now.

"MIRACLE" LAYING MASH

Once your pullets begin to lay, feed them "Miracle" Laying Mash liberally. "Miracle" Laying Mash, like all "Miracle" Feeds, is a scientific blend of balanced ingredients, and contains elements to stimulate high egg production.

All "Miracle" Poultry Feeds are available in both regular and pellet form.

A Serial Story

SYNOPSIS

The story this far: Virginia Ames is aboard the Lanassa stage crossing the dusty plains of Arizona in the summer of 1878, bound for Santa Bonita where she will meet her fiance, Phil Lawrence. Phil has written her, pleading frantically that she come to him. A few miles out of Lanassa the stage is held up by masked bandits and a money box addressed to a man named Barron at Santa Bonita, is seized. One of the bandits snatches a cameo pin from Virginia's dress, causing the letter concealed inside to fall to the ground. The bandit leader returns it to her. At Lanassa she sees Lt. Jim Randall whom she had known and had been in love with back home in Washington. He is coldly formal and over her protests insists that he and his company will escort her through the 70 miles of Apache country to Santa Bonita.

CHAPTER II

He seemed to want to talk. "We saw signs of Apaches on the way north."

"How interesting." Her voice was studiously bored.

He gave her an intent look, then turned away. He halted when she said, softly, "Jim . . ."

"Yes?"

"Nothing . . . I'm sorry."

But it was enough to hold him. He brought out a pipe and filled and lighted it. He smoked in silence and seemed to listen to the night's quiet. Virginia felt the nearness of him and the distance of him, too. She watched him through half-closed eyes, dreamily, wondering about him and his life.

His voice shattered her thoughts, "Is your fiance to meet you at Fort Winfield?"

"No . . . I—I mean to surprise him."

He was suddenly at her side. "He's rather a lucky fellow. You have grown into a lovely woman, Virginia."

Her eyes flashed him scorn. She drew away. "I think we're wandering too far," she said. "I think I shall return to camp."

He shrugged, knocked the ashes from his pipe, and offered her his arm. She ignored the offer and walked on ahead of him.

The next day a broken axle on one of the wagons delayed the march for several hours. While the damage was being repaired Stephen Barron and two other riders overtook the column, joining it when it moved on again. Steve Barron rode beside Virginia and talked at times. Each occasion Jim Randall looked back frowning in disapproval. His frowns prompted Virginia to talk more spiritedly, laugh more gaily.

At dusk, Mel Scarlett, the scout, appeared suddenly on the trail ahead. He had been scouting all day, seeming to travel 10 miles to the column's one. He made a sign to Jim Randall, and the officer's order halted the march. The troopers rode forward to flank the wagons.

They had halted in a wooded, rocky country. Beyond where Mel Scarlett sat on his horse was a wide, shallow stream. On the far side stood a mounted figure, motionless as stone. An Apache. Naked except for head-band, breech-clout, moccasins and bandolier of cartridges, his body shone coppery in the half-light. He carried rifle and lance.

Scarlett rode to Jim Randall. "Wants a pow-wow, sir. Don't like it none. Good spot for an ambush."

Jim Randall nodded. He talked to Sgt. O'Hara. He sent a trooper forward on foot to a fallen tree lying some 30 yards ahead Then, with Mel Scarlett, he rode to the stream and entered to its middle. The water swirled about his horse's legs. The Apache rode to the water's edge, signaled with his lance. A second Indian appeared from the trees and joined the first. They entered the water.

The talk began. Shortly a third warrior appeared and joined the first two. A minute later a fourth followed. The fifth, emerging from behind a giant boulder, appeared and rode to the group.

Virginia stepped from the carriage. She heard the soldiers voicing anxious thoughts. O'Grady, her driver, growled annoyance.

"Is Randall a fool? He's walked into a trap!"

Steve Barron rode close. "Don't worry," he said easily. "Randall will handle the situation."

Virginia looked at him surprised. He grinned at her.

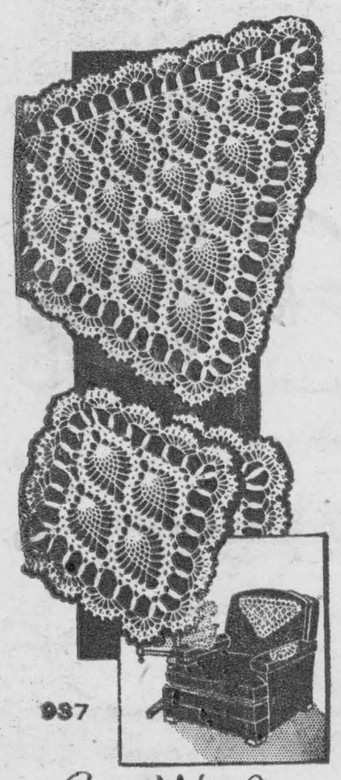

"Oh, Jim Randall and I respect one another—" he began but broke off as Sgt. O'Hara, a grizzled old campaigner, spoke quiet orders.

The troopers dismounted with their rifles. They took up positions for a skirmish. Steve Barron dismounted. He wore two ivory-butted guns in holsters at his thighs. His face was suddenly grave.

"Looks like trouble," he said "The sergeant is worried because Randall is outnumbered. If there's an attack, it will be because the Apaches are much stronger in number than the soldiers." He looked closely at Virginia. "Frightened?"

She shook her head. "No . . ." But her lips were cold and dry.

TABLE TALKS
by Jane Andrews

It's hard to understand why so many first class cooks—present company excepted, of course—will carefully follow recipes for almost everything they make, with one exception. That's jam. When it comes to jam making they're inclined to follow "rule of thumb" methods, often with results that aren't entirely satisfactory.

This is a great mistake when it's so easy to follow scientific instructions that lead straight to success. Here, for instance, is a grand way to make that almost universal favorite:

STRAWBERRY JAM

4 cups prepared fruit
7 cups sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

Method. Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts fully ripe strawberries. Measure 4 cups into a large saucepan. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for five minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 10 glasses six ounces each.

Instead of making all your strawberry jam "straight" why not try some that's "stretched out" with a bit of rhubarb. The flavor is grand; in fact there are lots of folks who prefer it to the other.

RHUBARB
and
STRAWBERRY JAM

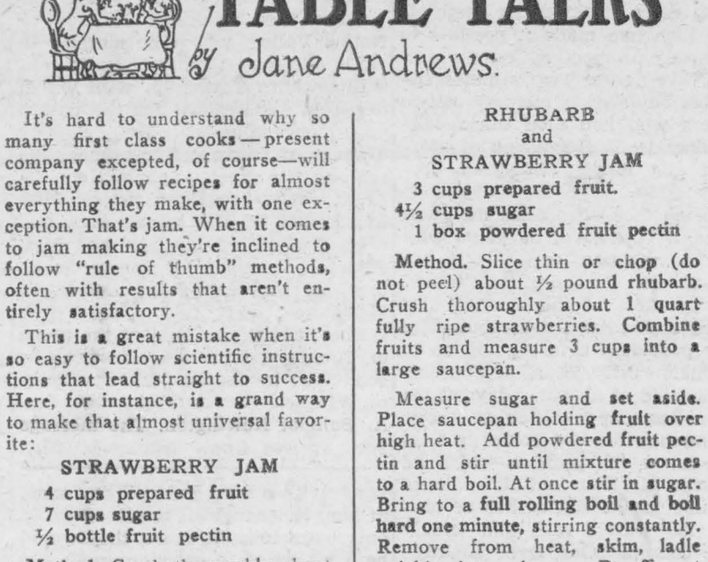

3 cups prepared fruit.
4½ cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

Method. Slice thin or chop (do not peel) about ½ pound rhubarb. Crush thoroughly about 1 quart fully ripe strawberries. Combine fruits and measure 3 cups into a large saucepan.

Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 7 six-ounce glasses.

The strawberry-rhubarb combination is a grand one for other things beside jam. Deep dish pie, for example. While the berry season is "on" give the family—and yourself—a real treat with this:

STRAWBERRY AND RHUBARB DEEP DISH PIE

3 cups unpeeled, diced rhubarb
1½ cups strawberries, washed and hulled
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
pastry

Method. Combine rhubarb and strawberries, and place in a deep baking dish. Mix sugar, salt, nutmeg and flour, and sprinkle over fruit. Sprinkle with lemon juice and dot with butter. Roll out pastry to fit dish and place over fruit. Fold edges under. and crimp. Make several gashes in top of crust and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 40 minutes. (If strawberries are very large, cut in halves. This recipe makes 6 servings.

And, to finish out on the same note I started out with, here's an easy to make sauce that adds the perfect touch to cornstarch pudding or any number of other dishes.

STRAWBERRY SAUCE

⅓ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups confectioner's sugar
Yolks of 4 eggs
2 cups crushed strawberries

Method. Cream butter and sugar. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each addition. Add crushed berries, and beat again just before serving.

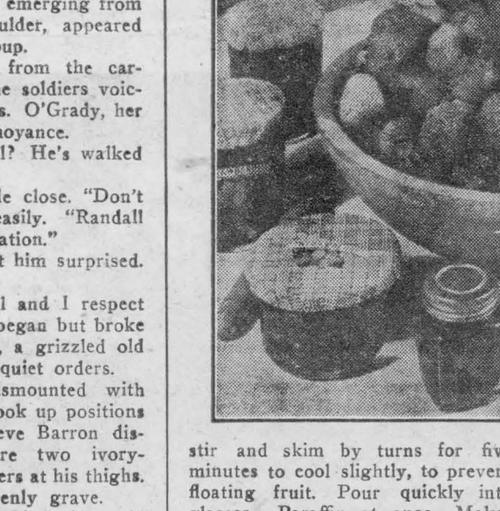

"Daddy, what is psychiatry?"

"Well, my boy, it seems to me it's ordinary advice dressed in a black coat and stripped trousers."

ANNE HIRST
Your Family Counselor

So often when a husband falls in love with somebody else, or for any other reason wants his freedom, his wife cries, "How can he do this to me? I've given him the best years of my life!"

Sometimes one wonders, HAS SHE?

One frantic wife whose husband wants a divorce, is stunned by the request. She cannot imagine why he is dissatisfied. Well, perhaps my readers ,can when they read these excerpts from her letter:

"I've made a place for him in the social life here which he would never have found alone. I belong to four organizations, and work hard in them. I make him go to their banquets and other affairs. He doesn't enjoy them, but I know they're good for him.

"We belong to the Friday Night Dance Club. He'd rather bowl, or stay home, but we meet the right people there.

"Our Literary Society gets important authors to lecture, and we discuss the latest books at our meetings. I insist he go along, so he can improve his mind.

"On Saturday afternoons we attends concerts, also one evening during the week. Sunday nights there is always a buffet supper at somebody's house (often our own) and though he is not a good conversationalist, these contacts have helped him in his business.

"We have two girls and one son. Two are in private schools, one in college. They have their own cars, and usually spend weekends with their friends; they plan their own vacations. I never understood them very well, so when they were small I had governesses to manage them.

"Where have I failed, Anne Hirst? Always I've done what I thought was best for his advancement. And now, out of a clear sky, he wants to leave me!"

—Broken-Hearted.

* This may appear to be an exaggerated case of a selfish woman going her own way, while an amiable husband foots the bills. Yet it does exist. And, to a different degree, many other wives offend in the same way.

They have never taken the trouble to understand their husbands, or consult them as to how they'd prefer to spend what little leisure they have. It is all planned for them by' 'perfect wives" who, if the truth were known, are only doing what their own social ambitions demand and dragging unwilling husbands along, husbands who'd rather spend an evening before their own fireside, or a Saturday afternoon at a ball game.

It is no wonder that, after 20 years of such a program, the man finally rebels. And another woman is not necessarily concerned. The man wants to relax in his own way. But at home, that is forbidden.

At this late day, is ther anything such a wife can do to keep her husband with her?

To "Broken-Hearted". Read this piece again, and see how you have failed, both as wife and mother. Your children have been driven away from their home and parents by your neglect; you "couldn't understand them. "Why should they want to spend holidays with you when they cannot feel at home in their own house?

You have forced your husband to live YOUR life, not the life he hoped for when he married you. You have led him by the nose where YOU thought he should go, robbed him for years of every precious hour of his leisure. Try to see yourself objectively.

If you can do that, then confess to your husband how remorseful you are that you have driven him away from you. Ask him for another chance, and promise from now on you will live the life HE enjoys, and make his home a place where HE can relax. Also, that you will share his interest in sports and other fields, and live the life HE chooses.

This is your one chance to hold him. Can you make these promises, and MEAN them?

Is your husband happy with you? Before it is too late, ask yourself this question, and answer it honestly. If you are worried by what you must confess, write to Anne Hirst, at Box 1, 123 Eighteenth St., New Toronto, Ont.

HABEAS AND CORPUS BLESSED BY LAW

In San Francisco, where the mayor launched a campaign against pigeons in Civic Center, a brazen blue pigeon, above, fearlessly laid an egg in a judge's chamber in City Hall on April 12. A day later she deposited another egg in the same spot. Court employees turned their backs on the anti-pigeon drive and provided a makeshift nest. The judge even issued an order threatening contempt action against anyone who disturbed the nest. When two little squabs, right, appeared one morning, they were promptly dubbed "Habeas" and "Corpus."

Their Task

The Sons of Mary seldom bother,
For they have inherited that good part;
But the Sons of Martha favor their mother
Of the careful soul and the troubled heart.
And because she lost her temper once,
And because she was rude to the Lord her Guest,
Her Sons must wait upon Mary's Sons,
World without end, reprieve, or rest.

It is their care in all the ages to take
The buffet and cushion the shock.
It is their care that the gear engages;
It is their care that the switches lock.
It is their care that the wheels run truly;
It is their care to embark and entrain.
Tally, transport, and deliver duly
The Sons of Mary by land and main.

—from "The Sons of Martha" by Rudyard Kipling.

Life Is Real

An implement salesman stopped his car alongside a field where a farmer was plowing, a plodding bull hitched to the old-fashioned moldboard.

He had just got nicely launched into a sales' talk on modern farming machinery when the farmer held up his hand. He pointed down the field to where a row of open doors in a long implement-shed divulged a couple of tractors, a one-way cultivator, a combine and other kindred farm machines.

The salesman was dumbfounded. Taking off his hat to scratch his head, he exclaimed incredulously: "Well, what are you using this bull for?"

The farmer gave the salesman a long look, spit over the plow-handles and said: "I jest want to impress upon this critter that there's other things in life besides romance!"

A boy and his mother stood looking at a dentist's showcase. "If I had to have false teeth, mother, I'd take that set," said the small boy, pointing.

"Hush, Willie," said his mother. "Haven't I told you not to pick your teeth in public?"

CHRONICLES OF GINGER FARM

by Gwendoline P. Clarke

There is a wild wind blowing and I'm not liking it one bit. It isn't a cold wind but it is awfully rough. Maybe I shouldn't grumble when I don't have to be out in it very much, but even in the house it just about gives me the creeps. And of course it does make a difference even if one does stay indoors ... the egg man calls and before I can stop it the door blows back on its hinges. Partner hails me from outside to help him with a little job and I don't hear him for the wind. Bob says—"Watch for John—he may be in this afternoon." But unless I happen to look out at exactly the right minute I won't know whether John comes in or not. That is what the wind does to a farming area.

The men here are halfway through seeding. Probably they would have been finished except for being hindered first by rain and then a breakdown with the tractor. I shall be glad when they are through—all these rush jobs sort of keep everyone on edge. Lost time during seeding—even only half a day—can make a lot of difference to the growth and harvesting of a crop.

Yesterday I went to Toronto—enough to see a friend in hospital and back again. It was my first trip this year. As usual I wondered how any one could live in the city. But I also came to the conclusion that it would be awful to live in the country and work i the city—if it meant driving in everyday as so many do. No wonder there are so many people with a heart condition! or instance, at one of the intersection where there was a sign —"No left turn"—the fellow ahead of us stuck out his hand and wheeled gaily off to the left. On the Queen Elizabeth another fellow drove for five or six miles on the outside traffic lane so that other motorists had to pass him on his wrong side. Near home there was a car in the ditch that had caught fire and was still smouldering. Yes, there is plenty of opportunity to see thrills and spills on a one-hour drive along our highways.

And yet, just the day before, we had been out looking at a car with the idea of making a purchase. As it happened the man who wanted to sell the car was away but came home while we were waiting. He came along the road driving at seventy or seventy five m.p.h. —with the "rad" boiling like a teakettle. Needless to say we didn't want that car! But I guess we shall have to get one of some kind— a 1940 is about as much as our budget budget will stand—but not off the used car lot if we can help it. Any offers?

Our little half-ton pick-up is the handiest thing to have around on the farm, but it is a long way from being a pleasure car. Last week I even had to take it out once or twice with a barrel of fuel oil in the back! That is because Bob uses the pick-up as a portable refuelling station for his tractor. Partner gets annoyed if he sees me go out with the truc' loaded—but it doesn't worry me at all—just so long as I don't have anything oily in the cab with me. At that I would draw the line. Otherwise I don't mind—I never have been over-burdened with false pride.

On our way home from Toronto we came through one of those new housing surveys wher. a friend of ours is waiting for his new home to be completed. I suppose most of the houses that we saw were around nine or ten thousand dollars and as we looked them over I wondered how many of them would still be standing by the time they were paid for! Of course, they will have all the latest, built-in stream-lined conveniences which is what attracts people today—and one couldn't ask for anything nicer—if they are built to last. I wonder ... For my part I would sooner have an older house in a more settled area and fix it up to suit myself. But it is a good thing we are not all alike or there would be little expansion or progress in this world.

Speaking of houses reminds me of the modern way of moving which I heard about only recently. Neighbours of ours are moving down to Montreal. I imagined them having an awful time packing and crating, ready for the job. To my surprise I learnt that the movers do it all and unless they do the packing themselves they will not accept responsibility for loss or breakage in transit. It seemed so strange to go ito a house, knowing the people were moving out and see everything still in place, except the curtains!

New Gadgets and Inventions You'll Probably Be Seeing

ELECTRIC RAZOR. Electric razor housed in plastic that shaves wet with regular blades in a "side-to-side" reciprocating motion. Razor is motivated by an electro-magnetic drive. Power consumption 2 watts. Said to be practically noiseless and to create no radio interference. Driven element is powered by a cylindrically shaped permanent magnet which is affixed to the gold-plated head. Can be removed for blade changing and cleaning.

LOW-COST VAPORIZER. Germ-killing vapor, particles of which are said to penetrate and kill airborne microbes that cause respiratory maladies is now available to public in simple, inexpensive form. Makers claim vaporizer is easy to work and vapor can be discharged instantly in any room. Is said to be effective for six to eight hours.

ALUMINUM PIGMENT. Aluminum pigment, using aluminum particles as base, provides new paints which offer positive protection against mold and rot in all climates. Is manufactured in paste form; 2 lbs. of pigment mixed with 1 gal. of usual aluminum paint said to provide maximum protection. Is claimed to be perfectly safe—will not affect food, animals or poultry. Also works well on metals and other non-organic surfaces.

MODEL HOME KIT. "Build-A-Plan," model home kit, enables homebuilder to set up model of his future home from blueprint. Kit includes floorboard base, divided into small grooved squares, each equal to 1 sq. foot, and miniature wall, door, window and building sections of plastic. These stand up in grooves to duplicate any floor plan. Also includes scale furniture cut outs.

PLASTIC SOAPCAKE PAD. Soapcake pad of plastic holds soap cake of any size or shape and allows water to be conducted away before bottom of cake becomes soft. Designed to fit all soap dishes or to be used alone on flat surface.

KITCHEN BOWL COVERS. Kitchen set of matched bowl covers in polka dot design is made of plastic. New construction seals the elastic in and keeps it protected from unsanitary contacts. Plastic used said to be waterproof, mildew-proof, and not harmed by greases or alcohol. Soap and water will not weaken the workmanship.

WEARABLE LIFE PRESERVER. Clothing for marine sports made of durable lightweight fabric has bulit-in, inflatable plastic life preserver which can be quickly and easily inflated by mouth in emergency according to maker. Jacket, when uninflated, looks like conventional jacket. Two-piece outfit is also offered for sailing and motorboating. Consists of jacket mentioned above and trousers coated with resins to afford extra protection from elements.

POWDER BRUSH. A handbag accessory about the size of a lipstick case. Gold-plated container holds a black or red nylon bristle face powder brush which pops out with a turn of swivel base. Another similar brush is available for use on suede shoes.

GALLEY STOVE. Two-burner instant-lighting kerosene hot plate is new marine appliance. Has two separate burners, each with built-in preheater to eliminate use of special pre-heating fuels. Case is of specially processed aluminum said to be highly resistant to salt-air corrosion. Unit is 2 in. long, 9½ in. high and 13 in. deep. Weighs 19 lbs. Burners are made of brass and stainless steel.

WATCHING AND PRAYING IN GETHSEMANE

Mark 14:32-42

Golden Text:—Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak. Mark 14:38.

"Gethsemane" will always be remembered as the place of great agony of Jesus. Here bore upon Him the full realization of His mission. It was not the prospect of death that brought the bloody sweat to His brow, but the bearing of the sins of men. In this hour when He craved and needed human sympathy most, his disciples fell asleep. He asked them to watch and pray, but three times He returned to find them sleeping. Said He, "The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak."

Jesus knew the truth of that statement in His own experience. At first He prayed, "O, My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." Here was a human shrinking from the bitter cup. The second time He prayed, "O, My Father, if this cup may not pass away from Me, except I drink it, Thy will be done." Here is exemplified the triumph of the spirit over the flesh. At no time was there rebellion to God's will, but the flesh was weak. Later, angels ministered unto Him.

When Jesus faced this great crisis, He prayed earnestly. He gained strength for the trying hours of the morrow. If we would have poise and calm in life's struggles, we must learn to pray until we have found strength in God.

We cannot think of Gethsemane without feeling a deep gratitude to Jesus Christ Who suffered so for us. He alone is our Saviour.

"It was alone the Saviour prayed
In dark Gethsemane.
Alone He drained the bitter cup
And suffered there for me.
Chorus:
Alone, alone, He bore it all alone;
He gave Himself to save His own,
He suffered, bled, and died alone,
alone."

Modern Etiquette

by Roberta Lee

Q. Is it true that any kind of invitation may be extended over the telephone?

A. Yes, with one exception, and that is the formal invitation.

Q. Is it necessary to introduce a newly arrived guest to another guest who is taking leave?

A. No, this is not necessary. Nor should one ever interrupt a conversation between two persons in order to introduce a third.

Q. How are invitations to a bridal shower issued?

A. By note, card, telephone, or they may be given orally. ... ...

Q. Is it correct to eat French fried potatoes with the fingers?

A. No; only with the fork. ...

Q. When the person who is making an introduction does not speak a name clearly, and it is very important that the name be known, of whom should one ask that the name be repeated?

A. Ask the person introduced, not the one who has made the introduction.

Q. Is it ever possible to take food into the mouth from the point of the spoon?

A. Never; food should always be taken from the side of the spoon.

Q. Is it proper for a girl to use her small mirror, and apply lipstick and rouge in public?

A. Whether it is proper or not, it is being done; but this does not include the use of a comb or a nail file.

Q. What is the minimum number of courses one should serve at a luncheon?

A. Three courses.

Q. When giving a gift of silverware to a bride, should the initials of the bride's maiden name or those of her husband's name be engraved upon it?

A. The initials should be those of the bride's maiden name.

Letter To The Editor

Mr. Arthur Laurin, Editor,
The Morrisburg Leader,
Morrisburg, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Laurin—The Executive and members of the Women's Institute of Williamsburg wish to thank you most sincerely for your kind assistance in procuring for us the donation of 500 pages for our Tweedsmuir Village History Book.

We would also like to say "thank you" for so many thoughtful favours you have done for us in the past.

We appreciate your thoughtfulness and generosity and more especially the way in which you are always so willing to aid us in our work.

Yours very sincerely,
(Mrs.) Audrey O. Beckstead,
Secretary.

Editor, Morrisburg Leader,
Dear Sir—

As one who was urged to bring newspaper space into play in an attempt to arouse enthusiasm for an old-home week in Morrisburg, and as one who accepted the urge and found it to fail, I would suggest that the matter be dropped—left in abeyance until 1960, when a Centennial Celebration will be in order in Morrisburg. That in 1910 was a semi-centennial observance of the separation of what was West Williamsburg (now Morrisburg) from the Township of Williamsburg.

In the ordinary course of events, not one of the semi-centennial committee will be living in 1960, but copies of The Leader and The Herald will still be available, carrying helpful hints in their reports of the 1910 event, while each and all of the old committee can be depended upon to be with you in spirit. There is always some appeal in precedent.

W. J. (Bill) STYLES.

Ed. Note: When an Old Home Week was proposed by some Morrisburg citizens, there no one who worked harder or more enthusiastically than our friend, Bill Styles, to make this dream a reality. It is to be regretted that his efforts, and those or other forward-looking citizens have come to naught due to indifference of civic leaders and the apathy of citizens at large, who would like to see such a celebration, but do not feel like working for it.

Learning to Work With Copper and Brass

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, every effort on the part of workers to become proficient in the art of shaping and moulding copper and brass, will mean greater industrial progress—will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy—that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

Doreen Beckstead Wins Honours At Convention

The Eastern District Luther League convention for Ottawa Valley Centre was held in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Arnprior Saturday and Sunday with 85 registered delegates and numerous guests in attendance. The organization was under the direction of Rev. J. Neff, and the convention was one of the most successful ever held in the district.

The annual drama festival held in conjunction with the convention with plays presented by Pembroke, Ottawa and Williamsburg casts, was an outstanding success with the Williamsburg presentation of "For Whom the Telephone Rings", taking top honours. The Ottawa play was "Scrambled Eggs" and the Pembroke presentation "O Say Can You Sing". The honors for the best actor and actress went to Ottawa's Illmars Berzins, a new Canadian, for his portrayal of a bogus Russian count. Berzin's ability won the acclaim of the gathering and great praise from Arthur Clare, Ottawa adjudicator. The best actress award went to Doreen Beckstead of Williamsburg, for her portrayal of a teen-ager. This actress' ability was also praised by the adjudicator.

Cast for the Williamsburg play was as follows: Virgie Merkley, Doreen Beckstead, Muriel Saddlemire, Harold Waldroff, Shirley Strader, Lynn Jackson.

Rev. J. Neff, pastor, conducted the Sunday services and welcomed the congregation and delegates. The sermon was preached eby Rv. G. Innes of Williamsburg, who chose as his sermon theme "O use me, Lord, Use even me".

Various reports were read, followed by the election of new officers.

A vesper service and candlelight installation ceremony were held on Sunday evening when the newly-elected officers were installed in an impressive ceremony.

The meals and banquet for the convention were under the direction of church.

"Activated" Shell Premium—the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

*Activation makes the difference!
Simplified molecule of Shell Gasoline, split by Shell's own refining processes to give you extra molecular energy, extra performance in your car. Every drop of "Activated" Shell Premium goes to work for you . . . more power, quicker get-away, full mileage, faster warm-up.

Yes, the most powerful . . . no other brand of gasoline can do more in the engine of your car than "Activated" Shell Premium!

This is made possible by Shell's own, specially produced power components and by Shell's own blending methods. Actually, Shell splits molecules to get extra molecular energy. And you get a gasoline that's "Activated" 4 WAYS:

1. Activated for knockless power! In low gear or at full throttle, Shell Premium delivers full, quiet power!
2. Activated for fast "get away". Shell Premium delivers the extra power you can feel!
3. Activated for quicker warm-up! Shell Premium warms up your motor up to 30% faster!
4. Activated for full mileage. Shell engineers "Balance" Shell Premium so that every drop of fuel goes to work for you! Pull into your Shell station and fill up with "Activated" Shell Premium!

YOU CAN BE SURE OF SHELL!

OXO PLAYS PART IN HISTORIC FILM!

Actual scene from the film showing Oxo at Scott's Antarctic base.

The technical accuracy of the important film, "Scott of the Antarctic" was helped by details from Oxo's records. The original Expedition included quantities of Oxo. Capt. Scott, writing on 20th October, 1911, said: "Oxo has been of material use to this Expedition in the preparation of a wholesome and varied winter diet".

Remember . . . Oxo Cubes and Fluid are made in Canada and on sale everywhere.

look at your home through the eyes of a stranger

Could it do with a good coat of paint and a general 'fix up'?

Strange how we are apt to notice signs of neglect in someone else's house and overlook the same things in our own. It's a costly tendency, too. For one bit of disrepair soon leads to another. Wood deteriorates when the paint wears off. A broken post undermines the whole fence.

It pays to make your repairs promptly.

That goes for indoor improvements, too. You save money, time and material, by attending to home repairs right away — before the damage gets worse. And every improvement adds to your comfort and to your pride in your home.

If you need more money than you have on hand to pay for the necessary repairs, see your B of M manager about a low-cost loan. Save by paying cash. And save yourself trouble by paying off all repair bills at once.

Why not make a list of the repairs your house needs today? Then discuss your improvement plans with your B of M manager . . . in confidence. You'll like his helpful attitude.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP
is a lot of little things

WELCOME NEWCOMERS

Few things in life are so deeply appreciated as the friendly spirit that exists among neighbors. It is one of those things that make life happier. And it can work miracles for the stranger in your community . . . it can make him feel at home; glad that he lives there. Extend a welcome to the newcomer . . . see that he meets your friends and becomes one of them. The spirit of neighborliness is one of the true foundations of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

TURNING THE PAGES OF
"CANADA UNLIMITED"

When Canada was growing up, hewing a living from the virgin forest left little time for holidaying. By the 1790's, visits to distant friends were popular. Settlers would travel three hundred miles by sleigh in winter to see their friends.

Picnics were popular by 1835. While the men fished, the women picked berries, and all joined for lunch. In Springtime, excursions to the woods for "maple-sugar making" were greeted with delight.

With the arrival of the automobile about 1900, and improvement in the roads, people began to travel to "see the sights". Touring to Niagara Falls, Muskoka or the Laurentians, became a common holiday pastime.

Today, tourists are big business. Canada is a vast wonderland, with countless surprises for the sightseer—and each year millions of Canadians and visitors tour our land. The opportunities that exist in the tourist industry are many—for there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

"We Liberals have dedicated ourselves to maintaining a high level of employment and income, because that means a high and widely distributed standard of living for our people."

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent brought about by constructive Liberal policies

Liberals mean what they say. Look over the record of the last five years — the most impressive period of prosperity and growth in our history. It shows that Liberal performance exceeds Liberal promises.

Under Liberal policies, Canadians can be confident that this forward march will continue — that Liberal promises will again be carried out.

More Jobs—More Income

More people are working than in any previous peacetime period — nearly a million more than in 1939. National income is three times as high as in 1939, is more widely distributed than ever before.

More Savings

People have nearly 2½ million more bank accounts than before the war. They have put aside more than 4 billion dollars in personal bank savings.

More Production and Trade

The products of our farms and forests, factories and mines and fisheries are worth twice as much as ten years ago. And Canada's exports are more than four times greater. Canada is the world's third largest trading nation.

More Family Allowances

The federal government has, since 1945, invested one billion dollars in Canada's children. Four million boys and girls in 1¾ million families are receiving a better start in life. Benefits are being extended this year.

More Old Age Pensions

Federal payments have been twice increased since 1945. The new pension basis is now increased to $40.00 a month, providing greater comfort and security for the aged and blind.

National Health

Health grants to provinces are helping to build a stronger nation. Many projects are already under way: nine province-wide health surveys; 13,000 additional hospital beds; training for health specialists; increased health services and research.

Aid to Home Builders

Close to 300,000 dwellings have been built since the war. More homes have been built in Canada, in proportion to population, than in any other country; and more were built last year than any time in our history.

And lowered taxes as well!

By careful administration the Liberal government has established these records and been able at the same time to cut the national debt by 1,625 million dollars.

And every budget since 1945 has announced lowered rates of taxation.

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

They Drained a Lake

to give Canada a Great New Industry

IT HAPPENED in Ontario's Rainy River District. Steep Rock Lake — fifteen miles long and ranging in depth from 40 to 265 feet — was emptied by batteries of giant pumps. Finlayson Lake was lowered by draining from the bottom. The course of the Seine River was completely changed. And one of the richest bodies of iron ore on the continent was uncovered. Providing millions of tons of ore a year — with enough uncovered for years to come — Steep Rock's development has been spectacular, but it is only ONE of many examples of Canada's tremendous modern advance. Today we truly live in a Greater Canada—one with productive capacity vastly increased and diversified, offering to young Canadians greater opportunities than ever before in every field of endeavour.

The iron and steel manufacturing industry presents another spectacular example of development: productive capacity and number of employees have been doubled since before the war, striking indication of Canada's new position as one of the world's great industrial nations.

SO MANY OPPORTUNITIES

"A sound idea and the determination to carry it through—those are sure passports to success in Canada today where there are so many interesting opportunities in so many different kinds of activity" —says MR. LESLIE BUTCHER, of Windsor, Ont.

Mr. Butcher—member of Canada's 1936 Olympic basketball team—after returning from college in the U.S. and being manager of a local insurance office, started his own Butcher Enterprises. Their development provides many examples of this young Canadian's energy and enterprise. They include: a unique and successful service in the wrapping of products for shipping; and the modernization of the Windsor Arena to present outstanding sports and entertainment events with great success.

One of a series presented by

to promote a fuller realization by Canadians of Canada's present greatness
