Sounds like fun

The gymnasium of Winchester Public School was the place to be this weekend as two concerts were held to raise money for Winchester's centennial celebrations next year. Gospel singer Mureka Warumba was among the entertainers whose performances helped raise over $500 for the centennial fund.

Former Winchester Hawks forward Doug Vasey was stymied by goalie Greg Kirkwood's stick handle on this play during the shootout portion of the Winchester Capitals Junior B Reunion Tournament over the weekend. Alexandria Glens defeated the Hawks 6-2 in the final game.

Matilda flooding hurts agriculture, say area farmers

BRINSTON — A local committee of Matilda Township council members and farmers is about to launch a campaign to alleviate flooding problems that have caused an average of over $800,000 damage here every year.

According to members of the group, who plan to hold a public meeting at Matilda Township Hall, April 13 to discuss the issue, a major project is needed to dredge the South Branch of the Nation River, also known as Black Creek.

"There has already been a lot of money spent on channelization for the South Nation itself, so we would like to see the job finished up," said Township farmer Norm Tinkler at a press conference in Brinston last Wednesday. "There is no doubt the South Nation dredging has helped a lot, but there's still this little problem to be cleared up."

Despite severe damage from summer flooding each year, committee members said, work on the South Branch is not on the list of projects to be undertaken by the South Nation River Conservation Authority at present.

According to the group, which also includes farmer Henry Zandbergen and township council members Michael Ault and Anna Smail, the problem of flooding in Matilda Township could be improved by correcting what they called a mistake made two years ago.

When a new bridge was installed on County Road 5, which follows the boundary between Mountain and Matilda Tonwships, the South Branch was re-routed to flow into the South Nation at a point about 300 feet further upstream. As a result, said Zandbergen, the South Branch now enters the Nation upstream from the point where the 1984 Chesterville channelization project ended, and therefore into a shallower and narrower part of the river.

"It's creating a real bottleneck," said Zandbergen. "It's a mistake that was directly made by the river authority and they should correct that." The dredged portion of the South Nation is approximately 60 feet wide. Further upstream, where the dredging work ended, the river is only 35 feet wide and about 40 inches shallower, Zandbergen said.

Because of the new outlet 300 feet further upstream, said Zandbergen, "the South Branch is back to square one, the way it was before it was dredged."

According to committee members, no cost figures are available as yet for a project to dredge and re-route the South Branch. The group's immediate goal is to obtain these figures and to gauge public support for the project. "Part of the reasoning behind this public meeting is to find out whether the township itself will stand behind this thing," said Tinkler.

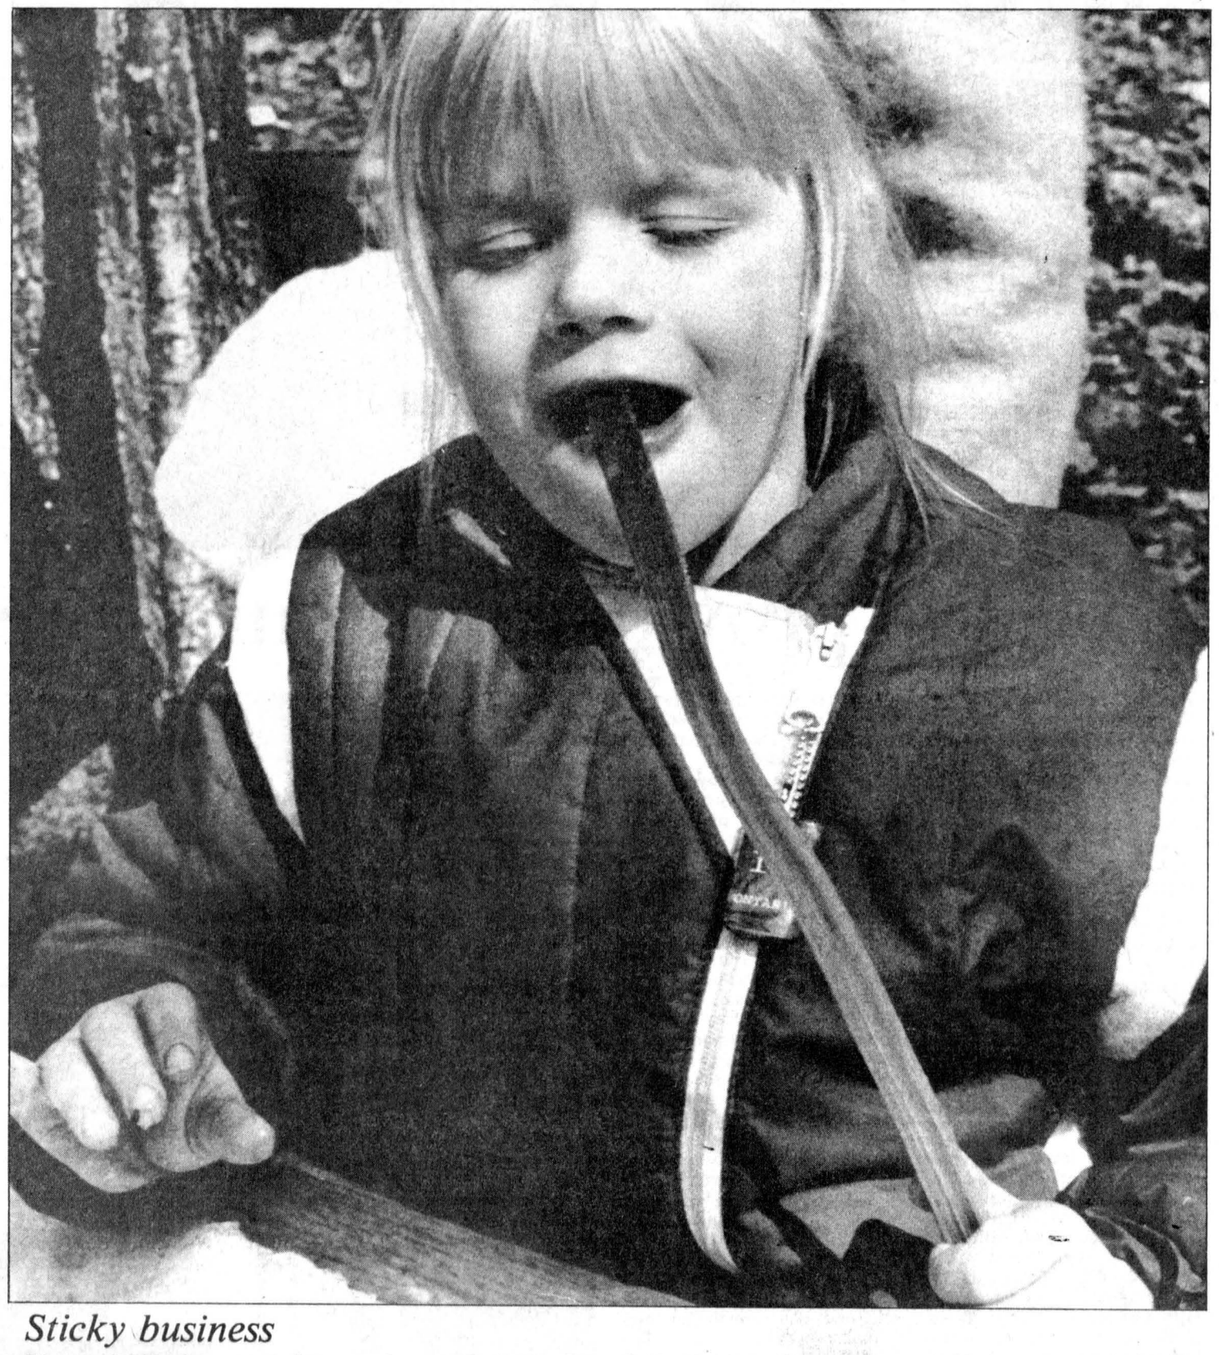
Organizers hope to have MPP Noble Villeneuve as well as representatives of the Ministries of the Environment and Natural Resources at the meeting, set to begin at 8pm Mon., April 13.

The meeting will be aimed at creating greater public awareness of the problem of flooding during the growing season. Tinkler estimated that between 16,000 to 20,000 acres of land in the township is affected by summer flooding, and that 80 per cent of the land in the township drains into the South Branch.

There will always be some spring flooding, Zandbergen added, but the group's prime concern is flooding during the actual growing season. In 1986, there were floods in May, July and September.

Figures published February, 1983 in the South Nation River Conservation Authority's Water Management Study show that total average annual flood damage in the Brinston flood zone is greater than in any of the three other flood zones in the South Nation waterwshed. Average annual damage in the Brinston flood zone totalled $879,000 in 1980. Of this total, $345,340 was growing season damage. The second most seriously affected flood zone, Plantagenet, had a total average annual damage of $401,820. Average annual damage in the two other flood zones, Bear Brook and South Castor, totalled $116,390 and $173,950 respectively.

According to committee members, the high cost of flood damage in the Brinston flood zone should make up for the expense of any project to dredge the South Branch. Farming in Matilda Township generates an estimated $30 to $35-million in agricultural products every year, said Tinkler.



Sticky business

Discovering how sap turns into maple syrup is interesting enough for most kids, but seeing how it miraculously turns from syrup to taffy on snow is the most exciting, as this youngster found out while visiting the Barkleyvale Sugar Bush on the weekend. The Williamsburg Township sugar bush was busy with visitors, as crowds came out to enjoy a pancake social and take tours of the sugar bush near Dunbar. Press Photo—den Boer

Trustees 'burst' bubble gym idea

NEPEAN — Osgoode Township trustee, Carol Parker, met with formidable opposition in her plans to bring a bubble gym and expanded facilities to Castor Valley Centre (the former Snake Island Centre) at last Monday evening's board meeting.

The board agreed the recently renamed school would become a Kindergarten to Grade Four for the upcoming school year, but assured that the extra children and an adequate gym program could be accommodated without the bubble, decided to refer it to the budget process. That means the resolution must be considered in committee as part of the budget make-up. That deliberation took place Thursday evening, and the gym was again given the thumbs down. Because of that decision, as of Thursday night, the gym was no longer part of the budget deliberations.

Parker did win two out of three fights for her constituents, though, at the Monday evening meeting. Along with the extension of the school's program to include Grade 4, trustees agreed to engage in a wide-ranging study of all educational facilities in Osgoode Township.

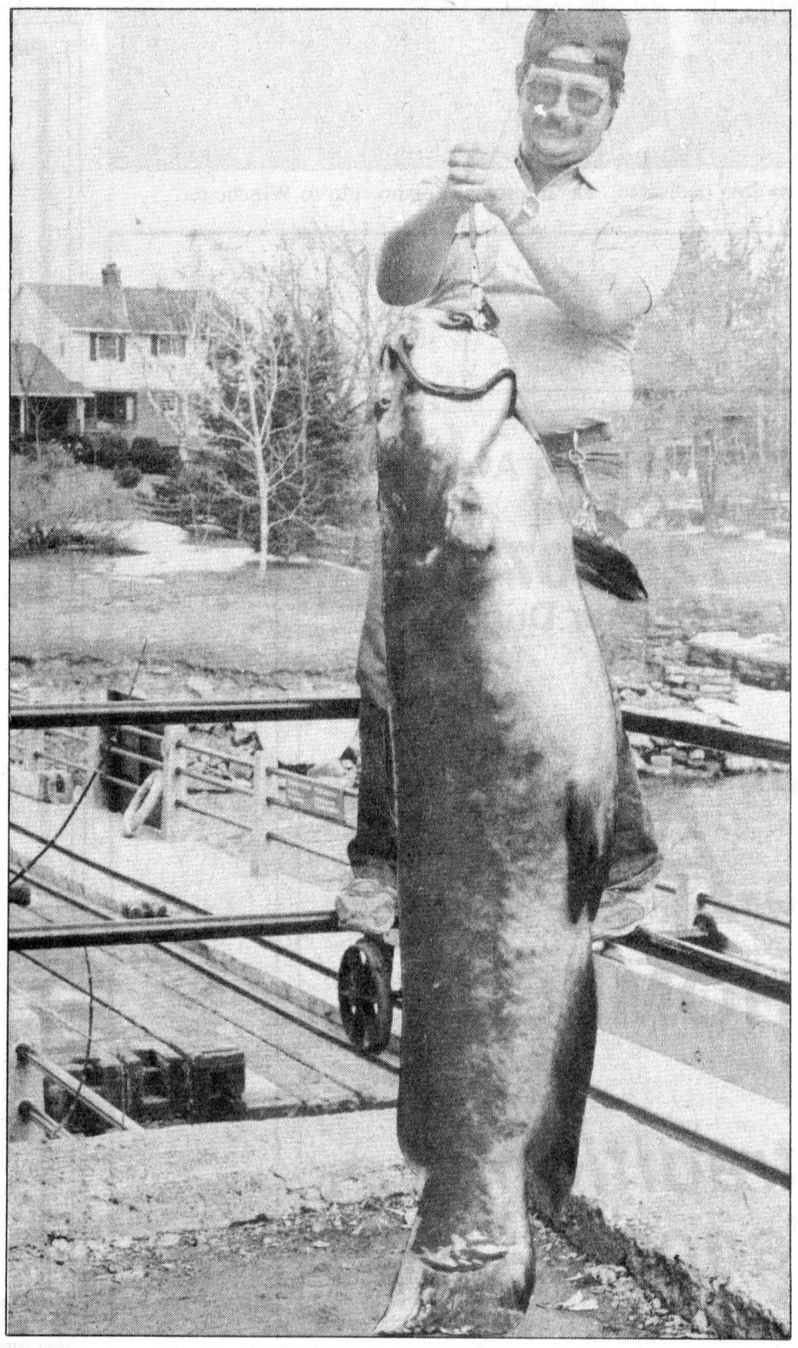
Osgoode's trustee pronounced herself pleased with the decision explaining that it was the one item that she had been counting on approval for. "It will let us know what we can do with the facilities to make them viable and economical."

Delegations of parents in favor of retaining K-3 status as well as those in favor of expansion to Grade 4 made presentations before the board. Both submitted statistics to back up their respective points of view.

Key to the argument of those parents who wanted Grade Fours returned to Kars Public School was the availability of adequate library facilities and challenging material for them. The board agreed with the point and asked Director of Education, Lyle MacLennan to ensure that sufficient material was present in the Castor Valley Centre Library to challenge the ever-expanding ability of its students. Other concerns included the availability of various extra-curricular activities at Kars while Castor Valley cannot offer such interest items as choir and jazz dancing. Board members tried to assure parents that these or other activities would become more available as the teachers and parents of the school become more settled into routines.

Parents who favored keeping the grade 4 students at Castor Valley based their argument on the phrasing the board used when it established the school. Termed "Phase 1" of Early French Immersion in the township, they said this expressed a commitment to expanding EFI to Phase 2, which they felt must include grade four.

The study, which the board will undertake, is slated to be ready for consideration by trustees as early as fall 1987.



The one that didn't get away

Rick Story of North Gower, an ardent Rideau River fisherman, had a dream come true Tuesday when he landed this 5-foot, 10-inch, 214 lb. catfish near "Little Chesterville" on the Rideau River. Rick had been stalking this old fellow, believed to be about 100 years old, for the past three years, and landed him Tuesday morning with a salmon rod and 70-pound test line. E.O. health unit joins meningitis campaign

WINCHESTER — A free clinic to innoculate children against the bacteria which causes meningitis will be offered here on April 9 at the Health Unit office in the Municipal building.

The immunization clinic is part of a province-wide push prompted by the discovery of a new vaccine last year designed to fight off the bacteria haemophilius influenza type b (Hib), which is one of the major causes of meningitis in young children, says Mel McGuire, a supervisor for the Cornwall region at the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Since last month, the Ontario Medical Association (OMA) has been pushing for parents to have their children vaccinated with the serum. The Health Unit decided to augment the OMA's efforts by holding free clinics across the province on April 9, she says.

McGuire adds that children can also get the vaccination at their doctor's office, but "because we knew physicians couldn't accommodate all their patients, we decided to hold free clinics too."

Although meningitis is still "quite rare", the target group for the vaccine is children two to five years old, as well as high risk children, these would have a greater chance of being exposed to the bacteria in daycare centres, nurseries and early kindergarten classes, says McGuire.

Meningitis has a mortality rate of five per cent and usually exhibits itself through the inflammation of the thin covering of the brain, called the meninges.

"Children will usually have severe headaches and other neurological complications if they've been diagnosed with the disease," she says.

The bacteria, commonly termed 'Hib', can also cause pneumonia, infective arthritis, infections of the bone, and a number of other infections.

The chances of a child being exposed to the bacteria by the age of five is one in 200, and the chances are increased as that child is exposed to more children at an early age, says McGuire.

The clinics on April 9 will be held from 1pm until 6pm at Health Units in Winchester, Cornwall, Alexandria, Casselman, Rockland and L'Original at the Hawkesbury General Hospital.

Only children between the ages of 24 months and five years will be able to receive the vaccine, advises McGuire.

Children younger than 24 months are not old enough to have built up the immunity system needed for the vaccine to hold and those older should be able to resist the bacteria better, she notes.

Pharmaceutical companies and scientists are, however, working on a vaccine that can be administered to children younger than 24 months which would eliminate the risk of them contacting the bacteria at a younger age, she adds.

Hospital seeks public input

WINCHESTER — The public is being invited to have a say in the future of Winchester District Memorial Hospital as opinions and comments are sought in developing a strategic plan for the hospital's future role, services and facilities.

The process of developing the plan has been in progress for the past month, said hospital executive director Bert Stel Tuesday. The hospital is inviting the public to submit comments on services currently provided and to identify services the hospital should provide in the future.

The hospital's board of governors approved the study late last year and selected the planning firm of Peat, Marwick and Partners to carry it out. "They are quite active in the area," Stel noted. He said the study will eventually produce a report that should give the hospital, the district health council and the provincial government some idea of the hospital's future direction.

Some issues which are likely to be addressed according to Stel include the need for additional chronic care beds, expanding rehabilitation services, and the hospital's "severe storage problem".

Kite in Hydro lines a shocker

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — A South Mountain resident has some advice for anyone finding a kite tangled in power lines.

Steven Caza of South Mountain found a string hanging over the deck at the back of his house which turned out to be attached to Hydro lines. Hydro officials later told him he was very lucky not to have been "cooked right there" when he tugged on the innocent-looking piece of string. "I was lucky I didn't get a good shock out of it," Caza told the Press Tuesday.

Hydro officials said the kite string was especially dangerous because wet weather would have made it an even better conductor of electricity.

Concerts provide centennial prelude

WINCHESTER — Chicago, New York, Paris — all have been immortalized in song. Even Winchester Cathedral earned a footnote in the history of popular music a few years ago.

But Dundas County's own village of Winchester had been neglected by the world's composers until Saturday night.

At the first of two concerts held at Winchester Public School this weekend to benefit the village's centennial next year, renowned keyboard artist and composer Roland Deveze put things in order. Saying he was happy to be playing in Winchester, the piano virtuoso and native of Marseilles, France decided on the spot to entitle an improvised piano solo "Hello, Winchester."

Area music lovers packed the school auditorium Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon for the two concerts, organized by Roy Fawcett and billed as "Sounds Like Music" and "Sounds Like Gospel." The concerts raised $532 for the village centennial. Harry Keyes, co-chairman of the Centennial Committee with Shirley Fawcett, told the audience at the Sounds Like Music concert Saturday that the shows were an indication of what Winchester residents can look forward to next year. "This is just a prelude to what we've got planned for you in 1988," Keyes said.

Organizer Roy Fawcett said he felt there should have been a larger turnout Saturday night, since the crowd for the Sunday performance was twice as large. "But most of the people who made up the difference were there Saturday night, so they must have liked what they heard," he added.

An impressive array of talent was assembled for the shows, including Deveze, pianist Doug Warren of Ottawa, well-known local organist Sharon Adams and gospel singers Mureka Warumba of East Africa and Homer James of the Billy Graham team.

An estimated 130 people were on hand for Saturday's concert, while the numbers swelled to 230 for the finale Sunday. Deveze was featured in Saturday's performance only while James sang in Sunday's concert only.

The concerts offered spirited gospel performances by both James and Mureka Warumba, now a resident of Toronto, as well as instrumental solos and duets by the keyboard players.

Warren, owner of Warren's House of Britches and a piano performer in CN Hotels for 15 years, opened Saturday's show with a rendition of Scott Joplin's ragtime classic "The Entertainer", and also contributed medleys of show tunes, both alone and in duets with organist Adams. A medley of popular songs from the war years had the audience singing along.

Solos by Adams offered unique versions of classics like Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring and the battle Hymn of the Republic.

Performances by the gospel soloists earned several standing ovations.

In a show-stopping finale Sunday, all the performers joined in a rousing "When the Saints Go Marching in."

Pianist Roland Deveze dedicated an improvised piano solo to Winchester.

Police investigate trailer robbery

WINCHESTER — Police are still investigating a theft at the Weagant Farm supplies on Hwy. 43, where thieves made away with a tractor trailer loaded with a smaller tractor and loader.

Police reports indicate that sometime between 4pm and 10pm on March 28, the 1986 GMC tractor and 1977 Landoll hydraulic float trailer were taken from the compound at Weagant's Farm Supplies in Mountain Township.

On March 21 a single vehicle collision occurred on Hwy. 31 north of County Rd. 13.

Stephen Giroux, 24, of Ottawa, was southbound in his 1982 Pontiac, when it went onto the west shoulder, entered the west ditch and rolled over. Giroux' vehicle sustained approximately $3,000 damage.

As a result of an investigation conducted by Cst. Bryan Helmer, Giroux was charged with careless driving.

On March 28 a single vehicle collision on Hwy 43 at Nine Mile Road in Winchester Twp., resulted in approximately $1,000 to the vehicle. Tracie Baker, 19, of Russell, was turning her 1986 Ford left from Nine Mile Road on Hwy 43 when it entered the south ditch. No charges were laid as a result of the investigation conducted by Cst. Kevin Kennedy.

SVTC supporting new playhouse

PRESCOTT — A proposal by the Upper Canada Playhouse to establish a permanent structure for live theatre in Dundas has received the support of the Seaway Valley Tourist Council.

Discussions are under way between playhouse officials and the St. Lawrence Parks Commission for construction of a permanent facility near Upper Canada Village.

According to tourist council president Freda Eaton, the existing tent structure has served its purpose well in convincing business that the playhouse could help to attract tourists to the area. She said an increase in motel occupancy rates was noted when the theatre resumed operations three years ago.

A feasibility study last year proposed a new $1.3 million theatre to be constructed near Upper Canada Village. The new building and its location were reommended by Arcop Associates of Toronto, designers of the National Arts Centre in Ottawa.

The new building's design would resemble the barn-like style of early meeting halls. The theatre would seat between 425 and 450 people, the same capaity as the present tent theatre.

Whose responsibility is it?

There is no doubt that the traditional family of 20 or 30 years ago — a father who goes to work while the mother stays at home with the children — is increasingly a thing of the past.

Daycare advocates claim that just 16 per cent of Canadian families today fit that description, and it is this fact that is fueling the growing demand for a universal daycare system. That the issue has the potential to influence election outcomes is evidenced by the emergence this week of separate reports on child care by each of the federal political parties.

The problem of access to daycare for people in rural areas also took on an added interest this week. A provincial court judge has decided not to prosecute a woman charged with illegally operating a babysitting service in Brockville. The case could set an important precedent, particularly in areas of Ontario where access to daycare is limited.

Judge Ronald MacFarlane ruled that closing down the babysitting service would violate the constitutional rights of the parents currently using it. Because no alternative service exists, these parents would effectively be denied the right to earn a living by being forced to stay home and look after their children, he argued. Although the service did not meet provincial standards as set out in the Day Nurseries Act, the judge felt it would be unfair to deprive the parents of its use until something else came along to replace it.

One recent poll indicated that six out of 10 Canadians think the government — i.e. the taxpayer — should fund daycare. The Brockville case points out one argument to support this point of view. In many areas of the province, daycare is limited or non-existent. If the government wants to close existing daycare facilities in areas where no other service exists, the same government should be willing to take the responsibility of providing the level of service it considers acceptable.

Some general news notes in the paper this week mentioned that due to a prevalence of chicken stealing throughout the county, notices were issued by the Attorney General's Department to all magistrates to impose prison sentences on all those who were found guilty of the crime. It was decided that heavy fines had not proved enough of a deterrent in the past to stop people from stealing.

U.S. reports said 20,000 people were killed in car accidents in 1926. The toll of human life taken by automobiles was at a rate of nearly three persons per hour, or 62 people a day. Fatalities on the highways alone had jumped 13 per cent from 17,600 in 1924 to 19,800 in 1925.

The Ontario government passed, but had not yet put into effect a new law raising the speed limit on highways from 35 mph to 50 mph. The law was to come into effect 60 days from this time, but motorists were already driving by the new speed limit. Police across the province were busy explaining the matter to speeding motorists.

Complete coverage for Canadian radio listeners of the coronation on May 12 of His Majesty King George VI, was to be given by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation through the co-operation with the British Broadcasting Corporation. CBC also planned to present a series of dramatizations, musical programs and talks based on the different phases of the coronation.

Although official word had yet to be received, Canadian Pacific Railways had indicated it would cancel an earlier decision to discontinue two local railway routes through the village by April 28. The news came as a great relief to about 8,000 people in and around the village who used the morning and evening trains regularly.

William F. Workman, the editor and publisher of the Winchester Press passed away while vacationing in Florida. Workman, a former Reeve of the village, who had been associated with the paper for 40 years, was given special mention at a regular council meeting by Reeve John Fader.

Douglas Peacock was named General Manager of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission. Peacock, 42, had served as an executive officer in the prime minister's office. He was also a former supervisor of the Planning and Development for the Parks branch of Lands and Forests. MPP for Stormont, Fernard Guindon, announced the appointment and said the commission was fortunate to gain the services of a man with such broad experience.

James Fawcett was recognized as having the top herd for fertility efficiency (at 84 per cent) in Dundas County, on his 26 milking cow herd, according to reports released by Eastern Breeders Inc. The herd of George Suffel of Mountain followed close behind with 80 per cent and Lorne Strader's herd in Brinston was top in the 15 to 25-cow competition, with a fertility rate of 95 per cent.

SD&G secondary school teachers planned to walk off the job this week after failing to reach an agreement with the board on the inclusion of working conditions in the 1976-77 contract. The strike would leave 9,000 students without instruction for an indefinite amount of time.

The popular Queen of Queen's pageant sponsored for many years by the Metcalfe and District Lions Club was not to get the go-ahead this year. The event was discussed at length at club meetings before the idea was shelved. However, optimism was in the air for reviving the pageant in 1978.

The life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

When children reach the age where they want to help with the housework, it's time to run for cover.

The problem isn't their desire to help, which at the age of one and two burns as keenly as their desire to spread lasagna as far as a fork will fling it. It has more to do with the fact that parents and pre-school children do not see eye to eye on what constitutes a clean home.

The other day I came home and was met by my daughter at the door. She was holding up a plastic pail of freshly skinned onions. Behind her, a choked voice asked, "I hope you like a lot of onions with your pork chops!"

Caitlin, however, would not let the moment be taken from her. She pointed to the pile of onion skins that my wife was now sweeping off the kitchen floor and proudly proclaimed, "Dirt". Smiling, she looked back at her pail and offered up a naked onion to her daddy.

It was enough to make a grown man cry.

It all started innocently enough with a small wooden stool that allowed Caitlin to stand high enough to reach over the kitchen sink and "wash" the dishes.

She was soon joined by her younger brother who, although he could not see into the sink, could cock his arm over the edge and release a spray of water that sent both of them into giggling fits.

Could they be much cuter? With a father's pride I wiped the water off my lens and snapped off a roll of film.

The trouble began when Caitlin, no longer content to drop tablespoons of water on her brother's head, decided she was ready to pull her own weight with the household chores.

"Caitlin is driving me nuts," my wife said one night.

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"While I'm doing dishes she's doing the same and then she sneaks them in with the ones I've done."

"Well, what's wrong with that?"

"Wayne, when you pretend wash, you get pretend clean."

And later, we found out to our mortification, you get guests who pretend not to see the dried food on the plate that we failed to catch.

The dishwashing was followed by a thorough cleaning of the pots in the cupboards and, on a daily basis, a taking of the inventory of the toy box.

"How long is this going to last?" I asked my wife one night as we picked our way to the living room.

"Until we really want them to help us," she said.

Worse than a sloppy young housecleaner, however, is a quiet one.

My wife and I had just relaxed on the couch when we realized there was no noise in the house. I bolted out to the kitchen to find my daughter unwinding the last 50 feet of a 200 foot roll of paper towel while her brother ripped each sheet into strips.

"What are you kids doing?" I asked, clutching my head in my hands.

Caitlin held a handful of strips from Tristan's pile. "Dirt," she said.

When I finally got the roll back together, it looked like a bandaged leg in a failed first aid examination.

Still, there are worse things than miniature Hazels running around the house creating messes by cleaning up.

Like yesterday.

"Wayne, do you know what your children did today?" my wife asked.

"If they are my children now, I take it it isn't good."

My wife shook her head. "You know that yellow marker pen you bought for underlining notes?"

"Yes, I have it right here," I said, patting an empty pocket.

"No, the kids had it." She led me over to the easy chair where a yellow Picasso now graced the cushion. "What do you think of that?"

"Well, I always suspected we had typical kids," I said. "Now I have it in writing."

Letters

The Editor:

In response to your editorial of March 18, 1987, concerning the proposed enforcement of the municipal parking bylaw and the present non-compliance with same; as the manager of a downtown institution, I would like to take this opportunity to come to the defense of my employees.

You, Mr. Editor, are absolutely right. My staff do park on the streets of Winchester; but let's take a moment to analyse why they do it before you condemn them.

It is not because they are "too lazy to walk half a block"; it is not because of indifference to the Main Street merchants; it is not because of indifference to the downtown customers. They park on the street out of fear; fear for both themselves and their personal property. You see, Mr. Editor, my staff used to park behind our place of business away from the merchants and customers and this is what happened:

1 Four cars had the gasoline syphoned from their tanks on an ongoing basis.

2 One car was broken into, resulting in the theft of a $1,200 set of golf clubs.

3 One new car had the paint peeled off within three weeks by a 'mysterious' pollutant, with the subsequent insurance claim disallowed as the claimant was considered to have knowingly continued to park in an area known to be subject to this 'mysterious' pollutant.

4 Three employees had close encounters with unsavoury characters and while it amounted to no more than verbal abuse, this was probably due more to good luck than good management.

While I realize that the gist of your article was not directed at my staff alone, I think you would have to agree that there are tangible and valid reasons for non-compliance with the parking bylaw and I would suggest that you "walk a mile in their shoes" or in this case even a couple of hundred yards, before you condemn so forcefully. In fact, why not recommend something constructive such as the establishment of all day parking on Louise and Caleb Streets for downtown employers, instead of the present two hour restriction.

You know, Mr. Editor, all the "parking offenders" are really looking for is a place to park where they can feel safe and secure, and I, for one, do not think that their request is unreasonable.

Thank you for your time.

Yours truly,
W.A. Fishburn

If you're smart you'll plan a move to our town (Metcalfe) before the hot weather sets in. This summer, you see, we'll be living in a mosquito-free neighborhood. And we owe it all to an old school mate. Now that we think about it he was one of those 'deep thinkers' way back in those wonderful days when MCS (Metcalfe Continuation School) was considered a major seat of learning. Oh he was a clever one all right. We still remember how easily he convinced us his homemade sling-shot (a cherry tree crotch with inner-tube rubber band) was much more valuable than our spanking new 'Big Ben' watch. Man, did we get taken — the old inner-tube broke on the second shot. And just because he's now retired doesn't mean Ernie (Whiteside) isn't still 'thinking'. He's been studying mosquitoes, and assured us just last weekend there'll be no need for either screen-doors or 'Off' in 'these here parts' during the months ahead. Here's how he's doing it. First he read everything available about insects and birds. One passage stuck in his mind - "Martins are pretty birds — and they consume mosquitoes". How many mosquitoes? According to his book of knowledge approximately 2,000 per day. Out came old Ernie's computer and drafting board - then his expensive construction tools. Now, almost ready for official 'ribbon-cutting ceremonies', is a split-level, multi-apartment complex ready for occupancy when the first martins arrive. The end result? Twenty happy birds consuming nearly two million pesky mosquitoes each month. And that's only the beginning! Ernie is now thinking in terms of 'Martin Hamlets' and, maybe very soon, a mosquito-free Golden Triangle. Your community thanks you, sir.

We knew it all along. We warned the men way back in 1937. "Don't let them in", we said, "or they'll twist our way of life into their way of life". But the men wouldn't listen - and now it's far too late. Was a time, as we are all well aware, when only women reserved the exclusive right to 'change their minds'. Now the curling fraternity (or should we say 'maternity') proudly boasts of the same right. Only three weeks ago (at the request of a lady curler) we advised those holding tickets on the 'Florida trip-for-two' that the draw date had been changed from April 11 to April 4. Know something? The draw won't be held on April 4! We've been informed again (this time by a man-curler) that the original date will be honored after all. Frankly, as long as we win, we don't really give a tinker's damn.

Sure don't want to make a habit of mentioning The Sunday Herald each week lest someone gets the idea we're involved in one of those government monopolies best known as conflict of interest. But heck someone has to warn Marc (Charlebois). In last Sunday's Notebook he ventured onto some mighty thin ice. Hopefully regional boss Andy (Haydon) won't get a copy of the last edition and hopefully no one will 'tattle'. Otherwise Marc might find himself in big trouble. Way we see it Marc, you just shouldn't have mentioned all those times you toured the city on OTC vehicles operated by your grandfather and your 'Uncle Lou'. Man, if Andy every hears how you hoodwinked the system, you're in a mess of hot water pal. Imagine, time after time, after time, climbing aboard the bus, putting your hand over the fare box and pretending to drop a ticket in! And they say Andy is a whizz at 'compounding interest' too!

We attribute our stupidity to old age. That (we hope) explains why, when recently a good friend told us he owed his life to CPR, we thought he meant Canadian Pacific Railway. Now we know a whole lot more about it, and think you should too. CPR means "Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation" and in one lesson, you can learn how perhaps to save a life. Bruce Griffin of Metcalfe is co-ordinator of the program. It's a life-saving technique being offered to practically all age levels, male and female. Cost of the course is only $20. A mighty small investment for such a valuable lesson. Suggest you call Bruce (821-1517) for additional information.

And it says here that doctors continually advise us drinking is bad for us — but they never explain why there are so many more old drunks than old doctors.

And it also says right here that the fences our politicians keep mending are the ones they're sitting on.

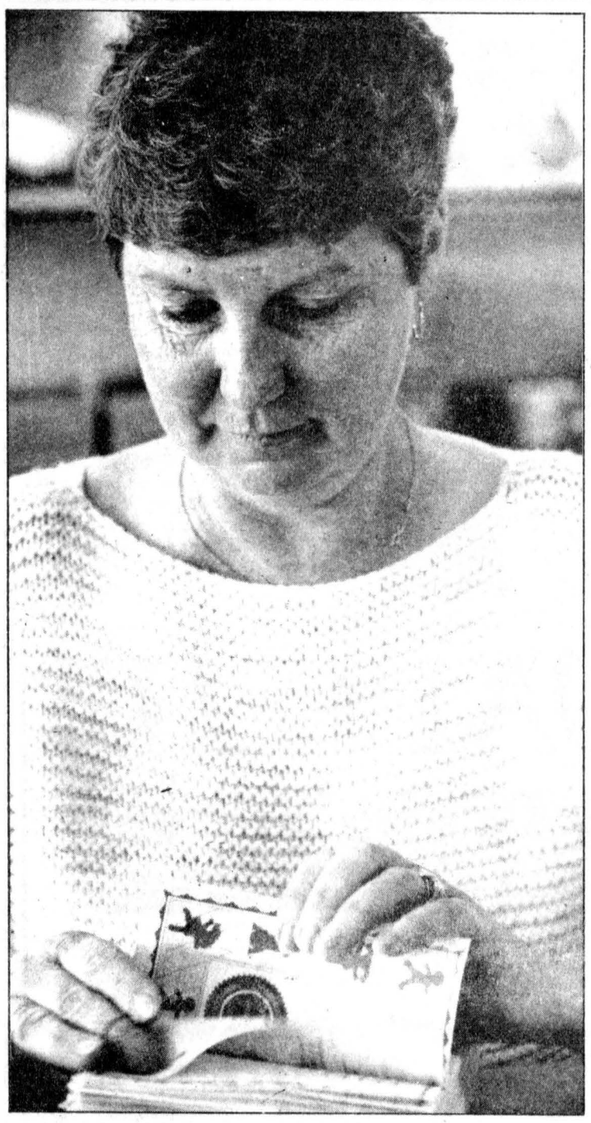
Rural mail business offers new career and challenges for Edwards mother of five



Lillian Loubert has owned and operated her manual mail sorting business, Executive Mailing Services, at her home in Edwards for almost three years.

EDWARDS — Life really did begin at 40 for Lillian Loubert.

In 1984 the 44-year-old mother of five quit her job at an Ottawa mailing house and set up her own mailing service company in her Cooper Hill Road home near here.

Today Loubert not only operates a booming business with six-full time employees, but she's finally achieved the goal she set years before.

After raising five children, Loubert says she felt she had lost her identity and wanted to do something on her own to regain her confidence and individuality.

Although she now operates her own business, handling mail which can't be processed by machine, she's still very much a mother-type figure to millions of children all over the world.

For the last three years Executive Mailing Services, Loubert's company name has had the contract to receive and categorize all Cabbage Patch Doll birth certificate applications in the United States, which handles sales all over the world, and more recently in Canada. Coleco's contracts gave Loubert a real boost, she admits, but she's slowly establishing herself in other sectors by getting respectable manual mail contracts with other major companies, agencies and political parties.

Loubert is part of about 22 per cent of Ontario women business owners who started their own bussiness because they wanted to be their own boss and one of about 11 per cent who always wanted to own a business.

What started out as an envelope-stuffing and manual mail processing business operated out of Loubert's family room, is now a beehive of activity in a converted garage beside her home which handles on average over 80,000 pieces of mail a week.

The Coleco contracts keep Executive Mailing Service hopping for most of January and February and any other traditional gift-giving period. The Applications are trucked from a drop off depot in Northern New York to Loubert's home every day, and must be opened, scanned for a return address and filed into proper piles according to the doll type.

After this, the filed applications are trucked to a data centre in Ottawa where they are processed.

Part II
of a series

For the rest of the year, Executive Mailing collates mail, hand-addresses and personally stamps envelopes for anyone who wants the personal touch message in the mailed item they're sending out.

"We do anything a machine can't do and tasks which require a personalized look," says Loubert.

Now three years into the business, Loubert says she's very happy with her life and career. "I've always set goals for everything in my life and this is just one of them."

However, there was a time when Loubert wasn't sure at all what kind of business she wanted to own.

The idea for this venture came really by necessity, as a result of the work she was doing at a mailing house in Ottawa.

Doing much the same work as her employees now spend five days a week doing here, Loubert soon realized then, there was a real need for a separate full-time business for hand-sorting mail.

"I would bring home piles of extra mail home from work and the whole family would help me sort it out." But when her 300 sq. ft. family room began to look more like a mini-warehouse, she realized it was time to expand and move up.

In a world that's becoming more automated every year, Loubert still insists there will always be a need for the services her company offers. With the odds so low against a person opening a piece of mail that's been typed or computer processed, she explains the need will out-live computers for a personalized letter and hand-written envelope.

Some of Loubert's biggest customers are companies and associations who run campaigns every year to collect donations. "Many of these people want to make sure the letter will at least be opened and if it's hand-written and addressed with pen, it probably will."

Loubert's long-term goal is to move out of the converted garage they presently occupy and into a bigger space. But that probably won't be for another five years. "Things are going too well the way they are," she adds.

An initial investment to renovate the garage and buy some equipment has not only already paid off, but the business is making a profit. Loubert's out-of-the-way location also allows her to keep bids lower than anyone else.

Even though only two other companies similar to Executive Mailing exist in the immediate Ottawa area, Loubert is usually able to bid less because of lower overhead costs. "Most people think I've made a mistake in my quote because it's so low." But because she had less to pay out, she can do the job for less, she says.

When expansion becomes absolutely necessary, Loubert's husband Gerald will join the company officially. He already does most of the company's public relations work through his job and contacts in Ottawa, she says. But when Executive gets bigger he'll come to work at it full time, she adds.

Explains Loubert: "His support is merely an extension of the back-patting he and my family have alway given me."

"You have to have a family that supports you if you want to do something like this." Although she admits it's hard to get away from the business on some nights, she says it's just as nice having the office so close to home, so she can walk to work and work around the house without too much interruption to her company.

The company might soon be a family operation too, if one of Loubert's four daughters decides to work with her mother.

"It's not an easy business, so I don't encourage any of the kids to get involved" she says.

For the most part, the company enjoys a good flow of work year-round. During the busy season from December to March, it's not unusual for 200 bags of mail to come rolling through the doors unloaded from a five-tonne truck.

The summer months are slower. "It's a time when we all can take it a little easier and it gives me a chance to catch up on some of my other work."

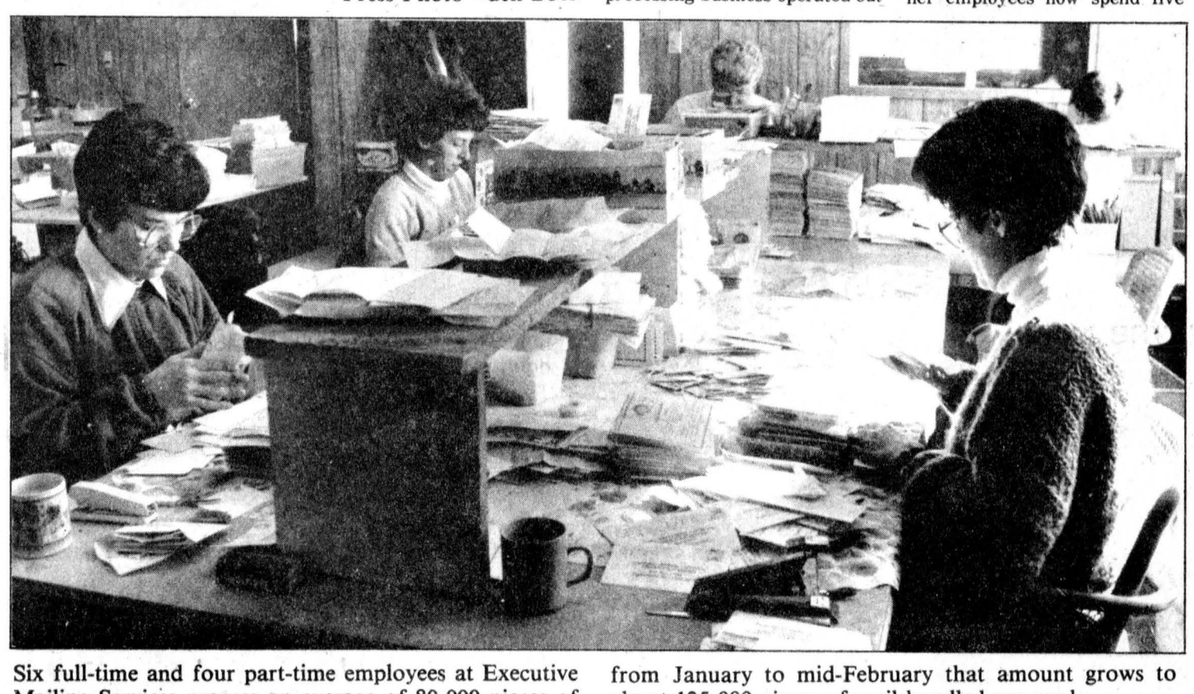
week's Press



Six full-time and four part-time employees at Executive Mailing Services process an average of 80,000 pieces of mail a week. During the height of Cabbage Patch fever from January to mid-February that amount grows to about 125,000 pieces of mail handled per week.

OPP offer crime prevention tips

MANOTICK — Hedge clippers can help protect a home! Cutting down hedges, shrubs and trees in front of windows and doors to make access more visible is a simple way to discourage break-ins.

Constable Brian Markell, Manotick OPP gave many valuable tips on crime prevention at the March meeting of Greely-Manotick Station Women's Institute, held at the home of Lila and Harland Smiley.

A film "Home Security Survey" starring TV actor Jack Elam was informative, and at times amusing, as it illustrated what helps and hinders a burglar. The use of locks, security devices, fingerprinting, the Neighborhood and Rural Watch programs were explained in detail to interested members and guests. Mary Van Westerop, consumers' convener, thanked Const. Markell on behalf of the institute.

Sadie Payne asked for volunteers to bake cookies for the WI tea room at the Spring Farm Show in Ottawa. It was decided to run a bus trip to Lanark and Perth on Sat., April 11. Several members plan to make a quilt to help the building fund for a guide dog training centre.

An executive meeting will be held April 13 and the next monthly meeting will be held on April 21

Minor Hawks, Flyers to merge

WINCHESTER — 97 votes were cast here last Thursday night. 72 were affirmative answers to a proposed resolution which read "Be it resolved that the Winchester and District Minor Hockey Association is dissolved for the explicit reason of amalgamation with the Chesterville and District Minor Hockey Association effective April 30, 1987.

The same evening in Chesterville 44 of 47 votes cast on the same resolution were in favor of dissolution of the CDMHA.

The votes marked the end of an era and the beginning of a new age for the neighboring minor hockey systems.

Last Thursday's meeting here in Winchester was brief and to the point. And when WDMHA president Bryan Helmer announced the outcome of the vote he said, "First of all I want to say that I'm very pleased with the turnout (97). I think it goes to show that people are concerned with the state of minor hockey and want to see it survive."

He continued by saying, "I want to tell the people who opposed amalgamation, the issue has been settled. Let's work together to provide better hockey for our kids."

Helmer, who assured over 70 WDMHA parents in a previous meeting that only a few children in each village would be forced to travel between the two arenas and that everything possible would be done to keep the youngest (novice aged) and recreational players (Level III - uncarded) right in their own rinks, told last Thursday's gathering that, "there has always been good volunteers in both towns and we are going to need them even more. There are good people here to run the new system and run it well."

Both associations must meet before the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League meeting slated for mid April in Kemptville to prepare to present their amalgamation proposal to the UCMHL executive who must in turn approve the move so the new organization can be operational by next season, Chesterville vice-president Dave McCadden expects that UCMHL will treat the merger as "just more paper work and just a formality."

The new association must now choose a new president, two vice-presidents (one from each of the old associations), one secretary, one referee-in-chief, and one chairman in charge of fundraising. All positions, excluding vice-president, would be open to any interested party from the new association. The ice convener and equipment manager's position would be open to the entire association.

A coaching selection committee has also been suggested to screen applicants for various coaching positions.

Financial arrangements with the villages and the townships as well as player development must also be discussed.

It has been suggested the new organization be called the North Dundas Minor Hockey Association. One person who doesn't agree with that proposal is Chesterville-Winchester Midget "A" Flyers coach Kevin Mackler who wanted to try and preserve the old identities. "North Dundas, who's going to know we are from Winchester and Chesterville?" he asked.

"Who knows where South Grenville is?, or South Stormont?

"Why not Win - Chester or Chester - Win? A name that tells everyone where we are from!"

A new name, logo and color scheme must all be discussed and assistance and suggestions are welcomed.

WDMHA president Bryan Helmer suggested that maybe a contest could be held and the kids could decide.

Both associations agree, however, everything would have to be original so neither village is left out.

Helmer stressed this point saying, "everyone has equal rights."

Declining enrollment in both village systems forced them to join their bantam and midget level teams this season to provide a better calibre of hockey and the success of that move prompted Chesterville and District president Bob Larose to say, "we tried out amalgamation (Bantam and Midget) and showed some people it was the way to go."

Showdown shootout

Former Metcalfe Jets' scoring star Larry Shields put on his best move against Winchester Capitals' goalie Lyle Shrigley during Saturday's Junior B reunion tournament shootout. The competition pitted shooters from eight junior clubs against goalies Lyle Shrigley and Greg Kirkwood. When the final tabulations had been made Prescott Saints' Steve Wyatt was declared the showdown champion.

Midget Flyers win three at Pembroke

PEMBROKE — The Chesterville - Winchester Midget "A" Flyers made an impressive showing here at the Art Bogart Memorial Midget tournament over the past weekend winning three of their four games.

After defeating the Eganville Eagles 2-0, Renfrew Timberwolves 3-0 and the Cumberland Blues 5-2 on Saturday the Flyers were eliminated 2-1 by the East Ottawa Voyageur "A" team in game four Sunday morning.

The event was made up of 20 teams playing in five divisions. After round robin action, five division winners and three wild card teams advanced into the playoff round.

After round robin play the Flyers stood fourth. They were pitted against East Ottawa and were eliminated by a slim 2-1 margin.

Coach Kevin Mackler said, "considering the number of good teams involved (from Pickering, Belleville, Agincourt, Buckingham, Syracuse, New York and Ottawa and the valley), I think my team was as good as any in the tournament."

"They (Flyers) played hard and deserved to win against East Ottawa on Sunday," the coach continued.

He felt the event was very well organized and smoothly run.

GAME ONE

Jeff Holmes scored from Chris Williams netting what would prove to be the winning goal with 2:59 left in period one. John Mackler hit from Chris Williams with 1:38 left in the game to make it a 2-0 final.

GAME TWO

Kevin Eamon took his turn between the pipes in game two and posted Chesterville's second shutout in as many games blanking the Renfrew Timberwolves 3-0.

Danny Dubois scored the winner on a pass from Jeff Countryman at 3:24 of period one. John Mackler connected from Dubois and Ray Sherrer at 9:44 of the second period to make it 2-0. Ross Giles made it a 3-0 final when he scored from Dan Dubois and Shannon Frame with 6:11 left in the game.

GAME THREE

Five different shooters found net in a 5-2 win over the Cumberland Blues Saturday evening.

Flyers led 2-0 after a period and 5-1 after two periods. Jamie Whitteker, Rodney Casselman and Shannon Frame each had a goal and one assist. Jason Smith and John Mackler snapped in a goal. Ross Giles (2), Chris Williams, Derek Hyndman and Ray Sherrer all earned assists.

Ben Henry turned in a strong performance in the nets for the victory.

Alexandria Glens down old Hawks in reunion championship game

WINCHESTER — A lot of stories were retold and memories relived here over the past weekend as eight teams of old junior B hockey players took part in the first annual Winchester Capitals Junior B Reunion tournament.

Old junior B hockey players had to be at least 30 years of age and a member of their junior B club to qualify for this well-received event.

"We were very happy with everything. And everyone I spoke to seemed to have had a great time," explained Capital's organizing committee member Owen Shortt.

Shortt and fellow committee member Glen Taylor reported the event was financially successful and noted a large number of requests to do it all again next year had been received.

"Everything is set up now so it wouldn't be difficult to do it again. We thought that holding a dance on either night (Friday or Saturday) would give players and fans more time to get together," Shortt said.

Off the ice stories and old photos were passed around. On the ice the powerful Alexandria Glens crisply passed the puck around and wound up collecting all of the Labatt prizes after they had trimmed the Winchester Hawks 6-2 in the "A" final.

In a thrilling consolation showdown Derek Garrand's goal scoring in the second round of a shoot-out handed the Spencerville Bruins an exciting 2-1 win over the Prescott Saints.

A special shoot-out event, which drew an enthusiastic crowd Saturday afternoon, pitted a shooter from each club against goalies Lyle Shrigley of the Capitals and Greg Kirkwood of the Hawks. After each netminder had faced 60 shots it was determined that Prescott Saints' Steve Wyatt was highest scoring gunner. He received a special Labatt's award.

AWARD WINNERS

Blue Division (Consolation Division) champion Spencerville received the "B" trophy and Labatt caps. Goalie Jim O'Connell of the Bruins was deemed MVP goalie while Prescott Saints netminder Ray Throop was judged Blue Division MVP. Both received trophies and Labatt Blue tote bags.

Classic Division ("A" Division) runner-up received Winchester Tour caps while the champs from Alexandria received the trophy and Labatt Classic hats.

Glen's Brian Reasbeck, who scored twice in the final against Winchester, was voted MVP while Glen's goalie Rene Lefebvre just four goals in three games judged MVP goalie. Both received a trophy and a Labatt Classic tote bag.

GLENS WIN IT

Alexandria jumped out to a 3-0 lead on Winchester and led 3-1 at half time. They snapped in three more in the last frame to win it 6-2.

Claude Roy and Brian Reasbeck each scored twice. Brian Filion and Robert Lajoie fired in a goal each. Roch Lajoie set up three goals while Pete Filion and Robert Lajoie set up two each.

Doug Vasey scored Winchester's first period goal from Dale Hutt. Larry Moore hit from Ray St. Pierre and Tom Kirkwood with 2:08 left to play.

Glens kicked off the tournament blanking Kemptville 73s 3-0 Saturday morning. Rodney Shepard (1g, 1a), Andre Poirier and Robert Lajoie all scored in the final 6:48 of the game to give the Glens the win. Rene Lefebvre posted the shutout.

Glens then eliminated the Metcalfe Jets 5-2 in semi-final play. They took a 3-0 lead in the first period and led by that count at the half. Brian Reasbeck led the Glens with two goals and one assist. Andre Poirier, Robert Lajoie and Claude Roy added the others. Roch Lajoie (2), Rodney Shepard, Garrett McGillis and Donnie Morris picked up assists.

HAWKS WIN TWO

Prior to their 6-2 loss to the Glens the Winchester Hawks had posted a pair of wins.

Friday night they came back from a 2-0 decision to defeat the Morrisburg Lions 4-2 and Saturday eliminated the Cardinal Broncos 3-1.

Chuck Irvine had scored both Morrisburg goals from Jim Losey and Kevin Duvall in the first period of Friday's match.

Winchester got one back at 13:29 of the second when Gary Lapier scored from Tom Kirkwood and Larry Moore. Al Van Bridger tied it up eight seconds later (13:21) when he tipped a Larry Moore, Tom Kirkwood pass home. Moore then scored from Kirkwood to win it at the 11:00 mark. Jeff O'Neil finished off the comeback scoring from Paul Timmins and Greg Martin at 7:45.

Hawks Kevin Baldwin was sharp again Saturday allowing just one goal in a 3-1 win over the Cardinal Broncos, who were coming off an 8-0 win over Prescott Saints in Friday's opening round.

Jeff O'Neil put the Hawks up 1-0 at 7:20 of the first period when he scored from Paul Timmins. Cardinal's Tim Collison then tied it up at 3:51 when he put an Owen Shortt, Gary Banford pass behind Baldwin.

Winchester won it with two late breakaway goals by Ray St. Pierre who scored a short-handed effort set up by Larry Moore and John KlienSwormink with 9:50 left to play and again at 21:02 on a play started by Gary Lapier and Doug Vasey.

CONSOLATION SIDE

Spencerville Bruins edged the Prescott Saints 3-2 in the consolation final. Prescott went up 1-0 when Steve Wyatt scored at 14:38 of the second half.

Ken Dickson finally tied it up 1-1 when he scored from a scramble created by John and Jack Westrate with 56 left in regulation time.

An overtime period failed to break the 1-1 tie. The first round of three shooters tied the game up 2-2. Wayne Jones hit for the Saints and Bill Lawrence replied for the Bruins. A second round in the shoot-out saw Derek Garrand put the winner past Ray Throop to give the Bruins a 3-2 win.

Metcalfe on two-goal efforts by Doug Harvey and Greg Holmes and singles by Larry Shields and Pete Nooyen defeated Spencerville 6-4 in round one. But the Bruins stayed alive eliminating Kemptville 5-1. Prescott was bombed 8-0 in their opener by the Art Sinfield (two goals, five assists) led Cardinal Broncos Friday but shocked the Morrisburg Lions 4-3 on Saturday to make the final round. Bill Farmer scored the winner for the Saints in their win over Morrisburg.

Jets quick-start, Rebels back in

METCALFE — Frank Sinfield's second goal of the game with 2:41 left in the third period was a very big one for the Char-Lan Rebels. Sinfield's marker gave the Rebels an important 6-5 win over the Metcalfe Jets and their first victory in the Alex English Division best of seven championship series.

Another loss here Sunday night and the Jets, regular season Winchester Press Trophy winners, would've been up three games to nothing on the defending Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey champs and in position to sweep the Rebs out of the playoffs in four games.

Sinfield's goal has enabled the Rebels to have the opportunity to tie the set up at two games each. They hosted the Jets Tuesday night (March 31). Game five returns to Metcalfe this Friday (April 3) at 8:15. Game six is set for Williamstown on Saturday April 4 and game seven (if necessary) will be played here in Metcalfe on Sunday, April 5 at 7:15pm.

Metcalfe, after eliminating the Alexandria Glens in four straight semi-final games, jumped into an early lead in the final, besting the Rebels 11-8 in a shoot-out staged here last Wednesday (March 25). They took game two 9-6 last Friday night in Williamstown but couldn't make it three in a row here on Sunday.

Metcalfe took a 3-2 lead in the first intermission of game three Sunday night. But the Rebels went into the second break up 4-3.

Frank Sinfield's goal, which came on a powerplay with 2:41 left in the game proved to be the deciding goal.

Sinfield led the Rebs' attack with two goals and one assist. Bruce Bergeron, netted a pair. Mike Jodoin had a goal and one assist and Kevin Poapst scored once.

Brian Downey led the Jets scoring two powerplay goals and assisting on a third marker.

GAME TWO

Friday night in Williamstown the Jets won 9-6 after skating to 3-2 and 7-4 period leads.

Metcalfe exploded for four goals early in the second period to blow the game wide open.

Barry Stefureak paced Metcalfe to the win scoring three goals, one into the empty net, and assisting on a fourth. Dave Warren hit for two goals, including, a powerplay marker, and assisted on another goal. Mike Upton had a goal and four assists. Darcy Provost had a goal and one helper and Brian Downey scored once on a powerplay.

Pierre LaBelle posted the win while Kevin Cameron and Kevin Buchan shared the set back. Each team was pegged for 13 minor infractions.

Mike Lapensee scored a pair of Char-Lan powerplay goals. Kevin Poapst had a goal and one assist and Frank Sinfield had a goal and two helpers. His goal was a short-handed effort. Brent LaPlante and Kevin Renwick scored single goals.

Winchester Atom Level III Hawks added the Eastern Division playoff championship to their regular season UCMHL first-place banner on Saturday. The Hawks edged Metcalfe Mustang II's 1-0 in the third game of their series to become 1986-87 champs. Atom C Hawks win Eastern title

WINCHESTER — Winchester's Atom C Hawks capped their first place finish during the UCMHL regular season by winning the Eastern Division championship on Saturday.

The Hawks and Russell Warriors each collected four points in an extremely exciting semi-final but Winchester was awarded the series and a berth in the championship final because they had finished as the division's first place team.

They then met the Metcalfe II Mustangs in the Eastern final and locked that championship up with an exciting 1-0 over the Mustangs Saturday (March 28) in Metcalfe.

The Hawks were to have challenged the Western Division champion South Grenville Ramparts in the league final but lack of ice in the Ramparts arena may cancel that showdown.

Hawks captain Brendan Bumbaco was the hero in Saturday's clinching 1-0 victory in Metcalfe. He scored the winning goal on an unassisted play with 10:48 left in the game to make champions of the Hawks.

Tim Scott posted the Hawks' shut-out.

The Hawks and Mustangs battled to a 2-2 draw in game one here on March 12 but Winchester broke into a 3-1 lead in points posting a 4-2 victory here on home ice on March 26.

Kevin McConnell scored from Brendan Bumbaco and Bob Derraugh at 10:16 of the second period.

Dave Pyper tied it up for Metcalfe when he beat Tim Scott on a play set up for him by Jon Vanderveen at the 6:15 mark. Chad Shields then gave the 'Stangs a 2-1 edge when he scored unassisted at the 2:19 mark.

Winchester tied it up at 2-2 with 6:05 left in the final period. Brendan Bumbaco tucked in a Jason Coons relay to give the Hawks the tie.

Each team had seven shots on net and a minor penalty each.

Hawks took the series lead in game two on March 26 winning 4-2. Metcalfe's Dave Pyper scored the game's first goal from Dave Crockett with 2:01 left in the second period.

Winchester tied it up 1-1 with 10:01 left in the third period. Scott Verhey connected on a Brendan Bumbaco pass to even it up.

Pyper scored again for Metcalfe with 9:30 left in the game to make it 2-1 Metcalfe but Winchester stormed back with three unanswered markers to win it 4-2. Bumbaco hit from Jeramey Rutley with 7:51 left to tie it up 2-2.

Grant Williams fired in the winning goal with 6:12 left in the game finishing a play started by Dave Sears.

Mustangs' Pat Jones and Hawks' Tim Scott each stopped 11 shots. Hawks took all three of the game's minor penalties.

Some of Winchester's older Hawks got together to take part in the Winchester Capitals' Junior B Reunion Tournament over the weekend. Hawks doubled Morrisburg Lions 4-2 and eliminated the Cardinal Broncos, but lost 6-2 to the "A" division champion Alexandria Glens. Raiders take one-game lead in Melvin Cup championship final WINCHESTER — Captain Steve Plummer and Randy Docksteader scored two goals apiece here last Tuesday to lead the Fridgen-Filion Raiders to a 6-4 victory over the Country Kitchen Canadiens.

The two goal victory moved the Raiders into a two games to one lead in the best of five Melvin Cup, Winchester Town Hockey League, championship series.

Raiders opened the championship set doubling the Canadiens 6-3 but Country Kitchen bounced back to even things up posting a 5-1 win in game two.

Game four was played last night (Tuesday, March 31) and game five (if necessary) will be played tonight (Wed., April 1).

Raider defenceman Jeff Derue put his squad up 1-0 when he scored from Dick Christie and Bob Peddle at 13:16 of the first period of game three.

Steve Plummer snapped in his first goal of the play-offs at the 9:58 mark to increase the lead to 2-0. John Ralko picked up an assist on that play.

Country Kitchen's main line struck for the Canadiens' first goal with 7:40 left in the opening stanza to make it a 2-1 contest. Ken Quaile finished off a play set-up by linemates Dan Lecours and Al McLean to get the "Habs" on the board.

Two goals in a 42 second span in the second frame enabled the Raiders to enlarge their lead to a 4-1 count. Randy Docksteader scored from Larry Plummer at 11:47 and Perry Marriner snapped in a relay sent his way by John Ralko and Rick Cowell at the 11:05 mark as the Raiders took a more secure lead.

Dan Lecours sliced one goal (4-2) off the Raider lead when he scored from McLean and Ken Quaile with 2:40 left in stanza two.

Steve Plummer redirected a Tom Kirkwood shot from the point through Steve "Bear" Johnston's legs at 10:57 of the final frame to put his Raiders up 5-2.

Canadiens, trying desperately to get back in the game, applied ample pressure on Raiders Lyle Shrigley and his defence but couldn't narrow the three goal (5-2) gap until late in the frame when they clicked for two goals in six seconds.

Dan Lecours put in a Ken Quaile pass at 4:46 (5-3) and Al McLean drove in a loose puck created by Ken Quaile and Dan Lecours at 4:40 to close the gap to 5-4 to make a new game of it.

In the final minute Bear Johnston was lifted for a sixth skater but the move back fired as the Raiders made it a 6-4 final adding one into an empty net.

Dick Christie rushed the puck out of his own zone, made his way through the Canadiens' defence and fired at the yawning cage. His shot hit the post, dropped on the goal line for Randy Docksteader to poke home.

Final count went to 6-4.

Russell takes Wiser trophy

RUSSELL — One of the most competitive curling 'spiels staged here every season is the annual Wiser Trophy contest when 16 top mixed rinks from Russell and Metcalfe match skills at both clubs. This year Russell skip Gord Saunders outclassed Metcalfe's Winston Bellinger to take top honors.

In the consolation event Metcalfe's Bill Woods (Jr.) over powered Russell's Bryan Cochrane.

Personnel of the Saunders quartette were Merrill McVey at third; Randy Miller, second and Desneiges Sorbic, lead.

Completing the Bellinger foursome were Patti Porteous, Rick Thompson and Judy Kearns.

Playing for the consolation Woods rink were Audrey Pinkham, Don Shubaly, and Liz Shubaly.

Skip Cochrane had Carmen Paquette throwing third; Sheldon Swan at second and Heather Carscadden playing lead.

ND hosting gymnasts meet

MAPLE RIDGE — Coming off some outstanding individual performances and a second place (team) finish at the SD&G high school gymnastics meet held last month at Glengarry District High in Alexandria the North Dundas District High Devils are looking for more excellent results here today.

North Dundas and coach Fran Kelly are hosting the 1987 EOSSA meet today (Wed. April 1) and they are expecting some more solid marks and anticipate sending at least eight team members to the All-Ontario competition in Scarborough on April 8 and 9.

In the SD&G meet at GDHS on March 12 Dundas athletes did very well. Tracey Bothwell captured top junior athlete honors winning all four events. Michelle Helmer, who struck gold in the vaulting and on the balance beam as well as third and fourth place ribbons earned top intermediate status. Shelley MacDonald excelled in her four events to capture the Club B title.

Janet Matthew piled up first place points on the uneven bars while Mary Ann Scheuner, Karen Gilroy and Marsha Leslie all won second place ribbons.

Coach Kelly is expecting more solid routines from these girls and the entire team at today's meet in their own school.

Ramparts defeat C Hawks

SPENCERVILLE — South Grenville III Ramparts nipped Winchester's Pee Wee C Hawks 2-1 here Saturday to capture the 1986-87 Upper Canada Minor Hockey League's overall championship five points to one.

Hawks held the bigger Ramparts to a 3-3 saw-off in game one but couldn't come close in game two as the Ramparts romped to an 8-0 win to grab a three points to one lead in the set.

Here on Saturday the UCMHL Western champs edged the Eastern Division champs from Winchester to become '86-'87 league champions.

South Grenville scoring leader Artie Chillson scored both goals netting his first at 13:21 of period one on a play set up by Jay Toope.

Winchester then tied it up with 3:52 left in the game. Jason Ibbetson gave the Hawks new hope when he made it 1-1 scoring from Jamie Levere but Chillson came right back and gave the Ramparts the 2-1 decision when he scored from Jay Toope and Larry Molson 51 seconds after Ibbetson had connected for the Hawks.

Thursday in Winchester the Ramparts jumped into a 5-0 first period lead and cruised to an 8-0 decision. Artie Chillson was the big shooter again scoring four times. He also drew two assists for a six point game. Linemate Jay Toope scored twice and assisted on four goals. Larry Molson and Mike Price netted the other markers. Danny Cook posted the shut-out.

Embrun wins Ontario title

SUDBURY — Five of six Eastern Regional champions struck gold here in the Provincial Broomball championships over the weekend.

Embrun Plumbing won the Men's Elite gold medal and will now advance to the Nationals this weekend in Quebec. They defeated Sudbury 6-1, Seaforth 3-0, Hearst 3-0 and Seaforth 4-0 to become Ontario champions.

Yvan Breton was Embrun's top scorer while Jacques Marion and Bernie LaRose supplied Embrun with almost perfect goaltending.

Alfred Sports emerged with the Ontario Ladies Elite title. It was Alfred's 10th Ontario championship in 10 years.

The 10-time champs edged Kitchener 2-1, Hearst 2-1, lost 2-1 to Hearst but bounced back with a 2-1, double overtime win over Hearst to take the championship.

Fame Hair Studios of Ottawa took Intermediate men's honors posting back-to-back wins over Port Perry in the championship round. They defeated Port Perry 2-1 and 3-1 to take the championship.

Ault Food Blue Jays return to the mound to defend championship

WINCHESTER — The defending Interprovincial Junior Fastball League champion Ault Food Blue Jays will take to the field here again this spring.

Jays manager-coach Guy Hart reported last Thursday that the Jays and five other clubs will compete for the 1987 junior championship.

"The Ottawa Nepean Canadians and the Stittsville Junior 56ers have combined and will form the Stittsville Canadians this year. They will be sponsored by the Ottawa Nepean Sports Club," he explained.

Hart said the former Canadian players are free to play where they wish for the new season.

The Stittsville Canadians will join Winchester, Orleans, Smiths Falls Redmen, Arnprior and Ottawa R.A. in forming the league which will be known as the Eastern Ontario Provincial (Junior) Fastball League

To this point the league executive has had but one meeting but Hart said they were to meet tonight (April 1) to draw up a schedule.

Although he says it is too early to say who will be back to staff the Jays Hart says the only player who can't return is all-star center field Peter Holmes and that's because he is too old this year.

"Everyone I expect will be back. There maybe two new players in the line-up but we hope to have all of the guys back," Hart explained.

If his returning fielders take up their positions again Hart should have another strong line-up, the league's most experienced for sure.

Mike Veltkamp at the catching position is entering his second year in the junior league. Hard hitting Brent Carkner returns to the first base slot. Dougie MacEachern, who shone defensively at second, will be in his second year. The left-side of Winchester's infield is the best in the league with All-Stars Bobby Jack Hart at short stop and Steve Norton at third base.

Ron Sloan, Mike Cavan and Eric Mussell are versatile veterans who can play several positions. Rookies Derek Hyndman and Chris Guy will be entering their second seasons in the outfield.

Hart will be extremely pleased to see his two big pitchers back, Rick Boyd who has been the play-off workhorse in the last two seasons and New York Ranger defenceman Terry Carkner would certainly make the Blue Jays solid in that department.

Entering their third season the Blue Jays have a league championship and a second place finish to the '85 champion Stittsville 56ers in their record book.

Many of the players who were on that first club in '85 are still the backbone of the Winchester franchise which makes the Blue Jays solid contenders for the 1987 campaign.

Closing winners

Ormon Savage, left to right, skip Larry Cotton, Sybil Curtis and Lola Ace accepted the Winchester Curling Club's closing bonspiel trophy from donor Marcel Soucie, centre, Sunday evening. Thirty teams took part in the two-day event which marked the conclusion of a very successful season at the WCC which saw 250 curlers take part in the year's events. Ken Francis' team of Terry Spratt, Lorna Driscoll and Lloyd Bildson finished second to the Cotton rink.

Bruins come back tie semi-finals at two

METCALFE — Paul Nooyen scored a pair of goals here Sunday leading the Wichers' Construction Bruins to an important 4-2 victory over the Bradley Computax Canadiens.

The win tied the Metcalfe Town Hockey League best of five semi-final series at two games each and forced a fifth game which will be played here tomorrow night (Thursday, April 2) at 8:00 pm.

The winner of Thursday's match will advance to the MTHL championship round against the Cold Spring Country Inn Hawks. The Hawks took out the Dan Morris Equipment Leafs in three straight games to qualify for the final.

Sunday morning the Canadiens took a 1-0 lead on the Bruins when Tyrone Franey scored on a play started by Bruce Kerfoot and Jeff Crerar at 17:12.

The Bruins pulled into a 1-1 tie with 1:31 left in the first frame when Paul Nooyen connected on a powerplay set-up by Blake Morrison and Rob McVey.

Period two was all Wichers as they dumped in a pair of goals to jump out in front 3-1. Mooyen bagged his second scoring from Kevin Downey at 18:48. Downey then found net with a Fred Young relay with two seconds left in the period.

Bradley got to within a goal (3-2 when Wayne Howison took a pass from Jeff Crerar and Jeff Stanley and beat Brian Kerfoot at 13:25 of period three.

Fred Young slid a Kevin Downey pass into the empty net with just 46 seconds left in the game to up his squads' final margin of victory to 4-2.

Brian Kerfoot was the winning goalie. Bill Jamieson was subbing for Canadiens' Roy McCooeye. Bruins took three of the games five minor penalties.

Huslers win in Cardinal

CARDINAL — Harvex Huslers finished off their final regularly schedule road game of the season here last Wednesday night posting a 10-5 oldtimers exhibition hockey victory of the Matilda Devils.

Bob Peddle and Phil Lyall each found net three times for the Huslers. Single markers went to Don Marcellus, Peter McKay, Jim Shaw and Gary Lapier. Kevin Baldwin posted the win in nets.

Harvex will finish off the 1986-87 year competing in the Osgoode tournament (April 2-4) and the Winchester Oldtimer Hockey's event slated for Winchester April 10, 11 and 12.

MINOR HOCKEY VOTE YES TO AMALGAMATION
Two most important meetings were held last Thursday night; one in Chesterville and one in Winchester. The reason was to vote on amalgamation of the Minor Hockey systems of both towns to begin the 1987-88 hockey season. Winchester voted affirmative by a majority of 72 to 25, while Chesterville was more decisive with a 44 to 3 majority. This means the end to both Winchester and Chesterville Minor Hockey Associations and a new association will be formed with both towns splitting all age groups and forming new teams. With the hope that this will get the young players on teams that will be more suitable to their skills and they will get more ice time. Enrolment in both villages had declined to the point that it was impossible to ice teams with an equal advantage to all players with many having to play over their capabilities or teams being too strong. As in any new venture there will be problems to solve, but with understanding, problems that may develop will be worked out. We are sure that there will be meetings called to form the new organization and we will announce any future developments. Please do your part to assist if you are called on, it's all for the good of better hockey for our kids.

TIME FOR BALL REGISTRATIONS
Over the next few weeks there will be many registration meetings being held to form the new ball teams for the coming year. Minor baseball registrations for all age groups will be next Tuesday at 6:30 at the arena. Ladies' ball will be both next Monday and Tuesday at the arena. Soccer will hold registrations for all ages April 13 and 14 and the Osnabruck District Ball League which our teams play in will be April 14 in the upstairs hall. Please check the coming events column for further announcements.

HYDRO EASTERN REGION TOURNAMENT HERE THIS WEEKEND
Last weekend the Winchester Capitals hosted the first Junior B reunion tournament and good crowds turned out to see the old Junior B players from eight neighboring towns compete. Winchester Hawks were defeated by Alexandria for the championship. The players had a great time and from all reports this will be an annual event. This weekend will see some more real good hockey when Hydro teams from all over eastern Ontario play, with Winchester Hydro being the host team this year. Games will be played from 7pm Friday night, all day Saturday and all day Sunday, until a winner is declared. Legal beverages and good food will be served in the upstairs hall during the entire tournament and both Friday and Saturday nights will be dancing dates for Shad's Disco. Winchester Hydro invites you to drop in to the rink and see some good competitive hockey and join them for dancing on Friday and Saturday night.

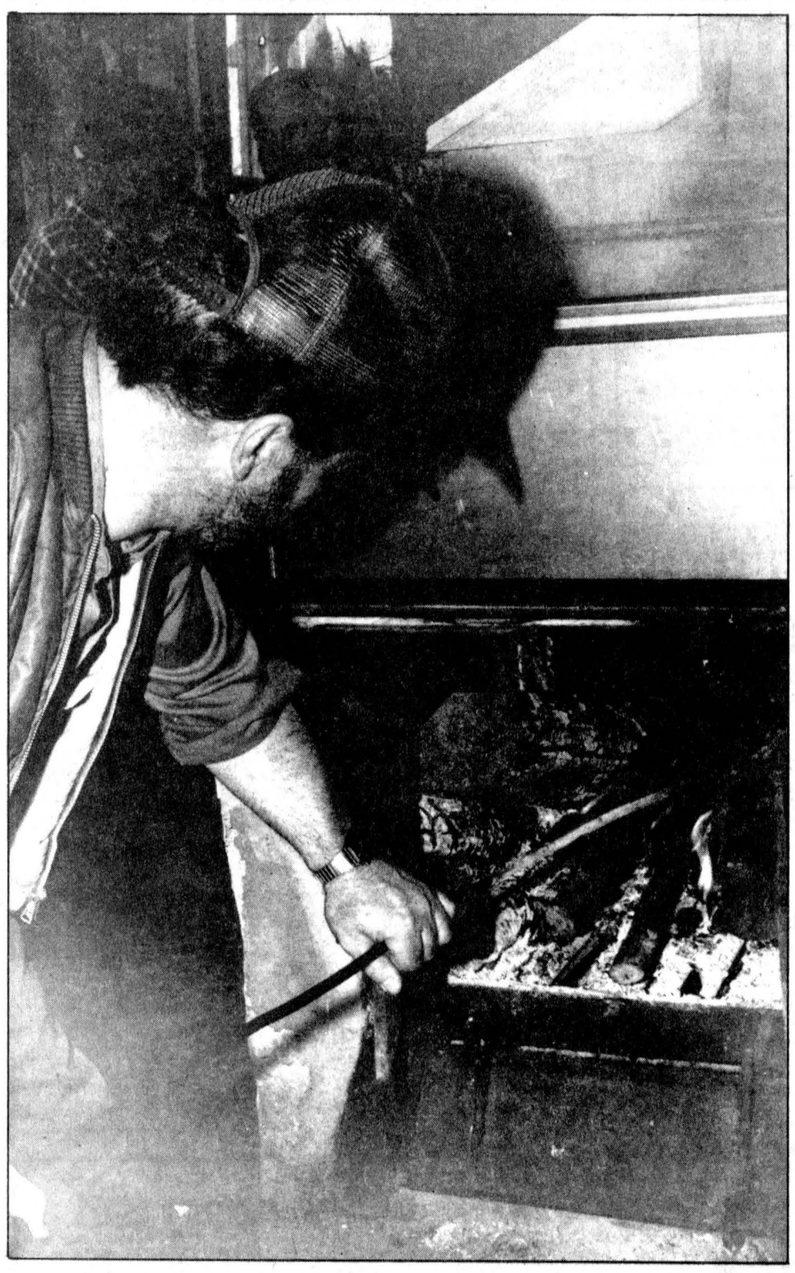
Sweet tastes of spring



Last weekend produced two days of sunshine and fun for all those who visited sugar bushes in the area. Clockwise from top left, pancakes and maple syrup were the best things on the menus at the Dunbar Recreation Cente Sunday. Albert Sanders of Sanders' Sugar Bush pours more sap into an engine-powered evaporator. Malcolm Scharf of Williamsburg made the Dunbar RA Centre feel like home by playing old-time fiddle music. An automatic pipeline system catches the sap as it's syphoned from the black maple sugar bush at the Sanders' bush near Finch. Bob Volks spoons out hot maple syrup for two sweet tooths at the Barkleyvale Sugar Bush where a bit of tradition remains as a fire is fed regularly in the sugar shack to keep sap boiling.

Farm update

Farm show attracts visitors for both business and pleasure

OTTAWA — An informal poll taken at the Ottawa Valley Farm Show yielded one point on which there was no argument - farmers love to visit. The three-day trade show provided them the chance to combine that love with business last week.

This year, 178 exhibitors demonstrated their wares for the crowds, along with 126 entrants who submitted 300 entries in the Championship Seed Show which is the reason for the farm show. While commercial exhibitors offered varied reasons for their participation in the show, showgoers were nearly unanimous in their verdict that the show offers entertainment value and a chance to see friends they don't always get a chance to visit.

John Blair of Chipman (which manufactures herbicides and pesticides) said the company's sales representatives spend a lot of time on customer's farms and the farm show allows them to renew those acquaintances as well as gather new leads. He and other sales staff have never been able to evaluate the value of exhibiting at shows such as the Ottawa Valley Farm Show but don't want to take the chance of not being there. He laughed, saying they would be missed if they didn't attend but he's not sure they're noticed when they do!

Robert Mowat of Farmer's Sealed Storage (a company that markets bags and the equipment necessary to fill them for storage of forage crops) couldn't agree with Blair's evaluation. Unlike long-time participants Chipman, Farmer's Sealed Storage have been at the Ottawa show only for the last five years. Mowat grants that the sheer novelty of his product may have a lot to do with the proportion of spectators who stop to investigate his booth. Some still aren't familiar with the huge caterpillar-like storage bags and are drawn in by the video that is telling their story. He estimates that the gathering of leads and the putting of his product into the public eye are probably equally valuable in attending the show. As an afterthought, he added that the show is an opportunity to do some cost-efficient visiting.

In another hall, the various breed associations have their exhibits festooned with customized paraphernalia from key chains to cocktail napkins. At first glance, it seems that they are here preaching to the converted. But, says Hereford breeders' Secretary-Manager John Slaght, that's not so. The gimmicky items and pieces of information allow visitors to stop long enough to broach the subject of the breed, and from there a reference to a local breeder may be given, or a breeders' directory might be taken home for later perusal. Either way, new breeders are contacted and perhaps even enlisted throught the show booth.

Joyce Duby of RR 1 Balderson, who along with her hsuband, raises beef cattle, agrees with Slaght. Already on the second day of their visit the Dubys were enthusiastic about the literature they have picked up at the show. Both are very selective, explained Duby. She assured us that she and her husband read everything they take from the show and that many decisions on what and whether to purchase can be made as a result of information gathered here.

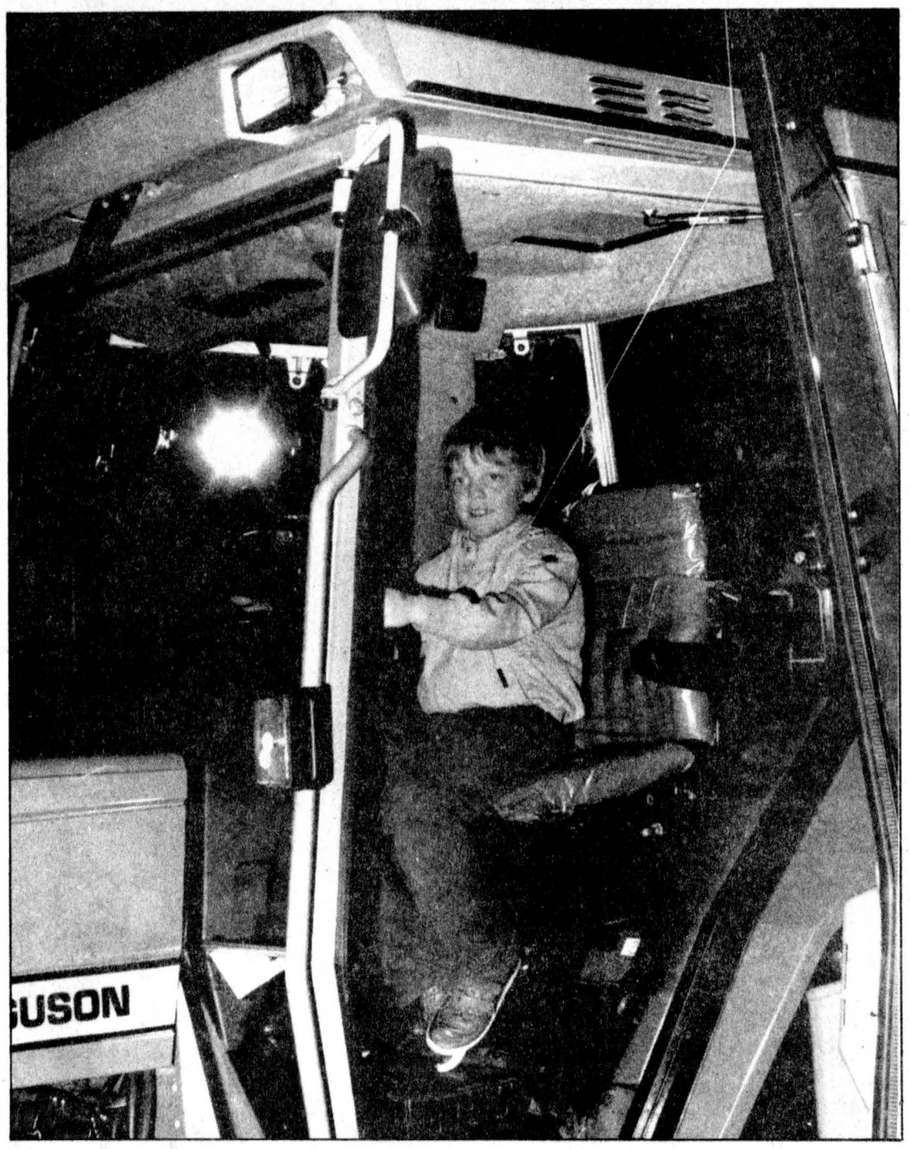
She said she doesn't make any special effort to visit the Women's Program events, but rather takes in whatever seems to suit the family's needs. She planned on hearing Dr. Arvind Koshal of the Civic Hospital's famed heart team speak, and had watched the microwave demonstration, but was devoting Thursday mainly to the Hereford show and sale. Duby also noted that the show was much more enjoyable than other years because for some reason everyone seemed to be offering a much friendlier spirit than previously.

Jason Forward, age 10, of Chesterville, agreed with Duby that the show offers a good time. Making his first visit to the show, he too was collecting bags of stuff to take home but there is every possibility he may not consider it quite as carefully as the Dubys. At the show with his father and grandfather, the young Forward said he had been offered the trip as a reward for a public speaking effort at which he excelled. His father estimated he had seen his son crawl on every tractor at the show, and son Jason added that the animals, too, were an attraction. With any luck, he will be back to next year's show.

The show isn't all fun and games and visiting, though. The growers who offer their championship quality seed and forage for judging have all been successful during competition at local shows. The seed and feed judged at a championship show is of the highest quality, explained Graham Hudson, chairman of the Championship Seed Show. Despite a poor 1986 season, the high quality one would expect was maintained.

Bert Beaudette of RR 1, Maxville took the Raymond H. Kemp award for Grand Champion showperson.

Catherine Woosey of Vankleek Hill works for Cassburn Farms who were at the Hereford show and sale held Thursday at the Ottawa Valley Farm Show. (The nearly newborn calf she is comforting is about to enter the sale ring.) She admits to loving the fairs and shows for the chance they offer to visit other breeders, but says she never misses a chance to see the whole show. Press Photo—Brown



Michael Smith of Chesterville was among the many budding farmers who took the opportunity to check out this generation's tractors at the Ottawa Valley Farm Show last week at Ottawa's Lansdowne Park. Joining Massey Ferguson were a host of equipment dealers, seed companies as well as myriad other farm-related enterprises.

Video for Africa tells WSA story

KEMPTVILLE — By the time this paper has hit the newsstand today the Women for the Survival of Agriculture video will have reached its destiny.

After about a year's work and planning, the WSA's video showing rural life and women's roles here, was to arrive in Eritrea, Africa, where it will be viewed by men and women there.

The video was previewed at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology last week and then sent to Toronto to be translated. Concentrating mainly on the aseasons, the video shows the basics of rural Canadian life and how weather affects the way farmers make their living.

This is definitely the first of its kind in Canada said Oxfam representative Ann Gillies.

'I think it's a real trailblazer. The possibilities are endless, they really, really are.'

There have been many meetings and many people involved with the project since its conception last year, said Kathleen Wright. There were so many pictures that it was hard to choose from them, she said, but added there weren't many pictures of families working together.

She also mentioned the benefits the WSA members would reap from the project.

'It is impossible to work on a project like that without becoming tremendously enriched by it, she said.

Eritrea has a population of about 3½ million and was the hardest hit by the famine in Ethiopia, Gillies said. Severe drought and war are two things that brought about the famine.

Eritrea has been fighting a war of independence against Ethiopia since 1962, she said.

The small region borders the Red Sea on the North-eastern side of Africa. A third of its people are nomads, with about 650,000 of them still needing regular food supplies, Gillies said.

Ann Gillies

Although women have traditionally been looked down upon in Eritrea, they are now beginning to take a more active role in society, she said.

'They encourage more women to do men's jobs.'

The post card is basically 'an introductory letter' to the Eritreans, said WSA president Dorothy Middleton. It was 'a lot of work,' she said, but added she thought it was 'very, very good'.

Middleton said at the Kemptville meeting she hopes a reply from Eritrea will be received within the next year.

Premium should match risk

DFA urges crop insurance changes

KEMPTVILLE — Farmers in Dundas County found at least nine areas for improvement in the Ontario Crop Insurance program last week, as county representatives presented a brief on behalf of producers to a special committee reviewing the system now in place.

Farmers representing four different commodity groups and the Dundas Federation of Agriculture presented the brief to the government-commissioned Crop Insurance Review Committee on the last leg of meetings across the province, which began on Feb. 10.

The brief, submitted by Martin Schneckenburger of the DFA, was presented to the 11-member committee, chaired by past president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Harry Pelissero.

According to Schneckenburger, farmers in Dundas would like to see the system altered to make the program more fair to farmers who pay into it.

The brief included, among other things, a suggestion that spot damage coverage be made available for farmers who want it. The premiums would be higher, and averaged over the best of five out of six years, but at least farmers would feel comfortable getting coverage if only part of a field is damaged, he explained.

Farmers also want crop averages to be indexed. As the average yield goes up every year so too should the coverage, said Schneckenburger from his home near Morrisburg.

Individual policies should also be made available for farmers who own more than one farm, he said.

At present, a farmer with more than one farm can only take out one policy, which means average crop yields are calculated together increasing a farmer's risk of not being covered if he has a bad year on one farm, said Schneckenburger.

The DFA would also like to see premiums reflect the risk or payout for each crop. Where the risk on a crop is lower the premium should match it, he added.

Also, the federation wants hay premiums to be based on yields not rainfall and payouts on low grades of crops where decreased quality was a direct result of the weather.

Disaster insurance should also be made available at a very low premium — 50 per cent or greater yield reduction — for farmers who want it, Schneckenburger explained. The more farmers who pay into the program the better it is for all of us, Schneckenburger noted.

Finally, he added that farmers in Dundas want to see the provincial government's contribution into the crop insurance program match the federal and farmer contribution in the future.

The province's $4M annual payment to cover administrative costs equalled a third of the cost to run the program when it was introduced, but it's just not enough anymore, said Schneckberger. Last year the federal government and farmers contributed $20M each to the program.

The review committee will attend the last of 18 meetings on April 2, according to Fay Landow, an Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food spokesperson.

It will collect and summarize the material gahered over the two months of meetings and have a report ready for the government by the end of April, she said.

'There is no onus on the government to act on the report,' said Landow, 'but it will be studied.'

Hallville housekeepers keeping busy

By Brenda Koekkoek

HALLVILLE — The fifth meeting of the Hallville-Mountain No. 1 4-H club was held at the home of Karin Ceelen March 3.

Members discussed housekeeping, including washing dishes, looking after the refrigerator, vacuuming and making a bed, which was demonstrated by Rina McNairn and Vicki Gryspeerdt. At this point youth leader Jennifer McNairn took over. She talked about safety in the kitchen and then discussed and demonstrated how to replace a plug on a small appliance.

The club's home activity is to perform daily and weekly family chores and to have the family grade the final results as good, fair or poor.

Elevator improvement gets boost

On Saturday the Embrun Agricultural Co-Operative received a $20,000 grant from the Ministry of Energy as the government's contribution towards the cost of adding a fully automated control system to the co-operative's grain drying elevators. Back row left, Hector Dignard, Andre Chabot, Mrs. Poirier, Denis Bourdeau and Rheal Fournier. Front left, Laurier Cayer, Rene Caron, manager of the Embrun Co-Op, Jean Poirier, MPP for Prescott-Russell, and Rheal Bruyere.

Rene Caron, left, manager of the Embrun Co-Op points out for Jean Poirier, MPP for Prescott-Russell, how the computerized control system on the grain drying elevators helps them save propane. The $60,000 system, saves the Co-Op 50 per cent of the propane it normally uses to dry corn while helping to maintain better quality corn.

Room cleaning 'most hated chore'

DALMENY — The Dalmeny Independents 4-H club held its fifth and sixth meetings March 11 and 18.

The March 11 meeting began at 7:30pm with roll call — members were asked what household chores they were currently responsible for. A majority of the members answered with washing dishes, and cleaning rooms was considered the most hated chore.

Materials covered in the meeting included how to clean as you work, hints on clean-up elimination and how disorder creates more work. Also covered was the best way to do dishes with a quiz on what should be soaked in cold or hot water for easier cleaning, and the right order for washing dishes by hand and storing them. Members also learned how to clean a fridge properly, how to tell when food has spoiled and how to clean stuck-on spills.

Mrs. Brophy, who hosted the meeting, announced an assignment to clean house for someone who was unable to do so, or who just needed some cleaning done. The club divided into two groups for this assignment.

The March 18 meeting was also held at the home of Mrs. Brophy, with roll call answered with 'Where would you like to go for a week's holiday?' The meeting reviewed transportation and the rights and wrongs of travelling, including hitch-hiking.

Members split into groups of three and studied trip brochures for a trip to England, a ski trip and a round trip to the Caribbean. The assignment was to estimate the cost for the holiday including sight-seeing, transportation, tours, taxes, meals, board, tips and insurance.

The club also took a look at the price of a car or truck today, and learned how to boost a battery. Most of the members agreed to allow someone else to boost a battery.

Charity Players offer their talents

CHESTERVILLE — When local charities need money, Charity Players doesn't sit around. It acts on it.

The amateur drama group will raise the curtain on its latest efforts this Friday and Saturday with two comedies at North Dundas District High School, beginning at 8pm.

Money from this year's show, which includes the plays My Proud Beauty and Rise and Shine, will go to the Chesterville recreation centre building fund.

Director Len Trillo says the charity aspect is an added bonus to the thrill of watching local amateur performers get together and destroy the notion that small villages cannot stage successful plays.

"It's amazing what talent we've got in the area," said Trillo, a veteran performer with drama background in Brockville and Cornwall. "We've got farmers and housewives and people who work their jobs around the rehearsal times and they enjoy what they are doing."

Rehearsals for the two plays, which require 11 on-stage actors and more than a dozen backstage workers, began in October.

"It's been a long haul," admits Trillo, "but there have been no complaints. "I guess there is the ham in us, that lure of the grease paint."

Two of the people involved in the production, Mike Lewis and Virginia Patenaude, both of Chesterville, have been with Trillo since the troupe began putting on plays seven years ago.

My Proud Beauty is described as "an old-fashioned melodrama" while Rise and Shine is "something out of this world".

Tickets for the 8pm show will be available at the door and are also on sale at Brookslyn, Fulton's and Seaway Valley Pharmacy in Chesterville and CountryBoy and Seaway Valley IDA in Winchester.

The Four Jacks, a band that combines banjo, guitar and piano music with a drumbeat, will provide a musical intermission between the plays.

CFF to elect board member

WINCHESTER — Members of the Christian Farmers Federation of Dundas County will elect a new board member at their annual meeting and banquet Friday at the Winchester Lions Hall.

Nominees for board member are Leonard Noort and Mike Luchies. The successful candidate will join board members Peter Biemond, Bill De Jong and Alice Schuler.

Also on the program, beginning at 7:30pm, is speaker Walter De Ruiter, assistant pastor, whose topic will be 'The Influential Farmer — to God, to the World, to Ourselves.' Discussion will follow.

Entertainment will be provided by singer Thomas Gill. Bill Byker will be the MC for the evening.

In Memoriam

BARKLEY — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Ruby, who passed away March 20, 1983.
As we loved you, so we miss you;
In our memory you are near.
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.
—Husband Earl and family. 51

BELL — In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather, Steve, who passed away April 3, 1983.
There's a family
Who misses you dearly,
In the home where you used to be.
There's a family who wanted to keep you,
But God willed it not to be.
You left many a happy memory,
And a sorrow too great to be told.
But to us who loved you and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.
—Always lovingly remembered by Evelyn and family. 51

DILLABOUGH — In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather, Henry Dillabough, who passed away April 6, 1986, and son, Allen, passed away March 14, 1969, and son Winston.
Time may heal the broken heart,
Tears may make the wound less sore
But it cannot fill the longing
For the loved ones gone before
Who shall say the grief is lessened
Though the smile may hide the tears
Memories keep the wound still open,
Despite the passing of the years.
—Sadly missed by wife Rachael and family. 51

JEACLE — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Milton, who passed away April 15, 1975, also mother and grandmother who passed away March 31, 1986.
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Ivan, Jeanne, Julia and Gregory. 51

CINNAMON — In fond memory of our parents (Henry W.) Dad who passed away May 23, 1976 and (Jessie Ethel) Mother, who passed away April 2, 1968.
Time slips by but memories stay
Quietly remembered every day
A little tribute small and tender
Just to show we still remember.
—Their Family. 51

MARSHALL — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. George Marshall, who passed away March 24, 1953 and of an only sister, Susie Marshall Smith, who left us March 21, 1982.
While they sleep a peaceful sleep,
Their memory we shall always keep.
—Don, Lillian and family. 51

JOHNSTONE — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Ralph, who passed away April 6, 1976.
No space of time, no lapse of years,

But his memory remains forever
With the passing of the years.
—Wife Margaret and family. 51
