FURTHER SLAUGHTER OF IN-NOCENTS.

MOUNTAIN VOTERS' LIST.

A Gain of 41 to the Reformers.

COSTS ON THE ASSESSOR AND HIS ADVISERS.

THE U. PROGS. DEPENDENT.

The trial of the appeals against the Voters' List of the Township of Mountain, was begun by his Honor, Judge Pringle, at South Mountain Village, on Tuesday of last week, and continued until Saturday. Appeals had been entered by Mr. R. B. Richardson and Mr. Samuel Rose against the names of 85 Conservatives which they believed had been improperly entered on the List, and they, at the same time, made application to have the names of six Reformers entered, that had been wrongfully omitted. Mr. Edward Price appeared against 41 Reform voters, and petitioned to have three Conservatives put on. A. G. McDonnell, Esq., appeared on behalf of Messrs. Richardson and Rose, and F. Tyrrell, Esq., on behalf of Mr. Price. Mr. McDonnell displayed a great deal of ability in the management of the case, and succeeded in getting SIXTY CONSERVATIVE VOTERS STRUCK OFF, as having been improperly inserted. He also was successful in getting five of the names petitioned for, entered on the List. On the other hand, Mr. Tyrrell got 21 names of Reformers struck off the Roll, and three Conservatives placed on. Of these 21, however, only five were defended.

This makes a clear gain to the Reform party in that Township, of 41 votes, or taking into consideration the mysterious omission of some 80 Reform voters, last year, from the Assessment Roll, the party stands better by more than 120 votes, than they did at last election. This success is one of the first fruits of organization and concentrated effort, and the Reformers of Mountain may well feel pleased over the result of this struggle after their rights.

It came out in the evidence that the Assessor had acted under instructions from Mr. George Mulloy and Mr. Joseph Hyndman, in the manufacture of a goodly number of these bogus votes, consequently these two gentlemen of such liberal views, were liberally associated with the Assessor in bearing the costs of these appeals. They will therefore have the privilege of advancing forty or fifty dollars each, as a testimony of their devotion to advanced sentiments.

Nothing shows the possession of a master-mind more than the capacity to invent ways and means to accomplish desired ends, and the U. Progs. of Mountain have shown the possession of this desirable quality in its highest development. A Mr. John Biggart, an emigrant from Ireland, while on his way hither on the broad Atlantic, was assessed by Mr. Joseph Hyndman's direction, on one of his lots, and made a voter ere his arrival on Canadian soil. But Ontario laws are even further sighted than Mr. Hyndman, and so Mr. H. has to pay the costs for his brilliant though unsuccessful little scheme. Capt. Farlinger of this Village is also open to the soft impeachment, of a love of country sufficient at least to prevent his putting an obstacle in the way of any man's voting—on the Conservative ticket. Mr. Geo. Mulloy testified to having received a letter from the Captain, directing him, to have parties assessed for certain swamp lots owned by the Captain, and the conditions were that the parties assessed were to pay the taxes, and do the road work, and to have the privilege of cutting firewood. How these parties then came to be put on the Voters' List, is a question that this Family Compact can settle among themselves, when they pay the costs. All we say is, "con- trivance proves design."

Our Tory friends have probably learned by this time that Mr. Mowat's Bill is likely to prove a "terror to those who do evil." Before leaving the subject, we wish to say that, considering the ready compliance the Assessor in Mountain showed to the wishes of his friends, and the heavy expense he has incurred thereby, the least the Conservative Association for this County can do is to hold their contempt but hitherto deferred picnic, and by sale of tickets or otherwise, raise means to fill their depleted treasury, and indemnify their Assessor, who has gratified their desires, "not wisely, but, alas, too well."

MORRISBURG HIGH SCHOOL.

We learn that Mr. Chamberlain, the Head Master of the Morrisburg High School, proposes to introduce a system of monthly reports to parents, of the attendance, and standing in deportment and recitations, of the pupils of the school. This step implies much more than a casual observer can discover. It means, in the first place, the keeping with rigid exactness, of a daily record of every recitation of every pupil. It also involves the time and trouble of footing up these various accounts at the end of each month, and rendering them to the parents. It also necessitates, to complete the work, the summing up and publication of the totals at the close of each term. This alone is a work of considerable magnitude, but the results will amply compensate for the trouble. The attempt to secure thoroughness on the part of pupils, without some such system, would be equivalent to a merchant or a trades man's trying to do a successful business without day-book or ledger. Among the advantages of the system, may be mentioned the knowledge it gives the teacher of the progress made by each pupil; the necessity of adopting such a mode of conducting the recitations will clearly bring out each pupil's knowledge of the day's lesson, and consequently the discarding of the rote system; the stimulating the pupil to earnest effort that he may present a good record to his parents; and the promotion of a healthy ambition to have a creditable standing given to the public at the end of the term. In brief, such a plan can only be adopted and carried out by an industrious and enthusiastic teacher, and it has the strongest tendency to make an industrious and thorough school. We had the proposal as a good indication, and have no doubt the Board of Trustees will do what is required on their part, to render it effective.

While on the subject of the High School, we would refer to the necessity of increasing the attendance of pupils. To this end, we would suggest the founding of a couple of scholarships to be awarded at the close of each term. One of these might be open only to pupils outside of the Corporation, or both of them might be so restricted. An inducement of this kind could not but have a beneficial effect in increasing the attendance. We are pleased to announce that Mr. Gibson, M. P., with the liberality that characterizes his conduct in school affairs, has promised to aid such a scheme by a good subscription, and doubtless other leading men of the Village, also interested in the welfare of the school, will follow in the same direction. It is quite likely, too, that the Board would feel justified in supplementing any amount raised in this way, with a further grant of money. We hope these matters will not be allowed to drop, but that the Board will take them into consideration as speedily as possible.

QUEBEC GOVERNMENT.

At last, this corrupt administration, which has been dying for several weeks, and whose demise has been expected daily for some time, has succumbed, and given up the ghost. Yet it has not "passed the way of all" corrupt Governments, without efforts to ensure a successor from its supporters that should rise phoenix-like from its ashes, and continue the same system of jobbery and ministerial enmity, that even the people of Quebec have become disgusted with. Strong pre- dictions have been made that Mr. Ourne's recommendations to appoint one of his bosom friends as his successor, would be acted upon. For the sake of the fair name of the Province, and of the responsible government under which it is our boast to live, we hope this will not be attempted. Not that it would make any material difference in the results,—for an administration formed under such circumstances, and under the existing feeling in Lower Canada, could have but a brief duration. At any rate, we hail, with pleasure, the fall of the last Conservative Government in America, as an encouraging omen of the advance of liberal enlightened sentiments.

Iroquois.

This stirring Village is showing considerable advance in local improve- ments. We note a new side walk from the business part of the village to the Station, under process of construction. There have been sixteen new brick and frame buildings erected this year. The High School Building has been much improved on the inside, by paint and paper, and on the outside, we see a new and durable fence enclosing the yard. The School itself, now in its fifteenth year under the efficient management of our esteemed friend, Wm. Whitney, Esq., M. A., is still continuing its prosperous career. At this, the weakest part of the year, it has 60 pupils in attendance, and owing to the stringent entrance examination that now holds, these are of a better class than ordinary as to intellectual attainments. The foundation of the new Presbyterian Church has been completed, and the brickwork commenced. Mr. Thos. Russell, of Morrisburg, is the architect.

The Council is now negotiating the purchase of a lot for a Market, which will soon form another important improvement.

Business is beginning to be lively, and in view of the good crops that have now been nearly stored the merchants and tradesmen are prepar- ing for brisk times. Mr. Edward Auld, Druggist, has made a considerable ad- dition to his stock and is prepared to furnish pure articles in his line at low rates. Mr. John Murray, Tailor, is crowded with work, but has sufficient "help" to fill orders promptly. He has just got in a full stock of Goods for fall and winter. We saw a fine display of cloths, and a bran new safe, and so we infer he intends to do a safe business. Messrs. Doran & Son have been filling up their Store with the latest styles of Dress Goods, and an excellent selection of Dry-Goods, Groceries &c, and are now ready to wait on customers, to mutual satisfac- tion. Mr. N. G. Sherman's Carriage Factory is the scene of general activity, and orders exceed the capacity to fill. He is putting up a store addition to the Shop, in which the iron work is done. We found business pretty brisk, too, at Messrs. J. A. Carman & Son's, and saw a good stock of seasonal goods to select from. Mr. John Carson's large rooms, crowded with furniture of all kinds and descriptions, from a croquet set to the most costly drawing room set, show what industry and business tact can accomplish in a few years.

Cornwall Controverted Election.

This case was concluded on Sat- urday, and judgment rendered on Mon- day morning. Mr. A. P. Macdonald has been unseated, on account of bribery by his agents. The costs go against the respondent. Mr. McDon- ald had a majority of 23 over Dr. Ber- gin at the last general election.

Ontario Opposition Trash.

(From the Globe.)

Except to treat it as a contemptible piece of trash, we have never cared to allude to the stupid story about Mr. McKellar having, as was alleged, hung up in his private rooms a chromo bear- ing the fancy designation of "Little Mrs. —." For the discussion of political affairs to whittle down to the question whether the official residence of a Minister of the Crown was adorned with a few pictures more or less, or what those pictures might represent, was to the last degree ridiculous, and could only have arisen from the fact of men at once small and pettifying in their habits and ideas, having be- come the self-constituted censors of the Government. However, as this piece of nonsense has been again and again aired in public, and elevated in the minds of the "quarrette" and their friends into an affair of State, it may do no harm to let the world know that so far as Mr. McKellar's connection with it is concerned it is a pure inven- tion; that he never ordered the picture, appropriated it, nor, till quite recently, knew of what transaction the idle canard had arisen. A short time since Mr. Rykert, in a letter to a local newspaper, stated that the item, includ- ing the cost of such a picture as the one referred to, could be seen in the Public Accounts for 1872 as paid to Messrs. Ewing & Co. of this city. Mr. McKellar thereupon wrote to Messrs. Ewing as follows:—

DEAR SIR,—I see a letter in the St. Catharines Journal, from Mr. J. C. Rykert, referring to the chromo of "Little Mrs. —," which he stated is found charged in the public accounts of 1872; page 33.—Ewing & Co., $227, 45.

"Will you have the goodness to let me know, as soon as you conveniently can, by whom and when the account was opened, and, if possible, say who selected the picture in question, if such there be, as well as the other items contained in your account. Your obedient servant,

A. MCKELLAR.

R. D. Ewing, Esq.,
Ewing & Co., Photographers,
Toronto.

Chatham, Aug. 21, 1864.

Thereupon, Messrs. Ewing & Co. replied in the following terms:—

TORONTO, August 24, 1874.

To Hon. A. McKellar, Chatham:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to yours of the 21st instant, enquiring "by whom and when the accounts for chromos and pictures was opened, and who selected the pictures," I may state that two or three days after the House opened in the fall of 1871, Mr. Scott, the then Speaker, called in, and saying that his rooms looked very bare, and that a few pictures would improve it, bought fifteen chromos and five motes, order- ing them to be framed. Next morning he called in with Mr. Sandfield Macdonald and asked me to show him his purchases. "After looking over them and rejecting two, they proceeded to select a few more. One standing framed entitled "The Reaper," after a painting by Adams, attracted Mr. Macdonald's attention, who said, "Ewing, how much for little Mrs.?" I stated seven dollars. Turning to Mr. Scott, he said, "Scott, that will just suit you; you had better have that," and ordered it to be placed among the lot. There was a great number of frames to make, and they were not delivered till the 27th Janu- ary, 1872. We have a copy of two of Little Mrs.—on hand, and will be glad to let you or Mr. Rykert have as many copies as you wish to supply your friends.

I am, truly yours,
R. D. EWING, of Ewing & Co.

The innocent author of this bit of playful mischief, so very characteristic of the man, would only have treated with the scorn it deserves the attempt by innuendo to turn it to the disadvan- tage of his old political opponent. And Mr. Scott will, we are sure, be perfectly content to share with his late friend the responsibility of the purchase about which there has been too much fooling already.

Council of Public Instruction.

To the Principals and Masters of the Collegiate Institutes and High Schools of Ontario.

Gentlemen,—I feel it incumbent on me to acknowledge the distinction you have spontaneously conferred on me in selecting me as your first representa- tive on the Council of Public Instruc- tion.

Permit me to assure you that I am deeply sensible of the responsibility involved in the fulfillment of the duties you have thus entrusted to me. Much of the future not only of this Province, but of the Dominion of Canada, depends on the intellectual and moral culture of the rising generation; and I doubt not that I shall best show my appre- ciation of the honor you have done me by aiming in all ways to maintain the highest standard in education; and to promote the utmost attainable thoroughness in every useful branch of study.

As a fellow-teacher I trust I shall be found in full accord with you on all the great questions of education; and while exercising my best judg- ment as a member of the Council of Public Instruction, I shall al- ways be gratified to have the benefit of your judgment and experience to aid me in deter- mining on a course of action best cal- culated to promote the great ends of higher education.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
DANIEL WILSON.

To Hugh J. Strang, Esq.,
Sec'y. High School Masters' Section of the Ontario Teachers' Association.

Political Items.

The Ontario Legislature is to meet in November.

Col. Cole has been nominated as the Reform candidate to represent Brock- ville and Elizabethtown in the next Provincial Parliament.

Dr. Preston is spoken of as the prob- able nominee of the Conservative Convention for South Leeds, to be held on the 15th inst. Mr. Fields, the Re- form candidate, is already in the field, with a good prospect of success.

The new election will soon be held for Cornwall, and as neither party has been disqualified, the contest between Messrs. Macdonald and Bergin bids fair to be more exciting than ever.

The trial of the petition against the return of Major Walker for the City of London, and that against Norris for Lincoln, are in progress.

The Reform Convention of Essex has nominated Mr. Wm. McGregor, as its candidate at the approaching election.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Holiday Trip.

III.

About noon on Tuesday, the 7th (Aug.) all the sight-seers might be seen wondering their way toward the wharf where the Minamichi was to anchor, and precisely as the city clock struck two, the ropes were thrown off and away we steamed amid the waving of handkerchiefs and many last fare- wells. "Be sure and write as soon as you land," "Don't forget to come back next summer," "Remember me to Papa, Mamma, Betsy Jane &c," these and other messages of a similar nature were being delivered to and from the boat, even when we were almost out of hearing distance. There were about 40 passengers aboard on this trip—among them the President and the members of the Dominion Board of Trade, on their way to the annual meeting of the Board at St. Johns; three or four editors of all shades of politics, from the blue-blooded Tory, down to the nondescript Independent. We had also a Russian Colonel on a scientific expedition; a Scotch Million- aire in search of something to do and see; an ex-Premier of one of the Pro- vinces; the wife of one of our Cabinet Ministers; lawyers, doctors and many others of a like ilk. The weather during the whole trip was such as to permit even the feeblest in health of our passengers to be on deck nearly all the time. Most of the day was passed in pacing the deck, observing the scenery, reading light literature, play- ing Euchre and Checkers, talking polit- ics, and making acquaintances among our fellow passengers. It was a fine place to study human nature. Some were garrulous and free, and ready "to strike up an acquaintance" if the least encouragement were given. Some rebuffed you, if you dared approach them in any other than the good old way laid down by "good society," while others "forgot shy" of all comers, from constitutional backward- ness and a morbid feeling that they might be intruding. We had on board many species of the genus "gentle- man." We had the Christian gentle- man, ever ready to speak a kind word to any one who appeared to be friend- less and sad; the polished moral gentle- man, who at least never outraged your finer feelings by vulgar or profane language; but we had too many of that species who, possessed of consider- able wealth, were able to pass the sparkling Moselle and Champagne around, crack lewd jests, and swear horrid oaths. During the afternoon, we passed the Island of Orleans, St. Laurent, St. Michel, Beaumont, and Grosse Isle, situated about 30 miles be- low Quebec. Grosse Isle has been used by the Dominion Government as a quarantine station, no vessel with any disease on board being allowed to pass until the disease disappears. A sad reminiscence connected with this island is the terrible immigrant fever of 1848, which carried off about 5,000 victims. Behind Grosse Isle is an immense moun- tain range, while the other side of the river is covered with very beautiful green woods. The mountains to be seen here are the Laurentian Hills, and are twelve miles from the shore, al- though appearing to overhang the very edge. Towards evening the weather became stormy, the river began to gradually widen, and the hills to re- cede from the shore, so as to look like black and blue clouds on the horizon. As you approach Murray Bay, the mountains on the south side present a beautiful changing color when the sun is setting. We reached Father Point (from which you are notified of the ar- rival of inward-bound ocean steamers) about 4 o'clock on Wednesday morn- ing, passing during the night Riviere du Loup and Cacoma, behind which runs the Intercolonial Railway. Here the immediate shore is level, but it gradually rises until it terminates in a high mountain range as far back as one can see with the naked eye. During the forenoon we passed a fleet of 15 or 20 ocean steamers, inward bound. We also passed St. Flavin, the northern terminus of the Metapedia Valley Road. This road extends through the valley to Cross Point on the Bay of Chaleur, near Dalhousie. Eight years ago, along this road from the St. Law- rence to the Bay of Chaleur, with the exception of a few huts erected by the mail contractors, there were but two houses, and the occupants of these were paid by the Government for remaining there to entertain travellers. The road alluded to above continues from Cross Point, along the coast through Paspobi- ac and Perce, terminating at Gaspé. Lately, a colony of Alsatians have been settled in this valley, and are doing well.

Quebec commercial travellers, dur- ing the months of January or Febru- ary, take sleigh at Point Flavin, and drive through the whole Metapedia Valley, down to Dalhousie and around by Paspobiac, Perce, and Gaspé, taking orders in all these places, to be filled when the first boat runs in the spring, it being too costly to bring the goods overland. These travellers generally make two trips in the year, and were now on their way to take orders for the fall supply. Most of your readers will remember that at the last session but one of the Dominion Parliament the present Finance Minister moved for a committee to ascertain the shortest mail route to Britain. It was at that time proposed to construct a line of railway across Newfoundland, but we believe that, has been abandoned, and Dr. Robitaille, the present member for Bonaventure, has obtained a charter for a line to run from Point Flavin, on the St. Lawrence, to Paspobiac, which terminus has the advantage of being a winter port. But, to return to the St. Lawrence. We landed at Metis at 7 a. m. on Thursday, and on going on deck at the break of day, we were greeted by a most delightful morning. After leaving Metis, it becomes more like the open sea, and the swells began to increase in size. Towards noon, we approached very near the shore, passing high hills, covered on the slopes with most beautiful green verdure. Towards evening we were running alongside of a continuous high mountain range over 2,000 feet high—one part (St. Anne's) being 3,470 feet high, and extending back about twenty miles. Some of these mountains were right on the shore, very barren-looking, and covered with dry stunted shrubbery. But the length of this letter reminds me that it is time to stop.

INVALID.

M. E. General Conference.

MR. EDITOR:—In my former letter I gave you a synopsis of matters as transpiring in connection with General Conference up to date. I now resume.

After Dr. Reed was elected, a tele- gram was sent to him at Carson City, Nevada, announcing the fact of his election. For some reason, not yet explained, he found himself unable to accept the appointment, as he had con- templated. This was a grave disap- pointment to us. However, the busi- ness of the Conference proceeded as usual, and this morning, Dr. A. Carman was elected to the office of Bishop, in the M. E. Church in Canada. He is a ripe scholar, and will undoubtedly fill the office acceptably, but he cannot leave the college until a successor is secured, which I fear will be a difficult matter.

Although disappointed in our expec- tations of having Bishop Simpson with us on the Sabbath, yet the pulpit was very ably filled in the morning by Dr. Hill, one of the delegates from the M. E. Church in the U. S., and in the afternoon, by Dr. Pilcher, of Detroit Conference, and in the evening, by Rev. Homer Eaton, the other delegate from the United States. All the ser- mons were deeply interesting. The Wesleyan pulpit was supplied by Rev. A. Brown, in the morning, and by Dr. Wild, in the evening. The Presbyterian Church was supplied by Rev. F. M. Finn. The people came in crowds from all the country round, and on Sabbath evening there could not have been less than three thousand people at once on the streets, returning home from the various services.

The Discipline was revised, so that Lay delegation is accepted, and the next General Conference will be com- posed of an equal number of ministers and laymen, that is, if the laity elect the latter.

The allies of Napoleon gave a break- fast on Tuesday morning to the mem- bers of the Conference and others. The Mayor of Napuee, A. L. Jordan, Esq., presided. He proved to be really the right man in the right place. The speeches, being so numerous and excel- lent, I will not attempt to describe. In short, it was a most enjoyable treat. Dr. Hill, Rev. H. Eaton, delegates;

Bishop Richardson, Dr. Wild, Rev. A. A. Brown, Dr. Gracey, Missionary Editor of the Northern Christian Advocate, from Central New-York, and a returned Missionary from India, and Rev. J. Gardner, were the speakers.

I had nearly forgotten to mention a most interesting matter in con- nection with the session. The Ladies' Aid Society secured the services of Rev. Dr. Gracey, for a lecture on the "Hindoo, his religion, his country, etc." A large audience was held spell-bound for nearly two hours, and never did I listen to a lecture so full of in- formation, so rich in incidents, as this respecting that wonderful country of the Hindoo, with a population of more than 250,000,000, all save a very few, yet in the darkness of heathenism. His masterly lecture made an impres- sion on many minds, that will never be effaced. The claims of these poor benighted millions on Christians for aid in substituting the Gospel for their cruel system of worship, was never more clearly set forth. No man, pos- sessing a spark of Christianity, went to his home that night, without prizing more highly than ever, the blessings of Christian civilization.

The Conference finally closed at 11 p. m., Friday evening. Rev. S. G. Stone was elected as editor of C. C. Advocate, Rev. J. McLean, Book Agent, Rev. J. Gardner, Missionary Secretary.

Yours,

Strangely Handled, No. 2.

COINCIDENCES IN BORROWING-MONEY.

Once, when sick, I asked a neighbor, with whom I was well acquainted, for a small sum of money to get me some medicine. He said he had no money. I knew his answer was at least false in spirit, for he could very soon get it if he chose. He reasoned with himself about the following words:—"He wouldn't have been sick if he had done as he ought; he might have had money if he had been more industrious; I don't believe he is so sick as he makes for, he is a worthless vagabond any way, and if he should die, the com- munity would be better without him; I have to work for what I get—let others do the same." I have every prospect of seeing the day when the case of asking for money will be re- versed, and when it will be natural, if not proper to remind him, that being sick and penniless, I asked him for a little money—not as a charity, but to be repaid—to get me a little medicine, when my condition was precarious, and met with a refusal.

Another time, I had been sick, and got able to ride out to a neighboring village. I there met a "neighbor," who agreed to take me to my stopping place on his way home. I had had no medicine in my sickness, except what the home practice suggested, and I asked this man to buy me a fraction of a dollar's worth, or lend me that amount. I did not ask it as a charity, but I pledged my honor as a man to refund the money, or repay him, in one week after I got well. He flatly re- fused, and said he had no money nor any credit at the drug store. Perhaps he did not have the money, but I know his credit was good for ten dollars' worth of drugs at that place. That a man bred in a Christian land would have refused under the circumstances, staggers belief, but he was inexorable. He reasoned like this, perhaps:—"He is comparatively a worthless fellow, or he would not be in his present condi- tion; I will not risk a quarter on him, as his body and soul are not worth that amount." At that time he was getting along well: he had a well-stocked farm; his finances were in a good con- dition; and his family in good health. I kept my eye on that man. Seven years had passed. I came his way again. After running a heavy doctor's bill, his wife had become a hopeless invalid; he had signed notes with his brother; and had them to pay; and between his own drinking (for he had got well addicted to the bottle) and his three boys' drinking, and general bad luck, all pointed to his soon being re- duced to penury. He came to me one day; and said he was very hard up, and asked me to lend him two dollars. I gave him the money, but as I did so, I felt more than I told.

Another time, I was in the West, in the neighborhood of an old schoolmate of mine. I was doing rather contrary to his wishes, to be sure, but I was not responsible to him in the least, although he was a confident of mine. I was making a "poor fist" of it indeed; and this confident, unbeknown to me, and therefore dastardly, wrote to a brother of mine, giving my brother his (my schoolmate's) version of my case, impressing upon my brother his good management in his own affairs, and his wisdom and foresight in advis- ing me. Soon after, I was taken sick and was unwell for a long time, and this confident assured me my sickness and misfortunes were a judgment upon me for my bad deeds. Even five or six years after that he reminded me of his prosperity and of my poverty. He did not then consider that he was liable to sickness, poverty, etc. Not longer ago than last summer, fourteen years after he had written to my brother, as above stated, he was sick and nearly penniless himself, and he asked me for some money, which I gave him; and I voluntarily provided him with some clothing till his health returned. Then, I reminded him of several things he would rather not hear mentioned.

AN ASYLUM COINCIDENCE.

A young lady once felt spiteful towards a certain young man, and made some heartless remarks of him to her companions, saying among other things, he ought to be in the Asylum.

About twelve years after, one of these young ladies was sent to the Toronto Asylum, where she is yet, with no prospect of a discharge. I have reason to believe it was the very one who made the uncharitable remarks con- cerning me. The man has not been sent there yet. Verily, we should guard against making heartless remarks of any one; a strange fatality some- times attends this.

This will close this series. With the editor's permission, I will endeavor to send to the HERALD, at some future time, some account of my travels and adventures. In the mean time,

FAREWELL.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

FAIR POSTPONED.—The Williamsburg Agricultural Society have postponed the time of holding their Fair until the first and second of October.

THANKS.—Our thanks are due to Mrs. G. M. Merkle, for a dish of very beautiful honey, and to Dr. Sherman for a mess of very nice sweet corn.

MORRISBURG VOTERS' LIST.—The trial of appeals against the list will be held in the Town Hall, Morrisburg, commencing at 10 a. m., on Tuesday, 29th inst.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Geo. Merkle and lady have been home a few days on a visit. They started yesterday for Point Lewis, where Mr. M. is Telegraph Despatch Agent.

COLE'S CIRCUS, which exhibits at Morrisburg on Tuesday next, claims to be a thoroughly Canadian enterprise, and the exhibitions given throughout the Province have been well spoken of by the Press.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Last week, as Mr. D. Shaver, from the "Branch" in the rear of Matilda, was driving on the road a short distance below Iroquois, his horses stepped into a hole in the road, and stopped suddenly, precipitat- ing the driver in front of the wagon, and throwing on him two boxes of cheese. The wheels passed over his body, breaking four of his ribs, one projecting into the lung. He was taken home and died a couple of days after the accident. This should be a warn- ing to Road Superintendents not to neglect repairing bad places in the road. By allowing such remissness in its officers, a Council becomes liable to action for injury incurred thereby.

THE EUROPEAN CIRCUS AND MENAGE-
RIE.—FUN, WONDER AND INSTRUCTION.—We are pleased to announce that the old and young of Morrisburg and vicin- ity, are soon to have an opportunity of witnessing the collection of wonder- ful wild beasts, and the surprising achievements of the corps of gymnasts, acrobats, etc., belonging to the great European Circus and Menagerie. This mammoth establishment will pitch its city of tents in this place on Wednes- day morning, the 16th of September, and give two entertainments—one on the afternoon and one in the evening of the day just mentioned. The grand entree will be well worth seeing, though it will give little idea of the varied and extraordinary features of the great exhibition. It combines a complete menagerie, and the most ex- tensive circus now travelling in this part of the country. A variety of pleasing performances will be given, afternoon and evening, in one of the monster tents, without extra charge, consisting of gymnastic and acrobatic feats, educated dogs, goats, ponies, monkeys; tight rope exercises, ceiling walking, Chinese diversions, elephant riding, mule eccentricities, etc., enter- taining to both old and young. Re- member the day, Wednesday, the 16th of September, and let young and old make a holiday of it.

The contract for the grading of the branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Pembina to Port Gary has been awarded to Mr. Joseph Whitehead, of Clinton. This gentleman, it will be remembered, represented North Huron in the Commons during the first Parlia- mentary term after Confederation. He is a railway contractor of great experience and success.

The Ottawa Times says:—"The Quebec Chronicle in a late issue in- formed its readers that the Govern- ment were about to commence the Pembina branch of the Pacific Railway, and it considered this very satisfactory to the people of British Columbia!"

SAM COLE'S
DOMINION
Hippodrome,
AND COMBINATION
CIRCUS!

Will Exhibit at MORRISBURG,
Tuesday, Sept. 15,
At 2 and 7 o'clock, p. m.
A Congress of Artists Second to None in the World.

An Organization known and recognized as the
"CANADIAN CIRCUS."
One that the Dominion could be proud of,
and boast of having an institution gotten up AT HOME, and that can compete favorably with any CIRCUS IN EXISTENCE!
Sparing neither pains, labor nor expense, I have succeeded in securing the services of a number of Ladies and Gentlemen from the four quarters of the Globe, each and every member having been selected for his or her artistic excellence. Many of them have had the distinguished honor of appearing before ROYALTY. Every member an artist in his particular sphere. We do not mean to say that we are the best, but we mean to say that we are the best of our kind.

GREATER IN TALENT
than any other in the Continent. The reputation we have left behind is sufficient evidence of our abilities. Come and see us; render an impartial verdict and we are contented.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC—
In order that the "lovers of Public Amusements" may not be deceived,—that they may fully understand that this Dominion of Canada Circus is no "Burr-um-John-O'Brien" take in—
I desire it to be fully understood,— 1st—I make no bombastic catch-panny over-sue parade to deceive the people.
2nd—That my Show is given under the pavilion.
3rd—That my artists, as professionals, take rank second to none on the continent of America.
4th and lastly—I have not found it necessary every year to CHANGE the NAME of my Show. The public are waking up to the fact that when a man has too many aliases—(first, "The New York State Circus," next,
"The Great European Menagerie and Circus," there must be something wrong—some FRAUD or DECEPTION must be meant.

SAM COLE,
Proprietor of the only Circus that DON'T take a Cent of Money out of Canada.

Tin Roofing.
The undersigned is now prepared to make Estimates and attend to all orders for tin roofing of every approved style. Please bear in mind that tin has no superior as an article for roofing, considering its great durability, its purpose. When properly put on it will last a life time. It is much lighter than slate and will stand the frost of our cold climate, which slate and the like will not do, without cracking more or less.
Prepaid communications from the country and elsewhere will be promptly answered, and all necessary information relative to the matter at cost will be given when required.
Best of references given.

THE GREAT EUROPEAN
CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE!
Will Exhibit at Morrisonburg,
On Wednesday, Sept. 16th.
The Mastodon Exhibition of America, with more new novelties than were ever put before the people by any other management.

A Grand Street Parade will be made each day at 10 o'clock, led by a gorgeous Band Chariot, containing Julius Mautz' Military Brass Band, followed by a line of Animal Dens and Gigantic Tableau Car, with a
Living Lion! and Living Hyena!
Upon the dome of Car, Loose in the Street.
Madam Marie Robinson, the acknowledged Queen of the Menage, and dashing Horse-Woman.
Miss Henrietta Robinson, Premiere Equestrienne, who is pronounced by both
press and public to be the Sunburst of the Arena.
Mr. John Glenroy, the veteran Bare Back Equestrian, who stands without a rival in the profession, and is justly called the Champion.
Young Henry Carey, Principal Pad Rider, Leaper and Acrobat.
Mr. Thomas Byatte, the smallest Man Rider in the country; the wonder, whose lofty and lightning tumbling utterly eclipses the most admired efforts of all preceding or contemporaneous tumblers, and creates the almost irresistible impression of even more than mania-inspired muscle and activity.
The Maynard Brothers, Ariels of the Arena, whose feats and flights in mid-air have never been attempted by mortal men before them. As sensation performers, their every movement thrills the spectator. They have no equal.
Alex. Robinson, the Daring Equestrian, and Representative of the Red
Men of the Forest.
Mr. William Costello, the accomplished Ring Master, and famous Manipulator
of the Globe and Trance.
Mr. A. E. Boyce, Principal Equestrian, Leaper, Gymnast, &c.
Mr. Lee Powell, the People's Clown and Comic Vocalist.
Mr. Bob Clark, the Comic Clown, who is always overflowing with good humor.
The Corps of Leaders led by the celebrated Valtigen, Boyal Robinson.

4 CLOWNS,
American, English, Irish and Dutch. Do not fail to see the Grand Street Parade on the day of Exhibition. Be sure and see the City of Tunc. Plenty of room for all and seats for everybody. The Menagerie Department is in a Mammoth Tent, wholly by itself, giving all an opportunity of witnessing the Animal Collection, and then those desirous of looking at the Arenic Display can retire to the large Hippodrome Tent, and enjoy an Equestrian display never before witnessed on this Continent.
THE DEN OF FEROCIOUS LIONS
Is unequalled, not only for their rarity, but for their surprising beauty and their fabulous cost having been Imported by Madam Marie Robinson, at an expense of $11,000. They were Imported in February, 1872, since which time Madam Marie Robinson has completely subdued
these fiery beasts of the forest, and now enters their den with all the nonchalance imaginable, having these terrible animals entirely at her command. She may be truly nominated the
"Lion Queen," as she accomplished what no other female ever attempted, viz.—Entering the Den of Untamed Lions.

THE BHENGAL TIGERS
Are in themselves a great rarity. There are none such others in the country.
The Den of Hyenas! are a new importation, and require the utmost care of their keepers to watch them, they being entirely untamed.
In the Menagerie will be found SEVERAL CAGES of AN. MALS not herein mentioned.—
Grand Zoological Attractions, enclosed in new and beautiful dens, gleaming with Emerald and Gold.
The TROPICAL BIRD SHOW embraces nearly all the Birds of Brilliant Plumage known to man. The Edouard and Superb Birds of Paradise, Blue and Yellow Macaws, Rosa Cock-atoes, Sulphur and Golden Crested Cockatoes, African Parrots, Ceylon, Malagan and Mexican Parrots, Toucan, Pelican, Osprey, Loon, Eagle, Heron, Cormorants, Black Swan, &c.
Admission, 50cts. Children Under 10 Years, 25 Cents.
Door: Open at 1 and 7 p. m. Performance at 2 and 8 p. m.

THE GREAT EUROPEAN
CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE!
Will Exhibit at Morrisonburg,
On Wednesday, Sept. 16th.
The Mastodon Exhibition of America, with more new novelties
than were ever put before the people by any other management.

A Grand Street Parade will be made
each day at 10 o'clock, led by a gorgeous Band Chariot, containing Julius Mautz' Military Brass Band, followed by a line of Animal Dens and Gigantic Tableau Car, with a
Living Lion! and Living Hyena!
Upon the dome of Car, Loose in the Street.
Madam Marie Robinson, the acknowledged Queen of the Menage, and dashing Horse-Woman.
Miss Henrietta Robinson, Premiere Equestrienne, who is pronounced by both
press and public to be the Sunburst of the Arena.
Mr. John Glenroy, the veteran Bare Back Equestrian, who stands without a rival in the profession, and is justly called the Champion.
Young Henry Carey, Principal Pad Rider, Leaper and Acrobat.
Mr. Thomas Byatte, the smallest Man Rider in the country; the wonder, whose lofty and lightning tumbling utterly eclipses the most admired efforts of all preceding or contemporaneous tumblers, and creates the almost irresistible impression of even more than mania-inspired muscle and activity.
The Maynard Brothers, Ariels of the Arena, whose feats and flights in mid-air have never been attempted by mortal men before them. As sensation performers, their every movement thrills the spectator. They have no equal.
Alex. Robinson, the Daring Equestrian, and Representative of the Red
Men of the Forest.
Mr. William Costello, the accomplished Ring Master, and famous Manipulator
of the Globe and Trance.
Mr. A. E. Boyce, Principal Equestrian, Leaper, Gymnast, &c.
Mr. Lee Powell, the People's Clown and Comic Vocalist.
Mr. Bob Clark, the Comic Clown, who is always overflowing with good humor.
The Corps of Leaders led by the celebrated Valtigen, Boyal Robinson.

4 CLOWNS,
American, English, Irish and Dutch. Do not fail to see the Grand Street Parade on the day of Exhibition. Be sure and see the City of Tunc. Plenty of room for all and seats for everybody. The Menagerie Department is in a Mammoth Tent, wholly by itself, giving all an opportunity of witnessing the Animal Collection, and then those desirous of looking at the Arenic Display can retire to the large Hippodrome Tent, and enjoy an Equestrian display never before witnessed on this Continent.
THE DEN OF FEROCIOUS LIONS
Is unequalled, not only for their rarity, but for their surprising beauty and their fabulous cost having been Imported by Madam Marie Robinson, at an expense of $11,000. They were Imported in February, 1872, since which time Madam Marie Robinson has completely subdued
these fiery beasts of the forest, and now enters their den with all the nonchalance imaginable, having these terrible animals entirely at her command. She may be truly nominated the
"Lion Queen," as she accomplished what no other female ever attempted, viz.—Entering
the Den of Untamed Lions.

THE BHENGAL TIGERS
Are in themselves a great rarity. There are none such others in the country.
The Den of Hyenas! are a new importation, and require the utmost care of their keepers to watch them, they being entirely untamed.
In the Menagerie will be found SEVERAL CAGES of AN. MALS not herein mentioned.—
Grand Zoological Attractions, enclosed in new and beautiful dens, gleaming with Emerald and Gold.
The TROPICAL BIRD SHOW embraces nearly all the Birds of Brilliant Plumage known
to man. The Edouard and Superb Birds of Paradise, Blue and Yellow Macaws, Rosa Cock-atoes, Sulphur and Golden Crested Cockatoes, African Parrots, Ceylon, Malagan and Mexican Parrots, Toucan, Pelican, Osprey, Loon, Eagle, Heron, Cormorants, Black Swan, &c.
Admission, 50cts. Children Under 10 Years, 25 Cents.
Door: Open at 1 and 7 p. m. Performance at 2 and 8 p. m.

With the view of discouraging that system of Bartering now too prevalent in this and many other sections of the country in every department of trade—a practice alike unprofitable and undignified, and one that never fails to disturb mutual faith and confidence as an essential element of success. We have resolved, therefore, to entertain in the very commonest of business in our new premises, NO SECOND OFFERS conflicting with this fixed and unalterable rule, and sincerely hope that our strict conformity, regardless of the casual disadvantages it may involve, may respectfully pass in review, and the true system indicated challenge the admiration of the trading public. And administration lands by a law of our tearing system, already gray with age and borne down with infirmity, shall have fled for ever hurled from the commercial platform obscured, and abandoned, Dethroned and Exiled.
