Five Dollars now Twenty-five

When the south side of the river won the five dollar gold piece, donated by Mr. Jas. Hughes, to the side knitting the largest number of socks in the recent contest, it was agreed by the winners that five of the ladies interested would each take one dollar of it and make it become five dollars in a short time. It is now anuounced that this has been done by various means and the Knitting Circle has twenty-five dollars for the purchase of yarn or other comforts for the soldiers.

A Boy's Narrow Escape

Little Matty Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Flynn, had a very narrow escape from serious injury or worse on Saturday morning. He was standing close to a gasoline cement mixer with his back toward the gearing when his coat was caught in the wheels. Only by the prompt action of Mike Harper and George St. Pierre, who grabbed the little lad and tore the coat free of the machine was he saved. Practically the whole back of the coat was chewed away before he was released.

Food Pledge Cards Well Signed

As reported from almost every section of the country the food pledge cards have been well received in Chesterville. Through the medium of the Women's Institute they were distributed the latter part of last week. In a window of almost every house may now be seen the given pledge that that household will do everything asked to save the necessary food for our soldiers and our allies. Of course there were some refusals to sign with the usual fantastic excuses, which, when simmered down mean practically that those who refused had no objection to the war as long as it did not interfere with their pleasure or comfort.

Bishop is Freed From Injunction

The Appellate Division at Osgoode Hall has allowed the appeal of Bishop R. C. Horner, of the Holiness Movement Church, from the interim injunction restraining him from exercising the function of his office. He was removed at a vote of the general synod, but argues that there was not a representative attendance present at the time the vote was taken. He was restored by a later district synod meeting at Ottawa. The Appellate Division could not understand what irreparable injury could have occurred had the injunction not been granted especially in view of the undertaking that Mr. Horner would not exercise the functions of Bishop till upheld in his contention. The case comes to trial at Ottawa next Monday.

Distinguished Visitor

Miss Gretchen Gallinger, city prosecutor of Los Angeles, Cal., who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles Chambers and other relatives left on Thursday for New York City. She was accompanied to Montreal by Mr. Chambers and a visit made to the city hall where Miss Gallinger was warmly received by Mayor Martin, afterwards visiting the Court house and police stations, the prominent Churches and big stores. She was delighted with Montreal and also with Ottawa where a couple of days were spent. She regretted that her time was so limited that more of Canada could not be visited but hoped to have the opportunity to do so at some future time.

W. P. Kearns Killed in Auto Accident

On Sunday the sad news was received by Mrs. Hugh Kearns, that her son Mr. W. P. Kearns of Dauphin, Man., had been killed in an automobile accident. The following press despatch gives the only particulars of the accident so far received;—

Dauphin, Man., Sept. 24—W. P. Kearns, a well-known civil engineer was killed when the auto which he was driving turned turtle last night on Main street. There were three other occupants of the car, S. C. Cummins, Manager of the Bank of Montreal here; Mr. Strathford, teller in the Bank of Commerce, and Dr. Grobb, and of these three only the latter escaped serious injury. The condition of both Cummins and Strathford is very grave.

The remains are expected to reach Chesterville to-day for burial.

A pecaliar coincideuce is that exactly one year ago on Sunday Mr. Kearns arrived at his home to visit his father the late Hugh Kearns, who was then seriously ill.

The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. Hirman Earle of Winchester, who lately returned from Didsbury, Alta. spent last week with relatives here.

Mr. Jas. McConnel of Cannamore, spent a few days last week at Mr. Wilson's.

Miss Bessie Greer returned from her trip west on Tuesday of last week.

Miss Meryl Beach was recently the guest of Miss Belle Melvin.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Earle and daughter, Greta, accompained by Dr. and Mrs. Earle of Avonmore, attended the funeral of their aunt Mrs. Mulloy of Maple Grove on Sunday.

Pte. Robert Summers has been fitted with his artificial leg which he is allowed to use for four hours each day. He has been informed that he will not be considered fit to leave the Orthopedic Hospital before the last of this year.

Pte. Andrew Irvine, who is a brother of Mrs. Thos. Flegg and a brother-in-law of Mr. G. F. Beckstead came to Chesterville, last Friday from Kingston Hospital where he has been for a few months suffering from rheumatism. He is somewhat improved in health but does not expect to be able to go overseas again.

Mr. Sargent Black has the sympathy of his former neighbors and friends here in his sufferings from the painful accident which befel him on Saturday when he had most of his left hand cut off in an ensilage cutter.

On Friday afternoon last the Beginner's Class in our Sunday School marched in a body to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson to present to their former teacher, Mrs. J. R. Martin, a beautiful brass jardiniere, also a nice serving tray, to show their appreciation of her faithful work with them.

Miss Nellie Donnelly of Mountain was the guest of Mrs. Sherman Christie on Sunday and her many friends here were pleased to meet with her in the Sunday School of which she was so faithful an attendant while living here.

Mr. G. F. Beckstead is busily engaged filling silos for several of his neighbours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin come out from Ottawa, on Wednesday of last week to the home of the former's mother, Mrs. W. Martin of Hallville; thence on Thursday evening to the bride's home here, where they were received by several relatives and intimate friends ofboth and a very pleasant evening spent, during which dainty refreshments were served by Miss Maude Wilson assisted by Misses Jen. McGregor, Gladys Feely, Gertrude Shaver and Bessis Shaver. The many beautiful and useful presents received by the bride evidenced her popularity. As they go to their future home in Regina this week, Mr. and Mrs. Martin carry with them the very best wishes of this comunity for a happy and prosperous life.

There is no meeting of our Red Cross Sewing Circle this week because of the exceedingly busy time on the farm but several took sewing to do at home. Miss Breeta Redmond reports the following work done in September:

13 pyjama suits,
5 hospital shirts,
2 bandages,
2 pair of socks knit by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Redmond. The collection at the three teas held this month amounted to $5.30. The circle will meet next Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Earle.

Mr. T. J. and the Misses Hamilton, Miss Eunice Armstrong and Mrs. E. H. Marcellus motored to Morrisburg on Sunday.

Get Them Either Side of The Line

Negotiations are under way. it is understood, between the Governments of Canada and the United States to meet the case of men avoiding compulsory military service by residing on the other side of the line.

The Allied nations in Europe recently adopted a common plan of action in this regard and it is now proposed that Canada and the United States should take a similar course. Americans of military age in Canada or Canadians in the United States would thus be unable to escape military service by residing in a friendly country.

The majority of Americans of military age in Canada have, it is understood, already reported to their consulates for military duty. Co-operation between the countries is designed to meet the case of the few on either side of the line who may attempt to take advantage of their residence.

If Waste Were Eliminated.

It is impressive to learn that enough good food is wasted in Canada every day to feed every Canadian soldier who has gone overseas to fight for us.

Through carelessness and inefficiency there is wasted in garbage every year throughout Canada, food to the value of $56,000,000 or about $7.00 per capital of the home population, according to the recent estimates of the Canadian Food Controller. To this huge sum must be added a large, though indeterminate, number of millions lost through poor storage, delay in transportation, and unhygienic surroundings. What the grand total would be there are no present means of discovering. The important points are that this waste is needless and preventable.

Wasting $7.00 worth of food per year means a daily waste of only 1.92 cents per head. Without doubt, larger crops, better distribution, closer buying of the housekeeper, more careful preparation and more thorough utilization of our foodstuffs, would not only correct this waste, but would appreciably reduce the actual cost of living very considerably. Let it be assumed that, by complete national organization and rigid economy, the cost of living could be reduced by 5 cents per day for each individual. Roughly then, counting in the elimation of the garbage waste, we would have a saving of 7 cents per day, or $25.55 per capita annually. The national grand total saving would then amount to the outstanding sum of $204.400,000; enough to feed an army of one million men for a year. These figures are appalling, but they are not beyond the range of achievement.

On The British Front.

In the British army, the engineers are not limited to sapper'swork. For instance the Royal Engineer's Signal Service has charge of the telephone lines that cover northern France. Here is an incident illustrating the wonderful completeness of the system.

A company commander was lying out In No Man's Land on a scouting expedition. He had his field-telephone with him and when he picked it up to talk to his headquarters something went wrong, so that he was connected with the chief central's office. Immediately he heard a voice say, "What number were yon calling."

He was so startled that he gave his own number in London. Two minutes later he heard his wife's voice amid the roar of the German guns.

Four Germans Lined Every yard at front

London, Sept. 21—Telegraphing from British Headquarters in Flanders, a correspondent says;

"The more one hears about yesterdays great fight the more one admires the masterly tactics and indomitable gallantry displayed. Never has a British army had to tackle a tougher proposition than that set by the attack on a defensive area of great depth, held so densely that it may be estimated that there was an average of over four Germans to every yard of front.

"To the Anzacs and some of the British troops which served General Plummer so well at Messines fell what might have been expected to prove the stiffest part of the great day's task. They acquitted themselves nobly. For the Australians it was the most completely successful achievement of their glorious career.

The English and Scottish battalions co-operating on their flanks added new lustre to their imperishable laurels. If I have heard any complaint against the Anzacs, it is one that they can bear with equanimity, namely, that they went rather too rapidly. They dodged a barrage fire so close that they were upon the Huns before the latter could spring from their crouching positions.

"A particularly fine and picturesque incident occurred when they carried a strong point named 'Anzac,' A man, whose name should become immortal in the history of the Commonwealth, suddenly sprang upon the parapet and amid a hurricane of cheers, planted the blue-and-white starred ensign of Australia where it could be seen far and wide. It was an act of proud defiance of the Huns.

"Throughout the day the enemy's guns pounded away, and there were many counter-attacks, either launched and beaten back or broken up before the assembled masses could deploy. I watched, late into the night, the lurid palpitating sky, and wondered what the undulating thunder might be recording. But this morning we are holding on to our gains just as at Vimy and Messines, and, aided by benificient weather, we are consolidating so that every hour lessens the chances of success of the most desperate efforts the enemy can make.

"The strategic significance of yesterday's victory must eventually manifest itself unmistakably. The value of this gain cannot be measured by the mere acreage of recovered territory, though that is substantial. It was a battle for the commanding positions, and we have won a victory which leaves the enemy in this wide tract of Flanders at a serious disadvantage.

"The most triumphant feature of yesterday's splendid victory is the death blow dealt to German faith in the invulnerability of their new method of defence. The effect of the collapse of this has been very serious upon the prisoners. Captured officers, who hitherto would have been haughty and supercilious, are now literally bowing to their captors. They confess defeat in what they regarded as their strongest point. They now regard the future with dismay.

A curious incident in connection with yesterday's fighting came to light to-day. It concerned the Australians. Their advance was conducted successfully, and, after reaching the second stage of their journey, they had a wait of some two hours before going on. One officer, fearing his battalion would become uneasy at the delay, sent up a large number of newspapers and cigarettes. Word came back shortly of a queer spectacle of soldiers who had just finished fighting, and were waiting for more, sitting quietly about, reading newspapers, and smoking.

Americans Offer Big Price for Milk

Brockville, Sept. 24—The present season is expected to witness an extremely early closing of some cheese factories in the section immediately surrounding Brockville, due to the anticipated withdrawal of patronage which will necessitate the suspension of operations, much to the disappointment of manufacturers who feel that every effort should be concentrated upon the production of all the foodstuffs possible.

Alluring prices for milk, for shipment to the United States from convenient points on the Canadian border have caught the fancy of farmers to the extent, it is said, that they are pressing factory owners to bring cheese-making season to an end with this month, which is two months earlier than usual, in the vast majority of factories of this district.

American buyers are quoting October milk at sixty dollars a ton, against an average of approximately forty dollars, now paid at the Ontario factories.

Upwards of 2,000 gallons of milk from Canadian dairies are shipped daily to the condensing plant at Morristown, N. Y. just across the river from here. Factory owners intend calling a meeting of their patrons to discuss the situation in all its phases.

Germans Laughed as They Stole French Women's Goods

London, Sept. 24—Canadian Army Headqarters in France via London—Pressure upon the defences of Lens is unrelenting. Posts have again been pushed out into No Man's Land in the region southeast of St, Laurent and the ground in the defence of which the enemy a month ago fought fiercely, sustaining hundreds of casualties, has been occupied by us, almost without a struggle. The Germans are being literally squeezed out of Lens and if credence may be placed in the reports of prisoners, as to the conditions in the city, the garrison would welcome these in order to evacuate. Enemy orders are still to hold on at all costs: but there is reason to believe the cost is becoming too great, since the occupation by us of the northern suburbs permits the projection of gas into the town from the north as well as from the south and west.

Local opinion in this great industrial region seems to be in full accord with the declaration made by the new Premier of France as to the nation's war aims. The restoration of Alsace-Lorraine is regarded as vital to the future security of the country. By the deliberate policy of stripping the French population in the occupied territory of all their portable possessions, Germany, is deepening the hatred of the people and hardening their resolve to make an end of military terrorism.

A captured letter, written by one German soldier to another, gives some indication of what is happening in the occupied territory. He says: "I am attached to the requisituoning service in Fourties district. We take from the French population all their lead, tin, copper, cork, oil, etc. Candlesticks, kitchen pots or anything at all like that, goes off to Germany. It is not very nice, often, to have to take their wedding presents, but the necessity of war forces us to it. I had a good haul the other day with one of my comrades,

In a walled-up room we found fifteen instruments in copper, regular brass band a brand new bicycle, one hundred and fifty pairs of sheets and towels and six candlesticks of beaten copper. These alone weighed twenty-five kilos. And there was a whole lot of stuff besides. You can imagine what kind of a noise the old hag who owned them made. I just laughed. She deserved all she got. There was ten thousand marks worth of stuff there, for I did not count a lot of bales of pure sheep's wool and lots of other things. The commandant was very pleased and we ought to raise a reward."

What wonder that the "old hag" made a noise when she saw her candlesticks, probably family heirlooms on the way to Germany to make ammunition to be used in killing her country's defenders.

The uncomprehending Hun just laughed. But those who see the extent of France's loss in blood and treasure do not wonder at Premier Painleve's declaration that to stop the war a day too soon would be to deliver France into the most degrading servitude—to a moral and material misery from which nothing would ever deliver her.

Immature Potatoes Are Better For Seed

Potatoes which have not fully matured give better yields than fully matured seed. This has been proved by experiments conducted at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph for the past five years. The practice of planting immature potatoes is quite common in England.

The farmers of this country should follow the same practice, and should combine it with hill selection. When the potato vines are beginning to ripen, the most vigorous hills can easily be noted. Vigorous tops above ground usually mark a good yield of potatoes underground. The vigorous hills should be dug at the time the selection is made, providing it is late enough in the autumn to insure the potatoes keeping well until planting time next spring. Where the potatoes in a hill have particularly strong tops are of good size and yield well, they should be kept for seed. In hills which do not yield satisfactorily, however, the potatoes should be used for cooking and not saved for seed, An examination of the field at this time of the year will demonstrate that some hills have resisted bugs, disease and drought better than others, and that the yield of certain hills is higher than others. The disease resisting and high-yielding hills will produce a better crop than seed taken from the common bin or from the planting of small potatoes, as is often the case.

No Easy Task.

An army officer in the Philippines handed his native servant a pepper cruet, directing him to fill it. Twenty minutes later, the officer wondering what had become of the lad, went into the kitchen. "How long is it going to take you to do that job?" he demanded.

"Not much longer, sir," replied the lad. "If you will pardon me sir. I ask yon to remember that it is no small task to force the pepper through those little holes."

Three Sons of a Prominent Berwick Family Overseas in the King's Uniform.

Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hutt of Berwick. Left, Lorne ; centre, Delbert; right, Wilfrid.

Wilfrid was the first to enlist which he did on Sept. 1st, 1915, with the 73rd Royal Highlanders of Montreal. He fought through the battle of the Somme untouched, but was wounded during the capture of Vimy Ridge and is now in the Canadian Military Convalescent Home at Epsom. Lorne and Delbert joined up with the Canadian Army Medical Corps in October, last year, and are in France at the present time. When Wilfrid was wounded, although they were not far from him, they could not be spared from their posts to go and see him.

Big Bridge Span Bolted in Place

Quebec, Sept. 20;—The steel structure of the greatest cantilever bridge ever designed was completed at 3.28 p. m. today when the big central span of the Quebec bridge was bolted into position. After 11 years of work and two accidents which cost the lives of 78 men, the bridge to-day is practically finished, but it will be some months yet before trains can be run across it. It will be about three years before the final touch is put to the structure, which has yet to be painted at a cost of $35,000. The bridge, which is 3,239 feet in length, cost in the neighborhood of $20,000,000 to build, and the total weight of the steel structure is 180,000,000 pounds. Work was begun in 1906. and the engineers at that time planned to throw out the two great cantilever arms until they met 150 feet above the water in midstream. In 1907, when the south cantilever arms was all but completed it collapsed, precipitating more than 100 men into the river. Of these, 70 lost their lives. The bridge was then redesigned and the engineers determined to avoid, the menace of collapse from cantilever arms of such great length by building the central span on pontoons, floating it into position and hoisting it to its place. Last year the attempt to hoist the central span ended disastrously, when the lifting apparatus broke. This accident cost the lives of eight more men.

There was a great demonstration this afternoon when the work was completed. The few vessels within sight of the bridge received the signal that all was finished and they immediately burst into a siren scream of victory which spread quickly along the river till it reached Quebec where the church bells joined in with a merry peal. Flags were unfurled everywhere in response to the Mayor's request that some recognition should be given on the conclusion of this great engineering feat.

No Election Until Next February.

TORONTO, Sept. 24—.A general election will not be held until next February, that was the inference to be drawn from a remark made by Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in the Borden Cabinet, at a largely attended meeting of Wychwood Conservaties held this evening in the hall of St. Micheal's and All Angels Church, St. Clair ave. Wychwood is in the new Federal riding of North Toronto, which is represented by Sir George Foster in the House of Commons.

The Minister's statement from which the inference is to be deducted was: "We shall take up four months, maybe five month's, in preparing for carrying on and deciding this election in Canada. It is possible that the Goverement can give that thought and that support to the progress of the war that it could give if there was no contest at the polls."

Harry Lauder on Food Waste.

The noted Scottish comedian, Harry Lauder, who lost his only son in war, is now devoting himself to preaching food economy to the British public. In a recent talk he said:

"Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters of our fighting-men, listen! I have often played the fool and joked for you; I am not joking to-day. I am in earnest. I am as earnest as death. This morning before you eat your breakfast, before you, mother or father, take up the big knife to cut the bread, I ask you, I implore you, to hear what I have to say. The lives of many brave men, the lives of many women and little children, may depend on the thickness of the slice and the number of slices you cut. Now to-day at your breaklast table, you will help to win, or you will help to lose the war.

We are in state of siege. That may not be easy to believe, but it is true, terribly true, We shall not see our men and babies ruthlessly slaughtered— our homes destroyed. But we may know what it is to starve.

"Now go on with your meal ligh heartedly if you can. Eat your fill. There is a large loaf on the table, and plenty more at the Baker's. But what will it be when the baker has no more? I write to you to-day, not as a Scots comedian' but as a simple man of the people.

"We that have lost our own flesh and blood, we that have paid the price of victory, shall we be robbed of it for the sake of a loaf of bread? You are asked to make a sacrifice. The sacrifice is not so much the forgoing of so much bread, but the constant care and vigilance necessary to avoid waste. Is it, anyhow, to be compared with the constant care and vigilance of your soldiers to avoid death? At this crucial moment you are asked to share a communion of sacrifice and victory.

"Now cut your loaf!"

Whole Meal Cake

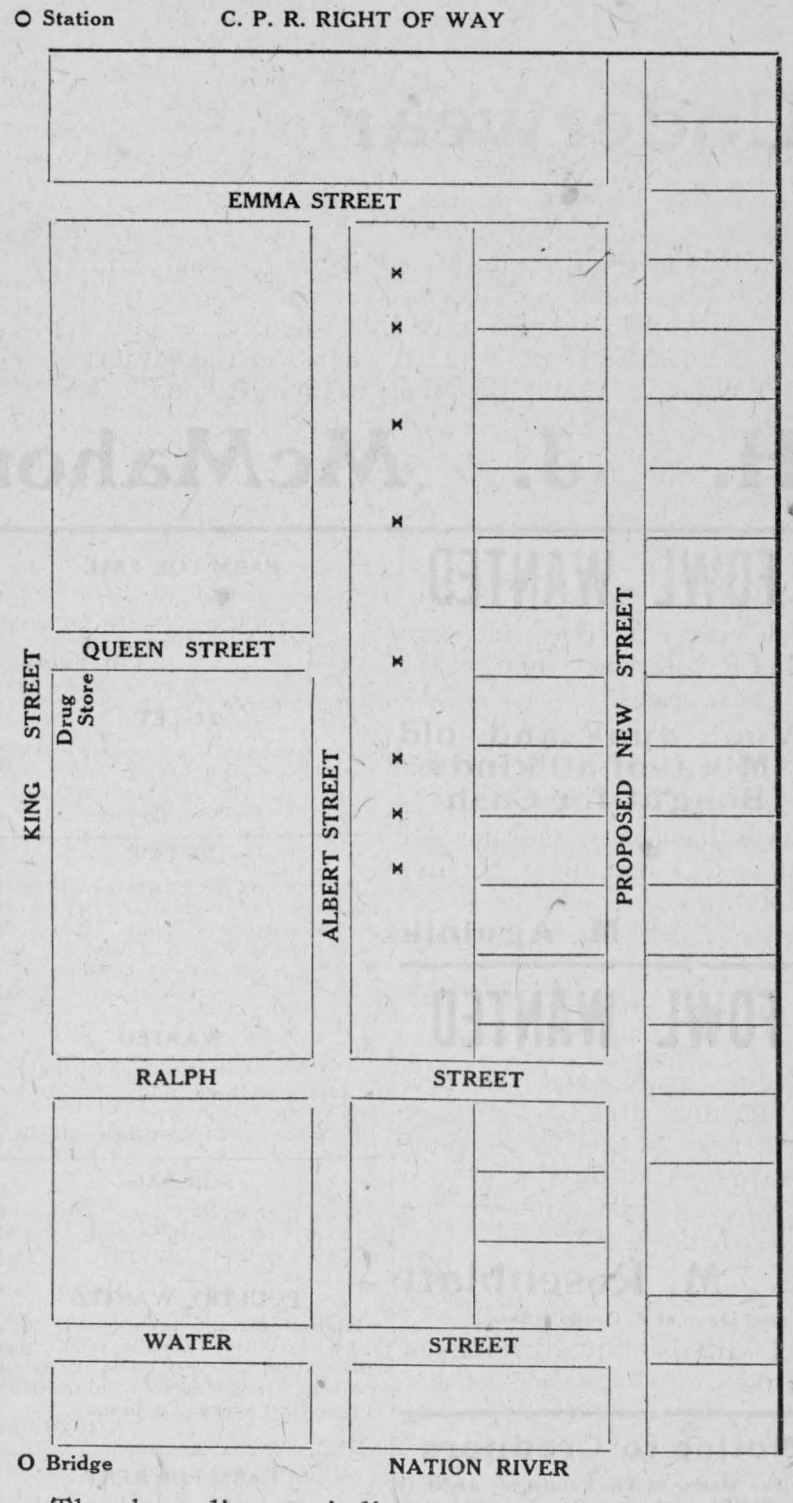

A cake which can be made with a minimum amount of flour is welcome. The following recipe is useful where there are children, as it is not only extremely nice, but is wholesome and economical; 4 oz. whole meal, 6 oz. flour, 2 oz. butter 2½ oz. brown sugar, one egg, one teacup milk, two teaspoons baking powder: mix well together, first beating the egg in the milk, and bake in moderate oven. The cake is improved by adding candied peel.

A Watch-Stealing Hymn.

The family were spending Sunday in that most innocent of recreations—singing hyms. Presently father said to little Jack, "Now, Jack, what hymn shall we sing next?" "Oh," replied the youngster "let us sing the hymn about the little boy who stole the old man's watch." "Why that's nonsense!"said the father. "There's no hymn about stealing watches." "Yes, there is we sing it at Sunday school," and Jack got a hymnbook and turned up the hymn about the child Samuel, and pointed in triumph to the verse which begins:

The old man, meek and mild,
The priest of Israel slept;
His watch the temple child
The little Levite kept.

CHOICE BUILDING LOTS OFFERED IN CHESTERVILLE

The above diagram indicates, approximately, a proposed new street to be laid out in the east side of the Village of Chesterville, which would give access to a double row of ½-acre lots. There is no other location in Chesterville where a new street could be opened up so close to the business centre and yet far enough from the noise and dust of our busy little town. The opportunities for drainage are perfect, as there is a fall of seven feet from the railway to the river.

The land where this new section may be opened is already well underdrained and it is composed of the very best soil for garden purposes.

The new street would parallel King and Albert streets and intersect Emma, Ralph and Water streets and a residence on it would be within a few minutes walk of the C.P.R. station, Post Office, Condensery, banks, churches, business places and schools

The price for the first ten lots will be $200 each and the first purchasers have choice of location.

Sweater Coats

The season has certainly got around again to Sweater Coat time, even if an odd day is pretty warm.
They are fine for mornings and evenings, before you get into the swing of the day's work or when it's over.
Boys at school will wear them when they would pitch a coat aside—and catch cold.
We have all sizes and many different prices.

Underwear

Fleece Lined Underwear is the best to wear until about the New Year.
It is fine and comfortable but has not that clinging feeling like all-wool before the real cold.
A couple suits of Fleece Lined and your old woollens would put you pretty near over the winter.
We have many other lines to interest you.

Spr. Lloyd Myers Glad of Conscription

"In the Field"
August 26th, 1917.

Mrs. J. S. Myers
North Winchester, Ont.

My Dear Mother;—

This is Sunday so here goes a few lines to let you know I am quite well trusting this finds you all the same.

I have received no word from you for some time but I guess all the Canadian mail is delayed somewhere at present. I have had two nice letters from Ray in the last few days. His divisional term of rest has expired and he is now fortunate enough to be taking a five weeks' course.

Well, Mother, I suppose the year of 1917 has seemed quite long and lonesome to you. It is to be hoped that the coming year will be or rather mean a great deal more pleasure and grant more freedom to us all. There are many things which I would like to write and explain but it would only be cancelled and perhaps my letter destroyed. This struggle seems to require the rule of secrecy through all written correspondence.

I hear that Conscription has passed the Senate. I only hope the remainder of those physically strong and fit men are sent over here. I cannot see any reason why they are allowed to stay at home. If people in Canada only realized what is going on here they might be more willing to sacrifice their sons etc. I tell you, mother, they have no idea over there what is going on. We all know the difficulties here to overcome, the restrictions that are placed on us, but does not every individual take into consideration what would be the result if he said I don't like to leave my girl, mother, father and all conveniences which they have. I may say here that I am only too proud I am here to-day, and mother, I don't want you to worry at all for I have nothing to regret only that I didn't come sooner.

Give my best wishes to Father, Uncle Dan's and Willie's.

Let us hope and pray that we may all return safely soon but not before these Huns are completely crushed, a decisive victory for our allies and a permanent and everlasting peace to follow. Bye bye and believe me to be your loving son, Pte. W. Lloyd Myers, 649411 5th Batt. B. E. F. Canadian Ry. Troops A. Coy. 4th Platoon France.

Pte. Tommy McPherson of Berwick Killed when Acting as Guide

France, Aug. 29th 17.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McPherson;—

You will no doubt be surprised to hear from me, but as your son Tommy was in my platoon at date of his death, I am writing just to show that his loss is deeply mourned indeed by his comrades and myself. I just took over the platoon the day before we went into trenches on Aug. 15th, so I hadn't very much chance of getting acquainted with my boys, but I knew my section commanders and Cpl. Braithwaite of the section that your boy was in remarked to me that he hadn't a better or nicer fellow in his section than Pte. McPherson. The day we moved in was on Wednesday 15th and on the evening of Saturday 18th, your boy along with another fellow went out to guide in a platoon from the 3rd Battalion that was relieving us. It was while on this special duty that he was hit by a piece of shrapnel from a shell that fell quite close. From the time he was hit, back of head, till he died he did not regain consciousness. We gave him a soldier's burial and a little wooden cross marks the spot where one of Briton's brave men, true as steel, has paid the cost with his best. Its just about one mile east of Loos on the famous battle field of "Hill 70", where so many have made the supreme sacrifice. When the other guide told me that Tommy was killed I could hardly believe it as we were just saying how luckly our platoon had been this trip, bad and all as it was.

The men and myself join with you in your sorrow and we can only put our trust in One who doeth all things well. Yours sincerely, W. T. Johnston No. 2 platoon, 2nd Battalion Canadian Infantry.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Pte. W. E. Hayes who was killed in action on Sept. 28th, 1916,

"Somewhere in France" is a soldier's grave,
Beside his comrades he is laid,
A loving father, a husband dear,
None at his grave to shed a tear.

When I look round our lonely home,
His vacant chair I see,
Where oft he sat with listing ear
As I told him all my care.

Gone from us. Oh, how we miss him.
Loving him dearly his memory will keep
Never till life ends will we forget him.
Dear to our heart is the place he sleeps.

Officer Expresses Sympathy to Mrs. H. Steinburg on Death of Her Son

In the Field. Aug. 29th, '17.
Mrs. H. Steinburg,
Morewood, Ont.

Dear Madam:

No doubt previous to receipt of this letter you will have received the sad news of your son's death. May I extend my sincere sympathy to you in your terrible bereavement which has caused you so much sorrow and grief. Perhaps when time has somewhat lightened the burden of your sorrow you may find some consolation in the fact that your son died like a soldier, fighting for his King and Country in this noble cause.

Your son was always very highly spoken of by his officers and comrades, and we all feel that we have lost a true friend and comrade.

Yours in sympathy, H. McLaughlin, Lt.-Col., O.C., 2nd Canadian Infantry Batt., Eastern Ontario Regiment.

SAVING FOOD TO WIN THE WAR

Little in the nature of self-denial or self-sacrifice is demanded of the people of Canada in order that the policy of food conservation, instituted by Mr. Hanna, the Food Controller, may be carried forward successfully, but a great deal is demanded in the nature of common sense and good citizenship. Allowing for possible losses incident to weather conditions and delays in harvesting and housing, the crops of 1917 may be set down as enormous, and the most liberal calculation for necessary consumption at home leaves a surplus that insures ample supplies for the allied countries and friendly neutrals. But emphasis cannot be too strongly placed upon the point of "necessary consumption." The production of foodstuffs in Canada for the present year has surprised, as it has pleased, those who in the early spring, were engaged in arousing the people to the urgent need of cultivating every available acre and foot of land in country and town. There is no ground for talk of serious shortages; there is plenty, and there will be plenty, for all, if only the most elemental economies are observed.

One of the greatest difficulties in the way of achieving the ends sought by the Food Controller is found in the tendency toward irresponsibility on the part of the individual. It is hard to make the average man, woman and child understand that the success or failure of the plan to distribute the crops and foodstuffs of Canada, this year, so as to provide enough, not only for the people of this country, but for the people of all the countries that may rightfully be looking to it for help, depends upon the attitude of the individual consumer. Nothing heroic is expected of him; he is not expected to deprive himself of things essential to his comfort or happiness; he is simply asked to play the part of one who, having plenty wherewith to satisfy himself, is content with reasonable satisfaction, and is not only willing but solicitous that his brother, whether at home or across the sea, shall have equal treatment.

Principal among the errors which, it would appear, must be eliminated from popular thought, before the country will be ready to respond to a demand for rational economy in eating, in the use of certain foodstuffs and in the elimination of Waste, is that of assuming that the individual, or the individual family, can do little or nothing toward making up the deficit of millions of tons in the world's food supply. The old and mischievous argument that one standing alone can do little, exercise a greater influence than is generally supposed in preventing many individuals from doing anything at all. The fact is, the individual can, and must, play the most important part, whether acting in his personal capacity, or as a member of a family unit, in dealing with and meeting this emergency. It is the individual that counts He counts just as much, relatively, in determining production. If he was the prime factor in raising the tremendous crops that are blessing us today, he is also the prime factor in preventing the misuse or wastage of those crops. When the ounce of food that can be saved daily by the individual consumer is multiplied by 365, representing the days of the year and 7,000,000, representing the population of Canada, it will be seen that there is no factor in the entire equation of consequence comparable with the individual consumer. All the better still, if his disposition is to be obedient to the summons of his country for conservation and retrenchment.

The emergency calls for a little less meat, a little less white bread, a little less butter; a little more regard in housekeeping, for little savings at the table; a little keener avoidance of extravagances: It is not necessary that any family shall feel the gnawing of hunger. What is necessary is that each man, woman, and child in Canada shall cut down the unnecessaries! shall practice reasonable, not needless, economy; shall fall into line as a loyal and obedient aid and assistant to the man who is striving with all his might and main to make the food supply go around the table, so that all will have enough.

British Women in the Army

The use of women in the British army both in France and at home to release men for the trenches is growing steadily. The exact numbers have not been published, but arrangements have now been made for over 4,000 women in France, over 6,000 cooks and waitresses have been provided for 200 camps at home, for one item, and about 400 women have replaced men as motor transport drivers in the Army Service Corps and the Royal Flying Corps, for another.

The London Morning Posts gives some interesting figures of economies resulting from the introduction of woman as army cooks. Chiefly, they have been assigned to officers' and sergeants' messes and hospitals. At one mess the daily charge to officers was reduced in a few weeks from 2s 6d to 1s 3d a head, and in addition £100 was saved for the benefit of the mess generally. The charge at the same mess has now been cut to 9d a day. The Army Council recognized the good work by an increase in wages. "Instructresses in cookery" have also been furnished to army cooking schools.

At the bases in France and on the lines of communication women are employed in the following posts: Clerks, typists, cooks and domestic servants, motor drivers, storekeepers, tailors, bakers, shoemakers, messengers, telephone and postal service. The enlistment is for the duration of the war. A uniform has been adopted for all women serving in this women's Army Auxiliary Corps, as it is officially known. Its women are placed directly under the control of the commanding officer of the formation or the officer in charge of the office to which they are assigned for duty.

Little Wheat Used to Make Whiskey

"These women's clubs are not seized of the facts," said a prominent official of the Inland Revenue Department this morning when asked regarding the resolutions of the Ottawa Woman's Club and the W. C. T. U. to the effect that they refused to take any part in the campaign for signatures to food service pledge cards on the ground that the first restrictions in food should be placed on the distilleries and breweries before being inflicted upon the households. "There is practically no alcohol being manufactured in Canada today for potable purpose."

This official mentioned that several distilleries in Canada have not been in operation for the past year. Large distilleries at Vancouver, Toronto, Hamilton, Perth, etc., had been closed down, and the very large proportion of the product of the rest, almost the whole of it, was being used in the industrial arts, and notably in the manufacture of munitions.

"There is a popular misapprehension regarding the use of grain by distilleries," he said. "Wheat is hardly used at all, and the wheat that is used is usually damaged wheat. The price of the best wheat is so high that it would not pay the distilleries to use it. Corn is the grain principally used. About 80 per cent. of the mash is corn, and a great proportion of this is imported from the United States."

Parcels for Soldiers.

The wastage of food and other articles sent by friends and relations to the troops on the various fronts is brought to the notice of the public by the British War Office. The military forwarding officer at one of the ports in England is stated to have reported that more than one-half of the parcels containing foodstuffs must arrive at their destination quite unfit for consumption. Packages—he says, are often returned from overseas marked "insufficiently addressed" or "unknown" These parcels are constantly found to contain articles such as eggs, butter, sausages and so on, the whole being in a varying state of putrefaction. In this connection. the general officer commanding in-chief, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, reports that his attention has been recently drawn by the military forwarding officer of Salonica, to the state of a large consignment of parcels on arrival at Salonica. He points out that owing to the inevitable delays that must arise in shipping to Salonica, articles such as parcels containing puddings, cakes, etc., must almost inevitably become unfit for consumption.

A Ruinous Proposition

Sandy McTavish was a highly skilled workman in a new aircraft factory,

Therefore it happened one day that Sandy was asked if he would care to accompany the work's aviator on one of his trial flights in a machine.

Sandy, after some hesitation, agreed to do so.

During the flight the aviator asked how he was enjoying it.

"To tell the truth," answered the Scot "I wad rather be on the ground."

"Tut, tut," replied the flying man. "I'm just thinking of looping the loop."

"For Heaven's sake don't dae that!" yelled the now very serious McTavish, "I've some siller in my vest pocket."

SEVEN YEARS TORTURE

Nothing Helped Him Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

ALBERT VARNER

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915.

For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives", and to everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-tives", and you will get well".

Aviator Notified People of Bad Fire

Toronto, Sept. 24—From a height of several hundred feet in the air, an aviator cadet from Camp Bordon saw flames spurting from a group of barns on a big farm near Oak Ridges, near here, yesterday afternoon while the good farm folks of the neighborhood were all away to church. Flying very low he managed to attract the attention of the worshippers and gave the alarm. As the result the congregation was quickly dismissed to the fire fighting and the extent of damage which promised to amount to fifteen thousand dollars, was kept down to two or three thousand.

An Ostrich's Nest.

After pairing, the ostrich begins to make his nest. It is the male alone that performs this duty. To do it, he squats upon the ground, and, balancing himself upon his breastbone, scratches up the earth with his legs and throws it behind him. When he has dug out enough on one side to suit him he turns round and begins to dig on another side, and continues this operation until he has made a hole large enough for him to sit in comfortably. A few days after the nest is finished the female begins to lay one egg on every alternate day for eighteen or twenty days. She then rests for a while which time varies from four to ten days, and then lays more. A pair of ostriches yield about forty eggs, though it is not unusual for a well-fed, well-kept pair to yield fifty and even sixty eggs. The eggs are placed so as to leave no space between them. The male and the female brood alternately. At night the male is always on the nest, as it possesses greater warmth than the female.

These birds perform their duties with the greatest skill, without any noise or breaking of the eggs. The incubation lasts forty-five days on an average, sometimes fifty days, but never continues beyond that. When the chicklings hatch out they can be heard trying to break the shell of the egg. Sometimes they succeed in doing so, but usually the father breake the egg under his breastbone, tears the inside skin with his bill, and frees the chickling. Upon first reaching the air the chickling remains limp and weak. But the warmth of the parent soon revives it, and a few hours afterwards it begins to run about, exercising its long eggs, toppling over at each step, and recommencing again its stumbling journey. Four days after their hatching the chicklings begin to eat. They run after insects and swallow small pebbles. The father and mother do not help their little ones to find food—Family Herald.

The New Version

A class of boys were undergoing an examination in Scripture. The subject was the Good Samaritan. "And why do you consider the Pharisee, after looking at him, passed by on the other side?" "Because he saw he had been robbed already," was the answer given.

These Men Will Help You Decide

Are you liable to be selected for service under the Military Service Act?

The answer to this question is being made readily available for you. Remember that the first class to be called includes only men between the ages of 20 and 34, both inclusive, who are unmarried or widowers without children, those married after July 6, 1917, being deemed single for the purposes of the Act.

Medical Boards are now being established throughout Canada. These Boards will examine, free of charge and obligation, all men who wish to be examined as to their physical fitness for military service. They will tell you in a very short time whether your physical condition absolves you from the call or makes you liable for selection.

It is important that you obtain this information as soon as possible. A certificate of unfitness from a Medical Board will secure for you freedom from responsibility under the Military Service Act from any Exemption Tribunal. A certificate of fitness will not preclude an appeal for exemption on any ground.

In order that you may be able to plan your future with certainty, visit a Medical Board as soon as possible and find out if you are liable to be selected. Your family and your employer are interested as well as yourself.

Weather Conditions to December Good

Washington, D. C. Sept. 22.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent Sept. 25 to 29, warm wave 24 to 28, cool wave 27 to Oct. 1. This will be an exceedingly important storm. Temperatures will go unusually high, on meridian 90, near Sept. 27, followed by a cold wave and frosts that will damage late corn and threaten cotton. Severe storms are expected near Oct. 2.

Some of our readers who are very much interested in weather matters fail to study the subject. There is no excellence without labor and no understanding without study. The readers must do their parts. A few seem to think they are not interested in a storm wave that does not come their way. We have often tried to explain that they are interested in every storm wave. The low, or storm centre, and the high, or cool wave centre, are closely related and their combined influences cause all the weather events and weather changes. Without the storm wave—the low—you would get no rain, snow, cold wave, warm wave, cloudy weather, exceedingly clear weather. A storm wave passing through Canada or a hurricane on the southern seas brings your rains and all other weather changes. You are interested in every storm wave. But you must study the subject.

Following Sept. 15 very radical weather will occur. Among the effects of that storm wave will be heavy rains, a warm wave, a cold wave, frosts, severe storms, according to latitude. Of course, there will be no frosts at New Orleans, but there will be frosts at Manitoba and at some places between. The reader must study, discriminate, understand. In every vicinity will be found those who fully do; some do understand these forecasts and they will willingly explain.

We have expected 25 per cent. of the corn crop would be seriously injured by frosts during the five-day periods centering on Sept. 11, 20 and Oct. 4 and have repeatedly given warnings of these weather events. The last date will cause a cotton frost scare.

Next warm wave will reach Vancouver about Oct. 4 and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. It will cross crest of Rockies by close of Oct. 5, plains sections 6, meridian 90, great lakes and Ohio valleys Oct. 7, eastern sections 8, reaching Newfoundland about Oct. 9. Storm wave will follow about one day behind warm wave and cool wave about one day behind storm wave.

This will effect the whole continent in various ways. For September from about to below normal precipitation has been expected west of Rockies crest and from about to above normal east of that line. Of course the rains were expected to come late in the extreme southwest because the great drouth had to be broken by a siege of the storm waves. But that drouth was finally driven out and farmers may expect good crop weather up to Christmas, except a few severe storms and the killing frosts.

Better conditions than usual are expected up to Christmas for winter grain, but what the crops of 1918 will be is another problem. We have been advising farmers that they would probably do better not to bargain away their new grain crops during September and not to be in a hurry selling oats.

Airplane Made Surprise Landing at Delta Fair.

Delta, Sept. 20.—Patrons of the last day of the fair here had an unexpected attraction in the flight of a military airplane from Camp Mohawk, near Deseronto, which in charge of an American cadet. flew for twenty minutes over and in the vicinity of the grounds. and after landing, ended its exhibiton by getting tangled up in a wire fence skirting the tracks of the Canadian Northern Railway. Had it not been for the fence the machine would have crashed into the railway station and the aviator might have suffered serious injuries. As it was it stood on its nose throwing out the cadet and bending the planes. The machine was in charge of Cadet Tinback.

The airplane, No. C558, arrived here at six o'clock yesterday morning in company with a second machine. They landed on the farm of Arthur Slack, one mile north of the village, explaining their unexpected arrival by the fact that they had lost their way in the fog. The enterprising fair management, recognizing the value of such an attraction, persuaded one of the airman to remain for the afternoon performance and give an exhibition. At three o'clock he took the air and for twenty minutes flew over the grounds, nose-diving at intervals to within a few feet of the ground. He finally landed on the field of George Morris adjoining the grounds and it was while he was attempting to rise to proceed on his return to Camp Mohawk that the collision with the fence took place.

There was another accident to record in the trampling under a horse of Miss Murphy, Oak Leaf, who was knocked down in the grounds by a horse and somewhat seriously injured.

Township is not Debtor for Sheep Killing

The Dog Tax and Sheep Protection Act was not made with the intention of making the township concerned the debtor to farmers whose sheep have been killed by unknown dogs. This was the judgment handed down by Judge Lavell in the case of Samuel G. Hogle vs. the township of Ernesttown for $200 damages. The case was tried by Judge Lavell at Napanee. At the trial the defendant counsel pointed out that Chancellor Boyd had a simiiliar case before him and he held that there was no right of action intended by the statute against the township. The township paid into court the sum $117 for the damages, but this the plaintiff refused to accept, claiming $200. As the judgment makes it a non-suit, the plaintiff will have to pay his costs, which will amount to probably more than the $117, even if he still is able to collect that amount. The judgment is an important one as in this district many similar cases have arisen and are liable to rise.—Perth Courier. Township councils have the sole right to determine the extent of their liability in claims for damages under the Dog Tax and Sheep Protection Act.—Municipal World.

In No Hurry.

"Too many people," said a clergyman, "regard their religion as did the little boy in the jam closet. His mother pounced on him suddenly. He stood on tiptoe, ladling jam with both hands from the jam pot to his mouth.

"'Oh, Jacky!' his mother cried. 'And only last night you prayed to be made a saint!'

"His face, an expressionless mask of jam, turned toward her.

"'Yes, but not till after I'm dead,' he explained."

The Word "Belfry."

The word "belfry" had originally no connection with "bell," an idea which is now intimately associated with the term. The first meaning given is "watchtower," from the middle English "berfry," a watchtower. The first part of this word is connected with "borough," the second with "free." As the practice grew of hanging "bells" in such towers people reminded themselves of the fact by changing the word "berfry" into the modern "belfry."

Game In Manchuria.

The long haired tiger is found throughout Manchuria wherever there is hilly country, but is never found on the plains. It is extremely difficult to bag and is by no means numerous. In addition to tigers the following game may be found in Manchuria: Bear (black and brown), wapiti, Sika deer (two species), roedeer serow, wild pig, leopard and lynx. All, however, are scarce and hard to bag with the exception of roedeer and pig. —London Globe.

Soldiers' Etiquette.

Our civilian soldiers have picked up military etiquette in a surprisingly short time, and it is not often that they are puzzled in regard to saluting. In case there are any who fear to make a mistake, here are a few hints on when not to salute.

There are a good many regulations about whom a soldier must salute, but he is left comparatively free concerning those he may not salute. This is because he may not raise his hat, and a salute is the only way he has of recognizing the greeting of a lady, or a civilian friend, or superior.

A soldier must never raise his hand to his forehead in salute when he has his head uncovered. If he is cooling his heated brow and an officer approaches, he must put on his hat before saluting. Even when indoors the hat must be kept on when addressing or saluting a superior officer.

The only other occasion when a soldier must not salute is when on outpost duty. He must pay no compliment to anybody then, not even the King.

"Some" Typewriter.

A typewriter is being introduced into India which will write the 360 characters and signs of the Bengali alphabet.

Edging on Handkerchiefs.

To crochet a narrow edging on a handkerchief or small doily the work will be made easier if the article is stitched on the machine without having any thread in the needle. Small holes are thus made close to the edge into which the crochet hook can be put, and the holes will serve as a guide to keep the stitches an even distance apart.

Orange Fruit Cup.

Three large navel oranges, two bananas (not too ripe), one-half can pineapple or whole of a ten cent can, cup of the juice, juice of a lemon, three-quarters cupful of sugar. Cut oranges in small bits, cut pineapple about the same, put juice of lemon over it. Add sugar. Just before serving slice in the banana. This is a "feast for the gods."

Rosebery's Judgment.

Two or three times a week Lord Rosebery is to be found lunching at Buckingham Palace, which merely emphasizes that King George, like his father, has the firmest faith in Lord Rosebery's judgment, and likes to get his views on important questions. Lord Rosebery has, of course, known King George since he was a child, and was a constant visitor at Sandringham. He was always a favorite with the young princes and princesses, and used to love to romp with them in the schoolroom to their hearts' content.

Not for Sale.

It is related of Mr. Rudyard Kipling that on one occasion he received an offer of a thousand dollars from an American paper for an article of a thousand words on "Why America could not conquer England." He replied: "It is impossible that I should accept the commission, as it would involve discussing the armed strength of the Empire, a question on which no British subject has any information—for sale."

His Retort.

"Waiter, is that butter fresh?"

"Boss, if dat butter was any fresher it would be arrested for annoying de ladies."

Struck by Auto at Avonmore Fair. Died on Friday

CORNWALL, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Stephenson of Cornwall, wife of Capt. J. P. Stephenson of the steamer Rapids Prince, who was struck by an automobile at Avonmore, after the fair on Wednesday evening, succumbed to her injuries at her home Friday. Mrs. Stephenson attempted to cross the street at the Methodist Church and she evidently changed her mind and reversed her steps and then went forward again.

Two cars were passing at the time and she missed one but the other struck her breaking several ribs and injuring her seriously internally.

The deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves her husband and five children, the oldest a girl of about fifteen years, Her brother Pte. Walter Hart, was killed in action in France, a short time ago. She was a daughter of the late Leonard Hart and was born at the Toll Gate, a couple of miles north of Cornwall.

It is easier for the average woman to untangle three yards of her hair than one little knot in her shoestring.

Taking Time to Think It Over.

A Tragedy in Real Life

A Mutual Life insurance agent urged a certain man to sign an application for $5000 insurance protection. The man replied—"Give me Sunday to think it over." Instead of thinking it over on Sunday, the young man went away on a motorcycle trip and, meeting with an accident, lost his life.

Leaving the signing of the application 48 hours cost his dependent relatives $5000, a sum which would have been a wonderful blessing to them.

Life is just as uncertain during the days of procrastination as later. Insure now, and do not make your family take chances for another day.

Lieut. Merkley Has Crossed to France

France, Sunday, Aug. 19.

My Dear Mother and All;—

I suppose long before this you will have received a letter from Eva advising that I came over as I cabled her on Wednesday when I left. I wrote Eva at Winchester on July 31st, telling her I expected to leave shortly as I didn't want to write you until I had gone as I thought you had enough worry with Keith without worrying about me and I hope you won't worry now. I am sure Mother I will be alright and it is only fair that I take my chance and do my bit the same as all the other boys who have come across here. I think I should consider myself lucky that I was kept in England for practically a whole year. We left Bramshott on Wednesday afternoon and left Folkestone on Thursday afternoon getting across to this "La-Belle" France and a rest camp about five that afternoon. We stayed there until Friday when we came on up here to the Canadian Base. I expect we will be here until about Wednesday when we will move up a bit further. Don't know just how long it will be before I get up to my Battalion. My address will be Lieut. M. E. Merkley 31st Battalion Canadians France. The box which you mentioned sending hadn't reached me yet when I left but Alex said he would send it along just as soon as it arrived. I am enclosing three snaps which I wrote you about in my last letter. I didn't bring my camera across as they are not allowed in this country so that I won't be getting anymore snaps for a while. Should I get a chance a little later on I may get some post card pictures taken and of course will send them along. I do trust Keith is coming along alright and will soon be thoroughly better again.

Will close now and will write again just as soon as I get up the line. Lovingly Earle.
