Charles McGee First In Legion Essay Contest

The judges appointed to sit on the Iroquois Legion Essay Contest have completed their arduous duties of reading and re-reading twenty-eight essays written by the pupils of grades seven and eight of the Iroquois Public School. The subject of this year's essay was "Our School Concert" and selections of the winning essays were based on originality, power of expression, good English, and spelling.

The contest is an annual event, sponsored by Branch 370 of The Canadian Legion, Iroquois, under chairman Major D. L. Fenton.

Judges were Mrs. M. J. Skelly, Mr. M. J. Skelly and Mrs. D. L. Fenton.

The prize winners are as follows, with fourth and fifth receiving honorable mention:

Master Charles McGee, 1st; Miss Wendy Bouck, 2nd; Miss Shirley Beebe, 3rd; Master John McEachern, Miss Patricia Pope, both honorable mention.

The presentation of prizes will take place in the near future.

The essays are in their original form and are unedited.—Ed.

The first three winners' essays, follow:

1st prize—Charles McGee.

On the evening of February 28th we started our school concert. We started off with the lowest grades first. The rhythm band, consisting of grades one and two, played "The Daffodil Waltz" and "The Blacksmith." They got hearty applause from the audience. After the curtain was closed they were arranged in order of size. They sang two songs entitled "The Snowman" and "The Bird's Valentine." Their voices were a little weak, but they sang well.

Then grade two sang the song "Oh Drummer Boy," "Tira-lira-lira" and "The Winter Song." Their voices were louder and they received very hearty applause. Then they sang "Now With My Hands" and "Sailor Boy." They were songs with motions.

Grades three and four sang "Hungarian Dance" and "Peasants Dance." They were not as good as grade two but they did fairly well. They also sang "When Shall We Be Married John?" and "Shepherdess and Cuckoo" and "The Fox and the Grapes." These songs were sung very well.

Grades five and six sang several songs for which they had to give an encore.

Then Roger Miller, dressed in a highland costume, danced the "Highland Fling." He did two encores and received a tremendous amount of applause.

When the play by grades five and six did not commence, Mr. Hamilton asked the ones who were playing, why they did not start the play. They said that the furniture was being placed. He was surprised when Thomas Johnston called Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton to the platform. They were read a speech by Miss Render. Then a girl presented Mrs. Hamilton with roses and Thomas presented Mr. Hamilton with a valise. He said "You Shouldn't Have Done It, but I like it." Then Mrs. Murdock played "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow." The teachers of the public school were each presented with gifts.

Then grades five and six presented their play. It was acted exceedingly well.

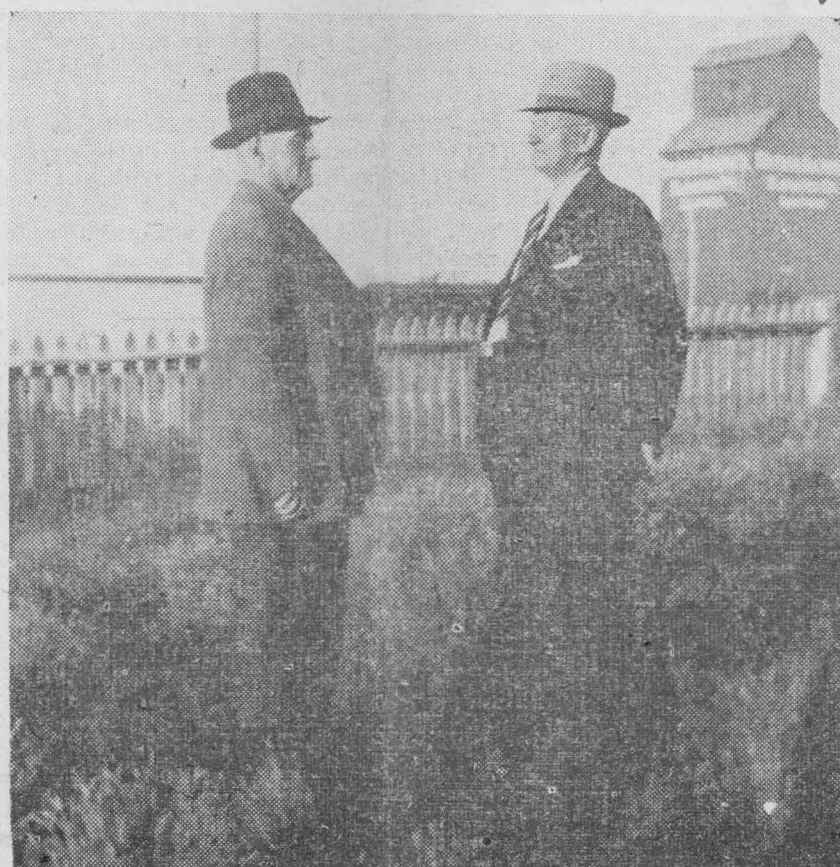

Then grades seven and eight sang and presented a play entitled "Waiting for Cousin Martha." I do not know how it was acted because I was in it, but we got sufficient applause to know that if the acting wasn't good, the play must have been excellent.

Then Sandy Ferguson was presented with the prize for the best composition on "Armistice Day — W and How We Observe It In Iroquois."

After that Mr. Hamilton announced that we had collected around $100. Then everyone stood and sang The National Anthem.

Wendy Bouck, 2nd prize: On February 28th, 1953, there was a great night for the children of the Iroquois Public School. Our concert in the Town Hall was a great affair. We had spent much time practising and had hoped it would turn out all right.

There were people young and old all hoping to see their child or children on the platform. Everyone was excited. At eight o'clock the curtain was raised. When we sang "God Save The Queen" our hearts were beating so fast that we could hardly sing. (Turn To Page Eight)

Twin Brothers Exchange Greetings On Eve of Eighty-Fifth Birthday

After an absence of 63 years twin brothers, William and George Holmes, exchange greetings on their 85th birthday, June 24th. Born sons of the late Elias and Jane Holmes, on a farm near Shanly in 1868 the brothers separated in 1890 when George went west to homestead at Battleford, Saskatchewan, where he mixed farming, William, at the age of 16 apprenticed in the cheese and buttermaking trade under the late Mr. H. L. Soper, a renowned butter and cheesemaker, at Shanly, William continued at the trade for 34 years.

In that time he received many local honours, one of which he prizes is a certificate granted by the directors of Pan American Exposition, at Buffalo, N.Y., in 1901, it being an honorable mention to W. M. Holmes on scoring of 96.25 on cheese. In 1920 he joined the Acme Dairy Co. of Napanee (now Dominion Dairy Co. of Montreal), as milk inspector and tester, retiring 17 years later. He and Mrs. Holmes came to Iroquois and purchased an historic stone home on King Street East.

In 1940 the brothers enjoyed their 72nd birthdays together on the prairie and in his birthday greetings George writes "I am feeling fine on my 85th birthday."

Readers and staff of this newspaper extend best wishes to the twin brothers and hope they may be able to enjoy many more years of birthday greetings.

KNOX CHURCH W. A. RECESSES FOR SUMMER MONTHS

On Monday afternoon, June 15th, the Women's Auxiliary of Knox Church met in the Church Hall for their regular monthly meeting with the President in the chair. The reading of a poem composed on seeing the statue of Gen. Gordon as it stands facing the desert and the Sudan at Khartoum was read by Mrs. Miller. Hymn 58, "God of Mercy, God of Grace," was sung and prayer by Mrs. Fenton followed.

The Study entitled "The Christian Church in Africa" was taken by Mrs. MacLellan, assisted by Miss J. Cameron and showed us what a wonderful new life Christianity had opened up to these people of Africa, many of whom can neither read nor write. It is estimated that there are 21 million Christians in Africa now.

After hymn 192, the Scripture reading from Ephesians 6:10-20 was taken by Miss Helen Davidson and the meditation on this passage was given by Mrs. L. Shepherd. Another hymn and prayer by Mrs. Davidson concluded the devotional portion of the meeting.

The offering was received and dedicated and the usual reports were given. The formation of a Mission Band was discussed and left for further consideration in September.

The money for supplies was brought in and found to be an adequate amount. It was decided that the Auxiliary hold a food sale on September 19th. Correspondence consisted of "thank you" letters from members and an invitation from Dixon's Corners Auxiliary to meet with them on July 8, at Mrs. Fenton's home. This was unanimously accepted.

It was decided that we adjourn for the summer months, to meet again in September. A hymn and benediction brought the meeting to a close.

Powerful Tug Purchased, To Ply St. Lawrence

A new tug, which will be the most powerful of her class on the St. Lawrence between Prescott and Montreal was accepted for the Transport Department by the minister, Hon. Lionel Chevrier, in Cornwall on Saturday. The vessel, 80 feet long and powered by a single diesel engine, was christened Stormont by Miss Flora Nugent, for many years on the administrative staff of the Ontario-St. Lawrence canals, and blessed by the Bishop of Alexandria, Msgr. Rosario Brodeur.

Mr. Chevrier said the Stormont, which will act as a salvage and rescue vessel, is strong enough to tow any canal traffic "against the current of this mighty river."

Her worth would be best demonstrated with the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway. C. R. Redfer, vice-president of the Canadian Dredge and Dock Co. Ltd., of Kingston, the shipbuilders, presided.

Here and There

By Kay Kay

The population of dogs in the village is almost one to every ten persons with a couple short of 100 registered with the municipality by tag. Many owners don't relish the idea of having their pet during the summer months, and others don't give a thought. The dog tax collector reports he has had more complaints this year about dogs running loose and doing damage, than for some time. We are among those who hate to see dogs tied up but when the majority can do it, why can't the rest. Or at least try to keep their dogs near home?

Actually, the guy to get the worst of it is the dog catcher—he gets it from the complainant and the dog owner!

Weeds are like bad boys—ya gotta keep trimmin' 'em!—How are yours?

Swimming is coming into its own with the arrival of summer weather and before the opening of the swimming pool the kiddies are making use of the canal at the bridge west of the village. This spot has been made as safe as possible with a life preserver hanging nearby and on a Saturday and Sunday the small area is crowded. A ladder hangs over the side as an aid to getting out of the canal. There are many too, who walk along the old canal right down to its eastern extremities enjoying the well groomed lawns and flower beds. Along most of this climb the steep walls, a few ropes hung over the sides, into the water, might give a non-swimmer a chance—even a good swimmer if he fell in below the weir would have a long way to go before he could get out.

A railing on the weir now protects persons from falling from that section and although unauthorized persons may or may not be "allowed" to go below the weir, it is done. Prospects for a dry crop vary from opposite the village park, there is a lone life preserver.

Almost every week there seem to be several people entering hospitals and as a moral booster there is nothing better than a card or a letter from a friend. Let's not have our villagers away from home any longer than we have to—send a friendly note to someone you know in hospital—it may be your turn sooner than you think.

For years we've been listening to those "travelling salesman" stories. Now that women have invaded almost every field of work that men enjoy, we've been all ears waiting for "travelling saleswomen" stories!

Some of the merchants of Prescott want to stay open Friday nights and others want to do as they have always done — stay open Saturday nights. To settle the issue, fellows, why don't you stay closed both nights and give us small townners a break!

Rideau Hill Camp Opened Facilities Have Been Improved

Rideau Hill Camp commenced activities on June 14th with the annual dedication service with nearly 400 attending. The services were held at three in the afternoon, Rev. W. A. Legrow, of Merrickville, chairman of the Grenville-Dundas Presbytery conducting the service. The camp is located eight miles north-east of Kemptville. Special speaker for the occasion was Rev. George Connelly, of Bell Street United Church, Ottawa.

Special music was provided by Iroquois United Church choir under the leadership of Mrs. Hugh Thompson. The male quartette, consisting of James Morrison, Hilliard Merkley, William Knox and H. R. Abell, was especially enjoyed by all. Mr. Hamilton Thompson accompanied the singing on his cornet.

The boys' camp with Rev. G. F. Dangerfield as director, will be held from June 29th to July 7th, with Rev. A. Thrower, Rev. M. Jose, Rev. F. Rice, Rev. Warren Dickson and Harry Seely as leaders. Camp nurse will be Mrs. L. Sykes, of Kemptville.

The registrar for this year is Rev. F. Rice, of Elma.

The junior girls' camp will be held from July 20th to July 27th and intermediate camp from July 28th to August 7th. The registrar for girls' camp is Mrs. Allen VanAllen, Kemptville.

Something of an experiment being tried this year are evening services which will be held for the last two Sundays at Rideau Hill Camp. The camp committee has been fortunate in getting outstanding speakers for these services and hope for large attendances.

On July 23rd Very Rev. Dr. J. W. Woodside, minister emeritus of Chalmers United Church, Ottawa, and on August 30th Dr. E. Long, Montreal, past president of Montreal-Ottawa Conference, will speak.

Keeping up a program of improving facilities at the camp, three new cabins, nurses' quarters and a new dining hall have been erected. Improvements have also been made on the swimming pool, making the camp one of the best in the Ottawa-Montreal district.

Away To An Election

On Friday afternoon the date was announced—Monday, August 10th will see the next Federal election, and already leaders of the major parties have announced the date of their opening shots. The date seems to make a short campaign period, but actually the chips have been down for some time, only the Coronation tempered them. Now we can expect the full blast from each side—and perhaps two months of it will be sufficient to rile our spirits or soothe us into that restfulness whereby we will fail to hear the radio at all.

But, seriously, we have a privilege that is denied to a great percentage of the world's population. Many participate in elections where they have no choice, as there is only one party on the ballot; others have been deprived of their right to vote—and this within the Commonwealth. We find it hard to realize, but it has happened.

We feel it can never happen in Canada, that we are too smart for such a situation to develop here; but if the Communists, or Labour-Progressives, as they front their party, had their way there would soon be an end to our democratic system. In this portion of Canada we have never been bothered by the L-P's, and we find it shocking that the party can gather support at all. It proves that democracy grants the individual the privilege to think as he may.

We hope the issues will be presented in a straight-forward way; that the politicians regard our power of deduction as normal, and do not bring out statements that even an elementary school student would consider foolish; let it be a good, clean fight with the opponents coming out of their corners swinging. Then on August 10th we can make the decision.

Stifling The Big Breeze

In a few weeks a great sneeze will be heard across the country. It will emanate from thousands of Canadian hay fever victims who dread the advent of the balmy August-September weather when the pesky malady is at its height.

Almost all cases of hay fever are caused by an allergy to tiny pollen grains of the ragweed plant prevalent in most provinces. Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia claim freedom from this weed and therefore are comparatively free of hay fever sufferers. New Brunswick has had a province-wide campaign against ragweed for the last few years and the pollen count has been reduced to such an extent that its tourist bureau is using "ragweed free" as its chief enticement in its promotional literature this year.

The city of Montreal has had its ragweed destruction programme in operation since 1946 and a notable decrease in the pollen count has been effected. One important factor noticed in the Montreal campaign is that even if one municipality is free of ragweed, the air may still be thick with pollen from adjoining municipalities. The willingness of bordering municipal governments to co-operate with Montreal to control the pollen-bearing weed was largely responsible for the lowered pollen count in the city itself.

The most effective weapon against ragweed is the herbicide 2-4-D now available in unlimited quantities. There remains only concerted action by municipalities or by the provincial governments to make the latter months of summer enjoyable for everyone. The big sneeze can be stifled and it's not too late to do it this year.

The Dairy Situation

Further consideration of the serious situation of the concentrated milk products industry has been urged upon the Federal Government by officers of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association.

The delegation met the members of the agricultural prices support board, to whom it was explained that stocks of skim milk powder were piling up in the plants, and the producers in the price of their milk. Appreciation was expressed by the delegation for the government's action in purchasing ten million pounds of the surplus, and they asked that the government purchase another five million pounds which would relieve the present distressful situation. It was felt that after August first the situation would take care of itself.

The prices support board promised full consideration of the matter.

As it was commented on in these columns recently, the whole dairy industry has found itself in a serious situation with production of milk increasing, sales of milk products decreasing, and tremendous surpluses piling up. The logical answer would seem to be the opening up of new markets by the Federal trades board.

The Busy Housewife

"Man's work is from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." Those may not be the correct words, but the thought is there. And to illustrate the point there was a story in a national magazine of a weary housewife up at Weston, who, late at night, was finishing her week's mending. She hunted up the last button for her daughter's blouse and stopped by the bathroom to take an aspirin for her headache.

Two minutes later she was wide awake and feeling slightly squeamish. She suddenly found herself trying to sew an aspirin on the blouse—and the button was nowhere in sight.

Aid For Blind Children

The Candian National Institute for the Blind has received a welcome gift from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation which, it was announced Friday, was donating $15,000 to enable the CNIB to continue its unique services to pre-school blind children in Ontario. This fine gift, which is to be paid over a three-year period, brings the total assistance to the project, made possible by a similar grant in 1950, to $30,000.

Col. E. A. Baker, managing director of the CNIB, stated that about 1948 the institute became aware that blindness in infants was increasing, especially in those born prematurely and under three pounds in weight. These, along with other pre-school children, brought the number in Ontario to a point where a special social worker was necessary to meet their particular needs. Miss Jean Whitelaw joined the staff in 1949 and by the autumn of 1950 she had discovered so many more that an appeal was made to the Atkinson Foundation for a preliminary grant to add another worker to the department.

Col. Baker said the initial grant made possible the constructive service which not only offered invaluable assistance to the increasing number of blind children, but the parents receive a better understanding of their blind children and their need for normal physical and mental development. He said children have advanced much faster and some are even taking their places with the sighted in regular nursery and kindergarten classes before going on to the Ontario School for the Blind at Brantford.

FOR PARENTS ONLY

Special Father

"YOU HAD AN EXCEPTIONAL FATHER. Some day I wish you would write about him!" an old Fergus friend who had known our family for years, said recently to me. "The man in the house in this day is often pushed around or laughed at! But your Dad was respected by the whole community and he really worked at being a father!"

There were four children in our family and it never occurred to us that our dad "worked at being a father." Boys and girls, at least while they are in Public School, more or less accept their parents as they are. We did know that father shared his leisure time with us and he was always good company.

What fun we had hiking in the maple sugar bush in the Spring or searching for beech-nuts in the Autumn! Dad was an ardent fisherman and a Saturday afternoon fishing expedition with him was a great treat.

He loved all animals, but horses were his favourites. We considered ourselves very lucky if it was our turn to go to one of the nearby Fall Fairs when father showed his standard bred, "Fairy Winkle."

FOR ALMOST TWO DECADES we lived in a big manse with lots of ground around it. "There never is an end to cutting grass!" we sometimes grumbled. We knew right well that father expected us to do a good job. He had no use for slipshod work.

Long before we started to school we were allowed to help father put in the garden. As we grew older he tolled with us on caring for the plants. We had quite a struggle with twitch grass getting into the strawberry patch. But every June we had a family celebration over our first big "feed" of strawberries. Father always quoted, "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

We lived quite a distance from the school and so there was not much time for the noon meal. But supper was more leisurely and we all looked forward to the conversation as well as the food. Father insisted that only one per-

OUR TOWN

Night Murder

THERE IS A SOUND made by a switchyard engine assembling a freight train that is heard, like the cry of the spotted screech-owl, only in the deep stillness of the night.

It may come, as it did yesterday, at 2:35 in the morning, when the city is wrapped in the cocoon of slumber. If you are asleep in a room of a hotel proud of its proximity to the depot, as I was, it will lift you clear from your bed.

There is a thunderous crash, the sound of every bowling pin in the world going down, and then as each box car reacts to the initial impact, a whole series of shunting collisions with decreasing decibels.

You will be up on one elbow, then, your heart thudding against your ribs and if you have the brains of a loon you will pick up a detective story and settle down fatalistically to a night of enforced insomnia.

LYING THERE LAST NIGHT in a strange bed and with the glare from a street lamp below throwing a pale and foreign light on the ceiling, I found myself wondering about switchyard engineers in general and that one down there in particular.

I pictured him, a big, morose man with his cookie-jar, peaked cap on the back of his head, leaning out of his cab in that crucial moment at 2:35 as he backed this locomotive to the first boxcar.

I fancied him glancing with professional interest at the row upon row of darkened hotel rooms that loom above the night-gleaming tracks. A ghost of a smile would be on his features, the cunning look of a man about to perpetrate the most elaborate of practical jokes.

How quietly he backs the big locomotive down the siding, furtively, indeed, lest he wake his sprawled, unseen victims behind those unlit windows. To awaken them gently with merely a hiss of steam or the groan of a wheel would be as unforgivable as a squeak from a violin before a mighty overture.

Man Wanted

A man for hard work and rapid promotion; a man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not imperil the lives of others in attempting to be the first out of the place at night.

A man who listens carefully when spoken to and asks only enough questions to ensure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who moves quickly and makes as little noise as possible in doing it.

A man who looks you straight in the eye and tells the truth every time.

A man who does not pity himself for having to work. A man who is neat in his appearance.

This man is wanted everywhere. Age or lack of experience does not count. There isn't any limit, except his own ambition, to the number or size of the jobs he can get. He is wanted in every business.

Sniper Out-Sniped

A fellow who is a bit of a —let's face it— pain in the neck, says Robert Budge, was inspecting a case of stuffed birds at the home of an ornithologist friend. Peering into one case, he sniffed: "What's that queer looking thing?"

"That, my friend, is a snipe."

"It's certainly not my idea of a snipe," he snarled.

"Maybe not," his friend smiled, "but it's God's idea of a snipe."

That, we would say, deserves listing among "perfect squelches."

Every dog has his day—and Sunday will be Dad's day to howl.

The Hamilton Spectator reports a lone mosquito in the west end of the steel city. Undoubtedly a spy.

Ever since the word welcome has been in use it has been something else for summer visitors to take advantage of.

Now is the testing time for high school pupils. If they put in a decent year of studying, all well with them at exam time. If not, well, the best of luck.

son speak at one time. We had some wonderful discussions on all kinds of topics. One winter father encouraged each of us to read the daily newspaper and tell briefly the piece of news which interested us most at the supper table.

After the evening meal was over, father asked for "The Book" and we had family worship. Sometimes we sang a hymn. Occasionally we children had a turn in reading from the Bible. I can recall my father's musical voice as we read aloud from the Psalms or some of the other fine passages in the St. James version. We knelt when father prayed—and even the youngest of us realized that this was real prayer.

ANYONE WHO CAME INTO OUR HOME was aware that father and mother were happy in their married life. They didn't take time to talk much about members of a family being considerate and loyal. They lived out their faith in home being a little island of love and security set in the wide ocean of life.

Father never showed any favoritism. When we were naughty, our punishment was fair, even if sometimes it seemed severe. But we never doubted our father's affection. Nor did he ever seem to waver in his faith in us that we would grow up to be useful citizens.

The salary he received was less than two thousand a year. He and mother must have scrimped in order to give us a higher education. But he never mentioned this being a burden.

One lovely June day father watched three of his children graduate, one in theology, one in medicine, one in arts. An acquaintance at the Garden Party remarked, "Those youngsters of yours must have cost a pretty sum! I expect you're relieved that their college days are over?"

"Not at all," father answered quickly. "I'd be glad to live them all over again—This is the proudest day of my life!"

Now he is a few feet from the dark square bulk of the first box car. He hits the steam! Smash! Smash! Smash! Smash! And now he is looking up eagerly, his little eyes alight, at the cliffside of the railway hotels, counting the lights as they go on.

HAVING ACHIEVED his first dramatic effect, the engineer then adjusts the automatic device which causes the locomotive bell to ring unceasingly. Clang, clang, clang, clang, goes clapper upon naked metal biting into the tender morsels of other people's sleep.

This, of course, is a matter of regulations since the railways insist on the bell when any kind of train is within yard limits. The sound itself, being repetitious, might be overcome by the more tenacious hotel guest who could conceivably fit it into a dream.

The switch-yard engineer is able to overcome this, however, by what I have decided to call the Pshaw technique. (You have plenty of time to think of such things when a freight is being formed 40 feet beneath your balcony.)

He is now extremely busy crashing into box cars, occasionally making fake signals with the whistle to brakemen and running up and down the track.

With an hour or more of this to dull their sensibilities, his weary, anonymous audience—all of whom, individually, have been sending him messages of hate from their separate cubicles—are close to building up a tolerance to the din, as housewives build a tolerance to radio commercials.

Then with terrifying suddenness, the locomotive gives off an ungodly, horrendous sound. "PSHAW!" it goes with an escape of steam that is like the last cry of the tormented.

It is perhaps five in the morning, now. Lights are on all over the hotel. And the engineer, his face an engraving of contentment, has begun to think of going home to a long and uninterrupted sleep.

This Time Last Year

Thursday, June 19th, 1952

Citizens of Iroquois and district learned with deep regret of the death of one of the district's most widely known and highly respected residents, Mrs. Arthur McRobie, which occurred at her home, Haddo, early Saturday morning, June 14th.

Mrs. McRobie, the former E. Bella Glover, was the daughter of the late John Glover and his wife, Sarah Ann Storey and was born at Haddo, on February 11, 1876.

The death of Mrs. Lindsay Smyth, at the age of 92 years, removed one of this district's oldest and most respected residents. For the past five years she had made her home with her nephew, Cephus Smyth, Morrisburg.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Branch 370, Iroquois, met at the home of Mrs. Fred Hadley for a farewell get-together for Mrs. Norah Ridsdale, who is leaving shortly for England to reside in future with her son.

The Caldwell Linen Mills Bowling League, after a most successful season at the Playdium Bowling Alleys, Morrisburg, ended their season with a banquet at the Hotel Manitonna, Brockville, on Friday evening, June 13th. There were forty present.

Mrs. D. Murray's team won the large trophy, donated by H. H. Caldwell.

H. H. Caldwell, President and Managing Director of the Caldwell Linen Mills Limited, announces the appointment of James Anderson to the position of Vice-President and Assistant General Manager in charge of Manufacturing; and names A. M. Watson as General Sales Manager.

Miss Addie Serviss, of Prescott, spent Wednesday in town visiting with friends. While here she attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Ad. Cooper, river road west.

Miss Frances Wilson, of Montreal, was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Cornell and Mr. Cornell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barkley spent Sunday in Brockville visiting the funeral of Mrs. Herman Barkley, a patient at the General Hospital.

Mrs. Norah Ridsdale is sailing on the Empress of Canada from Montreal on July 11th to make her home in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Fisher and son are spending a few days with relatives at Kingston.

Ten Years Ago

Thursday, June 17th, 1943

Leading Aircraftman William Edward Billings, 38, of Iroquois, has been awarded the British Empire Medal for rescuing Acting Petty Officer Blackburn of the RAF fleet air arm from a burning plane that crashed near Gananoque. The citation reads "Immediately following an aircraft crash at Gananoque, despite the fact the aircraft was in flames, leading Aircraftman Billings, with total disregard to the imminent danger to himself, dashed to the pilot's aid. With great difficulty, due to the fuselage being upside down and having to crash in the hood panel, he managed to get to the pilot and cut out the fire around the pilot's legs, which had been badly burned. He succeeded in undoing the pilot's harness, pulled him out of the cockpit and clear of the furiously burning machine. By his prompt and courageous action and complete disregard for his own safety, the airman undoubtedly saved the pilot's life."

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ's Church, Dixon's Corners, at high noon on June 12th, when Margaret Estella, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Archibald Irvine, became the bride of Robin Ronald Shantz, RCAF, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Preston Shantz, Preston, Ont. The Rev. J. Lionel Homer, of Iroquois, officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Louise Mayes, Prescott.

Mrs. J. Elton Francis, younger sister of the bride, was the only attendant and groomsmen was Douglas Shantz, RCAF, brother of the groom.

Reeve Fred Hadley, of Iroquois, was chosen president of the Grenville-Dundas Progressive Conservative Association at its annual meeting held in Spencerville on Tuesday evening. An audience of more than four hundred were present to hear the addresses.

On Thursday evening, June 10th, a number of friends of Donald Thompson held a weiner roast at Point Iroquois as a farewell party to Donald who left on Sunday for Ottawa to enter training in the Air Force.

About 75 friends and neighbours gathered at the hall at Hainsville in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Estella Irvine.

BORN—On Sunday, June 14th, to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fader, a son.

BORN—At Grace Hospital, Ottawa, on Sunday, June 7th, to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McIntosh (nee Ruby Cooke) of Ottawa, a daughter.

Sgt. Gordon A. Hutchison has arrived safely overseas.

DIED—Suddenly at Calgary, Alta., Sunday, June 13th, Alex Storey, 73 years. Deceased was a brother of Wm. Storey, town.

ORDER

"Let there be light," is the perpetual demand of Truth and Love, changing chaos into order and discord into the music of the spheres.

—Mary Baker Eddy

Order is heaven's first law.

—Alexander Pope

The chief aid to memory is order.

—Simonides

Let all things be done decently and in order. I Cor. 14:8.

Order is a lovely nymph, the child of beauty and wisdom: her attendants are comfort, neatness, and activity; her abode is the valley of happiness.

—Johnson

Set all things in their own peculiar place, and know that order is the greatest grace.

England Old, England New

Ocean is but a flow that spilt the rocks

To make an England old, an England new:

On either side the hills gently increase

From south to north. Replacing hedge of yew,

One has stone walls as green where vines have clung,

Where daisy matches heather. And when chance

Occurs, one drops its stern sim-

stance.

48 Superintendents From 10 Provinces End Unique Meeting

Forty-eight superintendents of schools representing all Canadian provinces are on their way home after meeting for three weeks at the University of Alberta in a work conference to study problems mainly of rural school supervision and administration. This is the first time in Canadian history that educators from all ten provinces have "gone to school" together on such a scale, working toward some solution to common problems.

The meetings were the first in a projected annual series in a five-year educational project sponsored by the Canadian Education Association and financed initially in large part by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation.

In addressing the closing dinner in Edmonton, Dr. W. H. Swift, Alberta Deputy Minister of Education and chairman of the management committee of the project, emphasized that education in Canada is and remains a provincial matter. "In these meetings there can be no intention," he stated, "of developing a single philosophy or series of procedures in education for all provinces alike. On the other hand, this rare opportunity to exchange ideas and experience between educators from widely-separated parts of the country has indeed been mutually helpful." It remains for the provinces and the individual superintendents present, Dr. Swift continued, to consider what among the multitude of ideas discussed during the three weeks may usefully be adapted to the particular provincial or local school needs.

Leadership

Attention focused mainly on problems of the leadership role of the superintendent among teachers and principals; the relationships between superintendent and school board; the trend toward combining isolated one-room schools and school districts into larger areas capable of offering more varied educational opportunities; and questions of public interest and support for education.

In considering trends in educational leadership, Dr. J. G. Althouse, Ontario Chief Director of Education, pointed to a major difference between mere direction and leadership. A lifeless sign-post, he suggested, can be a first-rate director. Leadership, on the other hand, involves the showing of responsibility, and so arranging matters that the potential within others is released in moving toward a common objective. Canadian school systems today cannot function effectively in an autocratic master-servant framework. Education is a complex and far-reaching process requiring well-trained professional leadership in its best sense.

Broader Participation

H. L. Campbell, whose appointment as B. C. Deputy Minister of Education has just been announced, drew attention to a need for broader lay citizen participation in working out educational policies in local communities. Using curriculum as an example, he stated that where local committees of teachers and laymen had worked together on local adjustments of curriculum not only did a more effective curriculum result in terms of meeting the particular needs of an individual community, but also resulted in a broader public understanding and support of the aims and programme of the schools.

Dr. G. M. Dunlop of the University of Alberta faculty of education, summed up another series of discussions on educational research. "Education in Canada is big business today," he stated, "with a half million dollar annual budget and capital investment of many times that amount. In any other business of these dimensions, a percentage of income is spent on examination of the efficiency of the manufacturing process, the suitability of the product, and analysis of market requirements. This is the role which educational research should play."

There is an obvious need, he went on, for far more money and effort to be applied in the field of educational research, if our schools are to discharge effectively and efficiently the tasks society assigns to them.

Other speakers and consultants included Dr. H. T. McClusky, Sociologist from the University of Michigan; Dr. H. E. LaZerte, director of research for the CSTA; Michel Savard, Inspector General of Catholic Schools in Quebec; R. H. Chapman, N.B. Division of Teacher Training; Professor M. P. Toombs of the University of Saskatchewan; representatives of the Alberta Teachers Association and of school trustee associations, and other senior officials of provincial departments of education.

SOUP FOR SUMMER

It is quite a temptation during warm weather to try and subsist on cold foods and chilled beverages. However, no matter how tempting a chilled diet may be, it is much wiser to include at least one hot dish with every meal—whether it be a soup, main course or a hot beverage. In our home we think soup is the most satisfying dish for both the cook and family. It can be prepared with assurance and demands little forethought. Very often your refrigerator will yield treasures of left over meats, gravies, vegetable liquids and tag ends of fresh vegetables which when combined, will produce a soup, nameless as to type, but delightful to eat.

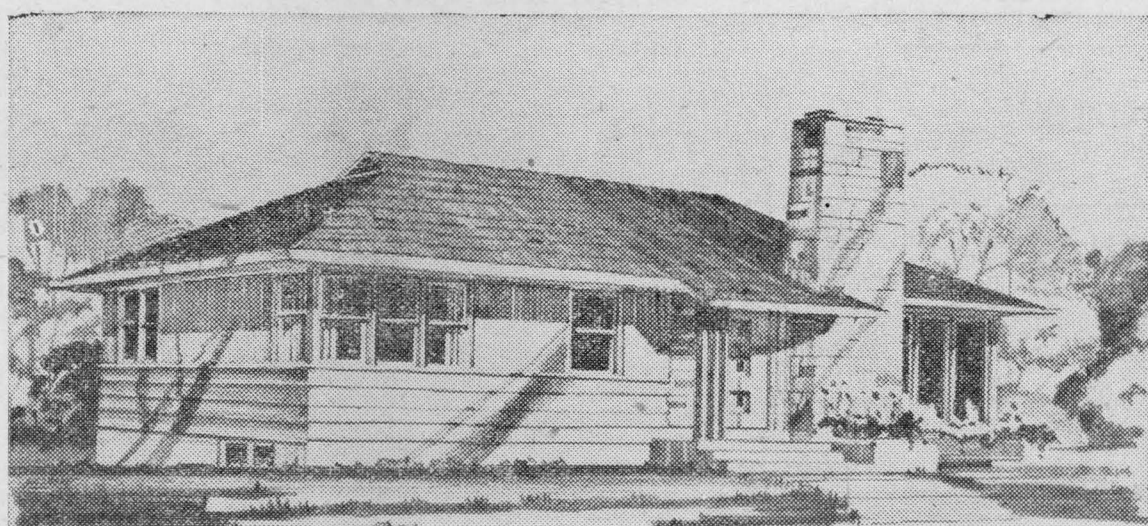

Mother used to keep the stock pot on the back of the stove all day, but today she uses a well-cooked, pressure cooker, or a regular saucepan and quick-cooking ingredients. Instead of making soup stock for several days, only ample quantity is prepared for lunch. Additions of pre-cooked beans, rice or barley will produce a heartier soup and good flavour is added by pouring in a tin of condensed soup.

In case you have a refrigerator cleared of soup makings we give you a recipe for lima bean soup which has a wonderful flavour. Perhaps you have garden greens to make our special onion and spinach cream soup—it is good, too.

Lima and Weiner Soup
1 cup dried lima beans
6 cups cold water
1 onion, sliced
1 tsp. salt
1-4 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire
1-2 lb. weiners

Soak lima beans, in water to cover, overnight. Drain and place in kettle with 6 cups water. Add onion, salt and mustard. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer gently for 2 hours. Rub through a coarse sieve. Return to kettle and place over low heat. Add Worcestershire sauce and sliced weiners. Cook for 10 minutes. Serves 4 or 5.

Spinach-Onion Soup
1-2 tbsps. butter
3-4 cup chopped onions
salt and pepper
4 tbsps. flour
3-4 cup chopped spinach
4 1-2 cups milk

DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH—Architect Roland Dumas, of Montreal, has made a broad stone chimney the focal point of the exterior appearance of this luxury-type bungalow. Full-length living room windows, a combination of exterior finishes and the boxed-in planting areas are other features which create eye-appeal.

All rooms are of generous dimensions. The living room, ample size in itself, receives added depth through the incorporation of a foyer in the plan. The dining room, which has its own outside entrance, adjoins a roomy, well-planned kitchen. Plenty of cupboard space, a breakfast nook and provision for good natural lighting add to the appeal of the kitchen layout.

A hall separates the living and sleeping sections of the house. In two bedrooms, full wall-length closets are provided while the corner window is the highlight of the master bedroom which overlooks the front lawn.

The floor area of the house is 1,351 square feet while the cubic measurement is 27,890 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 51 feet by 26 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 200, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Saute the spring onions in melted butter for 5 minutes, then stir in flour and seasoning. Add spinach and milk stirring constantly until thickened. Makes 6 servings.

Borsch

(requested by Mrs. T. S.)

1 cup tomatoes
2 cups grated beets
4 cups water
1 onion
1-2 lb. lean beef
1 tbsps. lemon juice
salt and pepper
4 eggs

Strain tomatoes through sieve. Add grated tomato to tomato juice. Stir in water and onion and sliced beef. Simmer 30 mins. Add lemon juice, seasoning and 1-4 tsp. sugar. Simmer 30 mins. Beat eggs and gradually stir in the hot soup. Serve at once. Yields 4 servings.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. W. H. asks: How can I clean a range oven?

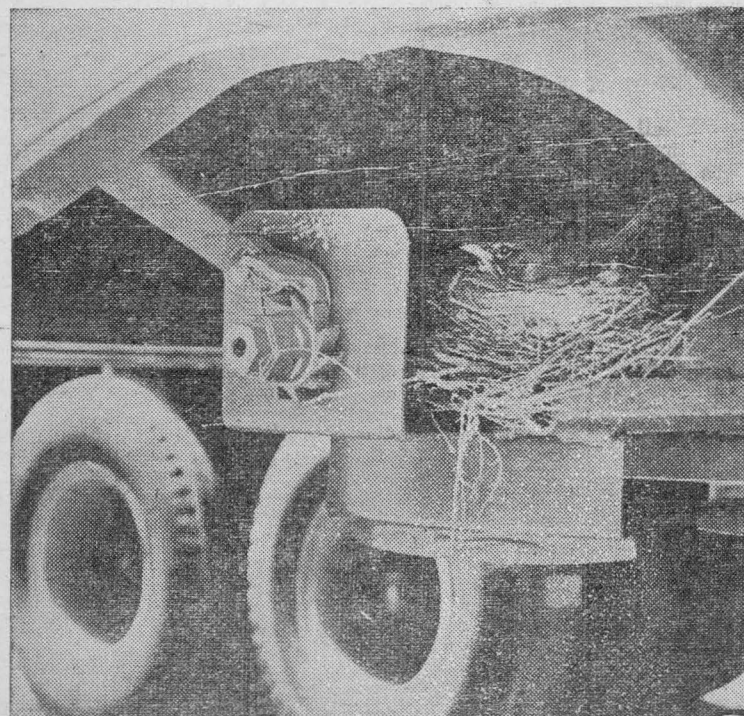

Answer: Since a paste of oven cleaner removes the paint it cannot be applied. Wipe out with ammonia water; rinse using a damp cloth and dry—and do not let water run in the open coils. Let any spillovers dry and then brush off elements. Always be sure to pull the plug from outlet to disconnect the electric appliance before you begin to clean.

Mrs. B. F. asks: How can I prevent heavy dumplings?

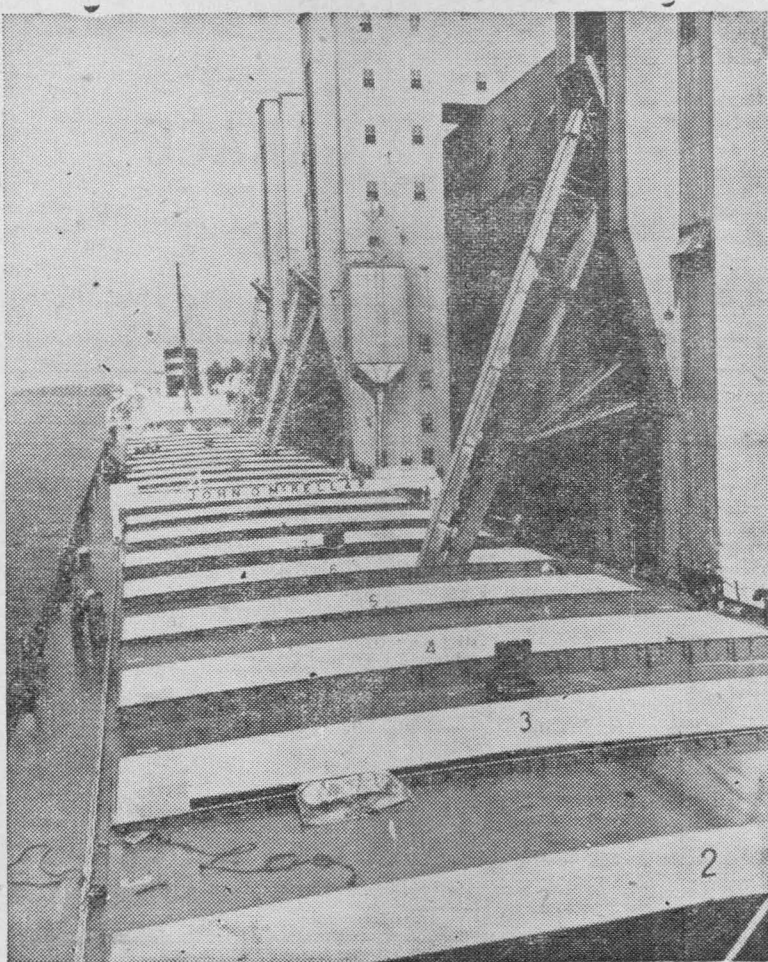

Answer: Here are the precautions:
1. Be sure to sift the flour (1 cup cake) before measuring. Sift 3 times with 2 tps. double-acting baking powder. Beat egg and milk (1-3 cup) well and then beat into dry mix.

2. Drop by spoonfuls onto boiling stew or stock.
3. Cover with a tight-fitting cover or a glass pie plate.

4. Steam 12 to 15 mins. Do not lift the lid.
5. Serve at once.
Miss M. C. asks: How can we bake bananas?
Answer: Place peeled bananas in greased casserole and bake about

SQUATTER'S RIGHTS. A sassy robin who defied eviction from her home in a commercial trailer "gummed up the works" at a Toronto sales company recently. Just to show that truckers live up to their reputation for kindness and, perhaps superstition, delivery of the big 32-foot unit was delayed until the brood was ready to leave its home.

LAKES GIANT. The S.S. John O McKellar, flagship of the Colonial Steamship Lines, Port Colbourne, and biggest of the fleet of upper lake carriers, made her second call, and the first of the 1953 season, at the National Harbours Board Elevator, when she tied up late yesterday afternoon with a cargo of 750,000 bushels of grain. Out of Fort William, she was due at 10.00 a.m., but was held up by the gale force winds of Tuesday. The huge ship, 678 feet long dwarfed canal-size river craft, and presents an imposing sight at the elevator.

Did you remember your Mother

And make her Queen for Her Day?

Well, if not, you perhaps utter

"Next year I do want to repay"

I.H.S. News

The motto, "Say it with Flowers" Did you convey as displayed? Well, you may be spared by the Powers

So, next year don't make her dismayed.

You do have a chance for your Father

Just see you do not absently abstain; For remember, He, like your Mother, Saw you through each little pain.

You know it was Dad who forcedly smiled

At the dreadful deeds you did. It was He, who never got very riled. But thought "That's my Candy Kid".

As for Dad, he would probably cherish

An extra new accessory for the car. Or a bit of equipment to hunt or fish. Then his hopes would be far above par.

There is nothing as impressive to me As to see a silver-haired pair Walking arm in arm, completely care-free,

And, the true lovelight burning there.

Card of Thanks

NEW TALENT—During the past few months several new names have cropped up on the playbills of CBC dramatic productions. The majority of these new radio voices are Canadian, but there are a few like Patrick MacNee (above) who are making a new life for themselves in Canadian radio after gaining experience in England. MacNee has been able to show his acting abilities on a variety of programs including Stage 53, CBC Wednesday Night, and Post Theatre. Bruce Belfrage, Barry Morse, and Catherine Blake are a few more of those who have made a name for themselves in radio, films and television in Britain, and are now adding their talents to those of Canadian actors and actresses.

Are we big enough to recognize the other fellow's achievements and kind enough to speak of them.

Closing Dates For Ottawa Ex. Announced By Association

Closing dates for entries in the various departments of the Ottawa Exhibition, to be held at Lansdowne Park, August 22-29, have been announced by H. H. McElroy, C.C.E.A. General Manager.

For horses, horse show, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, handicrafts, Hobby Show, and Square Dancing, entries must be received by August 3rd.

The closing date for entries in the Women's Institutes section is August 6th. For Junior Agriculture, agricultural and horticultural products, dairy and other food products, and Highland Dancing, the deadline is August 10th.

August 12th is the last date for those wishing to place entries in the Dog Show and Obedience Trials.

Entry forms and prize lists are now being mailed out. Extra copies may be secured by writing or visiting the C.C.E.A. offices at Lansdowne Park.

The increased and improved accommodation at Lansdowne Park has enabled the C.C.E.A. to establish many more classes in all divisions. Over 60 classes alone will be held in the Horse Show which will go on nightly during Exhibition Week, and an excellent range of prizes has been planned.

Provision has been made for harness horses, roadsters, ponies, jumpers, saddle horses, etc.

The cattle show will cater to Holsteins, Jerseys, Shorthorns, Herefords, and Guernseys. Over 200 classes are scheduled in the cattle division.

An expanded swine show is anticipated with entries to be placed in the Yorkshire, Tamworth and Berkshire classes. Special classes will be held for export bacon hogs.

Keen competition is expected in the sheep section which lists classes for Shropshire, Oxford Downs, Southdowns, Leicesters, Hampshires, Suffolks and Cheviots.

The Poultry Show at the Ottawa Exhibition is the outstanding event of its kind in Eastern Ontario and Quebec. This year again there will be the usual heavy quota of classes with ample accommodation available in the Poultry Wing of the Coliseum.

Displays of agricultural, horticultural, dairy and other food products will be given full prominence at the 1953 "Ex." and a number of new features are contemplated.

No less popular are the displays by the Women's Institutes, the Hobby and Handicrafts Shows and Highland Dancing. Interest to date indicates
