Fun and Frolic Marks Firemen's Convention

Firemen from a wide area converged on Iroquois last Saturday to take part in the Eastern Ontario Firefighters Association's 62nd annual sports convention, hosted by Iroquois Fire Department. The local boys, following months of preparation, came up with an excellent convention as well as tying for second place in the overall standings of the day's events.

Cardinal Fire Department came out of the day with a total of 28 points to capture top honours in the sports program. They were followed closely by Iroquois and Augusta Township who each had 27 points. Then came Edwardsburg with 21, North Gower with 9, Kemptville with 6 and Prescott pulling in with last place.

The Iroquois boys broke two records during the day with a 10.34 seconds win in the five-man ladder climbing event and a 19.225 seconds win in the eight-man efficiency contest, as well as placing high in all their events entered.

Cardinal Fire Department put on an excellent display of their skills to shave out their one point well deserved win.

The day had been well orga-

Rides Fail To Show For Lions Street Fair

Iroquois Lions Club's annual Street Fair fizzled out last weekend due to the failure of the Allan Shows to keep their dates with the local organization. When the show people hadn't arrived by Tuesday morning, members of the Lions Club got in touch by telephone and could not get the show people to keep their appointment as had been arranged several months before.

The firm gave no plausible reason for not keeping to the arrangements made and despite repeated efforts and offers of assistance from the local club, they refused to come. At the last minute it was impossible for the Lions Club to contract with another firm and all that could be done was run a bingo, a pony ride and a few other booths.

Since the Street Fair dates had been made to coincide with the firemen's convention in Iroquois, failure to appear by Allan Shows put a serious crimp into the financial aspects of the entire weekend.

Iroquois Lions Club apologizes to the community for the cancellation of the Street Fair's main attraction and promises that next year's event will be bigger and better than this community has ever had.

show at the Civic Centre.

On Friday evening, Fawcetts of Winchester will supply organ music on the Mall and for the more boisterous, Legion Pub Nite at the arena with Kenny Wise.

Fawcetts will be back Sat. afternoon, and after the gigantic parade, the Orillia Silver Band will put on a concert in the park. Later, a drum corp

A Lot of Effort Put Into Weekend

Hosts of the E.O.F.A. convention-sports day was the Iroquois Fire Department, shown here as they participated in one of the day's many sports events. The picture below is of the Augusta Fire Department who always show well in the sports events. There was a lot of energy expended during the day and the final parade at night was a splendid way to wind up a successful day.

District Cubs Hold Campout

Wolf Cub Packs from ten communities in the St. Lawrence District held their annual "Tum Qua Nam" campout last weekend, at Wildwood Park, south of Kemptville. Weather was ideal and a grand time was enjoyed by all two hundred boys and their leaders. Cooking, fire-building, swimming, nature trail observation, games and sports accounted for most of their time. Highlights were the Saturday evening campfire, with Eric Rogers of Brockville, coordinator of special events for Brockville Council, as master of ceremonies; and the "Cub's Own" worship service on Sunday afternoon, conducted by the

WE'RE ALMOST THE FORGOTTEN PEOPLE IN THIS ELECTION . . .

With the 1974 federal election campaign in its final weeks it might appear to some that this rural part of Grenville-Carleton is an all-but-forgotten part of Canada. We realize that there aren't avalanches of votes in our area but we do have the same rights and privileges as the rest of Canada and being 50 miles from Ottawa we probably know more about what is going on in Canada than many other parts of the country.

But here we are going into the final lap of an important federal election and we've had a few brief moments of seeing Walter Baker, we saw a glimpse of Joan Kabayana on Saturday and this coming Saturday we'll see a brief glimpse of Jim McDonald.

That is it. There is no more!

Not that we have any more time than anyone else to follow our candidates from door to door or the like and we don't even feel the least bit slighted by their seeming lack of interest in us out here. The reason for this lack of a great showing of affection is that we realize that all candidates will be spending as much time as possible where it will do them the most good...where the most votes are...Ottawa. And we don't blame them for that. But this editorial is meant to show them that we do care out here in the sticks and on a percentage basis we wouldn't doubt but that the rural people turn out better than the city dwellers.

Just how the election will go is anyone's guess right now and the extra votes that will come from places like Iroquois and Matilda may very well help elect a representative to Ottawa. It would be poetic justice if our votes did the trick!

Meanwhile the politicians are hacking away at each other at the leadership level the way the Israelis and Arabs did for a while, and with about as much hope of influencing the rest of us to go in the right direction.

Canada has its problems and we have to iron them out ourselves with good leadership heading our government. The people of this country have the best way we know of picking their political leaders and even if they neglect us a bit now and then, we've still got the best system by a dam site!

IT WAS UNFORTUNATE BUT UNAVOIDABLE . . .

Last weekend could have been twice the success it was had the planned on show rides arrived in Iroquois as they were supposed to. At the last minute the Lions Club learned that they were going to be left high and dry and it was too late to contact another show group. In this respect the weekend events suffered.

However, the firefighters of Eastern Ontario did themselves proud with their annual convention and sports day and it will long be remembered as one of the best gatherings held in the village. Of worthy note is the manner in which the firemen conducted themselves during the long day and the fine parade they presented for the public pleasure on Saturday evening.

It was a day well spent by those who attended and our compliments go out to the hosts, our own Iroquois Fire Department for a job well done.

Iroquois Lions Club members expressed their sincere regrets for the problems they faced, even though it was not of their doing, and promise an exceptional fine show in 1975.

Combined Summer Services In Churches

Following upon the arrangement of previous years, the congregations of the Iroquois United Church and Knox Presbyterian Church will provide combined worship services for the summer months of July and August, with the respective Ministers officiating and being responsible for pastoral care emergencies of both congregations.

Visitors to the community are most welcome and invited to join the congregations in their summer services.

Bill Smiley

YEAR END
ALWAYS MOVES ME

by Bill Smiley

Both teachers and students look forward eagerly to the end of the school year, for different reasons.

For the students, especially the younger ones, it's like a rebirth to get out into that beautiful June, out of that hot classroom, away from that cranky teacher. They go belting out that door on the last day like bees coming out of a disturbed bees'-nest.

A few of the more sensitive ones, especially the girls, will trill, "See you next year", or "Have a good summer, Mr. Smiley." The boys leave in a slap-dash, jostling mob, with never a look behind.

And who can blame them? It's been a long ten months. They want to get out and do some real living, to break the routines that even in these permissive days, make school a drag, and for some, unfortunately, a simple bore.

When I was in high school I took off in May or early June for a job on the lake boats, with a tremendous sense of release. I didn't care whether they passed me or failed me. After the first summer, I knew it was going to be four months of drudgery, at coolies' wages, but I didn't care. I was living, seeing new places and new people, and delighting in it.

Yet, strangely, by September, I had a great nostalgia for school, school friends, football and track and field, and could scarcely wait to start the long hitch-hike home.

Each fall was a joy. Football every day. A new girl, or the old faithful one, to hold hands with on crisp fall evenings. Some money in the pocket, after the summer.

This euphoria lasted until about the end of November. By the middle of January, life and school were deadly dull. The money was pretty well gone. It was too cold for outdoor smooching, and in those days no girl was allowed to have a boy into her house, unless her mother was sitting there looking suspicious and her father sitting there with a gun.

We couldn't afford ski equipment. We were lucky if we could scratch up the price of a hockey game or a night's skating at the rink.

We couldn't afford to smoke or drink or party or tear around, so, on the whole, we were a fairly moral lot. Believe it or not, I was president of a Young Man's Bible Class for three years. My high school principal was the leader, and he forced me into it. I figured I had to stay on the good side of him, or I'd be in high school until I was fifty.

There was only one thing I really learned in those long winters at school. With no money to do anything else, my gang tended to spend most of our time in the pool room, despite constant abjurations and threats from our mothers.

There are quite a few things you can pick up in a poolroom: psychology; a colorful vocabulary; a smell of spittoons. I got all of these, but I also became a pretty darn good pool player, and I've never regretted it.

You have to become good when you are "playing on your nerve." This quaint old expression means you haven't the money to pay the proprietor for your table time, if you lose. Winner plays free. So you either won, or you sweet-talked the boss of the poolroom into adding what you owed to your bill. This was about as easy as President Nixon standing before Congress, hand on heart, saying, "I cannot tell a lie."

It usually meant expulsion from the poolroom, which was like being thrown out of the garden of Eden.

Then there was the drowsing through long, spring days, waiting for school to end. I remember a poor man called Dr. Wheatly, saying to me one June day, head wagging sadly, "Bill, you will never pass physics or chemistry, should you stay here until you are a grandfather. So I'm going to recommend you." I've never forgotten this wise remark, and have since, as a teacher, always tempered justice with mercy.

But I drift. School was then, is now, and ever shall be, a place to get out of, come June.

Yet there is a little sadness among the older students, who are graduating. They are finally mature enough to realize these were possibly the best years of their lives. They sign each other's yearbooks. Some weep. They promise to keep in touch, but knowing they probably will not, after the first year. They are scattering.

Halcyon days are over. They are stepping off, sometimes fearfully, into a world of work and responsibility and striving for success, and raising families (which alone, in these times, is enough to make one want to stay in school forever.)

I deplore sentimentality. But sure enough, last class, last day of school, I turned around and there was a beautiful cake, inscribed, "Best Wishes, Mr. Smiley, from 13B, '74." Even the punctuation right. I was touched."

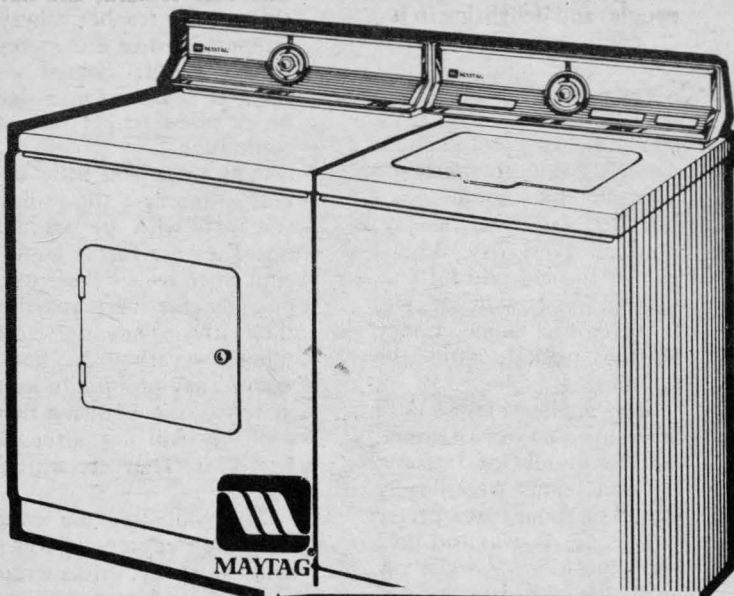

And astonished, I expressed my admiration and appreciation, and said, "Wait 'till my wife sees this." The response was, more or less, "Your wife, our foot. Look in the paper bag." Sure enough, it contained paper napkins and plastic forks. There was a knife in the cake box. So we had our cake and ate it, communally, and quietly listened to a funny record. Then we left, happily. And sadly.

Help Plan A New Provincial Park

Campers driving in to Charleston Lake, northwest of Brockville, are finding there's more to building a provincial park than throwing up a sign, an entrance office, carving out a road and some campsites.

They're finding out because they're being involved as park planning consultants in surveys by the Ontario Ministry of natural resources. This involvement will soon spread to local residents, municipalities and groups such as anglers, hunters, cross-country skiers, cottage owners and nature hikers.

The ministry of natural resources is now developing a master plan for the 3,900 acres of picturesque southern Canadian shield country that includes the Charleston Lake provincial park lands, Crown islands in the lake and the area south of Charleston Lake surrounding Blub Mountain.

Park planners definitely want the public involved and they've gone out of their way to make sure. Displays are being set up in shopping centres in Brockville and in Gananoque, posters are being printed, newspaper, radio and television articles written and public meetings planned. One of the most important elements in an information kit which includes provincial park maps, maps of the Charleston Lake area, a history of the area, a description of the resources, an outline of the recreational opportunities in a 25 mile radius, an explanation of the park master planning process, and brochures on Charleston Lake and the St. Lawrence Parks.

"This isn't a token gesture" said John Bell, Eastern Ontario parks and recreation co-ordinator. "Recreational land is scarce in southern Ontario. All sorts of groups are competing for use of the space. We have to minimize the conflicts".

Barry Rogers, regional parks planner directing a team of seven others said the public will be involved all through the planning:

"First, we want their information about the resources there and their opinions about how the park should be developed. We'll take that, draw up a number of alternatives, get the public comment on these and then help to review the final plan," he said.

"What the people around here and the visitors want will really make a difference in the plans. It would be disappointing if people weren't interested enough to respond or they selfishly demanded only their particular activity be allowed in the park" he said.

"Everyone, even ourselves, have to realize there are limits. Because the land is rocky, the soil is shallow, the plant life fragile, we could easily destroy Charleston's natural landscape if too many activities are left to chance."

"Planned properly, Charleston could really turn people on. They would have a fantastic outdoor experience," said Mr. Rogers.

Although Charleston is now open to outdoor enthusiasts, the limited development and the physical layout may be changed when the master plan has been completed.

The first formal public meetings are scheduled for the fall.

Field Day Held At Athens

The Ontario Alliance of Christian Schools held its 1st annual regional Parade and Field Day in Eastern Ontario on June 15/74. This occasion brought several hundred school children, parents, teachers and supporters by bus and car to Athens, Ont. The day's focus was on the commemoration of the "Foundation" of Christian School activity in the province some years ago. It gave opportunity to re-affirm the wisdom of elementary and secondary education in a Christian perspective, to mark the beginning of a regional expansion programme and to join in the traditional "field day" sports.

At 10:30 a.m. two of the finest area bands led long columns of children and adults and imaginative school banners and floats smartly through the village to the fairgrounds. A sense of community interest and cooperation was evident throughout. Local citizens and officials helped make the day a success as they visited at the grounds with this assemblage of regional Christian Schools.

A greeting from Reeve James Barclay marked the noon hour assembly. Mr. Harry Vanbelle keyed the importance of Christian Education and the ensuing school choir numbers complemented that theme.

Williamsburg emerged strongly in the athletic department taking both the senior boys and girls softball events and beating out Athens in a soccer match. Ottawa downed Williamsburg in the other soccer game. Brockville dominated junior softball and parents and teenagers competed in the last game of the day. The usual races were open to students from the school schools and area children ages two to fourteen.

Plans are already underway to seek othersuch opportunities.

Heckston was the driver and showed us beautiful places on the way to the Gatineau Hills and back. Mrs. D. Lieverdink (our President) and Mrs. D. Buma (chairman) were the leaders and instructors by going in and coming out restaurants and shopping centre, which was really enjoyed by all. Around 7 p.m. everybody was home again very much satisfied.

Now we look forward to our next meeting which will be held on Wednesday, July 3 in the Brinston Memorial Hall, starting at 10:30 a.m. Everybody welcome, free lunch will be served.

Noisy Groups Are Going To Camp

On Sunday, June 30, Merrywood Camp will welcome the first of four noisy groups of 72 excited youngsters who will begin an active two-week vacation in an ideal camp environment, thanks to Easter Seals.

Merrywood's 30 acres, located on the shores of Rideau Lake off Highway 43 at Port Elmsley, midway between Smiths Falls and Perth, has been a source of summer fun and relaxation for handicapped youngsters since 1948.

Two added attractions this year to the camp's 22 permanent buildings will be the new nature craft building and a new swimming pool.

Merrywood is one of five summer camps owned and operated by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children which, each year, offer a carefully planned camping experience to more than 1,000 handicapped youngsters throughout the province. Area visitors are welcome to drop in any time, except between 1 and 3 p.m. when the children are resting.

Visitors can observe how a camper may live in a relaxed atmosphere away from the restrictions of the classroom or hospital routine. With fresh opportunities to benefit from new experiences, associate with new groups of people and engage in friendly competition, the net effect is to extend the social and recreational horizons of the camper.

Through the companionship of fellow campers and good leadership in an imaginative program, camping can be a total experi-

Cardinal Pats Take Firm Hold On First Place

Cardinal Pats took a firmer hold on first place when they shutout Kemptville Squires in Kemptville Monday night 5-0 and in Cardinal Thursday night with an identical score.

Thursday night, Larry Patterson started the second inning off with a triple to centre, followed by a double from Ed Orzel to score Larry. Louis Martel singled to right to drive another run in. Ed St. Louis gained first on a Squire error. Owen Shortt homered over centre field fence to clear the bases for a 5-0 lead. Squire's pitcher Charlie Burley was replaced by Stan Woods who gave up only 1 hit, 1 walk, struck 1 batter and struck out 7 in the remaining innings. Ted Hoy took the win with a 4 hitter, 1 walk and 9 strike outs.

Williamsburg only had one

Increased Grants Public Libraries

New rates for providing financial support to public libraries will be set by amendments to the regulations under The Public Libraries Act, the Hon. James A.C. Auld, Minister of Colleges and Universities, announced recently.

For county and local libraries the per capita rate is to increase from $1.35 to $1.50, providing a total of $11,000,000 in support funds. In addition to their per capita grant, the county libraries are to receive a further $240,000, reflecting an increase from $10,000 to $15,000 in their basic grants.

Regional libraries will receive a total of $4,000,000, based on a new per capita rate of 45¢ plus an increase from $2.50 to $3.00 per square mile for the regions under their jurisdiction. Regional libraries in Francophone areas will receive additional grants totalling $200,000.

Funds will also be provided through the Ministry's "Out-reach Ontario" program for cultural and audio-visual programs in libraries, Mr. Auld said.

The new rate increases and other special grants will bring total provincial support for public libraries to approximately $16,000,000 in 1974-75.

grains policy

The federal government's new Feed Grains Policy becomes effective August 1, 1974. Whether you are a producer or user, the new policy is designed to meet your needs by:

- providing a fair and equitable base price for feed grains across Canada;
- encouraging growth of grain and livestock production according to natural potential;
- maintaining order and stability throughout the grain and livestock sectors.

MAIN FEATURES:

- farmers will have direct access to feed grains in all parts of Canada; buyers are free to shop for the best bargain, sellers are free to find the best price for their crops;
- a nation-wide information system through the Canadian Livestock Feed Board will keep everyone informed on selling prices across the country;
- the Canadian Wheat Board will continue to be the sole buyer and seller of feed grain for export market;
- prairie producers have the choice of selling their grain to the CWB or to others on the domestic market;
- cash advance payments and initial payments, similar to those provided to Prairie grain producers for many years, will be extended to growers across the country to encourage feed grain production;
- a new storage program, costing the federal government $40 million a year, will be instituted to provide for security of supplies for Canadian markets; it will also lead to additional grain storage on the West Coast, in inland terminals, on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence and in the Maritimes;
- steps will be taken to bring into balance freight rates between meat and grain; this will progress according to trends in grain and livestock prices, and the degree of regional self-sufficiency in grain production.

Firemen Enjoy Convention

Saturday's annual firemen's sports convention provided a great deal of active participation and competitive spirit was strong throughout the day. This spirit carried over into the parade at night and this fine horse was a top attraction.

The Augusta team, above, fought hard to get a tie with Iroquois for second place.

Predict Increase In 1975

All 353 municipal electrical utilities across Ontario are expected to seek approval for an increase in electrical rates in 1975, according to E. G. Bainbridge, Ontario Hydro's director of Consumer Service. His comments were made to the Ontario Energy Board during the second week of public hearings being held in Toronto.

Hydro is seeking approval of a 15% increase in the wholesale rate that it charges the municipal utilities and a 16% increase in rates to direct industrial customers.

"It does not necessarily follow that the retail rate increase charged by municipal utilities be of the same percentage nor coincide in the effective date with the increase in wholesale rates" said Mr. Bainbridge. Hydro's wholesale rate increase, if approved, would be effective next January 1.

Mr. Bainbridge told the Board that municipal utilities, like Ontario Hydro, face escalating local operating costs and this is placing pressure on existing utility retail rates. He predicted that utility increases could be in the order of 10 to 20%, depending on the financial position of the individual utility.

It has been Ontario Hydro's consistent practice to translate costs into an ultimate customer cost that will reflect fairness to customer classes and fairness and uniformity to customers within each class, Mr. Bainbridge said in his evidence to the Board. There is no doubt, he said, that the cost increases at the wholesale level must be passed on to the ultimate customer.

Rate increases are not only the result of load growth but also include the effects of higher manpower rates, higher fuel prices and the cost of replacing existing facilities as they wear out, he stated.

More than 20 Hydro witnesses appeared before the Board during the week to give evidence on rates and rate philosophy, operations, marketing, services and personnel functions. Hydro is completing presentation of its evidence this week and cross-examination by intervenors and the Energy Board's counsel will follow.

It is expected that the hearings will continue until early August.

Caterpillar Comeback

Eastern tent caterpillars. Their sight is generally worse than their bite—greyish webbed bags of worms in tree crotches along highways, backroads, streets and in backyards.

"The public shouldn't worry said Ken Turner, supervisor of pest control for the ministry of natural resources. "The nests may look unsightly, but the damage is trivial".

Eastern tent caterpillars may almost defoliate some trees but rarely does this do any real damage, other than impede growth a bit. Usually, the foliage attack is over by June and the tree continues to "leaf out" or the leaf growth simply continues.

Where possible, spraying the nests with Malathion helps. Burning nests is even better. Birds, though the caterpillars aren't their favourite dish, are good control agents. A homeowner with trees might build a few bird houses to encourage an increase in local bird populations.

Eastern tent caterpillars favour choke cherry, pin cherry and wild apple trees. Orchard owners usually stop the insect with regular spraying.

The ministry does not spray except on lands they control and only if the caterpillars interfere with recreation experiences. For the amount of damage, the cost of spraying is not worth it.

The forest tent caterpillar, popularly called the "army worm" is a more serious pest. It attacks heavily for several years and defoliates millions of acres, especially poplar stands in northern Ontario. Poplar is one of their favourite hosts. The last epidemic of forest tent caterpillars was in 1950. These caterpillars hit hardest in the north. Also they are misnamed as a "tent" type caterpillar. Unlike the eastern tent caterpillar, they do not spin web tents in the branches. Instead they make what appear to be silk mats on the larger branches and tree trunks.

The full-grown eastern tent caterpillar has a broad white stripe down the middle of its back. The forest tent caterpillar has a blue head with silvery diamond-shaped spots along the middle of its back.

Your credit-rating is priceless.

This is what Ontario is doing to help you protect it.

Ontario has passed a new Consumer Reporting Act, one of the most important pieces of consumer legislation in the province's history.

It deals with the reporting, exchange and gathering of both credit and personal information related to your life-style and character.

It goes into effect July 2, 1974.

After that date you'll have the right to know what is being reported about you and to whom. And if the information is inaccurate or incomplete, you'll have the opportunity to correct it.

This is particularly important because, today, masses of information about your buying, credit and personal habits are being collected, stored, and distributed by people you have never met.

This information can influence where—or if—you will work, how much you can borrow, insurance you can obtain and whether you are acceptable as a tenant. So your government here in Ontario has passed the Consumer Reporting Act to ensure that you have access to your own file.

The Act is designed to protect you, the consumer, as far as the law can do so. It guards your basic rights. It gives you a place to write for help if you run into problems.

To find out the many ways the Act works to your advantage, send for a free Consumer Reporting Act brochure. Write to:

Eardley Coleman Dies at Home

The community was shocked at the sudden passing of an esteemed resident on Tuesday, June 11th, of Orson Eardley Lee Coleman, at his home in Dundela. He was in his 65th year.

Born at Toyes Hill, he was the son of the late Orson Coleman and his wife Arloa Peterson. He was predeceased by brothers Delbert and Merrill and sister Alietha Casselman. He was a member of Dundela United Church and a member of Friendly Brothers Masonic Lodge A.F. & A.M. 143 of Iroquois and Oriental I.O.O.F. 163 and the Stormont Encampment #76 I.O.O.F. of Cornwall.

The deceased was of a kindly nature and always enthusiastic of all sports. He operated a garage at Brinston for 26 years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Evelyn Coons and four sons, Dennis of Brockville, Errol of Ottawa, Gary of Brinston and Ronald of Ottawa, also two daughters, Cheryl and Donna of Ottawa and three grandchildren.

A masonic service was held at the home on Thursday evening with funeral service in Dundela United Church at 2 p.m. on Friday, June 14th with Rev. Garfield Bruce and Rev. Lester Joyce officiating.

Chesterville pack, resplendent in their Indian costumes, led the Grand Howl for the Circle assembly. Kemptville scored highest, winning the tug-of-war. Certificates of Appreciation were presented to Stanley Williams, proprietor of Wildwood Park and to two retiring scouters, George Eddy of Iroquois and Dr. Demers of Morrisburg. Communities represented included Prescott, Kemptville, Iroquois, Morrisburg Winchester, Chesterville, Spencerville, Roebuck, Johnstown and Riverview Hights. nized on the local level and many compliments were accorded the convention hosts, headed by chairman Dean McCurdy.

The highlight of that day was the parade held Saturday evening with bands, floats and a variety of fire fighting equipment from Eastern Ontario as well as the United States. Parading around the village, the firemen put on an excellent parade, well appreciated by village and area residents, with a dance in the civic centre ending the day's festivities.

When it comes to saving money, comparison shopping is the best answer. Too often, however, any savings you might gain through this process are lost in driving around town visiting all those stores. It doesn't have to be that way.

The telephone in your home is a very useful piece of equipment which will allow you to conduct all the comparison shopping you want without any extra expense. In fact the money you can save through such checking can pay your monthly telephone bill.

Karen Sommerville Weds Terry Charbot

Baskets of mixed spring flowers comprised a floral setting in Spencerville United Church on May 11, 1974, when Karen Ann Sommerville, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sommerville, Spencerville, became the bride of John Terry Charbot, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Charbot, Iroquois.

Reverent Sydney Oakwell officiated, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Miriam Woodland. The "Share" Choir sang "The Wedding Song" and "Let It Be Me" during the ceremony and signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose a gown of chantilly lace with a full traditional skirt. She carried a cascade of miniature pink carnations and ivy.

Her maid-of-honour was Julie Crawford of Cardinal, with Sandra Sommerville, sister of the bride, Karen Thomson, and Vicky Weiher, as bridesmaids. Wearing floor-length gowns of white English lace over over pink taffeta lining, complemented by white lace floppy hats, and they carried nose gays of miniature pink and white carnations.

The flower girls were Cindy Sommerville, sister of the bride and Angela Laurin, both wearing white ligoda gowns trimmed with pink ribbons to match the bridesmaids' dresses. The best man was Darryl McDonnell of Iroquois and the ushers were Dale Charbot, brother of the groom, Allan McCastlin and Steve McCann;

the ring-bearers were Trevor and Todd Gill. They, along with the bride's father, were identically attired in blue and white dinner jackets trimmed with navy and pink ruffled shirts.

The reception followed at the Spencerville Legion, the guests being received by the bride and groom's mothers, the former wearing a floor-length gown of green with white accessories and the latter a floor-length gown of pink with matching pink accessories. Music was provided after dinner by "Young Country".

Guests were present from Kitchener, Toronto, Richmond Hill, Belleville, Kingston, Ottawa, Moorewood, Brockville and the surrounding districts.

For their wedding trip to northern Quebec, the bride wore a floor-length pink and white plaid gown, with a corsage of white roses.

The couple have taken up residence in Ottawa, where the groom is employed by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and the bride by the Department of Agriculture.

Prior to the marriage, the bride was honoured at three bridal showers.
