Counties' planner to prepare township plan

[BRINSTON] - Matilda Township council will ask United Counties planner Chuck Miller to draft an official plan for the township in the wake of provincial legislation eliminating county planning boards.

Clerk-treasurer Bill Horner said Mr. Miller offered his services to the four South Dundas municipalities - Matilda, Iroquois, Morrisburg and Williamsburg Township - at a recent meeting. The individual plans will incorporate the present South Dundas Official Plan and any amendments on municipal zoning bylaws.

Mr. Horner said the decision to adopt the plan will prevent the hassles involved in drawing a completely new plan which would have to take into account all recent provincial guidelines such as Ontario foodland requirements.

"I know everybody around this table may not be in love with the plan but it's the best we've got," Mr. Horner said. "I would like to suggest we go that route."

He added that Mr. Miller can keep costs to a minimum as he will be doing all municipalities.

Mr. Miller has assured the costs will not exceed $500, Mr. Horner said.

"I think that's very good at that price," Reeve Lorne Strader commented.

Deputy-Reeve Lorne Mellan suggested that Matilda and Williamsburg Township coordinate their plans so they will coincide as closely as possible. "It's nice to have the two townships together," he stated.

Mr. Horner noted that the municipality will appoint its own planning board that is required to have a separate budget and bank account.

Odessa couple big winners in workshop sweepstakes

[MORRISBURG] - A trip to Brockville for a birthday party paid off in a big way for a couple from Odessa, Ontario near Kingston.

Donna and Ralph Shaw arrived for a party for Ralph's brother, Jim, on May 14 in Brockville and during a visit to a store to pick up supplies, Donna picked up a little something extra - a ticket in the grand prize draw sponsored by the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Little did Mrs. Shaw expect that she had the winning ticket when called from Morrisburg Sunday morning to be told her ticket was drawn at Saturday's dance.

"I didn't believe it" she told reporters Monday when she came to Morrisburg to receive her $10,000 cheque.

While it's the first time they've won anything of this magnitude, Mrs. Shaw pointed out that another of her husband's brothers, Wayne, won $10,000 in a draw in Alberta recently.

Plans for the windfall include paying off the bills and buying the apartment house they've lived in for seven years, Mrs. Shaw said. "Ralph's been off work since October so this comes in handy," she said.

Although the drive from Odessa in Monday's muggy heat seemed long, Mrs. Shaw said it was well worth it considering what was waiting at the other end.

The couple have five children aged 5 to 15 years.

Meanwhile, DCAMR director Al Gates reports Saturday's dance was a success as 600 to 700 persons attended at the Morrisburg arena. Funds raised by the dance, $10,000 draw and six previous draws for an ounce of gold will go to help defray costs of the DCAMR's new building located across from Paddy's Inn.

High winds and torrential winds played havoc with power lines throughout the area on Monday but the municipality that received the brunt of the onslaught was Cardinal where power was lost during much of the afternoon and evening as continued bad weather prevented maintenance crews from repairing the damage. The above photo shows the aftermath of the storm as several trees on the north of River Road East were rooted from the ground and smashed down atop the power cables. Crews put up temporary wires to provide residents with power.

Dairy Princess to be picked Saturday

[WINCHESTER] - Plans are all set for the annual Dundas Dairy Princess competition here this Saturday and after the final tally, coordinator Betty Milne reports six county girls will vie for the 1983-84 crown.

Two students of Seaway District High School head the list of contestants to replace Rachel Thurler as county princess.

Carolyn Mellon, 18, has completed four farm safety projects as a 4-H club member and has a farm background. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Mellon of Hulbert, Carolyn plans to study at St. Lawrence College to be a legal secretary. An avid sports fan, Carolyn Toonders is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Toonders of R.R. 1, Williamsburg. A graduate of Seaway high school, Carolyn plans to study for a child care worker certificate at St. Lawrence College this fall. She works at home on the family's holstein farm and has completed four 4-H agricultural clubs. Carolyn is interested in all sports especially swimming.

Suzanne Rose is a third-year student in sociology at the University of Western Ontario in London. This summer, Suzanne works at Upper Canada Village and lives with her parents, Edward and Estella Rose at R.R. 2, Mountain. She has completed 13 4-H clubs in agriculture and homemaking. Suzanne's special interests are music, swimming and skating.

Jennifer Dawson of R.R. 1, Inkerman is the daughter of Carolyn and Bob Dawson. At 18-year-old, Jennifer is entering grade 13 at North Dundas District High School this fall and plans to further her education at university. She has earned a provincial honors certificate for completing 12 4-H homemaking projects and is interested in cooking, reading, swimming and ball hockey.

Nineteen-year-old Wendy Holmes is the daughter of Erma and Charles Holmes of R.R. 3, Winchester. Wendy is entering her second year of secretarial arts at St. Lawrence College and has completed three 4-H homemaking clubs. Wendy enjoys public speaking, plays ball hockey and attends many spectator sports such as hockey and baseball.

The sixth contestant is Hazel DeJong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abram DeJong of R.R. 4, Winchester. Hazel is 16-years-old and a grade 11 student at North Dundas District High School. She is interested in all types of sports.

The Dairy Princess competition is being held in conjunction with Winchester's Jamaica Day and special guests on hand will include the current reigning Dundas Princess Rachel Thurler as well as Ontario Dairy Princess Glenna Howley and Dairy Princesses from Stormont, Lise Ouellette, and Grenville, Dawn Latourle.

The agenda begins at 1 p.m. near the main downtown corner in Winchester as Sharon Adams will provide organ music for the entertainment of passersby. At 1:30 p.m. Norm Tinkler, chairman of the Dundas Milk Committee will welcome all and introduce mistress of ceremonies Claire Posen who is co-host of the CBC television program Country Report.

Brief speeches by the six contestants will follow and at 2 p.m. the Ontario Dairy Princess will be introduced to the crowd. Greetings will then be brought from the National Holstein Association president Allison Fawcett.

At the Royal Bank at 2:30 p.m. members of the four Dundas County weekly newspapers, The Chieftain, Morrisburg Leader, Winchester Press and Chesterville Record, will participate in a media milking contest which is guaranteed to provide a dose of laughter.

At 3 p.m. Dundas Dairy Princess Rachel Thurler will be introduced and about 3:15 p.m. she will pass the crown to her successor. A tour through Winchester will follow. That evening a Jamaican dance will be held at the Winchester Community Centre and the princesses will again be introduced.

Judges for the competition are Jean-Paul Leclair who is employed in the production division of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board representing the counties of Glengarry, Russell and Prescott; Karen McIntyre who lives on a dairy farm in Avonmore and has been Dairy Princess co-ordinator for Stormont for five years; Cheryl Thompson, a lecturer in the English department at Kemptville College.

Anne Hartle, centre presented a cheque for $10,000 to Donna and Ralph Shaw, in front, from Odessa, Ontario at a brief ceremony at the new building for the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded on Monday. The happy couple arrived in Morrisburg with relatives Jim and Bonnie Shaw, in back, after being informed Sunday they had won the grand prize draw at the association's dance in Morrisburg Saturday night.

Pee Wees in playoffs

[IROQUOIS] - The Iroquois Pee Wee fastball team began playoffs at 10 a.m. this morning (Wednesday) at Victoria Street Park against the team from Williamsburg.

The best-of-three series will continue tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. at the Williamsburg field and if a third game is necessary it will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Victoria Street Park.

The Pee Wees finished the regular season in third place and concluded the season with a 19 to 5 loss at the hands of the Mountain Pee Wees in Iroquois last Wednesday.

Coach Al Levere said a number of injuries and lack of games has caused the team to stumble in the final weeks of the season but after four practices last week is hoping the local boys are ready to play good ball again.

Last Wednesday built an 11 to 1 lead after two innings and coasted to victory as they banded out more than 20 hits while limiting Iroquois to just two hits and six walks.

Farm machinery dealership has grand opening Friday

[CHESTERVILLE] - The official opening of the area's newest farm machinery dealership - Eagle Farm Equipment - took place on Hwy. 43 near here last Friday under hot and sunny skies and a steady stream of visitors was on hand for the day's events.

Operated by company president Bert Blom, Eagle Farm Equipment is the exclusive International Harvester dealer between Maxville and Smiths Falls and Mr. Blom said he is optimistic about its future.

"The farm machinery business has been slow for the past three years but already things are getting better" Mr. Blom stated. Since the dealership opened its doors at the end of May, Mr. Blom said it has attracted 350 accounts.

"Farmers need good equipment and must maintain what they have," he said, explaining the mechanic's shop has been busy since opening.

The strength of the area's farming community provides the business with good potential, Mr. Blom added. "Dundas County is one of the best farming areas in Eastern Canada and that's why I'm optimistic. We've got to look ahead, we can't look back."

With a staff of 11 persons and 9,600 square feet to work from, Mr. Blom said service is the key to the success of the operation. "We have three licensed mechanics working from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. but we'll be here whenever we're needed, especially during harvesting and planting season."

The dealership has a $1 million machinery inventory, Mr. Blom pointed out, and has about $110,000 stock of parts which he said will increase to near $180,000 by the end of the month.

"The harvest will be our peak season but we've been busy since we opened up," Mr. Blom said.

A veteran of 18 years with United Co-operatives of Ontario, Mr. Blom has been active in agriculture since coming to Canada from Holland in 1960. He graduated from a two-year diploma course at Ridgetown Agricultural College in 1963 and began his UCO career at Norwich where he first came into contact with International Harvester products.

Mr. Blom worked six years at Norwich and six years for UCO at Tilsonburg before moving to Kemptville where he remained with the co-operative for another six years. He still resides in Kemptville with Catherine, his wife and Eagle's receptionist, and three children, Paul, 15, Elizanne, 13 and Louise, 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Blom were on hand greeting visitors and conducting informal tours of the dealership during Friday's opening. Guests were also greeted by the other employees including service staff, Paul Simms, Charles Kerr, Ron Spong and Murray Campbell; parts manager, Bill Williams; sales staff John VanBridger and Alphonse Poitras; and office staff Carolyn Ball and Clarence Cussen.

Opening ceremonies were conducted beneath a large tent roof in front of the building by Don Kanpp who introduced members of the platform party. They included the Rev. Father Don Cummings, P.P. of Holy Cross Church, Kemptville, John Curtis, principal of Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, Gerald Holmes, reeve of Winchester Township, Brian Kirkpatrick, manager of agriculture equipment sales for International Harvester and Mr. and Mrs. Blom.

The ribbon cutting was done in a most unique manner as an International Harvester tractor was drove through the outstretched ribbon gripped tightly by members of the platform party.

The day proved a pleasant affair for visitors and staff alike as they were treated to the sounds of country and western music played by the Ottawa-based band, Terry Carisse and Tracks. Plenty of food and beverages were available courtesy of Eagle Farm Equipment and another highlight was the presence of Dundas County Dairy Princess Rachel Thurler.

Legion veterans' search

The Iroquois Royal Canadian Legion branch 370 and its Honor Role Committee under the chairmanship of Wytze Douma is continuing a search for information about area war veterans.

The search will culminate next summer with unveiling of bronze plaques in both Iroquois and Matilda Township honoring the servicemen. The plaques are to be inscribed with names of all war veterans from the Communities and in order to avoid duplication of names and incomplete records, Chieftain readers are asked to assist the legion in this worthwhile project.

Readers are asked to supply any information they have available for a set of permanent records to be kept in both municipalities. Information required includes the given name, place of residence between 1939 and 1945, date and place enlisted, rank, army number, branch of service and dates and locations where wounded, killed in action or discharged.

Information should be directed to Mr. Douma at P.O. Box 21, Iroquois, KOE 1K0, or call him directly at 652-4595.

This week's list of names is as follows:

Susan and Gerald Whitteker

Pretty Wedding at Brinston United

Baskets of pretty spring flowers decorated the altar of Brinston United Church on Saturday April 30th, 1983 at 4 o'clock, when Susan Karen Murphy and Gerald Richard Whitteker were united in marriage by Rev. Allan Tysick.

Arlene Nesbitt was guest organist and was accompanied by guest soloist Robert Thompson who sang "If" as the bride reached the altar and "I'll Never walk alone" during the singing of the register.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garry Murphy of Dixons Corners, Ontario and the groom is the son of Gwen Whitteker and the late Gordon Whitteker of Morrisburg, Ontario.

The groom was assisted by Best Man Larry Whitteker, brother of the groom, and by his ushers Neil Whitteker, brother of the groom and Dennis Whitteker cousin of the bride.

The Bride was assisted by her sister Jill Murphy as maid of honour, Lori Whitteker the groom's sister and Diane Hess the brides cousin as bridesmaids.

The bride given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown fashioned from white satin with delicate overlay of georgette, styled on an empire waistline, with a lace bodice. Matching heart lace trimmed her veil and chapel length train of her gown, she carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies, baby's breath and fern.

The brides attendants were attired in matching gowns of lilac satin with chiffon overlay, they carried nosegays of mauve and yellow roses.

The groom and his attendants were attired in black tuxedos.

Keyes and Baks exchange vows

Alfalfa stands need attention

by Jerry Winnicki
Soil & Crop Specialist
Ministry of Agriculture & Food

Travelling through the countryside recently, my attention was drawn to the poor state of our alfalfa fields.

A brief field study revealed almost half the inspected fields showed signs of potash deficiency. This is a very serious nutrient deficiency to have occur in the field, especially if corrective measures aren't taken and farmers expect the alfalfa to be around next spring.

Alfalfa plants require potassium stored in the tap root for satisfactory survival over the winter. Low levels of potash will interfere with the storage of food reserves in the root system.

Potash in a sense works like antifreeze in the car radiator protecting the tender plant from the extremes of winter. The alfalfa plant is a heavy user of potash and can remove about 50 lbs. of potash per tonne of dry matter.

Many farmers get four or five tonnes of forage annually and remove between 200 and 250 lbs of potash per acre.

Potash levels can drop drastically in a short period of time, so frequent soil testing and tissue analysis are essential to keep productive alfalfa stands.

Check the fields for any plant discoloration, especially yellowing on the outer edge of the leaves. If you suspect a problem, give the local agricultural office or crop specialist a call for positive identification.

SOCCER NOTES ...

by Cindy Ault

On Sunday August 7, the Seaway Spartans played the team from Massena at 3:00 in Morrisburg. This game brought their record to an 11-1-0 record.

The first half of the game went by with neither team managing a goal until David Cherry scored at 41 minutes, on an assist by Bob Butcher.

Seaway scored the next goal at 70 minutes, when John Johnson netted one, assisted by Chuck Saddlemyre. Perry Hart slipped in the next goal, on a pass from Ben Norgaard, at 84 minutes. Four minutes later, with barely two minutes left to play, Massena managed to score, destroying goalkeeper Bill Ault's chances for a shut-out once again.

In ladies play, the girls finally got to play their game when they travelled to CCVS to play the Cornwall Classics, on Sunday night at 6:30.

Seaway played extremely well, and they managed to score the first goal when Rita Luimes assisted Nancy Groupin in the first half. Seaway managed to hold their lead until shortly into the second half, when the Classics netted their first goal. They Classics scored once more before the end of the game, defeating Seaway 2-1.

The top five members of the men's team are:

Perry Hart - 52 points - 14 goals

David Cherry - 46 points - 15 goals

Ben Norgaard - 35 points - 9 goals

Jay Merkley - 34 points - 8 goals

John Johnson - 28 points - 7 goals

The guys next game is not until August 17, when they travel to La Citadelle to play YMO I at 6:00; then August 21 at 2:00 against Char-Lan II; then on August 29 at 6:00 against the Hellenic Stars; both of which are in Morrisburg.

Blood clinic next Wednesday

[Winchester]. The Ladies Auxiliary of Winchester District Memorial Hospital is holding a blood donor clinic at the hospital next Wednesday, August 17 from 2 to 8 p.m.

A representative from the auxiliary said many donors are needed as the traditional summer shortage of blood and blood products has occurred.

Anybody who hasn't given in the past three months is welcome to attend and give the gift of life.

Pesticides hazardous to water sources

Growers should always be careful when applying insecticides near water, says an Agriculture Canada pesticide specialist.

"This is particularly true for the synthetic pyrethroid insecticides Ambush, Ripcord, Belmark and Decis," explains Errol Caldwell, an evaluation officer with the federal department's pesticide division.

"They are very important and effective pest control products and play an important role in food production worldwide," he says.

In Canada these products are used to control insects on fruit and vegetables, tobacco, cereals and oilseeds.

Synthetic pyrethroid insecticides have a good safety margin for humans, but, if misused, these chemicals have the potential to kill fish and other aquatic life.

Because of this hazard, growers are urged to pay close attention to the label and follow the instructions for safe use.

"Growers should pay particular attention to the warning on the label not to apply the pesticide by aircraft," Mr. Caldwell says.

Mr. Caldwell also says growers should cut down on pesticide drift and avoid aquatic contamination in filling and rinsing operations and the disposal of empty containers.

"These precautions should be taken by all growers in all regions to avoid any contamination of streams, lakes, ponds or bodies of water used by livestock or for domestic purposes," he says.

Regions closer to highly productive fisheries, such as lobster beds and salmon fisheries, are particularly sensitive.

"Growers should maintain a pesticide-free zone around bodies of water to give an extra measure of security for these highly sensitive chemicals," Mr. Caldwell urges.

"That is why application is restricted to ground equipment only and a 15 metre pesticide-free area is required around fishery waters or waterfowl habitats."

LEOPARD

PANTHERA PARDUS

THREATENED

The leopard occurs in Africa & Asia, from tropics to cold highlands. Its stealth & secretive ways have made it a prized trophy for the hunter & its spotted markings have made it an attractive fur for fashion. Although hunting restrictions have recognized the need for the animal's protection, demand & high prices have encouraged poaching & trade in illegal skins. Concern for the continued existence of the leopard & other cats has been shown by 58 nations, including Canada, in agreements controlling the import & export of such skins & their use.

Queen's Park report

THE HONOURABLE NORMAN STERLING, M.P.P.
CARLETON-GRENVILLE
Provincial Secretary for Justice
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

Within a few months the law will require the licensing of off-road vehicles.

Proposals for the licensing of these vehicles were introduced in the Legislature by the Ontario Minister of Transportation and Communications, the Hon. James Snow, following months of consultation with municipalities and other interested groups.

Mr. Snow proposes that the owners of all off-road vehicles must register their vehicles, unless they are already licensed under the Highway Traffic Act. Vehicles that are not already licensed usually do not meet equipment requirements under the Highway Traffic Act or are bought for the expressed purpose of off-road operation.

Under the new proposals, the registrant of a vehicle must be 16-years-old and will have to pay a one-time registration fee that will last the lifetime of the holder. Each off-road vehicle will be issued a permit and a plate, and in accordance with the new plate-to-owner system, the owner will keep the plate when transferring vehicles.

Why is it necessary to register off-road vehicles? These proposals are the result of concern that has been growing since 1976.

From time to time municipalities and police forces have been faced with complaints from property owners about damage caused by riders of off-road vehicles. But, because off-road vehicles could not be identified by registration or license plates, little could be done to identify the offenders.

By 1982 more than 160 municipalities were requesting the licensing of off-road vehicles. They were joined by a variety of municipally-related groups, ratepayers' organizations and industry-related associations - such as the Motorcycle and Moped Industry Council and the Canadian Motorcycle Association.

Because of a growing number of complaints about off-road vehicles, the proposed legislation will place all responsibility for loss or damage resulting from the operation of an off-road vehicle on its owner as well as the operator.

Last week's short holiday at the cottage was highlighted by a visit from friends who have a boat. This provided an opportunity for the men (large and small) to take a whack at fishing. After rounding up the proper equipment and life-jackets it was a matter of trying to find a spot where the fish might at least nibble. When that didn't produce any action, we decided to troll for a while. After only half an hour in the water, the young fishermen with us decided that their destiny was not in fishing, but rather in steering the boat. Since there were two of them and only one steering wheel on the boat, it was a tight fit. The captain ended up with a boy on each knee and four grubby little hands and two big ones all trying to handle the steering wheel. If the fish had been considering biting as we cruised around the lake they'd have become dizzy in the attempt. The boat zig-zagged its way around the lake and back to dock without ever seeing a sign of a fish. But it meant that the moms didn't have any fish-cleaning chores.

The weatherman seemed to have it in for us while we were away. Within a few hours of sunrise on the first day of holidays it was raining and there was as much rain and cloud as there was sunshine for the next few days that we were gone. During the rainy periods that meant keeping four kiddies under the age of five entertained. When it stopped they all learned how to pick wild blueberries and we managed to get more than enough to enable my wife to whip up a pie that will stand as one of the high points of her cooking career.

It was nice to return to Iroquois and hear all the favourable reports of the weekend camping expedition of the NCHA held in the local campground. It sounds as if the campers earned a place for themselves in the hearts of local residents by following the rules of common courtesy. Allowing the group to use our campground was a good move by council and it's the type of thing that helps promote our village. Who knows - some day it could result in new families or a new industry locating here.

There must be a lot of local golfers who for years have been cursing the seagulls along the St. Lawrence as they made off with golf balls or got in the way of a really good shot. Now from Toronto comes news of what happens if you should happen to nail one of the pesky birds with your ball. So if you see someone lurking around in the rough pretending to look for a lost ball, beware. It could be an undercover inspector for the humane society.

The great summer weather has its good and bad points. One the good side, it's handy when a two-year-old dumps ice cream and chocolate sauce all over himself to be able to take him outside, strip him and turn the hose on him. On the negative side, being able to sleep with all the windows open means that you run the risk of being awakened at 4 a.m. by a catfight right under the window. It's particularly annoying when you don't even own a cat.

Health Matters

A weekly column presented by the Ontario Medical Association and the doctors in your community for a better understanding of health matters

Fitness injuries

The push to fitness in the last 10 years certainly has its benefits, but it also has created its problems.

Sports tend to result in sports injuries, especially among the weekend athletes. Many hospitals have organized sports medicine clinics in which doctors and physiotherapists combine their talents to help solve some of these unique problems. These include hamstring injuries, painful shoulders, tennis elbow and the painful leg in the knee area.

TENNIS ELBOW

Tennis elbow, an inflammatory reaction, is perhaps the best known of these problems. It is not restricted to tennis players, and, in fact, is seen among players of all racket sports. However, any rotary movements of the forearm and a firm grip of the hand, such as using a screwdriver, can cause the symptoms.

The condition causes pain and tenderness at the side of the elbow where the extensor muscles originate. This pain may radiate down the back of the forearm, and on occasion can cause an ache in all the forearm muscles.

Tennis elbow is caused by a tearing and inflammatory reaction where the tendons attach near the elbow, usually on the outside portion of the elbow. If it's related to playing racket sports, it is usually caused by poor technique, poor equipment, over-use and/or a failure to build specific strength and flexibility.

Treatment for tennis elbow is conservative. Ice is usually applied to the area for 10 to 15 minutes, three times a day and an anti-inflammatory medication may be prescribed. A physician may also order physiotherapy treatments such as ultrasound along with strengthening exercises for the arm and wrist muscles.

The sports enthusiast is advised to avoid backhand shots temporarily and to take a few lessons to prevent further injury. A racket sport pro can usually improve the backhand technique and advise on the correct tension necessary in the racket to reduce the stress on the elbow.

SHOULDER INJURIES

A second type of sports injury commonly associated with racket sports is the painful shoulder. Often, this problem occurs in someone who is just an occasional player who decides to sign up for a weekend tournament.

Initially, there is a dull and bothersome ache in the shoulder. However, with continued use, the person soon finds it difficult to raise the affected arm above the head without considerable pain. This may progress to disabling shoulder pain.

Shoulder pain is one problem that is aggravated by aging. The tendon in the area of the shoulder does not have the same elasticity as we get older and is prone to small tears when overused or strained. These problems of aging can be diminished somewhat by regular exercise. This has to be done as a slow, gradual introduction of exercise with good periods of rest between.

Treatment for this injury is usually a long, involved process. Anti-inflammatory drugs and physiotherapy are usually the first modes of treatment. If this fails, the shoulder may be injected with local anaesthetic and a steroid drug. The local anaesthetic gives a temporary relief and tells the physician he has injected the correct site. Following this the shoulder often gets sorer for a few days, then settles.

Gradually, physical strengthening of the shoulder is encouraged with a supervised physiotherapy program and racket sports are discouraged until the healing process is complete.

Let's visit a Maritime Province - Nova Scotia

By William H. Nault

Nova Scotia, on the eastern coast, includes a peninsula of the mainland and also Cape Breton Island. Only a narrow strip of land - the Isthmus of Chignecto - joins the peninsula to the mainland. Halifax is the capital.

No part of Nova Scotia is more than 56 kilometers from the sea. The Atlantic Ocean, the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the Bay of Fundy almost surround the province. The coastline measures 7,578 kilometers.

Sable Island, about 160 kilometers off the southern coast, is formed entirely of sand. Sailors call it the Graveyard of the Atlantic because so many shipwrecks have occurred here. According to World Book, ocean tides may rise higher in Nova Scotia than anywhere else in the world. Sometimes the tide rises more than 15 meters at the head of the Bay of Fundy. Many rivers fall and rise with the tide. Seawater reaches far inland in many rivers that irrigate the rich soil of lowland farms.

Bird Notes

by E. G. AVERY

Bird watching during the past week was largely confined to what could be seen from the kitchen window, or from the comfort of a lawn chair. The very warm weather kept humans and birds to a limited round of activity.

A small flock of Cedar Waxwings provided our Sunday afternoon entertainment as they fluttered among the trees in search of insects. The sky was a beautiful summer blue, brushed with feathery white clouds. Later in the day there was a colourful sunset, and at night a spectacular display of Northern lights touched almost every part of the sky. This is considered to be a sure sign of a change in the weather, and it certainly seems to be an accurate one, judging by Monday's series of thunderstorms. It was almost as though all the storms we should have had in the heat of June and July were rolled into one. During the lulls, the Robins scurried about looking for a quick meal, and one decided to have a bath in the rain. Perhaps the bird bath filled to overflowing with fresh water was too much to resist. Another "first" in strange behaviour was the sight of a Goldfinch chasing a Robin. Goldfinches are not often aggressive, but the Robin must have been too close to the smaller bird's nest-site. These Finches wait for the thistle down to form so they can use it to line their nests, thus making them later than most birds when it comes to breeding time.

Even a walk home from the store can provide a small adventure. We noticed a Chipping Sparrow very close to the sidewalk and coming towards us until she was almost close enough to touch. She had a small beetle in her beak, and then we discovered the reason for her "tameness" - a tiny baby Chippy was nestled in the grass, almost invisible, but with a wide open beak. Mama fed him, then fled as she became aware of the intruder standing beside her.

Mainstream Canada

For Canadians, it's not all bad news

By W. Roger Worth

With depressing news about everything from unemployment to bankruptcies cluttering our daily lives, it is perhaps time to reiterate just how fantastically lucky we Canadians really are.

First, let's consider the basics:

Food - Thanks to our hard-working farmers and fishermen, the country has no shortage of foodstuffs. What's more, the prices (compared to most other countries) are among the lowest in the world.

The Japanese, for example, spend about 40 percent of take home pay on food products, and the West Germans about 30 percent. Canadians lay out a lowly 22 percent, which is not bad at all.

Energy - We may complain about the high price of oil, gas and electricity, but at least we have an adequate supply. In fact, Canada is now a net exporter of energy.

Shelter - Canadians are among the best housed people in the world and, compared to people in other nations, the cost is reasonable. One need only consider the tiny size of apartments in Japan or even Europe to understand how well off we are.

Wealth - On a per capita basis, Canadians are among the wealthiest people anywhere. We have such an abundance of land, water, minerals and other resources that people in other countries have difficulty understanding why we haven't developed them to a greater degree.

Support Systems - Through such programs as unemployment insurance and social assistance, Canadians are guaranteed that they won't starve and that they will have a roof over their heads. Medical care and education is available to all, and virtually anyone can receive a university or technical school education at bargain basement prices.

The support system may not be as elaborate as some would like, but it surely provides all needy Canadians with the basic necessities.

Lifestyle - With a relatively low crime rate and few racial problems, Canadians live in a peaceful environment that impresses most visitors to the country. In addition, we have a democratic system of government that provides the freedoms denied to a great proportion of the world's population.

Canadians, it seems, are introspective. We complain about our seemingly horrendous day-to-day problems, giving little thought to the hundreds of millions of people who go to bed hungry.

So perhaps it is again time to take stock. No matter what the news headlines may suggest, Canadians are very well off indeed.

Marsh World

WHITE-TAILED or VIRGINIA DEER (Odocoileus virginianus) - This attractive animal invaded the Canadian prairies during the nineteenth century, following settlement in these regions. The open range, plentiful with poplar and willow bluffs, provided ideal habitat for the deer. Today, they are extending into the northern forest regions. White-tails remain hidden for most of the day, feeding in evening and early morning on twigs, buds, leaves and fruit. Their numbers fluctuate greatly due to disease, predation and starvation. During winter they often seek shelter in thick growths of tall marsh cane.

Past comes to life at Fort Beausejour

How long could Fort Beausejour, located in the Chignectou region of New Brunswick, have held out if the Governor of Quebec had given it the men and the funds needed for its defence? No one knows. History tells us only that after a four-day siege, Commander Duchambau surrendered to Lieutenant-Colonel Winslow on June 16, 1755.

Rebuilt and enlarged several times in the years following, Fort Beausejour was declared a national historic park in 1926. Through the archaeological discoveries made at the site, life in the fort during that era is recreated for visitors. Documents also make it easier to understand the importance of the battle that took place at this site and the surrender which eventually contributed to the expulsion of the Acadians from the region.

Heart Fund - Over The Top

At the close of its fiscal year, the Canadian Heart Fund, Ontario Division, has reached its $8.45 million annual campaign objective.

The 1983 campaign which was conducted during February in Ontario exceeded its goal by $28,611. Door-to-door canvassing, special events, corporate solicitations, the sale of Roses for Research and In Memoriam donations; all contributed to the final total of $8,478,611.

Bequests and other sources of income combined with campaign receipts will allow the Ontario Heart Foundation to allocate $11,200,000 to heart disease and stroke research in Ontario, for the 1983-84 granting period.

In presenting his report, Alex D. Broomfield, the 1983 Canadian Heart Fund Chairman said, "The residents in the Province of Ontario can be proud of their substantial contributions to the crusade against heart disease and stroke. Evidence to date, that research has paid off, is in the fact that the overall death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases, for people under 65 years of age, is down 27% since 1953. Marked reductions have been achieved in deaths due to stroke. In heart attack, the single leading cause of death in Canada, the decline has only been 11%. He continued by saying that the residents of Ontario have endorsed the work of the Ontario Heart Foundation, through their continuous support over the years and that vital medical research in the area of heart disease and stroke will continue to receive the financial support of the Foundation.

In conclusion and on behalf of the Canadian Heart Fund, Ontario Division, Mr. Broomfield expressed "heartfelt" thanks to the thousands of volunteer workers and canvassers in the Province, for their tremendous support of the 1983 Campaign.

Fishing derby and fish fry at Charlottenburg Park on Saturday

[MORRISBURG] - Cast your lines for famous Lancaster Perch on Saturday, August 13, as The St. Lawrence Parks Commission and The Lancaster Inn host a fishing derby and fish fry at Charlottenburgh Park.

Charlottenburgh Park is located 19 km east of Cornwall off Highway No. 2, Interchange 127 on Highway No. 401.

Anglers of all ages are invited to test their skills. Prizes will be awarded to the fisherman catching the largest fish in each class. Following the derby, hungry competitors can satisfy their appetites at the fish fry and discuss the one that got away. The rain date for this event will be Sunday, August 14.

This accident occurred at the intersection of Hwy. 31 and 43 near Winchester last Friday as the driver of the overturned truck swerved to avoid an oncoming car. The truck flopped over on its side dispersing sand along the highway but managed to miss the approaching car. No injuries were reported.

Firm has crush on auto wrecker junks

[CARDINAL] - Every twelve months or so a couple of men from Baker Brothers Iron and Metal pay a visit to Martelle Auto Wreckers to crush a couple of hundred cars.

Last week was just the time for the Ottawa scrap metal firm to visit and the result is two clear fields available for the newest onslaught of junks to arrive.

"We have to make more room for cars," Don Martelle said as the whine of crushing machinery provided background accompaniment. "It fills up quite fast."

The brother of the wrecking company's owner, David Martelle, Don said the scrap metal workers cleared the front field of junks last winter but it has already been refilled with the latest crop of relics from the road.

Last week the workers cleared two fields in the back portion of the property located about one mile west of the Shanly Road overpass of Hwy. 401 along the service road.

Mr. Martelle said the wreckers remove the motor, aluminum strips, tires, radiators and any other working parts before relegating the stripped chassis to the auto graveyard and subsequently the crushing machine. The motors are then shipped to a foundry where Mr. Martelle said the metal is melted and fabricated into stoves while the light steel is sent to a Brockville company which buys it and sells it to other mills.

For about ten years Martelles have been using Baker Brothers to clean out the yard. The Ottawa firm shreds the crushed metal at its Ottawa plant and it is then shipped to Eastern steel companies such as Ivaco in Hawkesbury where it is melted down and made into coil wire.

At one time, Mr. Martelle said, Baker Brothers supplied a bulldozer to crush the vehicles and load them on a flat bed truck but this was a messy job and parts of the cars hung out from the side of the truck.

A subsequent change in government regulations prohibits such loads from hanging over the edges of trailers and for the past six years Baker Brothers has supplied a portable crushing machine to make the job tidier. The machine is transported to jobs all over Eastern Ontario and western Quebec via flatbed truck.

Denis Turcotte and Bob Brady, Kingston residents, are hired by Baker Brothers to operate the machinery at specific job sites. "We're independent brokers," Mr. Brady said, "and have been associated with Baker for five years."

The men spoke to The Chieftain reporter after pressing a load of four cars. Usually the crusher can handle three cars at a time. Mr. Turcotte said, but the Martelles strip the vehicles so thoroughly it will take four at a time on this job.

He said the crusher, available only in the United States, provides 25,000 pounds of pressure per square inch and is worth well over $100,000. It is manufactured by Mac Corporation of Dallas, Texas and operates hydraulically.

Mr. Brady operates a Case tractor equipped with prongs for lifting junks into the machine and after they are crushed it removes them to wait for the flatbed trailer which hauls them to Ottawa. The flatbed makes three trips each day loaded with between 24 to 29 cars, Mr. Brady said.

"We crush about 100 tonnes per day," he said, "that's between 75 and 100 cars."

After the brief chat, the men resume working. Mr. Brady, seated high in the tractor, hunting down the elusive vehicles that have rested for years in the field, the undergrowth worming its way through the interior.

He flashes the forks quickly and efficiently, penetrating the rust-prone bodies or smashing through glass windows and heaving the prey high into the air - another sacrifice for the incessant demands of the crusher. Another body removed from the graveyard.

The Case tractor removes the remains of four automobiles crushed into a sandwich by machinery owned by Baker Brothers Metal and Iron of Ottawa. The machinery was on site at Martelle Auto Wreckers north of Cardinal for much of the last week as some 300 vehicles were removed from the fields to make room for the newest batch of cars.

Simulated training disaster on Sunday

[CARDINAL] - If a disaster occurred in this area, what would the emergency departments such as fire, police and ambulance do?

To find this out, the emergency services in this area are planning a mock disaster on Sunday, August 14.

It started out to be a training session for the four local fire departments said Cardinal's Deputy fire chief James Grant. When the Cardinal police force was told that a training session was in the works, Police chief Dwight McLaughlin was interested in joining in the training exercise and then the ambulance service became involved. Now it is a joint training exercise for the three emergency services.

On Wednesday evening, July 27 a meeting was held at the Cardinal Fire Station to plan this mock training disaster.

Present at this meeting were Cardinal Fire Chief Fred Campbell and deputy-chief Grant;

Fire chief Ralph Dukelow and deputy chief Jim Purcell of the Edwardsburg Fire dept.; Fire chief Willard Duncan and deputy chief Gary Banford of the Iroquois Fire dept.; deputy chief Bill Lawrence of the Prescott Fire dept.; Police chief McLaughlin and Constable David Woodford of the Cardinal Police Force; Sgt. Karl Kindervater, Prescott Police Force; Sgt. Don Pettigrew Prescott O.P.P. and Derril Buchanan, Operations Manager of the St. Lawrence and District Ambulance Service.

At approximately 12 noon on Sunday the simulated disaster will begin. The disaster will be a Canada Starch rail tank car loaded with combustible material derailing and bursting into flames at Highway 2 and Queen Street.

This area was chosen because there is lots of space, a good water supply, and generally considered a safe area, said police chief McLaughlin.

"We are hoping that spectators will come and see there emergency services at work," said Deputy chief James Grant.

"We as police officers are interested in seeing how we would handle crowd control if a disaster was to occur and I hope that the spectators will co-operate with the police forces if necessary," said police chief McLaughlin.

There will be an emergency care center set up at the Cardinal Fire Station to look after the casualties. The casualties will be volunteers who will have tags on them with a variety of injuries, which the emergency teams will have to treat.

At the care centre, there will be a doctor and several registered nurses and registered nurses aids to treat the injured. Mr. J.P. Tessier of Brockville will film this exercise to be used by the emergency services for training purposes, later. There will also be people in the crowd, who will act as observers.

The ladies Auxiliary of the Cardinal Fire department will supply refreshments at the disaster scene for anyone participating in the training exercise that is tired or that the heat is getting to.

The simulated training disaster should be over at approximately 3:30, at which time there will be a critique at the fire station to discuss any problems that occurred during the operation.

If the weather is bad, the disaster will occur on Sunday, August 21.

Without the co-operation of the Cardinal, Iroquois, Edwardsburg and Prescott Fire Departments, the Cardinal Police, Prescott Police, Prescott Ontario Provincial Police and the St. Lawrence and District Ambulance service this training exercise would not be possible.

Use caution with miracle fertilizers

Studies by Agriculture Canada researchers suggest Canadian farmers should avoid buying fertilizer products not registered for sale in Canada.

Agriculture Canada regulates fertilizers for sale in Canada, but farmers can buy unregulated foreign brands abroad and bring them back for use in Canada.

It is relatively easy for western farmers close to the U.S. border to cross over and buy an unregulated product or order it by mail.

David McAndrew, a soil scientist at the department's Swift Current, Sask. Research Station, says the station has tested several unregistered fertilizers over the years to see whether they measure up to performance claims.

"It seems many products make claims that cannot be supported by scientific evidence," he says.

"Farmers would be well advised to stick to fertilizers that comply with Canadian fertilizer regulations because they will know what they are getting."

In Canada, manufacturers seeking to register fertilizers with less than 24 per cent of the major plant nutrients combined must provide supporting data to verify the constituents of the product. They must also provide proof that the product can fulfill any claims made.

Most fertilizers are sold without specific performance claims since nutrient contents are greater than the required minimums.

Farmers sometimes look to so-called "miracle products" as an answer to the high costs of nitrogen, phosphorus and other fertilizers, Dr. McAndrew says.

"Agricultural researchers are continually looking for ways to increase farm profits," he says. "We have yet to find any miracles."

"Sound management practices is the best path to profitability," he says.

"This includes appropriate use of recommended rates of registered fertilizers."

Let's visit Nova Scotia — The Land of Evangeline

By William H. Nault

The American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow made Nova Scotia famous in his romantic poem "Evangeline." The partly fictional poem tells how French colonists called Acadians were driven from their homes in Nova Scotia by British colonial troops. The poem gave part of the province the nickname "Land of Evangeline."

Acadia was a French settlement when the French and English began their long struggle for possession of North America. In 1713, the Peace of Utrecht gave Acadia, except for Cape Breton Island and Prince Edward Island, to England. The Acadians became a problem for England because they sympathized with the French. They encouraged Indian attacks on English settlements.

In 1755, British colonial troops from New England deported Acadians who refused to take an oath of allegiance to the British King. About 6,000 men, women, and children were sent away to the American colonies further to the south. After enduring much hardship, some of the people returned to Nova Scotia in the 1760's to live in peace.

Dr. William H. Nault is the Editorial Director of The World Book Encyclopedia.

Fort Edward a national historical site

Although the word "blockhouse" inevitably conjures up pictures of structures built by the Germans during the Second World War, Fort Edward in Windsor, Nova Scotia testifies to the fact that this type of structure had its forerunners right here in Canada.

Only the blockhouse of Fort Edward, built in 1750, has been preserved; the other three buildings have been destroyed. The fort played an important part in strengthening Britain's hold on Nova Scotia, a territory which until that time belonged to British in name only, as the French were openly supported by the Indians in the area and tacitly supported by the Acadicians who lived there.

The Fort Edward blockhouse, which has been a national historical site since 1922, provided excellent protection against the arrows and portable weapons of the time. Attackers could be repelled through the square gun ports on the upper floor, the gun loopholes on both levels (large vertical slits cut in the walls themselves) and the machicolations, openings in the floor of the overhang of the second level which allowed the defenders to fire upon attackers unwise enough to take refuge below.

Even today, looking at it on the small rise overlooking Windsor, visitors are struck by the blockhouse's appearance of invincibility.
