A BOY'S LIFE SAVED!

A Grateful Mother Writes About The

Rescue of Her Child.

Paine's Celery

Compound

Triumphed After a Physician's Failure.

Mrs. C. Stone, of Eganville, Ont., grateful for the rescue of her little boy from death, writes as follows:

"I think it my duty to inform you of what Paine's Celery Compound has done for my little boy. He became very ill, and had the attendance of our physician, but no good results were apparent. The dangerous turn to which my boy was subject became more frequent, and always worse in winter. He would become pale as death, feet and hands icy cold and vomiting always followed. He seemed to be powerless and for days could not lift his head from the pillow.

After trying various kinds of medicine we decided to get Paine's Celery Compound for him. One bottle made him well, and since that time he has not been ill. I have every reason to believe he is permanently cured."

In face of such testimony, who can deny the fact that Paine's Celery Compound saves life? Hundreds of such letters as Mrs. Stone's are on file for the inspection of doubters.

When your children are nervous, fretful, despondent, sleepless, weak, rundown, have loss of appetite, slow circulation of blood, and decreasing in weight, give them Paine's Celery Compound for a week or two, and note with the cheering results in returning health and vigor.

We strongly urge the immediate use of the great medicine for all sickly and weak boys and girls.

Preventing Potato Scab.

Care should be taken not to plant potatoes in soil where scab has been prevalent in previous years. One of the commonest sources of the distribution is in the tuber itself. Before potatoes are prepared for planting they should be treated by soaking them in a solution of corrosive sublimate, made by dissolving one ounce corrosive sublimate in seven gallons of water, in which the tubers should be soaked about one and one-half hours. The solution is poisonous and should be handled with care. Potatoes treated with it should not be eaten, but only used for planting. Put the potatoes in an old sack and hang in the solution.

Turn them out, drain and thoroughly dry the tubers before they are cut and planted.

The formalin treatment has been found very satisfactory and not so poisonous.

Put one-half pint formalin or formaldehyde, as it is sometimes called, in fifteen gallons water. Soak the potatoes in this solution for two hours. Drain dry and cut as above. Either of these materials will kill the scab germs and practically prevent its occurrence unless fresh germs are in the soil. On the whole, the for-

Toronto-Ottawa Service.

Ottawa, March 26.—When the Grand Trunk Railway was completed at Renfrew, it is expected that the Grand Trunk Railway Company will put on a train service between Ottawa and Toronto, going by way of Canada Atlantic from Ottawa to Renfrew, and thence over the Grand Trunk to Toronto. The distance will be about the same as that between Ottawa and Toronto over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The other three stations to be erected in Ontario and Quebec, viz., at Woodstock, St. Hyacinthe, and Cowansville, will be of the same dimensions as the Brookville station.

Troops to Go to the Coronation.

Ottawa, March 21.—A despatch has been received from the British Government extending an invitation for a military contingent to attend the coronation ceremonies. It is thought probable that a detachment as large as that which appeared at the late Queen's Diamond Jubilee, and perhaps even larger will be sent by Canada. It can be safely assumed, also, that the contingent will not be confined to troops who have served in South Africa.

Memorial Service.

The following memorial sermon in memory of the late James George Stephenson, who died of enteric fever in South Africa on the 14th of March, was preached by his late pastor, Rev. J. M. Kellock, in the Presbyterian Church at Morewood on Sunday morning, March 23rd, 1902. He took for his text, Revs. 2:13—"Antipas my faithful martyr," and said:—"A large crowd was assembled in London to bid good-bye to a regiment ordered out for service in South Africa. The band struck up and the crowd sang the stirring patriotic song having the refrain: 'Rule Britannia! Britannia rules the waves, And Britons never, never, shall be slaves.' In the lull that occurred after the piece was sung a woman was heard to sob out: 'Yes, Britannia! Rules the waves, but she takes our boys from us.' On inquiry it was found that she had lost two sons in the war.

These sons were faithful martyrs to the cause of the empire. No other way can empires be maintained, it would seem, as the world is at present constituted. Without shedding of blood there is no remission of sins, and without shedding of blood also there is no possibility of the building of great states. Men die and are buried, and over their graves their fellows march to victory. Coral islands rise and by their death the coral islands die in beauty above the waves. 'Life is ever fed on death.

In earth, and sea, and sky, And that a rose may breathe its breath Something must die.

'Antipas my faithful martyr,' says my text, and it gives us all that the world knows of the man. How he died—whether he was flung to lions, or beheaded, or crucified, we know not. This we know that he was faithful. He did not shrink or flinch. He lived unknown and died without the crown of public applause, but he did his duty.

So it was with the brave old hero today. He did his duty without the tributes of notoriety. It has gone out in all the papers that he is dead. We know not how he spent his last hour, what he said, what treatment he received. To the readers of the papers in general he was only an unknown member of the South African Constabulary. They would quickly read the item and turn to something else. The generals, the leading men, get columns of space when they die. Every minute circumstance connected with their taking off, every word they utter dying are chronicled. The world takes care of them. But 'only a private' they say, they say, 'he died, he fell. Yet my friends, if each one does his duty in his place, this is all that can be asked. General Wanchow was faithful as a martyr for his country's sake, when he fell at Magersfontein. James Stephenson was faithful when he tripped over the velvet, and when he lay in hospital breathing his life away. So to each the great captain of their salvation would give the 'well done' for each was faithful.

It is said that in the despatches of the Duke of Wellington the word 'duty' often occurs, the word 'glory' seldom or never. Such a man he would say, did his duty, such a regiment did his duty, and that he himself was trying to do his duty, and that he was a faithful martyr. We are apt to think that the only heroes are those that shine in the public eye and receive the general praise. Not so. The Admiral who walked the quarter-deck on his flag ship at Santiago was not more to be praised than the stoker, who sweated beneath the hatches, as he threw the coal to help ply the engines with motive power and keep up the pace in pursuit. Each was faithful and what more could be asked?

'Antipas my faithful martyr.' Antipas died by violence for his religion. And although that is now no longer allowable, there is a martyrdom that is daily and hourly while that was quick in operation and soon over. That martyrdom James Stephenson and others had to endure. A returned South African hero assumed me that the fighting, dreadful as it was, was nothing to the marching, lack of food and good water that had to be borne day by day. A missionary from South Africa told me that water is scarce, and that the cattle would not drink here. The heat by day, the cold, biting winds by night, the exposure, as the men lay on the open plain, the hard riding, the scarcity and irregularity of the food, the hard water, the constant danger and dread, the distance of friends and home associations, these things, these things, my friends, they form never ending martyrdom.

Beholding by the sword, or the bite of lions ends life at once. Harder to be borne would be the incessant stinging of wasps.

James Stephenson wrote me a letter, that arrived three weeks or so ago, in which he said he had much to be thankful for if young men knew what was involved in their action they would be slower to enlist, 'but,' he said 'it is no use to complain.' Antipas, my faithful martyr. It is a great consolation to us that, as he wrote to me, he read his bible regularly far away in that distant land. No doubt God blessed that reading to his soul. When a man is reading God's word in doubt whether he might live through the day in which he read it, when he read it afar from home and loved ones, with the tender memories of church and Sabbath school, of companions and friends softening his heart, assuredly his teachings would take hold and be rested upon for eternal salvation. God grant that it was so. It is my joy that the bible he read in those last days was my gift to him. If it led him to his Saviour how glad I shall feel for ever.

Now, friends, there is a lesson for all in his country's service was there defending his country and yours and mine, as our representative, and wherein he was faithful he reads us a lesson. 'O my accented of the Holy Ghost. The headless world has never lost. It is not necessary to be a soldier to be a hero. All men and women who do their duty as in God's sight are heroic, whatever that duty may be. It is the spirit in which we work and not the work itself that brings the glory or the reverse. Let us do our tasks 'So bravely, so nobly, so well Angels will hasten the story to tell.'

And James Stephenson will not have died in vain if the thought of him bravely and uncomplainingly facing hardships and death helps us to such a disposition. Mother, sisters and brother before me, do not forget that your son, your brother, died a noble death. His name will be on the roll of his country's heroes, who, in the ranks obeyed the general's commands, and fought for the maintenance of our great empire.

He might say to the girls, 'Tell my sisters not to weep for me, And sob with drooping head, When the troops come marching home again, With glad and pallid tread, But to gaze upon them proudly, With a calm and steadfast eye, For their brother was a soldier too, And not afraid to die.'

It is glorious to be a soldier in the Market Day.

The market on Tuesday was very brisk and a large quantity of live stock offered for sale. Mr. Vene Robinson purchased 380 calves, 180 hogs, 2 cows, 1 sheep and 3 horses. When we consider that there are fifty two slaughtering days in the year, and with the quantity shipped each week it seems as a surprise to all of us where the stock comes from.

Dr. Ellis, although only being a resident of our village for a short year, has made many friends and is master of his profession and enjoys a good practice. As to his better half the people of her residence speak in the highest terms and many from this place with whom she is acquainted.

The doctor has rented the residence in town erected by the late John Wholehan and will occupy their new home in a few days.

An Extraordinary Attraction.

A Vauderville Company of exceptional merit has been booked for Foster's Opera House for all of next week commencing Monday, March 31st. Willard and Evans, Royal Entertainers is the name of the organization and if they are one half as good as those who have witnessed their performances say they are, certainly it will be one of the best companies that has ever visited Chesterville. Mr. Foster has been trying to book them in his house for some time and has at last succeeded. The company consists of ten people and varies from elocution to a quartette of singers and dances. Mr. Willard, the manager, is a member of many fraternal societies among them the A.O.U.W. and L.O.F. The program is most highly. One night of their performance is the entire absence of vulgarity or even suggestiveness. On Monday night every gentleman buying a reserved seat ticket is entitled to take a lady free of cost.

The Late Mrs. Beaman.

The news of the death of Josephine Maria, daughter of our old and respected resident, Mr. W. N. Barrie and wife of Dr. W. C. Beaman of Ottawa, came as a shock to our residents on Monday morning. The deceased's constitution was weak and she had been in poor health for some time, and was here visiting her father, and also for a change of air, in the hope that it would benefit her health. Although not feeling very well, still she was not confined to her bed entirely. On Monday morning she had given the girl her breakfast order and when she returned found the deceased in a critical condition. She at once alarmed the household and medical aid was summoned, but on arrival life was extinct. The deceased was 37 years of age and leaves to mourn her loss a husband and loving child of about a year old, together with a kind father and mother and sister and many relatives.

A short service was conducted at her father's residence here on Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Wm. Pearson and Rev. A. Russell, after which the remains were conveyed to the depot to be forwarded to her former home at Ottawa.
The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from 94 Waverly street to Beechwood cemetery.
The bereaved have the sympathy of many friends in this district in the ordeal in which they are called upon to bear.

Foster—Shaver—That we now adjourn till March 22nd.—Carried.
An adjourned meeting of the board was held on Saturday evening. All members present except Mr. Hamilton. Report of committee re plans for new school house.

Your committee report as follows:—
"They visited Winchester and inspected the school house there and carefully examined into its heating and ventilation. The conclusion arrived at is that a six-room school, constructed somewhat on the lines of that building, but consisting of two stories only and a basement, and heated and ventilated by the same system—the Smead Dowd—would meet the requirements of this village for many years to come. Your committee, however, are of opinion that a work of such magnitude, and involving such a large outlay, should not be entered into hastily—time and care should be taken in deciding on the best plan of building, and time for preparation, in order to secure the best results with the closest economy. They, therefore, recommend that all needed steps be taken this year for building next year—that the site be decided on and secured at once—that tenders be called for and contract let—and all other preparations made this year for the erection and completion of a new school house during the year 1903.

Your committee are indebted for assistance and for information in regard to the Winchester School building to Mr. John Braithwaite, who is prepared to get out plans and specifications and furnish estimate as to cost of school building here if so desired by this board.

Signed,
MILES BROWN, M.D.
F. McCloskey.

Soule—Shaver—That the report of the committee appointed to enquire into probable cost, etc., of proposed new school house be adopted, said report to be read by the secretary.—Carried.

Soule—Shaver—That the chairman be instructed to interview Mr. Wm. Smith, re policy of insurance on present school property.—Carried.

McCloskey—Shaver—That the chairman and C. J. Soule be and is hereby appointed a committee to interview Mrs. Barnes and other property owners in connection with enlarging present school site and purchase what land they deem necessary and make report at next regular meeting.—Carried.

Shaver—Foster—That we now adjourn until the next regular night of meeting.—Carried.

A FATAL MISTAKE.
A BROCKVILLE NURSE TAKES BILCHLORIDE OF MERCURY FOR EPSOM SALTS.

Brockville, March 23.—A terrible case of accidental poisoning occurred today at the General Hospital, when a nurse in training named Miss M. E. Jackson, aged 24 years, by mistake swallowed a large dose of bi-chloride of mercury for psom salts. The bottle was labelled salts, and it is difficult to understand how it came to be filled with the deadly poison. She lingered five hours, then died in terrible agony. A searching investigation was instituted this afternoon by Coroner Jackson and considerable evidence was heard, none of which threw any light on the subject. The lady superintendent, Bursar Phillips and the senior nurse in training denied filling the bottle in question. It was shown that Miss Jackson filled a bottle with bi-chloride of mercury in the dispensing room under the direction of the bursar, and it is possible she may have made a mistake in solution. Mr. Phillips swore he did not notice the label. The inquest will be resumed tomorrow night.

Take

Burdock Blood Bitters

This Spring

is better advice.

During the winter, heavy rich foods are necessary to keep the body warm. When the spring comes, the system is clogged up with heavy sluggish blood; you feel tired, weary and listless and that all-gone, no-ambition feeling takes possession of you. If you take Burdock Blood Bitters it will regulate your system, put you into condition and make you feel bright, happy and vigorous.

The Spring Feeling

VARIABLE SPRING WEATHER DIS-ASTROUS TO WEAK PEOPLE.

EVEN USUALLY ROBUST PEOPLE FEEL

RUN DOWN AND OUT OF SORTS AT

THIS TIME—DR. WILLIAMS'

PINK PILLS ARE THE VERY

BEST SPRING TONIC.

The spring months are a trying time to most people. At no other time of the year do health and strength seem so hard to gain and to hold. You do not feel that you are really sick, but you feel about as bad as you could if you were seriously ill. That feeling ought to be got rid of—and it can be. What you need is a tonic to enrich the blood and free it from impurities which have lodged in your system during the winter and which are responsible for your present condition. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only reliable, never-failing tonic medicine. These pills make new, rich red blood, strengthen the nerves and bring health and vitality to every organ in the body. They are an ideal spring medicine and the best thing in the world for all diseases having their origin in impoverished or impure blood. The case of Miss Belle Cohoon, White Rock

Mills, N. S., is strong corroboration of these statements. She says:—"Three years ago this spring I was very much run down. The least exertion exhausted me. I seemed to lose ambition and a feeling of languor and sluggishness took place. My appetite failed me and my sleep at nights was disturbed and restless. In fact I was in a pitiable condition. After trying two or three medicines without benefit, I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and in a few days I began to feel better. I have since used the pills in the spring and I find them an excellent tonic."

Because of their thorough and prompt action on the blood and nerves, these pills especially cure anaemia, rheumatism sciatica, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, scrofula, and eruptions, of the skin, erysipelas, kidney and liver trouble and the functional ailments that makes the lives of so many women a source of constant misery. Other so-called tonic pills are mere imitations of this sterling remedy. Get the genuine with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing The Dr.

FLOODS SWEEP AWAY BRIDGES.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN NOVA SCOTIA DUE

TO A WEEK OF STEADY

RAINFALL.

St. John, N. B., March 22.—The rainfall which commenced last Monday still continues, with the result that much damage has been done by the destruction of bridge and the logs in different parts of the Province. The Chief Commissioner of Public Works estimates that so far the floods will cost the Province fully $50,000, while individual losses will aggregate large sums.

To day's reports show that there are still further damages to highways and bridges. At St. Martin's, St. John's Co-nty, a mill dam has been broken by the freshet, and about 100,000 feet of lumber carried away. At St. George, Charlotte

County, the water is a foot higher than ever known before. A bridge across the Magaguadavic, three miles above St.

George was carried away and lodged against the Shore Line Railway bridge.

The latter is shifted off its foundation, and there is danger of it going too.

The big ice jam in the Nashua, York County, broke Thursday night, and carried away two bridges. There was a wild rush of water, which overflowed the banks of the river for miles. A family named McPherson, who resided near the river bank were awakened by a rush of water through their house. Mrs. Mc-Pherson and her daughter, aged 30, attempted to escape from the building.

Both were carried off their feet. Miss McPherson was drowned a few yards from the house. Her body was recovered yesterday. The mother succeeded in getting a place of safety. The South Miramichi has run down and jammed near Millerton, and is piled up for over three miles, being twenty feet high in some places. Trains to Fredericton from Chatham were cancelled to-day, owing to washouts.

Lumbermen operating in the upper St.

John were fortunate in the meager portions of their cuts by the streams, but the operators near St. John will suffer greatly.

A large bridge in Albert County was carried away, also, a couple of bridges in Westmoreland County.

Care Of Harness.

The life of a set of harness may be very considerably prolonged by the exercise of a little care in its treatment. When from accident or neglect harness has been soiled, it can easily be cleaned by washing with castile soap. As a dressing for keeping leather or harness pliable there are many preparations upon the market. Cod-liver oil of the cheaper grades is now largely employed for this purpose instead of the neat-foot which our forefathers used in such quantity for the preservation of their harness. One of the great advantages of using cod-liver oil is that rats and mice usually give a wide berth to any harness or other appliances dressed with this oil.—Ex.

One of the useful articles which should be in the possession of every stockbreeder is a clinical thermometer. This delicate little instrument may be obtained from $1.50 to $2. The temperature of farm animals is averaged at 100 degrees Fahrenheit by most persons. The following temperatures will, however, show the variation in the different animals. In the horse, while in health, at rest, the normal temperature is 100 degrees Fahr., in cattle 102 degrees, in the pig, 102-5 degrees, and in the sheep 103 degrees. Any material variation from these figures should always be regarded as indicative of constitutional disturbance.

When the temperature in either of the animals referred to is more than a degree above or below the figures given it may be taken as a certain indication that the health of the animal is not what it ought to be. With regard to the method of the clinical thermometer, we quote from Hopkins' "Veterinary Elements": "The temperature of animals is usually taken in the rectum, while in health, the thermometer is allowed to remain from 1 to 3 minutes.

Always shake the mercury down in the thermometer before using it. To do so, place the instrument bulb down between the finger and thumb, then with a wrist movement shake the thermometer in a downward direction. The bulb of the thermometer should have a little vaseline put on it before introducing it into the rectum. It should be introduced slowly, and if any obstruction is met with, should be turned between the fingers and its direction changed slightly."

BIG ATTENDANCE AT THE SMITH'S

FALLS MEETING.

Smith's Falls, March 19.—The Provincial Grand Lodge of Ontario opened its annual meeting here this afternoon.

The attendance is one of the largest of recent years, the commodious Workmen's Hall being to-ally inadequate to accommodate the large crowd present, and for to-morrow it has been decided to meet in the Town Hall. All the Grand Lodge officers were in their places, and additional interest and importance attached the opening session by the presence of the Most worshipful Supreme Grand Master of British America, Dr. Sproule, M. P.

The usual standing committees were appointed, to whom the various reports were presented. The Grand Master and
