Honour Mrs. Eva McInnis

Mrs. Arthur McInnis (Eva) of Iroquois, for sixty consecutive years, has been a most active and faithful member of Iroquois Branch of the Women's Institute.

During these years, Mrs. McInnis has acted as President and Secretary in the local branch with two-year terms each time, as well as held other offices in the Institute. She was a District President and also a District Secretary, with 3-year terms for each, and acted as Provincial Director for a 2-year term.

In recognition of Eva's loyal and intellectual efforts of her work in making the Iroquois Women's Institute a success during the past sixty years, some of the local members gathered at her home on Friday afternoon, April 26th, 1974, to spend a social time with her.

A cup of tea and dainty refreshments were enjoyed.

On behalf of the Iroquois members, a lovely gift was presented to Mrs. McInnis, along with an appropriate gift card.

In her usual jovial manner, she thanked the Institute for the beautiful gift and said she appreciated their kindness in coming to her home and having a visit.

For the past year and a half, Mrs. McInnis has not been enjoying good health, but the members of the Iroquois Institute, as well as her many many friends, wish her a speedy recovery back to good health.

CHILD SAFETY WEEK: MAY 1-7

The first seven days in May is traditionally Child Safety Week. The Canada Safety Council asks householders to check the contents of "child-accessible" cabinets and cupboards.

Forty children died in Canada in 1972 due to accidnetal poisonings. The tragedy involves not only the forty young lives snuffed out, but also the number of people who will blame themselves for ever after for not seeing that toxic substances were placed out of reach. This can be just as important in a home a child visits as one in which a child lives.

Here are some of the items to watch out for, starting in the basement or garage: half-used cans of paint, insecticides, rat poison, turpentine, weed killer, cleaning solvents and fertilizer.

Your kitchen might contain some of these useful but sometimes deadly products; see that they are kept in a cupboard with a child-proof latch: lighter fluid, furniture or floor polish, lye, polish stripper, drain cleaners, bleach and detergents. Also see that aspirin and medicines are not left in that handy spot on top of the refrigerator.

Children can be silent while doing something they should not do; silence upstairs might mean a child has found one of the following in the medicine cabinet: pills, medicine, sedatives, laxatives, antiseptics, nail polish remover, etc.

Manufacturers can design good bottles or cans, Governments can insist on label warnings but only you can keep things out of children's reach in your own home.

ADELAIDE DANIELS SAYS

The Wonderful Society of Walkers

Let me introduce a distinguished and rapidly growing society: the walkers. They are anonymous, unorganized, without a constitution or by-laws. Some have a favourite daily walk; some will walk anywhere, any time.

Most walkers are sociable people who would like company. But a walking companion is not easy to find. Most friends will come to dinner, parties and stay up until any hour, but few will go walking — unless there is a destination in mind.

All walkers, whether they are on a diet or not, should begin by practicing good nutrition. Eating the right foods which contain maximum nutrients with minimum calories is the key to a slim and healthy life. By starting good nutritional habits, we can begin to change what we eat and when we eat, in order to maintain ideal weight and keep fit. It is important that we eat regularly and to the point of being sated.

If you are on your way to your ideal weight, but you sometimes feel discouraged and depressed, go for a walk. Put on your most comfortable shoes. Walk with your head up, take long steps, let your arms swing freely and easily, and deepen your breathing. Keep a good rhythm, not necessarily fast but steady. See how your mood changes, how the dark colour of your thoughts becomes gradually brighter. Low spirits will not accompany you very far on a good walk. Psychologists remind us again and again that the mind cannot remain depressed when the body is in motion.

Walking preserves health and lengthens life. It relieves tensions, insomnia, chronic fatigue and a host of minor physical and mental complaints that drag down the spirit and body and take the joy out of living.

Free-striding, free-swinging, rhythmic, unhurried and unharried walking is the perfect aid to digestion, elimination, circulation and relaxation of mind, body and spirit.

Believe me, walking can do all these things for you, and furthermore it is a very special pleasure. Why not make it part of your daily routine? Join the walking society today and see what a difference it makes in your life!

4,000 NEW GRAIN CARS

The Minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board, Otto Lang, announced that the federal government has ordered 4,000 hopper cars at a cost of more than $100 million to help establish a first-class grain-moving operation in Canada.

Mr. Lang said this latest move is in keeping with a commitment made by Prime Minister Trudeau and by Transport Minister Jean Marchand last summer in Calgary at the Western Economic Opportunities Conference.

The federal government will also pay half the cost of repairing 2,400 boxcars to be returned to Western grain service.

FISHING REDUCTION

Canada will ask the Government of the Soviet Union to cut back its fishing operations in the Gulf of Alaska to prevent further depletion of already low halibut stocks.

"The halibut stocks are already in a sorry state," Fisheries Minister Jack Davis said. "The blame lies with the foreign fishing fleets, especially that of the Soviet Union."

Continued concentrated fishing in the area will adversely affect the catches of Canadian fishermen when the season opens May 17.

I MEET A LADY IN HER NIGHTIE

by Bill Smiley

Last week's column, if you recall, had a smashing ending. It left your hero asleep in a small hotel in a small town in Germany, Lahr, home of most of the Canadian Nato forces in Europe.

Up betimes, after 14 hours sleep, and tottered down to the dining-room, smelling for coffee. Hadn't eaten for 16 hours.

And it was there, sipping a coffee and cognac, in an effort to get the bones moving, that my crazy kid brother, the Colonel, found me at 7.30 a.m. We exchanged our usual fond greetings.

Him: "Hello, you clot. Just up? Supposed to be on our way."

Me: "Hello, clot. Yes. Who cares? I'm dying."

Him: "You're getting a little thin on top, like Dad."

Me: "You're getting a little thick in the middle, like Mum."

The contrast between us was never clearer. He was spic and span, gold braid gleaming, fresh-shaven, full of beans, ready to hit the road for Ramstein, his base. I was in a rumpled flannel shirt, sock feet, unwashed, unshaven, uncombed, and ready to hit him for showing up so early.

He's always like that. And I'm always like that. He comes flying out of nowhere, talks a blue streak, tells a hundred stories and goes dashing off to somewhere. I come dawdling out of somewhere, sit around as taciturn as a turtle, and go dawdling off to nowhere.

He's a hustler; I'm a poke. Perhaps that's why he's a colonel and I'm more of a kernel.

Anyway, it's a great combination to throw together for a three-day crash course on Germany — a hustler and a poke.

I must say we didn't have a cross word in those three days. Although I admit I thought he was going to have a baby when he came to pick me up for lunch with the Commander-in-Chief, a four-star general, and found me still in bed. That was at 11.30; lunch at twelve noon sharp "And you don't keep generals waiting and we have fifteen miles to drive." We made it with 19 seconds to spare.

And he wasn't exactly chortling when we started off to catch the plane home and after we'd driven like a bat out of hell for ten minutes, I observed, "Gracious to goodness, I've left all my money in your apartment; we'll have to go back." He didn't say a word, but there was steam coming out of his ears, and I think he lost a fair bit of enamel off his molars.

But that was later. Let's go back to Lahr, where I left you breathless to read what would happen next. There we are. He is hustling me out of the hotel and I am dawdling and poking in his wake.

Lahr is something of a company town, with the Canadian forces as the "company". The town itself has about 17,000 people, plus 12,000 Canadians on the periphery. A big industry for the town.

There are about 5,000 Canadians in the military. The rest are made up of families, teachers, and assorted odds and sods.

Canadian forces there make a real effort to get along with the German community and are closely knitted with it. Interestingly, the Canadians do all their dealings in German marks, while the Americans, at their bases, deal in U.S. dollars.

At Lahr, the Canadians publish a lively daily newspaper, Der Kanadier; have their own churches; excellent schools; and sports facilities galore. But of course, it isn't home.

And the troops never forget that they are there on serious business, not on a European holiday.

I received an impression, perhaps wrong, that the Canadian forces feel that they are somewhat forgotten, that the folks at home are rather apathetic about the boys in dark green, the "violent, obedient ones" out there on the periphery with guns.

This is not exactly assuaged by the heavy cuts in our armed forces in Europe. These have been cut approximately in two, from 10,000 to 5,000. The land forces are down from a brigade to a brigade-group. The air arm has been whittled from twelve squadrons in 1954 to three squadrons of attack fighters in 1974.

This hurts, if you are in the service. But morale is high, despite the ancient Centurion tanks, and we have cracking good troops in the front line, made up of tanks, commandos and infantry.

In the air, we have, to quote a well-informed source (my brother), "The best pilots in Europe", and he means it, with no blarney. They are all fighters, and they have a vital role called "first attack". More of this later.

But let's get back to Lahr, and get on with this wretched trip of mine. My brother is now hustling me into his car. The town is pretty with spring flowers everywhere, a change from blizzards. There is a branch of the Bank of Montreal. And there is Jack Thomson and his wife.

He's a first cousin of ours. They live in Winnipeg. It could happen only to me. I fly four thousand miles to savour the ancient hostelries, cathedrals and castles of old Germany, and I wind up sitting at a kitchen table talking and drinking with a cousin I've met once before in my life.

I don't think we'll make it to Ramstein, destination, but we'll have a try next week.

Social note for Western readers: Cousin Jack was in his underwear, and his wife in her nightie, when we arrived.

TWO GREAT STORES UNDER ONE ROOF

Milk Committee Holds Dinner and Dance

The Holstein herd of Carl Smith of Chesterville, was named tops for that breed in Dundas County last Sat. night.

Carl Smith accepted the plaque from agricultural representative Tom Clapp. Don Rose, Mountain Township, was named top Ayrshire producer. The plaques are presented annually with each winner having his name inscribed on a name plate. Carl and Don have won the awards for the second year in a row.

District farmers and guests were out in full force last Sat. night for the annual Milk Producers Smorgasbord and Dance held in North Dundas District High School.

Nora Fawcett, Dundas Dairy Princess and Heather Innes, Ontario Princess were introduced and Miss Innes, in a short address, gave an insight into her activities as Ontario Princess. One of the highlights of Heather's reign, as related by her, was a tour of Dundas County farms.

"One of the more pleasant tasks I have been asked to perform in my life is the one that I have been asked to do this evening. It is one that I step into with trepidation, for I have neither the words or the time with which to do it justice" related chairman Lorne Strder, Brinston, Ont.

"As I look over the crowd gathered here this evening, I recognize several old faces and yet there are many which are new. I wonder if they remember or have heard the history of our industry, the struggles, the aches and pains, and the achievements.

The amn whom, we would like to give thanks to this evening for his untiring commitment on our behalf, is a man who could write several chapters in that history text on the milk industry. I recall that not that many years ago, our industry was a collection of several boards, committees and marketing systems. I remember the problems the headaches and the frustrations. Then in 1965 the Minister of Agriculture and Food brought forward the Milk Act, which led to the Milk Commission and the Ontario Milk Marketing Board. He then named twelve men to represent all the various regions, which represented the milk producers of Ontario.

The man chosen to represent the region, compiling the counties of Frontenac, Leeds, Grenville and Dundas was the former President of the concentrated Milk Producers Association. The position was a two year term, after which the producers were asked to elect their own representatives. This man has been our representative since 1966 and we truly hope that he will continue to be. He was the first vice-chairman of the board from 1966 through until 1972. He has served all the milk producers of this region faithfully, not only as a board member and representative but also as a committee member on many sub-committees of the board. He has always been aware of the problems in our district and in the last two years we all know that there has been a few. He has always been quick to respond and keep the board aware of the situation. I believe that I can say of this man that with his ability to analyse the situation and project the future responses and actions, is truly a strong man on the board.

It is one thing to be a strong member in one light, but there is also the fact that this man has and is a strong member of his community and the local scene. He is a father, a grandfather and a hard-working farmer. Yes, he and his family own and operate a successful dairy farm operation outside the village of Winchester" said Lorne.

"What this man has done, and is continuing to do, is no easy feat, for any man. It takes a special type of person to handle what has been this man's burden for many years. Yet, I do not want to forget some other people who have helped make this all possible, his family. I would like to point out that they have to have been, and are, of a special breed to carry the extra load and bear up under the stress that must accompany this man into his home at times" continued the chairman.

"I doubt that there are very many people in this auditorium this evening who do not know of whom I am speaking. We all have reaped benefits from this man's efforts and achievements. He is a man of whom we can justly say has not only contributed greatly to the milk industry but the agricultural industry as a whole in Eastern Ontario. It is often the habit that we never appreciate the efforts of a strong work horse until we hang the harness up for the final time. Yet we felt that it was time we appreciated the man in the harness. I would ask that all of you join me in showing our appreciation, as I call upon our neighbours, our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Guy. Orville, would you please come forward.

Lorne then presented Mr. and Mrs. Guy with a certificate of merit on behalf of the committee and its members.

The lights were dimmed, the music good and the large crowd of over 500 danced to the music of the Ottawa Valley Melodiers.

Novices "B" Champs At Brockville

After a three-week layoff, the Iroquois Novice team came through to take the "B" Championship at the Brockville Hockey Tournament on April 20.

Steven Thompson was our only marksman in the first contest as we suffered a 4-1 loss to Brockville.

However the boys found their skating legs for the second game and defeated Gananoque 2-1. One goal was scored by Frank Lee on a penalty shot while the other Iroquois tally came from the stick of Darren Hall.

Iroquois edged Cardinal 3-2 to take the consolation final. Frank Lee had a 2-goal performance and Bobby Kirker added the other marker. Kevin Ault in goal came up with the big save late in the game, when he stopped a Cardinal penalty shot.

Congratulations are in order for this team along with their coaches Bill Lee and Lloyd Lowry, as they have the most tournament wins of all Iroquois Minor Hockey teams.

The first meeting of Iroquois Minor Softball was held on Tues. April 23 at 8 p.m. in the Council chambers. Elections were held and the new slate of officers are as follows:

A lot of parents who carefully shop for flame resistant pajamas and other clothing for their children, are seriously defeating the fabric's finish by improper laundering.

Flame resistant cottons, for example, should be washed with phosphate based detergents. Soaps or non-phosphate detergents build up a film on the fabric that covers the vital chemicals in the material causing it to lose its flame resistancy.

Phosphate detergents are not in favor, however, because of their contribution to water pollution and are not sold in many areas. If they are available where you live, you're faced with either adding to water pollution or jeopardizing your child's safety.

Fortunately, there is a solution to this dilemma — non-phosphate heavy-duty liquid laundry detergent. These detergents are citrate based and protect both your local water supply and flame resistant fabrics.

Be careful when shopping for this detergent, however, just as you have to be when purchasing the flame resistant clothing to begin with. Look for the words "heavy-duty" and "citrate based" to be sure you are getting the right product.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5875, London, Ontario.

22nd Annual Meeting

"Voluntary agencies today are facing their greatest challenge in their long record of outstanding service", said George H. Beck, National President of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. He was addressing the 22nd Annual Meeting of the Ontario Division Board of Management, held at the CNIB in Toronto on April 11. In the same address to 24 District Advisory Board Chairmen and Representatives in attendance, Mr. Beck added that well defined objectives, in the areas of service delivery, human resources, and a general "enhancement of the visual quality of life by insisting publicly on good typography, architectural design for mobility, and recognition in higher program standards of media, radio especially - for listening, will assist CNIB in meeting these challenges. Challenges brought about by a rapid rate of change in expectations and expenditures in social welfare and the acceleration of technology by the spin off from war and space research."

This year, for the first time, advisory board chairmen participated in a special seminar. Conducted by J. E. Caruk, Director, Ontario Division and W. Carl Weber, Chairman, CNIB Ontario Division Board of Management, these seminar discussions examined "The Role of the CNIB Advisory Boards".

Three additional talks studied the topics of Vocational Guidance for the Blind, and Child Education. G. C. Whetstone, Superintendent of the W. Ross Macdonald School in Brantford, Ont., one of the most modern braille schools for the blind in the world, described services available to school age children. "Cooperation between CNIB and the school, said Mr. Whetstone, "Has helped many young blind students to continue their education at the post-secondary level; 115 students in this year alone."

The CNIB's children's department adds to this valuable cooperation between agencies and Miss Daisy Ho, Supervisor, told the Chairmen that proper placement of blind and partially sighted children in the public school system is a major concern for her department. "Educators must give blind children a most precise education as to the world around them. An education that will encourage a blind child to investigate and fully understand the most simplest process in life." she said.

In the final presentation, Mr. Boyd Hipfner, Coordinator, Vocational Counselling Services outlined the programs that assisted over five hundred persons in finding suitable vocations in 1973.

All the visitors were most enthusiastic about this year's meeting. Mr. John S. Corbett, of the Dundas County Advisory Board said that the seminars "encouraged general suggestions from each area and helped district advisory board representatives to realize the total CNIB concept."

Ogdensburg Entry Approved In Dundas Fastball League

For the first time ever, a Brockville man was chosen to serve as president of the Dundas Fastball League. At the annual meeting held in Cardinal recently, Bob MacDonald, manager of the Commercial Stars, was elected as league president for 1974, succeeding Des Keays of Domville.

His partner on the executive will be Al Levere of Prescott, returning for a second year as secretary-treasurer.

The five established Dundas teams all returned and gave unanimous approval to an application for entry from Bob's Tavern of Ogdensburg. The American club solved its problem of securing a playing field and a spokesman for Bob's, Jim Foote, said he was planning to bring in several players from Potsdam, N.Y which would help make them a contender.

Several Brockville players have also been members of the Ogdensburg team in the past few seasons for tournament play and may be signed to play with Bob's in the Dundas League.

The league members said approval would have to be given to players signed by Ogdensburg. All teams are allowed tohave up to 18 on cards and the deadline for filing the roster will be June 28.

Returning to the Dundas league again are Cardinal Pats, Williamsburg Pioneers, Kemptville Squires, Domville Aces and Brockville Commercial Stars.

The league constitution was reviewed at the annual meeting but few changes were adopted. Games will remain as seven innings during the regular season with ties played out to completion with no curfew.

With the addition of Bob's Tavern, the league schedule also jumped from 16 to 20 games and the top four finishers will qualify for the playoffs. The playoff matchup for semi-finals was changed to have the first place team meeting the fourth place club and second take on third.

The league secretary will draw up the schedule and it is expected to start around May 15.

The headaches of securing and scheduling umpires for Dundas games will be possibly avoided this season as the teams agreed to use the services of the newly-formed St. Lawrence Valley Umpires' Association.

This association is being headed by Lee Merkley of Iroquois, an experienced umpire who was recently named a special convener by the president of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association.

Mr. Merkley made a pitch to the league at the meeting and outlined the plans of his group. He said he has been in contact with about 25 area softball umpires who are interested in forming an association and the purpose is "to give better umpiring in a more uniform way" to area teams.

Mr. Merkley is still attempting to contact more umpires, especially in the Brockville area, to join the association. There is no membership fee but each applicant would be asked to join the OASA Umpires' Association and pass tests given at clinics held in the area.

The St. Lawrence Valley Association will guarantee the league two crested OASA umpires for each game and will assume the responsibility of ensuring that they are at the area ball diamonds on time. Mr. Merkley would look after the scheduling and his proposed fees announced last night were seven dollars for the bases and seven dollars for the plate during the regular season with no additional money for extra innings. Travelling costs would be one way for one car.

He is attempting to expand the membership and has called a meeting of all interested umpires for Wed. May 8 th at the municipal building in Iroquois starting at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone wishing further information should contact Mr. Merkley in Iroquois at 652-4421.

Expansion Program For Cardinal Plant

Construction is due to start in the immediate future on some of the major segments of the multi-million dollar expansion program recently announced for the Cardinal plant of The Canada Starch Company Ltd.

In an interview with M. E. Fee, President, it was learned that construction will begin soon on an addition to the Steep House to provide for four additional steeps and all associated wet starch milling equipment sufficient to increase capacity about 25%.

In addition, a new triple effect evaporator plus additional germ-drying and expelling equipment will be installed.

Engineering is also underway on additional feed and gluten dryer requirements. Extra capacity for the glucose-corn sweetener refinery is also included in the program.

Mr. Fee said, "We are going ahead to increase the capacity of the Cardinal plant in order to meet the increased demand expected for starch and corn sweeteners. Another factor making this expansion necessary is the high level of activity in the paper industry and the resulting heavy demands for our products by this industry."

Village Care-Units Meet Again

A meeting of the Iroquois Village Care-Units was held in the Presbyterian Manse on Tuesday, April 23rd with 16 representatives present. The Rev. John Hibbs, as host, welcomed the representatives, covering eleven care groups of the community.

An up to date presentation was made on the "Meals on Wheels" program which has been endorsed 'in principle' by the eleven groups present, with four endorsements pending. It was noted that recipients of a hot noon hour meal, in their homes, and five days a week at a cost all can afford without anyone being denied the need, had reached a total of 21 deliveries in one week. Senior citizens, disabled and post-operative people are considered the priority in determining need, but it was noted that any emergency situation, requiring "Meals on Wheels" would also be answered.

Plans for the continuation of the program were discussed and it was unanimously agreed by all present that "meals on wheels" has become an ongoing care program of the community. It was also agreed to extend the limits of deliveries to the third concession in Matilda Township as requests are received and interviews made.

All representatives also approved requesting volunteer lists from their organizations to assist in deliveries, home-visiting and assistance in cooking the meals, the same to be given to the present manager by May 8th. A schedule will be drawn up and given to each organization, noting the date and time of volunteer service.

Financial enablement of the program through the Local Initiatives Project grant was continuing and 'to get the program going'. Opinions were voiced as to the extent of enablement required for the program to be ongoing after the project grant was completed and the consensus reached was very encouraging, in terms of the minimal needs required to support "Meals on Wheels", the government grant having provided all the necessary equipment.

A tentative brochure explaining the program and who can benefit from it, was presented and following discussion and changes to same, it was agreed to have the young people of the churches deliver them to all the homes in the village for everyone's information. Considerations to increase the cost to recipients of the meals were not acted upon at this time, the groups deciding that it was not presently warranted.

Requests from groups outside of the village to hear about the program were noted and the program sponsors and volunteers will consider this kind of promotion of a worthwhile need in other communities.

A very informative and helpful meeting was closed with representatives planning to gather again in the latter part of May.

Those present were: Rev. Brian Gee, Iroquois United Church; Mr. Charles McInnis, Zone 23, Senior Citizens of Ontario; Mr. Frank Rooney, Iroquois Village Council; Mrs. Parker Locke, Dundas County Red Cross Homemakers Service; Mrs. Wilfred Haggarty, Legion Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. Edythe Norton, Mrs. Betty Whyte, Good Companion Board of Directors; Mr. Harry Gilmer, Lions Club; Mrs. Marlene Shearer, Knox Presbyterian Women; Mrs. Leo DeBellefeuille, Mrs.

Everyone deserves the opportunity to get the best possible education.

This is what Ontario is doing to see that you get your chance.

The government here in Ontario believes that no one should ever be deprived of a higher education simply for lack of money. And, we're doing something about it... through the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP).

OSAP consists of government-financed loans and grants designed to help qualified Canadian citizens and landed immigrants pay for their higher education. And they are based on need, not on academic achievement. The loans are interest-free until 6 months after graduation, and repayments don't begin until then. The grants don't normally have to be repaid at all.

Already, 2 out of 5 students at Ontario universities and community colleges receive some form of financial assistance from OSAP.

If you would like to know what assistance is available, how to apply for it, and how much you may be qualified to receive, contact the Student Awards Officer at the institution of your choice.

Nuisance Beaver

The consistant increase in beaver populations in Eastern Ontario since the early 1960's has resulted in considerable damage by flooding and felled trees.

It is understandable that many landowners, farmers, cottagers and municipal officials are at odds with this industrious little "emblem of Ontario". Evidence of the beaver's fight for survival in an agricultural area is seen in the dams blocking ditches, creeks, waterflow and flooding occurs. The result - acres of farmland are now in scrub land. The beaver holds no respect for ornamental trees on cottage lots. Down they come to provide doof and the cottage owner has the "leftover" to clear away.

To turn from the nuisance qualities let us look at the beaver's beneficial acts. The dams built by him create natural ponds used by duck-hunters, watering areas for deer and farmer's cattle and the water can be used for fithting bush fires. The community benefits from the winter work supplied to trappers (20,000 pelts per year - averaging $20.00 per pelt).

However the beaver, like everything else (including people) must be managed and controlled. With research, severalmethods of control have been perfected. The best results have occured when the landowner notified a good local trapper, or the ministry of natural resources, at the first sign of beaver on their property. Trapping during fall and winter, when the beaver are established in their colonies, eliminates the nuisance problem for the coming year. The landowner should watch for migrating beaver moving onto his property and contact a trapper immediately.

When the beaver have been eliminated, the dam must be removed to restore the free flow of water. This responsibility lies with the landowner, although some trappers will blow the dam if the dynamite is supplied.

Landowners following this method of control have not had serious flooding situations. Problems do arise when the landowner has personal views against having the beaver trapped. A problem also arises when landowners give permission to several trappers to remove the beaver. Confusion results, and each trapper might assume someone else was doing the job.

A trapper should be engaged who takes 100 or more beaver a year, a proven trapper rather than one who takes as few as three or four.

A problem arises when absentee landowners cannot be located and permission obtained for a trapper to remove the beaver.

With the large number of experienced beaver trappers in Eastern Ontario receiving good prices for pelts, no landowner who had a problem in 1973 should experience one in 1974. However his situation must be reported to a trapper or the ministry of natural resources.

For assistance in locating a good trapper or assessing a beaver problem, call your local ministry of natural resources: Lanark 259-2108; Ottawa 822-2525; Brockville 342-8676; Cornwall 933-1774; Napanee 354-3389; Tweed 478-2330.

FIREWORKS SUPERVISOR COURSES PLANNED PROVINCE-WIDE

A program of 36 free Courses for Ontario has been authorized by Energy, Mines and Resources Canada to train personnel as "Fireworks Supervisors", the Ontario Safety League announced today.

This action comes as a result of revisions last year to the Canada Explosives Act. Exhibition-type fireworks displays, traditionally marking many of our annual celebrations, must now be fired under the direction of a qualified "Fireworks Supervisor".

Qualifying Courses are open to responsible persons 18 years of age and over who will be in charge of community fireworks displays.

There is no Course fee. Travel arrangements and any other personal expenses are the responsibility of candidates. Courses are 4 hours in length. Successful candidates receive a Fire-
