Archbishop of Milan New Pope

Cardinal Achille Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, has been chosen Supreme Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church to succeed the late Pope Benedict XV. His coronation as Pius X1, will take place on February 12.

Chesterville 4, Finch 3

Last night at Finch the Chesterville Cyclones practically swept Finch off the map, when they blew into that village and left them nursing a 4 to 3 defeat, in the last game of the schedule between these teams. The game was the fastest and most exciting of the series, the large crowd being kept on tip toe when for five minutes of each period Finch went into the lead on each of their scored goals. The joy was, however, short-lived as the tieing goal followed quickly, with enough of the Cyclones' sting left to put across the winner with seven minutes playing time still to go.

Chesterville 5, Morewood 2

On Saturday evening at Morewood, Chesterville hocheyists scored their third successive win over the Garnet and Greys in a league fixture. The previous encounter in Morewood developed into somewhat a strenuous affair and Saturday's game had every tendency of repeating had not Referee Denneney nipped all such capers before they got well under way. By the end of the second period Chesterville had gathered a margin of three goals while Morewood had failed to score. In the last session each scored twice, ending with 5 to 2 for Chesterville.

Active in the Methodist Ministry at 83 Years

Mr. D. Beattie received a letter this week from his cousin Rev. Joseph Hamilton of White River Junction to be remembered to his many friends here. He has been a member of the Conference there 56 years, which is six years longer than any other member now in that conference. Last Sunday he preached at Marshfield where he was pastor 55 years ago. In 4 weeks he has to go to Danville, 70 miles distant to preach where he was pastor 20 years ago. He also is Chaplain of the State Senate And so he keeps actively engaged and interested in his life-work.

Berwick 4, Finch 0

Contribuied by Berwick

Friday night viewed by spectators,
Are you aware?
There was a hockey match at Berwick
That made people stare.

When the visiting team Finch,
Came back full of pep.
But, went home with the thought,
That, Inman did guard well his net

And those who'd deny it;
Would sure have some gall.
To say, Hank and Lorne,
Are not a stone wall.

Gordon, the blues centre man,
Who was full of cute tricks,
Which were jumping and throwing
The Finch boys' sticks.

Did Andy score?
Why that's a cinch.
If you doubt my word,
You just ask Finch.

We mustn't forget George,
How he did work;
From beginning to end,
He did not shirk.

While smiling Foster,
Missed all the fun;
If he had been there,
I'll say, it would have been six to none.

Now, when the game was over,
Finch thought it was punk,
The joke of it was,
They took home their skunk.

The Late Wilburn Hess

There occurred at Nation Valley the sad and early death of Wilburn Hess on Sunday, January 29th, at the age of eighteen years, eight months and twenty three days.

All that medical skill and loving hands could do was done but without avail. Wilburn was a kind and loving boy very much liked by all who knew him. A very appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. A. J. Sinclair in Trinity Methodist Church, after which the remains were placed in the vault at Maple Ridge. He leaves to mourn a father, three sisters and one brother.

The floral tributes were, a wreath from the family; a pillow from Mr. and Mrs. Spearman Fawcett; a wreath from the boys and girls of Nation Valley.

In Memoriam

Barkley—In loving memory of my dear mother Mrs. Thos. Barkley, who entered her eternal rest Jan. 26th, 1917.

The winter snow is sweeping
O'er a grave there all alone.
My mother lies there sleeping;
Makes a memory all my own.
When she breathed her last farewell.
The stroke was more than we could tell.
This earth seemed quite another place,
Without the smile of mother's face.
God took her home it was his will.
But in my memory she liveth still.

Inserted by her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Durant, Hoasic.

JOHN DETSON, HERO

Contributed by Scout Maurice Beckstead.

"It's going to be a hummer," remarked Duncan Mackenzie, the factor, pausing to remove his snow-covered adickey and shake it into the storm porch before closing the door. "The wind is rising and it is cold enough to freeze a dog," he continued, when he had hung his cap and adickey upon a peg and had seated himself beside the big box stove in the living room. "It's fifty degrees below zero now, and the snow is coming faster and faster. We're in for a nasty storm. It's fortunate that you reached here. You won't get away to morrow, either."

After travelling with dogs and sledge down the Eastern coast of Labrador, I had arrived that afternoon at the Nascaupee Inlet Post of the Hudson's Bay Company. On a previous journey to Labrador, I had tarried several days at the post as Mackenzie's guest, and he welcomed me now with the cordiality of an old friend.

"If I can't travel, there's some consolation in the fact that I shall have a day or two of your companionship. I'm sure that's worth a Labrador blizzard, any time," said I.

"It's no small matter to be caught out in such a storm," he remarked.

There was a knock on the door leading into the kitchen, and the door was opened by a native lad, perhaps seventeen years of age. He carried his cap in his hand, the hood of his adickey was thrown back, and locks of brown hair hung loosely about his ears. His skin tanned by constant exposure, was nearely as dark as an Indian's. I noticed, too, that his eyes were blue, and that he looked at me in a straightforward, fearless, though deferental manner as he greeted me with a frank, "Good evening, sir."

"Good evening," I acknowledged.

"I've locked up, sir," said he to Mr. Mackenzie. "Is there anything you wants?"

"No. John; nothing more tonight."

"Good night, sir," said he, nodding to both of us as he backed out.

"There is a hero, if there ever was one," remarked Mackenzie, as the boy closed the door. "Yes' sir, and he has a sister who is a heroine. They talk about the bravery of men in battle, but that boy did what few soldiers would dare to do. He faced a storm that's blowing to-night, to save his father's life. There isn't a man on the coast who would have done it He's minus four toes on his left foot because of it, and he was in bed three months, suffering tortures."

"Teil me about it" said I. "When did it happen?"

Mackenzie arose stuffed some chunks of wood into the big box stove and resumed his seat by the roaring fire.

A Scout Smiles

Want of laughter means want of health. Laugh as much as you can; it does you good; so whenever you can get a good laugh, laugh on! And make other people laugh, too, when possible, as it does them good. If you are in pain or trouble just make yourself smile at it, if you remember to do this, and force yourself, you will find it really does make a difference.

If you read about great Scouts like Captain John Smith, "The Pathfinder," and others, you will generally find that they were cheery old fellows. The ordinary boy is apt to frown when things don't go to suit him, but the Boy Scout is required to smile all the time; he loses a mark from his Scout score every time he frowns. So, "Pack up your troubles in your old kitbag and smile, smile, smile."

The Old and The New

Then

I left my dad, his farm, his plow.
Because my calf became his cow;
I left my dad—t'was wrong of course,
But my pet colt became his horse,
I left my dad to sow and reap,
Because my lamb became his sheep;
I dropped my hoe and hit New York,
Because my pig became his pork;
The garden truck I made to grow,
Was his to sell and mine to hoe;
Believe me, too, I had to hoe—
There was no riding down the row.

Now

With dad and me it's half and half;
The cow I own was once his calf;
I'm going to stick right where I am,
Because my sheep was once his lamb.
I'll stay with dad—he gets my vote,
Because my hog was once his shoat.
No town for me—I'll stick right here,
For he's made me a tractor-engineer
It's "even split" with dad and me
In a profit-sharing company.
We work together from day to day,
Believe me, boys, it's the only way.

Quite Unreasonable

First Farmer: How much did you get for your 'taters?

Second Farmer:—Wall, I didn't get as much as I expected and I didn't carculate I would."

o o o

Not Very Much

A hobo knocked at a back door and a lady came out. "Please mum," he asked, "could you do a little sewing for me?"

"What sewing would you like me to do?" she asked.

"I have a pair of buttons, and if you'd be so kind as to sew a pair of pants on 'em, I'll be much obliged."

Telling Direction by Your Watch

Have you ever been lost? If so, you will readily recall to mind your feelings when you suddenly realized the fact; at the same time wishing for the knowledge of some method of locating yourself or at least some way of knowing any certain direction. Well, if you had had your watch along, the difficulty would have been solved quite easily. When the sun is shining, (or it can be done on cloudy days) assuming that you have a watch, a very handy method of finding the North—and thus any other direction—is as follows:—

Hold the watch out flat on your hand and stand a lead pencil, or a small straight stick, on the end of the hour hand and turn the watch until the shadow falls along the hour hand and through the centre of the watch. Suppose, for example, the hour hand pointed four o'clock and the shadow fell along a line pointing to ten;

Now, half-way between the end of the hand and twelve o'clock is either North or South. A good thing to remember is that the bisection (half) of the shorter distance between the hour hand and twelve o'clock is always South, between the hours of 6 a. m. and 6 p. m.

o o o

Sign-Reading

The following incident is a typical example of "deduction" in which good Scouts are always proficient. It consists simply in being wide awake to all "signs" and in being able to take meanings out of them.

A cavalry soldier had got lost and some of his comrades were hunting all over the countryside for him, when they came across a small boy, and asked him if he had seen the lost man. He immediately said: "Do you mean a very tall soldier, riding a roan horse that was slightly lame?"

They said, "Yes, that was the man. Where did you see him?" The boy replied, "I have not seen him, but I know where he has gone."

Thereupon they arrested him, thinking that the man had probably been murdered and made away with, and that the boy had heard about it. Eventually he explained that he had seen tracks of the man which he could point out to them.

Finally he brought them to a place where the signs showed that the man had made a halt. The horse had rubbed itself against a tree, and had left some of its hair sticking to the bark, showing that it was a roan horse; its hoof marks showed that it was lame, that is, one foot was not so deeply indented on the ground and did not take so long a pace as the other feet. That the rider was a soldier was shown by the inprint of his boot, which was an army boot. Then they asked the boy: "How could you tell that he was a tall man?" The boy took them to a tree from which the soldier had broken off a twig which would have been out of reach of a man of ordinary height.

Archibald Carruthers Passes Away

On Sunday morning, Jan. 29th, a well known and much respected citizen passed away at his residence Crysler, in the person of Archibald Carruthers in his 64th year. The deceased was the eldest son of the late Wm. Carruthers of Winchester Tp., and was born on the Carruthers Homestead near Cannamore in June 1858, in which locality he resided, receiving his education at the Cannamore Public School. In Jan. 1880 he was united in marriage to Elizabeth, third daughter of the late Andrew Gordon of the Tp. of Winchester, and at once took up farming on part of the home farm, which occupation he followed until about two years ago, when owing to poor health he gave over his farm to his sons and moved to this village, where he has since resided. On October 7th, 1893, his wife died leaving four sons, all of them growing to manhood. On January 1st, 1895, he married Annie, daughter of James Gainer formerly of Morrisburg, who survives him. In 19 00 the deceased and his family moved to his farm North West of Crysler, where they have since resided and where their labors were rewarded with success. The deceased was of a quiet, reserved disposition, a deep thinker, and a man of sound judgment. The funeral took place on Tuesday from his late residence to the Crysler Presbyterian Church, services being conducted by his Pastor, Rev. R. J. Wilson of Finch, assisted by Rev. F. L. Jobb of Morewood. The sermon was a very appropriate one, the pastor taking for his text Isaiah 57 th Chap. 1st verse—"The righteous perisheth and no man layeth it to heart: And merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come." The minister spoke very kindly of the deceased and referred to him as a man of many virtues and one who would be greatly missed by the community. After the service the remains were conveyed to the Morewood Presbyterian plot. Besides his widow, there are left to mourn the loss of a kind and christian father, six sons and four daughters, viz, Hector of Cannamore, Lorne and Geo. O. of Hargrave, Man.; Walter, John and Grant of Crysler; Hattie, wife of Harold Baker, Nation Valley; Annie, wife of Stanley Nugent of Berwick; Maggie and Ida at home. There are also two brothers and two sisters, viz: Andrew of Camrose, Alberta; and Steven of Manatilla, Man. Sisters—Christena, wife of John O'Neill, Hargrave, Man.; and Martha, wife of Chas. Miller of Berwick. The pall-bearers were—Messrs. J. A. Coons, J. A. Cockburn, Wm. Paul, John Currie, Arthur Burd and Henry Armstrong.

The floral offerings were—

Pillow, The Family.

Pillow, Mr. and Mrs. John McDermid.

Spray, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller.

The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the sorrowing family in their sorrow and bereavement, and the general expression is that a good man has been removed from our midst. School mate. Crysler, Feb. 7th, 1922.

Berwick Married Men 4, Riverside 3

One of the fastest hockey games of the season was witnessed in Berwick on Wednesday evening Feb. 1st., when the Riverside Giants came up against the Berwick Roughriders, the home team winning out by the small margin of one goal. The ice was fast and at no time through the game was the interest lacking, but at times the enthusiasm of the spectators seemed almost beyond control. Berwick defence proved a wonder, Dillion, Rutley and Marsellus at times breaking through the entire forward line unwounded, only to be met by L. Hutt and Jos. Meilleur who showed remarkable courage and taught the Berwick regulars some new tricks in body checking. Fortunately the fence was always handy as many times it proved most effective in checking speed which otherwise might become uncontrollable.

Delbert Hutt and Chas. Thompson time and again dashed through the line only to find the poke check of Pollock and Baker most effective and the nets ably defended by McPherson. The Riverside team labored at a disadvantage owing to John Bogart, their star defence man having been laid up with a sprained ankle Unfortunately the list of Subs. was limited which put an undue strain on the players. The game was ably handled by Andrew Ouderkirk, who only twice found it necessary to penalize when M. Baker and L. Hutt were sent to the box for one minnte each, which speaks well for the quality of the play as well as the temperment of the players.

Riverside—A. McPherson, goal; F. Marcellus, M. Baker, defence; R. Dillion centre; B. Grady, R. wing; A. Rutley, L. wing; W. McIntosh, Geo. Pollock, spares

Berwick—D. Casey, goal: L. J. Hutt, Jos, Meilleur, defence; R. Smith, centre; D. A. Hutt, R. wing; C. Thompson, L. wing; P. Raymond, A. Ouderkirk, spares

Language of Our Fathers

"The Farmer" of St. Paul calls our attention to a good lesson. In 1867, in northern Missouri, with the Civil War two years in the background, two farmers were sitting on a worm fence talking hard times. Money was scarce and interest high, hogs were a drug on the market, corn was worth fourteen cents and oats not worth hauling to town over the bad roads Eggs were being gathered by the housewives to be sold at eight cents a dozen. The farmers sat on the rail fence and talked about hard times, but they faced them, paid for their farms and sent their children to school.

In 1893 the sons of those two farmers stood near the same spot discussing the hard times. Again, clouds of gloom hung over the puzzled heads of the farmers. They were black days for the men who were trying to raise crops and pay for the r farms, and these two men, talking there, even went so far as to threaten to move to the city and start all over again. But they stayed and went through and won a place ahead for their children.

To-day the grandsons of 1867 are sitting in their automobiles lamenting the hard times, poor markets and low prices. All their lives, they have had more luxuries than their ancestors had comforts, but they are talking the language of their fathers just the same.

Then "The Farmer" reminds us of a poem Abraham Lincoln kept above his desk in the White House, "We are the same as our fathers have been." Yes, we are; but in America each generation forces its way ahead and wins a better station and opportunity for its children. And the price we have to pay makes us appreciate the blessings.

Effect of Word in an Agreement

The importance of even a single word in a legal agreement was shown Saturday in the Supreme Court of Ontario, when Mr. Justice Lennox heard the case of the Imperial Bank vs. W. J. Kidd and others of a syndicate who signed a bond, providing for advances from the bank to the Central Canada Horse Depository, Limited.

According to evidence given by all the defendants, they signed the bond in accordance with a request made in a letter they received which stated that the bond was for $5,000. The bond consisted of several typewritten pages, and towards the end it atated that those signing were "jointly and severally responsible for the sum of $5,000 each."

The word "each" made the bonds into one for $50,000. The bank sued to recover an amonut in excess of $5,000 which the syndicate have paid. Judgment was reserved.

40-Year Sentence Cut to Two Years

The Attorney-General's Department on Saturday received word that the forty-year sentence imposed upon Steven Zowisluk by a Parry Sound Magistrate, for breaking a lot of windows in that town had been reduced to two years on each of the two charges against him, the sentences to run concurrently. Zowisluk is now in the Kingston Penitentiary and has served nearly two months of his sentence. The reduction of Zowisluk's sentence to ordinary proportions was due to intercession of Hon. E. Raney, who took the matter up with the Ottawa authorities.

Urges County Control of Rural Public Schools

(Havelock Standard)

The substitution of county control of education for the present district system of school administration by trustee boards was recommended by Public School Inspector Broderick in his report to the County Council last week. Inspector Broderick claims that the present system, once a necessity, has now become absurdity; that it has outlived its place with the tallow dip, the flint and steel and other primitive devices. If any satisfactory and reasonably rapid improvement is to be made in our schools the change must be made without waiting for public request for better things, said Inspector Broderick. "I have the most profound conviction that real progress in rural education lies in substituting county control of education for the present district system." In Inspector Broderick's opinion a board should be partly elective and its members should be paid for their services, just as members of the County Council. By such a board the educational interests of the county would be looked after, not neglected. Teachers could be selected with greater care than is used at present, and there would be fewer misfits in appointments and a uniform rate of taxation over the county.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Choking and Gasping for Breath Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. PENNINGTON

NEW ROCKLAND, P.Q.

"In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered with it during the winter. I began having Choking Spells—gasping for breath and could not speak. I would have one of these bad spells in the evening, one during the night, and one in the morning. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

"In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and in a few days, the choking spells stopped, and I have had none since May 7th, 1920. I have so wanted to tell other sufferers who have the same trouble about "Fruit-a-tives" for I know how they must suffer.

Some thought the Asthma would come back on me as winter came on but it has not, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives" Mrs. J. M. PENNINGTON.

Dangerous Matches

Mountain Herald.

The public's attention is drawn this week to the purchasing of, and where keeping of the match boxes, as Doctor Ferrier's beautiful residence, in the west end of town escaped last week, probably from a mass of ruins, over an ordinary 15c box of matches, left on the shelf in his office. They became ignited somehow, and only for the Dr's. youngest son Lyle, who immediately pulled the matches down and got thom out, probably a big fire would have occurred. These matches are chemically treated, and in several instance around here of late seem to catch by spontaneous combustion. Keep your matches in a tin-box for safety.—

Death of Sanford Colquhoun, Woodlands.

The many friends of the family were very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Sanford Colquhoun, which occurred at his home at Woodlands on Jan. 22nd, The deceased who was in his 29th year, was a son of the late Alexander Colquhoun and was born at Gallingertown. He is survived by his widow, his mother and three sisters and three brothers, to whom the deepest symparhy is extended. He was ill only two weeks of pneumonia. He was held in warm regard by a large circle of friends by whom he will be greately missed. The funeral took place on Jan. 24th, from his late residence to St. David's Church and Cementery, Wales, the service being conducted by the Rev. G. G. Wright, Rector. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Harry Wert, Herbert Markell, George D. Colquhoun, Frank Campbell, Frank McCleverty and Cyril Campbell.

Matilda Must Pay

The Workmen's Compensation Board gave a decision that Bella Thompson, widow of Aden Thompson, who was accidentally killed last summer while working for the Township of Matilda should be paid $70 00 a month by the Township for the support of herself and her children. The Township appealed from thus decision and the Board at a rehearing confirmed the former decision. We understand that a Municipality by paying a small sum yearly to the Compensation Board can have the Board assume the risk which a Municipality otherwise takes and the Council of Iroquois would be well advised to consider the matter carefully.—Iroquois News.

Parliament to Meet Wednesday March 8

Parliament will be summoned to meet on Wednesday March 8, it was announced, following Friday afternoon's meeting of the Cabinet Council, which lasted until after 7 o'clock in the evening, The first day's business will be limited to the election of a Speaker, while the formal opening, with the delivery of the speech from the throne, will take place on Thursday, the following day.

Merchant Has Big Heart

Perth Courier: That "one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives" was proven in Perth this week when a local merchant, whose charity toward the poor and needy is not generally known, befriended a stranger who was practically in rags and bootless. The stranger was penniless and had to beg the price of a bite to eat on one of the cold mornings of this week. The merchant we refer to saw his distressed condition, took him into his store fitted him up with a complete new outfit excepting boots and these the merchant bought in another store.

Punch Boards Must Go Out

Provincial Constable Frank Wetherall has received instructions from the Attorney-General's Department requesting him to wage war on punch boards. The operations of cigar, chocalote, jewellery, Kewpie doll and all other boards must be discontinued at once or a campaign of prosecutions will follow.

Cheap Lands and Big Markets

Horace Greeley, born in New Hampshire, used to advise young men to go West, but New Hampshire now asks young men to come East. The Board of Publicity believes that cheap lands, good roads, s short haul and unusual markets offer an argument that will appeal to many farmers in the Middle West who have abandoned the attempt to produce large crops of staples and who have gone in for raising vegetables and other special kinds of food.
