Village Best For Tories 78.8 Per Cent Voted

Canadian voters in Monday's federal election rebuffed Prime Minister Lester Pearson in his effort to obtain a majority government. Mr. Pearson faces the opening of the 27th session of the House with 129 members, exactly the same as at adjournment of the last session. The Tory party across the country made sizeable gains in the electoral standing, raising their membership to 99. And true blue Winchester sent Conservative standard bearer Mrs. Jean Wadds on her way to victory with a resounding Tory vote. Mrs. Wadds carried the riding with a majority of over 3,000 votes.

78.8 per cent. of Winchester's voters went to five polls. Voters' lists made 933 citizens eligible to vote. Once again the village gave Mrs. Wadds her biggest margin over her opposition. In perhaps the last election in the historic riding of Grenville - Dundas, Mrs. Wadds was elated with victory. Proposed redistribution will see the split of the riding with the east section of Dundas joining on with Stormont.

Liberal hopeful John Palmer turned out to be a valiant campaigner and picked up a few votes over the 1963 election. NDP Rene Benoit made the biggest gain by more than doubling his vote in Winchester to 19, and having a riding total of 591.

With about 75 per cent. of more than 23,000 voters in the riding out to vote, Mrs. Wadds trailed Mr. Palmer in only one municipality, and taking the other 16 by majorities that ranged upwards from two. Once again the north section of the riding was the Conservative stronghold with the Liberal candidate receiving his big vote along the St. Lawrence front.

1963 results were: Casselman, PC 10,376; Libby, NDP, 372; Palmer, Liberal, 7,129.

Tory Carleton

Former Conservative Minister of Immigration R. A. "Dick" Bell regained his seat in a cliff-hanger of an election fight in Carleton. Former MP Lloyd Francis, the first Liberal to hold Carleton in 96 years since Confederation, went down to a 1,465 vote defeat at the hands of the returning Mr. Bell. NDP candidate Donald Stirling garnered a record 9,987 votes but trailed the leaders by about 20,000 votes.

District Members

In a down to the wire battle in Leeds Liberal John Matheson retained his Lanark seat for the government. He narrowly defeated Conservative John MacLean. Ethier Viateur, another Liberal candidate, retained his seat in Glengarry-Prescott, and Paul Tardiff retained his Russell riding seat. Deputy House Speaker Lucien Lamoureux had a resounding victory in Stormont. Conservatives held only four Eastern Ontario ridings.

Memorial Service In Remembrance Of War Dead

With heads bowed in solemn reverence, the congregation at the Remembrance Service at the Cenotaph Sunday noon expressed their individual, silent thoughts and remembered those who had fallen. With Bugler Elaine Summers sounding Reveille, the flags of the Legion, the Cubs and the Scouts rose slowly to the proud heights with the Red Maple Leaf on the towering flag pole.

Members of the Legion and Legion Auxiliary, Cubs and Scouts formed up for their parade at the Legion Hall and marched with Piper

Student minister Robert Mawhinney addressed the Legion and the parade seated with the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. His message was inspiring and thought provoking. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Wilson.

Forming into parade at the close of the service, under the command of Ken Summers, the parade marched in column of route to the Cenotaph for the noon hour memorial service. Rev. W. L. Thomas led the Cenotaph congregation in prayer.

South Mountain United Church 73rd Anniversary

Large congregations were on hand for the 73rd anniversary services of South Mountain United Church. Rev. W. E. Black presided over the services.

Rev. J. Ralph Watson of Montreal, Secretary of the Presbytery of Montreal and of the Montreal - Ottawa Conference, was the morning speaker and delivered an inspiring message. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Hilliard Boyd, sang two selections, "Softly And Tenderly," and the men sang "He The Pearly Gates Will Open."

In the evening Rev. George Howes of Merrickville preached a sermon, "Workmen of God," and Rev. John J. Hibbs of South Mountain Presbyterian Church assisted at the service. Choir selections were "Lord, I'm Coming Home," and "There Were Ninety And Nine," with solo parts by Mrs. Ivan Keays.

Anniversary supper at the church was Tuesday evening.

Milk Producers To Form County Milk Committee November 29th

At a session planned in the North Dundas District High School on Monday evening, November 29, all milk producers in the County of Dundas are invited to an open meeting to elect the Dundas County Milk Committee. This elected committee will function for the county under the newly instituted Ontario Milk Act.

A proposal of the new Milk Act is that the County Milk Committee be formed to provide (1) organized county representation to the Ontario Milk Marketing Board. (2) Information to county producers about the Marketing Board and its affairs. (3) Continued dairy promotion in the County. With these proposals in mind the leaders of the concentrated milk, cheese milk and whole milk producers of the county met and passed a resolution in favour of forming a Dundas County Milk Committee.

Ontario's new Milk Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature, has been proclaimed effective November 1.

Both the Milk Commission of Ontario and the Ontario Milk Marketing Board are fully functioning to carry out the responsibilities alloted them under the new law.

The Milk Commission will be responsible for over-all supervision of all aspects of the dairy industry in the province, while the Ontario Milk Marketing Board will in the near future assume responsibility for selling all milk produced on Ontario dairy farms.

"New Look" Ormond Baptist Church Now In 100th Year

Ormond Baptist Church, celebrating its one hundredth year, will welcome Dr. James Stuart as special guest speaker during the coming week. Services are being held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m., Nov. 16th, 17th and 18th.

Dr. Stuart, now pastor of Second Baptist Church, Auburn, N. Y., is an "old boy" of our own Winchester district.

He is a most forceful preacher, and the church was packed to capacity when he brought anniversary messages last June. It is to be hoped that large audiences will again characterize this return visit.

Special musical selections will be a feature of the meetings.

The edifice itself, completely redecorated this month, now presents an attractive "new look," and all visitors will be cordially received at these centennial services.

Mary's Money Not As Good As Steve's

Large-size advertisements all over Canada explain the benefits that the Canada Pension Plan will confer on individual Canadians of different ages and circumstances. The explanations are enlightening. In some cases, eye-opening. But they leave important matters unexplained. Consider two advertisements: one shows how the Plan will benefit a certain unmarried woman; the other shows what it will do for a certain married man with family.

(1) Mary Todd is a 22-year-old nurse earning $3,760 a year. Out of this, Mary will contribute $56.16 a year to the Canada Pension Plan; and her employer, if she has a regular employer, will have to contribute equal amounts on her behalf.

If these payments are continued for 43 years, Mary, who will have reached the pensionable age of 65, will be entitled to a pension of $77.50 a month for as long as she lives, plus a lump sum of $465 payable to her estate when she dies. The total contributions received by the government for Mary's pension will be $2,414.88 paid by Mary and an equal amount paid by her employers.

But Mary, being a nurse, is likely to work for many employers during her working years and for few of them long enough to make them liable for contributions to her pension fund. Such being the case, Mary will probably have to double her own contributions during a large part of her career. But, if she has steady employers throughout the 43 years, she will have contributed only $2,414.88 to the fund.

(2) Steve Sawchuk is a steel-mill worker, 45 years old. He is paid $5,720 a year and he will have to contribute $79.20 a year to the pension fund. and his employers will have to contribute equal amounts on his behalf. In 20 years Steve will have reached the pensionable age of 65 and then, if the contributions have been kept up, he will have contributed a total of $1,584 to the fund and his employers an equal amount. This will entitle Steve to a pension of $104.17 a month for as long as he lives, plus a lump sum of $500 to his wife when he dies. Thereafter his wife will receive a pension of $64.06 a month as long as she remains a widow, plus an orphans' allowance of $112.50 a month for his five children if they are under 18, or if under 25 and continuing full-time education.

Thus, at the age of 65, Mary will be entitled to a pension of $77.50 a month for as long as she lives, plus a lump sum of $465 payable to her estate when she dies, for which she will have paid a total of $2,414.88. But Steve, at the same age, will be entitled to a pension of $104.17 a month for as long as he lives plus a lump sum of $500 payable to his wife at his death, plus a pension of $64.06 a month to his wife for as long as her name is Sawchuk, and perhaps other substantial benefits to his children, and all at a total cost to Steve of only $1,584.

The question arises: Why is Mary's money not as good as Steve's? Why does she have to pay half as much again as Steve pays for benefits that total only a fraction of those payable to him for his smaller contributions?

The advertisements devote no space to explaining the benefits the Plan will confer on those unfortunate workers who have no steady employers to match their contributions to the fund and whose own earnings are so small and so uncertain that they can't make such payments themselves. These people are certain to be among those whose need for pensions will be the greatest; but they seem to have been entirely forgotten in the making of the Plan.

Nor is anything said in the advertisements about small employers who will be compelled to contribute to the pension fund on behalf of each of their employees, while they may not be able to pay anything towards pensions for themselves.

Whatever claims may be made for the Canada Pension Plan, it cannot claim to be equitable.

What the people will want to know and what the advertisements should explain is: (1) What benefits will the Pension Plan confer on them above the benefits they are already entitled to under existing legislation? (2) Are these promised benefits to be in proportion to the contributions that each recipient will have made to the Plan? (3) Will the proposed payroll deduction of 1.8 per cent. from the worker's wages plus the equal amounts to be exacted from the employers, be sufficient to cover the entire cost of the Plan and, if not, where does the government expect to get the money to pay the resulting deficits? (4) What compensation does the Plan contemplate for the legions of unfortunates who will not be able to maintain throughout their lifetime the dues that must be paid to keep their claims in good standing?

Full and lucid answers to these questions will give the people a better understanding of the Pension Plan and what it means to them.

The Brighter Light

Louis McKenna, current president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, is another weekly newspaper publisher who believes in his work.

In a brief acceptance speech he noted that there are free thinkers in Canada, which he condones as something with possibly some useful purpose. But, in his opinion, "sensible thinking is of far more importance to Canada, and it is in this field where the weekly newspapers stand out as a light brighter than that of any other type of medium."

But some people, in every field of endeavour, are inclined to hide their light under a bushel.

A Touch of Winter

Sugar and Spice

How It All Began

Addressing a group of high school teachers the other night, I was recalling how I entered the . . . uh . . teaching game, business, vocation, profession or racket — what you call it depends on who you are — purely by accident.

I had brought my family to this town one Sunday to have a look at the sights, as we hadn't been here before.

On the way out of town, we drove around the side streets to admire the fine homes. "That's odd," I said to my wife. "There's a big, new factory smack in the middle of the residential section. They don't usually allow that."

Then I saw the roadblock, out in front of the sprawling, one-storey factory. There was a grim gent beside it, well-dressed but with a sort of wild glint in his eye. He flagged me down.

I stopped. He came over to the car. "Can you see out of at least one eye?", he queried. I assured him that I had 40-40 vision, or something of the sort. I thought it was some kind of kooky, plain-clothes-police check, the kind you run into when you've left your driving license in your other pants.

"Ever been to a university?", he shot at me. I said I'd been to Oxford. I remember spending a whole weekend there during the war, waiting for a Land Army girl who never did show up.

He brightened considerably. "Have you any contagious diseases?", was the next question. "Like leprosy?" I told him I was as sound as any man in my condition could be.

Beaming now, he went on with the questionnaire. "And you don't drink, smoke, play the horses or chase women. Right?"

I started to point out that I did all of these whenever possible, but not all the time, and not all at once. But he wasn't listening. He had the car door open and me by the arm, and was hustling me toward that big, brick factory that looked more like a prison every second. I thought I was under arrest.

When we got inside, he shoved me into a chair, and I waited, fearfully, for the bright light in the face, and the rubber hose. But he fooled me. He stuck a confession under my nose and snarled, "Sign there." I signed, wondering what had become of Magna Carta, Habeas Corpus and my family, out in the car.

It was not until he offered to show me the gymnasium and the cafeteria that I realized the factory was a high school, and that I had just experienced the hard sell on teachers.

However, it wasn't much of a switch for me. I know that the jump into teaching, from big industrialist, shoe salesman or short-order cook has been a traumatic experience for some people. You can see them any day, tottering white-faced toward the staff room, after a double period with 10Z, the terror of the school.

But I had little difficulty in making the adjustment. After all, I had been a weekly newspaper editor. In that job, you spend most of your time telling people things they don't listen to, and urging them to do things they don't want to do. I found these invaluable training for my teaching career.

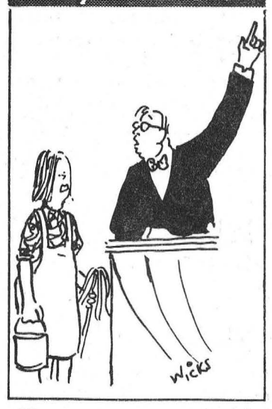
And I must admit that things have gone well. In three years, I fought my way up to a department-headship. Oh, it took a lot of midnight-oil-burning, coffee-buying for the principal, and the fact that they couldn't get anybody else for the job. But I made it.

And now I have my own little empire: a dozen or so English teachers who are so in awe of me that they never borrow more than $10; an assistant department head who hangs on my every word, and then contradicts it; and the thrill of attending department heads' meetings, of being on the inside, where the big decisions are made.

Like what are we gonna do with kids who carve "Herb Loves Elsie" on the desks.

WICKS' WEEK

—By BEN WICKS



"Er . . . excuse me, sir. It's all over."

The Seventh Column

The big trek to the field of battle is on—it's deer hunting season again. We have a lot of friends in the deer hunting fraternity. We'd like to see them come back. So, if you are out hunting please do not shoot and mistake our friends for a deer or a cow or something else, even though they might look like a deer or a cow or something else. You see, if they do get back, safely that is, they know we like venison too. Well, anyway, the point is to follow a few good rules of hunting safety and maybe you'll make it too. Good hunting!

Well, the Roughies humiliated the Als and Terrible Jim will have to tread water before his Larks get off the ground again next season. It was a sight to behold for Rough Rider fans. Just about everything was working, as the experts predicted it should, Scott was hopping, Stewart slashing through the line, and Watkins and Dillard with Tucker and company were in top form, Gene Gaines lead the defensive corps and Roughies, we hope, are on their way. What to expect other than a rough tough battle to the last whistle against Hamilton is anybody's guess. But rest assured, Ralph Sazio and his Tigers are prepared to eat the red boys of Clair and Smith if they get the chance. Despite disappointments piled on disillusionments this year, this corner has to stick with the Clair crew and hope they make the trip to Toronto on November 27 to play against Calgary.

Incidentally this is the last day for volunteers to sign up to help minor hockey in Winchester. Seems a shame to see more than 200 boys go through a season without coaches or managers. How about it, Dad! Got an hour or two for your son and the kid next door who love Canada's national sport?

Majority Produces Minority

Two months, 7,300,000 votes and at least $20,000,000 later Canada's general election is over. And if it was hailed previously as an "unwanted" "unnecessary" election it is now being condemned from practically every part of the country.

The word minority rings loudly in the ears of everyone this week but perhaps more so in the ears of Lester B. Pearson, the man who called the election, the man who has been defeated by the election. Mr. Pearson asked the voters of Canada for a majority government. They have turned him down flatly, giving both the Progressive Conservatives and the uprising NDP more seats and increased popular vote. Parliament to-day, more particularly Mr. Pearson and his arrogant Liberal regime, find themselves in an unusual situation. There is little doubt that Mr. Pearson will try to carry on. But with John Diefenbaker heading up the opposition, Mr. Pearson's days may well be numbered. There are so many possibilities. And making the rounds in the election aftermath are the rumours of new leaders for both the old line regimes. But don't count on it — at least in the immediate future.

Primary interest in this area were the ridings of Carleton and Grenville-Dundas. In Carleton, as this newspaper suggested last week, R. A. "Dick" Bell won the seat back for the Conservatives in a cliff hanger. Final count will probably give Mr. Bell a slim lead of 1,000 votes in a riding where more than 70,000 electors went to the polls. As in so many other ridings across Canada, the NDP polled well in Carleton with Rev. Donald Stirling conducting an energetic campaign. His vote certainly cut into Liberal Lloyd Francis' share and probably made the difference in the election

In Grenville-Dundas, despite the talk that Big John had made serious inroads, this writer was not too impressed and predicted that Mrs. Wadds would again win by 3,000 votes. She did just that. Actually, fewer people voted in Grenville-Dundas this time than in 1963. but the ratio of votes for each candidate was approximately the same.

Mr. Benoit, even with a meagre 591 votes in his favour, also followed the NDP trend of noticeably more votes than the 1963 election.

This was probably the last Federal election for this fine historic riding of Grenville-Dundas. With redistribution the riding will disappear, part of it going with Carleton, the remainder with Stormont. Both new ridings should prove interesting from a political viewpoint.

And in this traditional strong Tory area of Canada the election can best be summed up this way. Jean Wadds asked for a majority — she got it! Lester Pearson asked for a majority — he didn't get it!

And the political future of both Mrs. Wadds and Mr. Pearson is worth watching.

Honoured On 50th Anniversary

On the occasion of the Fiftieth Anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Jackson, of "Maple View," Kemptville, were guests of honour at a family dinner recently in St. John's United Church Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson (nee Isabella Dickson) were married at Winchester on October 20th, 1915, and have since resided at their present address at Kemptville where Mr. Jackson has farmed until retiring six years ago. Four children resulted from this union: Sgt. William Jackson, Oakville; Margaret (Mrs. Fred J. Patterson), Kemptville; Helen (Mrs. S. H. David), Ottawa, and Katherine (Mrs. Gordon Cowell). Winchester.

In addition to their children and nine grandchildren, Mr. Jackson's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jackson of Lachute, Que., Mrs. Jackson's sisters, Mrs. John Erratt of Williamsburg and Mrs. Martha Smith of Watertown, N. Y., also Mr. Ernest Munroe and Rae of Inkerman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith of Lachute, and Rev. and Mrs. L. G. Percival were present at the dinner. Rev. Percival acted as master of ceremonies.

Following the cutting of the three-tier wedding cake by the couple, gifts from the church Session, U.C.W. group, neighbours and friends were presented, for which Mr. Jackson suitably responded on behalf of his wife.

During the remainder of the evening Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were at home to relatives. Numerous gifts, messages and cards of congratulations were received.

Birthday Party

Mr. Frank Barkley, of Inkerman, was guest of honour at a family turkey dinner on Saturday evening at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyall Barkley of Inkerman.

Joining in the family festivities were his six sons, Lester, Bruce, Lyall and Keith, of Inkerman; Murray of R. R. 4, Winchester; Ray, of Brockville, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter York (Evelyn), also of Brockville. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barkley of Winchester were also present for the happy occasion.

The large birthday cake, centre of attraction on the dining room table, was made by Mrs. Lester Barkley of Inkerman.

SURVEY SETTLES QUESTION

"When you have an accident, who is more likely to help you — an independent agent or a one-company salesman?" An impartial survey by a nationally recognized research organization proved: 9 out of 10 independent agents help with claims. A far lower percentage of other agents do.

Dundas County's Federtaion of Women Teachers met in North Mountain Consolidated School and discussed the February Conference in Toronto 18-20. The conference should have an international atmosphere and will be most interesting for those who attend.

Lucky Winner

Miss Betty Anderson, of Toronto, formerly of Winchester, was one of the lucky few in Canada last week as she won a sizeable amount of cash in the sweepstakes. Even though her horse didn't run, Betty had her ticket drawn and that is just like money in the bank.

Area Native Works On U.S Research Project

Dr. Kenneth R. Farrell, economist for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service at Berkley, has taken a special leave of absence for the next six months studying changes and trends in the nation's fruit and vegetable marketing and distribution.

Mr. Farrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Farrell of South Mountain and attended South Mountain schools and graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph.

On leave from the University, Farrell will work from headquarters in Berkley and San Francisco while serving as a staff economist for the National Commission on Food Marketing.

The commission was set up by Congress in July, 1964, for a special study of food marketing trends and their implications for food growers and consumers. From the study will come recommendations to Congress on legislation. Out of the commission's early hearings, one of which was held in San Francisco in July, has come interest in use of marketing orders, a device through which individual farmers join for better bargaining power with large scale buyers. The orders have been highly developed by California fruit and vegetable grower groups, with whom Dr. Farrell works as an Agricultural Extension economist.

Report 9,000 More See Upper Canada Village

Increase in attendance at Upper Canada Village was almost 9,000 persons compared to 1964. Fern Guindon, MPP for Stormont and Chairman of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission, disclosed the 1965 parks attendance figures last week-end.

The Upper Canada attendance reached 224,600, well over last year's record. Old Fort Henry was visited by 207,238, a substantial increase over 1964.

The 15 parks in the system served 2,084,736 persons throughout the season. This figure is down 100,000 from last year. The drop was contributed in the main to inclement weather and an increase in the initial entrance fee. Mr. Guindon does not anticipate any fare changes in 1966.

The grand total of persons using parks facilities and visiting the historic sites was 2,516,574. A financial gain of $200,000 over the 1964 season was noted in the report.

CHIROPRACTIC VIEWPOINT

That Slipped Disc

By JOHN W. HALL, D.C.
Winchester

(Second of two parts)

Continuing excerpts from an article written by Dr. James Harvey of the British Medical Association:

"When a disc can protrude into the spinal canal, which holds the spinal cord and the nerve roots which spring from it, pressure on these nerves may cause trouble at once, or some time later, when the original injury has been forgotten. The most common place for this to happen is very low in the back, so that pressure is exerted on the nerves going to the buttocks and the legs. The usual result is an immediate attack of lumbago followed later by sciatica down the affected leg.

"In about eighty per cent. of cases, the complication of injury, followed by sciatica, with stiffness of the back which makes it difficult to stoop, is due to a slipped disc."

The advice of most surgeons, in cases of slipped discs, would be not to have an operation until other treatment has been tried for at least a year.

The length of time required to correct the majority of these cases with chiropractic manipulation depends primarily on the length of time the condition has existed. The sooner manipulation is applied the more dramatic are the results.—(Advt.)

A brief biography of Col. John MacRae and the reading of his immortal poem, "In Flanders Fields" by the president, Mrs. W. Dow, opened the meeting. A well prepared tribute of Remembrance for those of our church who had paid the supreme sacrifice was given by Mrs. Aaron Stoodley. A brief report of the Women's Conference held at Knox Church was given by Mrs. W. Dow and Mrs. K. Dow.

This being the annual meeting of the W. M. S., the treasurer reported an increase in the General Fund, and all reports showed a very encouraging and satisfactory year's work.

The programme, from the Study Packet, was Nigeria. Mrs. S. Fisher, convener, gave a concise description of this African country, facts regarding the church in Nigeria, and a description of the city of Lagos where Dr. John Johnston, former minister of St. Timothy's Church, is serving the Presbyterian Church in that city. Mrs. H. Lee read a letter from Dr. Johnston.

All officers were re-elected with the exception of the secretary and home helpers' secretary. Mrs. J. K. Campbell and Mrs. Albert Hill were elected to these vacancies.

The Ladies' Aid, with Mrs. C. Wallace in the chair, and Mrs. H. Cowan as secretary, opened the meeting with a reading on Armistice Day. The treasurer reported on the proceeds of the booth at Metcalfe Fair, and the bank balance. A letter of appreciation was to be sent to the Fair Board.

A nominating committee was appointed to bring in a slate of officers for 1966.

Committees were named to look after the Christmas boxes for the shut-ins, and for packing the candy for the Sunday School.

An invitation from Dr. and Mrs. E. Foote to hold the Christmas meeting at their home on Loch Isle Road was accepted and partial plans made re transportation were made.

With Mrs. Wallace as auctioneer, the few remaining bazaar articles were auctioned off.

Porter - Blair Vows Exchanged

A pretty autumn wedding took place at Knox United Church, Sackville, when Mabel Minerva, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Blair, of Osgoode, became the bride of Merle Willard, son of Mr. Laurine and the late Mrs. Porter, of Newport, N. S. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Eric Fullerton.

Given in marriage by her son, Charles, the bride wore an ice blue taffeta dress with matching bolero. Her hat was made of matching material trimmed with seed pearls and chapel-length veil. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Mrs. Evangeline LeBlanc attended the bride. She wore a beige lace dress with matching hat and accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses. Lee Casselman was best man for the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at 6526 Roslyn Road, Halifax. For travelling Mrs. Porter wore a beige wool dress with brown accessories and beige coat.

They will reside at Newport, N. S., where the groom is employed as Postmaster.

New Priest For Metcalfe - Russell

Rev. Laurent Frappier has been appointed priest-administrator of Metcalfe and Russell parishes. The appointment, a temporary one, was made necessary by the death of the Rev. Pierre Martel.

A pastor will be appointed within a few months when Archbishop M. J. Lemieux returns to Ottawa from Rome.

ANNUAL MEETING

Carleton County Farm Safety Council will hold its annual meeting November 15 at 7 p.m. in the Miss Lynwood Restaurant at Bell's Corners. In addition to the usual reports and discussions, the film, "The Miracle of Paradise Valley" will be shown.

A ROUND-UP OF NEWS FROM THE DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOLS

OTHS MDHS NDDHS

(By Brian Docksteader)

During the past week, North Dundas was once again the scene of much excitement. The focus was once again on sports. On Wednesday our senior soc, cer team beat formerly undefeated Osnabruck to the tune of 2 to 0. Now they are eligible to win the League Championship by defeating them in the sudden-death playoff game. However, during the last half of the week, football captured the spotlight. All week long the Hawks practised for the League final at Morrisburg on Friday afternoon.

A contest for the composing of a school song to sing at the game was won by Marilyn Ennis. On Thursday and Friday morninngs, two successful pep rallies raised the school spirit higher and higher and when the student body arrived at Morrisburg on Friday afternoon, it was at a peak. There were horns, signs, costumes and yells, lots of yells. In their best game of the season, the Hawks worked their hardest and tried their best but were narrowly defeated. On Friday evening, a dance was held by the Athletic Association to honour the football players and their coaches for a very exciting season. What a game! What a dance! What a week!

MDHS New Eastern Ontario Soccer Champs

Mountain District High School, killer of giants and good soccer players! MDHS knocked off all comers to take top rung on the ladder in the Eastern Ontario High School Soccer Championship played on the Mountain field last Saturday.

Eastview worked its way to the quarter finals by outscoring North Stormont 1-0 and then defeating Rideau High on a goal by Pat Morris, to reach the final.

Ottawa University met K.A.S. in the preliminary match and advanced to the semi-finals against MDHS. Dick Christie, the Mountain leader, fired home a goal on the semi-final effort for the victory.
