CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

We spent some time a while ago listening to a speech. It was delivered in Community Hall and had to do with the changing times and particularly the changes to take place in the rail service to the villages sitting on the CPR line in this area. Everything was going to be luverley, the man said, and service would be even better.

A shipment of ink was ordered by our family journal. It was due to leave Toronto January 17 and according to a way bill received at the local express depot, it did because the bill was in Chesterville on January 19. But no $100 worth of ink.

Agent Bruce Gillies and his staff wired immediately back to Toronto asking for information. Nothing happened. We called the supplier and sobbed our story. The shipper there took off with a scream as his shipping bill showed the ink had been out on the 17th. They promised action at once. But their action stalled. Toronto CPR express assured them we had the ink, and why worry. The way bill said so.

All this speedy service resulted in a great big zero. We did get the invoice for the lost ink. So finally we reordered and suggested somebody was going to have to find the missing mess of ink or else pay for it. Then something happened in the system. The reorder arrived promptly this time and sneaking along in the next delivery or so was the lost parcel. No explanations; just a new mess of taping and a new shipping date out of Toronto.

This sounds like a bitter complaint, and it is. We have come close to disbelieving many of the utterances we hear when talk is made of changes for improvement of the services. One would feel more comfortable if the talkers would just admit their wonderfully automated systems occasionally fall flat on their transistorized faces. An appearance of interest in a small customer might help sweeten the dimming image of a great big transportation system. It was built primarily for the people to use. Times have changed and people are much less important than a freight car of high value freight. A shipment that takes from January 17 to February 11 to get from Toronto to Chesterville is hardly classed as speedy.

Russell Ready was quietly listening to this ancient Crumb complain. When the plaint became too overpowering, he suggested an application of toad ointment to soothe the irritated area. The recipe follows from his 1808 copy of Dr Chase's Recipes: Toad Ointment — For sprains, strains, lame-back, complaints, etc., etc.: Take good sized toads, live, 4 in number, but into boiling water and cook very soft; then take them out and boil the water down to one half pint, add fresh churned unsalted butter, 1 lb.; simmer together; at the last add tincture of arnica, 2 ozs. Some persons may think it hard on toads, the book says, but you could not kill them quicker in any other way.

Anyone aching to try the ointment?

Road study to be made in Winchester Township

At the regular meeting of the council of the Township of Winchester, a co-ordinating committee for a township roads programming study was set up comprising the members of council and two members from the Ontario Department of Highways. A meeting between the council and officials of the Department will be held February 15 to begin the road study.

The reeve informed council that the United Counties had assumed eight miles of township road and, beginning in 1970, will maintain these roads. The roads are the road from County Road 7 through the Melvins to the Village of Winchester and the road from County Road 7 south to the Williamsburg boundary through Lot 18, Concession 1.

A petition requesting the road allowance between Concessions Nine and Ten, Lots 22 to 24, be widened was accepted. A request to widen and raise the road through Lot 4, Concession 2, leading to Highway 31 was received. Council withheld until an estimate of cost could be made.

The following accounts were paid: Road voucher No. 1, $6,375; salaries, $517; welfare, $515; fire, $212.59; Morewood Police Village, $776.90; Seaway Valley Council fee, $40; fox bounty, $12.

At a later meeting, council met with R. M. Kostuch, consulting engineer, to study plans for additions to the township building. A plan was approved and Mr Kostuch was requested to bring in detailed plans for the Department's approval. The estimated cost for a two-bay addition to the garage and an addition to the offices is $27,000.

Mr and Mrs Douglas Clifton Merkley were married at 2.30 p.m., Saturday, February 8, at Winchester United Church. The bride is the former Sandra Armstrong, daughter of Mr and Mrs Sidney Armstrong, Winchester, and the groom's parents are Mr and Mrs Clifton Merkley, Chesterville.—Photo by LaSalle.

N.S.H.L. semi-finals provide excitement

The pattern was probably fashioned for the type of hockey which will be featured in all the playoff games as Finch and Berwick scored opening wins in the best of five North Stormont Hockey League semi-finals at Finch on Friday night.

The quality of the hockey, as played at the Finch Community Centre on February 7, left little to be desired and guaranteed that the series would attract more genuine interest throughout the area than any other local sports event staged for years. As predicted, the fans did turn out in droves, and inspired by the largest crowd in many moons, the teams put on a dazzling display in both games.

In the first game Finch and Morewood battled through 30 thrill-packed moments before Steven St. Pierre put Finch one up as he scored on a pass from Barry Brownlee and Keith McGregor at the eleven minute mark of the second period. Brian MacIntyre beat Verhoeven, with a drive to the open corner, after trapping a pass from Brownlee at 16 minutes and Osborne Shaver assisted when MacIntyre drove in his second goal with just over two minutes left in the period to give Finch a 3-0 lead.

If the pace was fast in the first two periods it really seemed to sizzle in the final frame as Morewood moved to get on the score board. Brownlee worked in behind the Morewood defence and scored after 4.15 minutes on a pass supplied by McGregor and Morewood tallied after 8.40 as Raymond St. Pierre netted a pass from Steinburg and Moore. Barry Brownlee and MacIntyre assisted as McGregor sank the final goal for Finch after 15 minutes and Rae Imrie had Morewood's second goal from Roy Meldrum at the 17.25 spot. Score: Finch 5, Morewood 2. Morewood had 5 of the 9 penalties handed out in the game.

The final game lacked nothing in comparison with the opener and Berwick captured the hard-fought first period 1-0 when Winston Dingwall netted a pass from Dale Villenuve.

The teams played to a 1-1 draw in the second period thriller with the Berwick tally coming when Buchanan and Villeneuve assisted on Dingwall's second goal of the evening after 11.20 minutes and Avonmore arranged a brother act which showed Bruce Grant furnishing the pass which allowed Bob to register the Avonmore marker as the clock read 18.40.

The ball refused to bounce for Avonmore in the final twenty and the breaks went to Berwick who won the session 4-0 on goals by Steven O'Donohue from Brian Meldrum at 3.30, by Ken Dingwall unassisted at 16.08, by Wayne Ouderkirk from L. O'Donohue at 17.20 and by Dingwall with his second goal, from Garry Ouderkirk, as the clock showed 18.10. Berwick 6, Avonmore !

Nestlé employees reject company offer

Tuesday night of this week Nestle employees, members of the United Food Processors, local 488 held a vote to accept or reject the latest company offer. When the ballots had been counted, the membership had rejected the company offer by an overwhelming majority.

The union had asked a figure of 50 cents over two years in wages. The company had offered 33 cents in a counter offer. A clause having to do with lay-off procedures had been withdrawn by management on Monday.

The matter is now in the hands of the union executive and its international advisor, George Barron.

Accident on Saturday wrecks car

A car driven by Paul Fyke left the road and struck a utility pole at the corner of Victoria and Main on Saturday evening. Damage to the vehicle was extensive.

The driver was shaken and suffered facial cuts. He was treated at the hospital at Winchester. His passenger, Tommy Hutt suffered a shaking up.

It won't kill you to be careful.

S. M. Crawford, president Rox. Agricultural Society

Stewart M. Crawford was elected as president of the Roxborough Agricultural Society at the annual meeting, held Saturday afternoon in the Avonmore Public School. He succeeds Calvin S. Grant.

Reports presented at the meeting by Mr Grant and M. F. MacRae, the secretary-treasurer, indicated that the Society had enjoyed a successful year in 1968, as proven by the reports of the annual Avonmore Fair held last August and the financial statements.

It was decided that the dates for this year's Avonmore Fair will be Friday and Saturday, August 22 and 23.

Following the reports, four new members were added to the Board of Directors. They are Leonard Ferguson, John Ferguson, Clarence Henderson and John McIntyre.

Glenn McIntyre was named as first vice-president and Maldwyn Watkins as second vice-president. M. F. MacRae was reappointed as secretary-treasurer.

Jack H. Bush remains as general manager and grounds superintendent.

It was decided to increase admission fees for adults to $1.00 and the fee for parking cars to 50 cents. Membership fees will remain at $2.00 although a membership will permit only the member and a car to the grounds.

The prize list for the livestock classes will be revised upwards. An entry fee, representing ten per cent of the gross prize money in the livestock classes, will be retained by the Society as an entry fee.

Discussion centred on old features to be retained and new ones to be considered for inclusion in this year's edition of the Avonmore Fair.

Sixty years ago, on February 3, Mr and Mrs Willis A. McIntosh were united in marriage at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg. Mrs McIntosh was the former Vera May Merkley of Williamsburg.

In 1909 the couple farmed the "home place," RR 3, Williamsburg Township. Later they moved to another farm, formerly the Saxon Casselman property adjoining the village of Williamsburg. When Mr and Mrs McIntosh retired from farming they moved to the village. Four years ago they left Williamsburg to reside in Kingston.

On the occasion of their 60th anniversary they returned to Williamsburg where a family dinner was held in the hall of St. Peter's Church. This was followed by an "at home" when friends called to extend best wishes from 7.30 to 9.30 Monday evening.

Mr and Mrs McIntosh are the parents of Willis Ray McIntosh, a farmer at Williamsburg Township, and Miss Viola Jean McIntosh of Kingston. They have four grandchildren. Living in the area are Mrs McIntosh's sisters: Mrs Ward Casselman and Mrs W. Trickey. Mr McIntosh's sister, Mrs Charles McInnis, resides in Matilda Township.

At 81 and 80 years of age Mr and Mrs McIntosh are in excellent health and thoroughly enjoyed the reunion. They were the recipients of gifts and messages of congratulation.

Williamsburg to get post office

A new post office is under consideration for the Police Village of Williamsburg, according to a release from the office of the Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons, and total cost will come to between $35,000 - $40,000 including land. It is expected the project will go forward when the land has been purchased after funds become available for the building.

Safety is here to say — are you?

Corn planting on Hwy. 43?

Travellers west of the village were startled over the week-end to find the highway strewn with yellow corn. Over a quarter mile of the grain was feeding the birds on the right of way.

A feed truck laden with corn owned by Maxville Feed and Seed Co. was travelling east of the Queensway Road when the tail gate slipped. The yellow torrent poured merrily out until discovered at the west end of Queen Street.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

A strike looms

These have been unsettling days in Chesterville and district. A contract settlement has not been reached at the big food plant, Nestlé (Canada) Limited, in the village. At this writing, some 200 employees are thinking of a decision they will have to make very soon. Before this newspaper appears this week, the union membership will have met and decided to reject or accept the latest company offer. From our present sampling of public opinion, a strike would appear to be in the works.

A strike is the ultimate weapon of the labour force. It is a right won in a multitude of discussions, and many demonstrations. Unions feel the right to strike must be inherent in their basic contracts if they are to hold to hard-won gains, but more and more, settlements are negotiated. The temper of the times is slowly swinging away from the strike pattern to a closer regard to the results of conciliation and labour-management discussion.

Chesterville has lived through one period when the Nestlé labour force went on strike. While the work stoppage lasted just a week, it was a sobering experience for everyone. There is little doubt responsible labour leaders would not repeat the pattern unless they felt all other avenues of reconciliation have been exhausted. That is the position now, and with the breaking off of talks last Friday, the union has asked the membership for direction that will very probably lead to a strike.

Management of the plant is faced with a strike because of a number of unresolved contract disputes. The money demands of the union, about 50 cents over two years, were met with an offer of 33 cents over two years. The outcry over the lesser offer is muted to a degree by a full-throated outcry over a suggested change of lay-off patterns. Management feels it has the right to widen its authority in the matter, especially if, in its good judgment, the basic reason for a layoff is caused by something beyond the normal operating control of the plant management. Management state this is a pattern followed across Canada in labour contracts. Members of the union we have spoken to about this section of the contract deny there is any accepted pattern. They feel abuses could arise if the new clauses were not disputed to the limit.

We hope some settlement can soon come to the embattled participants of the labour dispute. Union negotiators and management have managed to reach this point in their contract hassle without too much acrimony or public outbursts. Neither is there any feeling that steps other than legal and reasonable ones will be taken. But it does appear that a strike looms on the placid horizon of Chesterville's small labour pool and in the village's largest industry.

Let Canada win

There is much to be said for all the huffing and puffing and pushing and shoving of the last few days — possibly the premiers and the Prime Minister have, for the time being, got most of it out of their system.

Men whose most earnest and best-intended convictions prompt them to proclaim all-or-nothing politics have all through history on peering down into the abyss decided to draw back and carry on in some form of compromise.

It is well that it is so, observes the Ottawa Journal, else civilization's march would be still an affair of caves and clubs.

In any case, Canadians are not a blowing-up type of people. Our geography is one of compromise, between seas and the Arctic wild and the American dynamo. Our history is but a procession of compromises, few of them ignoble and the sum of them thus far bounteously fruitful.

The prairie premiers have a point about bilingualism, though they overshoot it. The Maritimers understandably put economic disparity ahead of constitution, Quebecers of course see things a la francaise, and in others' eyes Ontario is too fortunate to understand the problem.

And then there's Ottawa — urged by the provinces to lead in building a socialist - type state but resented all the way as the consequences of such a development give it more power and more need of power. Ottawa has too willingly and too extravagantly assumed this new power.

A cynic may well cry that this isn't a confederation we have now but a kind of concussion. The pressure at the top has wrung from the "cool" Trudeau that if there isn't to be bilingualism he'll go elsewhere — and then a second-thought reservation that he musn't be taken too literally for he doesn't quit easily.

It was not a statesmanlike remark for a Prime Minister to make on the eve of a crucial conference. The leader of a confederation should be the last to toy with the threat of resignation as a debating weapon, even in the face of unreasonable talk from the prairies.

But the whole conference will need a willingness to make room for second thought. None should press claims which confederation cannot sustain and which will not sustain confederation.

In truth, examination of the briefs of the provinces reveals an almost emotional desire to build this country, together. They would improve it, and alter some of its household rules; but they wouldn't tear it down, and they have no other house in mind.

There are millions of people across Canada today praying that their leaders will make the most of the ideals and fortunes we have in common rather than our disputes and differences. The leaders are in the conference hall today as Canadians, not as champions of particular pieces of Canadian thought. Let's not hear them saying they won or lost — their duty is to see that Canada wins.

Your Legislature Report . . .

Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

The Ontario Legislature Members gatheredag ain at Queen's Park on February 4th to continue the second Session of the Parliament following the Christmas recess. All Members appeared to have come back with rejuvenated vocal chords, large briefs of constituents' problems and a desire to get on with the Province's business. However, this first week was spent entirely on private Members' speeches in the Throne Speech Debate; no new legislation was introduced nor was any standing on the Order Paper processed.

It was a true private Members' week and those who spoke made good use of their opportunity; the Liberal Member of Parkdale castigated all concerned with the proposed Lakeshore Raceway through CNE grounds in his riding; Syl Apps, the P.C. Member for Kingston berated his government for failing to come to the financial aid of the hard pressed Kingston municipal taxpayers (but expresses his confidence in final satisfactory outcome!); the N.D.P. speakers were full of suggestions as to how much better everyone and everything would be if only their advice and their political philosophy were imposed on us all.

It appears, since the Provincial budget is not due till the latter part of February, that there will be a great deal more private Member speech making in the current debate — which is all to the good as otherwise, the private Member of any party has small opportunity of bringing to the attention of the Legislature and of the public his own views and the needs and desires of his constituents.

During the week, the Prime Minister s annual party for Government Members and their wives; the Lieutenant-Governor's reception for Members of the Assembly and the first of the teas for Members' wives given in the Speaker's Chambers by Mrs Cass, gave a rather pleasant introduction to what is most likely to be another long and gruelling Session.

While there is much speech making, party debate and complaints against Government policies, yet underneath it all, the Members of all three Parties feel and often express the undercurrent of anxiety, felt also I am sure, by most Canadians, which seems everywhere prevalent concerning the future of our Canada and particularly with respect to the series of Federal-Provincial meetings now about to be (and when this is read, "being") held in Ottawa; the more recent reports and statements from our sister Province of Quebec have done nothing to reassure the majority of Canadians that there is understanding, tolerance and good faith on all sides, without which there can be no successful or lasting settlement of our problems.

THE BIBLE TODAY . . .

Translation of the Scriptures is not just a matter of words and dictionaries. It is fundamentally a matter of conveying the right message so that those accepting it as the true basis for living may ultimately mature as responsible human beings.

Richard W. F. Wootton, a translator, recalls one Easter campaign some years ago in the Punjab. Several churches and Christian bodies divided a large city into areas, and volunteers delivered leaflets telling the passion and resurrection according to St. Luke to every home where someone could read. It caused quite a stir; and sermons were preached in the mosques against the New Testament, and a feeling of bitterness was created which the Christians tried to overcome.

"I used to hate the Muslims," said one Christian afterwards.

"But through doing this work I have come to love them."

"This," says Wootton, "is the real reward of Bible translation."

Miss Marie Kearns

Funeral services for Miss Marie Kearns of Morrisburg were held February 3 from Fairbairn Funeral Chapel to St. Mary's Church at 10 a.m. with Rev D. W. MacDonald officiating. Miss Kearns, who was in her 68th year, died at a Brockville hospital following a lengthy illness.

Born at Chesterville, she was a daughter of the late James Kearns and his wife, Mary Gibbons. During her lifetime, as a practical nurse she was well known at Chesterville, Brockville and at Morrisburg where she had resided for the past several years.

She is survived by one sister, Miss Dorothy Kearns, of Prescott.

The body was placed in the vault to await spring burial in the cemetery at Chesterville.

Pall bearers were Cornelius Kearns, Francis Moriarty, her nephews, and James Moran, William Masterson, Leonard Keck and Gerard McDonald.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I used to read your column for laughs. I'm not laughing any more. I need help.

My boss is dearly loved by everyone who knows him. Everyone but his wife, that is. When I take dictation, I can hear her yelling at him over the telephone. It s frightfully embarrassing.

I am no home wrecker, Ann, and my boss hasn't a clue that I've fallen hopelessly in love with him. I think about him constantly. One of these days he's going to walk out on his wife. Should I stick around and pick up the pieces or resign and take a hike? —No Cloud Nine.

Dear Cloud: Turn to the classified section of this paper and find another job. Feeling as you do you should not be on the premises when (and if) the boss' marriage collapses.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: In response to your question, "Where is the National Safety Council?" I'd like to say, "We are on the job trying to prevent motor vehicle accidents and improve on a startling statistic — 700 bicycle fatalities in 1967."

K.E.B. who wrote about a delivery boy hovering between life and death after a bike accident might be interested to know that only one third of the 4,231 children interviewed by the National Safety Council rode their bikes after dark. Only five per cent of the fatal accidents occurred at night.

Our study also revealed that some children on bikes play games, such as "Demolition," "Murder Bike" and "Kill the Old Lady.' Sometimes the "winner" ends up in a morgue.

Bicycling would be much safer, if we had uniform laws patterned after the Model Traffic Ordinance and wide readership of the Council's pamphlet entitled "Fun on a Bike." Enclosed find copy.— H.E.H. of the National Safety Council.

Dear H.E.H.: I hope you have thousands of the pamphlets on hand because I'm asking every parent whose child rides a bike to send for one. I read "Fun on a Bike" and it is excellent. Address your request, please, to Mr H. E. Heldreth, National Safety Council, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Dear Ann Landers: Our family enjoys Sunday evening services. It is the one time we can all be together in tranquil surroundings. Services begin at 6.00 p.m.

What should we do when unexpected company drops in Sunday afternoon and sits and sits?

Avonmore, Newington win Junior League games

Avonmore trounced Berwick with a 4 to 1 defeat in the first game of a North Stormont - Long Sault Junior Hockey League bill played at Finch January 28.

The winners took the opening period when Bob Grant casually drove a shot into the open side of the Berwick net as Jim Legue was caught out of position. Avonmore won the final period 3 to 1 on goals by Murray MacMillan with 2 plus a single added by Norman Morrison.

The lone Berwick counter was scored by Lee Foster.

Newington edged Chesterville 2-0 in the night cap. After a scoreless first period Newington picked up the final frame on goals by Harold Prieur and Reg. Alguire.

ANN LANDERS—

Should my wife excuse herself and start cooking supper? Should we visit with the guests and skip supper. Should we say nothing and skip supper and church?

Advise, please.—Deacon.

Dear Deacon: I've said it at least 50 times but I say it again. Uninvited guests deserve no special consideration. You owe them nothing. Especially do you not owe them your Sunday worship time. Your wife should excuse herself to prepare supper. She could say, "I'm sorry, but we must be at church by 6.00 p.m. Next time let us know you are coming and we'll prepare for you — and perhaps you would like to go to church with us."

* * * *

Do you feel ill at ease, out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, un-stamped envelope, plus 6c for postage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing an unstamped, self-addressed envelope, plus 6c for postage.

Junior League games enjoyed by fans

The North Stormont - Long Sault Junior Hockey League presented a bonus bill for the fans enjoyment when they arranged to have Eamers Corners face off with Berwick and have Newington take on Avonmore at Finch on February 4th. Appearing for the first time on Finch ice, the Eamers Corners squad displaced so much getup-and-go that they got up and went to a 3-1 victory over Berwick.

The winner's goals came from Rickey Locke with two and a single by Allan MacDonell. Phil McMillan scored the lone Berwick goal.

It was Newington for the winner as Avonmore absorbed a 6-1 drubbing in the nightcap. Catching Avonmore when lady luck was in a nasty mood, the winners capitalized on the situation as Harold Prieur and Reg Alguire shared the hoonurs with two goals each while Steve Tait and Garnet Summers added singles.

CARBON MONOXIDE

If you have to reverse in thick snow, make sure that you do not get your tailpipe clogged. The Ontario Safety League warns that drivers and passengers have died from carbon monoxide poisoning within minutes of backing into a snow drift. If the tailpipe is blocked, the deadly fumes are unable to escape normally, and may accumulate inside the vehicle.

Designed primarily to raise money, the long list of activities has been carefully programmed to assure the utmost in amusement for all ages.

A brief glance at the carnival highlights gives some idea of the long hours spent at the "drawing boards" by energetic committee men and women: Carnival Queen contest, sleigh rides, smorgasbord, bean supper, lucky draws, skating parties, teen dance, old time dance, bowling contest, snowmobile rally, curling, and this is only a partial list of the events that complete the fun-filled weekend.

Dates for the event are February 14, 15 and 16, and by then, it is expected, all Winchester residents will have completed picturesque snow sculptures on front lawns and colourful decorations will complete the carnival atmosphere.

Plan now, with your family, to visit Winchester, take an active part in the events, and remember the success of the winter carnival will be the encouragement needed to continue the drive that will ultimately lead to a fine modern Community Centre in Winchester — a centre that will serve the entire district.

GETTING HOOKED ON A HOBBY

Ever had the satisfaction of creating something beautiful with your own two hands?

In addition to the thrill of showing off a piece of furniture, oil painting or a handsome hooked rug to family and friends, there are other important rewards for the do-it-yourselfer.

Doctors claim that snch hobbies are an excellent antidote to nervous tension and psychologists point out that few activities counteract the rigors of regimentation as effectively as doing rather than viewing.

Much of the malaise may result from the fact that. today, machines produce all of the necessities which formerly were made in the home by various members of the family. Though life was far less luxurious then, most people, according to sociologists, were compensated by feeling both capable and in control of their environment as opposed to the sense of being helpless and isolated so prevalent today.

As a result of these factors. creative hobbies such as carpentry and ceramics, photography and rug-making have won millions of enthusiastic participants in recent years, all of whom find fun and relaxation while perfecting new skills.

Even though you've never been a do-it-yourselfer, there's one hobby it's particularly easy to get hooked on — hook-it-yourself rugs. These days everyone's doing it — from the Duke of Windsor — to the dad next door and most homes can boast at least one handsome "original" adding that distinctive homemade touch to the decor.

Do-it-yourself hooking, incidentally, is a hobby which appeals to all ages and many families find it's a great way to keep teen-agers happy and at home. It's never too late or too soon to get "hooked."

EXPEDITION DISCOVERS ESKIMO BURIAL CENTRE

A 12-man expedition from the National Museum of Man has discovered a "large and significant" 350-year-old Eskimo burial centre on Hudson Bay.

The museum said in a news release it is believed the 335 Eskimos died in 1613 when an empty longboat floated ashore carrying an unknown disease.

Natives of the area have a story about a strange, open-decked boat found on a beach long ago.

Historians believe a longboat broke loose from one of explorer Thomas Button's two ships in 1613 as he searched for the Northwest Passage.

It is thought Button had no direct contact with Eskimos in the region but that the boat floated ashore, carrying an epidemic that killed half the Eskimo community.

PREVENTION CHEAPER THAN CURE

When I was a youngster my grandmother had a favourite saying that went like this, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." That piece of advice could well be the watch word of every dairyman, or for that matter every livestock man.

It's doubtful if grandmother ever heard of mastitis, but she certainly knew about thick milk. What she didn't know, however, was how this costly scourge can be kept within bounds by modern sanitation practices in the herd.

For years, most dairymen have fought mastitis by treatment rather than prevention. That approach worked to a degree, but still left a great deal to be desired. It kept the disease under some sort of control most of the time, but did little if anything to reduce the cost in useless milk and generally lowered production in the herd.

A few years ago, the scientists at the Ontario Veterinary College at the University of Guelph started taking a close look at how much money mastitis actually was costing the average dairyman. Their figures were staggering. At first many dairymen were unwilling to believe the costs were so high.

Some, however, agreed to try an OVC program for mastitis control which included quarter-by-quarter testing of each cow to identify mastitis carriers, and a strict sanitation program using individual paper towels for each cow, dipping teat cups between cows in a hot disinfectant solution, and dipping each teat after milking. The sceptics who have tried the program have been convinced of its value. It has put more money into their milk cheque.

This is only one example of the new emphasis on preventive medicine in livestock management. Today, many practising veterinarians are urging farmers to use the same approach with all manner of herd health problems.

Whether it is dairy cows, or layers, or feeder hogs doesn't really matter. The best way to use your veterinarian is to call him regularly for a routine check of the herd or flock. Frequently he will find nothing amiss, and hopes this always is the case. But once in a while he will spot something that if left unattended could cause serious and costly health problems later.

Health emergencies will always occur. But putting the emphasis on prevention rather than cure will pay off in healthier livestock and better profits.

Finch takes Berwick 5-2 Wednesday night

Keith McGregor showed the way for Finch with a two-goal performance as they rolled to a 5-2 win over Berwick on February 5th. This game became necessary after a power failure halted the January 10th meeting of the teams when only a period had been completed.

The first period in the latest game was scoreless as the teams cautiously tested each other and the real action started early in the second session as Bob Henderson assisted on Osborne Shaver's goal for Finch after 1.30 minutes. Linden Wells gave Finch a 2-0 lead as he scored from Brian MacIntyre and McGregor after three minutes with Steve St. Pierre and Archie Lang earning assists as Percy Brownlee tallied two minutes later. McGregor scored from Shaver for a 4-0 count as the clock showed 10 minutes.

Berwick broke the barrier as Ken Dingwall scored from Winston Dingwall at the 17 minute mark and McGregor had his second goal as he tallied from Henderson after 18 minutes. Score: Finch 5, Berwick 1.

The only goal in the final frame came after 11 minutes when Winston Dingwall sank a pass from Cliff Lang. Score: 5-2 for Finch.

Brian MacIntyre scores 9 times in game at Finch

Brian MacIntyre probably established an all-time record for goals scored in a single game when he tallied nine times as Osnabruck Centre handed the St. Regis team a 12-3 shellacking at Finch on February 11. Other Osnabruck Centre goals came from Brian Gallinger, Roger Wells and David Bancroft. Alf Thompson had two for St. Regis with Harold Lauzon sinking a single. The lop-sided win gave the Centre the necessary margin to capture first place in the North Stormont - Long Sault Junior Hockey League schedule.

Berwick and Avonmore played the opening game of the League play-off series and the 4-3 encounter was almost sensational. Berwick scored one goal in each of the periods, and Avonmore netted one in the second period and two in the third session.

After eight minutes of the first overtime period, Butch Foley won the keys for the township ashe punched in a pass from Germaine Lafleche and Ken Hutt. Other marksmen were Leonard O'Donohue with 2 and Daniel Brisson with a single. Norman Morrison, Bob Grant and Pierre Courville scored for Avonmore.

Butch Foley got the first star, with Jim Legue getting the second star and Ritchie MacIntyre earning the third.

IN MEMORIAM

BECKSTEAD — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Allan McMillan Beckstead (Mack) who passed away February 12, 1966.
Time rolls on and we are reminded
Of a day when our hearts were crushed
When God took you, O, so quickly,
And we all in gloom were thrust.
In the bloom of life, death claimed you,
In the prime of manhood days;
But we hope some day to meet you
And be with you always.
Mother and Dad, Brothers and Sister.

GERMAN WOMAN FIGHTS ILLITERACY

A retired German countess wants to spend the rest of her life fighting illiteracy in South American countries.

Although many people think this task begins with the young, Countess Eva Finck von Finckenstein is going to work with adults.

The countess, who recently retired from a seven-year stint as cultural attache at the German embassy in Ottawa, has in mind a voluntary teaching system with free evening classes.

She has proposed her plan to the Canadian Executive Service Overseas, a Montreal-based organization for retired senior executives, and is awaiting their decision.

"Money musn't be involved," the countess said. "These people just don't have it."

To her, illiteracy is both an urgent problem and "the greatest barrier to happiness."

Adults who cannot read or write, she says, are excluded from "every pleasure in life — from modern civilization.

"The South American countries are concentrating on educating their young. Most children are being taken care of now.

"But what about the generations who have missed all this? What about the young adults who can't write their names, read books? Can you imagine being 24 and never having read a book?"

Another hurdle the countess must overcome in her fight against illiteracy is employers themselves.

"Employers must be persuaded to allow their employees to take these classes. But much more than this, they should take an active interest in their employees' progress.

The enterprising countess also plans to do some free-lance stories for German newspapers on the political situation of Canadian women.

MAKE OWN BATH SALTS

Children can have a hand in making — and giving — bath salts as gifts.

Put equal quantities of Epsom salts and coarse salt in a large mixing bowl. Add 2 to 4 tsps. of a favourite cologne or pine scent, or half tsp. perfume, plus a few drops of food colouring.

Blend well and spoon mixture into jars sealing as tightly as possible. Store in cool dark closet for at least two weeks.

Decant to smaller jars as gifts, or store in the jar to be used as the gift.

CONIFEROUS WINDBREAKS VALUABLE IN WINTER

"We'll wager that this winter many a farmer and country commuter wishes that their lanes and houses had the protection of a coniferous windbreak," writes M. S. Miller of the Department of Lands and Forests. They would have had much less snow to shovel and their houses would have been protected from the full blast of that howling wind.

Windbreaks can benefit your property in so many ways — provide shelter for houses, protect farm buildings and livestock, serve as snow fences, protect crops, orchards and gardens, conserve soil moisture, control soil erosion and last, but not least, it adds beauty and value to your home.

You should establish your windbreak at least one hundred feet to the windward side of your lane, house or whatever else you are trying to shelter from the wind. Usually three rows of trees are sufficient. The rows should be six feet apart. The inside row could be a fast growing species such as Scotch pine or red pine. It is best for the middle row to be a little slower growing species such as white spruce or Norway spruce. The third row, on the outer side, should be cedar. It keeps its branches right to the ground and, along with the dense foliage, prevents the wind from blowing along the ground and under the trees once they grow taller and lose their lower branches.

This row of cedar causes the snow laden wind to rise up and over the rows of trees and deposit the majority of the snow in the lee of the windbreak and not on the lane.

As the final choice of species is dependent on soil conditions, it is wisest to contact your local Department of Lands and Forests office for advice. Now is the time to apply for trees for planting next spring. Do it now!

ELECTRIC CARS NOT PRACTICAL

An automotive specialist said that modern technology cannot yet produce a cheap, reliable and practical electric family car.

Dr P. J. Stewart, project analyst with General Electric Co., Schenectady, N.Y., told the Toronto section of the Chemical Institute of Canada that G.E. is not producing passenger vehicles because it can't do it economically. It would cost the company about $3,500 to build in quantity and electric car that could travel 50 miles on a single charge.

Trinity Messengers hold February meeting

Trinity United Church Messengers held their regular monthly meeting Monday, February 3, with eleven members present.

The meeting opened with the Messenger motto, followed by the minutes of the last meeting and roll call.

Mrs MacGregor read another chapter in the study book "Mr Brooks has a plan."

Theme of the worship service was "Sharing and Serving" conducted by Mrs Reid. Mark Cook received the offering.

The Messengers contributed generously to the Cup of Milk Fund. This money was raised by doing errands.

The children made Valentines on which they put their Messenger motto.

Games were enjoyed. "Surprise" was distributed and the meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

PROMOTES SAFETY

The Ontario Safety League reports that the energy absorbing (collapsing) steering column, standard equipment on GM cars since the 1967 models, is reducing driver fatalities and injuries in collisions that throw the driver forward.

Ingleside United Church holds annual meeting and supper

The annual meeting of Trinity United Church, Ingleside, was held recently in conjunction with a sandwich supper and the showing of coloured slides on England, Wales and Ireland by the minister and his wife.

The budget, amounting to more than $15,000, was presented and accepted. The treasurer, Don Stata, gave the financial report of the year showing that from all sources more than $20,000 was raised.

Reports from all departments of the church were in printed form and after a brief review were accepted. Presbytery representative for the current year was th re-appointment of Mrs Herb Bockus with Archie Morrison as alternate. Christian Education committee chairman was Keith Brownell and Mrs Roger Hebert as the re-elected president of the U.C.W. Frank Dafoe was re-appointed as recording secretary.

One of the interesting highlights of the year was a three-night Mission Festival held in early November under the auspices of the U.C.. and the direction of Mrs H. Giffin. Much of its success was due to the avid participation of all church departments. Each night large crowds attended. The object was that everyone might catch a new vision of the Christian Church at work in the world today.

From the reports, with their multiple activities and the fact that Trinity United raised more money that any previous year, it was agreed that it enjoyed a most successful year.

"But the success of any church is not in its local activities alone, nor the amount it may raise, nor the number of members on its role. The true success of a church is how rich it becomes toward God in Christian experience and the stewardship extended to those about it, near and far," the minister, Rev Harold Giffin, pointed out.

Our sense of smell

Why does a dog, a cat or a rabbit have a much keener sense of smell than you do?

Chalk it up to your superior intelligence!

The human brain developed to such massive proportions that the nostrils were forced into a "hair-pin turn.' Air doesn't get a straight run in and out of the nose as it does with less brainy animals.

Actually, it's a major biological wonder that our sense of smell is as sharp as it is. And it is sharp.

The average nose can distinguish tens of thousands of different odours while the especially gifted sniffer may be able to identifiy hundreds of thousands —some so weak that there's as little as one part odour per million parts of air!

Odour experts maintain that sensitive noses can not only detect fear, but can distinguish different kinds of fright: the nervousness of a man making a speech, for example, as against the panic of a man chased by an angry dog.

Without your sense of smell, you'd not only miss the pleasure of anticipation when a delicious aroma came wafting out of the kitchen—but you'd be unable to enjoy your favourite foods. With no assistance from your nostrils, you couldn't distinguish between a roast of beef and a roast of pork, a slice of onion and a slice of apple.

You'd also miss the pleasure of recapturing lost memories when you catch a fleeting scent associated with your past. So powerful is this nostalgia of the nostrils that even extremely withdrawn mental patients have temporarily come out of their shells when confronted with an odour that evoked their childhood.

Of course it isn't all roses — as your nose would be the first to tell you. It was to mask the unwelcome aromas — sweep them under the rug, as it were — that perfumes came into their own back in the days when cleanliness wasn't the fetish it is today. The general use of perfumes in England, for example, began with the reign of Queen Elizabeth I.

King Edward VI of England also had a penchant for rose fragrance and kept his chambers reeking on his own special formula, made as follows: "Take twelve spoonsful of bright red rosewater, the weight of sixpence in fine powdered sugar, and boil it on hot embers and coals softly, and the room will smell as though it were full of roses; but you must burn sweet cypress wood before, to take away the gross air."

Empress Josephine's preference was for musk and her rooms smelled of it so strongly that even Napoleon, who was said to use up sixty bottles of perfume a month, objected. It's said that the scent still lingers in her Malmaison Palace — more than 150 years later!

Happily, you can both prevent and banish household odours without resorting to such extravagant camouflage. Many specialized lotions and potions are available, but a number of housewives save money and avoid supply closet clutter by relying on a single old standby: soda bicarbonate, better known as baking soda. It sells for a few cents a pound box.

Soda has been used to sweeten homes since it made its debut as saleratus, back in 1839. Today, its uses have increased until there's scarcely a room in the house or a member of the family (Fido included) that won't benefit from an occasional application.

In the bathroom, for example, baking soda is used as mouthwash to sweeten breath, it's sprinkled dry in shoes to prevent perspiration odours from establishing themselves, and added to the diaper pail to keep odours in check. In the nursery a sponging with a soda solution will freshen the crib mattress cover and the mattress on the bottom of the playpen. Out of the mouths of babes often comes food that just went in — but a soda solution removes all trace of evidence from clothes, rug and furniture.

Closets and drawers which have harboured mothballs or contracted a case of mildew are returned to normal sweetness when swabbed out with a soda solution. Fido's bed, wherever it happens to be, is freed of doggy odours by means of the same treatment and Fido himself can be made more companionable if dry soda is occasionally rubbed into his coat and then brushed out.

Soda, either in solution or dry as a scratchless scourer, is especially useful as a kitchen cleaner. A pure food product, it's safe for every surface that comes in contact with food — and need not be locked out of the reach of children and pents.

Use it for all enclosed areas prone to musty odours: the refrigerator interior, bread box, cookie jar, canisters; empty bottles and jars you'd like to reuse; the coffee pot (where it banishes the oily residue that traps stale odours).

Sponges and rubber gloves, chopping boards, choppers and knives — and last, but not least, your hands after you've been preparing fish or onions — all benefit from "bicard." Wet whatever the food smell clings to, sprinkle with dry soda and rub with a damp towel. You simply rub dry soda on your hands and rinse.

1 cup grated raw carrots
1 cup corn syrup
2 eggs, well beaten

Preheat oven to 325° F. Sift together the dry ingredients. Stir in the nuts, raisins and rolled oats. Cream shortening, add carrots and syrup; beat well. Add eggs and beat well. 2 tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup farina
½ cup chopped walnuts
6 oz. semi-sweet chocolate chipits, melted
2 eggs, beaten.

Melt butter in saucepan over medium heat and brown sugar. Stir until mixture begins to bubble and sugar is almost melted. Remove from heat and stir in flour, baking powder and salt which have been sifted together. Add eggs, farina and nuts. Spread in shallow greased pan 9 x 12 inches. Bake for 25 to 35 minutes or until top is lightly browned. Do not over bake. Cool, then spread with melted chocolate. When cold cut into fingers with a wet knife.

½ cup walnuts, chopped
¾ cup currants
1 tsp. baking soda

Cream butter and sugar, and mix in eggs. Blend in vanilla and sour cream. Sift dry ingredients together, and combine with creamed mixture. Add nuts and currants. Chill until firm. Drop from a teaspoon, about two inches apart, and bake at 400 degrees F. for eight to ten minutes or until golden brown.

1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

1 tbsp. cocoa
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 cup rolled oats
1¼ cups diced, peeled apples
½ cup walnuts, coarsely chopped
icing sugar

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy; beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift together dry ingredients; add to creamed mixture. Stir in remaining ingredients, except icing sugar.

Spread in greased 9" x 13" pan or two 8" x 8" pans. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 25 minutes. Cool slightly, cut into bars or squares. Sprinkle with sifted icing sugar.

Makes three dozen 2½" x 1¼" bars.

Dairy training courses for 1969 in progress at K.C.A.T.

A class of 22 students is enrolled in the 1969 Three Month Course in dairy manufacturing at the Dairy Division of the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology. This marks the seventy-fifth year for this type of instruction, the Kemptville course being a continuation of similar courses begun at Kingston in 1894. The 1969 group of students includes one each from Manitoba and New Brunswick with the remainder being from Ontario.

Dairy plant workers who enroll for these courses receive instruction in butter and cheese manufacturing, the processing of fluid and concentrated milk and the related sciences of chemistry and microbiology. Many of those attending this year's course are doing so through training allowances paid them under the Occupational Training for Adults Program. These costs are paid through the Canada Manpower Centre at Prescott while the educational program is supervised by the Ottawa office of the Ontario Department of Education.

During its first week the instruction was directed entirely toward milk grading when the above group was augmented by eight plant milk graders and 22 bulk tank milk graders. This period of training and the successful completion of written and practical examinations are required by all Ontario milk graders.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK, FEBRUARY 9TH TO 15TH.

How much home are you missing through outdated wiring?

When this house was built it was hard to imagine all the wonderful ways in which electricity would be serving us today. That's why the wiring in so many older homes just isn't adequate for today's needs.

There are many signs. Fuses blowing. Lights dimming. Appliances performing sluggishly. Cluttered extension cords. Not enough outlets.

So, if you're planning to modernize your home, think first of the wiring. Have a qualified electrical contractor check it. You'll be surprised at how easily and inexpensively it can be updated. The Hydro Finance Plan makes it easy to get started right away. Just ask your Hydro.

IN MEMORIAM

THOMPSON —In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs George Thompson, who passed away February 17, 1965.

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all the world were ours to give
We would give it, yes, and more,
To see the face of Mother Dear
Come smiling through the door.

Always remembered by Audrey, Bud, Karen, Eleanor and Susan.
