Untimely Death of Well-Known Grantley Girl

A feeling of sadness swept over this community when it was learned that Marion Leila Robinson, had passed away in hospital on Thursday, March 16th. Marion was the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason O. Robinson and was twenty-five years of age.

She received her education at the local school and her Senior Matriculation from Chesterville High School, after which she entered the Civic hospital at Ottawa, where she graduated in June 1943, receiving her R. N. in November.

She was employed in Chambers Memorial hospital, Smiths Falls, until a few weeks before her death. All that medical skill and loving hands could do was done for her recovery but God willed it otherwise.

She leaves to mourn her passing besides her parents, one sister, Mrs. Bert Link of Winchester and one brother, Wilburn, at home.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from her late home to Grantley United church, where her pastor, Rev. Mr. Beach, spoke comforting words from Psalm 127. Verse 2. "He giveth his beloved sleep." The choir was under the leadership of Mrs. S.B. Casselman, with Mrs. Bert McMillan at the organ. The anthem, "Good night here, but Good Morning up There" was sung.

Interment was in the family plot in the adjoining cemetery.

The pallbearers were Dalton Elliott, Walter Beckstead, Arthur Merkley, Grant McMillan, Earl McMillan and Alexander Gordon.

There were many friends from a distance. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful from the '43 Graduating class of the Ottawa Civic hospital, the Superintendant and staff of the Smiths Falls hospital, the Women's Ass'n. of the Grantley United church, and from many other friends and relatives.

Messages of sympathy and telegrams were received from friends in Edmonton, Seattle, Wash., Sherbroke, Que. and New York.

O not in cruelty, not in wrath
The reaper came that day,
'Twas an angel visited the green earth,
And took the flower away.

Thursday, April 6th Blood Donors' Clinic

The next visit to Chesterville of the Mobile Blood Donors' Clinic will be Thursday, April 6th. The last clinic was the most successful ever held here when more than 100 gave their blood for the saving of our soldiers' lives. It is possibly too soon for many who gave their blood the last time to repeat. Having done so well before we are rather on the spot for this visit. There are many who have not given their blood at any time throughout this district. It was never needed more urgently than now on the eve of the great offensive. The actual taking of the blood causes no pain or inconvenience to the giver and your blood may save a life, perhaps that of a son or relative, certainly someone who is fighting for you. You can make this possible with an hour of your time attending the clinic. It costs nothing to see your doctor who will tell you if your blood is suitable, then contact Leo Gallagher who will set the hour your turn will come April 6th. It is important when you are to keep your appointment.

Nation Valley Boy Returns From Berlin

Sqdn. Ldr. Bob Hess of Iroquois, returned from a Berlin raid with only the navigator and the mid-upper gunner on the job in his big four-engined Halifax of the Leaside Squadron.

On the way to Berlin the oxygen mask of the rear gunner, W.O. H. A. Burnett, of Edmonton, froze up and he lost consciousness. There was no reply when the mid-upper gunner, P.O. Bob Dorland of Toronto, asked Burnett if he had identified an enemy fighter. Skipper Hess sent the wireless operator, PO R.J. Hannaford, of London, to investigate and he failed to return. Bomb Aimer G. B. Haywood, of York, England, went back and then the second pilot, FO Earl Kirk of Fort Frances, Ont., and flight engineer Flight Lieut. R. W. Duncanson, of Edinburgh.

"When the flight engineer failed to return I stopped the procession because there were only three of us left and none of us could leave our places in the ship," Hess said.

Hess reduced altitude and made England safely, with two men still out cold and two others "plenty groggy".

Mrs. Winterfield Froats of Nation Valley, is an aunt of Bob Hess.

SALE BILL HAS NEW ITEM.

In the lists of farm equipment on sale bills we often run into something, at least not common. We have heard that music in the cow stables is conducive to obtaining more milk from the cows and this week an electric cooler with stable radio was among the items of a bill put out.

GASOLINE COUPONS STOLEN

It is reported a shortage of gasoline ration books at the issuing office last week in Winchester was caused by the disappearance, allegedly stolen, of the stock on hand. The deficiency has now been made good and books issued in the usual manner.

MUCH SNOW EAST OF HERE

With very little snow in sight throughout this district we were somewhat surprised to hear from Basil Rowe the first of the week that on a visit to St. Isidore, about thirty five miles from here snow along the roads was in some places four feet deep.

ADVERTISE IN THE RECORD . . IT PAYS!

THURSDAY, MARCH 23RD, 1944

EQUAL PAY FOR EQUAL WORK

In many quarters the opinion obtains that in the postwar period the thousands of women now engaged in munition plants and similar war work will gradually drift back to their former occupations leaving the field clear for men. In the case of married women this may prove true but in regard to the rank and file of female workers it is more liable to prove a matter of wishful thinking. As a farewell gesture before retiring from the Chairmanship of the National War Labor Board Mr. Justice McTague went on record as supporting equal pay for equal work for men and women, on a basis of efficiency. In the case under advisement the company maintained that women employees required more supervision than men. In an unanimous decision by the board Mr. Justice McTague said that wage control regulations made no distinction between male and female workers. The principle of equal pay for equal production was not dealt with in an Order-in-Council and the board felt the time had come when it should declare its policy. Equality of pay should be based on efficiency and support of the principle did not necessitate a general revision of pay to all female workers, but only to those on jobs similar to those held by men.

EVERYBODY WORKS FOR DADDY

There is food for thought in the fact that with the dorp in the monthly liquor ration in Ontario from 160 ounces in January 1943 to the present level of 26 ounces the number of permit holders has increased from 155,295 to 1,277,459. It would almost bear out the contention that most of the adult members of families were being pressed into service. This would probably account, too, for the rapid exhaustion of quotas at the vendors.

CALLANDER QUINTS ONLY QUINTS

It is announced that the Dionne quintuplets will shortly leave their hospital home near North Bay, where, to quote the late Irvin S. Cobb, the American humorist, they had "no more privacy than a goldfish," and take up their residence with their parents in the handsome home recently erected for them. That the Dionnes are still a publicity asset is shown by the agitation in Buenos Aires, Argentina, over the claim of a Senore Diligenti that his wife had given birth to quints but unfortunately he was unable to produce any of the infants. This all happened after the news had caused a near riot in the city and the erring Diligenti has had to take to the tall timbers. There is no doubt the world wide reception accorded the little girls born at Callander influenced the Argentina demonstration but as yet no woman has been able to equal the achievement of the Ontario French Canadian mother. Quadruplets have been born recently both in England and Argentina but there was no Doctor Dafoe on hand to preserve their lives.

BECOMING "TREE-MINDED"

It is announced that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Comission plans to construct 300 miles of rural lines. This is quite a big order, but in connection with it is a favorable sign that the general run of people are becoming "tree-minded." At a recent convention of the Ontario Horticultural Association representing 210 societies with a membership of more than 30,000 a resolution was adopted requesting the Government to see that the trees on country roads are fully protected when these lines are being built by having the lines constructed on the front of the farms, and paying the farmer for each pole placed on his property. It is contended this policy would save the trees along the road and in addition would protect the service from limbs that might fall across the lines during storms.

MANY LOANS REQUESTED

It is not such a far cry to the days when many Ontario farmers were in such dire stress that they were even obliged to borrow money to pay their taxes. Fortunately that period has passed and except for the labor shortage agriculture is on a fairly solid footing. Despite improved conditions there are still many farmers in need of a little timely help. Losses in the province since the inception of farm loans in 1922 have amounted to $2,942,575 up to last September, and 70 percent of the mortgagors were unable to meet their payments. The Provincial Treasurer states that under the Farm Loans Adjustment Act which went into effect last November, many applications have been received and 42 cases already heard. He felt it desirable that farmers who were hard up should have their loans rearranged on a basis to encourage them to meet their principal and interest when due. In 31 cases reduction was made in principal and interest or the loan reamortized or both. The cases had resulted in a reduction of principal amounting to $15,882 and an interest reduction of $14,229.

MY MOTHER
Florence H. Walcott

WE read about the mothers,
Of the days of long ago,
With their gentle wrinkled faces,
And their hair as white as snow.

They were middle-aged at forty,
And at fifty donned lace caps,
And at sixty clung to shoulder shawls
And had their little naps.

But I love the modern mother,
Who can share in all our joys,
And who understands the problems
Of her growing girls and boys.

She may boast that she is sixty,
But her heart is twenty-three—
My glorious bright-eyed mother,
Who is keeping young for me.

INTERESTING FACTS ON SUSPENSION MEAT RATIONING

Some interesting information was disclosed by D. C. Abbott, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Finance, when he announced in the House of Commons on February 29th, that for the time being meat rationing would be suspended. He pointed out that a careful review of the present position with respect to the meat supply is that the excess supply coming to market is over and above the amount needed to meet present domestic requirements at the present rate of consumption and is in excess of the physical capacity to move it into export channels. The sensible and proper course, therefore, to take is a temporary suspension of meat rationing.

Mr. Abbott said that heavy marketing of all types of live stock will continue for the next two or three months. During the first eight weeks of 1944 the inspected packing plants in Canada have slaughtered 780,000 more hogs, 50,000 more cattle, 10,000 more calves and 30,000 more sheep and lambs than in the corresponding weeks of 1943. These figures represent an increase in the eight weeks of 1944 over the similar period in 1943 and 80 percent in hogs, 50 per cent in cattle, 20 percent in calves, and 35 percent in sheep and lambs. It has been only with the greatest difficulty that the packing plants have been able physically to handle this great increase in volume.

As a result of these very heavy runs of live stock storage and transportation facilities have become acutely congested. At the end of February there were over 102,000,000 pounds of meat in cold storage, nearly twice as much as the corresponding time a year ago and 65 percent greater than is normal at this time of the year. In addition to meat storage provision has to be made for the cold storage of other food products and there is at present no reserve of cold cold storage space to take care of any unforeseen backing up, due to unpreventable delays in shipping.

In the first eight weeks of 1944 record quantities of meat have been sent overseas—more than has ever been moved in a two-month period.

Mr. Abbott explained that meat rationing is suspended, not abandoned, and he emphasized that in order to facilitate the resumption of meat rationing, the system of slaughter permits and that the requirement that all carcasses be stamped with the permit holders' licence, will remain in full effect. It is proposed, however, for the duration of the suspension of meat rationing to permit individual farmers to slaughter their own live stock for sale directly to consumers without the necessity of their getting a permit or stamping the meat so sold.

ITALY—NEW ROLE FOR A.A. GUNS ON 8TH ARMY FRONT

Gunners of a London heavy A.A. battery, veterans of the seige of Tobruk, are now doing double duty with their 3.7 in. guns in the forward areas in Italy. In addition to supplying high-level A.A. protection, they are being used as tactical field artillery. The usual A. A. shell, fitted with a time-fuse which exploded over the target is used. The normal slit trenches, which afford protection from ordinary ground bursting shells, are useless against the rain of steel from these shells. The guns can be switched to A.A. position in a moment. This battery played an important part in the defence of Cardiff and Hull during the Battle of Britain. The average overseas service of the men in this battery is three years.

COMMITTEE OF COMMISSION TO VISIT E. ONTARIO

A special committee of the Ontario Agricultural Commission of Inquiry, headed by the Chairman, A. Leitch, will visit three points in Eastern Ontario during the first week of April, to hear the views and receive representations from the farmers of that section of the Province. The meetings will be held under the auspices of the County Agricultural Representatives, as follows:

April 3rd. Kingston; April 4th. at Renfrew and April 6, at Kemptville.

Representations from all of the surrounding counties will also be received at these meetings, which will be open to the public and which all farmers are invited to attend. The committee is representative of all phases of agriculture, so that briefs and representations may cover the whole field of Eastern Ontario farming.

Arrangements as to the place of meetings, which will start at 10.00 a. m. daily, will be made by the agricultural representatives. They are also taking steps to ensure that all farm organizations are given full opporunity of placing their views before the committee.

A Strange Coincidence

The death last week of Capt. Roy Brown recalls some incidents of the last war which may not be known to all his old friends in Carleton Place. Early in 1915 Stearne Edwards, a friends of Roy's during his high school days left his work at Port Nelson and returned to Carleton Place with the intention of enlisting. Here he met his schoolboy friend, Roy, who was similarly inclined. Roy, however, wished to enter the air force and he prevailed on his friend Stearne to go to Dayton, Ohio, and take a course in aviation. On their etrurn after graduation they enlister and were given the rank of Lieutenant and continued further training.

On many occasions afterwards they flew together and later both rose to the rank of Flight Commander. Some Time afterwards one of them won the Distinguished Flying Cross, to be followed almost immediately afterwards by the other winning the same decoration Later one was awarded the bar to the cross, followed by a similar honor going to his mate. Both were advanced to the rank of Captain in the British airforce within a short time of each other.

At the time that Roy brought down the German ace, Richthofen, there was some question as to Roy's right to this distinction, but all doubts were set at rest after confirmation from his friend Stearne who verified Roy's right to the honor, following his report.

Eventually Roy crashed in England and was so badly injured that his body was placed in the morgue, he having been pronounced dead. Here he was visited by his friend Stearne, who insisted that Roy was still alive and he prevailed on the doctors to make another examination with the result that he was found to be alive and he was given medical aid and eventually was nursed back to health again.

On Armistice Day his friend Stearne also crashed in England and 10 days later, died as a result of his injuries.—Carleton Place Canadian.

Who Shall Lead?

"My boy," Themistocles, the soldier and statesman, once said to his young son, "you are the most powerful person in all Greece."

"How can that be?" asked the lad.

"Because," answered Themistocles. "the Athenians command all of Greece; I command the Athenians; your mother commands me; and you command your mother!"

When is a Dollar Not a Dollar?

When it won't buy a dollar's worth of goods! For instance, compared to present-day standards, your dollar of the last war was worth, not a dollar ...but sometimes less than 50¢.. Housewives, who went marketing in 1917, had to part with for a four-pound jar of jam which you buy to-day for ... Dad's winter underwear set him back then, as compared to the he could buy it for to-day. You get a lot more for your money NOW 1917 1944 ... because price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept the value of your dollar HIGH! That's why it will pay you to see that selfish spending never undermines price control in Canada. Remember, you protect your dollar's worth when you use your money wisely . when you pay off debts ... refuse to buy needless luxuries... give black markets a wide berth .. and don't hoard goods.

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Keep Your Dollar Value High!

RECESS FOR INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

Recess in childhood days was a chance to clear out of the classroom and forget that a doldrum wasn't a place where they threw horses overboard, and that a dividend was not only something connected with "long division but could mean profits to company shareholders."

A few years later these dividends assumed personal responsibility. If time were wasted or careless work turned out, the whole industry suffered. But such jobs as sticking labels on small packages, folding handkerchiefs, ironing, or assembling bicycle chains, become terribly monotonous. Just because an operator is sitting down at the job doesn't by any means make it less tiresome.

With the increase of women and young people, unaccustomed to factory work, in industry, regular rest periods to reduce fatigue are becoming more and more popular. Increased production and morale have encouraged employers to organize rest periods, usually a 15-minute period once or twice a day.

In plants where one break is provided, the morning was perferred as a good many workers had not eaten enough breakfast. Experience has shown that the value of the period is greatly increased if food is eaten. Fatigue is quite often due merely to hunger. Provisions for canteens and lunch-rooms are considered as essentials under war conditions. Tea is the most popular drink and the food usually consists of bread and sandwiches, cakes and buns.

Each industry has its own problems in allowing work to cease for a short time. For instance, a chocolate dipper must work while the cholocate is soft, therefore, shorter rest periods but more of them would be necessary. Then again, where poisons or dangerous gases and fumes are used, the workers must leave the room to eat. Some plants find that a sleep, dancing, singing or listening to music obtain good results.

Employment statistics issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that in forty-eight months, from September 1939 to September 1943, firms reporting monthly returns have enlarged their staffs by some 669,000 workers.

BUTTER PRODUCTION BELOW LAST YEAR

Butter production in Ontario is still running considerably below the same period of last year, says the report for February of the Creamery Instructors of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This was particularly true in Eastern Ontario, where production was low and the demands for storage butter from day to day have been taking the available supply in storage. Production for March, however, is expected to be stepped up somewhat, as there was an increase in the number of patrons shipping cream in the latter part of February. The demand for fluid milk in the Toronto area is affecting butter production in some sections.

In the London area, where production was 15 percent below last year, the decrease is attributed largely to shortage of feed.

There are indications of a cream "price war" in the Stratford-Listowel area for self-delivered cream. Creameries in Stratford and the immediate vicinity are paying 51 cents for special grade delivered, including subsidy, and are circularizing producers to that effect.

The report states that the quality of cream received at creameries during January and February was the best for these two months since the inception of cream grading in Ontario in 1926.

New Hydro Rural Rates Reduce Your Bills

Note the saving you will obtain under the new rate of 4c, 1 6|10c, and ¾c in the following examples showing comparative quarterly bills for several commonly used quantities of energy:

Where Old Rate Was 4c, 2c, 3-4c

STANDARD FARM SERVICE			HAMLET 2-WIRE SERVICE
3 Months' kilowatt hours	Your Bill At Old Rate	Your Bill At New Rate	3 Months' kilowatt hours	Your Bill At Old Rate	Your Bill At New Rate
150	8.60	6.56	100	6.93	5.52
300	11.52	8.86	200	8.87	7.54
600	17.35	13.53	300	10.85	9.10

These examples illustrate the savings you will secure in your Hydro bill in Rural districts where the old rate was as shown above. The amounts shown are for quarterly net bills, including Dominion Government War Tax. The reduction in your bill in a district having a higher old rate (such 6c, 2c, ¾c or 5c, 2c, ¾c) will be proportionately greater than the examples shown above.

Please note that the service charge for farms is discontinued, but the minimum bill for such consumer is $6.56 per quarter, for which amount up to 168 kw.-hrs can be used. In a district having a former rate of 4c and 2c, this same amount would have cost the consumer $8.29.

Hamlet consumers have the service charge cut in half, but the minimum bill is $4.87 per quarter, for which they can use an amount of 83 kw.-hrs. In a district having a former rate of 4c and 2c, this amount would have cost the consumer 6.46.

These explanations are given to help you understand the new rate. In our next advertisement, we will discuss for your benefit, the UNIFORM RATE. In the meantime, if you need further information, please ask your Rural District Superintendent.

No Enterprise Is To Be Free

Reprinted from The Statesman, Bowmanville, Ontario.

"The free enterprise that continues will naturally have to conform to the national planning policy," say the C CF socialist spokesmen in their book "Make This Your Canada." Can our readers imagine the same people denying that their socialism means regimentation?

"The free enterprise that continues," was defined in their earlier book as including agriculture, some small merchandising and so forth which, it was said, would continue "for a time" to operate under private ownership.

In this latest book they again show that in the back of their heads, anything left to private individuals will not be that way for keeps—for they add to the words with which we open this article this statement: "But while it continues, it will be encouraged to do its best." How long is it to be "allowed" to continue? We think we shall have to add "while it continues" to our list of CCF "weasel words."

Make no mistake, the CCF will assume to judge how you run your business, whether you "exploit" the public when you aim at a profit, whether you are likely to become "socially" dangerous, and whether you are "loyally" playing your part. If in their judgment your way of running what is left "free" to you is not in line with their ideas and conforming to their rules, they'll take your business away from you.

They say so in as many words. Here it is from page 163: "If a private business (1) is in no position to exploit the public (2) shows no signs of becoming a socially dangerous vested interest (3) is being operated under decent working conditions and (4) is ready loyally to play its part in the fulfillment of the national plan, there is no social or economic reason why it should not remain in private hands."

Who is to be the judge? You see how they leave it wide open to their own arrogant judgment—and they even add this, to show that we'd all "come under" their regimentation and compulsion:

> "It should be emphasized that the whole economy will come under the national plan and that every sector will have to play its part in the plan. Even enterprise which may be left in private hands will therefore function in accordance with the controls, regulations and standards which the achievement of the plan will require."

The CCF is vainly trying to evade the fact that in their previous literature they disclosed what we termed a disreputable political trick. That trick was the promise of compensation to anybody whose business they took over—for we showed in their own words that they were pledged to tax back again all the compensation —which they described as merely "politically tactical".

Evidently concerned about the ready grasp exhibited by Canadians that the CCF policy is confiscation, in "Make This Your Canada," they say: "It is not the intention of CCF policy to PAUPERIZE any class or section of the Canadian people." The editor of The Canadian Statesman now points out that, apparently fearful of the effect of their previous statement that compensation would be taken away by special taxes, Professor Scott and David Lewis, in their latest book, have conveniently omitted their intended taxing process. They just allow the former shareholders to continue eating. But if these investors protest, they will be treated as "saboteurs"!

YOU CONFORM—OR ELSE!

Strangely enough, after we had written our article No. 8, which appears on this page on "What the CCF plans to do with Canada"—and just as we were ready to put it into print—we ran across a really astonishing confirmation of what we have said in that article.

The Heaps Engineering Company of Vancouver, a reputable firm, employing 500 workers, wrote a letter asking what the CCF Party would do to or for the company if it came into power. The reply is just what we say in article No. 8, namely, that even if a business firm is left for a time in private hands, it must do as it is told in conformity with the CCF plan. Here is what Mr. David Lewis replied to the Heaps Engineering Company:

"As to the question 'What is likely to happen to the ownership of your firm under the CCF?' This question is not posisble to answer with certainty. The CCF stands unequivocally on the principle of social ownership of industry. We realize that during the first period some sectors of the economy will have to be left in private hands and the CCF government will have a very big job socializing the monopolies and near-monopolies. It is quite likely therefore, that a relatively smaller concern such as yours MAY BE left in private hands. However, WHETHER YOUR FIRM WILL REMAIN IN PRIVATE HANDS OR NOT. ITS PRODUCTION AND ITS WORK WILL HAVE TO FIT INTO THE NATIONAL AND PROVINCIAL PLANS FOR THE BUILDING OF OUR COUNTRY. EVERY UNIT OF THE ECONOMY WILL BE FITTED INTO THE GENERAL PLAN."

Well Heeled

Down in the Kentucky mountains, where the potency and plentitude of spirituous liquors lie not entirely within the scope of government scarcity and rationing, a magician charmed the populace with many wonderful feats of legerdemain.

Midway in his performance, he advanced to the front of the stage and said, "For my next trick I will require a small flask of whiskey. Will some gentleman in the audience accommodate me with the loan of a pint flask?"

Children's Welfare

This is the Second in a Series of Seven articles which will appear in these columns.

Throughout the area in which you live—it may be a city, a town or the wider boundaries of the county—there are children whom harsh circumstances have deprived of the rights, opportunities and happiness that your children enjoy. For the moment we need not ask why this has happened to them, or whose fault it is, or whether behind the neglect or misfortune that has made them its victims are conditions of society for which we are all responsible.

There is a long trail of cause and effect that leads to broken homes, to irresponsible parenthood, to low standards of living out of which can come nothing but the stunted lives and souls of children. This calls up such reflections upon the organization of human society that most of us immediately find ourselves in a bog of economic and political thinking!

Let us at once admit that the underpinnings of Canadian society cry out for enlightened social engineering and that many of our social and human problems stem out from faculty economics. Nevertheless let us all face our children's problem in Canada with informed minds and warm hearts and recognize that there are tools waiting to be used—good tools, in every community! More tools than there are people using them!

There are at least 40,000 children in this province who for one reason and another during one year must come under the protection of the Children's Aid Societies. Of these at least 8000 children have been found to be utterly deprived of normal home and care that our courts have legally committed them as wards of some one of the 52 societies in Ontario. Tens of thousands of others must be temporarily protected while every effort is made to improve the conditions of their own homes and help, advise and educate their parents.

These are just cold statistical statements. Let us use our imaginations a little! They mean that forty thousand little boys and girls in this beautiful province of Ontario, for some cause, have lacked care, opportunity and happiness that in a Christian country is their birthright! Nameless babies placed out in squalor and neglect; little boys and girls so neglected physically that their own innocence; children if not actually abused and neglected, suffering physically and spiritually from discord and incapacity and low intelligence within the home. And sometimes children living impoverished lives because a loving mother has been deserted or a hard-working, careworn father, has been left to fill a mother's place.

It was for such children as these that about 70 years ago and through the efforts of a few great humanitarians, our world began to bestir itself. It was a benevolent English businessman, who having seen the beginning of the child welfare movement in New York, brought the idea of a society to protect children to England. He went to a meeting of the Liverpool Society for the protection of animals and standing up in the audience said: "I am here for the prevention of cruelty to animals and I cannot draw the line at children"! Famous philanthropists took up the challenge; societies sprang up; the great Lord Shaftesbury fathered the first protection act in 1889. It was the beginning of a new era.

Toronto saw the first efforts in Ontario to establish a law to protect the child, even against its own parents; a shelter for abandoned waifs and regulations to prevent hundreds of little boys and girls begging, selling papers or shoe laces. These conditions had aroused the strong sympathies of a reporter on the Toronto Globe, Mr. J. J. Kelso, who really became the father of the first Children's Aid Society in Canada. As elsewhere, the movement was bound up with protection for animals and it is an arresting fact that the first response to this dual movement on the part of the Toronto City Council was a drinking trough for horses in 1887. The children came after!

It was several years after this first stirring of child welfare in Toronto that a group of people in Winnipeg went into a meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and submitted a motion that this work be extended to include the homeless children running the streets of this expanding new city. It is a fact that argument was raised that if the children were included then the dogs and cats would not get adequate protection! It is also a matter of record that an elderly spinster on the platform rose and clutching her little pet dog in her arms, spoke strongly against the motion. Finally Dean (later Archbishop) Matheson, who was the chairman, said: "All who want to fight for the children go to the left and all who want to go to the dogs stay on the right!"

Believe it or not, that meeting carried for the dogs and cats. Eleven of the people who were there went out and applied for a charter to start a Children's Aid Society.

The next article will tell you something about the wonderful piece of legislation fathered by the late Sir John Gibson, which first brought into being this democratic organization that operates under Government statute, but belongs to you in your community and which you can support and help and make what you will of your Children's Aid Society!"

First Aid Instructor—Suppose the victim was bleeding profusely, had a broken leg, was extremely pale and showed no pulse. What would you do?

Student—Doc, I'd bury him.

...—V...—

Country Constable: Pardon, Miss, but swimming is not allowed in this lake.

City Flapper: Why didn't you tell me before I undressed?

Country Constable: Well, there ain't no law against undressing.

Unafraid of The Blitz

Those who are afraid the Blitz is going to have a serious effect on the children of Britain would have been greatly relieved had they accompanied me on a visit Sunday, January 30th, to an area where bombing has destroyed many homes—often five at a time—while damaging many others.

Visiting relatives in the southeast of England, only a short distance from London, I was having tea with my friends in the late afternoon when a child of fifteen arrived and smilingly informed her grandparents that she and her mother would have to spend some time with them as the windows of their home had practically all been blown out and the house was rather in a mess—the result of Saturday night's raid which was aimed at London but failed to reach the city. Frustrated, and to lighten their plane for a fast get-away, the Germans unloaded their bombs helter skelter and some fell close to the child's home with devastating results.

What interested me mostly was the casual attitude of the child. There was no weeping; no bitterness; the home had been damaged too badly for them to remain while repairs were being effected they turned to their friends—and the welcome was warm, for no one in the British Isles knows when their home may bear the brunt of the attack and they, too, may be literally on the street.

To one who had not yet been called upon to experience the loss of home and probably many treasures, the attitude of these English folks towards bombing was extremely interesting. Even though some one near and dear to them had been driven from their home they were pleased that "Jerry" had failed to reach his objective. We Canadians have heard and read much about the spirit of the English people but it does something to you when you are close to it and watch it at work. It is quite evident that we do not need to worrf about the effect of the war on the children of Britain—they are taking it like veterans of the line.

Missed The Raid.

We arrived in London only an hour after the raid was over and the cabby telling us about it on the way to the hotel, said "It weren't a half bad show; them guns put up a wonderful barrage—one of the best seen 'ere in a long time."

From our conversation it appeared there was more danger from flak than from the Huns. Three planes were brought down. It was interesting to learn later that the main effort is to throw enough flak into the sky to block the path of the enemy and force him into the open country where the night fighters go to work and do their best to shoot him down before he gets across the channel. Shooting planes down over London creates considerable damage and loss of life in the area where they fall.

In the one area visited we saw for the first time some of the damage caused by the raid Saturday, January 29th. What was said to have been a bomb struck the sidewalk in a rather open area and penetrated far into the ground. The concrete was cut as cleanly for a diameter of about eighteen inches as you would cut the top off a tin can. A few feet away the road was chipped by another missle but not seriously. A house nearby showed the effects of previous bombing, only the walls standing. Across the street a whole block of houses stood unharmed.

POINTS WORTH REMEMBERING IN GETTING NEW BOOKS

Belief that the great majority of consumers, from past experience are thoroughly conversant with most of the details of the approaching distribution of No. 4 books was expressed today by the Local Ration Board which, however, stressed the following points which they should bear in mind.

The new books must be obtained on one of the dates on which distributing centres will be open in the different municipalities. Failure to get them at that time will mean that the consumer will be without ration coupons until at least April 17, as no late applications will be honored until that date. The new ration books will be in use before April 17.

Consumers should watch very closely for newspaper advertising giving the location of their distributing centres and the dates and hours on which they will be open. These will frequently vary from place to place according to local conditions and arrangements. Because centres in one community are open on a certain day is no guarantee that these elsewhere will also be open, nor in any case will they be open throughout the entire week of March 26.

The No. 3 ration book, with the red application card at the rear properly filled out and signed by the book-holder, must be presented before a No. 4 book can be issued. Book-holders are particularly requested to fill in the space marked "county". Parents or guardians may sign for children and illiterates may make their mark in the presence of a witness.

Ration books belonging to a household may be presented by any adult belonging to it. Each book-holder must, however, complete and sign his or her own application card. In rural areas, an adult may be similarly entrusted with this responsibility on behalf of neighbors, but here again individual book-holders must personally complete and sign their application cards

Unless they wish to do without sugar for home-canning (or, alternatively, the preserves for which canning sugar coupons will be valid book-holders should on no account surrender or destroy their No. 3 ration books. The first 10F coupons in them will be good for the purchase of canning sugar and meat coupons from No. 41 will also possess value in the event of meat rationing being resumed.

Immediately on receipt of their No. 4 books, consumers should fill out all the spaces on the cover and also fill in the spaces on each sheet of coupons. In addition, they should keep a separate record of the serial numbers of their books. This will be of the greatest value should the books become lost or mislaid. Consumers should also advise their Local Ration Boards whenever there is a change of name or address. Regulations require surrender of ration books whenever the holder dies, joins the armed forces or leaves Canada.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! March having come in "like a lion," its reasonable to hope that the first days of Spring may be fair with a real tinge of Spring warmth in thought and inspiration to try new ways in our household duties.

From the heavier meals of Winter days, when more body warmth from food was necessary, change now to lighter dishes particularly in desserts. Have you thought, for instance, of new puff pastry with creamy fillings? It's rather tricky to make, but with detailed instructions you may try them with confidence. Having once mastered the successful making of your puff pastry, there are numerous dainty and delicious desserts to try. For example: patty cases for hot creamed mixtures or cold salad concoctions; Napoleons and French pastries when fruit season commences.

Detailed Directions.

1. Sift a quantity of bread flour once. Measure 1½ cups into a bowl—do this by spooning the flour lightly into a measuring cup to prevent packing. Add 1 tsp. salt.

2. We measure the fat by filling the measuring cup with 1-3 cup of ice cold water and dropping chunks of very cold fat until, with all fat pressed under the surface, the water level reaches the "cupful" mark. We drain the fat well. To obtain 1-3- cup butter we use the cup filled two-thirds with water.

3. The shortening and butter (2-3 plus 1-3 cup) are then chopped into the sifted flour and salt. A handy dough blender or two sharp knives may be used to cut the fat into the size of large peas. A quick, sharp, keen cutting action is required—never twist the blender as that has a tendency to "cream" the fat.

4. Next, we believe in dribbling in ice cold water. Use a fork to toss the flour over and over as the water is sprinkled here and there. This keeps complete control of the addition of the water so that just enough will be used to make a dough which, when lightly mixed, holds together nicely and comes cleanly from the sides of the bowl—our usual rule.

5. The next step is to wrap the dough in wax paper and chill it for half an hour before rolling it

6. We use a lightly floured board to roll it out, with a rolling pin covered with a ribbed cotton pull-over, which holds a minimum amount of flour evenly. Roll it out to a thickness of one-third inch. Then, fold it in half back to front and again from left to right and roll it out once more.

7. Repeat the folding; roll it out again and proceed to use it.

8. Cut for tarts and fit loosely into tart pans, excluding air; partially filled with dried beans. Bake in electric oven at 450 deg. until rims brown (a few minutes, 3 to 5 depending on number of tarts); remove beans and complete baking.

At this time of year we depend upon the plain vanilla-flavored mixtures. If you have any canned fruit left over, put in a little cream filling then a spoonful of diced fruit, then more cream filling and top with a piece of fruit.

Chocolate filling is tremendously good used for these pastries—so is butterscotch or a caramel cream mixture.

Easy Puff Paste.

1½ cups once-sifted bread flour, 1 tsp. salt, 2-3 cup chilled shortening, 1-3 cup chilled butter. Ice cold water.

Rich Chocolate Filling

2¼ cups milk, 2 ozs. unsweetened chocolate, 4 tbsp. cornstarch, 1-3 tsp. salt, 7-8 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg and one yolk, 1-3 tsp. vanilla.

Measure 2 cups milk into deep saucepan; cut up and add chocolate. Heat until the chocolate melts, using electric element on Low, then beat smooth with a rotary beater and bring to scalding point. Mix cornstarch with ¼ cup milk and stir into hot mixture; also add sugar and salt. Cook with occasional stirring and mix into slightly beaten egg and egg yolk. Turn into double boiler and cook until the mixture thickens. Remove from element and add vanilla. Cool partially before using for pie, or pastries.

Butterscotch Filling

1 cup brown sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups hot milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla, 2 tablespoons soft butter.

Combine the sugar very thoroughly with the corn starch and salt. Stir in the hot milk. Stir and cook the mixture in a double boiler until it has thickened smoothly; then cover and cook, with occasional stirring, until no raw flavour remains. Beat the eggs slightly and slowly stir in the hot milk mixture. Return to the double boiler and stir and cook until again thickened. Remove from heat and add the vanilla. Add the butter about 1 tablespoon at a time, stirring it in well after each addition—this will prevent any possibility of the butter not working in smoothly. Cool partially before turning into pie or tart shells.

Vanilla Cream Filling

1-3 cup granulated sugar, 3½ tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, 2¼ cups hot milk, 2 egg yolks (or 1 egg), 1teaspoon pure vanilla, ½ tablespoon butter.

Mix sugar thoroughly with corn starch and salt. Stir in hot milk. Stir and cook in double boiler until mixture has thickened smoothly. Cover and cook, with occasional stirring, until no raw flavor remains. Beat the egg yolks (or the egg) slightly and slowy stir in the hot milk mixture. Return to the double boiler and stir and cook until again thickened. Remove from electric element and add vanilla and butter. Cool partially before using in pie.

Before you blame your telephone...

Engineers designed the mouthpiece of your telephone to give best results at one-quarter of an inch from the lips. When your lips are farther away than this, your voice is transmitted less strongly . . . less clearly.

Failure to remember these simple facts accounts for the great majority of "trouble" reports.

Help avoid needless service check-ups, and at the same time let those you talk to hear you without strain. Just remember: Talk clearly, normally, directly into the telephone, with your lips just one-quarter of an inch from the mouthpiece.

On Active Service THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA Giving Wings to Words

Smoking while you talk may cause distorted reception. It also prevents your holding the mouthpiece directly in front of the lips.

If you need to reach across your desk as you talk, continue to hold the telephone in correct position, close to the lips.

A wall set can't come to you; stand or sit so that your lips are directly in front of and close to the mouthpiece. Don't "talk across" it.

For clear, noise-free transmission, always keep your desk telephone upright — not at or near the horizontal position.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs. John T. Crump

Friends and relatives united Saturday afternoon to pay their last respects to the memory of Mrs. John T. Crump of the Ninth, who died at her home there at 11 o'clock Wednesday night in her 85th year.

Born in the township of Cambridge in the year 1860, her maiden name being Margaret Aggett, only daughter of the late Henry Aggett and his wife the late Bridget Kearns, she spent her childhood life in that vicinity until 55 years ago when she married, John T. Crump, and together they took up farming near Morewood

Mrs. Crump was an outstanding member of Morewood United church and in previous years a member of the Women's Association.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her loss two daughters and a son. Mrs. Wm. A. Sproule, Cornwall; Mrs. Geo. Elliott, Orchardside; and Charles at home. She also leaves one brother, Christopher Aggett of Ottawa.

The funeral took place from her home to the Morewood United church at 2 p.m., where services were conducted by Rev. T.A. Woods. He chose as his text Psalm 90:10, from which he derived great comfort for those dear to the deceased. The two favorite hymns of the deceased "Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go," and "Rock of Ages" were sung. Mr. Casselman rendered a solo "Someday the Silver Cord will Break."

Following the services, the body was placed in the vault at Maple Ridge to await burial in the spring. Rev. Woods led in prayer at the vault.

Pallbearers were six grandchildren Holford Crump, Leslie Crump, Ranold Sproule, Dalton Elliott, Charles Crump and Kenneth Crump.

Relatives who attended the funeral from a distance were Mr. Christopher Aggett, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. James Imrie, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sproule, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Crump, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crump, all of Cornwall.

The floral tributes were beautiful and included, Pillow: Husband and Family; Wreath: Crump Grandchildren; Sprays: Thomas Hornby Family, Elliott Grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jardine, Newington.

The deceased left 19 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. One grandson Gnr. James R. Crump, is serving overseas.

CANADA'S BRAVE FISHERMEN

Is it not remarkable that, although thousands of fishermen have left the fisheries for other branches of acticity, notably for service in the armed forces and more particularly the Navy, the Canadian people have not suffered from a lack of good fish? No doubt, canned salmon, when it is on the shelves again, will have to be rationed, but there are all kinds of other fish to be had.

There has never been such a demand as there is now for Canadian fish products, yet the demand has been well met. The figures of employment tell the tale. Before the war the fisheries were employing close to 90,000 persons, which shows that it was quite a sizeable industry. Then the needs of the war took a heavy toll and the number of people employed in the fisheries was reduced by about nine thousand.

Actually the number of fishermen who put out in their boats to claim the harvest of the sea was reduced, by more than 10,000 and when it is remembered than an army division is somewhere between ten and fifteen thousand men, it will give some idea of the loss to the industry. Yet those who were left have risen to the occasion marvelously and we have had plenty of fish. Many of the catch have been increased.

According to letters that have come from overseas, many of our Canadian fishermen have been visiting the fishing villages that nestle on the shores of little bays and harbours along the east and west coasts of the United Kingdom. One letter tells of hearing the chimes ringing out from St. Giles Cathedral in Edinburgh that fine old refrain "Caller Herrin", caller being the Scotch for fresh.

Wha'll buy my caller herrin'?
They're bonnie fish and halesome farin',
Buy my caller herrin' new drawn frae the Forth.

Many of these fishing villages are inhabited by people who came originally from Norway and settled along the coast to pursue their vocation. For uncounted generations they have kept pretty much to themselves as communities and have a remarkable record for sobriety, law-abiding and the virtues generally.

Two Irishmen were looking into a jewelry display window at a collection of diamonds.

Pat: Mike how would you like to have your pick in there?

Mike: Begorra I would rather have me shovel.
