P. S. Boyd Elected Reeve by Acclamation Chas. McMillan Named Fourth Councillor Following Second Nomination in Village

P. S. Boyd was given an acclamation as Reeve of the Village of Chesterville when he was the only one nominated at Thursday night's nomination meeting, and at the close of the hour for qualifying on Friday, Chas. McMillan was returned to his seat on Council, being the only one of four nominees to file the necessary papers.

Others nominated for Council, but who withdrew their names, were S. Morris, Carl McMillan and J. A. Morris.

The Council Board now consists of P. S. Boyd, as Reeve; M. A. Flynn, Chas. McMillan, Glenn E. Merkley and John L. M. Turner, who will take over their new duties at the New Year.

Considerable interest was apparent in the nominations, the second required to fill the slate of Reeve and four Councillors, and about 50 people were present in the Community Theatre. At the close of the official hour for the filing of nominations, H. C. Hummel, Clerk of the Village, was named chairman and called on the candidates and others to speak.

Candidates Speak

John Turner, given an acclamation at the first nominations, was the opening speaker. His hope is that more industry may be brought into Chesterville so that the young people will not be forced to seek employment out of town as they leave school. He promised co-operation with the other Councillors in this regard. He said 35 people—not all from Nestle's, where he is employed—had congratulated him on securing a seat on Council.

Glenn Merkley said he also was new on the job, and he would help with municipal matters the best he knew how.

Matthew A. Flynn, the third Councillor to receive an acclamation following the first meeting, stated he was also new to the work, and while he had never taken an active part in municipal affairs, his family had lived here, almost a century and had always been interested in the village's affairs. His nomination was news to him, as he had not been approached. If a full complement had qualified on the previous date he would not have considered the office. He was "green at the job", he said, "but your interests are my interests".

Union's Interest

P. G. Hewitt, official of Chesterville Local of the National Dairy Workers' Union, wished to clear up some misunderstandings about the Union presenting two candidates for Council. There are 70 to 74 men at Nestle's on the membership and they feel they have a perfect right to have representation on Council, he declared. He stressed the Union had not affected their political leanings—they are not Communists or Leftists. Many of the members are ratepayers, some are renters, while others are single men.

"I anyone is to blame", said Mr. Hewitt, "I am, for as long ago as last August I encouraged the members to take an interest in municipal affairs. One of the reasons was the increase in taxation—not that we felt the members of Council were not doing their job well, but we were anxious to know why the costs were so high." The councillors named by the Union are required to report to the organization each month what transpires at Council, said Mr. Hewitt.

Fully expecting an election, the Union local had appointed two scrutineers and had arranged for two cars for polling day. Had a contest been necessary, the Union members felt their candidates would have stood as good a chance as any others, concluded Mr. Hewitt.

Need for Co-Operation

It was a long time since Chesterville had required a second nomination to complete the Council membership, and certainly for the position of Reeve, said Reeve-Elect P. S. Boyd. He regretted the general apathy of citizens toward municipal government, and warned that local government might be usurped by Counties' Council and the Provincial Government. The result here this year was a council of three inexperienced men elected by acclamation, and the village might as well have had a "green" reeve as well, he said. This, it had been intimated, would have meant a "green" Clerk as well. "Certainly not a very desirable situation for the start of a new year of municipal business," said the speaker.

With four year's experience on Council, three of them 10 years ago, and with three months of the past term spent in bed recovering from a heart ailment contracted in His Majesty's Forces, he felt he was "on the spot" as the only nominee for the reeveship. He emphasized he had no intention of entering into any fighting", as he had heard one candidate remark after the first nomination. "Surely we've had enough fighting in the last six years, and can work in peace now. Frankly, if it comes to the point where the only alternative is to fight, you can prepare for another nomination," said Mr. Boyd. It was not expected four men could sit down at a council board with uniformity of opinion on every topic, but there could be harmony of effort in serving the best interests of the village.

He likened Council to a Board of Directors of a corporation, with the ratepayers as shareholders. Dividends are the services enjoyed by the town. Therefore the greatest effort should be made by the board in administering its responsibilities—the affairs and monies of others. They must work for Chesterville as a whole—not for any sectional interests.

Chas. McMillan stated why he had not qualified as Councillor following the last nominations, when he became confused with the new regulations.

J. A. Morris said he was definitely not in the field, and explained he resigned following qualification, because he felt one year's experience on Council did not fit him to serve on a board with three other inexperienced men. Referring to Mr. Hewitt's statement, that the Union's men must report back to the organization, he suggested they read The Record if they wanted a full report of Council's proceedings.

CHRISTMAS EDITION OF RECORD, MONDAY

The Christmas edition of The Record will go in the mails Tuesday morning, December 24th, so as to reach most of the subscribers before Christmas, instead of the regular publishing date which falls on the Boxing Day holiday this year. Advertisers wishing Christmas greetings in this issue are urged to have their copy in by Friday or Saturday at the latest, and special co-operation is requested of correspondents to have their bulletins reach The Record not later than the first mail on Monday.

Public Library Bylaw Passed by Council At Last Night's Session

Winding up the year's Municipal business, Chesterville Village Council passed the by-law last night for the appointment of a Public Library Board and the transfer to that board of the assets and property of the Chesterville Library Association, thereby setting up a "free" Public Library in the village.

The Board of the new association will be comprised of the Reeve and three members appointed by the Council, three by the Public School Board, and two to be appointed by the Separate School Board. These appointments will be made by the various boards at their first meetings in the new year, to become effective on the first day of February.

A resolution was passed, on motion of Councillors McMillan and Gillard: "That Council expresses it appreciation to Councillor J. A. Morris for his faithful and efficient reporting of the acts of Council during the past year and to The Chesterville Record for the publishing of same."

As the 1946 Council wound up its year, accounts were passed, and Acting-Reeve P. S. Boyd thanked the Board for their co-operation during his term, saying he felt he could also voice the same appreciation for Reeve George H. Barklev who has been out of town for the past couple of months. H. C. Hummel, Clerk-Treasurer, also thanked the members of Council for their helpful co-operation and extended the season's greetings to them.

New Legion Club Rooms Being Used by Branch

Meeting for the first time in the new Club Rooms in the second storey of The Record Block, the members of Chesterville Branch 434, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., heard with satisfaction last night the gratifying financial statement read by Jack Fulton, treasurer, of the concert, dance and drawing which netted slightly over $400 Monday night for the Legion Memorial Rink Building Fund.

It is hoped, as soon as some furniture and equipment is secured to open the club rooms during week nights for the benefit of Legion members. Chairs and tables are required, and it is hoped a piano, dart boards, and other equipment may be procured to provide entertainment in the rooms.

Several more applications for membership were received, bringing the total to the 50 mark, and it is expected an induction ceremony will be conducted at the next regular meeting, on January 6th.

The Rink Committee, under chairman Carl G. Merkley, met before the Legion session and appointed Locksley Helmer as caretaker of the rink, and granted the concession to the restaurant to Chas. T. Hart after reviewing the tenders received. Season tickets for skating will be offered at two prices, family tickets at $5 and singles at $2.

CORRECTION

The Record regrets that an error was made in the write-up last issue of the nomination meeting when several lines were omitted thereby throwing an altogether different impression on the reason for the second nomination than was intended when the article was written.

The paragraph should have read: "P. S. Boyd and Chas. McMillan were nominated for Reeve, but neither qualified when the deadline was reached at 9.00 p.m. December 3. Mr. McMillan stated he did not intend contesting the Reeveship, but failed to resign his nomination before the close of nominations as he was confused by the new regulations. Therefore he could not qualify as Councillor. Mr. Boyd, being inexperienced for the Reeveship, declined his nomiation when it became apparent his council would be composed of new men inexperienced in municipal government."

Over $400 Raised for Rink Building Fund By Legion Concert, Dance and Drawing As Overflow Crowd Jams Community Hall

Perhaps the largest crowd ever to attend a function at the Community Hall struggled to find accommodation Monday night for the concert, dance and drawing staged by Chesterville Branch 434, of the Canadian Legion, in aid of the Building Fund of the Legion Memorial Rink. Even 200 extra seats supplied by the Ottawa Legion could not take care of the crowd which overflowed to the stairs and the lobby below.

> Proceeds from the event, which went into the Building Fund for restoration of the rink, netted slightly over $400.

Of top interest was the drawing for the washing machine valued at $176, which went to Graham McPherson of Elma. Six pairs of Nylon hose were drawn for during the evening, the winners being Audrey Strader, Gertrude Beckstead, Mrs. Jack MacMillan, Bernard Barkley, L. Hess and Lorne Byers. During the dance, following the concert, the drawing of the bicycle brought the winner as Master Donald MacMillan, 91 Rochester St., Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex MacMillan, formerly of town.

Although the event was organized and carried out in less than two weeks, its success exceeded the expectations of the local Legionaires. With the best of co-operation from Douglas Thompson, District Commander of the Legion; and A. W. MacFarlane, prominent Ottawa Legionaire; Bert Myers of the Ottawa Fire Department, Chas. McMillan of town, and other interested citizens, prizes and talent were secured from Ottawa while the groundwork of ticket selling and other organization was taken care of by the local Branch.

J. Frank Casselman, chairman of the committee responsible for the event, introduced Douglas Thompson, District Commander of the Legion, who drew the winning ticket on the washer. The draw for the six pairs of Nylons was made by Miss Betty Merkley, and Mrs. Pilon of Ottawa, drew the winner for the bicycle.

Three films, "Canada Remembers", "The fight of the Canadians from Normandy to Belgium," and an R.C.A.F. film, "Train Busters", were shown by E. Chandler of the National Film Board, Ottawa. Due to a breakdown of one of the cars bringing the troupe from Ottawa, the concert was a bit late in starting, but it proved to be one of the most enjoyable presented here in some time.

The programme, presented by the Nnocker Club of Ottawa, included Miss Mona Harrison, who sang "Smilin' Through" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life"; Theresa Maguire tap dancer; Mrs. Maguire, accompanist. Alf Darby, magician and ventriloquist. Sonny Morin and Donny Gilchrist, tap dancing partners; Skip Pilon, soloist; Sye Marshall, who led a singsong; Ken Finlay pianist, and Ken Killeen, Master of Ceremonies.

Following the concert, dancing was enjoyed until 1.00 a.m., to the music of the club orchestra. A coffee bar was operated by a committee headed by Mrs. L. H. Doering, for which practically all the supplies were donated by the Marcellus Meat Market.

BY WHOSE ORDERS MUST THEY REPORT

In a statement at the nomination meeting Thursday evening a speaker attempted to clear the air as to the motives of two new members of the council who are members of the National Dairy Workers' Union, a union at the Nestle's plant in town, which it is rumored has decidedly communistic tendencies.

The speaker went on to explain that the two candidates who have been elected by acclamation were simply seeking election as representatives of the union's members as ratepayers of the village who desired more first hand knowledge of the workings of the village council, all of which on the face of it is very commendable.

The speaker further volunteered the information that the union members were required to report once a month to the Local of the union, everything that went on at council meetings, which suggests that the councillors are not free agents and if their reports are not satisfactory they might possibly, be asked to resign, and an attempt made to replace them with those who would do as they are told.

It is felt that if certain groups have special representation on the council, why should other groups not take the same action. It has usually been held when anyone is elected to the council board of any municipality he uses his best efforts for the benefit of the municipality as a whole.

WHEN NEWS IS SCARCE

An Ottawa girl who had gone to Tucson, Ariz., some time ago for her health found herself the centre of a tricky story which might have meant her kidnapping. Dorothy Learie had been a guest at an hotel in Tucson when she decided to change her address. She found a place, paid a deposit but before occupying her new apartment discovered another more desirable, took it without notifying the other landlady and was reported missing when she did not take possession. Her father who lives in Picton, Ontario, was much worked up about his daughter, but received an explanation in a letter received from his daughter at the end of the week.

LIKE ANY OTHER BUSINESS

When Wes McKnight interviewed Syl Apps, captain of the league leading Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club Saturday night he asked the popular hockeyist what advice he would give a young player who wanted to make hockey his career. His prompt reply was "Don't go into it unless you love hockey." Good advice going into any career.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

If you happen to look over a page of mining news in the daily paper you will find familiar names when you read of the Chesterville Gold Mines Limited, the Winchester Gold Mines and the Berwick Gold Mines. It sounds more like a hockey league and they may make just about as much money.

THE OLD SALOON
Calgary Herald

There was a time in Canada's history when the poor man could buy a drink to suit his pocket, in cheerful surroundings: places where he was treated, not with grudging toleration but with geniality and goodwill.

The places he patronized were called saloons, and under the combined pressure of phony patriotism and female hysteria, they were abolished during the First Great War.

Now, in their place, we have the gloomy beer parlours on the one hand, and the snobbish cocktail lounges on the other. The poor man goes to the beer parlors, where he expects to be treated like a refugee from a penitentiary. The rich man goes to the cocktail lounges, where flunkeys bow and scrape before him. This state of affairs is alleged to be a vast improvement over the old-time saloon. We very much doubt it.

TO THE SPAWNING GROUND

A salmon, bruised and torn, its once proud silver-blue sheen tarnished and yellowing, glides from the back eddy where it rested with its fellows. For a moment it hangs in the stream, nose pointed against the current, tail waving slowly, holding ground. In a quick, desperate flurry it fights its way over the shallows, body exposed and thrashing in its rush to the next pool of sanctuary. There it rests, gathering energy for another dash.

Here, in the meagre waters of Goldstream, the annual drama of fish battling to the spawning ground is renewed in all its gallantry and mystery. Up this cobblestrewn bed, numbing with cold, shadowed by the overhanging moss-covered branches of leafless trees, they struggle.

It is a miracle that they can gain these upper stretches of the stream, a miracle that they should return whence they were spawned. And there is wonder in the impelling force which drives them beyond instincts of survival to complete the cycle of their life.

THE ECONOMICS OF PROGRESS
By
R. J. Deachman

Two paragraphs in the Lethbridge Herald discuss the changes which have taken place in the cotton growing industry of the United States. We haven't many cotton fields in Canada, but there is in this item something to point a moral and adorn a tale:

"As a result of the mechanization of cotton growing it is said that the South is wondering what to do with 3,000,000 cotton growers. Full mechanization has cut the man hours to produce an acre of cotton from 133 to 19 while one case is reported where 13 hours was enough to do the job.

"Work hours have been steadily decreased within the lives of many of us. Mechanization is the cause. Shorter work hours are quite in order when greater production and cheaper goods can be provided by machines and modern technique. The big problem, however, is to get machines and manpower into step so that we can have shorter hours and higher pay without lowering the standard of living."

Real Savings

Note the first paragraph. Man-hours of work needed to produce an acre of cotton have been cut from 133 to 19. This means that for every dollar of direct wage costs paid out in recent years by the cotton planter, fourteen cents now does the trick. It's a sharp cut. The result should be a reduction in the price of cotton, an increase in consumption, a gain for the consumers of cotton goods throughout the world, plus greater stability in the business of growing cotton.

This estimate of savings is, however, a gross figure, the net may be somewhat different. The scientists working in a test tube may get results difficult to reproduce on a larger scale. The net saving will not be so great as the figures seem to indicate. Machines cost money, this means higher capital costs and expensive repairs. More men will be employed in manufacturing industries in the cities where this machinery is made fewer on the plantations where the cotton is grown. The men in the factories making machines will earn higher wages than the men who formerly worked on the plantations. The machines will require expert handling and the men who work them will earn more money. The net savings, though important, will be somewhat remote from the 113 hours here stated.

Higher Standards

Now what follows? It depends on what is done with the savings. If by this the price of raw cotton is reduced then the lower price will enable the manufacturers of cotton goods to reduce their prices. The consumers will pay less for the things they buy and will therefore buy more. It means reduction in costs, lower prices, more value for our dollars, increasing purchasing power for every section of the community. But what happens to the poor cotton planter. There will be a greater demand for raw cotton. He will be in a stronger competitive position in the textile industry. His cost of living will fall if this program becomes general. The cotton growers will get their share.

What happens now to the second quoted paragraph. It suggests that machines and man-power are out of step. Machines are never out of step. They function to reduce costs—that is what brings them into the world. The world is hungry for goods—never was it more hungry. The machine is willing to work. Man is busy, very busy trying to produce less and get more for it. Machines are never out of step—man too often is.

REMARKABLE LITTLE CHAPS

Have you ever wondered how performing fleas are trained? Well, according to W. Buchanan-Taylor in a BBC broadcast, it is just as difficult as you would imagine it to be. First you catch the elusive flea, remembering that he holds the world record for jumping (it has been stated that if a man were equipped with spring heels of the same proportion to weight as the flea's he could jump as high as St. Paul's Cathedral in London).

Having got your flea and put him in a nice little pill-box padded with cotton-wool, you take him to a watchmaker. A watchmaker is suggested because it is extremely unlikely that you find a professional flea harnesser in your locality, the craft being nearly extinct. If the watchmaker has a steady hand, as he should, he will put a very thin gold wire round the neck of the flea, leaving, as spare, about an inch-and-a-half of the wire which will be heavy enough to prevent the little fellow jumping.

As an example of what can be done, fleas have been dressed and undressed, harnessed to miniature vehicles, fought duels with swords, and indulged in boxing matches, fired miniature cannons, lived in kennels, walked tightropes, worked in model cemeteries, performed exhibition rescues from supposedly burning miniature houses, balanced balls, and done ballet dancing and trick cycling.

H. Kittle, Chesterville Named as President Field Crop Imp. Assn.

The Annual meeting of the Dundas Field Crop Improvement Association was held in the Agricultural Office, Morrisburg, with a good representative number of farmers of the County in attendance.

Mr. Howard Kittle occupied the chair. The treasurer's report submitted by Mr. Mahlon Zeron showed the organization to be in a healthy condition. The Annual report of the 1946 activities compiled by the Secretary Mr. H. W. Graham, outlined in detail the different projects undertaken and contained reports from the co-operators. In all thirteen projects were undertaken with fifty-two farmers participating in them.

Mr. John McRae, Fieldman for the Ontario Crops Seeds and Weeds Branch analyzed the report on the Seed Drill Survey which was carried on in the County. Sixty-four individual survey reports were received. This survey said the speaker, will be conducted every three years to see if we are improving or going back in the quality of seed sown.

The next speaker Mr. D. T. Parks of the Kemptville Agricultural School spoke on "Growing Grain". He emphasized the necessity of growing more grain in Eastern Canada. This would be done by not necessarily increasing the acreage but by better methods in the use of improved varieties of grain.

Mr. H. H. McNish, District Director of the Ontario Field Crop Improvement Association was pleased to see that the Dundas Organization had made such rapid strides during the year. This was borne out by the enthusiasm shown by the co-operators.

Mr. John McRae was asked to occupy the chair for the election of officers for 1947 which resulted as follows:—

Find Newington Man's Body At Bottom of Well

The body of C. W. Rupert, 70-year-old former cheese plant worker, was found Friday in a well at his home in Newington, 15 miles southeast of Chesterville. Coroner J. M. Pollock said, following the discovery of the body of Rupert's son, Kenneth, that an inquest was unlikely. It was reported Mr. Rupert had been despondent and in ill-health for some time.

Besides his wife, he is survived by four sons and two daughters, Harris Rupert, of Ottawa; Bernie, Joshua and Kenneth, of Newington; Misses Gwen and Mabel Rupert, both of Montreal.

Car is Destroyed by Fire After Careening into Ditch

When an automoible careened into a ditch and burst into flames following a collision with another automobile Monday night on the Metcalfe road, a 17-year-old Manotick Station girl suffered slight shock, a Metcalfe man received minor cuts on the head and two other men were shaken up.

Erma Jeacle, 17, of Manotick Station, was treated for shock by Dr. C. E. L. Morrow of Metcalfe, and first-aid was administered Donald B. Morris, of Metcalfe, for cuts on the head.

Mr. Morris was the driver of a car proceeding south on Highway 31 about six miles south of Ottawa shortly before 9 p.m. Miss Jeacle, and her brother, Mervin Jeacle were passengers in the car when it was in collision with a car driven by George Epson of RR 5, Perth.

The Morris car overturned in the ditch and burst into flames shortly after the occupants had climbed to safety. The car was a total loss.

The Epson car remained on the highway and did not overturn. Constable Ralph Edge, of the Provincial Police who investigated, said damage was approximately $200.

COOPER-BAKER

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at the United Church Parsonage, Metcalfe, when Labrassa Esther Baker, daughter of Arthur Baker and the late Mrs. Baker, and Stanley Wallace Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper, both of Osgoode township, were united in marriage by the Rev. E. G. Warren.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Frances Baker, sister of the bride. The bridegroom's brother Richie Wilton Cooper was best man. The bride wore a street-length dress of light blue crepe trimmed with black sequins with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations and maidenhair fern.

After a reception at the home of the bridegroom Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cooper left on a short wedding trip. On their return they will reside in Osgoode township.

75P.C. Veterans Aided By Legion's Services Are Non-Members

Symbolic of the work the Canadian Legion is doing is the effort of Chesterville's new branch in serving the community, not itself, in the restoration of the skating rink, declared Douglas Thompson, Commander of District "F", Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., who spoke before the Rotary Club of Chesterville, Monday evening, on the aims and objects and the accomplishments of the Legion since its inception 21 years ago.

Guests of the club were C. J. Bigelow of Smiths Falls, Alf Jarvis, Delbert Hutt, George Leroux, Don. C. Campbell, and J. Frank Casselman, District Deputy Governor of Lions International, who spoke briefly on the fellowship of the two international service organizations, and led the singsong in the absence of O. L. King.

P. S. Boyd officiated at the induction of Dr. H. G. Barton into the club, and welcomed him back into the membership.

Introduced by Carl E. McMillan, Mr. Thompson, was thanked by Leonard Allan. The speaker was badly wounded in the First Great War and after many months of hospitalization turned to assisting other veterans, having devoted 25 years to this work.

The speaker traced the history of the Legion, which came into being in November, 1925, when the multitude of veterans' organizations were welded into a single group from coast to coast, until today 4200 branches are operating for the welfare of all veterans whether they are Legion members or not. Statistics show that 75 per cent of the cases assisted by the Legion are non-members.

The speaker cited cases where the Legion has been able to assist veterans, and told of a young Kingston soldier who was encouraged to continue his studies through the Educational Branch. After five and a half years in the army he was able to complete his High School studies and today is one of the most brilliant first year medical students at McGill.

"Our veterans should be, in my opinion, the first citizens of the Dominion and not the members of a lost battalion as happened after the last war," said Mr. Thompson. The Legion is fighting for their welfare and has been successful in obtaining many benefits from the government. "These men may seem a bit peculiar in their thinking," he continued, "but they have faced difficulties and death far more often than the average citizen, and the experiences are bound to have a bearing on their outlook. But give them time and they'll find their niche."

Veterans of the late war are streaming into the Legion to refill the ranks depleted by death, and the older members are happy to relinquish their duties to the younger men when they have been trained.

The speaker noted the work of the young Chesterville Branch in community service and asked the co-operation of all citizens on behalf of the Branch. "I want to stress upon you the fact that a Legion Branch is not a beer-drinking or boozing club," said the District Commander. Out of 497 branches in Ontario, only 72 in the larger centres have a license from the Liquor Control Board, and these are severely controlled by District Command."

To do a good job of citizenship, the Legion must have the goodwill of the public; its members must take their place in community life, and many have served on municipal council boards. One instance of the goodwill the Legion enjoys is the annual response to its Poppy Day campaigns.

"Only in the Canadian Legion can the spirit of comradeship be really enjoyed and perpetuated, that bond which developed in barracks, on the battlefield, in the air and at sea," said Mr. Thompson. The Legion offers its members comradeship, and in return demands service—not for themselves, but for other veterans who are not so fortunate.

Women's Institutes Look Forward to 50th Anniversary

Pointing its objectives towards an adequate celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Women's Institutes, the Board of Directors of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario has just completed a three days' session at which an extended programme, broader interests and more aggressive leadership featured discussions by twenty-two representatives from every section of Ontario. Held at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto, the Board meeting was presided over by Mrs. Hugh Summers, of Fonthill, President of Fonthill, President of the F. W. I. O. and reached its climax in the passing of a series of 47 resolutions dealing with a wide variety of topics in which the women of rural Ontario are vitally interested. For the first time, two representatives of the Junior Institutes sat on the Board, these being Miss Betty Ruddell of Georgetown and Miss Orphie Orr, of Maple, who had been elected by the junior girls as their delegates.

In her presidential address, Mrs. Summers reviewed some of the achievements of the last year, mentioning specially the fact that one mobile canteen had been sent to Britain and another to Sweden, to be used in welfare work in these countries. Mrs. Summers emphasized the need for all institutes to take advantage of the co-operative programme being provided, and urged that a greater interest be taken in the rural schools and rural education. She particularly commended provision of hot lunches in rural schools as a Women's Institute project. Announcement was made that the first postwar convention of the Associated Countrywomen of the World is to be held in Amsterdam on September, 1947, at which the Ontario Women's Institutes will be entitled to five delegates.

Miss Anna P. Lewis, Director of Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service of the Department of Agriculture, in her address to the Board members, announced the introduction of some new courses for 1947. There will be new courses in family living, conducted by a qualified psychologist, a course in handicrafts and a co-operative programme planned to help the young matron and also war brides from overseas. Last year, said Miss Lewis, 76 of the 89 districts in Ontario were served with courses, and this year 89 districts are being served. Thirty-nine new institutes have been organized since last spring, and the membership now stands at over 35,000. Short courses conducted through the department were provided for 270 institutes. Miss Lewis announced that to take care of the broader programme, several important additions had been made to the staff of the Women's Institute Branch, which now consists of 38 home economists, field assistants and clerical workers.

Reporting as convener of the Committee on Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. H. Rutherford of Campbellford pointed to the fact that agriculture is going through a period of evolution as a result of scientific research. She recommended that the 1,000 branches of the Institute throughout Ontario make a study of the work of the Federation of Agriculture, attend county meetings, organize farm forums, study immigration in the light of labour and population, and also take an interest in the problems of soil conservation and reforestation.

Mrs. G. Maynard, of Unionville, convener of historical research gave an interesting report on the historical booklets which are being compiled by many Institutes, recording the salient points in local community history. She asked all Institutes to have these ready for the 50th Anniversary meeting, which is to take place at the O.A.C. Guelph, next June. At this meeting there will be an exhibit of the best of these histories from each district.

An appeal to rural women to use their franchise, to support worthy women for public offices, and to accept greater responsibility in civic affairs was made by Mrs. C. L. Murray particularly stressed the necessity for rural women to take greater interest in educational matters, and to become well informed on matters of national and international importance. She made a plea for a helpful interest in newcomers to Ontario, and particularly in war brides from overseas.

Submitting a final report of the committee on emergency war work, Mrs. L. F. Challand of Simcoe, reported an overall total of $40,653 raised and expended for this purpose during the year from May 1, 1945 to April 30, 1946. She also reported on the winding-up of the Central War Charities Fund, from which a balance of $2,124.80 was divided among the veterans' hospitals to provide extra comforts for the patients.

Mrs. John McCulloch, secretary of the Board, reported that the Adelaide Hoodless Foundation Fund, being raised as a 50th Anniversary effort in honour of the founder of the first Women's Institute at Stoney Creek, had now reached a total of $10,500. It is the hope that during the jubilee year this fund will be increased to $35,000, and it will be used to found scholarships for girls to attend Macdonald Institute at Guelph.

The long list of resolutions dealt with covered a broad field of subjects of importance to rural women. Strong support was given to a resolution concerning the extension of rural hydro, with particular reference to the needs of South Renfrew.

A resolution concerning the need for stronger measures to combat venereal disease urged the immediate enactment of legislation which would prevent marriage between persons mentally or physically unfit.

The Board adopted a resolution asking that no change be made in the name of Dominion Day. Resolutions from Thunder Bay and Algoma Districts, asking that the Department of Public Health establish public health nurses in these areas, were endorsed.

A resolution dealing with radio programmes was adopted, asking for the establishment of a radio censorship board, and also that action be taken to curtail movies and radio programmes portraying drinking, murders and scenes which excite the passions and fears of children.

A resolution from the Cochrane district, asking for the establishment in the Matheson or Monteith district, was endorsed by the Board. Endorsation was also given to a request that public health nursing services be established in that district.

In the interests of beautification of roadsides and rural areas, a resolution was passed asking that it be made a criminal offence to dump refuse and garbage along the roadsides, and that the Provincial Highways Department take action to prevent such dumping along Provincial Highways.

Resolutions with regard to the liquor problem included recommendations that steps be taken to close all women's beverage rooms, and also a protest against the increase in the liquor ration.

Daylight Saving Time came in for some consideration, and it was resolved that the Dominion Government be urged to continue the use of standard time as the only time system in Canada.

Other resolutions dealt with matters of organization of Women's Institutes and the courses to be sponsored by the Women's Institutes Branch.

The high light of the convention was a banquet tendered to the Board members by Col. the Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, presided over by Miss Anna P. Lewis. Guest speaker was Mrs. A. E. Walker of Stoney Creek W. I., who brought greetings from the parent Institute, and urged that Institutes take a keener interest in the development of the International Peace Garden. M. McIntyre Hood brought greetings from the Minister of Agriculture, who was unable to attend.

Lorenzo Bourbonnais, father of Joseph, also of Embrun, was fined $40 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having 4 red foxes without a permit. Wayne Robertson, Fish and Wild Life Overseer, who laid the charge, said the animals had been disposed of before the official investigation.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Merry Christmas, Friends. Christmas morning brings to mind a dozen Christmases; the fragrance of pine boughs, the excitement of parcelled gifts and the wonderful, wonderful aroma of roasting turkey! To help fill your kitchen and your Christmas day with the sweetest scents of all the year, here are festive ideas.

ROAST TURKEY

Wash turkey after it has been drawn, rinse and dry well. Rub inside of bird with salt before adding dressing. Allow about three-quarters cup dressing for each pound of turkey. Pack dressing loosely into body and neck of turkey. Sew up openings. Truss bird by turning tops of wings under back and pressing legs close against the body. Hold in place by inserting skewer under the wings and another under the legs. Then tie turkey in shape with cord, fastening it to skewers. Place turkey breast side down on rack or crossed skewers in roasting pan. Bake in an electric oven, 300 degs., allowing 20 minutes per pound dressed weight; for turkeys under 10 lbs. allow 25 minutes per pound. Baste occasionally during roasting. Turn turkey on back for last hour of roasting to uniformly brown the bird.

CELERY STUFFING

3 cups finely chopped celery, 1 cup diced potatoes, 4 cups boiling water, ½ cup fat, 1 onion (chopped), 4 qts. bread crumbs, 2 tbsps. poultry dressing, 1 tbsp. salt, 1 tbsp. pepper.

Simmer celery and potatoes in boiling water until tender. Drain. Heat fat and add onion. Cook and stir until tender. Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Stuff turkey.

GIBLET GRAVY

Simmer the giblets (liver, gizzard and heart) and the neck in a quart of water for about an hour, or until tender. Drain and chop the meat finely. Leave about 1 cup of fat in pan after removing roasted chicken or turkey. Stir in two-thirds cup flour. Gradually add the cool broth in which the giblets were cooked and enough cold water to make a smooth, thin gravy. Cook for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add chopped giblets. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

CRANBERRY ORANGE RELISH

4 cups cooked cranberries, 2 oranges, 1¾ cups of sugar or 1 cup of sugar and ½ cup of honey.

Put the cranberries through a food chopper. Quarter whole oranges, remove seeds and put through chopper. Add sugar and mix well. Chill in refrigerator a few hours before serving. Makes 1 quart of relish. This relish will keep well in the refrigerator for several weeks.

And here are a few different ways in which you can use the relish:

1. Mould the Cranberry-Orange relish in prepared gelatin for a quick and delicious salad.
2. For an unusual sandwich, butter bread and cover with a thin slice of chicken, turkey or ham; spread with a tablespoon of Cranberry-Orange Sauce; cover with another slice of buttered bread.
3. For an unusual salad dressing, drain ½ cup Cranberry-Orange Relish, blend into 1 cup of mayonnaise or boiled dressing. Delicious on fruit salads.
4. Mix Cranberry-Orange Relish and cream cheese to make a super stuffing for celery. Serve on lettuce as a salad, too.
5. Add 2 cups diced raw apples as a relish.

CHRISTMAS JELLY ROLL

If you have a little icing sugar tucked away, a simple jelly roll may be transformed to resemble a real knotted yule log.

Before icing cut a slice ¾ inch thick from the end of the roll. Holding the knife in a slanting position, cut the slice into four wedge-shaped pieces. Place these wedges on the roll, as knots. Cover the roll with a thin layer of mocha icing, marking with a fork to resemble bark.

TAKE A TIP

1. An oiled-silk bowl cover makes an attractive, useful container and ...per if you are giving the fe... folk aprons, towels or such ...s for Christmas.
2. ... baskets are easily converted ...indling boxes for Christmas ...s. Paint the outside, and line the inside with heavy tar paper and tack in place.
3. An orange crate papered with waterproof paper makes an ideal receptacle for the children's toys.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. L. D. asks: for Gingersnap Ice Cream recipe.

Answer: 1 cup heavy cream, 2 tbsps. fine sugar, 3 bananas (mashed), 2 tbsps. lemon juice, 1 cup rolled gingernsnap crumbs.

Add ¼ tsp. lemon juice to cream and whip until stiff. Add sugar and few grains of salt. Combine bananas and lemon juice and fold into cream. Stir in rolled gingersnap crumbs. Freeze—stirring once during freezing.

Mrs. G. R. asks: If cottage cheese can be made of skim milk.

Anwer: Yes, and it is very good if milk is soured using 1 tsp. vinegar for 1 pint milk. Heat slowly in a pan over hot water until it separates into curds and whey. Strain through cheese cloth. Chill and mash with a fork.
