Died at Iroquois

There passed away at her residence, Iroquois, on Sept. 15, Mary Fraser, widow of the late John Caldwell, Montreal, and daughter of the late Rev. Thos. Fraser, in her 88th year. Interment was made in Mount Royal cemetery, Montreal. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. Deceased was universally beloved for her noble qualities of mind and heart and many generous and kindly acts which distinguished her Christian life.

McKenzie—Kavanaugh

A quiet wedding occurred at St. Mark's church, Prescott, on Thursday, Sept. 4, at 10.30 a.m., when Rev Mgr. Masterson united in marriage, Miss Gabriel Catherine Kavanaugh, only daughter of John Kavanaugh of Cardinal, to John A. McKenzie of Calgary. The bride was given away by her father, while Mrs. J. W. Lacey witnessed the ceremony. The bride was attired in a chic tailor-made travelling suit of French grey whipcord and a becoming hat to match and wore the groom's gift, a gold watch bracelet studded with diamonds. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to Mrs. Leacy's beautiful home, "Rivermeade," where a dainty luncheon was served, only the relatives and intimate friends being present. The house throughout was prettily decorated with pink and asters. At 1.30 the young couple motored to Morrisburg where they took the fast train for Montreal, Quebec and other points, and on Sept. 18th will sail on the Empress of Ireland, for an extended trip abroad. On their return they will reside in Vancouver, B.C. The bride who is one of Cardinal's popular young ladies, was the recipient of a large array of useful and fancy gifts and her many friends join in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Mrs. John Rennie Dead

It is our sad duty this week to chronicle the death of Mrs. John Rennie, Hulbest, who died on Tuesday, Sept. 9, at the ripe old age of 85 years, after a long illness.

Deceased was very highly respected in the community in which she lived and is survived by five children, viz: Henry at Inkerman and Dan at Gull Lake, Sask., Mrs. D. Gray, Winchester, and Sarah and Martha at home.

Rev. E. W. S. Coates conducted the funeral sermon at the house on Wednesday last, after which the remains were laid away in the family plot on her father's farm.—Mountain Herald.

Duncan Cummings Accidentally Killed.

Duncan Cummings, a well known farmer who lived near Metcalfe, was instantly and accidentally killed Tuesday evening in his barn. He was 74 years old and leaves a widow and large family.

Deceased went out to his barn to hitch up a team of frisky horses. Just as he was ready to start for Russell the horses took fright and bolted. Cummings was thrown from his seat and the wheels of the wagon passed over his head. He was so severely injured that he died instantly.

A wild man who has been roaming the woods near Ivanhoe was captured and taken to Madoc jail.

Sentencd to 18 Months in Cornwall Jail.

At the fall Assizes held yesterday afternoon at Cornwall, before Justice Britton, Mrs. McKenna of Renfrew, who was charged with raising cheques and obtaining money by false pretences from the Bank of Ottawa, Chesterville, Ont., in June last, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to eighteen months in the jail there. The woman was defended by G. I. Gogo, of Cornwall, and Irwin Hilliard of Morrisburg, acted as Crown prosecutor.

Women's Institute.

The meeting of the Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Bolster on Wednesday was well attended. Many items of important business were transacted, after which Mrs. S. A. Woods read an excellent paper on "Punctuality a virtue." Mrs. H. Myers of Morewood, district president, honored the meeting by her presence and spoke a few words of advice and commendation.

Young Man Accidentally Shot at Monkland.

Bernie J. Campbell, about 24 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Campbell, who resides about one and a half miles from Monkland, was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun at his home on Friday. It seems that the young man loaded the gun to shoot a crow which had alighted on a fence nearby. After loading the gun he apparently left the trigger uncocked, and in setting the butt end down on the floor the trigger snapped and he was killed almost immediately. The deceased was a fine young man and his death under such sad circumstances has cast a gloom over the neighborhood The funeral took place Saturday morning to St. Andrews Church and Cemetery.

Induction of Pastor.

Rev. L. E. Gosling and family arrived in Newington last week and on Friday he was inducted into the charge of the congregations of Newington, North Lunenburg and Wales.

Mr. Gosling came to Cornwall from England some 20 odd years ago with his parents, and when a lad entered into the service of the Grand Trunk Railway. Later he went to the Northwest and studied for the ministry at the Presbyterian College, Winnipeg. After his ordination he was stationed for some years near Edmonton, where he married.

The charge is an extensive one, and will keep Mr. Gosling busy, but having grafted western hustle on a sturdy foundation, he will no doubt be able to keep fully abreast of his work. His many old friends in Cornwall and vicinity will be glad to know that he has returned to the east, and wish him prosperity amid his new surroundings.

Will Hold Convention and Show at Cornwall.

At a meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, it was decided to hold the annual convention and winter dairy exhibition at Cornwall on January 7, 8 and 9, 1914. The association are offering cash prizes amounting to $400, covering four classes of butter and cheese, and, in addition to this, the Montreal exporters are offering substantial special prizes and silver cups. As this is an excellent opportunity for dairymen to show the merits of their factories, no doubt, competition will be keen.

This convention promises to be one of the largest ever held there, upwards of 400 men largely interested in the dairy business in Canada and the United States being in attendance. The Cornwall Town Council recently made a grant of $300 to bring the convention there.

Public School Notes

The exhibition of fruit and vegetables at the school fair on Saturday far surpassed our expectations. The children were enthusiastic and worked faithfully to make the day a success and in this they were not disappointed. The judges of the vegetable exhibits—Mr. Moad and Mr. Harrop, expressed themselves in terms of highest praise of the work done by the young gardeners. Candy exhibits were also good, (if some of the judges in this department suffered a little from indigestion as a result of the examination, we cannot think the ingredients of the dainty bonbons was the cause—over-indulgence is not good.)

The sale began in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, and in less than an hour the youthful vendors had sold out, realizing about $16.00 from their sales.

The teachers of the staff wish to thank through the press, the judges and all others who cheerfully gave their assistance in this work. The success of the exhibition and sale was due largely to the prominent part executed by the members of the Women's Institute.

Prizes were awarded according to the number of points made by contestants. The following is the order in which the first fourteen pupils stand:

Mervin Beckett, Hildred Durant, Frances Stevens, Bessie Shaver, Harold Merkley, Olive Forbes, Eric Casselman, Cecil McIlhearn, Zella Smith, Frank Casselman, Bessie Cramer, Laura Johnston, Velma Merkley, Jennie McIlhearn.

Many of the garden plots were so well kept that they seemed equally deserving of special commendation. The prizes were awarded as follows:

1st—Frances Stevens.
2nd—Carl Rice.
3rd—George Jordan.
4th—Hildred Durant.
5th—Luella Harper.
6th—Bessie Shaver.
7th—Lera Fetterly.
8th—Willie Huxtable.

The date for the annual field day has been fixed for Friday, Oct. 17. A public school concert will be given in the evening of the same day.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Smith's Falls Public Hospital held recently, the position of superintendent was offered to Miss Bertha J Willoughby, late superintendent of Kingston General Hospital. Other names were submitted, but the selection of Miss Willoughby was made unanimous. It is not yet known that she will accept the position, but it is thought her answer will be in the affirmative.

Accident on Dredge at Massena.

Frank Ryan was brought to the Hotel Dieu hospital, Cornwall, on Friday afternoon from Massena, having been injured while working on a dredge in the power canal at that place.

The man went to do some oiling while the dredge was stopped, and he stood on a large gearing. While there the machinery started up and his left foot was caught in the gear and he fell as the gear moved, his left arm being drawn in and terribly mangled up to the elbow. The machine was stopped and the man was removed from his perilous position and medical aid was summoned.

The injuries were attended to and he was hurried in a motor boat to the hospital at Cornwall. Dr. D. O. Alguire and Dr. A. Ross Alguire, who attended him, found it necessary to amputate the arm close to the shoulder and the leg at the ankle.

Thompson—Hamilton.

At the Methodist parsonage, Morrisburg, on the evening of Sept. 10th, the marriage of Miss Minnie Florence Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Hamilton, Dundela, and Mr. Richard J. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, of Matilda township, was quietly solemnized by Rev. A. J. H. Strike.

The bride wore a tailored suit of navy velours cloth and hat to match and looked very charming. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on the train for Ottawa and other places in the east. On their return they will reside in Matilda township, where Mr. Thompson has a very comfortable home.

The numerous friends extend congratulations.

A new manual training, domestic science and industrial school was formally opened at Collingwood.

MRS. H. W. NORTON AND DAUGHTER SHOT

By Mother Who Became Insane on Week-end Trip to Alexandria.

Alexandria, Ont., Sept. 21—Mrs. Harold W. Norton, wife of the private secretary to Mr. C. K. Hosmer of Montreal, was shot and killed and her 13-year-old daughter seriously wounded by Mrs. Norton's mother, Mrs. J. A. H. Taylor of Montreal today.

The tragedy occurred at 6 o'clock this morning whilst the victims were sleeping at the home of Mrs. Norton's mother, Messrs. P. A. H. and C. D. R Taylor, situated a mile and a half from here.

After shooting her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Taylor turned the weapon on herself and in an attempt to blow her brains out, shot herself through the mouth, the bullet passing through her nose and tearing a wide gash in her fore head. The tragedy bids fair to be a double one, as local physicians as well as surgeons summoned from the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, say that the little granddaughter has but a fighting chance for life. In her case the bullet entered the left temple and is now lodged in her head.

Mrs. Taylor will recover and is now under arrest, having been taken in charge by County Constable, D. J. McDonnell and Constable Segar. Mrs. Taylor has been for some time in ill-health and has been undergoing treatment for melancholia. She has suffered from hallucinations but it was not thought that her malady would develop dangerous tendencies.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. H. Taylor, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. H. W. Norton, and their granddaughter, Lulu Norton, left Montreal on Saturday morning to spend the week-end with their two sons, P. A. H. and C. D. R. Taylor, who conduct a model chicken farm some distance outside of the town. Throughout the day yesterday as well as last night Mrs. Taylor, sr. did not give any signs of being in worse health than usual. Last night the happy family spent the time with songs and music and retired at an early hour. The first intimation of the tragedy was afforded, when, at about six o'clock this morning the inmates of the house were awakened by the sound of four revolver shots. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, sr. had occupied quarters in the upper part of the house and slept in the room usually occupied by their son, J. A. H. Taylor and his wife. Mrs. Norton and her little daughter occupied a room on the first floor.

Suddenly awakened by the revolver shots, Mr. Taylor, sr. and his sons, jumped from their beds and rushed downstairs At the foot of the stairs Mr. Taylor, sr. found his wife with her face covered in blood. Calling his sons, he endeavored to quiet his wife, who was in a highly nervous state, but she seemed to be invested with maniacal strength and it took the combined efforts of all three men to overpower her and to wrest the smoking revolver from her hands. For several minutes the real extent of the tragedy was not realized and it was only when one of the sons went into the room occupied by Mrs. Norton, that it was seen that both the latter and her little daughter sleeping at her side, had been shot. In the case of Mrs. Norton the bullet had entered the left eye, whilst the little daughter had been shot through the left temple.

Drs. J. T. Hope and K. McLennan were at once summoned, but despite their efforts, Mrs. Norton passed away without regaining consciousness shortly before noon. Dr. J. T. Munroe of Maxville, the coroner of the district was notified and ordered that a jury be empanelled for Monday morning. Mrs. Taylor, sr., who was found to be in a serious condition, was kept under treatment in the kitchen of the house, County Constable McDonnell being instructed to keep her under custody in the house.

In the course of the afrernoon Drs Patterson and Archibald of the Royal Victoria Hospital, were summoned, and on their arrival conducted an examination of the injury sustained by the little granddaughter. At the conclusion they announced that the child had but a fighting chance of recovery.

The tragedy is explained by the fact that in a bureau drawer of the room occupied by Mr. Taylor, sr. and his wife, there was a 32 calibre revolver, which Mr. Taylor's son kept for protection purposes, the house being situated a good distance from the town and being in a rather lonely section. It is supposed that, awakening early in the morning, and suddenly possessed of some maniacal idea, Mrs. Taylor, who had previously noted the presence of the weapon in the drawer, secured possession of it and stealthily descended the stairs to the room where her victims were sleeping. Members of the family can explain her murderous act only by stating that she must have suddenly become maniacal. There was utterly no motive for the crime, for Mrs. Taylor was much attached to her daughter and little granddaugter.

Mrs. Taylor, sr. was a woman 58 years of age, the wife of J. A. H. Taylor, a commercial traveller. She was a woman of quiet and home-loving disposition and was very devoted to her family. Up till qnite recently she was enjoying good health, but some months ago she became ill. At first it was not thought her mind was affected, until she showed symptoms of laboring under mild hallucinations. Even then it was not considered that her condition was dangerous. Thus yesterterday's tragedy comes as a shock to the members of the family as well as to a wide circle of friends in the city.

Mr. H. W. Norton, private secretary to Mr. C. R. Hosmer, who has been so cruelly bereaved as a result of the tragedy, is at present on the ocean, having left last week on one of the C.P.R. Empresses for a business trip to Europe. He had contemplated some time ago taking the trip and had made arrangements to leave on the Allan liner Victorian. Pressure of business, however, forced him to change his plans, and he left last week on the Empress.

Dr. G. A. Berwick, who was Mrs. Taylor's medical adviser in this city, when informed of the tragedy, was shocked. He averred that the unfortunate woman had been under medical care for some time, suffering from what may be described as a nervous breakdown. She had, however, never shown any symptoms that her malady was of a maniacal type.

The Taylor's resided on Durocher street, Montreal, not far from the home of her son-in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norton, who lived in the Mark Apartments.

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches

TAYLORVILLE, ONT.

"I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians, but yet the Headaches persisted.

A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so, with I must confess, very little faith. But after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week they left me.

After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad—and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent.

I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man"

Farmers Should Raise Their Own Dairy Cows.

A man who maintains a dairy as a strong branch of his diversified system of farming should raise his own cows and not buy them. The other fellow seldom sells his best cattle. The fresh cow he does sell brings him a good price because she is fresh, although she may have an unbalanced udder, is old, is not a perststent milker, or perhaps is not in a healthy condition, writes F. S. Barbow in Tribune Farmer.

When one takes into account the time necessary for care, as well as the value of feed, the cost of raising a heifer to two years old will range between $45 and $60. Her value in the market may, at that age, be as low as $20 or as high as $75. depending on her size and dairy qualities. she must be worth at least $45 in order to cover the cost of her raising. It is therefore, evident that the breeding and individual qualities of the near ancestors of calves selected for raising should be carefully considered.

It is important that a calf's dam should be healthy, of correct dairy type and a good producer; but it is also absolutely necessary that the sire's dam and grand dam be as good as its dam, or better. It is for this reason we are so often urged to keep pure bred sires The characteristics of pure bred animals through generations of breeding have become fired, and are therefore dependable. If one's own Jersey or Guernsey cows are not producing at least six thousand pounds, he should look elsewhere for calves. There are too many cows within any man's reach for him to attempt to breed up his own if their production is below the figures mentioned. Grade calves under four days old can be purchased for $5 each without danger of bringing disease in a herd.

Perhaps the possibility of bringing disease in a herd through purchased cows is of more consequence than not getting a value received. A number of years ago a relative made a purchase of two cows. They carried the germs of contagious abortion, and in a year's time his entire herd had aborted calves. The purchase resulted in the dispersion of the entire herd. Many dairymen can relate similar experiences with this and other diseases. There is one safe course, and that is to raise the herd within the borders of one's own farm, or perhaps to purchase calves four days old.

In order to maintain a herd of twenty cows, providing the herd at the outset is composed of animals ranging from two to six years, it will be necessary to raise four calves each year, two in the spring and two in the fall. Two can be grown together at nearly the expense of one, so far as care is concerned. They are companions, which means contentment; but they should never be kept together in the same stall. When this rule of numbers is followed out one always has two calves, two heifers six months old, two yearlings, two at one and one-half years and two two-year-olds. Their production should begin at this age. They should begin their life work as soon as possible, but if before two years they are liable to become stunted. On the other hand, it is not practical to have them freshen after two years and four months.

Pasture and stable room can easily be provided for this fived number. There will be two animals to dispose of from the herd each six months, which should be done without hesitation, providing twenty cows constitute the number of mature animals which should be kept. If fewer calves are raised there is always a temptation to keep cows whose production is below the standard, and no opportunity is afforded to improve the herd. The same thought as expressed by the Englishman who bred fine foxhounds applies here as well: "Breed many and hang many." How the surplus is to be disposed of will depend largely on their quality, but it is my opinion that the butcher should get his share. If an animal is not profitable in one stable she surely will not be in another. At any rate, we are in duty bound to sell them for their just worth.

Athletic Grounds are Given to Town of Smith's Falls

Smith's Falls, Sept. 20—Mr. John McEwen made an offer to the town some time ago of ten acres of land for park and athletic grounds under conditions the town would expend two hundred dollars annually in improvements. The offer has just been accepted by the town, the deed signed, and the name of "McEwen Park" given to the block.

Smith's Falls is to have a new swing bridge across the Rideau at the combined locks, the contract having been let to Messrs. John Donovan and W. A. McCarthy of Belleville, for $10,383.

The cadet company of the Collegiate Institute made a splendid showing on the campus of the school Tuesday afternoon, when they were inspected by Major Gillespie. They were presented at the same time with a handsome flag by the local chapter of the Daughters of the Empire.

Laurier to Enter Fight.

Ottawa, Sept. 24—Sir Wilfrid Laurier leaves the Capital tomorrow morning for Montreal to consult with the local Liberal leaders on the choice of a candidate for Chateauguay County. It is understood there is considerable difficulty being experienced.

Hon. Sidney Fisher arrived here today, but his chances for the nomination seem to be very slim. The Liberals of Chateauguay County favor a local candidate and not a defeated minister.

Sir Wilfrid will himself enter the contest and will make several speeches. A spectacular fight is anticipated.

CHESTERVILLE HORSESHOW

Brought to a Successful Issue—Pleasant Day—Fair Attendance.

It goes without saying that if the weather had proved favorable on Aug. 22nd last, Chesterville would have been visited by the largest crowd of people in her history, but such was not the case the inclement weather making it necessary to postpone it, and Thursday last, Sept. 18th, was the day selected. The day, although rather cool, was a pleasant one, and quite a large crowd gathered on the show grounds to witness the awarding of prizes. The Dunbar band was in attendance and added very much to the enjoyment of the proceedings.

Owing to the limited number of speeding horses here, there was only one race event, the result of which was: Perfection owned by Shaw and Ellis, of Chesterville, first money; Lord Ermine, owned by S. W. Boyd of Winchester, second money, and Sam Hill, owned by Mr. Coir of Morrisburg, third money.

Jas. Hughes of Chesterville, was the starter, which position he filled with the utmost satisfaction.

The judges were Mr. John McAvoy of Newington and Mr. Putman of Easton's Corners, with Jas. McAvoy of this place as clerk.

Four Killed in Collision on I.C.R.

Moncton Sept. 23—Four enginemen killed and two brakemen injured, at least a damage of $40,000 to the I. C. R. line between Moncton and Halifax tied up for four hours, which necessitated the transference of passengers, mails and baggage from one side of the wreck to the other, were the results of a wreck on the I. C. R., in which two trains came together in a head-on collision at a point known as Siddalls Cut, about one mile east of Aulac, or about six miles east of Sackville, this afternoon.

The dead are:

Enoch Rushton, driver on No. 231, Dufferin street, Moncton.

Byron Colpitts, fireman on No. 231, Moncton.

Frank Lyons, driver on No. 234, Truro.

Hingley, fireman on No. 234, Stewiacke.

The injured:

R. H. Sharpe, forward brakeman on No. 251, Moncton.

Banks, forward brakeman on No. 234, Truro.

The bodies of the three others, too, presented a gruesome sight. They were taken out of the wreckage, placed on the side of the track and covered by blankets.

Dr. J. V. Calkin, of Sackville, was summoned and he went to the scene. After the two injured men had been attended to, Dr. Calkin who is a coroner, empanneled a jury, who, after viewing the remains adjourned until today.

The two forward brakeman on each train were riding in the engines with their respective drivers and how they escaped death along with the other occupants of the two engines is unexplained.

Brakeman Robert H. Sharpe, of Moncton, was badly injured. He was picked up in a critical condition and taken to the Amherst hospital. He will recover.

Banks, the other brakeman, who was in the cab of Driver Lyons' train was also badly injured, but it is thought that he will recover.

Eleven Tugs Failed to Move the Liner

The C. P. R. steamship "Mount Temple," commanded by Captain Moore went aground during fog at 6.10 yesterday morning on a sand bar opposite the dry dock at Maisonneuve.

She had left her dock at 6 a.m., and was proceeding down the St. Lawrence on her way to Liverpool when, in some way not yet accounted for, she got beyond the safe portion of the river channel and became stuck.

The "Mount Temple" had a heavy cargo and a few passengers, the passengers being nearly all men who were being deported to the Old Country.

All forenoon as many tugs as could be used were hard at work in the attempt to get the Mount Royal off the sand, but it appeared as if the more they pulled on her the depere she stuck.

Mineral Wealth of the Dominion.

Ottawa, Sept. 19—A census bulletin, showing the mineral production in Canada for the year 1910, has been issued. As compared with the mineral output of the Dominion in 1900 an increase in the ten years is shown of 849 in the number of mines or works, of $65,734,248 in the value of buildings and plant, of 31,442 in the number of persons employed, of $24,597,877 in the earnings of salaries and wages, and of $74,048,070 in the value of production.

The total value of the mineral production of 1919 was $122,004,932. Coal occupies tho first place with a value of $32,580,841, silver in ore and in combination the second with $18,899,240, gold the third with $10,302,973, clay products the fourth with $9,562,302, nickel the fifth with $8,276,313, copper the sixth with $7,581,552, stone the seventh with $6,372,474, and cement the eighth with $5,851,066.

By provinces the production was as follows:—

Alberta, $10,515,074; British Columbia, $24,581,338; Manitoba, $2,928,316; New Brunswick, $1,087,113; Nova Scotia, $17,059,122; Ontario, $49,727,400; Prince Edward Island, $12,320; Quebec, $11,002,232; Saskatchewan, $541,671; Yukon, $4,550,346.

It will thus be seen that Ontario takes the lead, British Columbia being second and Nova Scatia third.

The growth of Ontario's value of production is mainly accounted for by the opening of the Cobalt silver camp in 1904, which in the census year yielded $17,637,256 of the total silver output for Canada of $18,899,240.

The increase in the number of salaried employees in the decade was 1,357, and in the cost of salaries $1,804,209, and for employees on wages is 30,085, with an increase in wages of $22,793.668, the average of salaries being $991 in 1900 and $1,150 in 1910, and of wages $441 in 1900 and $583 in 1910.

The highest salary per employee in 1910 was in the gold mines and the lowest was in limestone (dimension), while in 1900 the highest salary was paid to those in the silver-lead mines and the lowest to those employed in clay products and in 1910 the highest wage paid was in copper ore mines and the lowest in mica mines.

Manufacturers of pig iron from Canadian ores in 1900 were 6,677 tons, worth $170,280, and in 1910 they were 97,565 tons, of the value of $1,584,236. In addition to this there was a production of 7,177 tons of ferro-silicon valued at $307,556.

In 1910 the production of coal in Canada was as follows: Anthracite, 269,787 tons; bituminous, 12,045,265 tons and lignite 824,584 tons. Yet in the same year Canada imported 5,968,466 tons of bituminous coal, valued at $11,919,341; 3,266,235 tons of anthracite coal valued at $14,735,062, and 1,365,281 tons of coal dust valued at $1,595,598. The total consumption was 20,673,198 tons, of which 10,240,076 tons were of Canadian coal and 10,438,123 tons of imported coal.

They Set Fire to Stables so as to Get Even.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 19—Frederick Gabriel and Alexander C. Mains, former members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons were this morning committed by Magistrate Farrell to stand trial on a charge of having set fire to the riding stables at the Royal Military College on June 10th. Francis King, acting for the government presented to the court a signed statement from Gabriel in which he stated that he and Mains entered into an agreement to fire the buildings in order to "get even" with Sergt. Pritchard, who had charge of the stables. Gabriel was mad at Pritchard because on one occasion he gave him confinement to barracks for an offence.

Crushed to Death.

Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 21—Frederick A. W. Smith, a craneman at the Canadian General Electric Works, was accidentally killed Saturday afternoon. He was moving a casting weighing about two tons, and was standing under it when the fastening of the hook and pulley broke, it is said, by fouling the drum, and the whole mass fell on Smith, crushing him terribly. He was removed to the hospital, where he died an hour later.

Fatal Fall Downstairs.

Brockville, Ont., Sept. 20—Mrs. A. A. Polly, an elderly woman residing on Apple street, either tripped or was seized with a fainting spell at the head of the cellar stairs today, falling headlong to the bottom. Her head came in contact with the wall. She died in a few minutes. Mrs. Polly was a widow and is survived by four children.

The corner-stone was laid at Collingwood General and Marine Hospital by Mr. Thos. Long of a Memorial Nurses' Home in honor of his wife.

Bank Notes Made of Silk.

It is possible that before long all bank notes will be printed, not on paper, but on silk of a particular shade. It is by means of photography that most clever bank note forgeries are effected. A company held a private demonstration recently when Mrs. Ernest Hart explained a new process which she has invented for waterproofing fabrics without rubber and dyeing them in the same operation. By utilizing this process linen, cotton, or other material can be put into one end of a machine white and brought out a few minutes later colored, waterproofed, and dry! Each machine treats 480 yards in a day, and the materials produced are useful in hundreds of trades, from building aeroplanes to bank note making. As regards the latter, the material produced is of such a color that it cannot be photographed.

Moszkowski's Wit.

"Moritz Moszkowski is not only a great pianist," says the Paris Menestrel, "but a clever wit." Among the things which the writer then relates to prove the assertion are these: "They say that the greater part of modern music is good, but that it sounds badly. I can subscribe to only half of the paradox." "Rubinstein once said 'the false notes which I struck in the course of six recent concerts were sufficient for a seventh.' Rubinstein is dead, but that seventh concert is still with us."

"Fish Walk" Tea.

The "Fish Walk" tea is the latest fad of the smart set, the Duchess of Manchester being responsible for its introduction to London society. There is no denying that the dance has "caught on," and even portly dowagers indulge in it. These declare that the method of practising, which consists of skipping upstairs in order to attain just the right kind of skip required for the dance in the ballroom, is the most effective weight-reducing exercise they have struck as yet.

Ambition.

Uncle Horace (who is something of a sage and philosopher)—My boy, it is time for you to think seriously of the kind of future you intend to map out for yourself. To sum it up in a word, what epitaph are you anxious to have engraved upon your tombstone? Nephew just beginning his career)—"He Got His Share."—London Telegraph.

"Dearest, take no stock in these reports you hear. You have a monopoly on my affections."

Canadian Immigration.

Into a booklet of thirty-two pages issued by direction of the Hon. W. J. Roche, Minister of the Interior, has been packed quite a mass of information on the subject of Canadian immigration. The figures are brought down to include those of the fiscal year 1912-1913, which again broke all records in the number of British-born persons entering the Dominion. From 123,013 in 1910-11, it rose to 138,121 in 1911-12, and in the following year to 150,542. During those three years the corresponding figures from the United States were: 121,451, 133,715, and 139,000, and from other countries 66,620, 82,406, and 112,881. The total immigration for 1912-13 was 402,432.

Poor Rainfall.

In parts of Australia, where the average yearly rainfall is not more than 10 inches, a square mile of land will support only eight or nine sheep. In Buenos Ayres the same area, with 34 inches of rain, supports 2,560 sheep.

Tried Long Walk.

Although in his eighty-fifth year, Mark All, well known as a pedestrian, has just completed a 5,000-mile walk in ninety-one days. He did it for a wager of £100, which he lost, as he took one day too long to accomplish his task.

Plaster of Paris.

Plaster of paris mixed with cold water has an expansion of about one-sixteenth of an inch to the foot when hardening. Should this be undesirable mix with warm water or limewater, and there is no expansion.

Boiled Puddings.

When making a steamed or boiled pudding plait the cloth in at the top to allow the pudding to swell.

Your Privilege.

Nothing is so boring as listening to a man talking about his ailments when you want to talk about your own.

THE BREADFRUIT TREE.

Its Meat When Cooked Tastes Like Mashed Potatoes and Milk.

One of the gifts of the eastern tropics to the western is the breadfruit, which is now extensively planted in the West Indies. This can be done only by cuttings, as the cultivated variety develops no seeds. In the wild form the chestnutlike seeds are eaten, but the pulp is disregarded. The tree is of moderate height, but spreads a broad crown of large, ragged edged, glossy leaves, making an excellent shade.

The fruit, which is a compound of the massive clusters of blossoms, is about the size of a cocoanut and is incased in a rough rind. This, when baked in hot embers or in an oven, broken open and scooped out with a spoon, tastes like mashed potatoes and milk or like sweet bread, which it also resembles in appearance. It is a little fibrous toward the center, but elsewhere is quite smooth and "puddingy." Sometimes a curry or stew is made of it, and it goes well as a vegetable with meat or gravy. "With sugar, milk, butter or treacle," Wallace wrote, "it is a delicious pudding, having a very slight but delicate and characteristic flavor, which, like that of good bread and potatoes, one never gets tired of." It is also highly nutritious.

The genus (artocarpus) contains several species, one of which, the jackfruit, is also cultivated for eating. The timber of the tree is also useful, the bark can be prepared for a sort of cloth and the sap forms, when boiled with oil, a mucilaginous liquid very useful for making the seams of wooden pails, canoes and the like water tight.—Harper's Weekly.

EMERSON IN OLD AGE.

Even His Failing Memory Could Not Mar His Amiability.

In Dr. J. K. Hosmer's "The Last Leaf," there is a pathetic picture of Emerson in his old age, when his memory had failed while his other faculties remained strong: "I had as a fellow guest a man who had long been intimate with him and whom he was very glad to see. Talking after tea in the library, Emerson said: 'I want to tell you about a friend in Germany. His name I cannot remember,' and he moved to and fro uneasily in his effort to recall it. 'This friend with whom we have taken tea tonight, whose name also I cannot remember'—here again came a distressed look at the failure of his faculty—'I cannot remember his name either, but he can tell you of this German friend whose name I have also forgotten.'

"It was a sorrow to see the breaking down of a great spirit and his agitation as he was conscious of his waning power. And yet, so far as I could see, it was only the memory that was going. The intellectual strength was still apparent, and the amiability of his spirit was perhaps even more manifest than in the years when he was in the full possession of himself.

"This came out in little things. He was overanxious at the table lest the hospitality should come short, troubled about the supply of butter and apple sauce, and soon after I saw him on his knees on the hearth taking care that the fire should catch the wood to abate the evening coolness that was gathering in the room."

The Rooks and the Seagulls.

A Dover correspondent reports a curious incident which was witnessed at a farm at Elms Vale, on the confines of the borough. A flock of seagulls flying inland had taken possession of a newly sown field and were pecking away, when a still more numerous flock of rooks swooped down and attacked the gulls. The rooks, being about two to each gull, flapped and rushed the gulls until they withdrew to a field some distance off. The victorious rooks then proceeded to enjoy themselves in the field, having first set what were apparently sentries along the side of the field. It was amusing to watch these sentries hustling away any gull which strayed too near. It has been noted by naturalists that this setting of sentries is in accordance with the habits of rooks.—London Bystander.

The Drink That Was Called Robur.

About forty years ago there was advertised on London billboards a drink called Robur, said to be good for every ailment and, incidentally, the long sought after elixir of life. One was invited to send for free samples, and its marvelous properties were the subject of everybody's conversation. Robur might have been sold to this day had not some one, without the fear of a libel action before his eyes, divulged its secret formula—cold tea enlivened by rum. From that moment it fell as rapidly as it had risen, for people could make their own Robur if they wanted it.—Chicago News.

The Late Mrs Hiram Earl.

It was with profound sadness that the people of Winchester heard Friday morning of the death of Mrs. Hiram Earl of this place. It was not that death came unexpectedly, for Mrs. Earl had been a patient sufferer, fighting valiantly during the past months against odds which were too great. The loss of Mrs. Earl is keenly felt by a very large circle of friends to whom she had become endeared through her self sacrificing efforts in behalf of the different organizations of the Methodist church, where she ungrudgingly gave her best in assisting others to follow the teaching leading to a higher life. In the Sunday School she found congenial work and during her residence in Winchester has given much attention to the teaching of a class of girls in their teens, explaining the scripturas and aiding in forming their characters according to Christian precept. The Missionary society and W. C. T. U. also appealed to Mrs. Earl, and that she was highly esteemed and looked up to was evidenced on Monday morning, when the members of those societies gathered at her late home to pay their last respects and escorted the remains to the Methodist church where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. H. Sproule; interment being made afterwards at Maple Ridge cemetery.

Mrs. Earl whose maiden name was Lizzie Thompson, was born in Ireland in 1861 coming to Canada at the age of three years with her parents who settled in the vicinity of Oxford Mills. In 1888 she wed Hiram Earl and with him settled at Melvins, where they lived until coming to Winchester nine years ago. The sympathy of the community is extended to the husband who is left alone to mourn her loss, there being no family.—Press

Fitzgerald—Daley.

The marriage of Gerald P. Fitzgerald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald f Belleville, to Agnes Beatrice Daley, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Daley of Farran Point, was solemnized at the Church of Our Lady of the Most Holy Rosary on Monday, Sept. 16, Rev. A. A. McRae officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her tailored travelling gown of blue serge with purple hat, and carried a white ivory prayer book. Miss Marie E. Daley, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and also wore a blue tailored suit and blue plush hat. Stephen Flagler of Belleville acted as groomsman. The groom's gift to the bride was pearl and amythyst ear-drops, to the bridesmaid a gold rosary, and to the groomsman a topaz tie pin Miss Minnie Wood, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. Breakfast was served at the bride's home, after which Mr. and Mrs. Daley left for Detroit on their way to Toledo, Chicago and other western points. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

Broke Into Sample Room and Stole Fifty Hats.

Kingston, Sept. 22. — Thieves broke into the Traveller Sample room at the Randolph hotel during the night, and got away with about fifty hats. Already many of the missing hats have been recovered by the police. Six were hidden in the yard at the rear of the hotel, and the rest under the sidewalk near the corner of Ordance and Montreal streets. It is expected that arrests will be made during the day. Entrance to the sample room was affected by smashing a window.

Mail Robber Sentenced

Kingston, Ont., September 23—"Jack" O'Brien, arrested in connection with the mail bag robbery at the outer station last January, pleaded "guilty" when brought before Judge Price this morning, and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. The prisoner was arrested two months ago by Detective Parkinson, and at the preliminary hearing Parkinson swore that O'Brien had made a confession to him. O'Brien was arrested in Sudbury.

Fire at Carleton Place.

Carleton Place, Sept. 24—A fire broke out this morning about four o'clock in the china and fancy goods store of Mrs. G. E. Leslie, which for a time threatened not only this building, but also the large furniture building of Mr. Leslie adjoining, but owing to the good work of the fire department and a good supply of water the flames were confined to the upper flat in which they originated.

The stock, valued at thousands of dollars, is almost a complete loss, and the damage on the building is also heavy.

New Railway For Cornwall.

Cornwall, Sept. 22.—C. L. Hervey, promoter of the new Stormont and Glengarry Railway; Mr Mountain, engineer of the Railway Commission; General Superintendent Bowker of the G.T.R., Montreal; Supt. Coyle of Belleville, and several engineers were in Cornwall looking over the proposed crossing of the new road over the G.T.R.

The Grand Trunk had an official here also looking over the country between the Ottawa and New York Railway track and the east end of Cornwall, and it is possible that the G.T.R. may lay a track on Water street to take care of the milk traffic as well as that of heavy wares coming to other parties in the town.

The G.T.R. has been negotiating for running rights over the O. & N.Y. from Ottawa to Cornwall.

"MOVEY" RECRUITING.

The Film is a Valuable Feature in Many Lines.

The man in the street regards the moving pictures as an amusement only. A few people realize their educational value, but the "Trade" is finding wider scope for their use every day of the week. They are invading all walks of life, the latest move being recruiting the armies and navies of quite a number of the more important nations. A few months ago a film was taken showing the Irish Guards parade drill, and films have been taken of other army regiments and shown in Territorial halls all over the country, generally accompanied by lectures.

In addition to having films taken showing French army life, the military authorities of that wide-awake nation have devised an ingenious and unique use for the screen. This is erected at one end of a parade ground. A hundred yards distant stands a company marksmen. On the screen comes a regiment of riflemen apparently charging the living soldiers. These are supposed to be on the defensive, and fire rapidly at the moving figures on the screen. The effects of this fire are carefully noted, and the lessons learnt from it are said by those who ought to know to be more valuable than those learnt from actual manoeuvring, where only blank cartridge is usable.

For advertising purposes there is no limit to the moving-picture posibilities. Newspapers and many railways have already adopted it, with strikingly advantageous results. Many of the picturesque towns and health resorts in the States have been filmed for this purpose, and one or two of our English resorts have followed suit.

For police purposes the cinema is extensively used in several foreign countries. Films of a riot were taken in Buda Pesth, and many of the rioters paid visits to the picture palaces to see themselves screened. Alas! so did the police, and the riotous ones, recognized from the pictures, were promptly arrested.

The bank messenger, Bruning, who lifted £13,000 from the Dresden Bank last year, had his photograph shown in two hundred and fifty palaces by order of the police. A man hasn't a chance of escaping under these conditions!

Even the Mormons have utilized the film in their endeavors to secure converts. The story of Mormonism (of course, from the Mormon point of view is told) from the beginning until the present day. $50,000 has been set aside in order to induce picture palaces to show the film. This would never be allowed in England for very good reasons. And the cinematograph is still in its infancy!

A Thoughtful Man.

When Thomas Daigle, 149 De Villiers Street, Montreal, abandoned his three-months-old babe in the bushes here on Monday night he was not a heartless man. It was 11.30 at night when a policeman hearing a tiny voice issuing from the bushes, discovered the babe lying flat on its back, clad only in a little shirt and a pair of shoes. He picked it up tenderly and took it to the police station.

In the morning the father, Thos. Daigle, was arrested. He said his wife had deserted him, so he took the child and left it where the officer was sure to find it. Then he waited to see it picked up. When he saw how carefully it was received he knew it would have a good home.

Songs of the Balkans.

The part played by Balkan song in keeping fresh the hatred of the Christians against the Turks in the peninsula has been very great. Popular poetry in the Balkans has ended by creating one unique hero, Marka Kraljevitch. He is a great warrior, combining in his own person the most notable qualities of William Tell, the Cid, Don Quixote and Pantagruel. He is continually deceiving the Turk by all manner of disreputable stratagems and always justifies the means by success. Marka is a great feudal lord, and he spends his time in challenging Turks to single combat. Hero-like, his successes are prodigious.

Learn What We Are Ready For.

Emerson never uttered a wiser thing than when he wrote: "No man can learn what he has not preparation for learning, however near to his eyes is the subject. A chemist may tell his most precious secrets to a carpenter, and he shall be never the wiser—the secrets he would not utter to a chemist for an estate. . . . Our eyes are holden that we cannot see things that stare us in the face until the hour arrives when the mind is ripened; then we behold them, and the time when we saw them not is like a dream.

Ostrich Markets.

A prominent ostrich grower of the Oudtshoorn district of the Cape Province is about to visit China and Japan, taking with him a quantity of feathers, which are to be distributed gratis amongst those in a position to influence fashions. The ever-growing production of feathers necessitates the finding of new markets, and the Far East is believed to possess potentialities of great value in this regard.

Her Powers.

Blank was accosted by a fellow citizen the other night, who said: "I heard your wife lecture. Her power of diction is wonderful."

"Yes, fair. But it's nothing to her power of contradiction."

He Had Room.

"Dear me, Tom, you eat a good deal for a little fellow," remarked Uncle John to his nephew.

"I s'pect I aren't so little inside as I look outside," was Tom's ingenious answer.

CATHERINE OF RUSSIA.

"Semiramis of the North" Held Her Own Among Contemporaries.

Catherine II., the "Semiramis of the North," came to the throne a little over 151 years ago—July 10, 1762.

Catherine, daughter of the Prince of Anhalt, was born at Stettin in 1729. She had a hard time of it in her childhood, her mother being as mean to her as Frederick the Great's father was to him. At 16 she was married, against her will, to Peter, Duke of Holstein. Peter was a big, strapping animal of a fellow, but a degree or two above idiocy. He passed most of his time flirting with low women and playing with dogs and rats.

This fact explains, though it does not justify, Catherine's various little flirtations on her own hook.

By the death of Elizabeth, the semidiotic dog fancier became Czar in 1762, but he was almost immediately set aside in favor of Catherine. So far as intellect and will power went the Princess of Anhalt was well qualified for the big place that came to her. She was well read in history, philosophy and literature; had absorbed, in fact, most of the knowledge of her time, and was mentally able to fill any throne on earth. She proved to be a great sovereign, as sovereigns went in those days. She made Russia powerful, and was in many ways a worthy successor to Peter the Great.

But the magnificence of her court, the marvelous extent of her dominions, her foreign conquests, and the imposing position she held among the "majesties" of the world could not hide the fact that at heart she cared but little for the Russian people, and did but little for the promotion of their political, social and economic advance.

Catherine demonstrated to perfection the fact—at that time somewhat in dispute—that a woman could fill a throne as well as a man, but she also proved that the woman sovereign can be as cruelly unjust as the man sovereign; for was not Catherine one of the leading spirits in the partition of Poland, the "foulest deed in the history of the world?"

The Ever Busy Bee.

The life of the bee has been extolled to us as a virtuous, industrious, satisfactory sort of affair. Among other insects and animals, which have been presented to us as models of social and domestic propriety and felicity, the bee has always held an important position. We have been told that we should consider the ant and the tree toad and the early bird and the caterpillar, but the all-round example is the ever busy bee.

There should, however, be a limit to all things and there is such a thing as being too ambitious and too industrious. A hive of bees has been drowned in its own honey. It may have been the fault of the warm weather, but the bee made a big mistake in making honey this kind of weather. The bees were too stuck on their job—a pitiable joke, but a profound truth. People are occasionally drowned in the fruits of their endeavor, but the fruits of their endeavor are not often so messy as honey—a most uncomfortable sort of thing to be drowned in.

Insects are the busiest and perhaps the most useless creatures there are, and the ambition which stirs a bee to industry at such unseasonable hours deserves a tragic death. Everybody is busy all the time trying to get ready to enjoy himself when the best way to have a good time is to enjoy doing nothing at all.

Remarkable Memories.

Browning, even in his old age, after a single reading of a book, used to quote page after page as fluently and accurately as if he held the volume in his hand. William Morris used to boast that if every copy of the "Pickwick Papers" was destroyed he could restore them to the world without a word missing; and Gladstone, when once he was unable to find his translation of the first Book of Homer to lend a friend, recited every line of it from memory. When this feat was once mentioned to his great rival, Disraeli, the latter remarked, nonchalantly: "That is quite simple. I could do the same sort of thing myself within an hour." Lord Derby's translation of Homer was handed to him. He retired with it for an hour, and on his return repeated the first book from memory—backwards.

Advice to Lady Gardeners.

Make up your beds early in the morning, sow buttons on your husband's clothes, do not rake up any grievances, protect the young and tender branches of your family, plant a smile of good temper on your face, carefully root out all angry feelings, and you may expect a good crop of happiness.—Exchange.

Nonsense.

One whispers to his neighbor an article, the next one an adjective, next a singular noun, verb, adverb, a number, adjective and plural noun. The last one whispers to the first. Each says aloud what he has heard, and a complete sentence is formed.

Nice For Pa.

Peter (to gentleman caller): You ain't black, are you? Caller: Black, child? Why, no; I should hope not. What made you think I was? Peter: Oh, nothin'; pa said you were awfully niggardly.—London Express.

Her Ideal.

A man's idea of an ideal wife is one who believes everything he tells her.

Worst Storm in Years

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 21—The worst storm striking the head of the lakes for years broke out on Saturday when a fifty-mile gale, accompanied by rain and sleet ending in snow, raged for three hours. Telephone poles were laid low, hanging signs blown down, trees uprooted and broken down by the wind.

On the lakes vessels were driven to shelter and ten could be seen from the city lying in Thunder Bay. Eighteen more were reported in the shelter of Thunder Cape and more beside Isle Royale. Four ran into Jackfish Bay on the north shore. The Huronic went out as usual but took her course along the north shore, but the Manitoba took her way right across the lake as usual. Early this morning both were reported by wireless as making steady progress in spite of rough weather. The Norome, under construction at the dry dock, said to be the largest passenger boat on the lakes broke from her moorings in the wind and was driven some distance along the channel until she went aground on the side of the slip. There she was pulled off by the tugs Sarnia and Home Rule, and towed back to her place. She was reported as being uninjured.

On account of its more exposed position Port Arthur suffered more from the storm than Fort William. In the Hill City there were 600 telephones put out of order.

New Judges Appointed.

Ottawa, Sept. 21—Hon. A. E. McPhillips, president of the Privy Council in the McBride Government, has been made judge of the appeal court of British Columbia, E. L. Elwood, K. C., of Regina, has been appointed judge of the Supreme Court of Saskatchewan and W. J. Fisher, of Alliston, Ont., has been appointed judge of the County Court of Dufferin.

Official announcement of these appointments was made Saturday. The appointments were made by the Cabinet Thursday, but owing to the absence at Murray Bay, of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Deputy Governor-General they were not signed until Saturday.

Engage Montreal Firm.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 21—Following the recommendation of the city council and City Auditor Mouat, that a complete audit of all the city's books be made for the past three years, and possibly a longer period, Mayor Short announced to-day, that McIntosh and Hyde, a well known Montreal firm, has been engaged to take over the city's books.

The work is to be started on the sixth of October and it is expected that the audit will be completed by the end of the year. McIntosh and Hyde recently completed a complete audit of the Calgary books for a period of some seven years.

You can rip sod land with the CLIMAX and a 3-horse team—so it MUST be built strong! Yet the teeth won't smash if they strike a stone—their joints unlock and fly back to pass over unharmed.

Easy Handled

Each pole has a tilting lever; and these, with the pressure lever — all in easy reach of operator — exactly regulate depth of cut. Teeth go right for the roots of the weeds, and rip them out of the soil.

This is the stiff-tooth cultivator that gets the weeds OUT of the soil—not merely cuts off their tops or just tickles the roots a little. On dirty land you surely need the Smut Diseases of Cultivated Plants.

It is estimated by the Director of the Experimental Farms that Smut diseases of cultivated plants cause an annual loss in Canada of at least fifteen million dollars. If these diseases were properly understood and the best known remedies applied at proper times much of this serious injury would be prevented.

In order to teach crop growers how best to protect their fields against damage by smuts there has been issued by the Department of Agriculture a comprehensive, plainly written treatise which is issued as bulletin No. 73, of the Experimental Farms. The author, Mr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist, has gone into the subject very thoroughly not only describing the smuts, in their various stages, that affect wheat, barley, oats, corn and millet, but attention is given to methods of infection as well as the preventive measures and curative remedies that have been found useful. The text which occupies about fifty pages is much helped by numerous illustrations. This work is being sent out free to all who apply for it to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Distribution of Pure Bred Stock

As announced early in the season, the Dominion Live Stock Branch has this year undertaken a distribution of pure bred male animals throughout Canada on a somewhat extensive scale. In inaugurating this policy the aim has been to aid sections where pure bred sires were lacking and to encourage new communities in following an intelligent system in breeding. This form of assistance has proven very popular and during the past few months a large number of bulls and several stallions have been placed in various parts of the country in the hands of local associations formed specially for the purpose of handling and maintaining them. All animals placed remain the property of the Department of Agriculture, the local associations assuming the responsibility for their maintenance and management under the general supervision of officers of the Live Stock Branch.

The distribution of bulls and stallions having been brought to a close for this year the opportunity is now open to deal with applicatione for boars and rams. Full information regarding the rules governing the distribution and the procedure to be followed in forming the necessary organization may be had upon application to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

As it is the intention to consider only such requests as are forwarded before October 20th, it will be necessary for districts desiring to take advantage of this offer to act promptly.

New Home for Nurses at Brantford Hospital.

Brantford, Sept. 19.—With elaborate ceremony the splendid new Nurses' Home in connection with the Brantford General Hospital was opened this afternoon, with Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Hospitals for Ontario, as the chief figure.

From 3 o'clock until 4 the ladies of the Women's Hospital Aid received the visitors, escorting them through the building and showing its fine points. Following this, Mr. A. K. Bunnell, representative of the W. H. A. on the Hospital Board, called the gathering to order and Mrs. J. E. Watrous, president of the W. H. A. made a formal transfer of the building to the Governor.

Dr. G. C. McKenzie then offered a dedicatory prayer, and Mr. C. H. Waterous, president of the Board of Directors, accepted the gift of the building.

Dr. Bruce Smith then gave an address on hospital work, following which the ceremonies in connection with the graduation of the nurses were performed. Mr. Waterous presented the diplomas, and there were presentations of flowers and emblem pins, after which Dr. E. R. Secord gave an address to the nurses on their duties now that they have graduated. Rev. G. A. Woodside administered the Florence Nightingale pledge, after which dainty refreshments were served by the ladies, closing a most interesting afternoon.

The graduates were: Marguerite Hall, Tillsonburg; Annie McCulloch, Grand Valley; Kathleen Martin, Brantford; Jessie McGregor, Owen Sound; Margaret Tait, Kingston.

Thaw Case Aftermath

Montreal, Sept. 18.—The representatives of the Dominion Immigration Department, E. B. Robertson, E. F. Williams, and D. H. Reynolds, who considered the Thaw case over and ignored the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judges Gervais and Cross here by acting on the instructions of Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canadian minister of justice, to deport the Matteawan fugitive, appeared before Judges Archambault, Carroll, Lavergne, Cross and Gervais of the appeal court, this morning to show why they had failed to produce Thaw as ordered.

The hearing resolved itself into an examination of the constitutionality of the immigration act.

Mr. LaFlamme had just begun his argument in favor of the sustaining of the writ when the court adjourned till the afternoon.

Big Freshman Class at Agricultural College.

Guelph, Sept. 19—Up to noon today there had been 155 freshmen registered at the Ontario Agricultural College, and President Creelman stated this afternoon that the class this year would easily exceed the two hundred mark. This is by long odds the largest freshmen class that ever attended the O.A.C.

The presence of such a large class means that accommodation at the college will be taxed to the utmost, and that nearly all the members of the classes of the other three years will be compelled to secure boarding houses outside the college, and many private homes in the city are being besieged today for accommodation.

Suspected Bank Robber

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20—William, alias "Bid" Houlehan, said to have a long prison record, was taken into custody here this afternoon and detained, while the local authorities communicated with the Bank of Montreal concerning the $372,000 bank robbery at New Westminster, B,C., more than a year ago. Houlihan carried $350 in Bank of Montreal bills when taken into custody, and it is alleged that the bills answer the description of some of the money taken in the New Westminster robbery.

After several hours of investigation the police said tonight that they were convinced that the serial numbers on the bills in Houlihan's possession had been altered and that he would be held pending developments. When questioned by the officers, Houlihan is said to have refused to tell where he obtained them or where he had been staying before the authorities took him into custody.

FALLING HAIR

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping it—They Uss Parisian Sage.

It was Dr. Sangerbond of Paris who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair was caused by a microbe.

And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ, is sold in every town in Canada, the people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that the people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the Chesterville RECORD who wishes to eradicate offensive dandruff, stop falling hair and have an immaculately clean scalp, free from itchiness, W. G. Bolster says he will sell Parisian Sage in a large fifty cent bottle with a guarantee to refund the money if not satisfied. It is an ideal, daintily perfumed hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness that will put life and beauty into dull faded hair and cause it to grow lustrous and luxuriant.

"Gentleman Roger" Tells How Thaw Made Dash for Liberty.

Montreal, Sept. 20—Sighing to be back again in little old New York, and yet greatly relieved that he had been acquitted of the charges on which he was held over at Sherbrooke. "Gentleman Roger" Thompson was in jubilant mood when talking to a Herald representative today and gave out the first authentic story of that dare-devil ride from Matteawan to the Canadian border on the memorable Sunday, several weeks past, when Thaw found liberty, short-lived though it was.

"You see," said Roger, "my employer never told me when he sent me to Matteawan, what kind of a job I had been hired for; I was simply to meet a certain party there and to follow his instructions. Consequently, when I discovered what was in the wind I naturally balked, not wanting to be the goat in any fool stunt like that. At length, however, the spirit of the thing took hold of me, and I yielded to the entreaties of my companions. That is how I came to be outside the asylum gates when Thaw dashed out and made his jump for liberty.

"All day Sunday we tore along through New York State and over the line into New Hampshire, stopping here and there for a meal or to drop one of our party, and always fearing detection, as we knew the alarm must spread. Thaw, I must say, acted in a very calm and cool manner, and did not once show traces of nervousness in any way. Finally after a whole day of tearing through the country at a neck-breaking pace, we arrived at a little town near Rochester, New Hampshire. By this time, of course, you know that of the original party which had assisted Thaw from Matteawan, only myself and the runaway remained. Between us, we decided to spend the night in the town, as we didn't want to go into Rochester that night and attract any attention, so we drove up to the only hotel the place boasted, registered, and went up to our room at once. We did not wish to attract undue attention to ourselves by loafing about the main hall of the hotel.

"In the morning I discovered a barber shop, and told Thaw that we must go down and get spruced up some. Harry objected, as he thought that we were taking enough chances as it was, without showing ourselves too much. But I argued that a couple of fresh and spruce-looking men would not be suspected as readily as two seedy-looking individuals Thaw at last assented, and down to the barber shop we went.

"There was one lone barber on the job when we got there, and while he lathered Thaw, I did the same thing for myself. Then we switched about, and Harry shaved himself while the barber handled me, for I never could shave myself in all my life. While this was going on, an elderly man who the barber addressed as Squire, entered and immediately unfolded a paper and commenced to read. In the centre of the page was a picture of Harry K. Thaw. I nudged Thaw to call his attention to this fact, but he never showed the least sign of nervousness though he plainly saw the picture staring him in the face. The squire looked at us suspiciously several times, but at lenghth decided to be on his way. After he had gone I asked the barber who he was, and was informed that he was the leading lawyer of the community.

"We left the barber's and took to the auto again. Passing out of the town we saw the squire and the chief of police talking things over on a corner, so we put on more speed and got out as quickly as possible. At Rochester, N. H., we abandoned the car and took car for the Canadian border.

"Once on board the train I perceived that Thaw's chances of capture were increased a hundredfold, for every man on board had a newspaper, and we could see that the hunt had started. Thaw took the seat nearer the window, while I sat next the aisle so as to shield him as much as possible. The scheme we had agreed to, was that if Thaw should be challenged on the train, I should pose as a detective who had re-captured him and was taking him back. Whenever Thaw moved about the car I accompanied him as if afraid to let him out of his sight.

Our subterfuge, however, was unnecessary as nobody on the train suspected that the man whose picture stared at them from their morning papers was right in their very midst. We got off the train unmolested. The rest of the story, of how we crossed the Canadian border, and finally came into the hands of the law is now a matter of history which there is no need to repeat."

The Late Wm. Clark

Death came with startling suddenness to William Clark, an old and highly respected citizen of Matilda for the past thirty years, in the 85th year of his age. Mr. Clark was for many years an elder in the Presbyterian church at Dixon Corners. He discharged the duties of his office with faithfulness, ever desiring the glory of God and the good of his fellow man, he was a man of shrewdness and common sense; had considerable knowledge of the world and much skill in the management of his affairs; a home man with warm domestic affections, and a heart that often looked to the welfare of others. In politics he was a Liberal. The funeral service which was held in the Methodist church, Brinston, was conducted by Rev. D. O. McArthur, assisted by Rev. Mr. Coates. The remains were interred in Shanly cemetery. Two members of the family survive Alexander of Brinston, and Mrs. Ferguson of Spencerville.

Death of Charles A. Durant

(Wilkes-Barre Record Sept. 15.)—The community was shocked on Saturday afternoon by the sudden death of Charles A. Durant, aged 67, one of Wilke's-Barres best known residents and prominent Masons, who had resided in this city the past forty years.

Up to 1.40 Mr. Durant was in his place of business in the Laning building. He then went home to dinner and afterwards went to his bedroom to fasten a shelf on the wall. While engaged at his task he was seized with a fatal attack of heart trouble. Dr. G. W. Guthrie was summoned and stated that death had been instantaneous.

Mr Durant was born in Winchester, Canada, Feb. 24, 1846, and attended the public schools in his neighborhood. He became a tanner and after 1862 worked at his trade n New York State for a number of years. He then secured a position with the D. L. & W. Railroad Co., being made a conductor. He afterwards was a passenger conductor on the L. & S. division of the Jersey Central Road

Some time in the 80's he resigned and engaged in the clothing business in partnership with Lewis P. Long. At the end of a few years they dissolved partnership and Mr. Durant and his son, Arthur engaged in the merchant tailoring business in the Laning building.

He was one of the oldest members of Landmark Lodge No. 432, F. & A.M. and was secretary of the lodge for the past 28 years. He was also a member of First M. E. church and was respected and esteemed by everyone who knew him.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. C. A. Ray Cleveland; Nelson, Dayton, O; Mrs. E. B. Clements, Mankota, Minn.; Chas. A., jr., Hartford, Conn.; Roy, Wilmington, N. C.; Arthur E., at home; also by three brothers, Alva, George and Merrick and two sisters, all living in Canada.

Keep Your Windows Open.

The advent of cooler nights prompt the issue of a Government health bulletin with the slogan. "Keep Your Windows Open," and under this heading says:—With the onset of cold weather into the people, down go the windows and up goes the death rate from the impure air. The air of a closed house dirty, stagnant, disease breeding air—air in which no human being can live in safety. Pneumonia is the winter plague, because of indoor conditions If we must spend our time indoors we must keep the air pure and the only way to do it is to keep the windows open. The man who keeps his window closed and who affords such heavy armour as chest protectors, mufflers and galoshes when he ventures into the open is in infinitely greater danger of contracting pneumonia than is the woman who affects lace hosiery, peek-a-boo waists and half shoes and who passes her sleeping hours in fresh air. Better be a fresh air fiend.

Ministers Visit Leeds.

Brockville, Sept. 24—Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of Agriculture visited Brockville and Leeds County today and received a cordial reception. With the Minister of Finance, Hon. W. T. White, who represents Leeds, he was the guest of the directors of the Delta Agricultural Fair Association, which today closed a successful three days' exhibition. After luncheon a complimentary address was presented to Mr. Burrell.

The minisister, in a brief reply, complimented the Association and the people upon the magnificent success of their fair and the farmers upon the enterprise and prosperity evident on every hand. He alluded to the policy of the Government in its determination to do all possible to promote the welfare of the basic industry of the Dominion agriculture. He stated that the energies of the Agricultural Department would be carried on absolutely irrespective of politics. He expressed the conviction that the setting aside by Parliament, at its last session, of the sum of ten million dollars, one million to be expended each year, for the general promotion of agricultural interests, would be of permanent and great benefit to Canada.

Mr. White also spoke briefly, expressing the pleasure it gave him to visit his constituents upon so auspicious an occasion.

Led by Senator Taylor the crowd gave three hearty cheers for the minister. They left for Ottawa this evening.

At the Ottawa Exhibition "Perfection," owned by Shaw and Ellis of Chesterville, won the 2.14 pace, and at Ogdensburg this week won the 2.14 pace in straight heats and second in the 2.17 pace. "Perfection" was fitted and driven by the Messrs. John and Frank Powell.
